JAMES L. OBLINGER

Chancellor

Dr. James L. Oblinger is the 13th chancellor at NC State, North Carolina's flagship university for science, engineering and technology. With an annual budget of $820 million and a $300 million endowment, it is ranked third in research funding among public universities without a medical school, sixth in technology strength of patents, seventh among national research universities in industry-funded research, 12th among national research universities in non-federal-funded research, 19th in total research funding among all universities, and 30th in total expenditures for research and development.

The university has nearly 7,000 full-time employees and 30,000 students. NC State offers bachelor's degrees in 100 fields of study, master's degrees in 106 fields and doctoral degrees in 59 fields, as well as a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree.

NC State serves all North Carolina communities through statewide teaching, research, extension, engagement and economic development activities.

The chancellor's vision for NC State stresses scholarship for the 21st century, a culture of innovation, an inclusive and diverse campus community, and organizational capability and effectiveness. To ensure that the university remains relevant and responsive to the needs of students, citizens, business and government, Oblinger works with a range of internal and external constituencies. Bringing a deep knowledge of North Carolina to the role of chancellor, as well as a history of inter-institutional collaboration and program development, "innovation in action" is how Oblinger describes NC State.

Innovation in action also describes his work to further both the concept and the physical reality of Centennial Campus, an international model of university, business and government partnership driving scientific discovery, educational excellence and economic development. Centennial Campus is host to more than 100 companies and agencies and creates an advanced technology community where university, industry and government partners produce scientific and technical innovations.

Ensuring that NC State has the resources that allow faculty, staff, and students to excel is a priority for Oblinger. He is the most visible representative for NC State's $1 billion Achieve! capital campaign and continues his leadership of the physical expansion and renovation resulting from North Carolina's $3.1 higher Education Bond Referendum.

Since arriving at NC State in 1986, Oblinger has served as provost and executive vice chancellor for Academic Affairs, dean of the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences and associate dean and director of academic programs in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences.

As provost and executive vice chancellor, he was responsible for academic programs and policies affecting 30,000 students in 10 colleges and approximately 70 departments. Oblinger is known for promoting the growth and success of the academic enterprise, such as redesigning classrooms to become dynamic learning environments. He provided leadership for many new interdisciplinary and inter-institutional programs, such as the Biomanufacturing Training and Education Center (BTEC).

Oblinger helped lead NC State in a successful SACS re-accreditation process, including a plan to improve learning through the effective use of technology, Learning in a Technology-Rich Environment (LITRE).

As dean of the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, Oblinger led 22 departments with more than 2,000 faculty, field faculty and staff as well as 4,300 undergraduate and graduate students. He is known for creating programs in emerging disciplines and crafting coalitions that foster economic development in North Carolina. Interdisciplinary programs include those in Nutrition, Physiology, Immunology, Biotechnology and Plant Physiology as well as the campuswide Genomic Sciences degree program and research initiative that resulted in significant grant revenue. Oblinger is also known for improving administrative efficiency and effectiveness.

Prior to coming to NC State, Oblinger was associate dean and director of Resident Instruction in the College of Agriculture at the University of Missouri-Columbia, as well as professor of Food Science and Human Nutrition at the University of Florida. He has received multiple awards for teaching and educational excellence, both as a faculty member and an administrator.

Chancellor Oblinger is a tenured professor in the Department of Food Science; he is an expert in the microbiology of red meats and poultry, decontamination techniques and food-borne pathogens. He is a member of Alpha Zeta, Gamma Sigma Delta, Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Epsilon Phi, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Tau Sigma and Sigma Xi.

Oblinger received a bachelor's degree in bacteriology at DePauw University, and a M.S. and Ph.D. in Food Technology at Iowa State University.

Chancellor Oblinger is married to Dr. Diana G. Oblinger. They have four sons, all of whom have attended NC State.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

Academic gowns represent a tradition handed down from the universities of the Middle Ages. Universities were founded by the church and students, being clerics, were obliged to wear the prescribed gowns at all times. Round caps later became square mortarboards. The hoods, originally cowls attached to the gowns, could be slipped over the head for warmth.

