BONNIE F. NORRIS, JR., '23

Where the winds of Dixie softly blow
o'er the fields of Caroline,

There stands ever cherished N. C. State,
as thy honored shrine.

So lift your voices; Loudly sing
from hill to oceanside!

Our hearts ever hold you, N. C. State in the folds of our love and pride.

JOHN TYLER CALDWELL

Chancellor Emeritus Caldwell led NCSU during a period of its greatest growth. Between 1959 and 1975, the university grew from 6,000 students to more than 15,000, and the size of the campus doubled.

In 1973, NCSU was classified as a Class 1 Research University by the Carnegie Commission, ranking it as one of 30 major public universities in the nation in federally funded research and doctoral degree productivity.

Caldwell came to NCSU from the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, where he served as president from 1952 to 1959. He was president of Alabama College in Montevallo, Alabama, from 1947 to 1952.

Caldwell was born in Yazoo City, Mississippi, and earned a bachelor of science degree from Mississippi State College in 1932, master's degrees from Duke University and Columbia University and a doctoral degree from Princeton University in 1939. He was a Julius Rosenwald Fellow at Princeton.

He taught at Holmes Junior College in Mississippi, then at Vanderbilt University. After serving in the U.S. Navy, he was named president of Alabama College (now the University of Montevallo) and subsequently was president of the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville.

Following his service as chancellor at NCSU, Caldwell taught political science at the university and was president of the Triangle Universities Center for Advanced Studies (TUCASI) from 1975 to 1982. He also has served as trustee of Princeton University, the National Humanities Center, and Warren Wilson College and was a member of and consultant to the N.C. Humanities Council.

Caldwell has been active in international affairs, has traveled extensively and has performed many roles in American educational circles.

Academic Costume

Academic gowns represent a tradition handed down from the universities of the Middle Ages. These institutions were founded by the Church; the students, being clerics, were obliged to wear the prescribed gowns at all times. Round caps later became square mortarboards; the hoods, originally cowls attached to the gowns, could be slipped over the head for warmth.

Many European universities have distinctive caps and gowns which are different from those commonly used in this country. Some of the gowns are of bright colors and some are embellished with fur. A number of these may be noted in the procession.

The usual color for academic gowns in the United States is black. The bachelor's gown is worn closed, the master's and doctor's may be worn open or closed. The shape of the sleeve is the distinguishing mark of the gown: bachelor—long pointed sleeves; master—oblong, square cut in the back with an arc cut away in front; doctor—bell shaped.

Caps are black. The tassels for the Ph.D. degree are gold and those for other graduate and professional degrees may be of the color corresponding to the trimmings on the hoods.

Of all the components of the academic costume, the hood bears the heaviest symbolic burden. The hood must make clear the level of the degree, the faculty in which it was given, and the institution which awarded it. The level of the degree is shown by the size of the hood, the width of the velvet trimming, and in the case of doctors, by the shape. The bachelor's, master's, and doctor's hoods are three feet, three and one-half feet, and four feet long, respectively. The velvet trimming in the same order is two, three, and five inches and extends all around the hood on the exposed edge. This same trimming identifies the faculty in which the degree was awarded. For each faculty there is a corresponding color; so a glance at the trimming is all that is needed to identify the faculty. A partial list of the colors follows: Agriculture, maize; Architecture and Art, brown; Science, golden yellow; Economics, copper; Education, light blue; Engineering, orange; Forestry, russet; Physical Education, sage green; Religion, scarlet; Speech, silver gray; Veterinary Medicine, gray; Textiles, wine red. The following faculties have the same color—dark blue: Anthropology, History, Languages, Literature, Philosophy, Political Science, Sociology.

Academic Honors

Honors participants benefit from a more individualized and rigorous approach to their desired degree through special classes, seminars and individual research.

Undergraduate degree honor designations are:

Magna Cum Laude—for GPA 3.500 through 3.749 (red sash)

Summa Cum Laude—for GPA 3.750 and above (gold sash).
