THE AGROMECK

ASSEMBLED AND PUBLISHED BY THE CLASS OF NINETEEN TWENTY-TWO OF NORTH CAROLINA STATE COLLEGE
AT RALEIGH, 1922

DEDICATION TO

Coach Harry Hartsell

Who, as head coach at this institution, has developed to the highest degree those fine qualities of sportsmanship, which permits the Wolfpack to receive the rewards of victory loyally, or to accept defeat generously and gracefully.

A man in whose character is reflected the true spirit of the college; a spirit of fight-to-win, combined with a love of honesty and fairness.

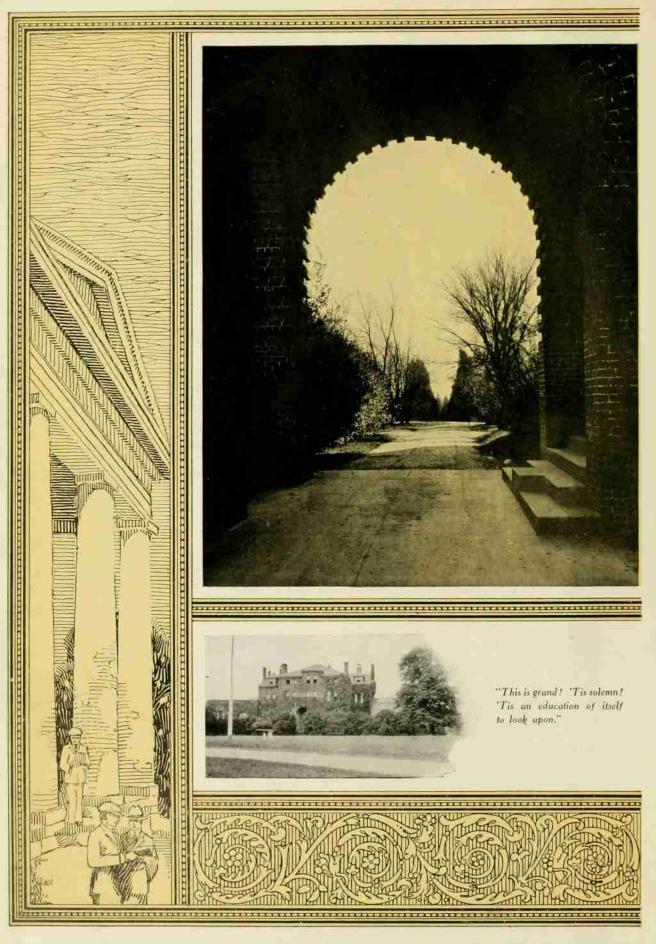

FOREWORD

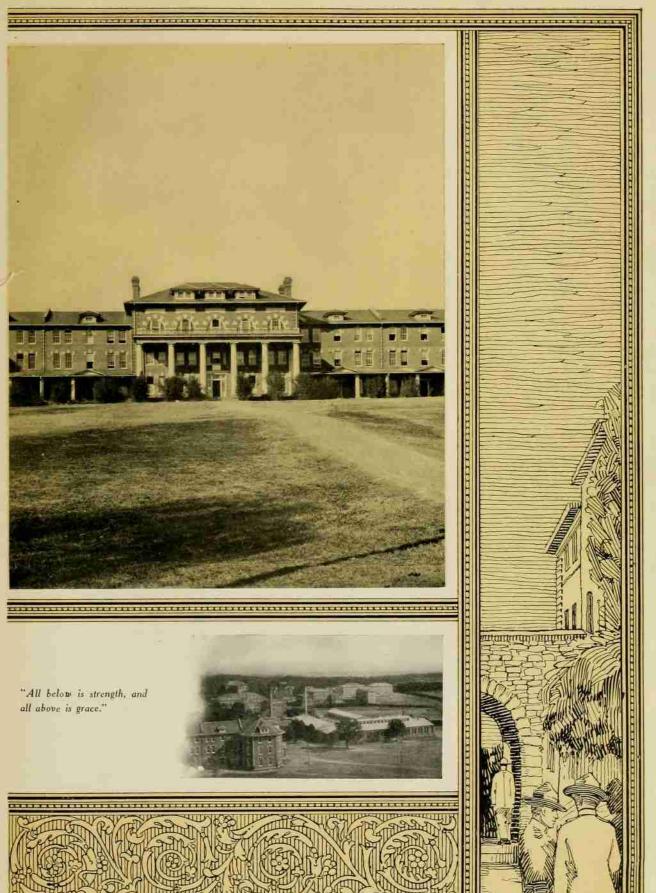

It has been our purpose in publishing the 1922 Agromeck to give a complete and accurate history of our college life, to recall to mind the familiar faces and scenes which we have grown accustomed to, and to perpetuate in our memories the spirit and ideals of an institution which during its thirty-three years of existence has ever been the pride of the Old North State. If in future years you can look through the pages of this annual and feel a revival of the spirit of 22, then will we consider that our task has been successful.

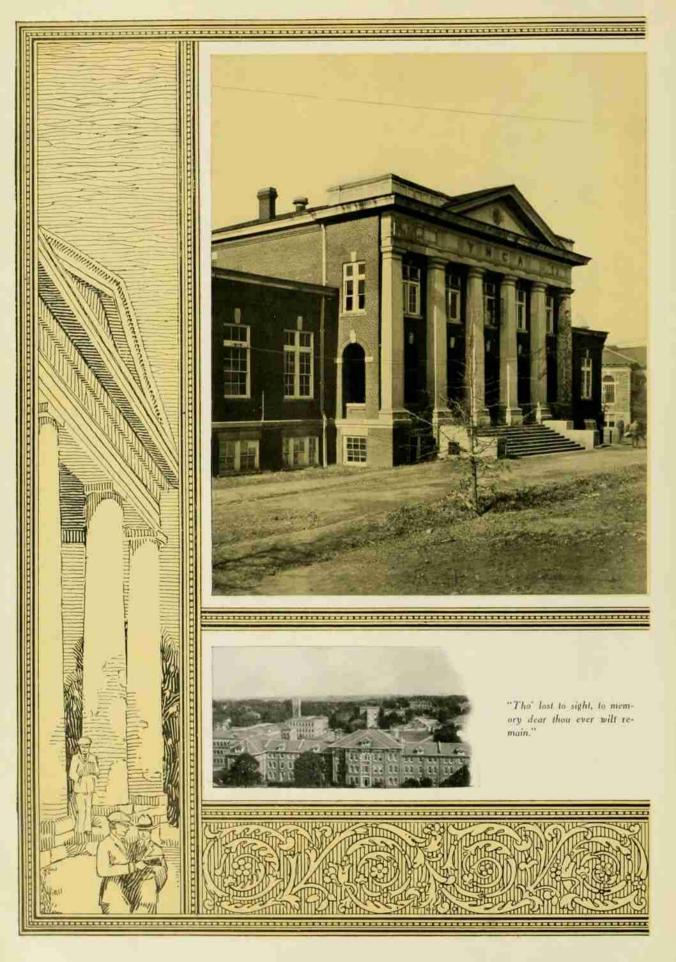

THE CAMPUS

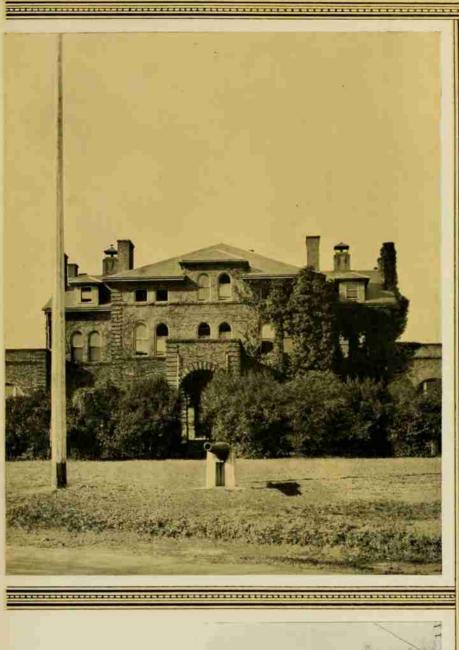

The design of the following pages is to reveal North Carolina State College in its true perspective. Scenes taken from points often viewed and paths often trod—which these pictures will make more vital when we have gone.

All seemingly so familiar, yet they never grow old, and will always recall to mind sweet memories of days gone by; ever an inspiration to uphold the principles upon which our Alma Mater is based, and fight loyally to retain the spirit for which she is known.

In Years to Come

THE AGROMECK is a college year-book published each year primarily for the Senior Class, but portraying by word and picture every phase of our college life. It is of interest to every student on the day it first appears, but its interest grows with each succeeding year after graduation. Each year the members of the class will turn through the pages, and as they see the faces of those familiar to them, but who are now widely scattered throughout the world, will live again their college days and strengthen the ties of friendship so powerful in college life.

To you, then, State College alumni of the future, I send a word of greeting and of cheer. We all remember the thrill which we experienced as we watched our first balloon ascension, and saw the great bag slowly fill, and saw it tug and pull at the ropes, striving to get away into the heights above. Just so we see our college filled with great possibilities, tugging at the ropes, striving to get away into ever-broadening fields of service to our state and to the world. Our physical plant is growing just as rapidly as means can be provided by the state. Our graduates are year by year becoming a more powerful factor in the development of this and other states. Let us, then, take State College spirit with us always, striving to develop and uplift the community in which we live, and always speaking a good word for Alma Mater.

LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES

Dr. T. P. Harrison Dean of the College

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences sets itself to the task of serving each and every student that enters this college, no matter what profession or pursuit in life the student has decided upon.

The reason for this is obvious, for in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences the student receives a thorough humanistic and scientific training, which helps to make a liberally educated man, rather than a mere technologist.

In this department of the college the student receives a thorough training in the fundamental subjects of mathematics, English, physics, foreign languages, and chemistry, the amount of training and work in the several subjects depending upon the course in which the student is registered; or the student, if he so desires, may take up more advanced work, or a more specialized curriculum in chemistry and chemical engineering, leading to the B.S. degree.

It is the primary object of the department to train the student in these fundamental subjects so that he will be better qualified to pursue his more advanced and technical work, and more able to cope with the scientific problems that he will be called on to solve.

The faculty of this department is composed of men who have specialized in these subjects; men who are willing and competent to aid the student in every way, so that he may become a thoroughly good citizen.

"POPULAR PROFS"

AGRICULTURE

DEAN WILLIAMS

Practical Education in Agriculture

Since the strength of our state and nation lies largely in its rural life, everything possible should be done to train our rural young men in increasing numbers for leadership in building a better and fuller life in the country. To do this, the training should be of the atmosphere and the environment of our people in the open country, starting with things with which the child is familiar on the farm, and on this education building wisely, step by step. Where agriculture is taught in this way, education becomes a vitalizing dynamic factor in country upbuilding, instead of an alienating influence.

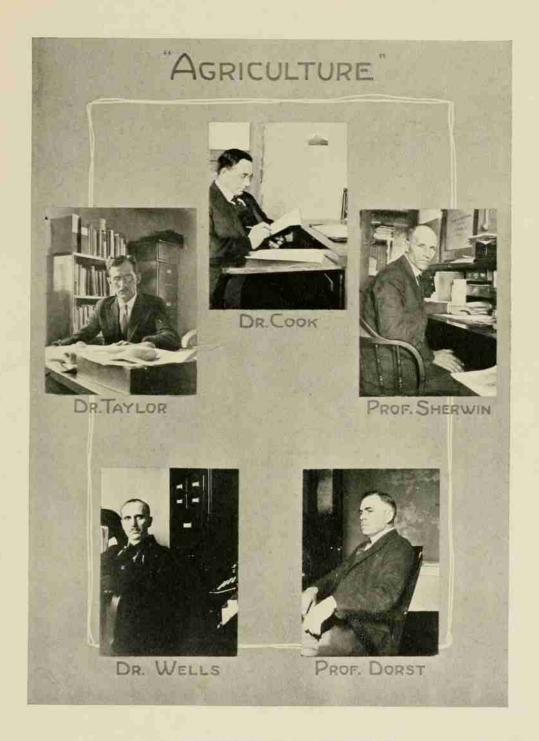

In bringing about this better condition, this college has an important mission in preparing agricultural leaders and in aiding in other ways in the building of safe and sane agricultural practices in the state. Our graduates in agriculture will have unusual opportunities for service and remuneration in meeting responsibilities in their different lines of farming or other work of an agricultural nature.

Consider what will be the condition in this state—and the time is not far distant—when in every rural community of the state the school courses will be carefully worked out and centered in a study of the fundamentals of the special type of agriculture of each particular community. North Carolina State College boys can and will hasten the coming of this better day in North Carolina.

The Range of Engineering

The College of Engineering offers four fouryear courses leading to the B.E. degree. In all of the courses the fundamental work in mathematics and physics is the same, but as the student progresses he takes up more advanced work in the sciences and applications peculiar to the fields of work of the civil, electrical, mechanical or textile engineer, thus giving the student a specialized training in the work or profession which he has decided upon.

It is the purpose of the College of Engineering to give the student as broad a training in general subjects as possible, and at the same time to give him practical experience in the laboratories and shops in applying the scientific principles which he has learned in the class room, thus graduating men who have some idea and appreciation of the value of practical training and of the relation between theory and practice.

New buildings are being erected and especially equipped for engineering practice, so that the college can take care of the ever-increasing number of engineering students. State College has contributed in a great part to the industrial and economic development of the state, and the indications are that in the future she will occupy an even more important place in the broad field of service to the state and nation.

MRS. WILLIAMSON, Librarian

The Library

How well do we remember the many hours that we have spent in the library, either in search of knowledge on some technical or scientific subject, or in the pleasant reading of some magazine or work of fiction. A spot where quiet and peace prevails, where we can concentrate on the deepest subject or enjoy an article to the fullest extent.

The library is filled with many volumes of valuable information on all engineering and scientific questions and problems—sources of information to all, whatever be their desire or need; affording everyone an opportunity to broaden his vision along any line whatsoever. Shelves filled with the latest magazines and most authentic newspapers. Books—fiction and non-fiction—from every author imaginable. Newspapers from all the cities represented in school, enabling students to obtain direct news from home. All this, combined with the help which Mrs. Williamson is always ready and willing to give, makes our library one of the best in the state.

By far the most popular and the most memorable building on the campus is the college dining hall—a place where everyone meets three times a day to partake of delicious food, purchased by an efficient steward, prepared by competent cooks, superintended by an able and experienced manager, and served by excellent waiters.

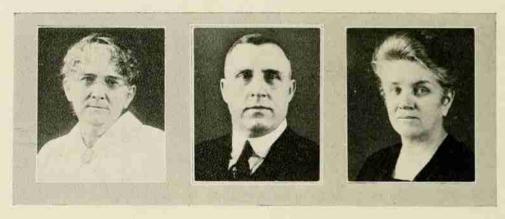

The college dining hall not only reduces the expenses of every student boarding there to a minimum sum of nineteen dollars a month, but it also affords an opportunity for employment to a number of students, who thereby reduce their college expenses.

The most noteworthy feature of the dining hall is cleanliness. Health is of first interest, and great care is taken that every dish is thoroughly cleaned and polished before it is used. Even the building itself is as spick and span as a Dutch dwelling.

Special meals are served when requested, and Mrs. Price is always ready to aid in the preparation for banquets and receptions. Training tables are prepared for the athletes so that they will be better "fit to fight."

The whole student body is indebted to everyone connected with the operation of the dining hall, but especially to Mrs. Price for the splendid service which she renders in making the dining hall a model of efficiency and perfection.

Foremost and most important of all college buildings and equipment is the college infirmary—a place where from a broken limb to even the slightest illness is vigilantly watched and cared for. Every effort is exerted to maintain the health efficiency at the highest standard, so that State College spirit can be upheld to the highest possible degree by able-bodied athletes and enthusiastic supporters.

Mrs. Mason works hard and strives to make the living conditions in the dormitories as healthful as possible. She treats everything with a motherlike interest, and thus makes the dormitories seem more homelike and attractive. She has won the esteem and friendship of us all.

Mrs. Harris and Dr. Campbell work in unison for the maintenance of health and the welfare of all. During the "flu" epidemic they served untiringly, answering the calls of many sick patients in the mid-hours of the night, ministering unto their needs and supplying their wants. We can never forget them for their service and friendship.

Senior Class History

T last we have reached the plateau of our college career. Here we have found heavy duty and great responsibility. We have worked, we have suffered hardships and disappointments in making the ascent. We have fallen, but each time to rise again. Many have been the difficulties and obstacles surmounted, many are the scars and sacrifices, but we are better men for having made the climb.

Now, as we pause for breath on this elevated tract and look around about us, we are happy and hopeful. From this position we see clearly the path of our climb. It is wonderfully short, but steep and dangerous in places. It is obvious that we could never have made the ascent alone. We will never be able to express our thanks and appreciation to those who guided us safely.

There is each footprint, clear-cut and deep. There is every mistake, every wrong choice of pathway, every act—not things soon to be forgotten, but altogether they form a blazed route that will influence those who come after us.

It was September, 1918, that we began our career as freshmen at North Carolina State College. In a sense this is to us the date of the beginning of the world. The fall term of this year was one full to the brim with action and events. Military restrictions, wartime measures, and the terrible epidemic of influenza were the greatest and gravest of our experiences. On account of these conditions we learned but little of what it really meant to be a first-year college man. But with the spring term came brighter days and a host of varied surprises. There came an end to the strict military regime. This gave us hope, and we looked forward eagerly for freedom, serenity, and plain sailing—but, lo! the sophomores had an idea that sailing was obsolete—they believed most conscientiously that the proper method of propulsion was by paddling. Never will we forget the stiffness and formality of our first military experience, nor the shocks given our feelings and anatomy by the sophomores. But these will be cherished among the richest and dearest memories of our college days.

There is in every man's life the sophomore stage, and most especially is this true of the college man. With the beginning of our second year's work we naturally reached that stage of freedom and power that words cannot picture. At this stage the entire college community was ours. The world and humanity seemed so small and insignificant; the freshman was to us so absolutely green and backward. We hate now to admit this, but it was true, and will always be the experience in a varying degree of college men. Under the power of this dominating influence of the sophomore stage we committed unfair deeds that brought on complications; but now, to our satisfaction, this brought about the beginning of the end of the crude form of hazing that had predominated in our institution for many years. Sophomores will always be sophomores, but we are proud to know and are glad that we did our part towards placing the sophomore spirit of State College on a higher and cleaner level.

There is a third stage in our development. Here we began to realize the seriousness of our task, to realize the part that the blessing and privilege of a college was to play in making us men. We began to assume college responsibilities; we began to realize the greatness of our institution. In each man's heart there began to predominate a desire to do something that would help make State a greater and better State.

We have been privileged to see marvelous steps of advancement and growth in our dear institution. It has been our privilege to help and to see student government established—one of the great factors which is so necessary and which will do so much for our college in the future. We have seen a new spirit grow up and predominate the life and purpose of our student body. The Class of 1922 has a four-square record; from the start to the finish we have held a foremost place in athletics, in scholarship, in moral and spiritual endeavor. Looking forward and upward, we are able to see but dimly into the future that looms with a great challenge on our horizon. Through the mist we know the sun is shining above. Our hope and purpose is to climb up and up until at last we will get above the haze, there to find life with all its beauties and joys.

Our college and college community has moulded our lives to the extent that they can never be made over again. No one can fully realize our feeling as we leave the institution, as we leave the home that has been ours for so long. From this time the responsibility of life is upon us. But with the direction pointed out, with the worth-while goals shown us, the task should be easier. As we go out we carry a heart full of pride and love for North Carolina State. Our hope is that State College is a better place for our having spent four years here.

Senior Class Poem

The world was mad with war and strife when first we entered here. Our task begun there was lots to be done, and sure we got our share. Twas drill and regulations strict, with guard-post night and day, And a wave of influenza came to darken our way.

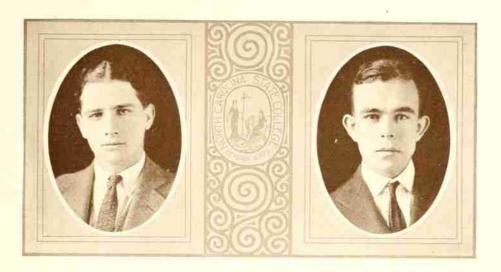

But, lo! There came a brighter day when war was cast aside, Which brought new life in every way with a real true college stride. With this new life we labored on to reach our goal sublime, And footsteps clear, we've left each year, as upward we did climb.

With friendships made, each tried and true, we've labored hand in hand, Till now, old pals, it's really true, we've reached our promised land. With retrospective thoughts let's pause, and look back o'er our days When this plateau to us below appeared in mystic haze.

Through four long years of college life we've tried to wield and wrest A place for you, dear N. C. State, among the very best. Each day of toil, each night of rest, it's been our desire. To help along with word or song, and place OLD STATE up higher.

But, lo! My friends we soon will part, to go we know not where, Yet we are richer now by far than when we entered here. And though we roam o'er land or sea, we'll do our very best; We'll pledge our all, though large or small, for a better N. C. S.

The first selection for this afternoon will be rendered by Mr. Wilton L. Adams. He is known far and wide as a professional ladies man. When he is not in his room he can be found in some Raleigh parlor or in the dance hall entertaining the ladies.

