VOLUME XXVIII

Dedication

To those rare men and women who have bridled the modern Pegasus and joyously risked their all from the flight at Kitty Hawk to the magnificent flights over seas, deserts, and poles; to those dauntless ones whose valour, gallantry, and daring carried them to the dome of the earth to make their last noble gesture for love of home and country.

Night, fog, distance, and mountain have been no barriers to their enterprise. Many have lost their way, but others continue their journeys toward the port, flooded by the praise of human kind. Through courage, endurance, and sublime concentration of body and mind, these pioneers are—one by one—striking down the impediments of human glory. To these do we dedicate this the twenty-eighth volume of THE AGROMECK.

Foreword

ON the shifting sands at Kill Devil Hill the Wright brothers gave birth to human flight. From this wind-swept cradle on Carolina's shore to the present day has evolved the phenomena of the ages. In using the development of AVIATION as the art theme of THE 1930 AGROMECK it is the wish of the editors that careful attention be given the beauty of illustration, the authenticity of design, and the timely presentation of the thought.

The School of Agriculture

SINCE the organization of State College, the School of Agriculture has occupied an outstanding position in the curricula of this institution. At one time it shared with the School of Engineering the distinction of being the only schools in the college.

The School of Agriculture reaches out and touches the lives of the people of North Carolina in a fundamental way. Its research and extension activities constitute a large part of its program.

The School of Agriculture is ably headed by Dean Ira Obed Schaub. Dean Schaub probably understands the needs of agricultural North Carolina better than any other one man.

DR. W. C. RIDDICK
Dean

The School of Engineering

AS a former President of this institution and as Dean of the School of Engineering, Dr. Wallace Carl Riddick occupies a niche all to himself in the annals of State College history. He has seen the college grow from a small struggling institution to the foremost college in the state, and all the time he has had a vital part in effecting this growth.

The School of Engineering is the largest school of the college. It is largest and most completely equipped, and teaches more students than the combined engineering departments of all other institutions of the State.

B. F. BROWN
Dean

The School of Science and Business

IN response to the demands of the State for graduates in business administration and a cognizance on the part of the administration of the need of a more cultural curricula, the School of Science and Business was inaugurated at State College.

From a humble beginning only several years past it has grown to become one of the largest schools of the institution. Yearly it attracts to State College an increasing number of desirable students. Since its beginning Benjamin Franklin Brown has been Dean of the School, and he, primarily, has been responsible for its great success.

DR. THOMAS NELSON

The Textile School

THE textile industry has made North Carolina the foremost manufacturing state of the South. Along with the growth of this industry in the State, the Textile School of State College has played an important part. Not only does this school train men to enter the various types of work in the manufacture of textiles; it coöperates with the mills in the securing of data and other research activities.

It would be impossible to mention the Textile School of State College without linking with it the name of Dean Thomas Nelson. His has been its guiding hand since the beginning of a textile department in 1901.

T. E. BROWNE
Director

The School of Education

THE School of Education was recently established by the Board of Trustees in response to a positive and urgent demand from the teaching profession. It particularly attempts to prepare teachers for the purpose of serving the rural districts. In this capacity it performs an important function in elevating the rural cultural level.

Thomas Everett Browne is director of instruction for the school. Director Browne has enlarged the scope of the school to give women advantage of the opportunities offered by the teaching profession. Professor Browne is also Director of the Summer School.

DR. CARL C. TAYLOR
Dean

The Graduate School

IT is practically impossible to master a subject in a given four-year college curricula. Many students desire to further pursue a course of study in their chosen professions. To meet these desires is the important function of the Graduate School of State College. The Graduate School offers unusual opportunities for research.

Dr. Carl C. Taylor is Dean of the School. In that capacity he has proven one of the most valuable men ever to have come to State College. Dean Taylor is one of the foremost sociologists of the United States and has written several valuable books in that field.

The Dean of Students

NO one man enters into the life of the students more fully than does Dean E. L. Cloyd. His office is one of pleasures and of sorrows. Not only must he be concerned with the scholastic standing of the students; in moral and spiritual aspect of student life, too, is he vitally concerned.

Dean Cloyd is one of the best loved men at State College. His untiring interest in the students, their successes, their failures, and their problems will always endear him in the hearts of all. No student may ever say that Dean Cloyd has ever been anything but fair and considerate.

Senior, Whither?

FOUR years or more in college adventure and now we stand at another threshold of life. To this hour we travelled on the path together—sometimes with victory, sometimes with defeat. Joys, knotty problems and disturbing thoughts have beset our ways. In them the light of the Eternal broke in part about us. Through them we caught a bit of the fragrance of lovely wayside flowers—a bit of the glory of setting suns.

What of the future? Tomorrow is another commencement in a bigger, harder, and more realistic world. It, too, will demand of us victorious energy and unfaltering spirit. Ruthless it will be if we fail; kind and beneficent if we succeed. It will throw about us a halo in the presence of life founded upon strength and dedicated as a whole to establishing new truth—better homes, loftier communities, and peaceful world highways.

HERBERT R. ACTON, JR.
RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Electrical Engineering

Tau Beta Pi; A. I. E. E.

"HERB"

Look at him, folks. "isn't he a juicy looking dude?" The old personality plus of the electrical class, that's Herbert.

Besides being a good fellow Acton is one of the smartest men in the class—ask Professor William Hand Browne, Jr. He is leading the class in more subjects than one and making the honorary engineering fraternity. He can even explain what the "kilywatts" do when the button is pressed and why flux fleas don't bite.

He is a rare type in that he gets along equally as well with the two sexes and that, as you know, is saying quite a lot. Even while talking to him one is aware of his sincerity and straightforwardness.

With "Herb's" technical knowledge and winning ways there can be no doubt but that the future will hold for him a great measure of success.

KENNETH ADOLPHUS ADERHOLT
SANFORD, NORTH CAROLINA

Ceramic Engineering

Beta Pi Kappa; Football Squad, 1, 2, 3, 4; Baseball, 1; American Ceramic Society.

"KEN"

Four years' acquaintance with this young man is enough to convince one that he is not of the "quiet, unassuming" type. Self-reliant, individual, earnest, aggressive, and democratic, he reminds one forcefully of the rugged American pioneer.

Loyal to the core, he has stuck pluckily throughout his four years to the growling Wolfpack, despite the fact that his name was seldom headlined.

He has made a splendid record in the Ceramic Engineering Department and has won the esteem of his fellow students through his thoroughness and willingness to always lend a hand.

Kenneth has hidden very effectively the fact that he is romantic and idealistic. We who have discovered it add to our parting wish of good luck and success the heartfelt hope that the world will treat as kindly as possible that hidden part of him so boyishly romantic and idealistic.

MOULTRIE M. ALEXANDER, B S A
CONCORD, NORTH CAROLINA

Electrical Engineering

Scabbard and Blade; Tau Beta Pi; Cross Country, 2, 3, 4; Track, 1, 2, 3, 4; R. O. T. C., First Lieutenant 4; A. I. E. E.; Monogram Club; House Student Government, 2.

"ALEX"

"BUB"

Here, ladies and gentlemen, we have a rare specimen of a college product—a man that has established himself in the field of scholarship, of social life, and of athletics, although he is of a quiet and retiring nature. Those attractions called women seem to give him little worry, yet on several occasions he has been seen in various places with members of the weaker sex.

Although "Alex" has little time to spare between his class work, his social interests, and his athletic achievements, he always finds time to make new friends and to chat with an old one. His chosen profession of Electrical Engineering seems to him to be the only course on the hill and it has been hard for his friends in the school of "Jewish" engineering to even start to convince him that they are really going to college with a purpose.

ROBERT F. ALEXANDER
DERITA, NORTH CAROLINA

Architectural Engineering

Architectural Club; Beaux Art Club; R. O. T. C., First Lieutenant 4; Leazer Literary Society.

"ALEX"

The man with a feminine step and a mile-long smile is none other than Robert Flow Alexander, the pencil spreading insect. The happiest moments of his life are when he is over the drawing board, with the exception of those moments which I dare not mention because someone might object.

Although we are undecided as to his beginning, we do expect, as a result of his labor, some master achievement in the architectural profession which will create beauty, character, and dignity in design. We hope his skill in math will aid in the mastering of the engineering side of the profession.

We wish you the greatest of success in your chosen work. May God give you strength to master the problems that the great field of architecture affords to the ever thoughtful and searching mind.

CORBETT ULYSSES ALLEN
 MURPHY, NORTH CAROLINA

Chemical Engineering

Chemical Engineering Society; Dormitory Club
 President.

"COPPEE"

"C. U." Copper Allen joined us in our Sophomore year. He is from Murphy, N. C., and spent two years at Berea College before coming to State. At Berea he specialized in Latin and French with the idea of teaching these subjects, but discouraging reports of the luck of teachers in the mountains of Kentucky decided Copper to discontinue the classics and seek his fortune in some other profession.

From across the mountains there came glowing reports of the success of a new department of Chemical Engineering at State College and Copper, who had some hankering for the services, resolved to enter at State. Since he has been with us the wisdom of his choice has been fully justified. During his stay with us his latent quality has developed to such a degree that he now gives promise of achieving a great future for himself.

ALLIE PARKER BAGGETT, II K A
 DUNN, NORTH CAROLINA

Business Administration

Junior Order of Saints; German Club; Cotillion
 Club; Pan-Hellenic Council.

"ALLIE P."

Look! Here we have none other than the original Mr. Baggett, a very gallant lad, better known as "Allie P."

Allie's personality has made him one of the best liked men at State and his ability as a student and leader has made him an outstanding figure in college life.

"Allie P." was president of the Pan-Hellenic Council this year. He has also demonstrated that he is a successful merchant—what would the "London Shop" have done without him? In doing all of this he has shown that he is one of those rare persons who can combine work with pleasure.

So Allie comes to the end of his college career with a host of friends, a pleasant memory of his four years here, a good record as a student, and as an alumnus of N. C. State to be proud of.

We hate to lose Allie, but we are sure he will be a great credit to the school.

LINWOOD B. BARBEE
SPRING HOPE, NORTH CAROLINA

Agricultural Economics

Nash-Edgecombe County Club; Agricultural Club.

"BOOKER T"

"Booker T"—where he picked up this name is beyond us. He is literally "one of the boys." His readiness to help anyone has made for him a host of friends here at State.

His grades show that his time has not been wasted while here. Although he has devoted himself to his work he has had his share of fun and we regret to part with such a friend.

With the present depressed situation in agriculture existing in North Carolina, we feel that Linwood will have a real opportunity to put into practice some of the economics he has learned at State College. While at State "Booker T" has not been one of those types to seek the spotlight; rather has he been a silent and diligent worker. Our best wishes go with him in his undertakings in future life. We are sure of his success.

EDISON PLATO BASS
GOLDSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

Vocational Agriculture

Pine Burr; Alpha-Zeta; Agricultural Club; Freshman and Sophomore Debater; Leazar Literary Society; DeMolay Club; Bible Study Leader.

"EDDIE"

"PLUTO"

Four years ago "Eddie" Bass came to State College with the idea of becoming an Agriculture teacher. There were other boys who came with the same intention. Many of them have dropped by the wayside, but "Eddie" has stuck.

"Eddie's" interests at college have been legion—and feminine. For three years he slung "bull" in Mr. Harris's hall for the alleviation of the pangs of hunger. His speaking ability has been demonstrated not only by his success with the young ladies of Raleigh—and other places, but also in his literary society work. Another of his activities was his book-selling expedition in Michigan in the summer of 1927. Judging by the large volume of mail that came to his box the following winter, that trip must have been quite a success in many ways.

NANCY ADELAIDE BEDDINGFIELD
 RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Education

Nancy is among the few co-ed Seniors to graduate this year. She did not enter State College as a Freshman, but nevertheless, she has made a host of friends and admirers during her stay here. You might ask some of the male students about that statement.

Nancy has proven her ability as student as well as a good mixer. She lives in town but is never late for a class. Professor Browne seems to have uncovered a good prospect for the field of education when Nancy came to State College. We don't know whether or not she is leading her class; one thing is certain, however, she is giving the male students something to shoot at.

Whether or not Nancy will become a home demonstration agent, we don't know. It is reported she has a "regular." If that be true the call of the altar might prove too strong. However, that is getting out of our line. In fact, writing about them is too. One thing we are certain of: Nancy has been and will continue to be a credit to State College. We are proud to have had her.

CHARLES HINTON BELVIN, JR.
 RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Electrical Engineering

Blue Key, President; Pine Burr; Golden Chain; Tau Beta Pi; Scabbard and Blade; Cross Country; Track; R. O. T. C., Colonel 4; A. I. E. E.; Pullen Literary Society; Winner Military Scholarship, 2; Phi Kappa Phi.

"CHARLIE"

"JUDGE"

"Charlie" is one of the favorites and leaders of our class, a fact which is probably due to the combination of a pleasing personality and an outstanding ability. His application to all problems has made it possible for him to lead an active college career. "Charlie" is not only a good student but also a pal with a fine disposition and one who has made many friends.

"Charlie" has made an outstanding record in his military activities, having been identified as Colonel during the past year; and the loss of his presence will be felt both by the staff and the regiment next year.

When "Charlie" receives his B.S. next spring the E. E. Department will send out a man who will be an asset to this profession. "Charlie, ole boy," we wish you the best of luck and success in all you undertake.

BANKS H. BELL
RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Civil and Highway Engineering

Theta Tau; Scabbard and Blade; A. S. C. E.;
R. O. T. C., First Lieutenant, 4.

"DICK"

If the records are correct, "Compo" is from Raleigh; but for a while we thought he had left his heart in Birmingham. Then the Alabama stock took a sudden drop and we noticed "Compo" making frequent visits to Clark Avenue. However, we suspect his romance will eventually end with a certain young lady from Richmond.

"Dick" is a most likable boy, so magnanimous in his nature and personality and generosity that he has never acquired an enemy at State, but he has a host of friends and well-wishers. He is a happy-go-lucky student in that he enjoys to the utmost the present, but at the same time he is broad-minded enough to prepare himself for the future. Determined in his actions, emphatic in his decisions, and clear in his thinking—even though it is sometimes slow and laborious, "Dick" is going to be one of our future engineers whom we can proclaim with pride.

ROBERT CARL BENFIELD, JR.
CONCORD, NORTH CAROLINA

Civil and Highway Engineering

Los Hidalgos; Track, 1; Cabarrus County Club;
A. S. C. E.; R. O. T. C., First Lieutenant, 4.

"BENNY"

"Benny" was originally from Concord, but he has worked around Alexandria and Washington so much that he has acquired an entirely new language along with the "Queen" of his heart.

After a hilarious Freshman year, he settled down to reality and work. Apparently, he had learned that an education was valuable both in earning a living and in living.

"Benny" is adorned with a smiling "moon-face" and a contagious personality that enables him to get away with many personal jokes. It is impossible to get peeved at "Robert Carl."

Although uncompromising to his enemies, he is ever willing to assist a friend, help pull a joke, or take part in a bull-session. He has overcome a stubborn nature by his generosity, dynamic personality, and a strong willpower.

"Benny" is unusually serious in his work and we expect him to make a great success.

GRADY CALEB BOWDEN ADVANCE, NORTH CAROLINA

Vocational Agriculture

Ancient Order of Yellow Curr; Agricultural Club.

"DAD"

After spending two years at Mars Hill "Dad" decided that the religious atmosphere of that institution was "cramping his style," and so the following year he added his name to the list of would-be vocational teachers at N. C. State.

We had never thought until we met Grady that it was possible for one man to possess all the good qualities that we so often find missing in those with whom we come in contact. A dream come true! That is the feeling we had when he first came in our midst, and two years of close association has only strengthened this belief.

Although so far "Dad" has been able to cling to the state of "single blessedness," it is easy to see that the tri-weekly trips to Meredith are having a profound effect on his resolution to remain in this state.

