

CLOVER LEAVES

1970

North Carolina 4-H Congress - N. C. State University

DEBBIE, DIANNE, AND DORIS TAKE DRESS REVIEW HONORS

DEBBIE

Lady Luck smiled on three teenagers, whose first names began with "D" when winners were announced last evening in the State 4-H Dress Revue, held at the Coliseum on the North Carolina State University campus.

The three young ladies, all from eastern North Carolina, eased by their competitors, as they modeled ensembles they had sewn themselves.

Debbie Godwin, Bayboro, walked off with top honors, modeling a tomato red coat dress and red, white and blue print dress ensemble. She chose navy shoes, hat, and gloves as accessories to her costume.

Runnerup, Dianne Bowen of Windsor, modeled a spring green dotted Swiss mini-skirted dress.

Third place honors went to Doris Autry, Stedman, who had made a navy and white striped coat, navy dress, navy hat, and reversible scarf.

Rounding out the top five placings were Cathy Hefner, Catawba County, and Martha Childers, McDowell County.

Other county winners receiving recognition among the top ten at the State revue were Patricia Ann Dean, Wake; Cynthia Hildreth, Anson; Melinda Lawrence, Surry; Ann Barber, Martin; and Kathy Rogers, Haywood.

The 1970 State Dress Revue was presented by Hoke County-

Scotland County extension staffs and assisted by agents and specialists from throughout the State.

The revue, set in a drug store setting, was narrated by Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hancock of Scotland County, local 4-H supporters.

Other State 4-H Dress Review participants listed alphabetically by counties were:

Glenda Wilkins, Alamance; Cathy Lytle, Buncombe; Gail Lawing, Burke; Joan Jordan, Chowan; Marcia Winnies, Columbus; Kathy Williams, Davie; Susan Hooper, Harnett; Scottie Ann Stanton, Henderson; Linda Sue Bradley, Jackson; Deborah

(continued on page 2)

Thursday, July 30, 1970

DIANNE

DORIS

"LEARN, LIVE, SERVE, THROUGH 4-H"

DRESS REVUE (continued)

Ann Dale, Johnston; Belinda Alexander, Mecklenburg; Susan McCaskill, Moore; Becky Fisher, Northampton; Gwindolyn Fonville, Onslow; Judy Carol McQueen, Richmond; Barbara Kerr, Rowan;

And Mary Frances Warren, Sampson; Debbie Johnston, Scotland; Bonnie Edwards, Vance; Arlene Bender, Warren; Geraldine Mercer, Wayne; and Jan Walsh, Wilkes.

ANOTHER'S VIEW

"Okay" was the word Ronnie Bullock, the Virginia delegate, used to describe North Carolina Wednesday. William Elliot, the out-of-state delegate from Tennessee, said North Carolina was "all right" so far. He said everyone was real friendly. We welcome our out-of-state delegates and hope, as they say, they're having a great time.

Jo Ann Nance
Northampton County

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS RECOGNIZED

Four North Carolina 4-H members who had been selected to receive $100 scholarships for outstanding 4-H and scholastic achievement were recognized at the Key Award banquet Wednesday night.

The recipients recognized were: Belinda Hartman, Rt. 8, Lexington; Charles Wayne Lutz, Rt. 3, Newton; Janice Marie Self, Rt. 5, Lincolnton; and John L. Pippin, Jr., Rt. 2, Fremont.

These scholarships are awarded annually by the Cities Service Co.

4-H KING AND QUEEN OF HEALTH

State 4-H Leader Chester Black congratulates Gary Davis and Linda Cunningham after they were selected king and queen Tuesday night.

Gary and Linda won expense-paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress which will be held in Chicago in November. There they will compete for national honors.

LIVESTOCK JUDGING TEAM

Pictured at left is the 1970 North Carolina 4-H Livestock Judging Team. Selected on an individual basis, the winners will enter national competition in November. The team is shown with Dr. Robert McGuire, extension animal husbandry specialist at NCSU, left, and R. A. Hayes, Wilson County agricultural extension agent, right, who will serve as coach. Members are, left to right, Ralph Blalock, Howard Scott, Miriam Cook, and David Buffaloe.

CLUB CONGRESS IS A FAMILY AFFAIR

It's a "Family Affair" for the Eugene Jordans of Chowan County. All except for Dad that is; he is at home back in Chowan County.

Mrs. Eugene Jordan is at Club Congress for the first time as a leader. She has been a 4-H Adult Leader for 11 years. Mrs. Jordan, we're glad you came. With her are their five children, Susan, Joan, Gene, Bill and Bob. Their ages range from 10 to 16.

Four of the five are here on scholarships due to being named district winners. Joan won two-- in dress revue and home improvement, but she could only accept one of them.

I bet Mrs. Jordan has at least one thing to say about Club Congress. "It was nice not to have to do cooking and wash dishes this week." But just think of all the uniforms she will have dirty upon returning home.

Nancy Clinton
Lincoln County

SPEAKS UP FOR FREEDOM

This morning during assembly, Mr. Karl Kiilsholm spoke to us on "What Freedom Means to Me." Mr. Kiilsholm was born in Iowa, but after his mother's death he moved to his father's native Denmark. He received his education there and served in the armed forces. He personally experienced the Nazi occupation.