He likes to go home, and from the number of letters that he receives, other than those in his mother's handwriting, there must be more than one attraction for him.

Wilton is an all-way round good fellow. We are sure that he is going to make good when he gets back to the State of Robeson.

"Johnnie," better known to us as "Sperdy," hails from Henderson, "Speedy" is in a class all his own and at first sight you might picture him as a speed demon. But Io! His speed varies inversely as the square of the distance from dormitory to class room. Though slow in locomotion, "Speedy" possesses the traits of a strong Puritan nature, with love for music and art, and a strong affinity for electricity. In fact, you might term him a "loaditone" from the way he holds on to his electrical knowledge and draws good marks from the professors.

Tom, just Tom, the same Tom that came to us four years ago. The most outstanding change which has passed over this great notable from Derita is his snake-like actions on the ball room floor.

He is one who carries the courage of his convictions, treating everyone as a gentleman and expecting the same in return. Dancing and pushing a cue stick are his diversions; Trg. his specialty; and Blue Grass thoughts his delight. We are expecting great results from Tom as a cotton broker, and feel sure that he will not disappoint us in his vocation.

EDWARD MICHAEL ARENDELL, B.E.

E. M. is a shining example of a little man whose popularity varies inversely as his size.

It has always been a mystery to most of us how E. M. has lived four years with a man who is forever engaged in some form of roughhouse, and at the same time has remained so quiet and peaceful.

The greatest of his worries here in school has been his academic work. Somehow, though, he has always pulled through with some to spare. Would you want an example of a little-bit-ofall-right, you have it laid before you. Our best wishes go with him.

Can any good come out of the eastern swamps? Just take an upward glance at Bill and you will never doubt it again.

Bill has three outstanding accomplishments: a reed-blower in Percy's band; a chicken judge; and a cartoonist and painter of no mean degree. Many of his cartoons and drawings have lightened the burdens of weary editors, for he is ever ready to use his art to aid college publications.

Bill's easy-going, winning personality has brought many friends to him in his four years here, and we predict for him a great future as a poultryman.

Say, "Satchel," what did you think of the game? "Oh, we ought to have beaten 'em if—." Here you have Gib, a man who is a first-hand authority in all forms of athletics, including African golf. During our four years here we have never seen a game of any kind that we did not see Gib in his regular position on the bench, serving as an official or shooting his unusually lengthy line to the coach or manager.

However, he has not let his love of athletics defeat his desire to be a chemical engineer, but is running "Monkey" Greene a close second for honors in the chemical division.

The wholeheartedness with which he enters into all his work will prove to be a forerunner of his success.

What could be a more appropriate name than "Society" for such a character as you now gaze upon. Just how and where this title was won may be a mystery to some.

Early in Ashworth's freshman days he became the social center of a famous dancing school in this city, and from that time on "Society" has been his name. He is one of our most popular men, and on one special occasion his Meredith girls were so numerous that he could not be fair to all of 'em.

If Ashworth meets with the same success in dealing with the agricultural world, as he has previously met with the fairer sex, it will only be a matter of time before the name of Ashworth will be stamped in history along with the names of other great agriculturists of the day.

Jack, better known as "Shorty," always greets you with a cheerful smile. With his smiles and winning personality he makes friends fast.

"Shorty" stands well in his class and he is admired for his good qualities by both professors and classmates.

The three most important days of the week are Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. These days are held sacred, for they never fail to bring good news from Winthrop College, which drives all thoughts of any other girl from his mind.

With his side partner and original ways, there is nothing that can keep "Shorty" from reaping a successful career in the textile industry.

You have before you for your inspection the joy-inspiring smile of Harold Hoyt Bangs. His parents would probably have named him "Smiling" if they had known that this would be his main characteristic in life.

"Shorty's" capacity for sleep is as marvelous as his desire to associate with the ladies. But this is no fault, for when he is awake you'll know it all right, for he is always ready to tackle anything.

His patience and endurance have enabled him to meet all academic engagements successfully. He will surely climb to success in his profession.

"Cholly," one of our most consistent Red Mikes, has a quiet little way of attracting the fair sex to him. Although he is very hard hearted, he has a very tender regard for the girl at home. When in a crowd he acts with peculiar indifference and clothes. But when you get him alone. Oh boy, you'd be surprised.

"Cholly" is a glowing example of self-made, industrious, college man. He has a commanding personality and can adapt himself to any undertaking. He is a man that can be relied on to do his best at all times, and do justice to his associates. If "Cholly" adapts himself to his work out of school as he has here, his success in life is assured.

"Shorty" says that he would never shine in the tall men's union. However, if you'd give him a transit and a soap box on which to stand he would make somebody lead a hard life swinging a healthy bush axe.

"Shorty" is always there with the stuff when, as usual, his name heads the list to go to the board on hydraulies.

He also has some very great inclinations towards the fairer sex. When there is a dance on at Rex he is always in no little hurry to be the first one to hang up his hat and start gliding majestically across the ballroom floor. It is said he takes a turn on North Boylan occasionally.

Luck to you, "Shorty," may you reap full re-

If due credit could be rendered unto those to whom credit is due, then this notable chap from Moorehead City would certainly get his share. For although Derieux employed every means to defeat this lad's aims, and Browne has carefully manipulated his "flunk-o-meter," yet G. H. has avoided these two sources of peril in notable fashion.

We think that electrical engineering is the best profession for G. H. for he can do things well when they are to be done so, and he is not worried when there is nothing to do.

Earl came to us in 1920 from Annapolis, with boundless energy and enthusiasm for all college activities.

He showed up well on the football field and led a fast chase for a regular position on the varsity leven.

His ability as a business man was soon realized and he was elected business manager of the Agromeck. He has served faithfully in this capacity. However, he has not let the fact that he is a busy man interfere with his propensity for making friends. He has many friends on the campus as well as among the circles in Raleigh.

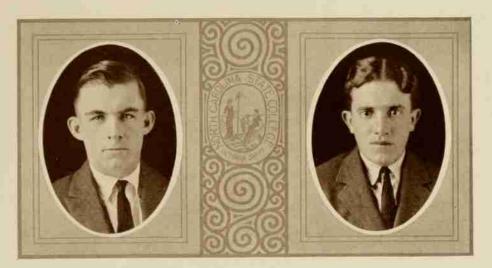

He is certain to reap the rewards of his efforts and attain the highest pinnacle of success.

Sergeant is the man with the goods, even if he does hail from the same town that "Windy" does. During his four years at State he has not only applied himself well in his studies but he has made an outstanding feature on the track team. He has walked away with the State honors for several years, and during his Junior Year he won second place at Washington, D. C., in the South Atlantic two-mile. Blake is one of the best sports of his class and well deserves mention of being a real friend to all his comrades of "22."

Buck is sure to find his place in the world.

What a pity that Booker did not live in the days of court jesters. He would surely have made the heavy heart of some sovereign swell with mirth, even as did Chicot and Patch.

He is the wittiest man among the Ags, and made a name for himself when he first came here through his impersonation of an auctioneer. We are told that his inexhaustible line and strong sense of humor also afford the ladies much pleasure and enjoyment.

Booker's easy going ways and ready wit will prove an invaluable asset to him in days to come, and are sure to play an important part in his success in life.

Here we have a man who is forever letting loose his pent up energy in any form of a roughhouse. Well do we remember the results of the fistic encounter at the mess hall—B. A. decisively defeated.

B. A. had easy sailing until this year when he encountered his Jonah—namely, gas engines. He will admit that it takes a maniac to understand the laws of an imperfect gas.

B. A. is always ready to lend a helping hand, and has proven a man deserving of trust and confidence. Combining common sense with practical knowledge he is sure to make good wherever he goes.

"Keen" is the type of a fellow who keeps us guessing. He gave up the idea of being a bank president and joined our ranks in order to learn something about electricity. In fact, he has proven himself a wizard along the electrical line, for he handles the hysterisis loops with the ease of an artist.

His ability to do a thing when he undertakes it, along with his cheerful nature, has won for him many friends while in our midst.

His frequent letters from Charlotte and his extended tours to the Queen City make us believe that he is not going to start out in life alone. Very well, Olin! Luck to you both.

The only reason upon which we can justly base our cause of jealousy is that William Hand is a local boy and has had a better chance to engage in feminine pursuits. But has he taken advantage of his opportunity?

As a society snake he is among those who are willing, yea anxious, but lacked the requisites of a successful heart smasher.

He is full of good intentions but seldom musters enough courage to see one through. Interested in all athletics, yet the only one that he ever indulged in was African golf.

So why worry?

"Buck" is one of those men whom we see little of except when trouble is brewing and help is needed. Then he is always there with the stuff.

He does not care for the ladies, but his chief form of amusement lies in well-planned and wellexecuted trips to the Grand.

Buck's academic ability was not to be questioned and there was never any doubt about which side of the line he was on.

Buck goes out in life taking many friends and leaving many behind. Wherever he goes he will take those qualities which spell success, and we know he will find it in life as he has found it here.

C. O. came to us in 1920 after having seen service with Uncle Sam. Since he has been with us he has proven himself a man fit for a man's job. He is a consistent thinker and a hard worker, the kind of man the world is calling for.

As a society snake he ranks among the foremost. Many are the girls that have gazed and fallen for the handsomeness of feature and his inexhaustible line.

He is not much of a mixer, but once you gain his friendship you have acquired a sincere friend on whom you can always count.

ROSEMARY, NORTH CAROLINA

First Sergeant S. A. T. C.; Corporat, 2; First Sergeant, 3; Captain, 4; A. I. E. E.; Scrub Baseball, 2, 3; Halifax County Club, 1, 2,

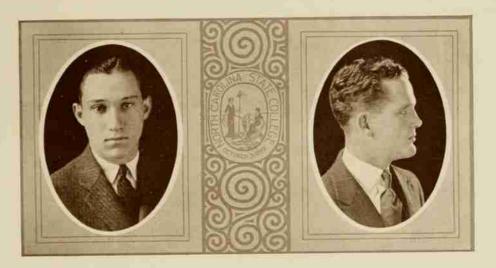

Doyle hails from Rosemary, and for quite a long time we thought that his home town meant "Roses" and "Mary" to him, but lo! college life has changed our little cannon into a big gun and he has drifted away from his boyhood days.

Doyle has spent lots of time trying to figure out why a motor motes, but he gets there just the same.

Military work seems to be his favorite sport. He came to us after a thorough course at Bingham and stepped into it during the S. A. T. C., when he was "Top Sergeant" of the Students Company. Since then he has pushed steadily forward and now as Captain of Company F he handles his men with the ease of a Napoleon.

WILLIAM WALKER CANTRELL, B.E. Σ N

WINSTON-SALEM, NORTH CAROLINA

Phi Theta, Vice-President Bridge Club, Tomp-kins Textile Society, 2, 3, 4; Camp Knox; Ger-man Club: President, 4; Senior Textile Football Team; Forsyth County Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Vice-President, 2; President, 4; Pan-Hellenic Coun-cil, 3, 4; Vice-President, 4;

In the fall of 1918 there bloomed upon the campus of State College one of the most timid freshmen the college has ever known.

Having a firm belief that a broad education was an absolute essential to a well rounded life and business career, Walker immediately set out to make his education the broadest ever, with nothing less in his mind than some day becoming president of two or three cotton mills.

If there are any more men in State College more widely and agreeably known we miss an official guess. We are sure that Walker's ambitions will some day be realized, Pittard was among the first to become a member of the Class of '22. After a few months of study he resolved that studying should not be his specialty. He is naturally savvy, and his sharp intellect has enabled him to push on and overcome obstacles from microbes to dirt.

He is not much for athletics, but when it comes to that game which requires forethought and science, the game of checkers, he shines like a new silver dollar. Ask John, he knows.

Realizing his ability as a thinker and his quickness of perception, Pittard will make a touchdown in the field of some agricultural pursuit.

Captain Cherry, the next candidate for the office of assistant engineer of Bertie is from Windsor. (Wherever that is, George still claims that it is in North America.)

George is very blond and is most popular with the ladies. None see him but to fall for him, Especially does he shine on Edenton Street.

Although George's social activities are very extensive, he does not allow them to interfere with his college work. His social standing is exceeded only by his military rank and the high position which he holds in his class. George is well fitted to make good in whatever he might undertake.

S. A. T. C., 1, R. O. T. C., 2, 3, 4; Agricultural Club, 2, 4; Secretary, 3; Sampson County Club, 2, 3; Vocational Club, 4,

How many times have we noticed a bunch of agricultural seniors crossing the hill and wondered why N. B. was not numbered among those present. Well we've never worred, for if he was not among the regulars, he would certainly appear in the ranks of captain among the irregulars.

Although the prof's fatal questionings have laid his plume in the dust several times, he has never lost hope of finishing. But with increased efforts he has lengthened his stride and now we know that he will set a fast pace for a place of prominence among the agriculturists of the state.

COLIN F. CHURCHILL, B.E.

KINSTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Lenoir County Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Building Committee, 3; Member A, I, E. E., 3-4;

Churchill comes from Kinston but he can't help that. His favorite sport during the S. A. T. C. was A. W. O. L. as he felt it his duty to visit Raleigh real often. His password at Camp Knox was "When Do We Eat?"

Colin has learned lots since he has been in College even though he hadn't "went out much" before he came to State. The way he mastered math, and his other "subjects" proved him to be a genius, even though he did have a shocking time while joining the Electrical Society.

Churchill has visions of Cornell and Boston Tech, and if he pursues his present daily routine he will get there without a doubt.

CLINTON ALBERT CILLEY, B.E.

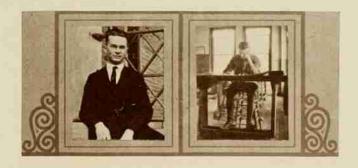

HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

Sergeant, 2; Vice-President, Catawba County, Club, 2; M. E. Society, 3, 4; Second Lieutenant, 4,

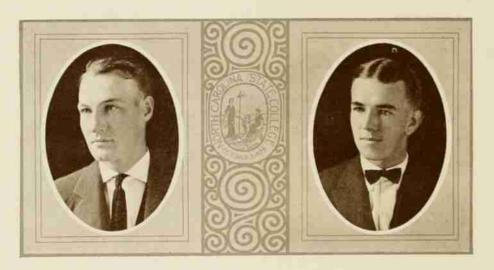

C. A. has a peculiar disposition, as mystic as an integral sign, but once you crack the outer shell you will find a true gentleman and a loyal friend.

Modest and unassuming, he is not a hail-fellow-well-met sort, but he has lived three years in close community without having lost for a moment the respect of his classmates.

When he goes out in life he is bound to command the respect of those who come in contact with him.

FRANK SILER CLARKE, B.E.

ANSONVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA
Anson County Club; President 4; Basketball
Squad, 1; Cake-cating Football Team, 4; Class
Baseball, 2; 3.

Clarke is well known over the campus by the peculiar yet quite popular appellation of "Country." Aside from his purely academic achievements, "Country" has two claims for honor in the Civil Engineering division. He and Cherry furnish most of the amusement which we have on class, and everyone knows that "Country" is one of the star backfield men on the C. E. football team.

A very common expression heard on class is, "All right, now, Mr. Clarke, pay attention to this; you will have it at the board in a minute."

The Class of '22 sends a good man forth into the world.

This Clarkson boy, known throughout Raleigh and on our campus as Eddie, hails from Charlotte. He is always smiling, has a happy-golucky disposition, and a do-or-die will.

The varsity never realized what it had missed until that day when the Textile and Civil Seniors met in football, and then this hard tackling back of the Textiles won his fame.

Eddie is a firm believer in the saying, "You can not keep a good man down," and happiness and success lie before him.

MILBAR, NORTH CAROLINA

Leazer Literary Society, 3, 4; Agricultural Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Bible Study Leader, 4; Promotion Force, 3, 4; Blue Ridge Delegation, 3,

At last here is a man upon whom we can depend. Quincy will remain faithful unto the end in whatever he undertakes.

His resourcefulness as a mountain climber was never fully realized until he attended the Blue Ridge Conference during his Junior Year. Then his short leg came into play.

Quincy comes from Wilkes County, and the art of sticking to a mountain trail may be natural. He applies the same principle of perseverance to all his studies, and his record here shows that he has been successful in all his academic engagements.

BRUCE HARRISON CONNER, B.E.

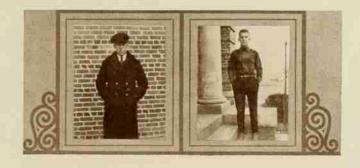

RICH SQUARE, NORTH CAROLINA

Hoanoke-Chowan Club, Secretary, 5; President, 4; C. E. Society, 3, 4.

Bruce very creditably represents that part of the state known as Rich Square. Bruce is a most earnest worker and takes great interest in his course and department.

Coming to college full of great ambitions, Bruce set out to find himself a girl. And, as one might expect, he did not have to go very far—just one block off the campus. During the time that he was a hard-boiled soph he could never be found on the campus at night. However, he is found at home most any time now.

As a civil engineer, Bruce, we wish you much greater success than you had on Maiden Lane.

FLAVE HART CORPENING, B.E.

BREVARD, NORTH CAROLINA

M. E. Seciety, 1, 2; Student Branch A. S. M. E., 3, 4; Company E. S. A. T. C., 1; Sergeant, 3; Licatemant, 4; Editor-in-Chief Agromack, 4; German Club, 4; Tau Rho Alpha.

The doors of knowledge were cracked just wide enough for Flave to enter in the year 18, because this year found him only sixteen years of age. However, he entered the Class of '22 and soon displayed unusual mathematical ability, for many "short-dock" sophs sought his aid on algebraic equations.

Flave has continued the same good work that typified his Freshman Year. Using his time to the best advantage, he has socialed when the occasion presented itself, but never out of calling distance of "Duty."

His classmatts bestowed on him the honor of editor of our college annual during his Senior Year, and we are sure that we made a worthy selection. He will be remembered as a friend to all.

WILLIAM OLIVER CRARY, B.E.

Student Branch A. S. M. E., 3, 4; Sergeant, 3; Assistant Manager Track, 3; Second Lieutenant, 4; Vice-President Hobo Club, 2; Assistant Cheer Leader, 4; K. J. E.

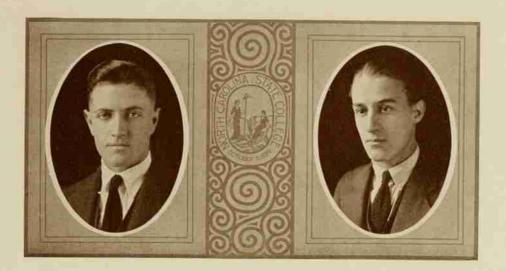

Yes, friends, here is Oliver—a man who considers that the easiest solution to the studying problem here in school is not to study, and we must admit that by this plan he has been successful.

As to the Raleigh girls, they hold no charm. But don't ask him about that daily volume from Asheville. Oh well, anyone that has ever seen his dresser can not blame him.

Give Oliver a quiet corner, a good book, and comfortable chair from which he can easily cock his feet upon the radiator, and you will be treated to the unusual spectacle of perfect contentment.

Oliver has many friends, and all who know him agree that his genial disposition will carry him a long ways.

ROBERT LEWIS DAVIS, B.E.

HENDERSON, NORTH CAROLINA

Tompkins Textile Society, 2, 3, 4; Secretary and Treasurer, 3; Vance County Club, 2, 3; President, 3; Assistant Manager Basketball, 3; Manager, 4; Leazer Literary Society; Co. Q.

R. L. did not belong to the Class of 1922 originally, but his unfortunate year of sickness was a fortunate one for our class. It gave us a man of high ideals, a good student, and for short, an all-round good fellow.

He is a man who knows how to use his time to the best advantage. He studies enough to pull down good grades, and his text-le manufacturer make himself famous as a textile manufacturer overshadows his desire for popularity with the ladies.

R. L. is full of good common sense, and we predict for him a great success in the textile field. His friends are all who know him.

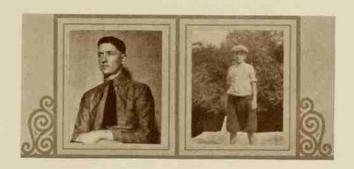

HAROLD ALBERT DEAL, B.E.

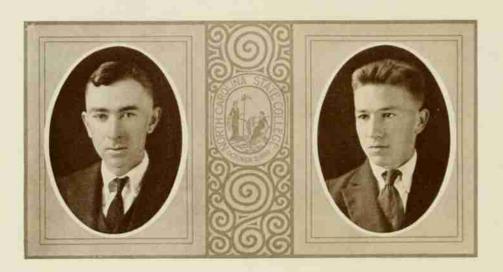

RANDLEMAN, NORTH CAROLINA

Textile Society, 2, 3, 4; Ramiolph County Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Co. Q.

We didn't know Randleman was on the map until "Shorty" came here. Now we are just wondering if there are any more Deep River dogs like him back up there. He was first known to us by the handle, "Shorty," but recently has changed that appropriate title for the name of "Harold Lloyd." He can ask more questions foolishly than the original Harold Lloyd.

However, "Shorty" is destined to succeed in his chosen work. Coming here with a definite interest in textile manufacturing and a desire to learn the business thoroughly, he has shown that he is capable and thorough, industrious and energetic; such a man is bound to succeed.

ROBERT ESTON DUNNING, B.S.