Lucky will be the high school that gets "Pop" to head its Vocational Department. Give him a hand folks, here comes a real man!

WILLIAM FREDERICK BOWERS
LEXINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Accounting

Sigma Alpha Kappa; Cross Country Manager; Davidson County Club.

"MIKE"

A future business man with the characteristics of a "jack of all trades" we find "Mike" always ready to tackle the job with a will no matter what it happens to be. His ambition is to be an accountant and only the future will prove which road toward success he will follow.

Entering with the class of '30 he has missed few classes except when on trips with his cross country team. But after attending one summer school in order to gain a few points he has decided that co-education is the only thing and has threatened several times to petition N. C. C. W. for admittance.

Study is something that "Mike" has never been guilty of, but that is no fault of his as his roommates never set for him a good example. His time has been well spent however, in the rôle of authority on women to his friends or managing some sort of athletic team.

His future is before him and we wish for him the greatest of success.

BRYANT JENNINGS BRADY
CARTHAGE, NORTH CAROLINA

Vocational Agriculture

Agricultural Club; Self-Help Club.

"BRADY"

Four years ago there came to us from the Sand Hill section of North Carolina—just another freshman. Green? Yes. Still green? No. "Big Boy" had been with us only a short time when we began to wonder why it was that when the other boys were all congregated in some room "shootin' the ol' bull" that "Brady" was not there. Then we discovered the truth! He had come to college to get an education. "Brady" is no "social lion," or "lounge lizard," but give him a good looking girl, a cozy parlor, with an open fire of glowing coals, a floor lamp with a rose-tinted shade, and he is all set for another conquest.

College days are over and we view the finished product. In his studies, too, "Brady" has been a success. He has not had the highest average in school but he has been in there fighting them. A well-trained mind and a perfect physique. A man ready for a life of service. Such is our friend "Brady."

WILLIAM FRANCIS BRANNON,  $\Sigma$  II
ATLANTA, GEORGIA

Ceramic Engineering

Beta Pi Kappa; American Ceramic Society.

"BILL"

"Bill" joined us at the beginning of our Junior year after having spent two years at Georgia Tech. Strange to relate he thinks there is some prospect of Georgia Tech becoming as famous an institution of learning as N. C. State.

A hard worker, athletic, a dependable and trustworthy friend, congenial and a good sport makes the combination we have in the person of "Bill" Brannon. His changing colleges does not prevent him from being loyal to N. C. State. He is one of those characters who can play tennis or enthusiastically watch a football game every afternoon and still make good grades on his studies. "Bill" has never been accused of trying to vamp every pretty girl he meets, but it is a known fact that he cherishes fond memories of one certain girl. His ambitions are high and the word "impossible" is not in his vocabulary. To this man all things are probable; and no matter how mysterious it may seem here we have a personality who believes in his strength and ability to solve the mystery.

ROBERT HAL BRIGHT
CLARKTON, NORTH CAROLINA

Vocational Agriculture

Freshman Football; Columbus County Club; Poultry Science Club; Pullen Literary Society; Student Council, 3.

"BOB"

What is someone's loss is another's gain. In '25 Whiteville High School of the ole Tar Heel State lost "Son" to State College. "Son" came here with a determined purpose—to be a vocational agriculture teacher.

He is straightforward, frank and charitable towards the faults of others. He is sociable and witty, and enjoys good fellowship. He is always ready to contribute his share of fun.

"Bob" carries a serious face but he is always ready with a smile when greeting his friends. His seriousness of purpose is shown in his unsatisfiable thirst for knowledge that will fit him for his chosen work. He is as ready to share his knowledge with others as he is to secure it.

His keen mind has realized the responsibilities and duties of a leader and of an agriculture teacher. In all his work here at State he has looked forward and planned for the future.

JOHN A. BROADWELL
SELMA, NORTH CAROLINA

Civil Engineering

Wrestling Manager; Johnston County Club; A. S. C. E.; Pullen Literary Society; Engineer's Council; Freshman Friendship Council; Y. M. C. A. Promotion Force; House of Student Government, 3; Freshman, Sophomore, Junior Inter-Society Debater.

"PALMOLIVE"

When one goes into the world to look for a man to do a job, he looks for one who has plenty of initiative, one in whom trust can be placed at all times, one who is honest and upright and one who will TRY in the face of many odds. We can truly say that all these traits can be found in John. When we analyze John's traits, the question that has been in our minds becomes clear. Why is he so popular on the campus?

We all admire him for his ability to lead the A. S. C. E. and Pullen Literary Society to a successful year. The members of both organizations have utmost confidence that he will lead in the civil engineering world as he led in all other activities in which he has participated. Only one question remains in our minds and one which we are afraid will never be answered. Why is John the weakness of the weaker sex?

EDMOND JOSEPH BROWN
CRUMPLER, NORTH CAROLINA

Education

Pine Burr; Self-Help Club; Freshman Friendship Council; House of Student Government, 3.

Quiet, thoughtful, serious, "Eddie," under all conditions bespeaks the true gentleman. He came to State College as a student in vocational high school teaching, thus, by consensus of opinion, causing the electrical engineering department the loss of a future leader and scientist of real merit.

He is a fellow of rare endowments, and his greatest delight is to solve the most difficult problems, which he does with astonishing ease.

"Eddie" is every inch a man, and a fellow you feel proud to call your friend, but of late he is not giving so much of his time to his friends as he gives to the study of "mountain violets." It seems that during the past two years he has discovered a rare species which has never before been found, and it exists only in his native hills of Western North Carolina. Well, old boy, some day we all have to face the ordeal. So here's to luck in that undertaking.

GEORGE KENNETH BROWN

"JOHN"

The intelligent appearing young man facing you is known as "John" Brown, Montgomery, Pennsylvania, apologetically admits being his home town but also states that they are placing great stock in "John's" vim, vigor and vitality to put them on the map someday.

After three years at the Pennsylvania State Forest School at Mont Alto, where he made a splendid scholastic record, "John" heard the call of the South (not feminine) and so State saw him in his Senior year.

During his past four years as a student (?) "John" has become noted for several characteristics among his colleagues. One of these is the effective way in which he can razz the razzers. His "Abubbub bub" has been like oil on the waters of many an ambitious joker's efforts.

"John" also massages a mean violin when his house-mates grant him permission (which isn't often) and can put up a crack-crjack game of basketball at center.

ROBERT LOCKE BROWNING
MONROE, NORTH CAROLINA

Animal Husbandry

Cross Country Team; Union County Club.

"RAB"

Ho! here's another specimen from Union county. "Rab" is always talking of railroads or going to South Carolina and to one unfamiliar with this long-legged youth it would be hard to tell just where his home is located. Sometimes he breaks loose and begins discussing the value of Lespedeza and then we know he is from Union county.

"Rab" has one great weakness that often caused him nights of worry and restlessness, that is, the "fairer sex." Though he has pulled through to a certain degree he still gives the little village of Belton, S. C., a visit now and then (everytime there is a holiday).

We have always found "Rab" a pal, a friend, and a gentleman, ready to help anyone that needed assistance. He can always be counted on to do well whatever he undertakes, and bids to make a great success in his chosen profession. So here's to you, "Rab," ole pal! We wish for you a happy and successful career and we feel sure that a man of your capacity for accomplishment will make good in anything he undertakes.

"BUCK"

For the last decade or so, we have been reading in college annuals the many and various plaudits of the Seniors, almighty Seniors they seem to be. They have according to the writeups, conquered the world scholastically, fraternally, by leadership, and of course they have always won some fair maiden as their coveted star of light along life's rosy pathway. Seniors' lives, according to the writeups, are always strewn with roses. May that come true.

Not so with this young man. His life has not been strewn with daisies, but he has strewn it himself. His cheerful smile glowing with true mountain atmosphere always greets you. In every worth while activity, you will always find "Buck" about two jumps ahead of the average.

We are indeed grateful to Spruce Pine for giving us (and others) free and untrammelled access to "Buck" during his four years with us (sometimes it looked like mostly others).

Wait a minute folks, you haven't seen anything until you see this embryo teacher, who like everything worth while comes in small packages. A "bull session" would not be complete without the knowledge of this little fellow. The Freshmen, as they go to and from the "Kangaroo courts," hold a tender affection for him.

If he continues to make a "hit" at Faison, like he hit the "bull's-eye" at Camp Perry, Ohio, we are sure all of his troubles will be little ones.

He has not only made good grades, but has also acquired many friends. Bullard has spent his four years here in learning how to more profitably help the farmer in his scientific problems. And the school that gets him for a teacher will have a friend to all, and a pal that can't be beat.

We feel sure that Bullard's life will be a great success, and we, the Class of '30, wish you the best there is.

The gentleman pictured above began his college career at Wofford College in South Carolina but decided in the fall of '26 to leave the land of penny taxes and take his stand at N. C. State.

While here at school, Harold has taken part in all the social events of importance on the campus and has also won for himself an enviable record in his scholastic work.

With his witty and ironical temperament he can make the most serious thoughts appear as a joke, and the hardest lesson appear easy, all of which has won him a host of close friends.

Judging from his work while in college, we are certain that success in life is bound to come, regardless of what may be his chosen field. Our eyes will follow you in the years to come, Harold, and we know you will not disappoint us. In school you have been true to yourself. So, continue it in after-life.

Stop, look, and listen! Is that not a train approaching? Not exactly, just the best known man on the campus arriving on his skate. Let's get acquainted, Archie, from Mooresville, the man who left his legs behind to keep from walking to and from classes is the man.

Too much cannot be said about Archie, for he is known far and wide. What time he was not dodging newspaper reporters and photographers he was either studying or presiding over an impromptu meeting of the "Mooresville Bus Club," in which he held the office of "Little Puke." Archie has done more than gotten by at State; he has made good in everything he has undertaken. Mention accounting, Wall street, or politics, and you have an argument started then and there.

As this State man leaves us, he bears the best wishes of the entire student body. May you ever succeed, Archie, old boy. We may truthfully say that you are the pluckiest boy we have ever seen.

"SLEEPY"

Reveille at Clemson, which means: get up. "Sleepy," one bright February day aired his views about army life to one Colonel Cole. As a result, in the fall of 1928, he was found asleep at N. C. State, where he had heard more and better sleep could be obtained.

Eventually roused from his peaceful slumbers and found to be harmless, he was admitted as an outlaw member to the "Mooresville Bus Club" in 1911 dormitory. That year "Sleepy" studied textiles harder than ever before, but always found time to make friends. In fact, he is the best known man on the campus among the "rats." His philosophy is to give all new men a rousing and lasting impression of life at State College.

Truthfully, he has taken his fun where he found it; he has roamed and raved in his time, but after all, some dame has him "sewed up," and we predict a bigger and brighter future for "Sleepy."

"DOC"

In the fall of 1925 John made his appearance at State College. He chose electrical engineering, and despite the fact that every year was a greater shock he is not yet convinced that it was a bad choice. Just the reverse is true. He has made the grade and the mark he leaves indicates what determination can do.

A friend indeed! Yes, because he is often the friend we need. Not only because he always lends a willing, helping hand, but also because he is a regular fellow. Needless to say, an electrical engineer has trouble. John's troubles were always his own, and his smile was always offered, regardless. If a man's friends are his greatest asset, then John owes much to his sincere good nature.

With all of his likeable qualities we know he will continue to make friends wherever he goes and we wish him success in whatever he undertakes. We feel sure that he will make a good successor of the great Steinmetz.

"BILL"

Well, thou shall see and thy eyes shall be thy judge, but judge not this lad called "Bill" from the above photograph. Neither an artist nor a poet can portray the inward qualities and sturdy characteristics of this lad from Tennessee. As the photographer has failed, so shall I fail in this eulogy of "Bill," for behind the mask that nature did provide lies the many traits that have made him so popular among his classmates.

Beauty is but skin deep, so beneath his "permanent" wave "Bill" has that winning way that has made him so popular among the girls in Raleigh. It is not "IT" but his friendly indifferent nonchalant attitude that attracts all that meet him. With each introduction another link is added to "Bill's" inseparable chain of friends.

May the textile industry awaken and claim this young man and futher develop the traits that are within him. Adieu, "Bill," with the best wishes and cherished memories of your class.

When the others, forgetting for the moment this quest, are neglecting work for play, you will always find this serious young man at work, yet when work permits, he joins the crowd and goes in for a good time. His favorite indoor sport is a "bull session." He would argue with a sign post, and unless the post gave up it would be a draw.

She is witty and clever with the wonderful gift of knowing when to be witty and clever, lovable and sincere, without a trace of affectation. Her magnetic personality makes her attractive to everyone.

Although we never see her with her nose applied closely to the grindstone, she has the famous ability of "meddling through" and generally comes through, at the end, far ahead of slower individuals who do. "JERRY"

Dear reader, kindly cast your eyes on the above countenance and behold, you have before you our most perfect Mexican athlete. He is what is known as a "bull shooter." By some art of providence, "E. V." has convinced his instructors that he is a great student. Some say he has the ancient art of "legging" and others say he has "it." A's and B's are his reward.

Floyd has three weaknesses: women, animals, and freight trains.

We don't know so much about the women. It is said, however, that he sneaks out at night and goes to court some little blond. But we don't hold that against him.

Canine surgery is his greatest asset, and we are expecting him to make great discoveries in this worthy profession.

"E. V." is just a straight-forward good scout who has many friends on and off the campus and they all wish him the very best of success and happiness.

"LITTLE FORNES"

Gaston is a broad-minded, conscientious, clear-thinking chap who never lets pleasure interfere with his work. These qualities, together with his high standing as a scholar, a gentleman, and a leader, have put him in the front rank of our student body.

He is a real man in every sense of the word and he always gets what he goes after. Having to work his way through college has not kept him from winning nearly every honor State has to offer; and one of the secrets of his success lies in the fact that he practices the old adage: work, work, work and never rest, until the good is better and the better best.

His straight forward manner, his relentless search after knowledge, and his ability to achieve, are destined to win for him a name in the mechanical world; and we predict that State College will be proud to call him her own in the years that lie ahead, because we know that he is a great man in the making.

The textile world has been needing something for a long time. Now, folks, here it is! "Casey" has just graduated! You can look forward to a revolution in the cotton industry in the near future. "Casey" knows the cotton mill from the very basement to the most remote portion of the roof. The great problems of the textile industry are as good as solved.

It seems that "Casey's" by-word is leadership. During his college career, he has been a leader in scholastic work, a leader in matters of dress, a leader in the organizations to which he has belonged and a leader in the realms of good fellows—fellows who make the dearest friends. But, folks, we have an exception. In his Senior year at State College a little girl became leader, and now as far as his army is concerned, she is GENERAL!

Don't get the idea that "A. B." spends all of his time studying, because he does not. He mixes athletics and other activities in the right proportion with his college work.

Bertrum, as he is better known around Colerain, is one of our popular men around the young ladies. His pleasing personality surely has won him a place in the eyes of our Raleigh girls. I'm sure it has won for him the hearts of many a girl, judging from the visits his girl friends have made to Raleigh.

There's no use in predicting a great future for you, "A. B.," because we all know you will make a success in the future as you have in the past. Good luck, "old boy," may you reap the joys of life.

Who's this notable character? Everyone knows him. That's "Ed," who hails from the mountainous regions of Carolina where the wildcats growl and the hoot owls hoot; where huckleberries, liquid corn, and grapevines are the main sources of income.

"Ed" has been a good student, but his weakness at State has been the weaker sex. He seems to like them all: blondes, brunettes, and even now and then a "red-head" catches his vision. It seemed that from the weekend trips to Greenville, especially his Junior year, that matrimony would claim him, but some unseeing hand seemed to steer him off the path and cause him to further his research into the field of agriculture.

He has labored long and well; his race is run. "Ed," old pal, you have been an inspiration to us in our darker hours of struggle. We hate to see you leave, but the parting hour is here. Your many friends wish you luck and success in whatever you undertake to do.