Many European universities have distinctive caps and gowns different from those commonly used in this country. Some of the gowns are brightly colored and some are embellished with fur. A number of these may be noted in the procession.

The usual color for academic gowns in the United States is black. The bachelor's gown is worn closed, the master's and doctor's may be worn open or closed. The shape of the sleeve is the distinguishing mark of the gown: bachelor's have long pointed sleeves; master's are oblong, square cut in the back with an arc cut away in front; doctor's are bell shaped.

Caps are black. The tassels for the Ph.D. degree are gold, and those for other graduate and professional degrees may correspond to the trimmings on the hoods. Of all the components of the academic costume, the hood bears the heaviest symbolic burden. The hood must make clear the level of the degree, the faculty in which it was given, and the institution that awarded it. The level of the degree is shown by the size of the hood, the width of the velvet trimming, and in the case of doctors, by the shape. The bachelor's, master's and doctor's hoods are three feet, three and one-half feet, and four feet long, respectively. The velvet trimming in the same order is two, three, and five inches and extends all around the hood on the exposed edge. This same trimming identifies the faculty in which the degree was awarded. For each faculty there is a corresponding color; so a glance at the trimming is all that is needed to identify the faculty.

A partial list of the colors follows: Agriculture, maize; Architecture and Art, brown; Science, golden yellow; Economics, copper; Education, light blue; Engineering, orange; Forestry, russet; Physical Education, sage green; Religion, scarlet; Speech, silver gray; Veterinary Medicine, gray; Textiles, wine red. Anthropology, History, Languages, Literature, Philosophy, Political Science and Sociology are all dark blue.

ACADEMIC HONORS

Undergraduate degree honor designations are noted on transcripts and diplomas for the following grade point averages.

Cum Laude - for GPA of 3.250 through 3.499 (white sash)

Magna Cum Laude - for GPA of 3.500 through 3.749 (red sash)

Summa Cum Laude - for GPA of 3.750 and above (gold sash)

Students have the opportunity to participate in several programs that provide a more individualized and rigorous approach to learning through special classes, seminars, and research. Participants in the University Honors Program, University Scholars Program, and college honors programs are noted as follows:

- H - University Honors Program
- C - College Honors Program
- S - University Scholars Program

UNIVERSITY MACE

The NC State University Mace is carried by the chief faculty marshal, a position held by the chair of the faculty. The academic mace, derived from a medieval weapon, represents the need to protect and nurture the fragile search for knowledge. The NC State University Mace has been specifically designed for this community. It was carried for the first time at the installation of Chancellor Oblinger. Each aspect of the mace represents an important characteristic of the university.

When freestanding, the mace is supported in a base of North Carolina stone representing the foundation of knowledge and the dependence of this academic community on the support of the people. At the base of the mace is a brass ring with the names of individuals who have held the position of chancellor, indicating the contribution of generations of academic leaders to the formation and maturation of NC State University.

The long lower fluted handle is the primary means by which the mace is grasped, representing the responsibility for the stewardship of knowledge. The shorter fluted, upper handle is the primary means by which direction is shown, and therefore represents the responsibility for guardianship. A block embedded with the seal of the university on four faces represents the university community and its charge to reach out in all directions. At the top of the mace is a geometric progression of layers representing the continual experimentation and testing of knowledge within the NC State academic community. At the very top of the mace is a bronze prow symbolizing the continual exploration that energizes our community.

The mace is fashioned from burlled walnut recovered from a North Carolina tree felled in a storm, emphasizing the need to make wise use of resources even in difficult circumstances. The wood is a gift of the Jordan family, representing the importance of the generosity of the people of North Carolina to the university. The wood is complemented by bronze and silver fittings emphasizing the precious nature of the academic experience in society. During the course of fabrication, an error was made. After much discussion, the design team decided to make the revisions necessary to correct the error rather than refabricate the flawed component. This adjustment, difficult to identify, represents the valuable lessons learned from failure as an essential component of the university experience.