AULANDER, NORTH CAROLINA

Agricultural Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Vice-President Northampton County Club, 2; Roanoke-Chowan Club: Poultry Science Club, 4; Captain Co. Q., 4.

Red hails from the land of peanuts, and is one of those quiet, unassuming lads who is sure to make friends and success wherever he goes.

Occasionally he becomes slightly disturbed, especially when asked to expound such scientific problems as chromosome reduction, or the determiners of heredity, yet his perseverance always makes for him the victor.

We are led to believe that Red's heart is in the home land, for it seems that he has never sailed very far out on Meredith's stormy waves, or as yet decided to anchor his life ship in the good harbor of Peace.

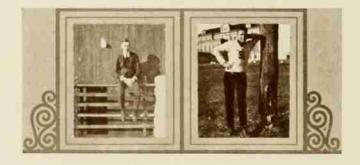

FRED GRAHAM ELLIOTT, B.S.

WEST DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Pullen Literary Society, 2, 2, 4; Agricultural Club, 2, 3, 4; Promotion Force, 2, 3, 4; Track Team, 2, 3, 4; Monogram Club, 2, 3, 4; Vocational Club.

Here we have presented in bold outline the features of a man who lives up to the military maxim of "make it short and snappy." When he says anything he a'ways cuts each word loose with a vim, and wastes no extra words. This characteristic in itself might cause a feeling of dislike; however, this is offset by the cheerful smile which he always possesses.

Elliott tried out for the mile during his freshman and sophomore years, but failed. However, his defeat did not discourage him and in his Junior Year he won his letter. The same determination will be prevalent in all his undertakings.

JOHN FRANKLIN ERVIN, B.E.

CATAWBA, NORTH CAROLINA

Square and Compass; Student Branch A. 1. E. E.; Baseball Squad, 1, 2, 3, 4; Basketball Squad, 2, 3.

Ervin started his training at Liberty Piedmont Institute. He soon made a change and landed at Mars Hill College. From there he came to State, known then as A. and M. He established himself as a good student during his first year here, but during the following summer Ervin answered the war cry and spent two years in the service.

After cruising in the tropics "Puss" decided that there was no place like State, so he returned to resume his studies, and has done good work in all his departments, specializing in electricity. His room is a rendezious for those seeking aid, and his hand is always ready and willing.

PAUL KOONCE EWELL, B.E.

ELIZABETHTOWN, NORTH CAROLINA

S. A. T. C.; Corporal, 3; M. E., Society, 1, 2; Student Branch A. S. M. E., 3, 4; Rifle Team, 7; Camp Knox; Winning Rifle Team; National Matches; Lieutemant, 4; Cotillion Club, K. L. E.

Since the day that P. K. entered N. C. State he has been full of fun, pep and good sportsmanship. He has a smile and a word of cheer for everyone that he meet, and his enthusiasm makes him a welcome addition to any party.

We never expect to see any medals of honor pinned on P. K., or to see him President of the United States. Simply because he does not do unusual things. (Although he did use the fire extinguisher on some University of Georgia men while at Camp Knox.) It is P. K.'s way of doing the everyday things that makes him a mixer in any crowd.

DWIGHT MOODY FARMER, B.S.

BAILEY, NORTH CAROLINA

S. A. T. C.; R. O. T. C., J. 2; Agricultural Club, I. 2, 3, 4; Poultry Science Club, 3, 4; Nash-Edgecomb County Club, 2, 3, 4; Vice-President I; Stock Judging Team at State Fair, 4; Ancient Order of Yellow Cur, 3, 4.

Dwight, as we are wont to call this slim brunette, hails from Bailey or thereabouts, and if you want to know anything about the place just mention the fact that you have never heard of the place. The information will be furnished forthwith.

Dwight's source of greatest enjoyment lies in a good cigar, and from the number of Richmond stubs in his window we judge that his trip to the capital city must have been successful.

When he sails out on life's billowy sea we hope that all his troubles will be little ones.

Ralph Powell Farrel, B.E. Φ Ψ

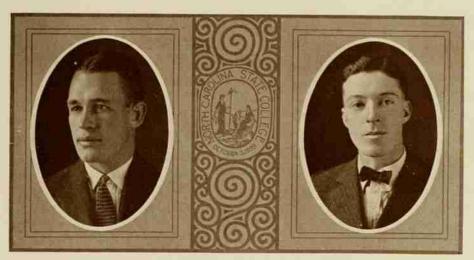

LEAKSVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

German Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Rockingham County Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; President, 3, 4; Bridge Club; Tourist Club; Senior Textile Football Team; Student Council.

In R. P. we have a man that can pull down eight I's just as easy as eight 2's. Textile seems to be his drawing card and he has lost no time in taking advantage of this opportunity. He is one of the best students in his class not only in scholarship but also in promoting the social and athletic activities of the college. As pilot of the Textile Class football tram he has proven himself worthy of the position. Ralph does not fail to make his usual checking among the fairer sex of Raleigh on Sunday nights, and we are sure that quite a few will miss him in Raleigh when "22" has departed.

We know you have the goods, Ralph, so "22" will look forward to your success.

AVERETTE GASTON FLOYD, B.S.

FAIRMONT, NORTH CAROLINA

President Freshman Class; Sergsant Major, 3; Captain and Adjutant 4; Serub Football, 1; Varsity, 2, 3, 4; Robeson County Club; Agricultural Club, 1; 2, 3, 4; President Club, 1; 2, 3, 4; President 4; Cotillion Club, 3, 4; President Junior Class, 2; President Athletic Association, 4; Ancient Order of Yellow Cur; Pan-Hellomic Council; Chief Marshal Commencement.

Here we present to you "Big" Floyd, State's ideal man, and it is even said by some that Peace has a student who thinks just as we do. If so she is exactly right.

The Class of '21 was indeed unfortunate when he was called into the service, but the fall of '19 found "Bigun" back at N. C. S. hitting the line hard. Naturally do you find him fighting hard on the gridiron, but you also find him exerting every effort for the betterment of his Alma Mater.

When Big Floyd steps out into the agricultural world he is sure to be felt. His ability as a leader of men has been thoroughly tested and with glowing success. We dare not even predict the future for such a man.

ALVA JUSTIN FLOYD, B.E.

FAIR BLUFF, NORTH CAROLINA

R. O. T. C., 1, 2, 3, 4; Demonstration Ph., 4; Square and Compass, 3, 4; Civil Engineering Society, 2, 3, 4, President Columbus County Club, 4.

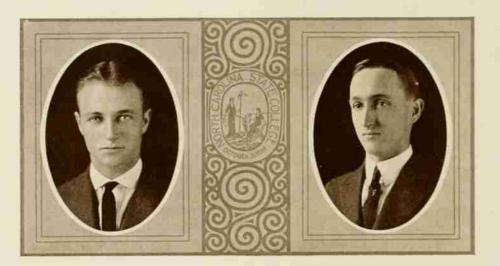

A. J.'s cheerful manner, together with his ready willingness to help his fellow classmates has made him a true friend and an agreeable companion.

During the time that we have known him, A. J. has shown a lack of interest in hops and femmes in general. But his "handy line" makes him a welcome addition to a stag party.

The indifference toward the opinion of those whom he believes to be wrong and the whole-heartedness with which he tackles the hardest problem is sure to mean a lot to him when later he is called on to face more difficult problems in life.

GILES PITMAN FLOYD, B.E.

FAIRMONT, NORTH CAROLINA

P. A. T. C.; Robeson County Club. 1, 2, 3, 4; M. E. Society, 2; Student Member A. S. M. E., 3, 4; Sergeant, 2; Aero Club, 2; K. I. E., A. S. E.; Camp Knox.

Pit and his winning smile settled down among us in the eventful year of '18. Since that time he has been a loyal student and a faithful friend.

He does not make a habit of socialing; but when he does drag, he drags. When Pit is not found at home reading a Cosmo or Red Book, you will find him at Meredith.

As to studies, well they never bother him. Not that he stars, he doesn't. Boning is against his principles (excepting calculus).

Pit is one of the best pals that a fellow could have. You can not help liking him. When it comes to a show down Pit can be relied on to come across with all that's in him.

John Elliott Fortescue, B.E. Σ II

SCRANTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Lenzer Literary Society, 1; Corporat, 2; Co. Q; M. E. Society, 3, 4; Skin County Club.

You now have before you for your approval a man who is a cat in his old home town. J. E. can tell of many thrilling experiences and wild parties that have occurred in Louisburg, but we have as yet our first time to see the gallant lad in action.

He is one of those unusual characters who delights in monopolizing the floor while in the classroom, but as a usual thing his classmates are treated to a period of fun and amusement when he begins his arguments and the teacher makes his reply.

J. E. is a willing worker and a good man to have as a friend. The Class of '22 will remember him as an all-round good fellow.

JOSEPHUS COSTON FOSCUE, B.E. MAYSVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

R. O. T. C., I. 2, 3, 4; Agriculture Club, I. 2, 2, 4; Poultry Science Club, 3, 4; Demonstration Plateon, 4; Ancient Order of Yellow Cur, 3, 4; Assistant Treasurer Agricultural Club, 4.

"Shorty," as he is known to all his classmates, has an ambition in life; and that is to grow tall enough so that he can talk to Mary face-to-face. His motto is, "If socialing interferes with studying, cut out studying," Surely this motto has contributed to his success among the fairer sex.

Quiet and keen of perception, he meets everything with a winning air. Worries never come into his mind. With a genteel and carefree disposition he has for everyone a jolly word backed by a sunny smile.

In the face of such spirit, the discouragements of the world can not long endure.

WILLIAM FRANKLIN FREEMAN, B.E.

NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

German Club; 1, 2, 3, 4; Old Dominion Club, 1, 3, 3, 4; C. E. Society, 2, 3, 4; S. A. T. C.; R. O. T. C.; Co. Q., 4.

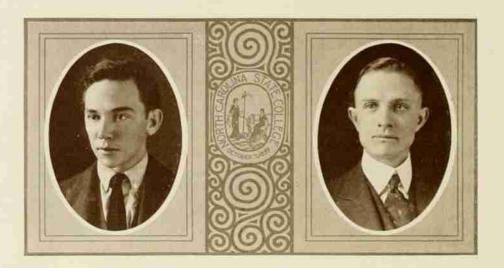

Peter, better known as "Kid Norfolk," is one of the most liked boys on the campus. He seems to have the disposition to win friends everywhere he goes, and he always proves himself to be a worthy friend. He also plays a good hand with the ladies and it was rumored once that Peter had found the right girl, but WE WONDER.

As pilot of the C. F. Class Football Team he

As pilot of the C. E., Class Football Team he won distinction and deserves mention for his victory over the Textile Cake-Eaters and 1911.

He has the ability and the will, and we look for Peter to achieve great honors when he gets out in practice.

JOHN DAVID GILL, B.E.

HENDERSON, NORTH CAROLINA

Johnny, as you might expect, is from Henderson. Ever quiet, but always right there with the goods when he is needed or called upon.

Folks might think that he has the toothache all the time, but on closer inspection they will find that it is Climax. Johnny is noted for his originality, and his peculiar way of transferring himself from one place to another.

Judging from his snappy way of dressing, one would think that he is a real cake-eater. However, the only achievement upon which he can base his claim for honor is, "Boys, I got one arm around her."

JULIAN AUSTIN GLAZENER, B.S.

CALVERT, NORTH CAROLINA

Leazer Literary Society, 1, 2, 3, 4; Intercollegiate Debater, 1; Class Debater, 1; Chaplain, 2; Declaimer, 2, 4; Orator, 1; Critic, 4; President, 4; Agricultural Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Over-Seas Club, 2, 5, 4; Premotion Force, 4; Stock Judging Team.

In society or club Glazener is one of our very best. In his classes he has forged to the front. As to the ladies, well, he has us all beaten.

His congenial personality and hearty laugh have been two very essential assets to our class. But the thing that impresses us most is that sterling character of his which has no doubt been an inspiration to those of his classmates who have been in closest contact with him. He is the kind of man that State College delights in honoring with a diploma.

WILLIAM FRANKLIN GRAHAM, B.E.

RENNERT, NORTH CAROLINA

Leazer Literary Society; Corporal, 2, 2; Demonstration Pit., 4; Robeson County Club; M. E. Society, 1, 2; A. S. M. E., 3, 4.

Here we have another man who possesses a rather mystic personality and a perplexing disposition. He has lived with us for four long years, but each year he has taken life more seriously. Sometimes he is quiet and unassuming, then again he is in for fun and a good time. It is rather hard to understand his peculiar ways, but we are forced to believe that there is a girl at the bottom of it all.

Anyway, Frank, you are a good scout. The Class of '22 counts you as a first string man. We wish you as great success in life as you have had while in school.

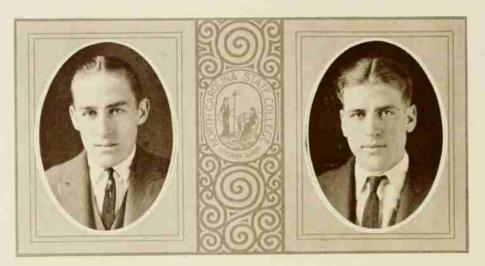

HENRY DES 'CHAMPS GREEN, B.S. SOUTH CAROLINA

Square and Compass; Leazer Literary Society, I. 2, 3, 4, Palmetto Club, I, 2, 3, 4; Agricultural Club, 2, 3, 4; Promotion Force, 2, 3, 4; Ancient Order of Yellow Cur; Corporal, 2; First Lientenant, 4,

Alas! We stretch forth the royal banner, Henry Des Champs, that's what we call him. Henry is from the Palmetto State and he is just as loyal to her government and traditions as he is to his many friends and classmates.

He began his college career by studying engineering but soon found that he was made for the soil. However, "Dirt" almost convinced him that he was not adapted to "Soils," Nevertheless he plowed on, and at the close of the spring term of '22 we find Henry numbered among those who joyfully receive the rewards of four years' efforts.

LUTHER WILSON GREENE, B.S.

NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

L. W. came to us straight from Norfolk, Va., and with him came an unusual ability as well as desire to enjoy life to the fullest extent. And still more to his credit he has retained that same ability and desire through his four short years

Punctuality is his watchword and motto. Street cars are supposed to run regularly at all times, but during Junior Year the conductors on Hillsboro cars had to use expert skill and excellent tactics to conduct a certain feminine passenger to a safe landing without coming into L. W.'s line of sight.

He has a way all of his own which has won the esteem and best wishes for success from us all.

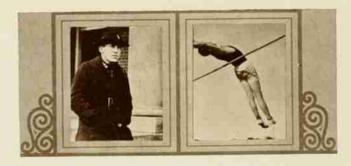

JOHN DWIGHT GROOME, B.S. A Γ P

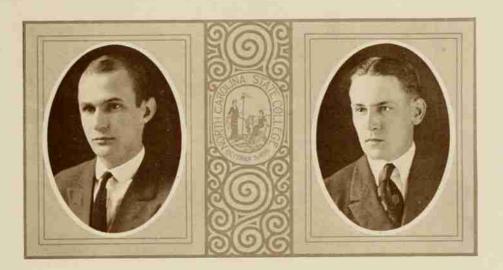

GREENSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

Johnny's rule once was, "Have them do as you say," But this rule was completely reversed long in his sophomore days when he met a certain lady on Halifax Street. Who could blame him? If you wish to spot her just look for a good looking girl wearing an N. C. S. monogram with three stars. If you doubt his ability as an athlete, refer to his honors or turn to the athletic section of the book.

We can only judge the future by the past, so we can all rest assured that there is a great future in store for him.

WALTER DURHAM HAMPTON, B.E. Y II

BREVARD, NORTH CAROLINA

Student Council; E. E. Society; Over-Seas Club; First Lieutenant R. O. T. C.

"Pop" started here in the year 1913 but decided to withdraw for some unknown reason? After drifting a few years "Pop" came back and joined our ranks in 1920, and has succeeded in finishing his work in three years. This within itself proves him to be a worthy scholar.

To look at "Pop's" head you might think that he was rather old, yet he is not too old to learn, even though he was waylaid in Cleveland and relieved of a time piece which proved to be the family heirloom.

After hitting the high places in London and Paris during the war, "Pop" returned with all the late dope on social activities, which he executes nicely with all his college requirements.

ALEXANDER CASWELL HAMRICK, B.E.

Alec is a man whom we are glad to call a classmate. He is a hard wo ker but is never too busy to put aside his task in order to help another fellow

He is rather quiet about the women, but "still water runs deep," and we are forced to believe that there is a charming young femme in his old home town.

Alec is a source of great joy to his roommates because of his excellent taste in the way of food. His room always contains enough food to tide one past a period of hunger, and everything he has is yours, be it his last sandwich or his Ford switch key.

WM. THOMAS HARDING, JR., B.E.

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Secretary of Student Branch A. S. M. E., Corporal, 2, Sergeant, 3; First Lieutenant, 4; Local Boy; Junior Ring Committee; Tau Rho Alpha.

There goes Tubby waddling along like a duck. Indeed, his general aspect resembles that of a duck, for when it comes to rotundity the sphere has nothing on Tubby's shapely form.

Nevertheless he is recognized as a social hound, but then it is only natural that the femmes should be captivated by the innocent air that he possesses.

Tubby is a man who makes a practice of clean living and high thinking. He claims our respect and affection on the ground that he is a first-rate classmate, a true friend, and a man whose best pals are his dad and his mother.

LERA RHINEHART HARRILL, B.S.

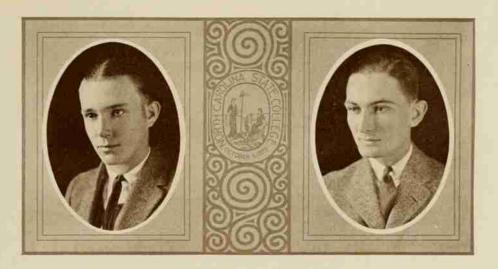

LATTIMORE, NORTH CAROLINA

The more you learn about Tea-hound the better you are going to like him. He is a man all the way through. He is neither a book worm nor a social fiend; but he strikes a happy medium between the two that makes him a fine fellow to have around.

He has fitted into our campus life so naturally that we are likely to overlook how great a part he has had in all our undertakings. We can only wish him the success in life that his college record would indicate that he deserves.

EARNEST BATON HARRIS, B.E.

SPENCER, NORTH CAROLINA

President Rowan County Club, 3; C. E. Society, 3, 4; Hobo Club; Band, 1 2, 3, 4; Glee Club, 3; Cotillion Club, 3, 4; Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3.

Pip is one of State College's few cake-eaters who has successfully done socialing on a large scale and at the same time has kept in touch with the academic side of college life. He always has lots of wonderful stories to tell just after he has come back from one of his long trips.

It might be peculiar, nevertheless it is true, that you never hear anyone ask for a cigarette that you are not reminded of Pip.

He is a most agreeable fellow and is liked by everyone that knows him. With his ability to do good work, combined with the ease with which he mixes with people, we predict the most successful career in any branch of his profession that he might choose.

James Calhoun Harris, B.E.

ANDERSON, SOUTH CAROLINA

Palmetto Club; Phi Theta; German Club; Secretary and Treasurer Pan-Hellenic Council, 4; Tompkins Textile Society; S. A. T. C.; Bridge Club; Tourist Club.

Cal came to us in his Sophomore Year after spending his rat year at Auburn. He and the Anderson Tribune both hail from the Palmetto State, and South Carolina is the only State in the Union to hear either of them tell it.

Cal is a born "ladies' man," and even admits the fact. Of course he cannot help this, and he naturally holds his line for the opportune time.

The textile industry is looking for just such hustlers as Cal, and success is his only for the asking.

WILLIAM NORWOOD HICKS, B.E.

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Let us introduce you to Red Hicks, a man of high character and a pleasing personality.

Red is one of the most prominent members of our class. As a thinker and sound reasoner his ability is unquestionable. He has served faithfully as President of the Y. M. C. A. and no criticism can be offered to his presidency.

His one hobby is walking in his sleep, but Red says that the next time he tries to fly he will have a prodetermined landing field.

have a predetermined landing field.

Red is a man and a gentleman. You can not help but like him. He is as solid as they make them.

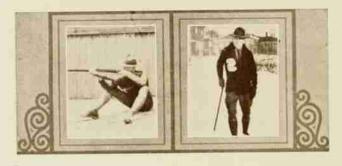

HENRY SELBY HILL, B.E.

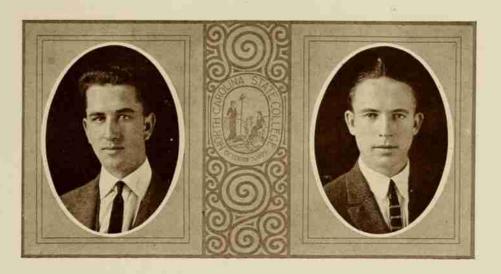

NEW BERN, NORTH CAROLINA

Class President, 1; Class Poet, 1, 2, 4; Football, 1, 2, 3, 4; Monogram Club, 3, 4; Cheer Leader, 4; Sergeant, 2; Captain, 4; Business Manager Technician, 4; A. L. E. E., 3; Vice-President, 4; Court of Customs, 4; Craven County Club, 3, 4.