Versatility of thought has led man a genius over unvarnished rungs to his success on the ladder of life. Like a genius, John Bowie Gray, III, has made a step of advancement, leaving behind four years of success in college and taking with him a host of invaluable friends.

Time for study; time for a favor; time for love, John Bowie studied hard and loved devoutly. However, John is not what you could exactly call a book worm. Somehow, by "legging" mostly, he has succeeded in arriving at his fourth year.

Happily we shall some day say: A letter a day—she came his way. In a more Southernly state we believe there awaits his devoted and true. With a companion so lovely there will be success.

So well is John equipped for success that a prediction for his field of success would be a mere guess. But in the nearby future a remarkable success will stand out in some field in the person of our John. We can prove this by professor Leager.

"JAKE" "CHARLEY"

All kinds of students come to State, some are an asset, others, well, they come and go and are never missed. "Charlie" is one of those fellows that help make up an ideal college and with his departure there will be cause for grief.

You could look far and near for one that answers the description of "God's gift to women," but in "Charlie" you find the "answer to a maiden's prayer." A good student, active in social work, and an all-round fellow, he is without doubt an ideal college man.

Entering college in the fall of '26, with the ambition to be a banker and handle money, "Charlie" has stuck to that idea through thick and thin and the class of '30 can well be proud to claim a member of that high profession among its ranks of future engineers and farmers.

This future alumnus will long be remembered and we are sure that in later life his alma mater will hear of his success and be proud to say, he graduated here.

In the fall of '26 an eastward wind blew "Griff" from Biltmore onto this campus of higher learning. Immediately he settled down to conquer Doctor Randolph's chemical engineering. He has spent much time in the laboratory, but has never forgotten to go by the post office.

All of "Griff's" time has not been spent studying chemical engineering. He is quite a sheik with the dames, and has given them a part of his time. He may be considered somewhat partial for giving more time to one lass than to all the others. It is whispered, however, that this lady will have all his time before many months.

"Griff" is a frank, congenial lad. He has hosts of friends on and off the campus. His readiness to help others is a trait that is admired by all who come in contact with him. When a helping hand is needed, he is always ready for the occasion.

"BOBBY"

This young man is a mountain breeze from Hickory. He believes in a lot of other things characteristic of the mountains besides breezes. When he arrived in Raleigh he thought he was at Wake Forest, but as the distance was too great to make he decided to remain at State.

He seems to have made a great deal of progress in the chemistry department. It is reported that he has discovered a method to remove fusil oil from roasting-ear wine. If he has done this his future success is assured.

We don't know of any women he chooses to chum with here in Raleigh, so we infer that his regular girl is waiting for him in Hickory. We hope she doesn't have to wait more than ten years.

If "Bobby" can ever decide what he wants to create he may be a success, even though it be in matrimony. We have guessed that he would turn out in everything from a doctor to director of prohibition enforcement and one appears about as logical as the other.

"Larry" has not neglected his studies, however. He is not an honor student, but his grades average well. We don't know whom his favorite teacher is, but we will bet that it is not "T-Foot."

"Larry" plays quite a hand with the women. He hasn't got a girl; he has many girls. We have heard that he has a "regular" in Wilmington.

"DOPEY"

One muddy day in September several years ago, a very dumb looking Freshman was discovered drifting aimlessly around the campus. This ungainly looking piece of humanity confessed that his name was W. W. Hammond. A few days later, Dr. T. P. Harrison found this same Freshman asleep on one of his English classes. Thereupon, Dr. Harrison immediately christened him "Dopey." This name has stuck throughout all of "Dopey's" numerous years at this institution; and now he is known by no other name.

"Dopey" is one of these lads that started in taking Prof. W. H. Browne's electrical engineering. We can say for "Dopey" that which we cannot say for many others, he stuck and is making good. Who knows but what he may make a record Steinmetz or Edison would be proud of, and some day shed immortal glory upon this institution of higher learning.

Yes, this is "Zeke." How can you be certain? Why just perceive that noble brow, that expression of determination, those roguish eyes, and—oh come now—you knew who it was all the time.

"Zeke" hails from Feasterville, Pa., of which Philadelphia is a suburb. The first three years of college saw him at the Pennsylvania State Forest School at Mont Alto—theoretically, actually he spent the major part of this period between the town of Waynesboro and school. In his spare moments he made the varsity basketball squad, baseball team, and his class football team who were champs of the school. "Zeke" was no slouch in his studies either, ranking as he does well up in his class. How did he manage all this? Zounds man, said I not—"he hath a noble brow?"

Laying all joking on the shelf though, we know that whoever "Zeke" works for will get a man who is and always has been in dead earnest in his life's work.

"A. B." hails from Washington, N. C., although he is not to blame for that. He registered in architecture; he is to blame for that. As an architect, however, he should rank among the best and we are looking forward to his success.

There is a certain little "Hat" of whom he likes to chat. Perhaps this accounts for his unusual liking for designing homes.

Taking part in many activities, "A. B." has made himself recognized as a leader in these affairs. The least that may be said of "Abie" is that if he applies himself in after-life as he has at State College, he is certain to gain a large measure of success.

Many people call him "Governor" but the writer prefers to call him "Buddy" because he has been a real buddy. Hardison has been a buddy to State College too, because he is always trying to help the other fellow, making it a little easier and more pleasant for him. This stalwart son of State finds pleasure in doing another a good turn, often going out of his way to do it. But after all, that is the best way to get satisfaction out of life.

Every man has a weakness and "Governor" has two: pretty girls and bow ties—he is likely to get all tied up sometime because of such a combination.

A wish to you: Succeed in serving the business world with good qualities and humanitarian principles as you have at N. C. State, and you will find or retain something that is priceless—happiness.

For four long years he has battled in Dean Brown's School of Science and Business, and his records show some very creditable results from his encounters with the various subjects in that department.

Robert attended Clemson a year before he found that there were better colleges; then he turned to N. C. State. We don't think he shed any tears after making the change, although some of the fair maidens around Calhoun, S. C., may have done so.

Robert has a very likeable personality, and he leaves here with a host of friends of both sexes mourning their loss.

"SMOKEY JOE"

Probably the most easy going, congenial and dry-witted boy to be found on State College campus is this young man you see above. Shortly after his arrival here at school, "Joe" received the nickname of "Smokey," because of his dashing chivalry among the ladies.

Aside from sleeping there is just one thing "Joe" likes better, and that is still more sleep. However, when there was work to be done, "Joe" would sleep some more.

"Smokey" is one of those rare combinations: A man who neither studies too much or too little, and withal a perfect gentleman. "Smokey" diverts his excess energy to the village fire department of Oriental, N. C. And we predict a sparkling future for him.

Our champion "figurer"—he has the distinction of being the only student to complete the course in electrical engineering without the use of a slide-rule. The opinion that the "guess-rod" is a misplacer of decimal points and credit points has caused him to stand by the old long-hand method of solutions, but "Kenny" handles his figures with such rapidity that his answer is ready by the time the slide is set and read.

We can imagine we see a tall, stately figure, clad in the brilliant uniform of a drum major stepping high and strutting as proudly as a peacock, and rightly so, for he is always followed by the best band in the South. That is enough to make anyone strut.

As a glee club member, "Lon" has been an outstanding leader as first tenor, and his place in the club is one that will be very difficult to fill. A quartette member for two years, he has sung his way into the hearts of his fellow comrades. Even as many college boys do, so does he—meaning his collegiate red Ford may be seen around the campus. In associating with the textiles, "Charlie" acquired a color complex; and now, here's where the plot thickens. This very same complex proved his undoing—he became possessed of the idea of looking at the world through rose-colored glasses!

He thought about it nights and worried much. He knew not what to do. But wait—he had an idea! The word "glasses" gave the clue to the whole situation. His reasoning was, if not glasses, why not a transit? So he promptly changed to civil and lived happily ever after.

"PEE WEE"

The above picture is inadequate to give a just description of "F. J.," universally known as "Pee Wee," the latter for significance. "Pee Wee" is known as the original ultra-modern collegian at State, this quality being shown by his conduct and style.

As for his hobbies, he has no special one but a composition; playing peep, playing porpoise, and delivering daily his usual never-ending, yet spell-binding speech before the fireplace. This last hobby, by the way, has been declared void unanimously by everyone who has had the opportunity of being a witness.

Disregarding all grudges and favors, if the opinion of all the students could be one and the expressions be mathematical plusses and minuses—then I would venture to say that "Pee Wee" would have an over abundance of plusses to spend in his posterity.

"Blub" never has a care—he's one of those happy-go-lucky chaps who just lets the world slide. But, you can always see him writing that daily letter to Cuba—that, and only that is important to him, and when it comes to "bull sessions"—well, he presides over them, and arguments! we just can't understand why he didn't take up low.

His main accomplishment is his mastering of the banjo-mandolin. He has broadcast many times, much to our sorrow, for his practicing is monotonous. We can do no more than wish for him that his merit will earn its just reward, that will be enough.

Harry E. Howard alias "Hob." is another former Pennsylvania State Forest School boy whose home is in Hummelstown near where Mr. Hershey produces "sweets for the sweet." Maybe that accounts for "Hob's" swell disposition. If you ever meet a more sunny, jovial, and even-tempered fellow, we won't believe you. "Hob" is far famed for his "smile." If from a crowd of students you suddenly hear a hearty and contagious laugh using far and wide above the others, then you'll know that Harry is "smiling."

Another notable thing about him is the fact that he holds the long distance sleeping record of the forest school—far outdistancing all of his would be opponents. His favorite saying being, "Oh H—I, it isn't time to get up for class already, is it?"

Cupid has taken a hard fall out of "Hob"—in fact, throwing him for the score of one engagement. However, outside of that he is perfectly sane and with his love of the woods and natural aptitude for forestry we predict just heaps of success and happiness for him in the future.

D. E. Jones, better known as "Doc," entered State in the fall of 1926 with a determination to make honors and friends with his fellow students. He has carried out his determination and made good. "Doc" has been active in all the phases of student activity and is a leader. Throughout the four years Jones has been an energetic student. He has always been loyal to his school and profession. Even in "Goat's" problem period he has attacked the problems with a determination to solve them.

"D. E." has made the wrestling team for four consecutive years. Every leisure moment that came his way was spent in training.

"Doc," 'ole boy, we know you will make good in your profession out in the world. Men like you do not fail. In the class of '30 you will always have friends. May success follow you through all the problems of life.

"JAKIE"

The above pictured lad flits about so much that it has proven quite difficult to find out about him anything worth writing. He flits to class occasionally and on week-ends flits home. So you see, he is quite a flitter.

The one thing that "Jakie" has done during his four years here was to make Gus Tebell a good end for the Wolfpack. His Sophomore year he was rated as one of the best ends in the South. The Wolfpack will certainly miss this lad.

"Jakie" came to State College with an idea that he would like to be an engineer. However, he found out that mathematics was not so easy and the professors were strict, so he decided to change over to industrial management. In that field he has been fairly successful. His grades have not been the highest in the department, but he has stayed with them.

Well, here's luck. May you soon join the benedicts and may you have a whole flock of kids to call you "Dad." We feel sure that you will meet with success in whatever line you decide to enter, unless it's teaching chemistry. We don't feel that you could do that.

"ONE LUNG"

"One Lung," as he is called, but not as he is known because we all think he has more than the allotted number of lungs, first matriculated at Duke University but after spending two years at the Bull City institution decided that it took more than "millions" to make a good engineering school.

He entered State in the fall of 1926 with the intention of winning all of Beaux Art's money but after many unsuccessful attempts to duplicate the works of Paulson he decided to follow the trade of Charlie Parks. He entered the department of mechanical engineering with a determination to make good and that is what he has very nobly accomplished.

Now speaking of "One Lung's" military career, it is more than superfluous. He has attended two national rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, and has won much recognition as a rifle expert. He was chosen as one of the President's One Hundred best shots on his visit to the National Matches this past summer.

"J. B." as Julian is better known, entered State in 1925 and started in civil engineering. This he was exposed to for two years then the Florida boom called and "J. B." heard and left for the Sunny South to seek his fortune. For a year he struggled, then seeing that the price of bricks was rising steadily he hied back and registered in ceramics. Well, the Florida boom busted, but "J. B." was constant and stuck to State.

I think a young lady had lots to do with it. "J. B." has been one of Professor Greaves-Walker's best students. He didn't make Pine Burr but that doesn't keep him from ranking as one of the brightest prospects the ceramic department has had.

Now "J. B." is to be graduated and we know that this straight-forward young man will go out and be a success in the world and a credit to N. C. State.

By "legging" in the zoology department he has managed to obtain a position where he could be "legged" in turn. He was a familiar figure around the campus chasing bugs and snakes. Of course, wherever he went would also go his trusty photographic outfit; for besides obtaining high grades he still found time to photograph most everything that could in any way be used as the subject for a picture. Or else he could be found in Johnny Miller's natatorium reverting to the aquatic state for his exercise.

State was indeed fortunate in persuading this young man to continue his studies after Wofford had ceremoniously bestowed an "A.B." upon his worthy crown. "Jake," as he is known to us is the nucleus of congeniality for no one ever conversed with him who did not admire him for his gentlemanly conduct, impartiality, and good-naturedness. These good qualities have resulted in his getting hundreds of friends at this college and state.

Despite "Jake's" strength and ability, he has been branded a nocturnal being, due to his overwhelmingly fancy for Morpheus. May we hope that he will outgrow this collegiate habit before school terminates.

If success is the ultimate reward, "Jake" is sufficiently qualified for he is the "pride of mothers, hope of fathers, envy of classmates, goal of engineers, and the wish of every young girl." "Jake," may you be responsible for the touchdown at the goal of success.

It is reported that he has a "regular" down the street. This we cannot prove. One thing is certain, however, he has a lot of lady friends.

"Hop" did not take school any too serious until the latter part of last year, then he set a goal that was to finish with the class of '30. "Hop," success is yours in the industrial world.

Here is a secret: "I. S." went down to Professor Satterfield's for dinner. The professor served "chink" food, which contained pork. "I. S." liked the food and didn't taste the pork.

"Doc" never showed his athletic ability at State but it is said that he can circle a track at record-breaking speed. Nevertheless, Duncan has serious moments. His ability as a student and his fine qualities of character are well-known among his fellow students.

He may not make a million when he gets out into the textile world, but he will enjoy doing his duty, and living, no matter where he goes, enough to make up for all lack of wealth. When we say P. of B. (Pride of Baltimore) we do not mean the five-cent cigar that "Doc" Morris affably flips across the counter, but rather Johns Hopkins contribution to "T-foot" Nelson's textile school.

LeRoy divides his time between aiding Frank Capps dispense knowledge in the library and trying to keep "Sleepy" Caughman awake in class, not to mention the times one sees him in Woolworth's, copying dress patterns for "Windy's approval." What the future holds in store for him is hard to say. He may spend his life in Marion quelling strikes, or even go so far as to start a textile school of his own.

A textile man's life is not worth much these days. In fact, "Jack's" rate of insurance is so high that he even ventures into the apple orchard. He claims no kinship to Jack London. He is in no way connected with the bogs of London and contests the theory that gentlemen prefer blondes.

In Robeson county there nestles the small town of Maxton. There, in the heart of the Scotch country is the home of our boy friend, "Mack." His quest for the golden lamp, knowledge, led his youthful footsteps to that great citadel of Presbyterian learning, Davidson. There he saw the world as our great hopeless, heterogeneous mass of blundering ignorant humanity. It was there he received his call to the high and mighty profession of school teaching. State became the apple of his education-hungry eye, for he saw in State the opportunity to train himself for the profession, a la instruction.

More than this, dear reader, his social life here is one that is packed with affairs of the heart. The story going around is that for the darts of Dan Cupid he wears a steel corset. Many, many times have lovely maidens been left with tear-dimmed eyes as this ruthless Romeo, spurning all their charming pleas, left them for no other reason than for a change of scenery.