UNIVERSITY MEDALLION

The NC State University Medallion is worn by the chancellor for ceremonial occasions such as commencement, convocations and installations.

Similar to the University Mace, the medallion is derived from the Middle Ages, the period of the birth of the modern university. Today, universities strike medallions to commemorate special events, the contributions of exceptional individuals and to recognize individuals in positions of responsibility.

The NC State University Medallion also has been designed with symbolic gestures. The necklace has been shaped by two circles of differing focal points, representing the diverse nature of academic community. It includes pieces that combine into a whole, further signifying that many voices comprise the NC State community. The chain is joined by a small disk inscribed with the year of the founding of the university (1887) in tribute to the vision of the founders. The medallion joined to the necklace is the seal of the university, a representation of the responsibility and authority of the chancellor.

The necklace and medallion are fashioned from custom-made gold-plated brass. This choice of materials represents the pride of the university community in its accomplishments. It is a sign of the wealth of knowledge at NC State University.

The medallion and necklace were first designed by Mary Ann Scherr. It has been redesigned and reconfigured by a team that included College of Design Dean Marvin J. Malecha, Chris Jordan (1975, Product Design), Jack Lancaster and Sarah Tector.

DEPARTMENTAL AWARDS FOR TEACHING AND LEARNING EXCELLENCE

The Departmental Awards for Teaching and Learning Excellence were established in 1999-00. Each year, up to two departments are recognized for their exceptional accomplishments in teaching and learning. Nominations are made by college deans, and dossiers supporting these nominations are reviewed by a committee of faculty, students, and staff appointed by the provost. Each department identified for this award receives a continuing base budget adjustment of $15,000 and a one-time award of $5,000.

The department selected to receive this award is listed below along with the abstract of its dossier.

Department of Statistics

The NC State University Department of Statistics has recently grown into one of the largest undergraduate statistics programs in the country and the largest graduate statistics program in the world. This growth could not have occurred without excellent teaching, mentoring, and advising. Indeed, excellence in teaching and learning is a central priority of the Department of Statistics. The department has made major efforts to supplement excellent classroom instruction with out-of-classroom programs and resources that support and enhance students' educational experiences, including mentoring, advising and study groups. The Statistics Education Research Cluster, the StatTeaching Working Group, and four teaching professors are active in the department's teaching and learning initiatives. Outstanding teaching is undergirded by the department's extensive network of consulting, research collaborations and outreach. The department has sought and earned highly competitive educational initiative grants, which to date have generated over $5 million in funding to support our teaching programs. Collectively, these grants are designed to strengthen and broaden offerings for our own students, facilitate outreach to new pools of students who wish to integrate Statistics into their undergraduate and/or graduate coursework, and disseminate teaching materials at NC State and other statistics departments across the country. These grants also supplement specific, sustained efforts to recruit, retain and mentor talented students from underrepresented groups from the high school to the post-doctoral and tenure-track level. Throughout these initiatives, this department remains committed to the rigorous assessment of classroom teaching and the overall efficacy of their undergraduate and graduate programs.

JAMES L. OBLINGER

Dr. James L. Oblinger is the 13th chancellor at NC State, North Carolina's flagship university for science, engineering and technology. With an annual budget of $820 million and a $300 million endowment, it is ranked third in research funding among public universities without a medical school, sixth in technology strength of patents, seventh among national research universities in industry-funded research, 12th among national research universities in non-federal-funded research, 19th in total research funding among all universities, and 30th in total expenditures for research and development.

The university has nearly 7,000 full-time employees and 30,000 students. NC State offers bachelor's degrees in 100 fields of study, master's degrees in 106 fields and doctoral degrees in 59 fields, as well as a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree.

NC State serves all North Carolina communities through statewide teaching, research, extension, engagement and economic development activities.

The chancellor's vision for NC State stresses scholarship for the 21st century, a culture of innovation, an inclusive and diverse campus community, and organizational capability and effectiveness. To ensure that the university remains relevant and responsive to the needs of students, citizens, business and government, Oblinger works with a range of internal and external constituencies. Bringing a deep knowledge of North Carolina to the role of chancellor, as well as a history of inter-institutional collaboration and program development, "innovation in action" is how Oblinger describes NC State.