We were very fortunate to have Selby join our ranks after two years' service with Uncle Sam. Upon resuming his activities at college he felt the "Call of the Wild" and rejoined the wolf-pack. His record as a football player and his interest in all college activities have made him one of the most popular men on the campus.

But every great man has his weakness, and we are sure that he affords no exception to the rule. His regular daily letter and his week-end trips to the eastern part of the state are proof enough that Cupid is busy.

JAMES OSCAR HOLT, B.E. GREENSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

Tompkins Textile Society, 1, 2, 3; Guilford County Club, 1, 2, 3; President, 4; R. O. T. C. Corporal, 1; Sergeant, 3; Demonstration Pit., 4; Research Club.

James O., better known as Jim, is a man who has no equal and few rivals. He seeks the friendship of none, yet is friend to all. For him the fair sex of Raleigh have no chance, because we rather suspicion that way down in Mississippi the key to his temple was stolen, and SHE, the thief, controls the lock.

Jim is every inch a man and the kind that will stand up for what he believes to be right through thick and thin. He carries our best wishes out into the world.

HENRY TAYLOR IVEY, B.E.

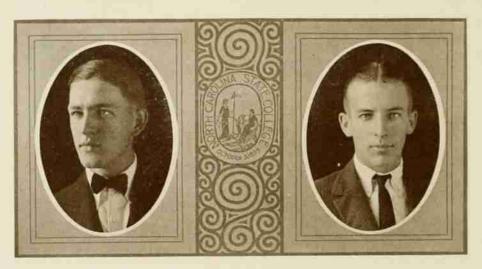

PROCTORVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

German Club, 2, 3, 4; Robeson County Club; Secretary, 3; President, 4; C. E. Society; Corporal, 2; Camp Knox.

Ivey is a real star in the social life of Raleigh. Coming to Raleigh from Akron. Ohio, he was fitted perfectly to play the heroic role of heart breaker among the beautiful maidens of this fair city. Not satisfied with having won the city, it is said that Ivey is carrying on a very successful conquest at Peace.

Henry is equally as well liked on the campus. Probably not as conspicuous on class as some, yet he does good, consistent work. It should be easy for him to realize one of his pet ambitions, that of being county engineer in the "State of Robeson."

CLYDE ALFRED JACKSON, B.S.

HIGH POINT, NORTH CAROLINA

Pullen Literary Society, 1, 2; Agricultural Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Vice-President, 3; Vocational Club, 3, 4; Guilford County Club, 1, 3, 3, 4,

"By George, I am going to get me a man if I hear the name of crab-apple spoken again." No, he did not like the nickname of "Crab-Apple," so we just call him Jack, it's shorter anyway.

Alas, here is consistency and sturdiness personified. He is never spectacular, nor never stages grandstand exhibitions, but he is always there pulling his part of any load that falls on him to bear.

Knowing his ability for consistent and sturdy work, we expect Jack to mount the high peaks which lead to success in whatever field of endeayor that he pursues.

DONALD B. JENKINS, B.E. GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Demonstration Pit., 4; C. E. Society, 2, 3, 4; Member A. A. E.; Student Council; C. E. Football Team; Hobo Club; R. O. T. C.

Jenkins is one of the most able men that we have in the Civil Engineering division. The C. E. seniors showed their appreciation of his ability when they elected him to represent the division on the Student Council.

D. B. has some aspirations along athletic lines. He played on the C. E. football team, and has such high hopes of making the varsity basketball team that he is in the Y every night until after twelve throwing goals.

His aspirations in life are many, and he can be counted on to go about each task with the grit and determination of which he has his share.

JOHN FRANK JOHNSON, B.S. MT. AIRY, NORTH CAROLINA

S. A. T. C., 1; R. O. T. C., 2, 3, 4; Sergeant, 3; Agricultural Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Poultry Science Club, 5, 4; Secretary and Treasurer, 3; President, 1; Ancient Order of Yellow Cur; Poultry Judging Team, Madison Square Garden; Student Council, 4; Demonstration PR., 4; Camp Knox.

On the campus or in the classroom Frank is always the same. With a smile and a strong determination he meets the tasks as they come and never leaves one undone.

Frank is another one of our social "Bulls" and we are glad for him that this is his last year, because if it were not we fear that he would forget about his work altogether. Late in the mid-hours of the night we are often awakened by the approach of Frank and Shorty.

Frank's chief study is chickens, but his study is not confined to the feathered species alone.

The Class of '22 wishes him the best of luck in all his undertakings.

George Shuford Johnston, B.E.

HICKORY, NORTH CAROLINA

Captain Freshman Basketball Team; Varsity Basketball, 2, 2; Letter Man, 3; Varsity Football, 3, 4; Tompkins Textile Society; President, 4; Secretary and Treasurer, County Club; Co. Q; Monogram Club; German Club.

"Bud" hails from Hickory, way up in the mountains and to hear him tell it that town is all over the map. Anyway, Bud has certainly been an honor and a credit to his old home town. In football and in basketball Bud has shown that old fighting spirit which has made men famous.

Not only in athletics has he shown, however. As a society man he is hardly surpassed by anyone on our campus.

He believes in delving to the bottom of everything, and getting full reward out of all that he undertakes. For him we see only a bright future.

LUTHER JACKSON JORDAN, B.E.

ELM CITY, NORTH CAROLINA

Pullen Literary Society, 1, 2, 3, 4; Inter-society Debater: Promotion Force; Blue Ridge Conference; Bible Study Leader; Aero Club; Poet Sophomore Class; Over-Seas Club; Nach-Edgecomb County Club; Student Government Committee; C. E. Society; Square and Compass; Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Captain, 4; Honors in Conduct.

Professor Jordan is one of the outstanding figures at N. C. State. When he takes his degree he shall have finished most every course taught on the campus, besides having served as instructor to the rehabs.

L. J. puts us at a total loss to determine how he does so much work and at the same time is able to social in Raleigh so often.

That he has done excellent work at other places other than State is proved by the many medals he has won in outside life. When asked "who won the war," Jordan replies, "The boys say that I did."

Success is sure to crown his efforts.

HEATH OWEN KENNETTE, B.E.

MOORESVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

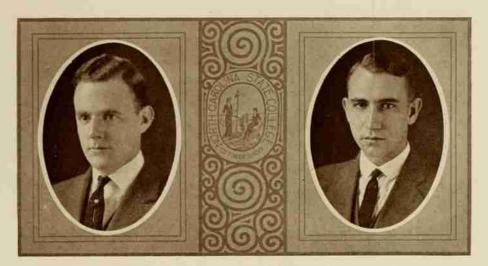

Tompkins Textile Society, 2, 3, 4; Pullen Literary Society, 2, 3; Rifle Team, 2, 3; Class Basketball, 1, 2; Hobo Club, 3; Vice-President Iredeil County Club, Square and Compass; German Club, 4.

"Red," our brickyard blond, is a typical case man. One minute he meets a girl, next he is talking on phrenology, then he starts to demonstrate.

He has an eagle eye—is captain of our rifle team—can hit a bull's eye at 2,000 yards, and can see a lady get on a street car at 3,000 yards.

In Red we have one of our best men. He is an ideal student and a perfect stranger to the deadly flunk slips. He makes friends slowly but holds them fast. Once a friend to Red means always a friend; there is nothing that he will not do for you. A steady, brainy worker. Red is bound to make good and we are sure to hear more of him as the time passes.

ROBERT MORRIS KIMZEY, B.S.

HORSE SHOE, NORTH CAROLINA

Agricultural Club, 1; 2, 3, 4; Leazer Literary Society, 1, 2, 5, 4; Over-Seas Club; Vocational Club,

Oh, you "Mess Hall Blues," don't work in hypnotic, sensational depression upon this optimistic chap from the land of the hills. Raymond Morris, as we call him, after much consideration, chose for his habitation the mess hall where he has been for the last three years.

Morris did not let his little scrap with the Huns discourage his ambition for an education. With a dogmatic determination he has worked and overcome obstacles in his fight for higher education.

When it comes to talking about the ladies, Morris does not have much to say, but he is very optimistic about them.

We predict for him to attain success in agricultural work that the Class of '22 will be proud of

HENRY JEFFERSON KINARD, B.E.

EPWORTH, SOUTH CAROLINA

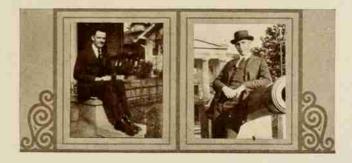

S. A. T. C.; R. O. T. C., I. 2, 3, 4; Demonstration Pit., 4; Palmetto Club, I, 2, 3, 4; President, 4; A. S. M. E., 2, 4; Tau Rho Alpha; Vice-President Junior Class; Assistant Manager Track, 5; Manager, 4; Athletic Council.

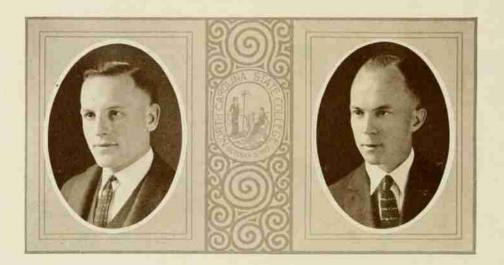

Here we have the happy-go-lucky South Carolinian who never tires of telling of the superb attainments of the metropolis of Ninety-Six.

He is most abundantly supplied with all those good qualities which tend to make up a good fellow, so at every slightest suggestion he is willing to knock off boning in o.der to join in a bull convention or hot air fest.

Henry is a hard worker as was evidenced by the fact that he was elected manager of the '22 track team.

He has a pleasing nature which appeals most strongly to everyone who knows him. Always willing to grant any favor that may be asked of him, and always doing something for someone else.

RAYMOND WARNER KRAFT, B.E.

PORTSMOUTH, VIRGINIA

Gangway, for here comes a fast man. If you want to make "Ray" actually swell with pride, then get him to tell about the year State carried off the Championship honors at the state track meet.

Ray has a few diversions worthy of note. Among them are his ever good nature and his attitude toward the refreshing fluid which is only spoken of in reverent memory.

We admire Ray for his pluck in the face of adversities that would down most men, and for being a fighter clean through.

PAUL FREDERICK LANCASTER, B.E.

Preacher is another candidate for honors in the short boys' club. He heartily favors the movement to introduce reducing logs for transits. And should this movement fail, he is planning to initiate a movement known as the "Society for the Elevation of Short Men."

However from his good work and splendid character we find that Preacher is short only in stature. Preacher's presence is a positive factor for good in every worth-while movement. He puts a whole-hearted interest in all his work and we therefore predict for him a most successful career.

"Sug," as he is affectionately called by his friends, especially his lady friends, is a man of ability and humor. He always sees the funny side of a job and affords us much amusement on class.

"Sug" came to us in his Sophomore Year, after finding he was not adapted to a ministerial career, but after coming here he found he fitted perfectly in the mill as a textile student.

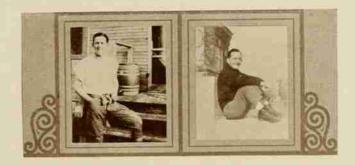

We predict for him a big success in the textile world, if the ladies will leave him alone long enough for him to make a start.

"Shorty" is what you might call a man between a man of average height and a real short man. "Shorty" had the promise of growing tall when he first came to college, but he has worn himself away by his many and frequent trips to the post office. In fact, we can hardly see how he managed to stay away from her for four long years. You can always tell when one of his pilgrimages to the P. O. has been rewarded with success, as "Shorty" is all smiles. This, however, is not all "Shorty" does, as his splendid college record shows what an energetic and earnest man can do.

This tall, handsome fellow approaches Wallace Reid as a limit when it comes to attracting the ladies and taking a leading part in pageants and theatrical productions. He doesn't believe in studying too much nor worrying about examinations. He has been a faithful math, student and has won the reputation of having done more research work in mathematics than any man in the class. His motto is early to bed, except on nights when he attends some of the follies off the campus. He is quite a distinguished looking soldier when he steps out in his serge and Sam Browne, so the ladies say.

"Bill's" natural habitat is Grassy Island Plantation, and we believe his main object here in College is to fit himself to make it the "Garden Spot" of Anson County.

From the various and sundry delicately tinted letters which he receives and an occasional weekend visit to "parts unknown," we don't believe he intends to live a life of solitude when his worries here are over.

During his four years here he has managed to pull down passing grades and above, seemingly without even the slightest effort. We say he is a diplomat.

Faison hopes to be president of some electric railway some day, and he should be if he keeps up his record, for he gets everything he goes after, leaving behind him a clean state, and in the minds of those who know him, the memory of a real pal.

He is a friend to all, and in his chosen line of duty we predict great success. It isn't known to all the class that "Mac" is much of a ladies' man, but this is to inform you that his carefully chosen motto is to let silence speak that which is too much for the tongue to utter, and when a certain fair maiden's name is spoken there always plays over his face a smile of admiration.

On the football field "Mack" has proved a valuable man, although not one of the best, yet a hard worker and reliable man.

"Mack" has met the questionings of the professors in notable fashion, yet it is hard for him to tell which is the heavier, a pound of hot water or a pound of cold. "Mack" says theoretically the cold water is the heavier.

"Eli" is one who believes in fair play and honesty, and we have found him always living up to this standard, both on the campus and in the classroom. He can't be beat when it comes to getting things done, and for this reason he was chosen to pilot the class and the baseball team this year. He is naturally a good athlete, and he hasn't failed to take advantage of Dr. Riddick's advice, "don't let studies interfere with your athletics." He believes a "4" is just as good as a "1," and in his academic work he is inclined to follow the line of least resistance. He followed that line rather consistently in his Junior Year, and father Calculus beat him at his own game. He did not succumb to that defeat, but challenged it again and won, proving that too much studying and worrying is a waste of time. The state will be enriched by his graduation.

"Charlie," the laughing boy from Salisbury, is credited as being the most social man on our campus. It is worth a lot of time and trouble just to see and hear his laugh. It's a sure cure for bad feelings.

As a Spanish student, he has never made any "ones," but says he has great hopes of passing it next summer. We are behind him with our hopes.

"Charlie" is a true friend, and a friend when needed. He believes in sticking to a thing until completed, and unless women cause his downfall, we predict a great future for him in the textile world.

RED SPRINGS, NORTH CAROLINA

Lenzer Literary Society, 2, 3; Robeson County Club, 2, 3, 4; C. E. Society, 3, 4; R. O. T. C., 2, 3; Sergeant, 3; Co. Q. 4; Secretary-Treasurer Athletic Association, 4, Track Team, 2, 5, 4; Varsity Track, 3, 4.

"T. K." is a typical Hig'slander, hailing from the land of Flora MacDonald. His chief occupations are making good grades (with little effort) and keeping the South Gang straight. He is one of the few Civil Engineering seniors with no bad habits, although he has been accused of cutting off a large slice of cake now and then. His ambition as an athlete was realized last year when he became an active member on Kraft's track team. His social activities are not quite understood, but it is an established fact that he hands the ladies an awful line.

If you see a short, cute little fellow with beautiful curly hair, you will immediately recognize him as "Shorty." He came to us from Clemson, and while he is the smallest of his class, he is at the same time very much alive.

He was not with us very long until he had proven that he was a born mathematician. But like Alfred the Great he did not stop at that, and latest reports are to the effect that he has also mastered the fair sex. Here's to you, "Shorty," with such success in College we know you are bound to win in life.

SOUTHERN PINES, NORTH CAROLINA

First Sergeant Co. H. 5; Captain Co. H. 4; E. S. Society, 3, 4; Student Member A. 1, E. E. 5, 1; Scatbard and Blade, L.

"Ed" knew more about electricity when he was a freshman than most of us will know when we finish. He has been a consistent worker and has never known the pleasure of receiving a flunk slip.

Just how he has been able to keep up his work at State and at the same time schedule another course at N. C. C. W. we have not been able to figure out. By integrating between the limits of Raleigh and Greensboro he says he gets "quality and quantity"—so we take his word for it. May success crown all his efforts!

ALFRED LEAVY SEARS, B.E.

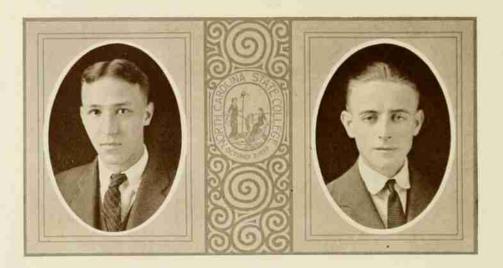

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Phi Theta: (Jerman Club, 1, 2, 3, 4) Bridge Club; Give Club; Tourist Club; Termin Club; S. A. T. C.; Camp Knox.

"Alf" is another one of the "local boys," and the society man of his class. It is hardly enough to say that he is one of the most popular men of his class. He is a prince among the ladies, and at his chosen profession—a spinner of yains —he is in a class of his own.

His personal traits have won him a host of friends, a successful college career, and the promise of a brilliant future.

HENRY MARCHAND SHAW, B.E.

OXFORD, NORTH CAROLINA

Scholarship Honors, 2; Treasurer A. S. M. E., 4; Treasurer Granville County Club, 2; First Sergeant, 2; First Licutemant, 4; German Club, 3, 4.

Gangway for the social wonder, the society snake and the ladies' man! Just watch Henry gliding snake-like over the floor at a dance, or balancing a cup of tea and slinging a wicked line in some Raleigh parlor and you will not wonder why he chose the path of least resistance and became a ladies' man from the start. He thinks he is a heart smasher, too. He really is not, but has enough conceit to think that he is.

Aside from being a whirlwind among the ladies, we have to give Henry credit for being a student who stands high in his class. He has ability and knows when to use it, which enables him to be among the leaders of his class without any undue effort.

"Fellows, I am still here." This is Bill all over. He is another of our local boys coming to us from the Class of '21. Bill believes that pleasure is one of his best studies and we can picture him checking Meredith on Sunday.

He is a good friend to all his classmates, full of humor, and always ready to help celebrate defeat as well as victory. If you want a favor granted just call on Bill. We believe that fine goods come in small packages so here's to you, Bill. The world will treat you right.

Singletary came to college well prepared to make good grades, boot professors, and court the young (very young) ladies. His activity as a mess hall cheer leader cost him his boarding place in his Junior Year, but he was permitted to return on the promise of less noise. One trip to a certain peach orchard convinced him that peaches as well as grapes can be sour. Singletary hails from South Carolina, but you would never know it judging from his good spirit and his ability to do things. He studies a little, manages freshmen nicely, and paints excellently. He is very well known in Raleigh High School circles.

"How'd your problem come out? No! That's wrong. Now that's worked this way." Here you have R. D., a man whose second nature is Math., who can integrate as could Sir Isaac himself, and who can convince you that an indeterminate equation can be integrated between the limits of zero and infinity, obtaining a finite value.

R. D. does love to drag the "vimmin," but he agrees that it is rather surprising to find his lady love in the arms of another man on North Boylan. On with the dance!

During Junior summer R. D. established an enviable military record (?), and won the admiration (?) of Major Stevens by volunteering (?) to go to the pits on Saturday morning.

R. D. is a steady, rational, hard-working man, whom we are glad to call a classmate,

Open to a page of fame and allow us to glance at a valuable prize in a small package. "Kid" Sledge is one of the smallest in the class, but one who is filled with enough ideas for several his size. He is both a hard worker and a firm friend, a kind of fellow that believes in doing a thing rather than talking about it.

Sledge is a prominent feature in the social circle of Raleigh High girls and they all can testify that he is one of the best dancers to be found.

The Class of '22 is behind "Kid" and we are looking forward to a great success to crown him in the field of his profession.

WILKESBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

Band, 1, 7, 3, 4; Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Lleutenant, 4; E. E. Society, 3, 4.

Prof. Price says he would not think of taking the band to Wakelon for a concert unless "Speck" was along. The girls were so strong for his line that they once refused to attend a concert when it was rumored he was not numbered among the bandsmen.

When it comes to Electro-Chemistry, this youth is a wizard. He can do anything from figuring out the velocity of a molecule to determining the density of mud. If friends and marks received in academic work are of any value to a man, we will stake our last cent on "Speck."

WILLIAM LITTLE STEELE, JR., B.E.

ROCKINGHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

S. A. T. Remember the day "Hiram" Steel hit the campus? Well, the name "Hiram" still follows him around. For energy and ambition he is not to be beaten, and if you do not believe this fact ask a textile senior. Old Rip Van Winkle himself would turn green with envy should he ever meet Bill Steele.

But Bill is an all-around good fellow, liked by all, and if the ladies can be kept out of his path of progress, then we predict a great future for him in the textile world.

ROBT. M'INTOSH STIKELEATHER, B.E.

TAYLORSVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

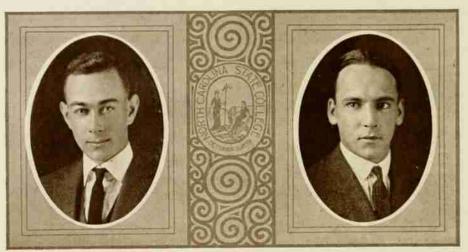

House of Student Government; President Over-Seas Club; A. S. M. E., 3, 4; First Sergeant, 3; Licutenant Colonel of Regiment, 4; Rifle Team,

"Laura," "Annette," "Stike," "R. M.," or "Mack," whatever you choose to call him, has won a place in the hear's of every classmate because of his willingness to work, his faithfulness to duty, his loyal friendship and sincerity to all. We hated to see Stike get behind on account of the World War, but we welcome him to our class as an invaluable asset, a man's man, and an addition to any gathering anywhere.