It wouldn't be giving justice to call "Johnny" a ladies' man for he is equally popular with the men, but that doesn't explain where he goes when he leaves Raleigh on week-ends. It is going to be a hard decision as to whether or not "Johnny" will be an alumnus of State, even when he finishes here. "MONK"

"Monk" came to N. C. State after a successful prep school career at St. John's Military Academy, Delafield, Wisconsin, and after he had attended the University of Illinois. Thus, when he entered he had acquired habits of study and living which have resulted in his career at State, being above reproach in every respect. "Monk's" classroom work has won for him high honors in scholarship, for he has been a hard worker in order to prepare himself for a successful examination and to excel in his chosen profession. But amid all the plodding diligence in his studious college life he has not forgotten the fair sex "back home."

An honor student, a congenial fellow and a true friend, he carries with him upon his departure from the state the esteem and friendship of his classmates.

"CHARLIE"

It would take a literary genius, a good biographer like Emil Ludwig to really do justice in portraying "Charlie" as we have known him these four years. This would be an extraordinary biography, but he is an extraordinary fellow.

The boys all say you can see his smile coming around the corner two minutes before you see him, but to know "Charlie" is to know that he has his serious moments.

The old adage states that all work and no play go for making a dull boy. However, it has been the envy of most of us to know how "Charlie" has mixed his work and play to gain the results he has. A good student, an excellent mixer, and a true friend.

Constructional engineering is very hazardous, so when you see "Charlie" up on a scaffold don't call to him, for he might lose his balance and this write-up will have been in vain.

Agricultural Economics

"MITCH"

"Sam" was not satisfied with the way folks have been farming in the past. He realized that this was our basic industry and believed that it could be carried on in a far more economical way. As a first step in proving what he believed to be true he severed home ties and journeyed off to college.

Now, after four years of patient study and observation of the subjects and specimens in Professor Foster's agricultural economics, he is ready to step forth and prove to the skeptics that his theory will work.

"Sam's" nature lends itself to friendship and has won for him many friends during his sojourn on our campus. With his sincere and willing attitude of helpfulness towards every one, it is only natural that his friends should be countless.

We are sorry to part with him, but know that when he is out in the world he will bring honor to our school and we all join in wishing him luck in all that he undertakes.

"MIZELLE"

This handsome young man came to State College from the Roanoke river section of Bertie county. From the first day of his arrival at this institution his development has been continuous, both mentally and morally.

He is a self-help student. For the first three years in college he earned more than one-half of his college expenses. During his Senior year he began to take life easy, taking part in more social life and at the same time taking part in other activities.

Mizelle has two weaknesses, one is girls, with whom he has won no little admiration in Raleigh. He is a gentleman, a scholar, and a judge of human nature; in short, an all-round good fellow. He is true to his friends, loyal, and honest with the whole world.

With Mizell's ability to achieve and character we are sure that he will make good in the business field, and in parting we wish him all the success that the world can give.

Four years ago the pride of the city of Tryon packed up the glad rags and set sail for that "much looked forward to" place called college. "Mutt" has had a wonderful time here these four years, heaping honors upon himself in his studies, and athletics (oh! yes, it took Gus 4 years to find out he was out for the team, then didn't he give those tackles h—!?). I'll say he did. "Mutt" is also a great help to "Doc" on his track team: being no slow-poke at all.

Women? But that is another question. "Mutt" is never seen rushing about the campus or town, but at times he may be seen wearing a frown, and later a smile. Putting the two together what do you have? Anyway he makes several trips to the "P.O." each day.

"Mutt" was not a Pine Burr man but neither was Lindbergh. He is a good student nevertheless, and it was a lucky day for the business world when he registered in Dean Brown's school.

His sparkling wit has been the source of many a laugh to his friends but we also believe that he has used it to a very good advantage in his highly developed art of "legging." In his studies "P. D." has been successful, too. He does not usually lead his class, but his persistency makes him a good student, nevertheless.

One of his outstanding traits is his ability to make and keep friends. However, this ability hasn't been confined to one sex, as his art gallery will testify. But he's not really fickle—just one of those humans that love variety in everything.

"CASEY"

"Casey," as he is known to his friends at State College, has, during his stay here, established himself in the hearts of us all. His friendly disposition and personality makes his friendship a decided asset to every one.

"Casey," thinking that he had attained all that was possible, was out of school during the session of '27-'28. After one year's work in business, he decided that the football team needed him another year. He came back in the fall of '28 and played on the '28 Wolfpack, but thinking that seeking an education was a greater asset than football, he declined to play on the '29 team. In his scholastic work he finds himself very much adapted to Mr. Leager's statistics, and we hope he will be a very successful statistician.

It would be unjust to "Casey" not to say something about his social standing. He has many friends of the fairer sex in Raleigh and gives them very much of his attention, especially the co-eds.

"Susie" spent or invested (vote for one) the first three years of his college career at the "Pennsylvania State Forest School," located at the base of the South Mountains of Pennsylvania near Waynesboro. Early in his school life there he showed quite an attitude for his studies that resulted in his gaining a scholarship for his Junior year. Many of the best characteristics of man go unpraised while the worst are known by all the world, but this is not the case with "Tom." His good points are so great and many that it is practically impossible to see any faults that he might have. With his winning personality "Tom" has made a great number of friends at State and has many in the city of Raleigh.

In "Tom" we find a good student, who has started on the road to success and which we all hope will be on the top when he comes to the end of the road.

"Tom" is the kind of a man that attracts the eyes of the females, but as far as that goes, I think his heart was already captured before he came to State. You can very well see that "Tom" is not of the darting, dashing, illuminating type.

"Variety is the spice of life," but there are exceptions to all rules and this Iredell county chap happens to be the exception. He has a girl—not many girls.

"Ken," old man, you were an honor student at this institution and I am sure you will win even greater honors after leaving your alma mater. If, after graduation, you go to South America, as you contemplate doing, may good health, success and happiness go with you.

"Nick" has much natural talent for things electrical. He has developed into one of Professor William Hand Browne's best students. There are few students who have derived as much from a course as "Nick."

This lad has other qualities, too. He has taken an active part in outside activities, particularly the Y. M. C. A. and his vocational club. "Nick's" dependability has made him a valuable man when something had to be done.

It is reported that he has a girl. "Nick" is a little bashful along these lines, but we wouldn't be surprised to hear of his marrying in the near future.

You can always find him at the broadcasting station or playing in some orchestra. Maybe these traits are his "it" for the opposite sex and why he is so "social."

Carroll seems to let life take its course, worrying about nothing (except his girl)—not even when he's given a dirty crack in a "bull session."

Carroll's taste for sarcasm and ability gives him a personality that is a valuable asset to any college graduate—maybe he's acquired this "knowing-of-the-world" on his numerous trips to New York and Washington, for every one knows traveling is a form of education.

In "Bill" we have a man of many potentialities. He went out for track his Freshman year, not knowing what he wanted to do or could do. But his long legs soon proclaimed him a runner, and a runner he is—and how. "Bill's" rise in the track world is shown by the fact that he was joint track captain and one of the crack "four-forty" men in the State in his Senior year. "Bill" is as fine a student as he is an athlete. Take a look at his watch chain, and you will see dangling there the emblems and symbols of honorary societies. He is not handsome, but he is rather good looking, and he has a way with the "femmes." But he does not focus his attention on any one girl in particular; he gives them all a break.

You have our best wishes, "Bill," may your destiny be a rosy one. If you apply the same principles in after life that you have applied at State College, success is sure to be yours.

He came here with practically no financial aid, but by the application of unusual perseverance has shown himself capable of overcoming some of life's worst handicaps.

Somehow it is hard to tell much about his "weakness," except that he is very attentive on keeping up with mail delivery each day.

State is expecting a dependable alumnus of this fellow, and long before the bended figure of father time slowly swings his glittering scythe it will be said of this man: "Thou hast made good."

He has consumed a great deal of "midnight oil" in order that he might arrive at the goal that he has reached.

"Joe" is not loquacious, nor is he ubiquitous. His usual hanging-out place is his room, and in this he is a past master in the art of hospitality.

"Joe" is sure to accomplish those things in life that can be accomplished through the application of a principle to real, every-day human life. "Joe's" praises could be continued, but it is sufficient to say, "Here is a man—we wish him luck."

In spite of all efforts on the part of amateur social reformers he has remained the same ole "Buck."

"Shean" is interested in the opposite sex. We know this as hardly a week goes by without him having several dates. We easily see why he is so popular. His good character and winning personality would be hard for any one to repulse, let alone that species of homo-sapiens, the female.

"Shean" has been a hard working student, one who never gives up, no matter how difficult the problem may be. "Shean" will reap a big reward in the marketing field some day as the result of his earnest effort.

As the dates of our Senior year pass we wonder what we will do after we separate. It will be hard for us to part with "Shean" as he has been a true friend and a wonderful companion to us. When the fight was over, the coach told him he should come out for wrestling. Since that time he has been a permanent fixture in all organized and unorganized fighting within several miles of him.

The Scotch are supposed to be tight, but "J. E." is always free with his words when in an argument, and if you want to know if he has learned anything at college you should hear some of his many syllabled words.

"By their fruit ye shall know them." and "J. E." has always known what trees in the college orchard have the best apples.

"T. O." has a smile that not only spreads all over his own face but radiates to all those in sight.

Armed with it he has been able to make many young hearts flutter spasmodically, even though there was no silvery moon overhead, and there might have been the clatter of a movie picture machine interfering.

It would be a pleasure for us to enumerate the abilities "T. O." has shown while here, but our space is limited, and we can only say that we hate to part company with such a man as "T. "JERRY"

There are many persons in North Carolina but in the eyes of N. C. State, Geraldine is the only one real person. Her coming to Raleigh to complete her work this year at State is rather logical, as she spent two years at Peace and acquired a love for Raleigh and N. C. State which could be fulfilled only by the possession of an N. C. State diploma.

Geraldine is a conscientious worker and has a keen appreciation of real college standards. Having taught school a year or so she is able to avail herself of some of the short cuts to educational proficiency. She believes, too, in the old idea of a well-balanced curriculum, social as well as mental development, and she demonstrates her breadth of mind and versatility in being able to have friends among both faculty and students, in solving physics problems and in yet having time for spending mysterious week-ends away from Raleigh. As the first president of women students she has shown positive leadership and has justified her election to that office.

When June brings to us the closing days of our college careers, there will be going into the electrical field a man that State College is justly proud. "Pick," as we know him, is a man that has gone through college with a smile and cheery word for everyone everywhere. He has accomplished something that very few men at college has ever tried, and that is to take care of his wife and child and pay his own expenses.

"Pick" has gone through the four years of R. O. T. C., being battalion adjutant of the first battalion in his Senior year. Besides being a good drill master, he is a sharp-shooter with both the rifle and pistol.

When "Pick" gets out into the electrical field (which is very magnetic) all the chief engineers of G. E. and Westinghouse had better throw away their cigar butts and take their feet off the table or "Pick" will have their jobs. "Pick" will always be successful because he is built that way.

His originality is a product not of shallow thinking and observations but of thought from the mind of a well-read man. His claim is that malnutrition of the reading faculty is a dangerous thing and evidently he practices that which he preaches.

He lived not only in papers and books for he knew the value of a pal and was ever the pal that could be valued. If sterling worth and personality have not recently suffered a discount, "Ted" is destined for a life of success and life friendships.

What more can we say of any man, that he has no enemies, for to know him is to be his everlasting friend.

We do not know just how Earl has progressed with the fair sex but we believe he has taken several courses in "social science," although these were by correspondence.

He is a kind of fellow that puts his whole heart into his work. To give up anything before it is finished is not his style. To say the least, his four years at State College have been well spent. We hope he has convinced Professor Browne that he understands why a motor motes, a transformer transforms, and a hysteresis loops the loop.

ERNEST HUGH PROCTOR

Civil and Highway Engineering

Tau Beta Pi; American Society of Civil Engineers; Theta Tau; Phi Kappa Phi.

"PROCK"

Ernest, as he is known, except at State College, is a great gift that Rocky Mount slipped into State College in the fall of 1926. This gift has proven to be outstanding, as his record on the campus as a student and scholar will be hard to equal.

With the departure of this young man, State College will have a gap in its ranks that will be no easy job to fill.

As an engineer, we are predicting great things of Ernest. No problems are too hard or no situation too complicated for his ability to overcome.

"Prock" is not one of these fellows that believes in all work and no play. By the numerous letters that he receives, we can easily see why he makes so many week-end trips down home. We feel sure that some fair damsel is keeping close watch over him. "Prock," all of your friends are wishing you success in your life's work.

"SAM"

"Sam" started to college with a handicap. He was from South Carolina. By dint of many smiles and a pleasing personality, he has managed to live this down.

He believes in the fact that college life should not consist entirely of books, and as a result he has done more than study, according to reports, he has gotten in some good courting in the last four years, and notwithstanding this fact, he has done well in his work.

When "Sam" leaves State College, the textile industry is going to get a good man who knows something about it, and the school is going to lose a well-liked and popular man.

If he meets the bumps in life with the same smiles and grins he has displayed during his campus days, he will go far in the business world. There is only one force that is going to make it hard for "Sam" to leave Raleigh, and that force is a mighty cute little girl. Our solution: Take her with you.

"RAILROAD"

Here's "Railroad," who hails from Tomahawk, North Carolina. A good representative they sent us, indeed. Upon entering college his intentions were to be a teacher of agriculture.

This jolly young fellow, with a friendly smile for everyone, has won many friends. His motto is to feed the boys well at his tables in the "bull hall" and help everyone forget his troubles.

He is a hard worker. It is a rare thing for him to be seen idle. When not studying, he is found working, making his way through college.

Many think that he does not care to be bothered with girls, but just wait until he gets more time and you will see that he is a real ladies' man. A picture of a good-looking girl in his room has often centered the interest of his visiting friends and we often wonder who it is he spends so much time composing letters to and who all those letters he gets come from? He is such a quiet young man that his secrets are not broadcast.

To those of you who look upon the above portrait in awe and bewilderment, and wonder as to what it is, let me tell you: It is not that of a landscape nor a reproduction of the early type of pithecanthropus erectus, but that of "Jimmie" Richardson, the lad that came to us from Piedmont, S. C., in the fall of '26. The students and faculty gazed in astonishment and wondered if State could make out of this lad what South Carolina failed to do.

After several alterations State has turned out a product that has boosted higher education. Not content with a B.S. degree, "Jimmie" is now planning to enter the ivory extracting field as a dentist. If his success continues as it has here, in the year 1935 we expect to find a toothless generation subsisting on a liquid diet.

Association is one of the greatest things in college, and "Jimmie," we will cherish more dearly as time goes on the hours spent with you.

We were lucky to catch him with this longing look on his face. This expression is reserved for the times when he is thinking of Forest Road.

"Mack," old friend, we all hope and rightfully expect you to be a credit to your college in any work you may undertake. Just be as regular and dependable as you have been during your stay here and we will all be proud to be members of the same alumni as you.

When State College loses "Pete" Roberts it will have lost one of its most versatile and interesting characters. He came here four years ago and now leaves, carrying with him most every honor one can acquire.

One of the outstanding characteristics of "Pete" is his ability to get things done, and done in the proper manner. The 1930 AGROMECK is a monument to his managerial and creative abilities.

Although "Pete" is fundamentally a high honor student and a man with many campus responsibilities, he has not lost the art of enjoying life and making friends. His closest friends range from the humblest student to the most dignified professor.

"BILL"

It would be unfortunate for "Bill" to be written up by someone who did not know him intimately; because he possesses certain qualities that are in the spotlight only when in close contact with him as a friend.

Uncle Sam has often been inconvenienced for the past three years in delivering the "Kinston Dispatch," edited by a certain little blonde. The issue of this journalistic accomplishment will no doubt cease with the coming of graduation because its only subscriber can then hear the sound of the editor's voice.