Innovation in action also describes his work to further both the concept and the physical reality of Centennial Campus, an international model of university, business and government partnership driving scientific discovery, educational excellence and economic development. Centennial Campus is host to more than 100 companies and agencies and creates an advanced technology community where university, industry and government partners produce scientific and technical innovations.

Ensuring that NC State has the resources that allow faculty, staff, and students to excel is a priority for Oblinger. He is the most visible representative for NC State's $1 billion Achieve! capital campaign and continues his leadership of the physical expansion and renovation resulting from North Carolina's $3.1 higher Education Bond Referendum.

Since arriving at NC State in 1986, Oblinger has served as provost and executive vice chancellor for Academic Affairs, dean of the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences and associate dean and director of academic programs in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences.

As provost and executive vice chancellor, he was responsible for academic programs and policies affecting 30,000 students in 10 colleges and approximately 70 departments. Oblinger is known for promoting the growth and success of the academic enterprise, such as redesigning classrooms to become dynamic learning environments. He provided leadership for many new interdisciplinary and inter-institutional programs, such as the Biomanufacturing Training and Education Center (BTEC).

Oblinger helped lead NC State in a successful SACS re-accreditation process, including a plan to improve learning through the effective use of technology, Learning in a Technology-Rich Environment (LITRE).

As dean of the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, Oblinger led 22 departments with more than 2,000 faculty, field faculty and staff as well as 4,300 undergraduate and graduate students. He is known for creating programs in emerging disciplines and crafting coalitions that foster economic development in North Carolina. Interdisciplinary programs include those in Nutrition, Physiology, Immunology, Biotechnology and Plant Physiology as well as the campuswide Genomic Sciences degree program and research initiative that resulted in significant grant revenue. Oblinger is also known for improving administrative efficiency and effectiveness.

Prior to coming to NC State, Oblinger was associate dean and director of Resident Instruction in the College of Agriculture at the University of Missouri-Columbia, as well as professor of Food Science and Human Nutrition at the University of Florida. He has received multiple awards for teaching and educational excellence, both as a faculty member and an administrator.

Chancellor Oblinger is a tenured professor in the Department of Food Science; he is an expert in the microbiology of red meats and poultry, decontamination techniques and food-borne pathogens. He is a member of Alpha Zeta, Gamma Sigma Delta, Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Epsilon Phi, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Tau Sigma and Sigma Xi.

Oblinger received a bachelor's degree in bacteriology at DePauw University, and a M.S. and Ph.D. in Food Technology at Iowa State University.

Chancellor Oblinger is married to Dr. Diana G. Oblinger. They have four sons, all of whom have attended NC State.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

Academic gowns represent a tradition handed down from the universities of the Middle Ages. Universities were founded by the church and students, being clerics, were obliged to wear the prescribed gowns at all times. Round caps later became square mortarboards. The hoods, originally cowls attached to the gowns, could be slipped over the head for warmth.

Many European universities have distinctive caps and gowns different from those commonly used in this country. Some of the gowns are brightly colored and some are embellished with fur. A number of these may be noted in the procession.

The usual color for academic gowns in the United States is black. The bachelor's gown is worn closed, the master's and doctor's may be worn open or closed. The shape of the sleeve is the distinguishing mark of the gown: bachelor's have long pointed sleeves; master's are oblong, square cut in the back with an arc cut away in front; doctor's are bell shaped.

Caps are black. The tassels for the Ph.D. degree are gold, and those for other graduate and professional degrees may correspond to the trimmings on the hoods. Of all the components of the academic costume, the hood bears the heaviest symbolic burden. The hood must make clear the level of the degree, the faculty in which it was given, and the institution that awarded it. The level of the degree is shown by the size of the hood, the width of the velvet trimming, and in the case of doctors, by the shape. The bachelor's, master's and doctor's hoods are three feet, three and one-half feet, and four feet long, respectively. The velvet trimming in the same order is two, three, and five inches and extends all around the hood on the exposed edge. This same trimming identifies the faculty in which the degree was awarded. For each faculty there is a corresponding color; so a glance at the trimming is all that is needed to identify the faculty.