Stike does not talk much about the ladies, he really talks very little about anything, but when you find only one picture on his dresser you know that he has someone who is more than a friend.

During his four years here he has pulled honors off the top, and we will remember him as a man who makes "Service to others" his motto.

WM. ALEXANDER STILLWELL, B.E. WEBSTER, NORTH CAROLINA

S. A. T. C., 1; Hobe Club; M. E. Society, 2; A. S. M. E., 3, 4; County Chairman of Building Committee, 2; Demonstration Fit., 4.

Here we have a man who is not considered as a light of dazzling brilliancy, but is entitled to a berth among those of the limelight section. "Alec" has not made any surprising achievements but his steady, straight-forward plugging ahead has won for him the respect and devotion of his fellow classmates.

During Sophomore and the fall term of Junior Year, "Alec" seemed to be having things going his way with a certain Raleigh femme, but the sudden appearance of a diamond ring in the case enabled "Alec" to devote more of his time to his studies. A fortunate coincidence, for Derieux had laid his plume in the dust during Sophomore Year, and he had been forced to wage another campaign.

"Alec" is the most practical man in his class, and we expect to hear great things of him as a Mechanical Engineer.

THOMAS FRANCIS STRADLEY, B.E.

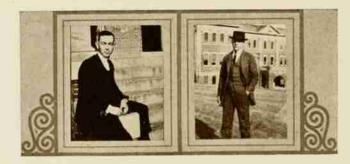

ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

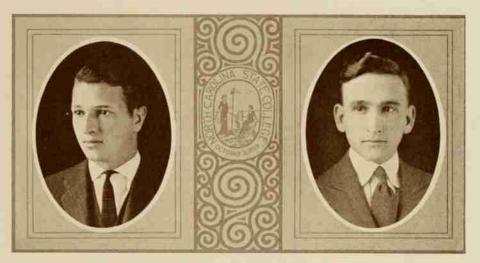

Pullen Literary Society, 1; S. A. T. C.; Buncombe County Club, 2, 3, 4; A, I. E. E., 5, 4; Class Baseball, 2; Demonstration Plt., 4; K. I. E.

It was an unfortunate occurrence for Francis that he should break his arm while on the way to the recruiting office, but the Class of '22 welcomed him as a worthy addition to its ranks.

During his Sophomore Year he surprised his many friends by refusing to eat a certain box of candy from one of Raleigh's gentle sex. His refusal can probably be attributed to a weak heart. For while in Louisville during his Junior Year, his breathing seemed to be restricted while making those marvelous dips and death-defying leaps on the racing derby.

Francis is a reliable scout, liked by everyone, and has shown that he has the qualities which make up a man and a gentleman.

HIGH POINT, NORTH CAROLINA

Guilford County Club; C. E. Society; Alpha Sigma Epsilon Fraternity; Pullen Literary Society; R. O. T. C.

Sammie is another one of those fellows who is a good friend to everyone and always ready to greet you with a smile, especially the ladies. He is not only popular on the campus but has a host of friends in Raleigh. Sammie has applied himself well at State, both in studies and the social life, and we are sure he will give a good account of himself after he leaves college. We are returning to High Point a son who has proven himself a worthy representative.

MOCKSVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Society, 3, 4; Literary Society, 1, 2, 3, 4; Vice-President, 3; President, 4; Censor, 4, Editor of Technician, 4; Student Honors, 2, 3; Winner of Declaimer's and Orator's Medal, 3.

Say Bill, "Did you get any mail for me this morning?" and when that fat letter, postmarked Winston-Salem falls into his possession we see Tatum in the realms of bliss. Fellows, here is a man among men, one who has for his aim the accomplishment of those ideals that are for the uplifting and betterment of mankind. Tatum has spared neither time nor energy in trying to do his duty as editor-in-chief of our college paper, "The Technician," which is now being praised at other institutions. His list of honors shows that he has not been a gentleman of leisure, but one of untiring perseverance. Here's to you, Tatum, a hearty wish for untold success in your chosen field of Vocational Education.

CARL TAYLOR, B.E.

WILSON, NORTH CAROLINA

Band, 1, 2, 3, 4; Wilson County Club; Over-Seas Club.

Carl is one of the few men on the campus who spend all their time in some form of useful work. As a student Carl ranks with the best. And as a coinctist, Taylor is without an equal. Rarely, if ever, socialing in Raleigh, but, boys, don't Carl make a hit when the band is giving a concert—say at Wakelon.

During his four years here he has been a sincere friend and loyal classmate. Carl is one of those men, who have the gift of persistency, which enables him to put across almost anything he starts.

JAMES WILLIAM TOLAR, B.E.

CEDAR GROVE, NORTH CAROLINA

Baseball Squad, 1, 2, 3, 4; Tompkins Textile Society, 2, 3, 4; Co, Q; Schior Textile Football Team.

"Tolar" is a man of few words, sticking strictly to his own business. He is a good student, pursuing his work with great determination, which is an assurance of his future success.

Tolar is the kind of fellow that puts a lot of pep in a baseball team through competition for a regular position, and we predict that he will be one of the regular nine during the 1922 season.

His personal traits have made for him a host of friends, a successful college career, and the promise of a brilliant future.

NINETY SIX, SOUTH CAROLINA

German Club, 3, 4; Palmetto Club, 3, 4; Tourist Club; Tompkins Textile Society, 3, 4; Bridge Club; Senior Textile Football; Camp Knox.

At the beginning of our Junior Year we found with us Bill from Clemson. This young Sandlapper is the kind who is always willing and is as full of kindness as of valor. Bill has proven himself a friend to all, especially to the fairer sex of Raleigh. When he arrived in Raleigh in the fall of 1920 he lost no time in proving to us that S. C. had sent up another son ready to uphold the traditions of our sister state, and Bill has done his duty. In Bill we not only have a good textile student, but also a good soldier, and we will have to hand it to him for putting one over on us at Camp Knox. Keep it up, Bill, we are wishing you the best of luck.

RICHARD LEE TOWNSEND, B.E. MANQUIN, VIRGINIA

Alpha Sigma Epsilon, A. T. E. E., 3, 4; Old Dominion Club, 4, 2, 3, 4; Co. Q, S. A. T. C.; Trinity College.

Allow me to present Mr. Richard Lee Townsend, an E. E. genius, who can explain to your complete satisfaction why a motor motes; a hysterisis loop loops; or can tell you the exact number of watts it will take to "kilowatt."

Just why he gave up a ministerial career at Trinity College is not understood, but since we have known him we have come to the conclusion that an electrical engineer is a more favorable calling for a man with his traits and character-

However, Richard finds things difficult enough to claim his serious attention, but when he does find a problem you will witness a demonstration of unusual ability and enthusiasm. In short, a man upon whom you can depend.

Sergeant 3; Second Lieutenant, 4; E. E. Soclety, 4; Camp Perry Rife Team, 4.

"Lengthy" says while A. C. and Calculus are his worst enemies he had much rather take a year of each than to undertake another trip through Mammoth Cave. As a cave explorer he makes a fine moonfixer.

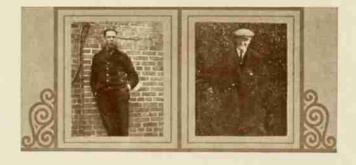

"Lengthy" is one of the best men of his class and is a consistent and hard worker. His position on the Southern Championship Rifle Team speaks for itself. Though the class may be scattered to the four corners of the earth, we know that he may be depended upon to give a full account of himself.

You may not have known it before but here is one of our best brands of State College products. His patriotism called him away for the war but nothing could swerve him from his purpose; so when it was over he came back to us to prepare himself for battling the forces of ignorance in our own country. He is the kind that makes good at everything that he undertakes. He has exerted a great influence for good on our campus and is one of our finest students. You will hear from him again.

HENRY HARWARD WEAVER, B.E.

DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Basketbatt Squad, 2, 3; C. E. Society, 2, 3, 4; Vace-President, 4; Sergount R. O. T. C., 3; Captain, 4; K. I. E.

"Red" is a genuine Durham product, possessing a good line and a habit of running up to Apex, where he is said to be indispensable in the social circles. Flowever, "Red" is a good student, always cheerful, and in fact a very valuable man to have around as he keeps us supplied with the "Observer" and well posted concerning the program at the Grand. "Red" was pinched on the Wake Forest road one time for speeding and was forced to call on his fair companion to pay his way out of that difficulty. He says his cunning ways are due to his smiles and blond hair.

WILLIAM BURGEN WHITE, B.S.

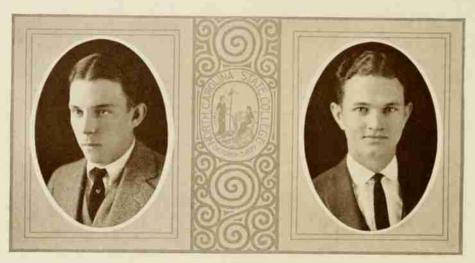

DLIN, NORTH CAROLINA

Agricultural Club. t. 2, 3, 4; Stock Judging Team to Richmond, Va.; Sweepstakes in Stock Judging at Agricultural Pair.

White is a quiet chap, something like the radius of gyration—it takes a long time to really know him. Once you do, though, you find him altogether worth while. While blessed with plenty of grey matter, studying is not his only occupation. He is an admirer of athletics and movie occupation of the studying is not his only occupation. He is an admirer of athletics and movie occupation of the studying lady down on Cox Avenue.

The world will get a man with both the ability and the desire to work when it gets White, and the dope's all wrong if he don't make good.

True, loyal and a hard worker—that's Whitesell as we know him. He is the sort of fellow who has the rare power of doing a good thing and then keeping his mouth shut about it. We believe that this virtue and the perseverance with which he pursues his horticultural work will win great success for him after he leaves College.

Due to his oyster-like silence, we know very little about his conquests with the ladies in Raleigh, but we don't believe that Herbert La-Fayette intends to run the Gibsonville Botanical Gardens on the plan of single blessedness.

Harnett County; Cotillion Club; Commencement Marshal, 3; P. H. Council, 4; Camp Knox R. O. T. C. Camp; Major Third Battalion, 4; Alpha Sigma Epsilon.

The Class of '21 lost a good man and we gained one when B. W. was forced to leave school on account of sickness. He is considered one of the most popular men of our class.

Wray (as he is known to the members of the fair sex), is another society hound; entertaining the fair sex six days out of the week is no uncommon feat of his. The ballroom floor holds no terrors for him. It is a rare occasion that we do not find Wray "giving the girls a treat." B.W. is a man whom we are proud to call a classmate.

"T. S." or "Kid" is one of the quiet members of our class, therefore little is heard from him. While other people are studying and worrying he is helping "Red" do nothing, and when Robeson County or Laurinburg (the latter preferably) is mentioned he usually takes charge of the conversation. Although he has lived in the midst of our most noted cake eaters this year, he has managed to carry on his college work with ease and good effect, which, of course, is a true reflection on his ability to master whatever he undertakes, regardless of conditions and environment.

CHARLES REA WILSON, B.E.

HEMP, NORTH CAROLINA

C. E. Society, 3, 4; Vice-President, 4.

"Charlie" is an easy going fellow who attends to his own affairs and who is usually able to get away with his class work with seemingly little effort. He has never been known to speak to a girl nor waste any time with social birds. His one ambition is to be a Spanish speaking railroad engineer. Charlie loves a pipe and a quiet game of solitaire, and he is usually engaged with one or the other or both. He is one of the young engineers directly responsible for the highway near Carey completely missing the place, and he says he can never go back there on that account.

WILSON MILLS, NORTH CAROLINA

A.B. University of North Carolina; Square and Compass; Tompkins Textile Society; Pan-Helienic Council, 3, 4; Advertising Manager Agromeck, 4; German Club, 3, 4; Co. Q. Senior Textile Pootball Team; Bridge Club.

Ralph came to us in the beginning of our Junior Year after receiving his A.B. degree from the University of N. C. He entered into our college life immediately and we soon felt as if he had always been one of us. Energetic, good humored, friendly and kind, he has made for himself, friendly both in the class room and the social life of the campus. He was one of the most active of the textile cake-eaters, and made a reputation as a member of their famous football team. When he came to us his sole ambition was to learn textile, but now it seems to be to get married and go back to the farm and raise—chickens. However, we predict for Ralph a bright future in whatever he undertakes.

Winchester, more commonly known as "Love," comes to us from Guilford where they are up and doing early and at it late at night. If you are looking for aid and do not know where to find it just look for "Love," he'll deliver the goods. In class we find him standing among the highest, In class we find him standing among the highest. RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

C. E. Society, 2, 3, 4; Leazer Literary Society, 2, 3, 4; Corporal Co. H. 2; Sergeant Co. I. 2; Second Lieutenant Co. I, 4; Honors in Scholarship.

"A. & M." has made himself famous while in college not only as a Master of Calculus and Heat Engines, but as a dealer in "Worthless" slide rules, "incandescent" lamps and apples. It can be safely said that he is a star in the realm of civil seniors as he has a way of making "ones" on all his real subjects. He is a local lad and does not care much for the ladies. His college career is darkened by only one incident, that of being kicked out of the mess hall in his Junior Year for boisterous whooping and yelling. It is thought that he will specialize in children's games.

DAVID RALPH WRIGHT, B.E.

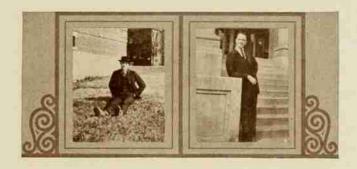

HUNTING CREEK, NORTH CAROLINA

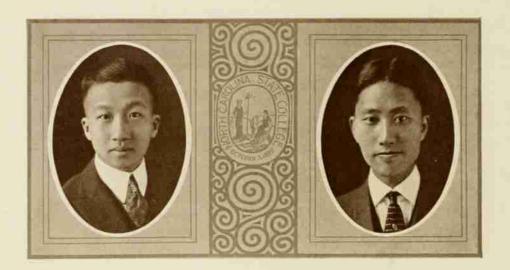

A. I. E. R., 1, 2, 3, 4; Corporal R. O. T. C., 3; Second Lieutenant, 4.

So far as we know Wright is the only redheaded son of the college who does not go by the usual nickname, "Red." His marvelous ability as a mathematician has won for him the appropriate name of "Zero."

His regular week-end trips home are not to see his girl but to see "Zero, Jr." Yes, for the sake of the girl, we must say that he is married.

With the help of a splendid wife, combined with a strong determination to win, we are sure that "Zero" will find his place in the engineering world. The best wishes of the Class of '22 are his.

SHANGHAL CHINA

Tompkins Textile Society, 4: Secretary Chinese Ciub. 4.

P. K. has the distinction among the Chinese students of being a polished gentleman with the brightest mind as well as the soundest body.

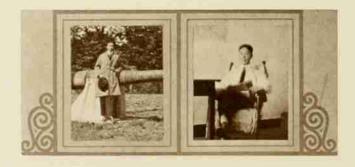

He gave a course at Lowell and came to this big southern textile school to finish his Senior Year. He has been thoroughly equipped with the knowledge of cotton manufacturing during the time he has been with us. We know that the cotton industry in China will in the near future occupy a more important place in the world under his guidance and leadership.

Among the Junior Year recruits, Foo is the first visitor from the far away Oriental country, the Republic of China. Foo has determined to do his duty as a citizen of his mother country by developing her textile industry; and from the sound and adequate preparation he has so far already attained in his chosen field of work during his college year; he is sure to attain great success. He is a steady, industrious fellow, and has all the attributes of a true gentleman, an excellent scholar, and an admirable companion.

SHANG WU JEN, B.E.

HU-NAN, CHINA

Tompkins Textile Society: Tennis Club; Chinese Students' Club; Leazer Literary Society.

After graduating from the Lowell Textile School, Jen chose N. C. State as the best institution for his advanced work along the line of textile industry. Jen knows the theory as well as the practical side of his profession. Not content with the technical art he has thoroughly accomplished, he has devoted much time in military science and drill so that in case of an emergency in the Far East he will be able to render the greatest service to his country. He always says, "The more we learn the better we know." He is the type of man qualified to be an industrial leader.

WILLIAM P. H. HWANG, B.S.

CANTON, CHINA

Agriculture Club; Chinese Students' Club; Leazer Literary Society,

Hwang, a graduate of the Southeastern University, Nanking, China, and the little fellow among the five Chinese in this college, is highly noted for his quiet, reserved character and his sound, reliable thinking. Wishing to become a practical stockman, he has worked diligently on live stock experiments. Whate er he has learned here will be introduced to his native country to develop the animal industry.

Whenever he speaks he hits the right point. No doubt, this little fellow with his lofty ideas will be able to do a great deed for his mother country.

History of the Junior Class

N this brief history of the Class of '23, we wish, in a chronological manner, to narrate some of the most important events. In such a brief account it is impossible to relate all our achievements and mistakes. We will not attempt to give the many personal honors and our commonplace mistakes. September 3, 1919, was the first landmark in the history of the class.

On that day the raw material came pouring into State College from every corner of our state. Several men from other states and a few from foreign countries were also welcomed into our class.

Since the world war had ended the year before, we had a large number of veterans. The ideals resulting from the war, that we should "make the world a fit place to live in," caused us all to desire training to make us fit to live in the world. We desire an education not only for usefulness to ourselves, but to the use of the world as well.

At first we were new and unaccustomed to college life. The dignity with which we came was soon modified, and we entered into the spirit of the college humbly and lovally. We never lacked for advice and persuasion from the sophomores.

In the spring our record showed that we had successfully completed the first year's work. There was a total enrollment of three hundred and forty-seven. Under the leadership of Bostian, our president, the cooperation had been unexcelled.

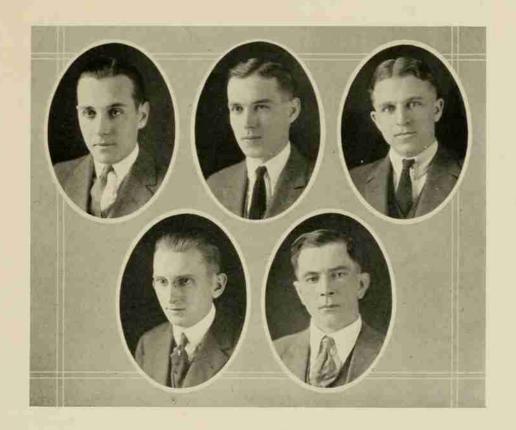

After the first vacation we returned greatly reduced in number. This demonstrates the law of natural selection, or "the survival of the fittest." However, we were not discouraged, but proud that we were sophomores and could dictate to our inferiors as a retribution for what we had suffered the year before.

At our first meeting Vansant was elected president. Arrangements were made for the reception given the girls from Peace in November at the "Y." This was the biggest social event of the year.

The Sophomore Class was largely responsible for carrying the election of student government, which was most ably formulated by upperclassmen.

The present year, or the beginning of the second lap, is progressing excellently. The boys are "putting out" good work. The first meeting called by President Teague brought together nearly all the loyal family of '23. It was decided at this meeting that we should not buy senior rings, as previous classes had, until September of our senior year. We have a movement on to build a set of bleachers on Riddick Field as a gift to the college.

The class is cooperating splendidly in abiding by and enforcing the laws of student government. We hope to be permitted to continue our fight for honesty, loyalty, and service.

Junior Class Poem

Another mi'e is safely passed.

The traveler, tired and worn,
Sighs deeply. Rest has come at last
From burdens he has borne.
He casts aside his weary load,
And seeks the shady grass,
Where toils and terrors of the road
May to oblivion pass.

E'en as he sits, the traveler's brow
Is furrowed deep with thought;
He sees each mile of travel now
That him thus far has brought.
Then slowly upward lifts his hand
To shade his searching eyes.
Peers over the surrounding land
To see wherein it lies.

Now looking far beyond, he sees,
Dim, distant, white, ascend
The shaft, bold, upright, 'mid the trees
That marks his journey's end.
The wayfarer smiles. He there will meet
His friends, who patient wait
His coming, and with cheers will greet
The traveler at their gate.

Again the wanderer's brow is knit;
Again mere human gaze
Will not suffice. His musings flit
Far distant on their ways.
Another weary mile he sees,
Another trail unknown—
Then, silent as the summer's breeze,
The traveler's up and gone!

SOPHOMORES

Sophomore Class Poem

- So then it came to pass that we Entered, as is the policy, Our names as freshmen here at State, And then we left the rest to fate,
- Only one year of this we bore, When our dear Class of '24 Returned as sophomores brave and bold; So now our "yarn" I'll now unfold.
- Past mem'ries of our freshman year Kept on ringing in our ear. Until the impulse we obeyed. And on the freshmen made a raid.
- H owls and shricks and moans arose From the ranks of our freshman foes; Then our conscience began to collapse, So we made all freshmen wear red caps.
- Our pride lies in us still alive, For we conquered young '25, We let them know that we were hard, And it would pay to keep on their guard.
- More could be said of our dear class, But Time is moving from the past; So to the future we must lock, And try to master every book.
- Of course, no class has here before Has been as great as our '24. In after-life, when we are gone, Dame Fortune will upon us dawn.
- Remember this, my classmates true, I have a word to say to you: "Honor, Justice, and Loyalty" Is the motto chosen by thee.
- E're we depart at our class door, Where we ruled as a sophomore, Let's drink a toast to '24— No greater class has been before.
- Scarce two more years have we at State, Till we shall travel through Life's gate, Your record here we shall adore, O loyal Class of '24!