It would be unfair to say nothing of "Bill's" scholastic accomplishments. Although he is not a book worm, Bill has proven himself to be a good student, and has doubtless gathered much from his Marketing course.

Understanding "Bill" as a student and a friend, we predict and expect a future student with accomplishments, in the field of business, and a larger host of friends to enjoy his personality.

So the next year we found "Rod" down here in the South, at N. C. State, joining "Doc" Randolph's chemical engineering gang.

"Rod" is one of our "regulars" and the kind of a chap that we all like; and the more you know him, the better you like him. Not only has he made many friends here at State, but also among the girls in Raleigh for he is a regular demon among the fair sex.

If you are as loyal a servant in the engineering field as you have been in the chemical engineering department, we are sure you will succeed in life.

"Still waters run deep." Now don't misconstrue this. We don't find Albert at the depths, but quite to the contrary. A cold, cold scientist, adhering only to the strictest and most cogent forms of aristotelian logic, and sometimes to that wily source of information from fair daughters of Eve, called intuition. Of course love cannot come to the scientist, but why a flying trip to Southern Pines, a certain eagerness and lightness of step as he approaches the "P. O." box?

No doubt Albert will some day become Southern Pines' first citizen and take his place among the other celebrities. He cannot miss it. A never-waning, ever-pleasing smile, a keen sense of humor, and an air of dependability is his. Your Alma Mater expects great things of you—but don't try to revise the physical chemistry text book. Why not try to do something easy, like unscramble a scrambled egg?

He journeyed up to State to have a fling at acquiring an education. His departure broke many hearts and even till today he is still writing letters of consolation.

Wine, women and song have been the undoing of many a good man. Kittrell is not immune but his wonderful ability at "tripping the light fantastic," which he must have obtained from his Virginia associations, has delayed his defeat. But judging from the number of birthday presents he received and his enormous art gallery, it is bound to be a losing fight against such an opposition.

His pleasing personality makes him one of the most amiable and diverting comrades who ever helped to make N. C. State more interesting.

We pay "G. K." the highest compliment possible when we say that he is a true southern gentleman.

"Shack" seems to think that he is a musician; perhaps he is right. Right or wrong, he has been tooting a horn, in the midst of the band and orchestra as long as he has been here.

"Shack" started his scholastic career as a student in the Engineering Department; poor misled youth, he changed to Industrial Management his fourth year.

The enterprising young musician has wandered about the Ole North State with the orchestra for four years. From the appearance of the art gallery upon his desk one is led to believe that these trips have not been of a purely musical nature.

From Catawba College to State is quite a mark of progress, but then progress is Harry's way. He has mastered the cunning and wily ways of textiles and is now ready to face the world, a better and stronger man.

Stolidity is the word that describes this potential textile magnate best. Those who have slung bobbins under Dean Nelson's careful tutelage know that Harry can be depended upon, and that, together with his distinctive haircut, is certain to make him go far.

Of his future we do not have the slightest question, in fact he has been asked already to contribute to the new stadium which will have woodpecker-proof stands and an endowment to the dining hall to put prizes in the bag suppers every Sunday. The school does not bid good-bye, Harry, it says so long, and remember, once a State man, always a State man.

It is reported that Harry is about to embark upon the sea of matrimony. Our advise in this case would be: Remember that two cannot live as cheaply as one; no matter who said they could.

If you ask "Sandy" where he is from, he will tell you Winston-Salem, but he can't fool us. He is from Boonville, North Carolina, a town about forty miles north of Winston-Salem.

"Sandy" came to N. C. State apparently unknown, but by his great amount of "bull," and charming ways he soon had his name in the hall of fame in the house of popularity. Someone said: "I'll bet that he is a good athlete. He is big and ugly enough to be something." He is our baseball captain. We remember, "Sandy," how you sat Furman down in '28 with no hits and no runs. You pitched like the great "Sandy" Shore of the National League that day. Reece never has been at the head of the class scholastically, but he is considered a good student, despite the fact that he holds the college record for simultaneous zeros, having acquired an even hundred on one of Dean Nelson's classes.

Due to his cheerful manner and quiet dependability, Reece has plenty of friends at State College and elsewhere. He works hard, plays hard, and has accomplished much.

We feel that, with his natural energy and ability to put over a thing when once begun, Wesley will be a great success in his textile work. That is if he displays the same speed as he does with the fairer sex.

The old saying about leaving other people's business alone, applies to him. He does that very thing, but at any time will gladly give his help.

Although Simkins is not the highest ranking man in the class he is one that may be depended on to finish anything that he starts.

"ABIE" "A. B."

"College men!" Take one look at "Abie" and see from what source that expression originated. "College" in every way, we find him in trouble constantly. What's the answer? One word will solve it all. WOMEN! His charming smile and ready wit is one of his attributes that can't be helped. A pal in every way, makes him a regular fellow.

But to turn to his more serious nature. Under "Lillian Lee," "Abie" has learned why a motor "motes" and why a power plant gets all steamed up over nothing in particular. But we can't forget his old "Joanne," that rattling, banging motor of pre-war days. At least he can say he "learned about women from her."

In "Abie" we have the finer qualities of "college men" all rolled in one. His slogan might well be, "watch my speed." And doubtless we shall see "Abie" speeding along the highway of success—and probably in old "Joanne."

This handsome, dreamy-eyed, well-liked, well-behaved, joking man hails from Greensboro, North Carolina, where many of the fairer sex are in school. Maybe this is the reason why Fred always gets 'em (the fairer sex) for he always has one on his mind—and no one knows who, for he plays the part of the lone wolf.

Fred is also a business man as well as a social elite, for he knows his "business ethics." When he undertakes to do anything you'd better look out or Fred will put his aim across (ask the Pan-Hellenic council), for he has a stubborn air that makes you look up at him. Fred's place at State College can never be filled for there will never be another Fred Singletary.

Generally brooks will become muddy as they wind their way to larger things. Not so with "Sing," as he has woven his way into the hearts of the boys at State, he has kept that mind as serene as the noon-day sun.

You probably have noticed that the above lad does not have as long a pedigree of so-called honors as some others, but may I ask you if they are the essentials of success? He is a great character, and State College will miss him when he leaves. Luck to you, "Sing."

"Bob" has succeeded pretty well in convincing "T-Foot" that he would be a credit to his textile school when he graduated. At any rate the latest dope has it that he will be able to graduate.

"Bob" spends some of his time in crooning to a certain little girl. We don't know whether or not she is musically inclined, but that she likes his line is sure.

We are afraid to predict "Bob's" future. He might end up tooting in somebody's band; yet again, he might get connected with a bunch of textile agitators and help turn things upside down. Anyway, lets all hope for the very best that is possible.

We think he got his first ideas of wrestling from handling calves and pigs, and of cross country from chasing rabbits back on the farm.

Canada seems to be very alluring to Stovall, as he has spent two summers there. We are inclined to believe that it is either because the girls have no objections to sitting on his knee, or that beer is more popular than water.

Now that Stovall is about to leave us the world is getting one of the best trained men that State College has produced in a long time, and we are sure that "J. P." will make the most of that great ability he has demonstrated here.

And in that connection, let's not forget N. C. C. W. We have never been able to figure out whether his trips there were missionary, fraternal, or in the judging field. At any rate the young ladies there have shown good judging ability in asking him to visit them. But women are the least of his worries.

"DEACON"

"Parson" needs no introduction. He has never seen a stranger in his life. His friendly smile and quick wit wins and holds for him a place in the hearts of all with whom he meets.

"Deacon" has his own way of getting things across; he does it by the art of salesmanship, having followed this artifice for three summers as a means of helping himself through school. This business has taken him practically all over eastern United States, and "Deacon" has made friends as well as cash everywhere he has gone. Especially is this true of the fair sex, judging from the unusual amount of mail he receives from these places, and the way he goes back.

This alumnus has chosen the field of vocational agriculture as a means of aiding his fellow man, and because of his stickability, ambitious nature, and ability to make friends, we feel that we are justified in saying, "Here is a man that you can count on."

"J. H."

Jack was truly named right, he is as "just" as one could be, ambitious as men are made, conscientious as the best of men, and chock full of knowledge.

Jack wandered into Raleigh four years ago from the great metropolis, Mackeys, North Carolina (believe it or not, there is such a place). He registered "straight ag" but soon took such a liking to our old red clay that he graduated in "soils."

Jack has really applied himself to those things that he has tried to do and therefore they have all been done.

Jack's hobby has been track. He really can get over the old hurdles for State.

Like most State men, Jack took a roamless little trip to "Uncle Charlie's Cabin" and before he could get back he had lost his heart. To tell you the truth, it's still out in Forest Hill. Good luck to you always, Jack.

G. M. Swicegood, better known as "Yodeling Sam," came to see us in the fall of '27, after having spent one year at Lenoir Rhyne. Someone told him that he had a big line and could use it best with high school boys, so Glenn joined Professor Cook's course for "Ag" teachers.

Not only has Glenn been successful in winning hearts among his fellow students, but it also looks like some of the fair sex have been victims, too. Many times late at night, he could be seen winding his weary way from a far corner of Raleigh to home and bed.

Glenn, ole pal, we are sure that your life will be one of success. If you display the same sincere qualities in after life that you have demonstrated here you are sure to land on top.

"FAT"

When Everette leaves N. C. State College the business world is going to get a mighty good man. His lofty ideals, his boundless enthusiasm, and his efficiency as a student will take him high on the ladder of success in the business world.

Everette can have more fun in a minute than a monkey can have on a hundred feet of grapevine, but this does not keep him from being serious at times. In fact, he has always taken his work seriously, as is shown by his good scholastic record.

Throughout his college career he has shown that he is one of those rare individuals who can combine pleasure with work. He comes to the end of his college days with a host of friends, a pleasant memory of four years, and a good record as a true son of State.

Our only advice would be for him to marry a slim girl in order that all of his children will not be heavyweight champions.

He has made his letter for four years in the great "Spanish art." But Spanish athletics is not his only accomplishment—"legging" is his best course and he certainly knows how!

Now we'll look at "Pede's" other side—the serious side. Really now, folks, "Pede" has more reserve than any boy we know. He is witty, intelligent and has all of the other characteristics that are always mentioned in these "senior books." The one glowing thing about this lad is his love for the right; he always stands up for it. We, who know him, feel certain that he will always show the fine fellowship that he has displayed on State's campus.

What he doesn't know about dynamos, three-phase alternator, magnets, ammeters, transformer, commutator, compensator, equalizer, controller, exciter, generator, rheostat, reflector, solenoid, stator, or a synchronous motor—well, he just about knows it all.

With all these accomplishments, he still finds it hard to distinguish between little volts, amperes, watts, vector-diagrams, flux fleas, and I. R. drops.

There is one thing that "Tet" has always wanted to see. He has bought all kinds of maps, topographical surveys, etc., and was never able to locate it. We hope that some day someone will show him the Wheatstone Bridge—that to him is so elusive. The reason that "Tet" wants to find this bridge is that his professors have been telling him that he could see the flux fleas jumping off the wheatstone bridge and drowning in the eddy currents below.

Arthur arrived on the campus ready and has been ready ever since. He convinced his professors that he was interested in engineering and some good grades have been the result.

Considering the length of time "A. D." has been on the campus, his rise has been meteoric. He has proven himself a leader, and has ever been willing to take part in any constructive activity. His part in social organizations has done much to enliven those phases of college life.

"TUCK"

Richard, "Dick" or "Tuck" is introduction enough for any State College student to this young chemical engineer.

He is in the greatest sense of the term an independent liberty-loving North Carolinian. Those who know him best will vouch for his independent nature, which is often displayed by his expression—"Now that's final." When he made up his mind not to be a co-ed at St. Marys, but attend State College and become a chemical engineer, that was FINAL. For four years he has proven to his friends and professors the sincerity of his intentions.

However he does not believe that all of a young man's energies should be confined to class work—and he doesn't.

With all of "Dick's" likable qualities he can succeed anywhere, anytime and any place. And it wouldn't surprise us to learn of his success in persuading some young girl that he is thoroughly able to make a living for two.

One of Harvey's hobbies is poker, but having no luck at winning pots, he has decided to make them. He is just one of those good "bricks" who is taking ceramics. No, he is not "all wet." "Tuck" believes in the ancient proverb, "Cast your mud into the mould and it shall return to you in the form of vases."

Although this "master burner" has not made any "kiln-ing" grades, he has managed to "glaze" through. It is rather fortunate for some of us that Harvey didn't get hurt when he fell down on us a couple of times. It was after the second stumble that a little girl on North Wilmington street came to our rescue, and after collecting the ragged ends of "One Mr. Tucker," she sent him among us again to finally come through. He does not have much trouble with the ladies, that is, plural: for he has only one that troubles him. Good luck to both of you.

We thought we had discovered a perfect man, but "alas," there are no perfect men. For three long years there was an attraction at Salemburg, North Carolina, which caused "Al" to desert his chums on week-ends. Now this attraction has moved to Greenville, North Carolina, and our "Al" is a frequent visitor at E. C. T. We will always remember the man who wore football jersey number 31, because we were sure that this particular portion of the line would hold.

"Al" is liked by all; professors, seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen, but we are contemplating him losing some of his loyal support in the freshman class. If we remember correctly Dr. Forester and "Al" disagreed on the question of economics.

"Al," we will always remember you as a fellow with a ready smile, a helping hand and a loyal sense of duty to ole State.

"D. E." has often been accused by the fairer sex of having a concrete heart, but most of his associates have come to the conclusion that his head, rather than his heart is composed of this material.

With his agreeable personality, his dependability, and his ability to get along with his fellows, we are sure that he will be successful in anything he may attempt.

The class of '30 is very fortunate to be able to claim, as one of its members, this lad from "The Land of the Sky."

Boyd showed good judgment from the very beginning of his college career, by selecting the field of agricultural economics as his life's work. However, "Doc" Forester hasn't kept this boy busy all the time, for a look at "Uncle Josh's" orchard will testify to the care he has given it.

If you will stop to consider that while working his way through college, Boyd has never "bursted" a course, and stands well near the top of his class in scholarship, then you must concede that he has made a success.

In love, we admit that this boy has been very successful, for before entering upon his Senior year, he was ship-wrecked upon the sea of matrimony. This, no doubt has been a great inspiration to him during his last year with us.

Wilkes county can be proud of this lad and rest assured that he will bring nothing but honor to her.

All right, ladies and gentlemen, here he is, a man of the mountains, who came to State College after two years at another school, but who during his short stay here has gained a large number of friends and a well established place among his fellow students.

During his stay at State, Walker has not confined his interests merely to study, for it is not an uncommon occurrence to see him catch a late street car back from Hayes-Barton. Although unlike most other boys he has not found the "one girl," but seems intent on giving them all a treat.

Walker is also known to his many friends as an actor of no mean ability, as well as a clean scholar, a man of good social standing, a friend to everyone and a gentleman. Louie came down from the foothills for no apparent reason. On arriving here he decided that he would like to be a business man (someone told him that Henry Ford was a business man). After studying business for a year or so, Louie decided that it entailed too much detail work, so he changed to journalism. In that department he seemed to find his mark.

Louie's figure has graced the campus for four years. Now he is about to leave it. Well, "Egg," we wish you the greatest of success. We feel that you are well qualified in at least one respect to become a power in the profession you have chosen, and are quite sure that you will win your career in no less position than star reporter for that great newspaper, the Raleigh News and Observer.

Weaver's hobby is not horses, but newspaper work. He is a bridge fiend without taking construction. He is a co-ed hater but likes women. Among his long strings of human keys, there is the key of success.

It is his ambition to be a certified public accountant and with these three letters, C. P. A., we can adequately attach him conscientiousness, personality, ability.

There are many men this year who will be our alumni of tomorrow and we feel sure Weaver will be one of those who will do his share in making for our own State College a name as enviable in the future as it has had in the past.