A partial list of the colors follows: Agriculture, maize; Architecture and Art, brown; Science, golden yellow; Economics, copper; Education, light blue; Engineering, orange; Forestry, russet; Physical Education, sage green; Religion, scarlet; Speech, silver gray; Veterinary Medicine, gray; Textiles, wine red. Anthropology, History, Languages, Literature, Philosophy, Political Science and Sociology are all dark blue.

ACADEMIC HONORS

Undergraduate degree honor designations are noted on transcripts and diplomas for the following grade point averages.

Cum Laude - for GPA of 3.250 through 3.499 (white sash)

Magna Cum Laude - for GPA of 3.500 through 3.749 (red sash)

Summa Cum Laude - for GPA of 3.750 and above (gold sash)

Students have the opportunity to participate in several programs that provide a more individualized and rigorous approach to learning through special classes, seminars, and research. Participants in the University Honors Program, University Scholars Program, and college honors programs are noted as follows:

H - University Honors Program

C - College Honors Program

UNIVERSITY MACE

The NC State University Mace is carried by the chief faculty marshal, a position held by the chair of the faculty. The academic mace, derived from a medieval weapon, represents the need to protect and nurture the fragile search for knowledge. The NC State University Mace has been specifically designed for this community. It was carried for the first time at the installation of Chancellor Oblinger. Each aspect of the mace represents an important characteristic of the university.

When freestanding, the mace is supported in a base of North Carolina stone representing the foundation of knowledge and the dependence of this academic community on the support of the people. At the base of the mace is a brass ring with the names of individuals who have held the position of chancellor, indicating the contribution of generations of academic leaders to the formation and maturation of NC State University.

The long lower fluted handle is the primary means by which the mace is grasped, representing the responsibility for the stewardship of knowledge. The shorter fluted, upper handle is the primary means by which direction is shown, and therefore represents the responsibility for guardianship. A block embedded with the seal of the university on four faces represents the university community and its charge to reach out in all directions. At the top of the mace is a geometric progression of layers representing the continual experimentation and testing of knowledge within the NC State academic community. At the very top of the mace is a bronze prow symbolizing the continual exploration that energizes our community.

The mace is fashioned from burl walnut recovered from a North Carolina tree felled in a storm, emphasizing the need to make wise use of resources even in difficult circumstances. The wood is a gift of the Jordan family, representing the importance of the generosity of the people of North Carolina to the university. The wood is complemented by bronze and silver fittings emphasizing the precious nature of the academic experience in society. During the course of fabrication, an error was made. After much discussion, the design team decided to make the revisions necessary to correct the error rather than refabricate the flawed component. This adjustment, difficult to identify, represents the valuable lessons learned from failure as an essential component of the university experience.

UNIVERSITY MEDALLION

The NC State University Medallion is worn by the chancellor for ceremonial occasions such as commencement, convocations and installations.

Similar to the University Mace, the medallion is derived from the Middle Ages, the period of the birth of the modern university. Today, universities strike medallions to commemorate special events, the contributions of exceptional individuals and to recognize individuals in positions of responsibility.

The NC State University Medallion also has been designed with symbolic gestures. The necklace has been shaped by two circles of differing focal points, representing the diverse nature of academic community. It includes pieces that combine into a whole, further signifying that many voices comprise the NC State community. The chain is joined by a small disk inscribed with the year of the founding of the university (1887) in tribute to the vision of the founders. The medallion joined to the necklace is the seal of the university, a representation of the responsibility and authority of the chancellor.

The necklace and medallion are fashioned from custom-made gold-plated brass. This choice of materials represents the pride of the university community in its accomplishments. It is a sign of the wealth of knowledge at NC State University.

The medallion and necklace were first designed by Mary Ann Scherr. It has been redesigned and reconfigured by a team that included College of Design Dean Marvin J. Malecha, Chris Jordan (1975, Product Design), Jack Lancaster and Sarah Tector.