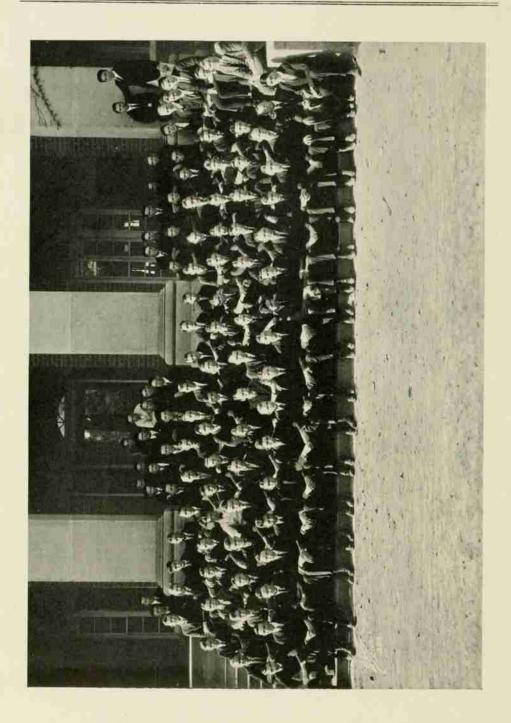

E. O. BREEN, Class Poet.

Sophomore Chronicle

CHAPTER ONE

ORASMUCH as others have taken in hand to set in order a declaration of those things which have surely happened to us all, even to those who chanced to come before us, it has seemed good to me also, having perfect understanding of those things from the very first, to write unto thee, most excellent sophomores, that ye may refresh your minds upon those things which ye have experienced.

There dwelt at N. C. State College in the days of "Pap," the son of Riddick, a registrar ycleped Owen, who was well pleased within himself for that he had but lately enrolled three hundred students to be the Class of '24. Now, when the sophomores heard these tidings, they were troubled, and all the upperclassmen with them; and when they had gathered together all their chief priests and scribes, they inquired of them diligently where these freshmen might then be found. And they made answer to them, saying: "In the dormitories, for thus it hath been appointed by Owen." Then the sophomores were exceeding wroth, and came forth and hazed all freshmen; and the strap descended, and the floods came and smote upon us, so that some fled from before the face of the soph to the Park of Pullen, and for some time there abode. Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by the prophet, saying: "In the dormitories were heard voices, cries and inquiries, Hulvey's inspectors calling for their freshmen; and they would not be satisfied, for they could find them not."

But, when the sophs had retired, we returned to our rooms and began dutiful attendance upon classes. And some were oppressed by Metcalf, and others by him who is called "T-Foot," and still others were afflicted by Heck with Newton's Laws and sore Physical travail. Then it was that we sent ambassadors in unto Pap, saying: "Pap, what wouldst thou have us do in order that we may enter the Sophomore Class?" And he made answer to them, saying: "Verily, verily I say unto you, it is easier for a freshman to take notes under Heck than to pass his final exams." Thereat, there was weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth.

Now there arose among us a mighty patriarch of the tribe of Chandler, who was chosen to lead us through the wilderness of Freshmanry. And he ruled wisely for nine months, when, as it was written on the tablets, the time came to choose his successor. Then was there much wagging of tongues and shaking of heads; but finally he who bore the name of Morris, as his father and his father's father had done before him, was chosen ruler, with Tilson second in rank below him, and Evans as chief scribe and collector of the tax.

Now, as the end of the term drew nigh, Heck went in unto Derieux and besought him, saying: "Entreat the freshmen not to leave me, for, in teaching them, I can be with thee; thy favorites shall be my favorites, thy goats my goats; whom thou wouldst flunk, him will I also flunk and keep him from passing; mayest thou do so to me, and more also, if aught but Pap separate them from me." But Derieux replied: "You know not what you ask. Are ye able to teach Sophomore Physics? Ye shall some day teach Sophomore Physics indeed, but to keep these freshmen with you is not mine to give, for they must go to him who has been appointed to receive them." Then we discarded our rags of ignorance and entered upon our sophomore year.

"Truly, Wisdom hath builded her house; she hath hewn out her seven pillars." Selah!

CHAPTER TWO

The freshmen declare our glory as sophs, and the 24's showeth our handiwork. Fresh unto fresh uttereth speech, but soph unto soph showeth knowledge, which is made manifest by the many wonderful things which we have accomplished here. For whom the soph loveth, he also paddleth; and when we had returned from our sojourn in the more remote parts of the land, we demonstrated our love for all freshmen. But some there were who took not kindly to this treatment and walked not in the way of their predecessors. Then were the sophs made angry; and they said unto them: "There shall not be hair on the tops of your heads these nine months, but according to our word." And some believed and were spared; but others were made bald because they did not believe. Then they cried aloud in their torment: "Why persecutest ye us, O sophomores? Did not you too once think hair-cutting was wrong?" But we made answer to them, saying: "When we were freshmen, we spake as freshmen, we understood as freshmen, we thought as freshmen; but, when we became sophomores, we put away freshman things."

And it came to pass that, after a time, we took paint-brushes and went to all the other colleges and into the high places, and painted our numerals so that all might see and be reminded of the glory that was ours.

But there were some among the professors who protested our supremacy and bowed us down with burdens grievous to be borne; and when we berought them, saying: "Forbear to vex our souls and to break us in pieces with hard lessons," they replied, "Don't kid yourselves, for the mind of a student is as a little child's." And so we awaited the approach of examinations with fear and trembling. Then we recalled to mind the prophecy which is in these words, "A little child shall lead them," and rejoiced greatly therein.

Now, it came to pass that, in those days, the voice of Coach Hartsell was heard to say: "Set me apart Beatty, Holland, Red Lassiter, Red Baker, and Hodges out of the Sophomore Class for the work to which I have appointed them." And we sent them to him as he had commanded; and he trained and taught them until the time came for them to contend in mighty conflict upon the football field. Then did they cover themselves with glory and raise higher the standards of N. C. State.

Now it came to pass that, in the third month of our reign as sophomores, a decree went forth from Pap that all the college should have a holiday during Christmas. And we went, each to his native heath, and rested from our labors. And, after a fortnight, we returned and took up our burdens again. But we know now that the worst is over, and await the approach of spring with hope in our hearts. For we have fought a good fight; we have kept the faith; and we have confidence in what the future holds for us.

And there are many other things which the sophomores did, which, if they were all recorded, would fill many ponderous volumes.

Class History of '25

E, the Class of '25, entered a new phase of life on September 13, 1921, for on this bright and glorious day we began our troubles on N. C. State campus. We were kept busy with the many calls of our to-be-friends and their greetings seemed very cordial, especially those who wanted a trunk taken from North End of 1911 to the third floor of Sixth.

Our time was well taken up, being utilized in the evenings by giving entertainments which were great fun for all concerned. Thirteen unlucky ones entered the Mess Hall the following morning after being relieved of their golden locks. The biggest problem that confronted us, except physics, was to realize that we were no longer children. The task was not an easy one, but after weeks of hard fighting we accomplished our undertakings, including physics.

We are the distinguished class, above all classes, for we are the first to enter under student government. We expect to do everything in our power to uphold it and to see that the spirit of cooperation is handed down to the oncoming classes. We are the first to have the distinguished privilege of wearing the little red caps with the big white "F" on the front. These caps came about a month after the arrival of the freshmen, and all except three wore them. The three who overlooked wearing them paid for it tenfold, and were readily willing to do as requested by the time they had reached the end of serving line.

In a short time we came to know each other very well. A class meeting was held and the following officers were elected: President, Jeannette; vice-president, Fogner; secretary, Ripple; treasurer, Smith; poet, Shelor; historian, Wray; Purple and Gold were selected as the class colors.

We have reached our goal in athletics. Our football team promises the varsity several men for the ensuing year. Out of six games played, five were ours, and only two teams crossed our line for a counter. The unlucky game was lost by a single point—the trained toe became unruly and the pigskin failed to twirl between the posts. The team without doubt was one of the best in the state.

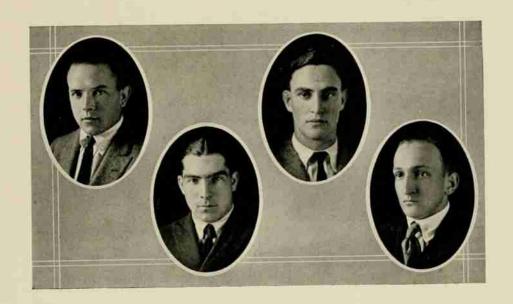

Our examinations played an important part in our daily thinking during the last few weeks of our fall term. After having passed our exams, we rushed off for the holidays, which were short but sweet.

The spring term began, and the great majority were again on the job. Most of us were again beckoned by some kind but firm voice to aid our classmates with the burdens. We thought, however, that most of the fun was over until the snows came, and then everything seemed as usual till you left your dormitory, at which time an immense cloud of snow seemed to fall upon you from realms unknown. Many missed their meals at our beloved Mess Hall, but very few lost any sleep over it. The snow left us after three visits, and we all gathered as usual in front of the Mess Hall for our favorite chat previous to the feed.

The freshman basketball team, though not having the weight the others had, was there with the goods at all times. The junior game was well earned, but after two extra periods the score was well our way. By winning three straight victories, the freshmen were declared champions.

The entire class is one and all for a bigger and better State College, and is working with that in view.

Freshman Class Poem

For many long years we dreamed of college life, And now our dreams have come true; With many a thrill and many a strife, We've fought this first year through,

Rambling along for the first few days, We were green, green as grass; But now we have learned the ways And doings of the upper class.

Even at the close of this happy year, Our memories shall ne'er be broken; Of the friendships that are so dear, We would give our humblest token.

Soon we'll greet the month of May, And soon that month will pass; Then we'll put our caps away For another Freshman Class.

Here's to the good name of N. C. State, May it live for years to come: On the big book of trials and fate, Till all our years are done.

Most of us without a doubt, Will keep this campus alive; And when other men come about, They'll hear of the '25's.

Each day that passes by Draws us nearer to the end
Of the first lap; and beyond it lies
The glorious sophomore bend.

Now watch this Class of '25— Its record we'll make clear; And its glorious memories will ever live Through many a long, long year.

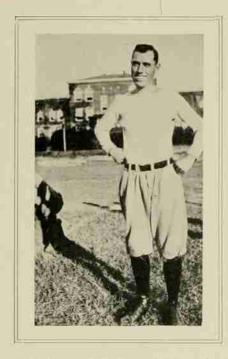

POET.

Athletics

Coach Harry Hartsell

In Coach Harry Hartsell we have portrayed all of those fine qualities of leadership, athletic prowess, pep and enthu iasm which make up a strong athlete or a successful coach. His record while in college and as coach is sufficient proof of his ability as an athletic director.

He came from Asheville, N. C., in the fall of 1908, and registered at State College in electrical engineering. Four years later he graduated with a B.E. degree.

During his four years here he kept up all his academic requirements, and at the same time was a four-letter man in football, baseball, basketball, and track.

After graduating in 1912, he assumed a responsible position in civilian life; but in 1916, when the football team was in a demoralized condition and in need of an efficient leader, he returned to State, and the following year won the state championship in football. He remained as coach until called into the service.

In 1921 he returned the second time and took charge of the baseball team. He soon had a strong, fighting team which was hard to beat. In the fall of '21 he again won the state championship in football.

It is impossible to give too much credit to Coach Hartsell for the splendid services that he has rendered to Alma Mater as coach at this institution. His interest and attention to each member of the team, his patience and pleasant nature have won for him the admiration of not only the players but of every man in the student body. His love and affection for Alma Mater is great, but greater is the love of State College for her splendid coach and loval son.

THE WOLFPACK

постания пос

Football Review, 1921

During the latter part of August and the early part of September, 1921, the city of Raleigh was suffering from the most intensive heat that was ever witnessed in this section. The water supply was low; all power plants were utilizing every possible means of supply. Dwellings and hotels were also economizing in every way possible. Water was available only at limited intervals during the day. With these conditions prevailing, about twenty-five husky men answered Coach Hartsell's call and went into a stiff training, with the determination to make the 1921 season successful from start to finish.

The season opened on September 25, with the "Yellow Jackets" of Randolph-Macon furnishing the opposition to what was now known as the "Wolfpack." The weather was more favorable for a baseball game than for a football classic. The interest and pep of the opening quarter soon died, and the two teams battled to and fro, neither backfield quartet being able to make any appreciable gain. During the last five minutes Captain "Runt" entered the game. A new spirit predominated and another touchdown was the result.

After a week of stiff practice the "Wolfpack" left on the Northern tr.p. The first team encountered was the Navy. The Navy lads fought savegely to gain revenge for the drudging received the year before. In this they were successful, for the final score showed that our goal had been crossed six times.

From Annapolis the "Wolfpack" journeyed to State College, Pennsylvania. Here we were again defeated by a team which later took into camp the strong aggregations of Georgia Tech. Washington, and the Navy. However, the game was not last without a fight, and the fact that Penn State made no substitutions speaks for itself.

On October 20, 1921, before the largest crowd ever assembled on Riddick Field, the famous "Wolfpack" gained glory for itself and won honor and praise for its coach by defeating Carolina, 7 to 0, in the annual gridiron classic be ween the two institutions, thus bringing into camp state championship honors for 1921.

The game with V. M. I, resulted in a tie. We scored our first touchdown early in the second quarter, thus taking the lead, but a bewildering ærial attack was launched by the cadets in the last quarter, which netted them a touchdown. Injuries were sustained in this battle which weakened the line-up for the remainder of the season.

The surprise of the season came when the Wildcats of Davidson held us to a 3 to 3 tie—a game that was marked by bitter fighting from the first blast of the whistle. A placement kick by Captain "Runt" saved the day.

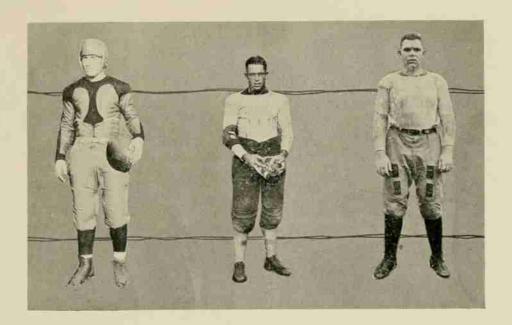

On Armistice Day the team, supported by two-thirds of the student body, traveled to Norfolk to engage the Virginia Techs. Our team, weakened by injuries, fought hard to uphold the honor of N. C. State, but in a splendid exhibition of football the Virginians finally won.

Another victory over Wake Forest, and then the closing game with Maryland, which resulted in a tie, closed the season for the "Wolfpack." State honors won and the satisfaction of knowing that we had put up a hard fight with every team that we played.

The results of the season follow:

Γ. FAUCETTE, "Runt" Captain and Quarterbac	k
"Runt" played his last game this season. During the entire season he was handicapped by a weak ankle, having been broken in a baseball game. However, his marvelous ability as a field general kept him in the fray. The old fighting spirit and pep was ever present with "Runt" in the line-up. He captained a state championship team, and the first to bear the name of "Wolfpack." We hate to lose you, "Runt."

"Dog" is another senior member of the team who will leave us this year. During this season he continued to uphold his record as a football hero. The heaviest man on the team, yet he was fast on his feet, a clean tackle, and a man to be relied upon. You just as well hit a brick wall as try to pass "Dog." His loss will be felt.

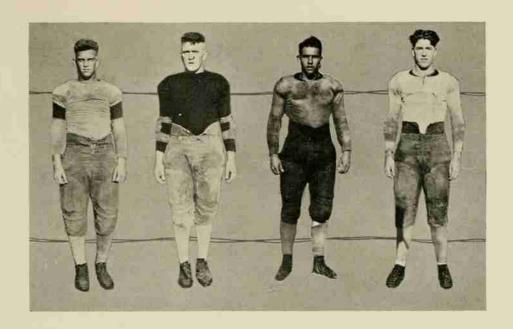

S. L.	Homewood, Sammy
	"Sammy" answered the call of Alma Mater and returned to school last fall to join the fighting "Wolfpack." From the time that he first entered the line his presence was felt. Fast on getting down the field after punts, and a man hard to stop, he was used to carry the ball when gains were necessary, and could always be relied on to carry the old pigskin across.
T. N.	Park, "Tom"
	Tom won fame this year by the clever use of his toe. Many times he was called on to kick his team out of danger, and he never faltered. He was a hard-plunging back, good on both the offense and defense, and a popular man on the team.
N. D.	Pierson, "Nat"
	"Nat" was the lightest man on the team, yet he more than offset this by his drive and grit. In several games he shook off three or four men and struggled on for a needed gain of a few yards. Always willing to do his best, he has made a remarkable record as a clean athlete and a man through and through.

TOXEY	WHITTAKER, "Toxey"	Tackle
	"Toxey's" regular position was at center, but this year, when he returned to join the "Wolfpack," he was shifted to tackle because of his excellent ability on the defense. Large enough to withstand the hammering of the backfield, "Toxey" is an ideal man, both offensively and defensively.
A. M.	Haynes, "Chink"	. End
	"Chink" gave up a position in order to return to State and uphold the colors of his Alma Mater. He plays a smashing game, and is a terror to the opposing team. His place will be hard to fill next year.
W. R.	Wearn, "Bill"	. End
	"Bill" is another punter of no mean ability. He did not get into so many games during the '21 season, but nevertheless he showed the ability and could be depended on to hold his own against any team in the state. He played his last game this season.
J. F. B	BAUM, "Jule"	. End
	"Jule" played with the scrubs last year, but found a position on the varsity this year. He was light, but fast enough to gain a momentum which would carry him through. Any man he came in contact with can testify to his vicious pounding. He will be a good man next year.

THE BASEBALL TEAM

Baseball Review, 1921

Early in the spring of 1921 a new spirit was prevalent on our campus. Our basketball season as a whole had been unsuccessful, but with the coming of spring everyone watched with eager eyes the practice of the '21 baseball squad, which was now working out under the leadership of Harry Hartsell, an alumnus of the college. Each day improvement could be noticed, and it was evident that a strong team was being developed. Several of the positions were filled with letter men, but others were doubtful, and there was strong competition for the regular berths. George Murray was the mainstay on the pitching staff, but Curtis was showing form and was rapidly developing into a competent twirler.

On March 25, New York was entertained on Riddick Field. George Murray was in the box, showing fine form. The game started with a rush that was all State's, but the score was finally close enough to create great interest. Norwood and Johnson starred with the stick, and the game ended with State on the long end of the score.

The next game was with Carolina. State hit Wilson hard, and Bryson came to the rescue. The score was tied in the eighth, but in the ninth frame Lowe broke up the game by slamming out a homer, the game going to Carolina, 6 to 4.

During the season five extra-inning games were played. The first of these, a twelve-inning game with Wake Forest, resulted in a tie. Neither team was able to bunch hits for the winning run. The next was an eleven-inning game with the same rival, Wake Forest finally taking the game with the count standing 1-0. The game was hard-fought and closely contested throughout. Johnson of State was the star of the game, excepting the pitchers, Curtis and Johnson, who allowed only three hits each. In the game with Maryland ten innings left the score standing at a tie. Murray pitched and deserved to win, but errors proved costly, the Marylanders taking advantage of every miscue. The last two of the prolonged games were played with Clemson and Erskine. Both games were finally lost.

On April 30 State gave the surprise of the season by defeating Carolina, 9 to 3. Murray almost won his own game and was clearly the hero of the day. He not only pitched a masterly game of ball, but drove in five of his team's runs and scored one himself.

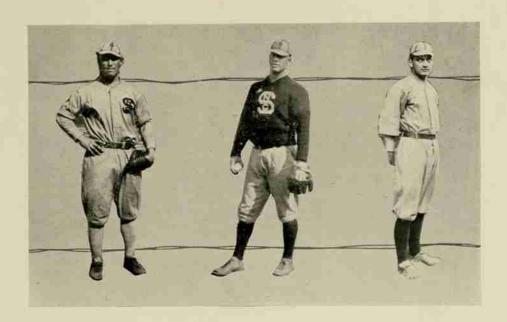

Georgia Tech won three out of the four-game series played, two at Riddick Field and the others in Atlanta. Murray pitched in the last game with Tech and allowed the Georgians only two hits, while only three Georgia men got as far as first base. The last game of the series was State's.

The last game of the season, which was played with Trinity, resulted in another victory for State. The infield did the best work of the season, playing errorless ball. Murray, who was hit hard in the first, settled down to steady, consistent pitching, and the Methodists were clearly outclassed, as is indicated by the score.

	and Dick Gurley composed the catching staff, but during the past season Parsons had to do almost all the receiving. He knows how to work the pitcher, and also gives the opposing twirler a stiff time pitching to him when he is at the bat. He got more free passes than any man on the team.
R. F.	ROUTH, "Babe" Outfield
	Here is "Babe" Ruth the second, No, he does not get as many home runs, but he always manages to get a hit just when hits are needed. He is a fast man on the bases, and also pulls 'em down out in the garden.
	"Babe" will be a valuable man next year.