"PETE"

Horace is about to depart from our midst after imbibing all the learning that books can give him. Books, though, haven't taught him all that he knows. He doesn't say much about his propensities for drawing both beautiful architecture and beautiful girls, but his room in Seventh is a veritable treasure chest of odds and ends of really talented sketches. And the many friends he has in college are willing to concede him the ping-pong championship of the dormitory, if not the whole college.

Horace bought a Ford, collegiate style, in the fall term and made a trip through the North, studying the styles used in building designing. When he arrived back in school he announced that he was ready to draw a diagramed view of the under side of his car, leaving out not so much as a single bolt or nut. And to cap the climax, a few days after his return, a carelessly thrown cigarette burned up the whole tonneau.

So long, Horace, your talent and your winning smile cannot help but bring you much success and many friends.

Ralph is a good student, too. His marks are among the best in the department. His ability as a student is second only to his ability with the fair sex. He has a way with the ladies, and seems to get a pleasure from seeing them suffer when he drops them.

The ideals that have made him a scholar will pave his way to success. So here's to you, Ralph, we've enjoyed knowing you.

He was a companion of Saint Patrick his Freshman year, finally rising to the lofty position of "Saint Pat" himself. The Raleigh ladies didn't get a very strong hold on "Doc." There's one, however, way out in Missouri who has quite a hold on him. He is from Missouri too—yea, he can argue and is usually about right. "Doc" probably likes the "land of the sky" as well as Missouri. He was a good track man for four years, being a fast hurdler in spite of his build—it isn't light. If thoroughness and will mean anything, then "Doc" will sure be a successful electrical engineer.

"Tom" has been indeed a credit to State College and has put Seven Springs on the college map.

It comes as a direct result of diligent work, of a brilliant personality which enables you to make friends among both sexes without an apparent effort. A friend is a person who will give unrestricted of his time and advice. Of what use are friends if they can't help you, and if you can't help them? Of the many good things that could be said about "Jimmie" as a leader and as a power, the best is that he has countless true friends, and not only has he friends, but he is a friend to them in return. We need the muses to give us words when we write of this young man. "Bob" has jumped around so much during his stay at State College that we doubt very much whether or not he is here now.

"Bob" has not been a terrific success as a student. We understand that with the aid of a lot of "legging" he was able to extract an "A" from Stanley Ballenger on Spanish. By-the-way, "Bob" is a pretty good "legger," too. But for all we have said he has stayed here four years—and is now leaving. Once he makes up his mind to work he knows how to get something done.

Socially speaking, "Bob" rates pretty good. He seems to know all the girls, and they like his smiling countenance. His hey-day was last spring when he had an automobile in school. He said that helped his batting average.

"Dick" is reported to have a mighty sweet little girl somewhere. We don't know where it is, so we presume she is in Hertford. At any rate he makes rather frequent trips in that direction.

We think "Dick" has chosen a field well adapted to his type of personality. When he smiles on a bunch they would do anything he wished. So much do we think of this young man's ability that we would almost recommend that he be sent to Charlotte to straighten out the strikers. We at least think he would make a good time study man, or be able to operate a punch press.

While he does not make friends quickly, yet beneath a natural reserve lies a friendly spirit, always ready to help a fellow student.

Although seldom seen in the company of a lady, it is no indication that he is a woman-hater. The woman who finally lands him will have a hard chase, but it will have been worth while. It is reported that he has a girl in the direction of home and that he is planning to go back to her.

"Leck" did most of his social research work at Rex Hospital. His nocturnal visits to that worthy institution gave us fears that he was interested in medicine, while his college career was only secondary. We feared that "Leck" would either become a "quack" or get entangled in the web of matrimony and be lost to this congregation of conventional bachelors.

He came through—now he does not fear the shadow of matrimony; his bachelorhood is assured, and he now placidly vends "bull" and "spuds" at the College Court Cafe.

There is no need to say funny things here. Just look at that face and kill yourself laughing. When we first saw it we had to get a Freshman to run along in front and catch our vest buttons. He caught a whole cluster of them, but later found they were our false teeth.

Wilson can run rings around anything, whether it be hog's noses, or women's fingers. He ran after the wrong one one night and liked to get shot.

He fires furnaces in the winter, but his profs. make it hot for him all the time. When he came up here to school Wilson's Mills lost one of its best plowhands. When he goes home the mules are all ears. They seem to recognize his voice as one of the family. He gets familiar with the pigs but they never squeal on him.

"E. M."

Weaver College certainly lost a good man when Evan Wilson decided to come to State, and we are very glad to have made his acquaintance. This dignified Senior is entering the world as a teacher after having had two years of experience and we know that our own Professor Wilson will live up to the high ideals of State College.

Evan is a student who does not let the fair sex interfere with his school work, and his ideas of what a student's life should be would make a notable example for any young man to follow. His conduct and attitude is always that of a gentleman, to such a degree that a group of boys in the boisterous 1911 dormitory chose Wilson as the man to improve their impaired conditions.

It has been a great pleasure indeed to have made your friendship and we, from the very bottom of our hearts, wish you success and happiness in life, which we are sure you will find and make the most of.

"REUBEN"

It is exceptional for the textile school to get a man from the city of Lucky Strikes, but Reuben is an exceptional man and the textile school is lucky.

When it comes to arguing, Reuben is right there defending his side of the question and trying hard to convince the other party. It is indeed unfortunate for history that he was not living about the time of the Lincoln-Douglas Debate, as there would have been another chapter to write.

People go to Reuben when they want help of any kind, for if he cannot give it himself, he invariably knows someone who can. This has settled upon him an enviable prestige among his fellow students.

Reuben's greatest hobby is hanging around the ballot box during the campus elections. Although he does not pass out cigars he is fairly successful in turning votes for his candidate. This is why we gave him the title—Best Politician.

TROY, NORTH CAROLINA

"SNOOK"

This lad is from Troy. His name is not Hector, but there are a lot of fair ladies awaiting with bated breath his return from the conquest of Raleigh. Many midnight silences have been broken by the sound of his wandering footsteps. His study in our midst has been fraught with many romances. Like the butterfly he has hopped from flower to flower, sipping bits of sweetness here and there, then galloping merrily on his way.

His many tales of the glory and splendor of Troy magnify with each telling. Often our most fond imagination is forced to its utmost to even grasp the possibilities of his statements.

We sincerely hope that a tolerant world will deal kindly with this young man by looking under his superior college polish and there discover as we, his classmates, have done his true self. Here's our blessing, Frank, we can never forget you.

"WALLY"

The stern visage pictured above is none other than a distinguished celebrity, who claims Burlington, North Carolina, as his home. You can readily see this can't be held against him because his host of friends will testify that he has persevered in everything he has undertaken. To verify the above statement, it takes a good soldier to rate a major in Colonel Early's army.

Although aspiring to be an architect, it is doubtful whether he will reach his goal, because his qualifications for an army officer far exceed those of an architect. If anyone cares to doubt this statement he may inquire of Professor Shumaker, or his fraternity brothers.

The friends you leave behind you, "Wally," would like to inform the friends you are to make that they are indeed fortunate and we wish you the best of luck in anything you might undertake, so we don't write finis to your biography.

"GENE"

"Gene" has the unique distinction of being the fifth of five brothers to graduate from State College. Each has made an excellent record while in school here and in "Gene" we find no exception to that rule.

Smiling and blond, "Gene," as a Freshman, knew what he wanted from his alma mater and proceeded to go after it; now as a Senior, no one can deny that he has attained his goal. Some would mistake his dogged determinedness for stubbornness. The truth is, both are there in a neat proportion and the combination is hard to beat.

But "Gene" does not take life too seriously and in his careful search for his "ideal," his checking adventures have made many friends for him among the fair ones in Raleigh. Characteristic of "Gene" is his natural friendliness and his ability to call all of his friends by name. He gets a kick out of his work and the mechanical engineering department loses one of its best students upon his graduation.

"BOOTS"

What terms shall we find sufficiently simple in their sublimity, sufficiently sublime in their simplicity, for the mere enunciation of our friend "Boots." It is not our purpose to falsely portray this man, therefore our difficulty in finding words to enunciate.

In "Boots" we find a personality full of latent possibilities, a mind endowed with potential brilliance, a character moulded of the best and greatest, and a heart full of consideration for all of us—his fellow men.

At first, "Boots," like other men endowed with a high degree of sensitiveness, which will not brook tethering, was at a loss to find himself.

Witness his year at Georgia and his like period at Carolina. But now at his beloved State he has found himself. And we, who are his friends, know he will fly far and true down the avenue of life's greatest attainments. So here's to our "Boots!" May all his fancies grow to pleasing realities.

"BULL"

"Bull" hails from the tidewater section of Virginia, from which state has received many other good men.

He is the kind that saws wood, but the other half of that expression does not apply, for "Bull" will argue. He gets his work done with dispatch and in spite of the fact that he is a member of the leading scholarship fraternities he never pleads his work as an excuse for dodging other things.

When we first met "Bull" we thought he had a permanent sore tooth, but later it came to light that it was only "good old navy plug."

As for "Bull" and the ladies, we don't have much to say; he never did. It is rumored though, that he has his feminine admirer in Newport News.

"Bull" says he is going to follow combustion engineering when he has graduated, and from the amount of fuel he daily consumes, we know he is well qualified.

Seriously though, we know that "Bull" is going to be a big asset to the world.

"NET"

Did you ever hear of Pitcairn, Penna.? Well, that's where "Net" Weight crooked his first apple off of a fruit stand. No, you're wrong, he didn't end up in an electric chair—but in forestry. In the fall of 1926 he entered the Pennsylvania State School of Forestry. Here he was destined to spend three years of his college career.

While pursuing the intricate pathways leading to knowledge of forestry, "Net," like so many others, became interested in Waynesboro—that is the feminine portion of it. He brought down the wrath of his roomy by coming in at all hours of the night. However, by an act of providence, he emerged unscathed from these threatening situations, and in June, 1929, he determined to adopt the slogan: "Go South, young man." So here he is.

"Net," because of his natural qualifications, is sure to make a success of his forestry career.

Junior, Onward! Onward!

TWO hills and a third lie below us. Their byways and obstacles were hard and rough, testing us for supremacy in the quest for the fleeces of good. Stained and bruised we are but not always, for we emerge with heads up—made strong to endure and to suffer in pursuit of the things that cost. Part as we are of the rugged, glorious past—we lay hold of the things before.

“Onward, Onward” is the spirit of this new day. The race is just begun. Laps must be turned. Referee after referee must be passed ere the whistle at the close of day. Greater strain, more lively pace, and steadier eye on the goal shall bring us at last to the golden fleece in the midst of esteem, respect, and greater days. And then, “Onward” again.

Sophomore, Onward!

WITH one hill surmounted, we have progressed toward the top of the second. In some measure we have found our work of life—its bases and its goals. What we now aspire to be, as crystalized in our thoughts, actions and dreams, is the forerunner of days to come. Professional grandeur in the afterwhile is vitally concerned with our present souls.

“Onward” is the cry of triumph. Better and deeper thinking, surer consecration of physical and intellectual fibre, and more loyalty to the supremely best are the rocks upon which to build our citadels. The pinnacle of these structures are yet to be built. Scaffolding is incomplete. Steel girders, strong timbers, well-mixed mortar and finely-hewn marble must yet arise to the height of golden domes—which in the evening as in the morning will refresh, will quinch the thirst of wandering journeymen.

Freshman, Whither?

WHAT a new world of people and thoughts in this first year of college adventure! It is now that one tries to find himself in the midst of novelties, some of which are cheap, whereas others are eternally satisfying.

Perhaps the crowd will say that the beginner must bow to the rank of those who worship caps, pennants, and other sordid baggage. Perchance they will demand of him a sacrifice of self to the gods of social rank and athletic prowess, only to find himself at the end of the journey bereft of the finer timber.

Finer timber certainly! What we need supremely is the better material—based upon the noblest goals of education. The will to learn, to think logically, to adapt oneself to varied problems, to prize manhood is the need of every man. Victory will come day by day in the light of this will.

Athletics

Dr. Sermon succeeds Tal. H. Stafford as Manager of Athletics. In this department State College is rapidly coming to the front. It is not always possible to have a winning team, but it is desirable that the athletic department be a winner financially. That is the job "Doc" has undertaken to do. Other members of the Athletic Committee are: Dr. A. J. Wilson, chairman, E. L. Cloyd, C. C. Taylor, L. E. Wooten, T. H. Nelson.

Resume of 1929 State Football

FRANCIS JOHNSON
Manager

The stage for Act One, of the 1929 sports program of North Carolina State College, is all set for action. October presents the scenery with ideal weather conditions; Directors Tebell and Slaughter, with rabbit's foot in hand, are seated in their respective back-stage boxes; the opening prelude is being presented by the College Band; ushers and stage-hands are busily about the mythical theater, and as the curtain slowly rises, scene one opens with the Wolfpack and Washington and Lee cast on the gridiron.

But before we continue with the synopsis of the play, it must be mentioned that the 1929 football season, as a whole, was unsuccessful and disappointing; that is, to the students and friends of the school.

W. AND L. 27; STATE 6

And now to proceed, the fourth day of October saw the Generals of Virginia explode a very deadly attack in the third period, and depart from the ruins of battle with a 27 to 6 victory. It was something of a dress parade for the Generals, and the Tebell men seemed to be just eleven men among the crowd of on-lookers.

CLEMSON 26; STATE 0

Scene two takes us into South Carolina, where, October the eleventh, the second defeat of the season was bitterly met. This time, the villain, dressed in the moleskins of Clemson, easily smothered the Wolfpack under by a count of 26 to 0. It was "Tiger" against "Wolf," and as the Wolf was only a shadow of its old self, the tenacious Tiger bit and clawed a very decided win in the 'Pack's flank.

BASIL MELTON
Halfback

WAKE FOREST 6; STATE 8

With a dash and spirit irresistible, playing on October seventeenth, a perfectly oiled and timed football machine, with each cog functioning in its exact place, Coach Gus Tebell furnished ten characters, and the redoubtable Basil Melton, to squeeze an 8 to 6 decision over Wake Forest's Demon Deacons. This game will always stand out in the minds of State students as the only transitional point in football of 1929.

MICHIGAN STATE 40; N. C. STATE 6

Scene four of Act One pictures for us the city of Lansing, Michigan, . . . the mighty Spartans of the gridiron . . . and another defeat. Probably this loss was justifiable, and also worthy of the trip that was necessary, but as the play continues, State is seen with bowed heads, leaving with their hosts the captives of a 40 to 6 triumph. The time of scene four is October 26.

CAROLINA 32; STATE 0

The University of North Carolina defeated North Carolina State 32 to 0. There is the whole action and plot of this spectacle easily retold. The Tar Heels used little effort in downing their sister college, but great was the down thereof.

DAVIDSON 13; STATE 0

Exactly seven days later, another episode was set down in black and white as a Wildcat team, from Davidson, made exceptional good usage of "breaks," and thus clawed a 13 to 0 win out of the famishing Wolves. This game was played on the second of November.

DUKE 19; STATE 12

November the sixteenth finds a ready gridiron presented at Durham, in which Devils and Feline men may offer their game for the seventh exhibition in Act One. Duke was expected to win; they did, but not as they had anticipated. Director Tebell had tutored his pupils the previous week in new steps and actions. Instead of Duke finding easy prey, a bag of tricks was exposed by the Statemen, and the Blue Devils won, only by the comparative low score of 19 to 12.

HERMAN GARDNER
Tackle

A. L. VANN
Guard

VILLANOVA 24; STATE 6

As our story nears the end, a defeat by the cocky Villanovians tells a tale of woe. On November twenty-third, there, in the big city of Philadelphia, with a blanket of snow as a greeting factor, the large curtain commences to down as the Wolves perish at the 24 to 6 victory won by the Villa Wildcats.