In 1950 he returned to the United States.

In his speech he said:

"I feel that it is tragic that not all citizens of the United States realize and appreciate the full meaning of a free society--democracy. I hope that I may contribute some small part toward a better understanding of the advantages we have as free people."

"While serving in the army, I learned to enjoy freedom---the hard way," he added.

Sharon Rochelle
Onslow County

KEY AWARD BANQUET

At the Key Award banquet yesterday afternoon, Mr. Andrew A. Best, M. D. of Greenville spoke to us on "The Challenge Today."

Dr. Best grew up as a 4-H member. He served as county council member, state council vice-president and president.

Although he is a doctor, he is better known for his civic, social, and educational service.

Dr. Best convinced us that he has great faith in the youth of today. While talking with him after the banquet he told me "I say nothing I don't believe in, and if the young people don't help us, then I hope God can."

This former 4-H'er not only says he is willing to do. Dr. Best donated the first $1,000 to the 4-H Development Fund in the new quarter million dollar campaign.

We all had a very enjoyable evening with Dr. Best.

Marlene Williams
Beaufort County

SPECIAL INTEREST GROUP SPEAKER

Wednesday, Mr. Charles Dunn, director of the State Bureau of Investigation, gave an interesting talk on "Drugs and You."

He said that drugs can be found anywhere and that the drug scene is getting worse. After answering numerous questions he showed us examples of speed, grass, LSD, and other drugs.

We should thank Mr. Dunn for his helpful information. Let's be careful and not start taking drugs. If you know someone on drugs, HELP him.

Marcia Davidson
Iredell County

WINNER OVERJOYED

"I just feel like I'm standing on ten feet of air." Such were the words of Debbie Godwin soon after she was named winner of the Dress Revue. While talking and listening to Debbie one could sense a feeling of relief and jubilation.

Charles Ivey
Duplin County

4-H TALENT ON PARADE TONIGHT

The 4-H Talent Parade will feature 22 acts from all over North Carolina. All of these acts were blue ribbon winners in district competition, so be prepared for a "really great show."

Master of ceremonies for the final evening session of this 4-H Congress will be Reese Edwards, radio editor for the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service.

Opening the program is a foot stomping group from Buncombe County, Doing the square dance is an ensemble consisting of Steve Lance, Ronald Maynard, Teresa Bostic, Lynn Bonham, Sharon Cannon, Marque Warrick, Toone Lindsay, Riley Bennett, Darren Allman, Becky Glance, Jeff Allen, Jeff Lance, Abe Lindsay, Bill Melton, Jimmy Fugua, Cathy Cannon, Sherri Maynard, and Pam Swayngim.

A brother and sister act will be presented by the Greene family from Gates County. The sisters, Emily and Ann, do the singing, and the brothers, Larry, Otis, Paul, Ray, and Gerald, provide the instrumental background. They call themselves the Carolina Swingers.

From Rowan County, dancing to "Aquarius" will be LuAnne Hall. Katherine Bryant of Caswell County will sing "Hello Young Lovers," and the fantasy of Raggedy Ann and Andy will be presented by Debbie McCracken and Gaye Palmer of Haywood County.

Karen Bost of Lee County will present an acrobatic dance. This will be followed by a song and dance routine featuring four Davidson County girls, Lee Weddington, Gail Crouse, Addie Sexton, and Latefa Barnes. Vivian and Philip Woods of Alamance County will then present a skit.

A Hyde County 4-H'er will sing his "Theme Song." His name is Julian McKinney. Julia Layman of Davidson County will ballet to "The Fountain." And for a real down South treat, Phyllis Jones and Diane Gambill of Ashe County will dance the Charleston. Eugene Pharr of Hertford County will do his own rendition of "Hard to Handle."

To get the audience warmed up even further, Kathy Ward of Henderson County will present a fire baton act. A different kind of fashion show from that seen last night will be presented by a Buncombe County group made up of Shelia Marlowe, Paul Carter, Kim Peek, Terry Peek, Carrite Carter, Donna Wyche, Brenda Kanupp, David Lunsford, Kim McKinney, Debra Marlowe, Elizabeth Wyche, Neil Carter, and Selma Carter.

Singing "Everybody Loves Saturday Night" in five languages will be Renay and Lantz Vanhorn. They are from Tyrrell County. Ray Speight, Darius Shakleford, and Jerry Stokes of Greene County will sing "My Special Prayer." A versatile dancer, Hazel Lovelace, from Burke County will dance to "Little Egypt."

Robert Laws of Granville County will be doing some fancy footwork, and Charlie McKnight of Franklin County will play and sing "Green Green Grass of Home." To tap dance to the tune "It's Today" will be Caswell County 4-H'ers Glenna Jo Page, Kay Chandler, and Susan Lassiter.

Renee Coates of Rowan County will sing "Love, This Is My Song." Closing the evening's talent presentation, Nova Thomas and Buddy Landen will present their own arrangement of "Hello Dolly."

Have Fun, All!