THE BASKETBALL TEAM

Basketball Review, 1922

The 1922 basketball season as a whole has been unsuccessful and disappointing. Yet in this limited space we must not overlook nor forget that State showed excellent form and made a remarkable showing in several games during the season, and came back strong in the last two games played.

Groome, Park, and Homewood were the only old veterans of the court to be relied upon. The remainder of the team had to be built around these as a nucleus. It seemed as if these men were not able to get back to previous form, but the last part of the season relieved all doubt in our mind. They were there! Our only regret was that we could not start the season over again with the new line-up.

The first five games of the season were played in Raleigh, and State won three out of the five, losing to Trinity by a narrow margin of three points in a hard-fought game, and to Wake Forest after having a ten-point lead in the first half.

State then played four games away from home, losing all except one. All the games were hard fought and closely contested, as is indicated by the results,

On the Northern trip Homewood was out of the game, and our team again met defeat, taking only one game out of the four played.

The surprise of the season came when State held Washington and Lee to a count of 31-32—a team which had won by the count of 35-12 two weeks before. To finish it all, State journeyed to Trinity and there defeated the Methodists on their own court—the second time that Trinity had been defeated on their own court in eight years.

The results of the season follow:

T. N. PARK, "Tom," Captain and Forward

Tom was elected captain of the '22 team, and has been an excellent leader. He is well liked by every man on the team and by the entire student body. He is fast and aggressive on the floor, an excellent tosser, and a man who puts fight into his teammates by fighting himself.

H. B. CURTIS, "Harry," Forward

Curtis played at center last year, but was shifted to forward this year. He makes clever use of all the sidesteps and tricks of the floor game and shoots like an expert. He plays again next year.

I. D. GROOME, "John," Forward and Center

John is recognized as one of the best centers in the state. He is a bewildering player, and a dead shot from any angle on the court. He played his last game this season, and the team loses a good player and a popular friend.

W. M. LONG, Forward

Long enters the first games of the season. He is a cool, steady player, never losing his head, and exceptionally fast on the floor. This is his first year, and with a few more years' experience, he will be a marvelous player.

S. L. HOMEWOOD, "Sammy," Guard

"Sammy" is not only a terror on the gridiron but he also plays a good game on the basketball court. He watches his man like a hawk, and it is a sight seldom seen for an opposing player to have an easy shot from under the goal.

G. S. JOHNSTON, "Bud," Guard

"Bud" played his best games last year. He is a fighter through and through. He observes everything and guards his opponent closely at all time. He is another senior who has made a fine showing.

L. L. JOHNSON, "Red," Guard

"Red" did not like the idea of guarding all the time, because he wanted to be given a chance to do some of the scoring. But a better guard could not be found, so he was kept in this position. He is as fast and dependable as they make them.

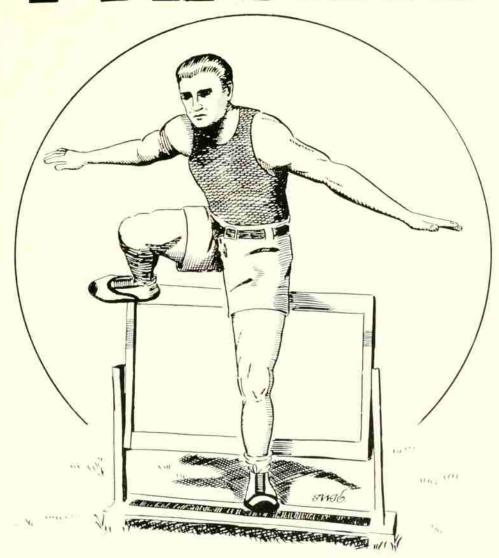

T. A. LEEPER, "Tarzan," Center

The best game of the season was seen with "Tarzan" at center. He got the tip-off 'most every time, played a fast game, and kept his opponents guessing. He will be a first-string man next year.

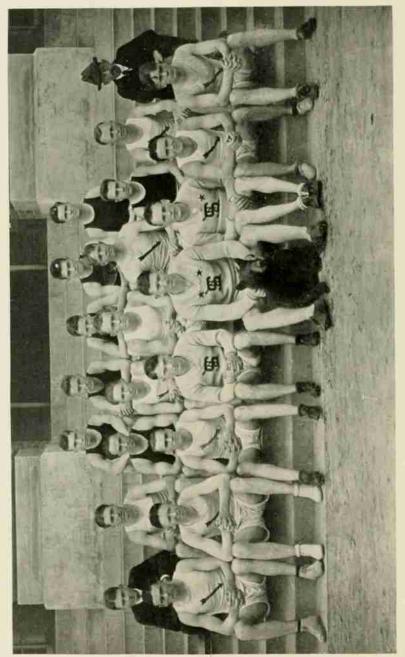

J. B. JEANETTE, "John," Forward

Jeanette showed his speed on the football field and was called to the basketball court. He showed up well. He is a steady, energetic man, and all that we can say is, "Watch out for him next year."

TRACK

THE TRACK TEAM

Track Review, 1921

During the past few years track has been considered a minor sport, and has been overshadowed by other forms of athletics at all institutions in the state. Gradually and surely, however, track is pushing to the front, and is bound to occupy a more important place in the athletic field. For already interest has been stimulated to the extent that the greatest indoor meet ever held in the state will be staged in Durham in the month of March, 1922.

Dr. Taylor's first call for track athletes was answered early in the spring by only a very small squad of men. The training was handicapped by not having a suitable place to work cut. The race track at the fair grounds was being used for the sprinters and distance men, and even the slightest rain would make the track so muddy that it was impossible to practice, while a few days of pretty weather would make the track so hard that the men would suffer from sore ankles. The prospects for a winning team did not look so bright, yet the coach and manager did not let this discourage them, but went to work with new determination and enthusiasm. As a result, when the season closed, State College had won the state championship for the first time in the history of the institution.

There were four dual meets, the state meet, and the South Atlantic meet scheduled for the year. One dual meet was rained out, but State won two out of the other three, losing to Carolina in a dual meet. However, one week later she retaliated and won the state meet, scoring 2-3 of a point more than Carolina. This is a notable record in itself, and much credit is due the coach, the managers, and every man on the team, for it was by teamwork and cooperation that State won.

The results of the meets follow:

State	101	56	3.%			18		1.63		68;	Wake Forest 40
State	-		58			10	×	(+)	30	-;	Davidson (Rain)
State	(50)	4	9	*		100		(0)	ā	811/2;	Trinity
State	(4)	45	1		23	17	10	(4)	9	431/2;	Carolina
State											MEET Carolina 59 1.3

J. B. LAWERENCE, "Shorty"

"Shorty" was the most consistent point-gainer of the season. Out of three dual meets and the state meet, he piled up 44½ points. He participated in the high jump, discus, shot-put, and 120-yard hurdles. "Shorty" is a track man, and we hate to lose him.

W. W. BLAKENEY, "Sergeant"

The most consistent throughout the year was Blakeney in the two-mile. He won his event in every dual meet, the state meet, and placed second in the South Atlantic meet. He piled up 23 points for the season, and we expect even greater things of him this season.

R. W. KRAFT, "Wray"

Wray is another sure point-gainer. He won two first places in every dual meet except that with the University, and then defeated the same opponent in both events at the state meet one week later. He ran the 440 and the half, piling up 25 points for the season. We hated to lose him this season.

J. D. ALBRIGHT, "Jud"

"Jud" is the other man who won two firsts in every meet except one, and then won these in the state meet. He is fast on the 100 and 220, and usually gets the lead on the first jump. He has a record of 36 points for the season.

T. N. PARK, "Tom"

Tom could be relied on to win his place in the high jump and in the running broad. He captured 17 points during the season and helped to make State College the champions of '21. Tom is a good man at anything he tries.

S. J. WALTERS, "Sid"

"Sid" worked hard for the entire season, and although he did not win so many points, yet we must remember that it did not take but 1-3 of a point to win the state meet. We are glad that "Sid" was awarded a letter; he deserved it.

T. K. ROBERTS, "T. K."

"T. K." is another man who deserves special mention for his willingness to work, his interest and enthusiasm. He could be counted on to "fill in" at any time, and assured that he would do his best. We look for him to make a good record next year.

E. B. MANNING, "Ned"

"Ned" won first place in the javelin throw in all events held in the state, and succeeded in breaking the state record, after the old record had just been broken by Abernathy of Carolina. He thus made N. C. State the outstanding track institution for the year. The team loses a valuable man for the coming season.

All-State College talent! The Rollickers is truly a State College organization, and they have contributed to the success of many social events. Below is a dance scene in the city auditorium.

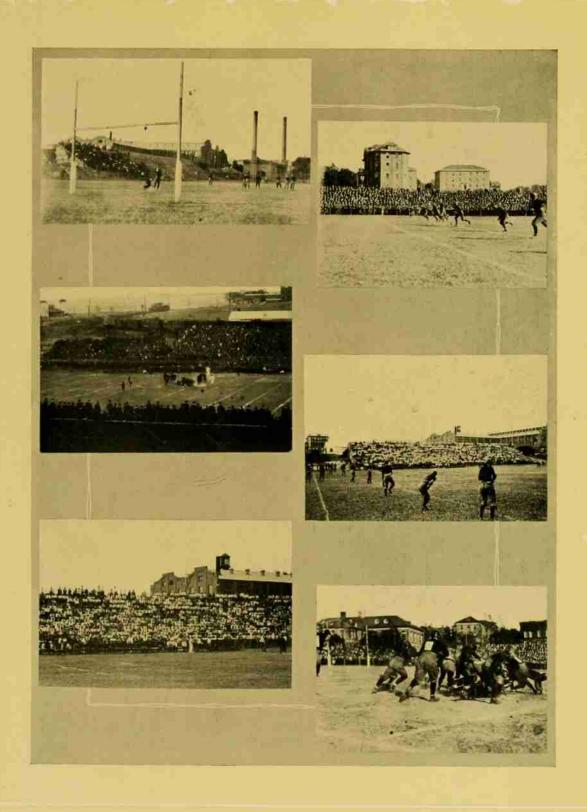

The annual fancy dress German Club dance is the big costume affair of the year. Above are seen some of the girls with whom we have grown familiar, and whom we will always remember.

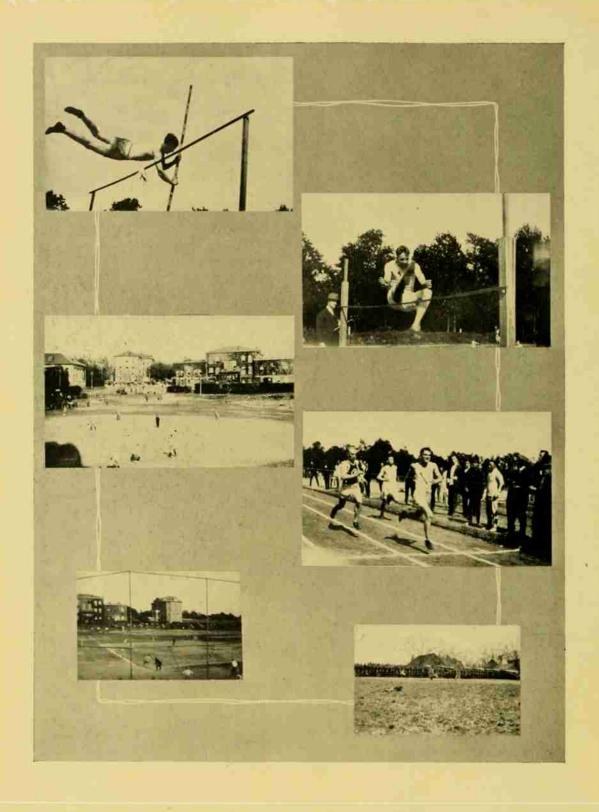

Another page of Raleigh girls with whom we have associated, and who have added to our pleasure and enjoyment during our four-year pause in Raleigh. In future years we will be reminded of many happy occasions.

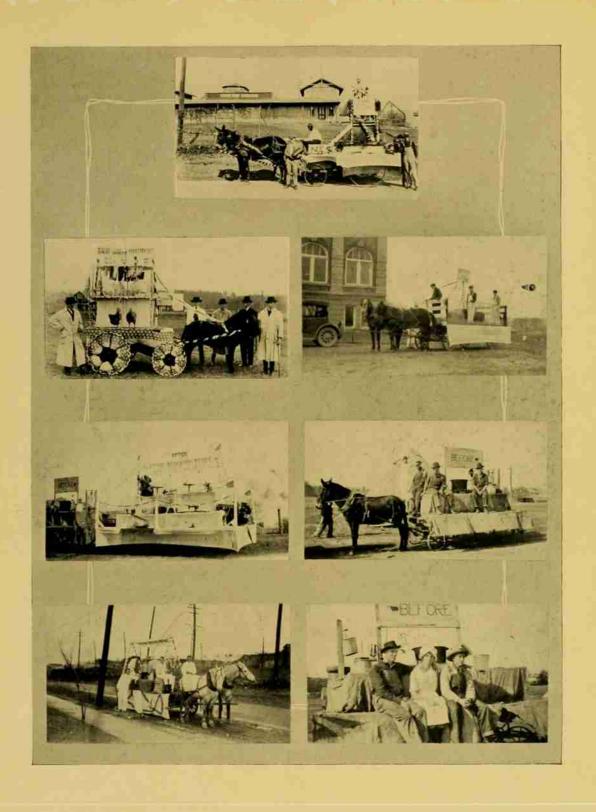

The greatest game of the year when State College meets her old rival, Carolina! The above merely serves as a suggestion of the spirit that is typical of our Alma Mater.

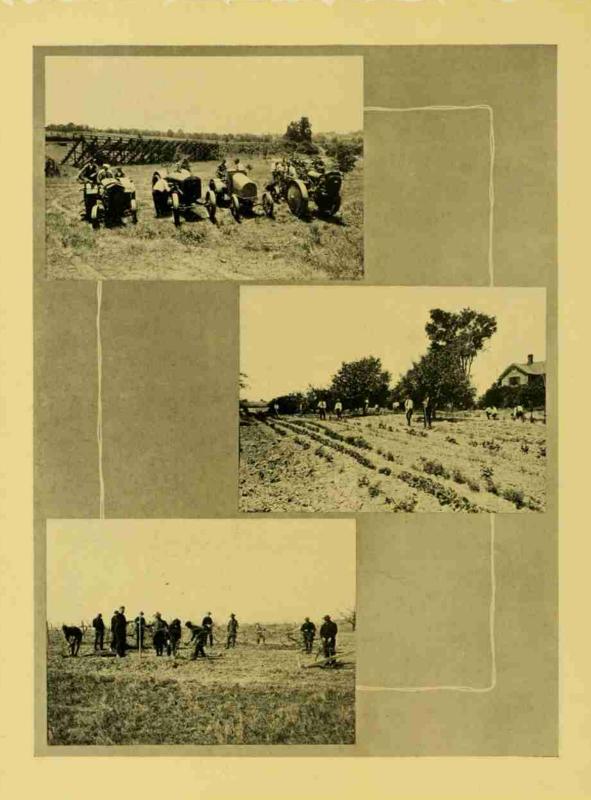

Ever fighting to uphold the honor of N. C. State! The above is another group of pictures which will be cherished in our memories, and scenes which will revive in us the spirit of our college and Alma Mater.

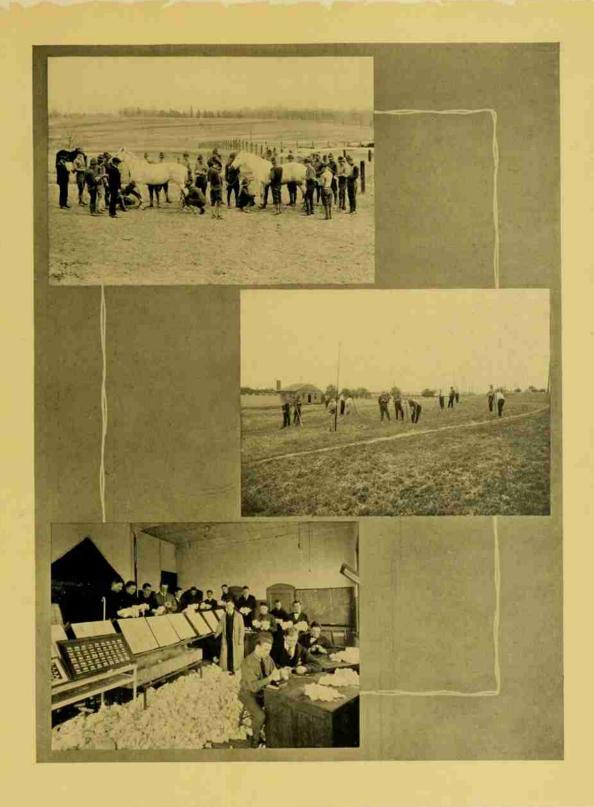

Great interest is also taken in baseball and track at our institution. The above is a group of track scenes taken at dual meets, and baseball scenes taken at Wake Forest and at home.

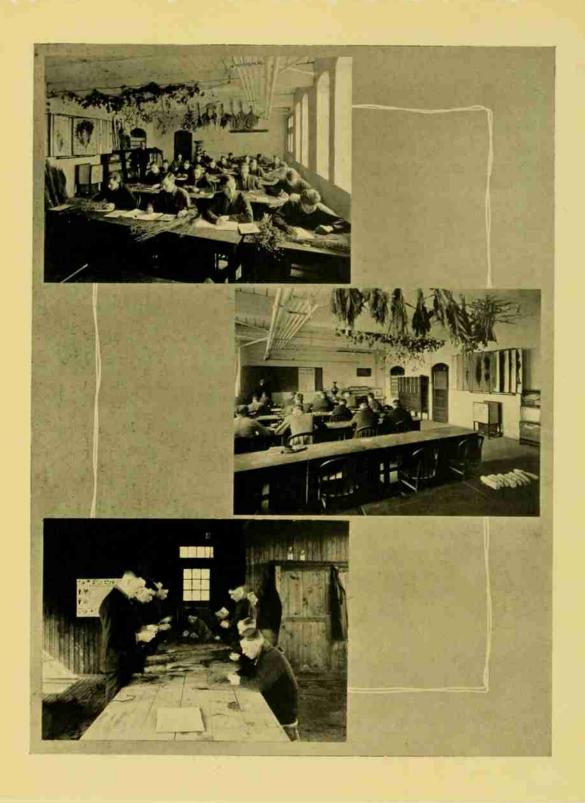

The first agricultural fair ever held at our coilege proved to be a remarkable success. It is now planned to make it an annual event. Every department of agriculture is represented in the fair.

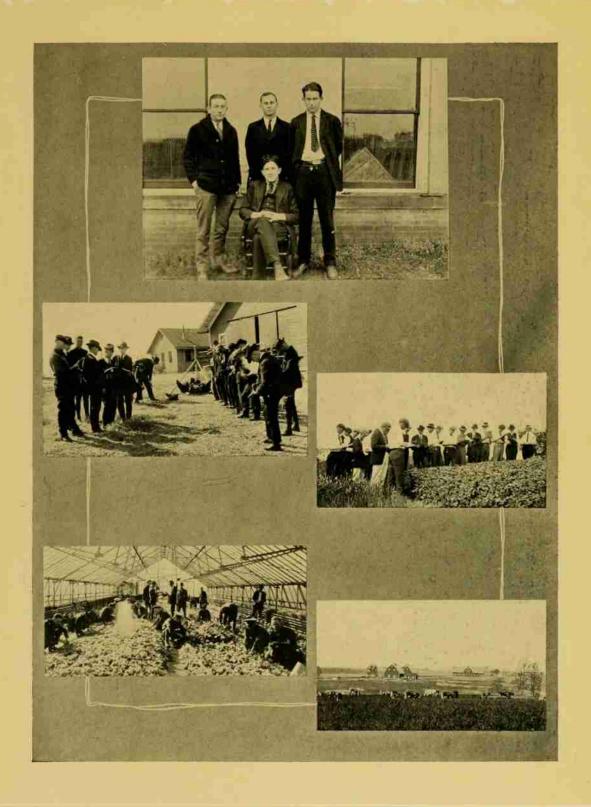

Gradually but surely, mechanical power is replacing hand labor. In the agricultural department the student becomes familiar with all labor-saving devices. The above shows students at work in the field and orchard.

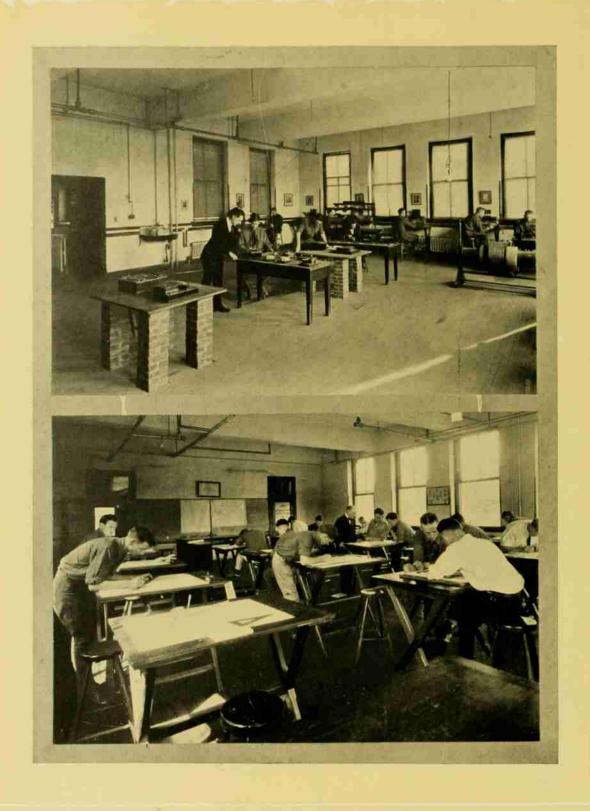

It is the purpose of all departments to give the student as broad a vision of the practical side as possible. Here we see classes in stock judging, farm drainage, and cotton grading.