UNIVERSITY OF S. C. 20; STATE 6

On the night of November the thirtieth, the playhouse is completely empty and bare. Nothing is left to tell of the eerie struggle that took place just a few hours before, except the old battle-scarred football field. The actors are gone; the loss to South Carolina, 20 to 6, is considered as history—the directors, officials and all, are thinking and hoping that this history will not repeat itself.

But no review of our theatrical production would be complete without at least a brief mention of the directors or coaches. Too much praise cannot be given to our respective coaches in this field of sports, and peculiar respect is due to our Head Coach, Gustav Tebell. Notwithstanding the fact that his team won but one game throughout the entire season, Coach Tebell was selected as assistant coach of the Northern squad in the game between that part of the Conference and the Southern half.

Freshman Football

The Wolfpack should receive a great boost next fall when the 1929 Champion Freshmen begin the initial grind. This year's Freshman team was one of the most powerful to have ever represented State College. These huskies, on the whole, had an easy time with the opposition.

The 1929 football results are as follows:

Oct. 18—V. M. I.	0	State	19
Oct. 25—Duke	6	State	9
Nov. 1—Davidson	0	State	6
Nov. 11—Wake Forest	0	State	46
Nov. 27—Carolina	0	State	19

1930 State Basketball

This year started out like another winner. With several of the old regulars back State breezed through the first five games like true champions. In these games Wake Forest and V. P. I. were badly beaten. Again was heard that old Southern Conference talk.

On the next two games, however, the boys lost two heart-breakers to Duke and Carolina. Honestly, they were enough to take the wind out of anybody's sails. To Duke we lost by four points, to Carolina by two. Oh boy, that Carolina game.

Well, we went along and dropped games to Washington and Lee, Maryland, and another to Duke. Say, those Duke games were just about the best exhibitions of fighting seen around here. The team journeyed over to the "Hill" and beat Carolina on their own court by two points—just the same margin by which they downed us here.

As a result of the season the team won twelve games and lost four. Any team that wins three-fourths of its games cannot be classed as a failure. The old "Red Terrors" were right in there all the time, upholding the prestige of "Old N. C. State."

The boys journeyed down to Atlanta to the big Auditorium for the Conference meet. They were hailed as last years' champs, and all eyes were turned towards them. But Sewanee didn't seem to mind playing the champs in the first game, and succeeded in beating the Terrors 25 to 19.

This year will see the graduation of Haar and Johnson, two of the best players State has ever had.

"KEN" BADGETT
Manager

The Crown Prince of sports, baseball, was issued into State College last year over a reign of 18 games with competition from the strongest teams in the northern section of the Conference and intersectional tilts.

Coach "Chick" Doak produced a well rounded club out of the material available, with his wins and loses breaking even from the total contests in which he participated.

Opening the season with five home games, Coach Doak annexed all but one, Springfield College, of Massachusetts, journeyed to the State diamond for the initial affray, only to depart with a defeat from the Terror's nine. Easter Monday, Wake Forest took count of State, 6 to 7, while games were won from Washington and Lee, Lenoir Rhyne, and Maryland in the proceeding week.

Journeying out of the Capital City one day, returning the next, only to leave again and return, State lost to Duke, whipped V. M. I., fell in defeat to Carolina, Davidson, and V. P. I.

A five-game road trip was inserted in the schedule at this time as the Doakmen left for northern regions to play teams in Virginia and Maryland. Maryland was the first town hit, and great was the strike. About-facing to Charlottesville, the tide turned with a lose to Virginia, but State retaliated to win from the military lads of V. M. I., and to take the second game from Washington and Lee's Generals. V. P. I. won over the Statemen in the concluding contest of the trip, and one week later found the Foresters of Wake proceeding in the latter's traits.

To end the season, State battled Duke and Carolina on home territory as Duke finished triumphant, and State terminated the last tilt with a win over the Heels.

State Track Review, 1929

The State trackers participated in five meets all told last season and was credited with three distant wins and placed third in the annual State tournament held in Greensboro.

During the year, one State cinderpath artist, McGinn, of Charlotte, took the State record in the half mile, doing the distance in 1:58 3-5 minutes.

Captain Hank Young led his followers to a 67-59 win over the fast Devils of Duke, to initiate the season into its reign here at State. Not until the final event, broad jump, was the meet tucked under the Raleigh boy's feet, but then none other than the Captain leaped over a score of ground to cop the contest.

WELTMER

Doc Sermon's trackers ran into a loss in the dual meet with Washington and Lee, as the Generals barely managed to edge a one-point victory from their hosts.

"Old Lady Luck" favored the Capital City men in their invasion at Blacksburg with the Teclmen of V. P. I., and a 65 to 60 score resulted with State being on the easy side. The affair was nip and tuck throughout with excitement galore being furnished in every event.

With the season drawing to a close, State sent a track team against the Cadets of V. M. I., and literally made the old well-known whoopee to emerge from the cloud of dust produced during the evening's encounter, 70 to 56. It was State's day on the running field and no opposition furnished by the military proteges hindered the fleet-footed artists.

SUMMARY—State 67, Duke 59; State 62½, Washington and Lee 63½; State 65, V. P. I. 60; State 70, V. M. I. 56. State rated third in the State Meet held in Greensboro with all Big Five Schools participating.

THE SQUAD

Varsity Cross Country

The varsity cross country squad of State College participated in only three meets this past season, and with regret, we admit that the most scintillating results were not produced.

Alec Redfearn coached and captained his men well above par, but the competition with which the Staters had to compete seemed just a little too stiff.

In the State meet, however, a somewhat of a rally was produced and second place taken by the Raleigh lads. Sixth position was copped in the Southern Conference meet, with Captain-elect J. M. Johnson placing for the coveted reward.

The summary follows:

November 2 at Chapel Hill—Carolina 15, State 45.

November 16 at Durham—Duke 27, State 28.

November 23, State and Southern Conference meet at Chapel Hill—State second in State meet, and sixth in Conference in a field of 11 teams.

Note: Low score wins.

The Norris Athletic Trophy

The Norris Athletic Trophy, a massive silver loving cup standing twenty-four inches high, is awarded annually to the best all-round athlete at N. C. State by Norris, Inc., of Atlanta, Ga., through its president, Frank E. Lowenstein, a State College alumnus.

The winning of this cup is the greatest honor that can come to a State College athlete. Possession of this trophy depends, not only upon athletic ability, but upon general scholastic lines as well.

The winner this year is Frank Goodwin, of Greensboro. Since his Freshman year Frank has distinguished himself in athletics. As a great end on the Wolfpack, as All-Southern center on the Red Terrors, and as a student and a citizen he well deserves this honor.

FRANK GOODWIN

The Department of Physical Education

J. F. Miller, the Director of this department since its organization in 1924, is familiar with all phases of a physical education program. He is a college man who later specialized at the Springfield (Mass.) College of Physical Education. He was an all around athlete for five years in college who reached his athletic climax by making an enviable five-year record as Head Coach at the University of Missouri. In addition to his broad athletic experience, he has a record of twelve years' dealing with the administrative duties of a departmental program reaching the mass.

J. F. MILLER, Director

The Department of Physical Education was established at N. C. State College for two purposes. First, it was thought necessary as an educational institution, that opportunity should be provided for her students to get recreation and regular exercise to insure good health, morale and more efficient school work. Such a program would reach the big majority of the student body and strike a balance to the students' daily routine and confine their excess energies to something wholesome and supervised. Second, as a state institution, she should provide professional courses to train students to go out into North Carolina and organize and supervise programs of physical education in the schools of the state.

Every year the service rendered by this department merits and vindicates its establishment by the Board of Trustees of the College. Not only does it come into close contact with the health, physical exercise and recreation of the students but it has carried its influence out into the schools of the state. It is coöperating with all agencies that are seeking to make better citizens for North Carolina physically, mentally and socially. Its future can only be measured by the demand made for its services by the public school systems of the state.

The Physical Education Program

The program of work done in this department consists of the required courses for all freshmen and sophomores, the professional courses for upperclassmen, the intramural athletic program and the extension program with the high schools of the state.

REQUIRED COURSES

Every student entering college is required to take a physical examination to ascertain his fitness to take military, the regular class work in physical training and athletic competition. This department is especially interested in those students who do not measure up to the normal. Advice is given to them pertaining to the defects found and many of the defects are corrected at the gymnasium without the student going to the college infirmary or to his family physician.

All freshmen in regular classes are held to a strict formal program of work consisting of marching, calisthenics drill, apparatus work tapered off with group games and relays for the hygienic value. All freshmen are required to meet certain requirements in swimming. Posture and coördination are stressed throughout.

The sophomores are given opportunity to play and receive instruction in sports as soccer and tag football, basketball and volleyball, track and playground baseball. Special instruction is given them in golf, boxing and tennis. It is hoped that they will acquire an interest and enthusiasm in some sport which they can play after they go out of college into the big game of life.

The high spots of this program is reached in the fall with the annual freshman cross country run, participated in by about 500 freshmen, in the winter term by the annual physical training demonstration in which about 400 freshmen and sophomores demonstrate the variety of work that is given the required classes and in the spring term with a track meet between all classes, which number about 1,000 students.

ORGANIZATIONS

Department of Music

State College has one of the most outstanding music departments of any school in the South. The reason for this is Major P. W. Price, better known as "Daddy."

One of the outstanding characteristics of "Daddy" is his ability to secure work and co-operation from people. He has manifested this in his musical organizations. "Daddy" certainly has his "boys" working.

Each year the prestige of the department of music has been growing until now it is one of the outstanding departments on the campus. It consists of the State College Band, the Glee Club, the R. O. T. C. Band, the Orchestra, and several other supplementary units. Each year the Band makes a tour of the State, where it is successfully received.

Thousands of radio fans throughout this and adjoining states look forward with keen anticipation to the regular weekly broadcast of station W P T F.

State College Concert Band

The State College Concert Band is the most outstanding musical organization of the school. Throughout the South it is recognized as one of the foremost college bands.

The personnel of the Band embraces the best musical talent in school. Regularly the Band makes concert tours throughout the State and serves as one of the best advertisements the college has.

"Daddy" Price has succeeded in dressing the members in beautiful uniforms. The captain of the Band this year is W. R. McRackan of Whiteville.

Discussion Group Leaders

C. LEROY CLARK, Chairman
 EDWIN MCNEIL POTEAT, JR., Teacher

The Discussion Group Leaders lead both the Freshman and Fellowship groups in the fall term and the Discussion groups, for all students, during the winter term.

The paramount purpose of these group leaders is to endeavor to interpret the teachings of Jesus in terms of campus life and campus situations.

Student Government

J. P. CHOPLIN
President

Nine years ago Student Government was instigated at this institution. Since its beginning it has constantly improved. Each administration and each year adds something to the upbuilding of a better government among our students.

Our Student Government officials realize that their duty is not complete upon enforcing the law. With this in mind, Student Government has taken a step forward by organizing and promoting student civic organizations. In this way Student Government is preventing infractions of the law to a greater extent and eliminating fewer individuals.

In this way we are trying to build men of character rather than shift the burden of "less desirables" to other communities.

The Elder P. D. Gold Citizenship Medal

The Elder P. D. Gold Citizenship Medal is awarded each year by Mr. C. W. Gold of Greensboro, N. C., a member of the class of 1895, in memory of his father, Elder P. D. Gold, of Wilson, N. C.

The award is based on four qualities of citizenship in the college community: Scholarship, student leadership, athletics, and public speaking. These four qualifications are certified to by the college registrar, the Student Council, the Faculty Athletic Committee and a committee composed of the ranking junior officers in all college societies in which public speaking is practiced.

The name of the winner of this medal is announced each year by the President of the college at the commencement exercises.

Since the establishment of this award five years ago, it has been won by the following men:

Name	Address	Year Won
H. D. HAMRICK	Ruth, N. C.	1924
L. L. HEDGEPEETH	Richmond, Va.	1925

The 1930 Agromeck

The publication of a college annual is probably the most difficult task a student can undertake while in school. It requires foresight, ability, and courage. The success of the entire publication may rest upon a few details. These details if overlooked spell disaster.

E. H. "Pete" Roberts as Editor of THE 1930 AGROMECK, has given to the students, what is in the belief of many, the best annual ever published at State College. His possession of executive, literary, and creative abilities has made him an admirable person for the task. The correctness and appearance of the book prove that.

THE AGROMECK has another side, too. Money must be collected from the students and advertising must be sold. The man who has accomplished this task is R. C. Windsor. As Business Manager his task has not been an easy one.

The Technician

"In the course of human events"—especially college events—The Technician has tried to give you the news as it has really happened at North Carolina State College. News that is conservative—but spiced with a few phenomenal stories that go to make an interesting newspaper.

While The Technician has carried news that may have seemed destructive in the thinking of many, that news had been judged by the editor to be worthy of print as an expression of a justifiable group.

Under the leadership of Editor Arnold L. Weaver and Business Manager Fred Plonk, your paper was begun with the purpose of constructiveness. Editor Weaver has successfully drawn about him a staff of willing workers who have competently and conscientiously written stories for your pleasure.

The State College paper aspires to be a student's chronicle—to record the history of your college days as it is made each day, and as you read its pages in future years, the entire staff trusts that their efforts to please the student body will not have been in vain.

The Wataugan

The Wataugan is the literary magazine of the college. It serves to give the students and faculty a medium of expression for literary articles. Realizing that such a publication could not be built successfully along one line, a humorous department found its way into the magazine. While the baby of the publications, The Wataugan has proven a success.

This year's Editor, Leslie Vipond, has continued the policies of the publication. He has aimed at literary excellence, but at the same time has sought to make the articles interesting.

Under the leadership of Bill Garibaldi, enough money has been secured to turn out the required number of issues. A large part of the proceeds required to publish The Wataugan must be raised through advertising.

International Collegiate Crops Team

The State College Crops Team is one of the greatest assets the school has. If the team does not carry off first honors it finishes second. This team goes to the place of competition, usually Chicago, and there places against the best teams of the country.

Professor J. B. Cotner and Professor W. H. Darst deserve much praise for the consistency with which they are able to maintain winning teams. This is one of the few teams at State College which never has a really bad year. Professors Cotner and Darst are recognized as being among the foremost grain specialists in the United States.

Debate and Oratory

The 1930 debate season has been characterized by two important changes: the introduction of the plan of giving an increasing number of students inter-collegiate debate experience, and the growth of student interest in debating. Fortunately, these two innovations have been mutually helpful. A four hundred per cent increase in the number of students trying out for the debate squad has coincided with the policy adopted by the director of debating of training more debaters than have received inter-collegiate experience at any time during the past. Several years will be necessary to bring the number receiving debate training to the desired maximum, but a beginning has already been made.

Social Life at State

Social activities are an important phase of college life at State. These activities go to make the well-rounded man just as much as the work of the classroom. The center of social life at State College is the Pan-Hellenic Council. The three gentlemen above, as officers of the Council, have played an important part in the promotion of successful dances. The three ladies pictured below have added much to the success of the dances this year and will with Messrs. Baggett, Thomas and McRackan act as the dance leaders during finals.

MISS FLORENCE BRIGGS

MISS VIRGINIA GILL

MISS RUTH LEARY

Finals

The final dances given at graduating time are the most important dances of the year. They are sponsored by the Pan-Hellenic Council, which represents the social fraternities of the campus.

Each year the gymnasium is beautifully decorated for the occasion. Last year's finals were among the best ever held at State College. Practically all of the southeastern states were represented.

Music was furnished by Hal Kemp. The figure was led by Mr. Henry Young, president of the Council, and Miss Margaret Sherrill.

DIGNITY

ON TRIAL

Now, to begin with, we feel that this section should be respectfully dedicated to some famous man around these parts who will nobly uphold the traditions of this section, and who represents all that this section stands for: namely, BULL. And so, little boys and little girls of radio land, or what have you, WE RESPECTFULLY DEDICATE, this, the 1930 ANGRY WHAK—and HOW, to none other than your old friend,

(INSERT YOUR OWN PARTICULAR PET FACULTY MEMBER)

We also wish to thank several more who aided us in preparing this section, which as we before mentioned, is devoted to the extension and perpetuation of bigger and better bull, and plenty of it. These gentlemen, we believe, have done much toward this end, so we gratefully thank LITTLE MACGREAVES-WALKER, LITTLE DOC MORRIS and FRANK CAPPS.