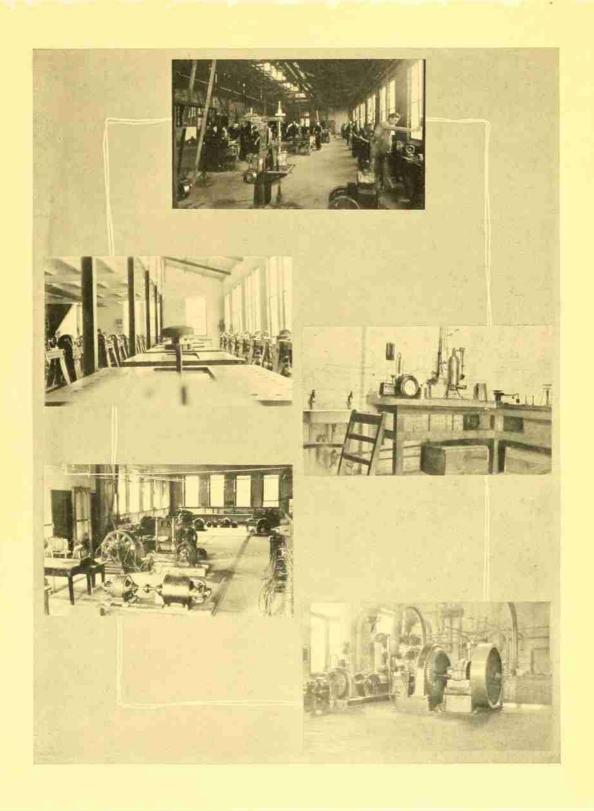

The student learns the theoretical solution of all agricultural problems in the classroom, and then is given a chance to put what he has learned into practice. Above are several groups of juniors at work.

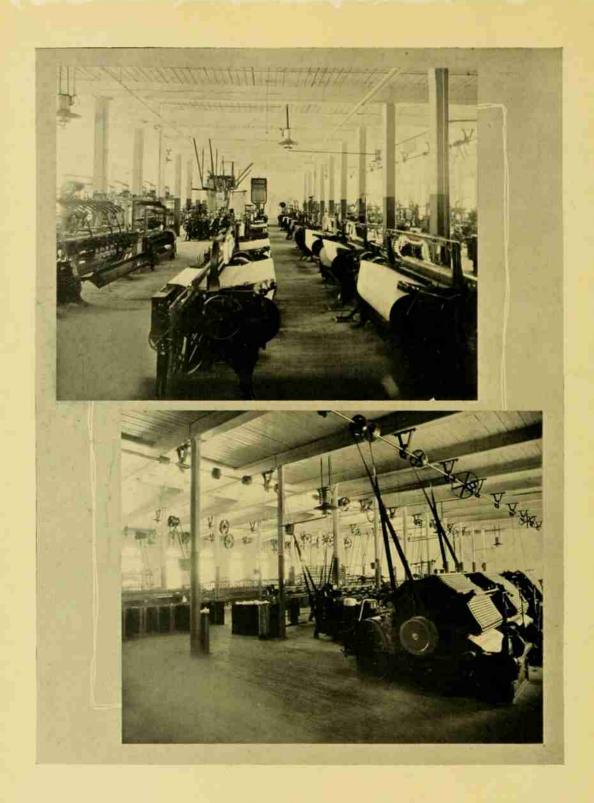

Agricultural experiments are made in the college greenhouse. The equipment of the Poultry Science Department ranks among that of the best institutions in America. Above is a class in poultry judging, and the Madison Square Garden team.

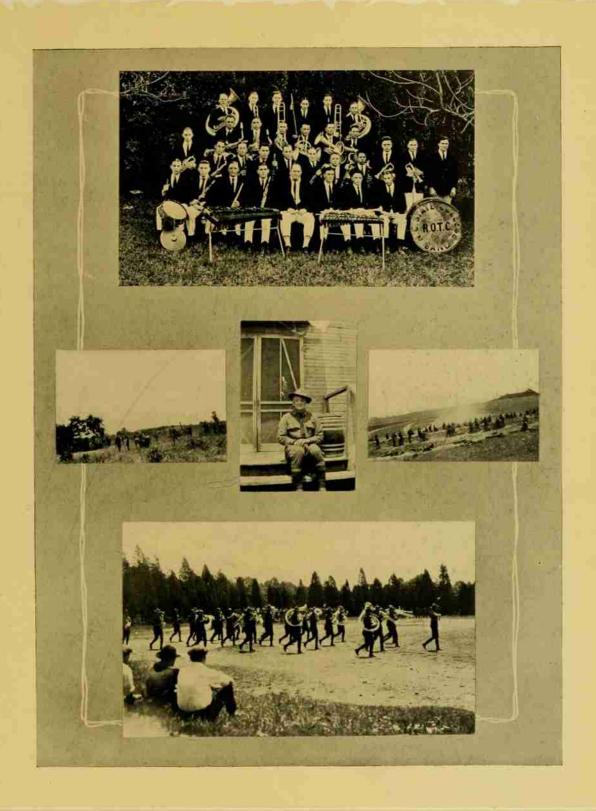

A good part of the Engineering course is made up of practical work in the laboratories and drafting rooms. The buildings are fully equipped with all laboratory apparatus for performing instructive experiments.

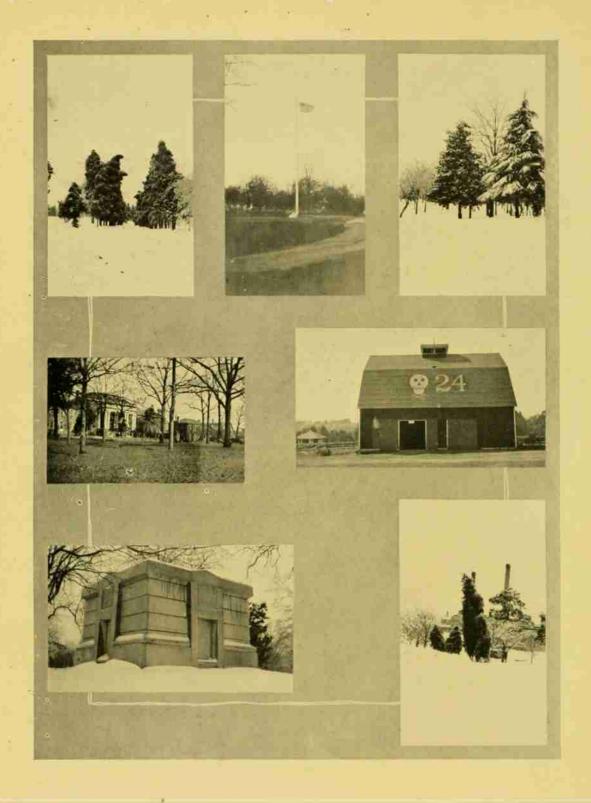

In the machine shop the Mechanical Engineering student has a chance to make the casting which was moulded in the foundry into the finished product. In the laboratory he performs many valuable experiments. While the Electrical Engineering student is trained along the lines peculiar to his field of work.

The Textile department is equipped with all modern Textile machinery, which with the efficient corps of teachers, makes State College the best Textile school in the South. These scenes were made in the carding and spinning room and in the weaving room.

The college band is considered the best in state. How often have we marched to the tune of some lively march, and when at Camp Knox how often did we wish that we were again at dear old N. C. State.

The most appealing sights are those of winter. The closing scenes picture our Alma Mater wrapped in the white canopy of winter. Snow always brings fright into the hearts of freshmen, and is a delight to the upperclassmen.

The Young Men's Christian Association

During the year 1921-1922 the Young Men's Christian Association has carried on all its accustomed activities—social, recreational, and religious. However, there are three accomplishments that are worthy of special mention.

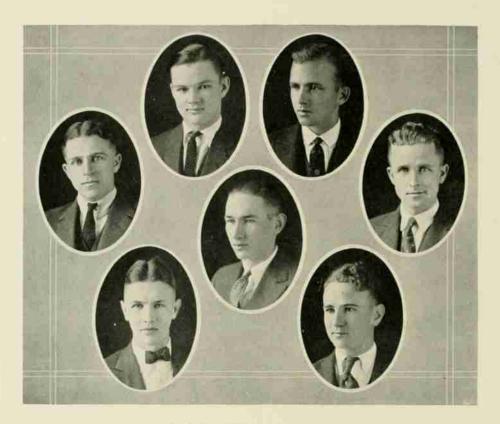

The first of these is that new equipment has been added to the building and the plant made more complete. Last year the famous "Clodfelter-Barr" heating system was installed for the swimming pool, and an electric range was bought for the kitchen. This year a set of dishes, decorated with the college and the Y. M. C. A. monograms, have been added. Luncheons can now be served to one hundred or more people, which adds to the pleasure of the students, faculty, and the College Woman's Club.

A second thing worthy of special mention is the strong list of speakers that have been brought to the college. In October, Dr. Allyn K. Foster delivered a series of addresses and informal talks dealing with "Christian Faith and Intellectual Difficulties." In the same month F. N. Seerley, M.D., dean of the Y. M. C. A. College at Springfield, delivered two masterful addresses on "Social Hygiene." In December, Dr. E. C. Lindeman delivered two addresses on "International Relationships." In January, Dr. W. D. Weatherford, president of the Southern College of the Y. M. C. A., Nashville, Tenn., spent four days at the college and gave a series of addresses on "Student Problems and the Christian Life." Dr. Weatherford's addresses were of an evangelistic nature and resulted in fifty-five men taking the stand for Christian life. Other prominent speakers will visit the college during the spring months.

The most important thing in the association program this year has been Bible study. During the fall term thirty-one classes were conducted. Two of these were led by members of the faculty. The remainder were led by students who attended a leader's class led by Dr. C. C. Taylor. Dr. Taylor prepared the course used, which was "The Religion of Jesus Based on His Own Words." This course was especially planned to meet the needs of the State College campus. Three hundred and forty mem were enrolled in the Bible classes. Of this number two hundred and seventy-five were present for every meeting of the class unless sick in the hospital or out of town on college business. Six classes had a perfect record of attendance.

During the spring term two faculty-led classes are being conducted. Dr. J. A. Ellis, pastor of the Pullen Memorial Church, is coaching the student leaders. The text being used is Weatherford's "Introducing Men to Christ." The course has not been completed as this goes to press. However, the classes are running well, and the indications are that they will finish strong.

The Honor System

T was after eight long years of hard work and continued effort on the part of a small group of students that student government was finally established on our campus. The constitution was written and adopted by the student body in February, 1921; but the governmental machinery was not set in motion until the fall term of '21. Of course the new system is new and has to be tried, but during the past year students have assumed the responsibility and honor that rests upon their shoulders, and the whole machine has been running nicely.

It is the purpose of the student government to handle all matters of student conduct, honor, and general student interest; and to promote in campus life self-control, personal responsibility, and loyalty to the college and student body. During the past year a court of customs has been organized, which deals entirely with the conduct of freshmen.

The membership is not confined to the few, but every duly registered student at State College automatically becomes a member of the Student Government.

There are two departments of the government, namely: legislative and executive. The legislative department is called the "House," and is composed of the Student Council and one member from each class in each department of the college. The executive department is known as the Student Council, and is composed of seven members from the Senior Class, five men from the Junior Class, three from the Sophomore Class, and one freshman.

It is the duty of the Council to receive, prefer, and try all charges of violation of the standards of the government. When a student has been accused of having committed an offense, he is brought before the Council and tried. All evidence, both for and against the man, is carefully weighed, so that the student is sure to get a fair trial.

Student government is no longer a dream, but is a realization, and with the support of the entire student body and faculty it is bound to succeed.

"ZERO," STATE COLLEGE BEAR MASCOT, RAISES ROUGH HOUSE

HUGS AND KISSES FOR ABSOLAM

Aroused from his slumbers by a late arriving T-hound, who mixtook the bear house for his own, "Zero," the State College bear mascot, on last Friday night broke the chain that had bound him since his arrival on the camous more than a year ago, and with seemingly no trouble located the room of Absolum White, who had supplied his morning repast for some time. The hour of the night was 12:30 A.M., and needless to say. Absolam had not been asteep long enough to entirely forget the joys of the night. After ransacking the room for something to eat, and being unable to find it. "Zero" calmly marched over to the bed in which Absolam tay, to apprise him of the Fearful lest he would unduly disturb his provider, "Zero" gently climbed into the bed and in an affectionate bar-way, proceeded to do what he thought the most diplomatic thing. And from the response we judge that it was, for no sooner had "Zero" embraced Absolam than he was returning the embracement. Under circumstances we believe that both of them were justified in what they did, but according in Patterson Hall upon the to "Zero's" way of thinking he wasn't getting satisfactory results. so he proceeded to press his claim. Shortly Absolum realized that his Professor Sherwin took the iniaffections had been misplaced, tiative in the slash of modern and opening his eyes-

Will Be White, of the Barn-Ruffner Department, who is specializing in the obstreptic branch of genetics, has recently had wonderful success in the practical application of Mendell's law. By a proper manipulation of characters, according to a formuin devised by himself, he has succeeded in producing an offspring from a sheep having three bodies. He thus expects to reduce the cost of living by making three famb chops grow where one grew before, or behind, as the case may He is now devoting his attention to a double barreled cow-

GREAT SOCIETY EVENT

The annual banquet of the N C. S. chapter of the Ancient Order of Crums was held in the Y. M. C. A. banquet room last Saturday night. High Mogal Bradshaw acted as toastmaster and his remarks showed that Speck's coaching had fallen on fertile ground. A very interesting part of the program was filled by Low Mogul Mabry with his elucidation of the theory of the future development of "Nine second men" at State College.

Each of the crums had a female acquaintance at the banquet. The names of the Crums with their partners follow:

We fellows have been wondering why the swimming pool has been empty for so long, although we spend yearly a great amount of our cash for the upkeep of the "Y" and for banquets and receptions for the Promotion Force, Mr. King says the pipes are being cleaned out and that all the water has been cut out of the building. No definite reason was given as to why the pipes had to be cleaned. All we know is that work on them began ten days ago, which also happened to be the day after both "Buck" Morris and "Bill" Cummings took a-(Continued on page 4)

Alumni News

The Agromeck is the only complete history of the college year, and is the only complete record of all the activities of the college. But when a student graduates from the college and enters upon life's duties he no longer cares about having a complete history and record of the achievements and accomplishments of a class to which he does not belong, but instead he wants to be reminded of the daily occurrences and happenings on the campus, and of the success of his former classmates with whom he associated and who are now scattered throughout the world.

With this purpose in view, this college publishes the "Alumni News." Its mailing list now includes over three thousand former students. All during the war the paper followed the men into camp, and across the sea, bringing cheerful news of the college and of the alumni. It also helped to collect valuable information about State College men which otherwise would not have been assembled.

Each year more men are added to the graduate list, so that the demand for the paper is steadily increasing. Through the "Alumni News" this great body of men can be bound closer together in the ties of loyalty to our college and Alma Mater.

Leazer Literary Society

It is being realized more and more that whatever the path of endeavor may be, or whatever may be a man's profession, the man who has the ability to get up on his feet anywhere and at any time and express himself clearly and accurately is the man who is the most efficient leader, and the man surest of success in life.

In this technical school the student receives practice in public speaking in the classroom on his daily recitations. But realizing the great necessity for more work, or parallel work along this line, this college has two organizations which are open to all men who are desirous of becoming better leaders and filling their places in life more efficiently. The Leazer Literary Society offers invaluable training to all its members. Aside from the regular weekly meetings of the society, contests are held with the Pullen Literary Society, so that there is marked rivalry between the two organizations, and thus greater results are accomplished. The Leazer Literary Society offers a hearty welcome to all men who wish to join their ranks, and no man can take a false step by joining either organization.

Pullen Literary Society

Among technical students there has been and is at present a great tendency to neglect literary work, to think of it as being insignificant. State College, as a technical institution, is very fortunate in having two strong literary societies that have proved to be a most valuable asset to the college and to student life. The English Department offers every student in the regular college courses an excellent oportunity to become proficient in practical public speaking and in parliamentary procedure. But for parallel work along this line, and for further experience in actual speaking, the literary society is of great value to every college man.

Pullen Literary Society is as old as the college itself, being named in honor of one of the college's oldest and greatest benefactors. The organization has made wonderful steps in growth, the enrollment becoming so great that two separate divisions had to be made. All new men who have not had elementary training in literary society work begin in the first division and are later advanced to the second division of the organization for higher work. The success of this society has been due to the great spirit of brotherhood and co-operation that exists between the individual members. This spirit and teamwork accounts to a large extent for the double victory over our powerful rival, Leazer Literary Society, in the intersociety declaimer and the intersociety orator contest this year. To those who are interested in and who are desirous of filling their places as efficient citizens and leaders, Pullen Literary Society offers a helping hand and a warm welcome.

Senior Class Prophecy

SOFT breezes carrying the odor of a thousand and one flowers, fanned my fevered brow and blew me into the soft arms of Morpheus. Awaking suddenly, I arose to find that I had grown stiff and old. The beard on my face was ragged and upkept. I was in a strange land among strange, yet in some way, familiar figures. Where was I? Who are these people that I see? These questions arose in rapid succession and demanded answering. Walking up to a very learned and imposing figure, I inquired of my whereabouts. Turning to me with a look of concern on his face, he said, "You are in the land of 'yesterday,' and the people you see are your former classmates." I was astounded. Could it be the old Class of '22? The class that brought fame to her Alma Mater, N. C. State? But it was! Slowly the dim figures grew plainer, and standing before me was none other than Bill Townsend. With a judicial look and appearance, he was turning the pages of a huge brassbound book. Looking more closely, I saw that this was the "Director of Men." I asked my old friend and classmate if I might peep into this book and he kindly consented.

The first name that I saw in this book was none other than the keeper of the book himself—F. A. Townsend, mayor of Ninety Six, director of the lone town bank, and owner of the one cotton mill.

I turned another page, and here before me was the name of E. O. Clarkson, my old roommate, president of the Eureka Motorcycle Company of Kokum, S. C.

Turning page by page, I saw the names of all my former classmates. "Sergeant" Blakeney, instructor in dyeing and coach of track at old N. C. State.

"Tom" Alexander, king and lone survivor of the famous Spot Derider.

Senior Class Song

(First verse and chorus.) (To tune of "A Long, Long Trail.")

CHORUS

It is hard for us to leave here,
But guess that we'd better go;
For the world is calling to us.
That she needs us so.
But for us you need have no fear,
We'll do you credit anywhere,
In any land, in any clime,
In either hemisphere,

Days are growing very lonely,
Nights are very long.
We are growing weary only,
For we'll soon be gone.
Old remembrances are thronging
Through our memory,
Till it seems as if our hearts would break
Just to think of leaving thee.

In Conclusion

IN'T it awful to have to sacrifice your social life and many of your pleasures for something less than thanks, and everything seems to crowd in on you at the last minute just when the profs are dishing out the longest lessons, and still you have to work and worry over the book night and day, never knowing whether the book will be a success or a failure?

But "Ain't it a grand and glorious feeling" to look back over the pages of this annual, and there picture the amount of time and work that has been spent in its assembly, and to know that it's all over now?

The book has now left the harbor, and has set sail on the sea, where it will be tested by the winds of criticism. How long can it endure this voyage if some of the unthoughtful lurk in the hidden depths and send torpedoes of unjust criticism into her hull? This volume goes forth on its own merit, but the crew has one request to make before departing: Place yourself in the shoes of those who are the pilots, consider all your academic work, all the pleasures which are sacrificed, then criticise accordingly. Yes, there's always chance for improvement. Mistakes are common, for the man who never makes a mistake never does anything.

But we have published this book with the interest of State College and State College men at heart. Our only hope is that it will be favorably approved by every subscriber. But whether the success is great or small, we are indebted to those who have aided us in its assembly and publication. Every member of the editorial and managerial staff has worked splendidly, and has ever been ready to aid in any way.

To White Studio we are indebted for the bulk of the photographic material, while Horton's Studio, Mr. Barden, Causey and Andrews, have been faithful substitutes with the camera.

We thank Colonel Gregory, Mr. Bowen and all his staff for the cooperation they have shown us in making the collections easier.

We indeed appreciate the cooperation of the art staff, for they have spent many a weary hour and sacrificed many hours of pleasure to aid in the publication.

To Mr. Sher of the Bureau of Engraving we are very grateful for the splendid sketches and helpful suggestions that he has submitted. Benson Printing Company has also held open a willing and helping hand.

In short, we thank every one connected with the book in any way, and thank every loyal subscriber, and trust that the mistakes of the '22 staff will serve as stepping stones to a greater and better book by the staff of '23.