In this section you will find, if you can see straight after what you did last night, the prime wit and humor of the day, hitherto unprinted, and perhaps unprintable (take a bow, professor). We have never seen a two-way joke with both meanings decent, so we ask you, as college gentlemen, not to look for the other side. It's there, nevertheless. College men are not low-minded, so we started to print only parlor jokes, when we suddenly remembered that at last our Alma Mater boasts a hoard of co-eds, and you know how women are. They must be pleased, or they will raise trouble no end. If you don't believe this, then you ain't been out much.

If you've borne up under such a noble introduction to this section, then it won't hurt you to read further. It's personal, but not confidential. We wish you the best of luck, and pray that NONE OF YOUR CHILDREN TURN OUT TO BE FRATERNITY MEN OR CRIMINALS. Selah. Let us proceed to the dissection.

TURN OVER

ANGRY WHAK

The Lodge Meets

BRO. ADERHOLT: Now listen, men, I've asked you to come to order. This is a very important meeting, so please take it more seriously.

BRO. LEPO: Aw, pipe down. Gimme two cards, Deke.

BRO. ADERHOLT: We want to discuss plans for our Easter dance. Who has anything to say?

BRO. ROBERTS: Let's save all that money and buy liquor instead.

BRO. BAGGETT: You're out of order, Brother Roberts.

BRO. ROBERTS: There's not a thing wrong with me.

BRO. BELVIN: Brother Hooky Poo, our new bureau came today, and it has no drawers.

BRO. CRENSHAW (waking up): What did you say her name was?

BRO. ADERHOLT: Brother Crenshaw, you are fined ten cents for being evil-minded.

VOICE FROM THE CORNER: Come on, you seven!

BRO. CHOPLIN: I move we open a dining hall.

BRO. ADERHOLT: All in favor make it known some way or other.

Silence

A CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL
STUDENT.

"Are You Sick Lady?"

BRO. ADERHOLT: Motion carried. Brother Frisbie, I appoint you to open a dining hall in the morning.

(Snores from Brother Crenshaw.)

BRO. LEPO: Gimme one card, Johnny, and ante-up.

VOICE FROM THE CORNER: Shoot a nickel!

BRO. FORNEY: Hurry up and get this meeting over with. I gotta date.

CHORUS: Ha, ha, ha. Who'd have a date with you.

BRO. FORNEY (pouting): None of your business.

BRO. ADERHOLT: Order, order.

BRO. ISOM: Have you heard "Turn on the Heat." Boy, that's a hot piece.

BRO. CRENSHAW (waking up again, and all ears): What did you say her name was?

BRO. ADERHOLT: Order, order.

BRO. MCNAIR: May I be excused a minute, Brother Aderholt. I really can't wait.

BRO. ADERHOLT: Excused, but hurry up.

BRO. KOONCE: Say, I have an idea. Let's give a dance Easter.

BRO. PLONK: Hell, no. I'm tired of dances. Let's have a hot dog roast.

BRO. RODRIGUEZ: I think that's a good idea, Brother Aderholt.

(Auto horn sounds outside, accompanied by women's voices. There is a scramble for the door and the room is left empty except for Brother Aderholt, who is seated behind a table and can't get out, and Brother Crenshaw, who is asleep on the floor.)

ANGRY WHAK

BRO. ADERHOLT: OH, HELL.

BRO. CRENSHAW: What did you say her name was?

(CURTAIN)

APOLOGIES TO SOMEBODY

I stand by the mantelpiece,
Standing near a spot of grease,
I slide down the mantelpiece,
Hunting matches, cigarette butts,
Chewing tobacco.

We think that Jimmie Summey admirably fills the place left by Bob Shapard, that is, the best looking man in the senior class. You know that old saying about birds of a feather.

The call that the Sigma Pi boys sent out to their alumni for recommendations seems to have borne fruit—93 per cent of the entire freshman class is a pretty good average. The house proposition ought to go good now.

The Chi Alpha Sigma house was broken into recently. Twenty-three pairs of morning breeches were stolen.

She stood between me and the headlights,
Her figure was a pip,
I was able to tell quite plainly, for,
She'd given me the slip.

A shapely gal
Was milkmaid Mary,
There were no calves like her's,
In any dairy.

Ode to the Dirty Sweatshirts

Coach Miller had an idea,
As such things come to pass,
He said: "I'll sell grey sweatshirts
For freshmen in my class."

(Chorus)

Sweatshirts, sweatshirts, everywhere you go,
You see them on the sidewalks,
You see them in the show,
You see them at a formal dance,
There's nothing they're below.

Some are old and grimy,
And some are past repair,
But they wear them just the same
For they don't care what they wear.

MORAL —
"It doesn't pay to
Plunk on a Final EXAMINATION!"

ANGRY WHAK

DADDY PRICE: You are playing G instead of F.

BOB MCRACKAN: Well, ain't that a heluva note.

Pop corn for sale at the Kappa Sigma house. Quite a drop from last year, it seems.

SHE: What do you mean by making love to me?

PEEWEE HODGES: Anything but marriage.

They call her Serial because she always quits when they get to the most interesting part.

The auctioneer's son walked into the Kappa Alpha house and looked around.

"Do I hear any bids?" he murmured.

Now in closing, let us say that our idea of the most ambitious man on earth is the street cleaner who got kicked in the eye. And don't forget, a good hard day's work will put feathers in any old bed.

And don't forget to wash your ears and brush your teeth. Amen.

CAPTAIN MEEKINS (roaring with rage): Who told you to wear those shoes out here?

SCARED FRESHMAN: Captain Watson, sir.

CAPTAIN MEEKINS: Pretty, aren't they?

FRATERNITY BROTHERS

We've drunk from the same bottle.

We've slept in the same bed.

It's a heluva wonder

We both ain't dead.

Lines Written in a Moment of Weakness

There was a young man named Comiskey,
Who thought it was fun to be frisky,
So he took off his cap
And said "I don't give a rap"—
Now everyone misses Comiskey.

If you want to read a magazine
That's really fit to read,
One that makes you feel as if
You could live up to a better creed,
Then reach for a copy of The Wataugan
And throw it in the fire
And pick up that old AGROMECK
And read to your heart's desire.

"What's the use of studying,"

Said little Jim McKay,

"I was smart in high school,

So I'll just play all day,"

So play he did,

And all seemed well

Till he got his report card,

And he'd just played hell.

TO DADDY YATES

He stands before his class

And spurts forth formulae galore.

And when you ask a question,

He answers with some more.

CHORUS

Sine theta, dee theta, rotten tomato.

The cosines are driving me wild,

Tangent of Alpha, Omega and Phi,

I don't see when, wherefore or why.

It's the darndest stuff I ever took,

I couldn't even start.

But Daddy didn't even use a book,

He knew the thing by heart!

CHORUS

"It must have been something I ate," said
the whale as Jonah stepped ashore.

ANGRY WHAK

FRED: Gosh, I don't believe she liked that.

Is This Poetry? Don't Esk!

ABOU BEN ADHEM

Abou Ben Adhem, may he rest in peace,
Lay under his car in a pile of grease,
When down the road, with a terrible fuss,
Came a traffic cop in a cloud of dust,
Exceeding grease had made Ben Adhem cold,
And to the cop he said, "Have you a drink?"
"Hell no," he said, "what do you think I am, a college man?"

(Moral)

Join the navy and seize the girls.

APOLOGIES TO AMY LOWELL

As I was walking through an alley
I came across a small boy
Standing on his hands
And kicking himself in the face.

"Why do you do that?" I inquired.
"In the first place," he said,
"I LIKE to do it,
And in the second place,
I can't see where it's any
Of your d—n business."

Moral:

YOU MAY BE DEAF, BUT YOU'LL GET YOUR HEARING IN THE MORN-ING.

TO DEAN CULLINS

Down in bull hall basement,
Me and my brother Lou,
We used to run a laundry,
And a doggone good one, too.

When in came Choplin from the country,
With wrath upon his face,
He claimed I'd lost his laundry,
And raised hell in my place.

He jumped across the counter,
A thing he shouldn't have done,
Because that's when I proved handy,
With my double barreled gun.

DON'T CRY, LITTLE HOG

The hog at eve had drunk his swill,
And lay as in a swoon,
When an animal nutrition class came down
To feed him with a spoon.

The hog, he squealed and grunted,
To eat like this was new.
"You'll have to do it," cried the boys,
"It's the proper thing to do."

FLOYD ISOM: What did you do with that seven thousand year old dinosaur egg you found?

JIMMY SUMMEY: I sold it to the Piker dining room.

"Not a Co-ed."

ANGRY WHAK

THUMB CROCKER: There's a green spot on your white dress.

ADA SPENCER: I beg your pardon, that's my dress.

MAC HUGHES: There are no flies on Kappa Sigma.

CASEY FORNEY: No, I guess the flies have to draw the line somewhere.

John Lepo says that the beacon light on the Carolina Hotel is to show the good girls the way to walk home. Allie Peehead Baggett says it is to help the bad girls to count their change.

COL. BELVIN: A certain co-ed on this campus is not very patriotic.

PRIVATE GARIBALDI: How do you know?

COL. BELVIN: I was peeping through the keyhole when she was taking a bath and I whistled the Star Spangled Banner five times before she stood up.

PAL BARNHARDT: You had better watch your step in my classroom.

GEORGE FOWLER: What's the matter? Is the flooring loose?

"I always thought you were a gentleman," wept the young lady to Uke Koonce after a long midnight auto ride. "Now I know it."

"I call my girl Prohibition," said Stanley Allen. "She can't keep liquor down."

With apologies to College Humor, we quote the following choice morsel:

"I'm a Sigma Nu and I will be one all my life."

"Yea, that's the hell of it."

"Come on, gimme a kiss," says Black Bottom Croson.

"No," answers the young lady. "I've got scruples."

"Oh, that's all right, I've had 'em twice," rejoins Croson.

"Oh, Paul, I didn't know you were on the wrestling team," gasps the gay young thing to Choplin.

FARMER FRISBIE: I was just bitten by a dog.

DOC SERMON: Was it a rabid dog?

SAME FRISBIE: No, sir, it was a bird dog.

A Final Word

IN compiling this book we have tried to follow the best standards of practice and ethics. At all times have we endeavored to make this book what an annual should be. In doing this we have cast aside personal likes and dislikes; we do not believe that an annual should be a comic book, nor a catalogue; but rather an accurate account of one year's life at college.

If you like what we have done—tell us. If you don't, go to hell with your story. We have cut classes, flunked out of school, developed falling hair and ingrowing toenails, trying to please you.

For their assistance rendered us in this job may we call your attention to the following persons and concerns:

To Mr. W. J. Crichton and The Observer Printing House, we wish to thank for the way in which they have printed this book. At all times have they taken a personal interest in our problems.

To Harold F. Mann of the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Co., we wish to thank for the art theme, the color plates, and the quality of the engraving.

To M. F. Dunbar and Siddell's Studio, we wish to thank for their efficient service.

To all those on the staff, the student body, the members of the faculty, we thank for their work and their suggestions.

Until again, good night.

Controlled Tension For Controlled Quality

LEESONA
THE BEE AND OTHER FIBERAL COMPANY

FIRST quality in the manufacture of woven fabric, demands absolute control of yarn for both filling and warp.

For more than twenty years, the #90 UNIVERSAL FILLING WINDER has produced cops and bobbins, wound with mechanically inspected yarn, uniformly tensioned, and containing the maximum yardage possible for the shuttle used.

In 1928, we developed the UNIVERSAL HIGH SPEED WARPING SYSTEM, making it possible to apply these same desirable principles to the preparation of the warp, thereby deriving the two-fold advantage that is gained when perfect filling is woven into inspected warp, under complete tension control. This system brings to you substantial gains in efficiency in the slashing as well as the weaving operation, due to the clearing of the yarn during the winding, and, in addition, presents to your looms the most evenly tensioned beam it is now possible to prepare.

It is apparent then, that UNIVERSAL HIGH SPEED WARPING in combination with UNIVERSAL FILLING WINDERS, doubles assurance that the product of your weave shed will carry the highest mark in quality.

YOUR MOST VERSATILE SERVANT

Electricity has become the most versatile servant of the home, the office, the store and factory.

In the home it cooks the meals, refrigerates the food, entertains with music over the radio or various types of reproducing machines, sweeps the floors, washes the clothes and curls the hair.

In the office, store and factory, electricity multiplies the efficiency of man's hands and increases his income.

It is the business of your Electric Power Company to see that these modern servants are constantly on the job—day and night.

MADE BY BUTTERWORTH . . . .

BUTTERWORTH Calender Rolls are made of materials especially selected for the purpose. Only the finest grade of cotton is used, and all husk and paper are carefully selected.

All Butterworth Rolls have tapered wedges and are so constructed that they can never come loose from the shaft. Every half-inch of every roll is tested before the roll leaves our plant.

When you buy Butterworth Calender Rolls or let Butterworth refill your rolls you have the benefit of more than 50 years' experience in the making and refilling of calender rolls, as well as the assurance of quality and service always associated with Butterworth products.

Preparation for Living . . . . .

That's what you're really after in college. You want to discover the best ways and means of earning a livelihood . . . of being worth your salt in the world.

Preparation for living . . . that's what Pilot Protection also spells. Get it while health and youth allow you low rates.

Then you'll be prepared to live boldly, knowing that if the unexpected happens, your dependents are cared for; knowing that if you are disabled, you'll not be a burden upon your family.

SPOOLING and WARPING the BARBER-COLMAN Way

This modern way of Spooling and Warping is the Barber-Colman Way — using Automatic Spoolers and High Speed Warpers. The Automatic Spooler winds at 1200 yards per minute, building up a self-sustaining package (called a “cheese”) on a ball-bearing core and winding the yarn under low and uniform air friction tension. The High Speed Warper winds at 500 to 600 yards per minute, which is an increase of 900% and more over the old slow speed system, and on this machine also air friction produces a low uniform tension in the yarn. The result is that warps are more uniform, there are less loom stops in the weave room, the product is improved and there are many other valuable advantages. Let us tell you about them.

BUDGET COSTING

A system of budget costing is the scientific method of controlling costs. It presents the exact cost for making each construction of cloth and each size of yarn.

It is a standard of measurement for determining the difference between what the products should cost and what they are actually costing to make. At the end of each week the following information is available:

- (a) Whether the weekly payroll was more or less than the budget requirements.
- (b) Whether or not the production of the week was sufficient to absorb the spindle and loom expenses as provided for in the budget.

From this information it is known promptly at the close of each week whether the actual cost was more or less than budget requirements. It is simple, accurate, scientific and a master control heretofore unapproached in costing procedures.

A Loom For Every Purpose

THE STAFFORD COMPANY builds automatic looms that meet the requirements of every branch of the textile industry—an Automatic Shuttle Changing Loom for difficult weaving situations, for rayon, and in general where quality counts; an Automatic Bobbin Changing Loom where conditions favor its use. In the silk field the famous Stafford Silk Loom has been perfected along the most advanced lines leading to automatic operation. There is a worth while story of modern engineering involved in the design of each of these three basic looms. We welcome requests for information.

Think This Over!

Every person comes ultimately to at least one of these four situations in life:

1. EARLY DEATH
2. TOTAL AND PERMANENT DISABILITY
3. FINANCIAL REVERSES
4. OLD AGE

Jefferson Standard policies protect loved ones if you die; pay you an income if you are disabled; through increasing cash and loan values, bolster your financial strength in emergencies; afford a convenient and safe plan for saving that will make you financially independent in the sunset days of life.
