North Carolina 4-H Congress - N. C. State University

GOVERNOR HOLSHOUSER TO SPEAK

GOVERNOR
HOLSHOUSER

Governor James E. (Jim) Holshouser will address the session tonight. Governor Holshouser has a strong record of interest in youth and their role in North Carolina today.

A native of Watauga County, Holshouser was active in Scouts. In high school, he was a member of his 4-H community club and was president of his Senior Class. While at Davidson College, Holshouser was Sports Editor of the college newspaper and the yearbook. After graduation he went to the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill School of Law where he was president of the Senior Class.

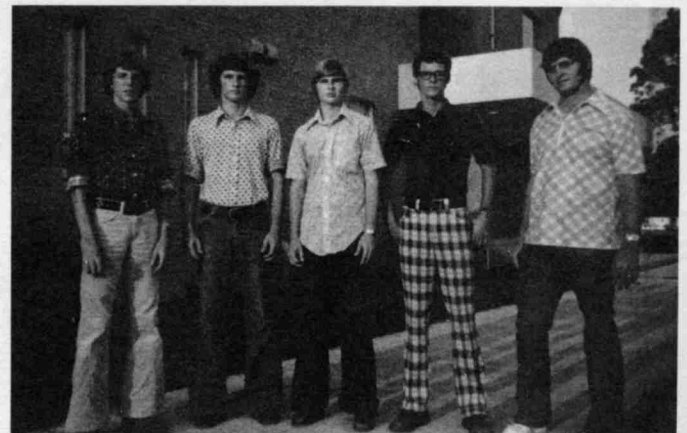

Youth leadership continues to be important to the Governor. He has served as a church youth leader, and has held numerous committee appointments relating to young people.

MANCHEK BAND TO ENTERTAIN

Tonight at the Governor Scott Pavilion the Bladen County Manchek Band will be featured.

The popular band will play as delegates and guests enter the pavilion from 7:15 until 7:30 p. m. Later this evening the Manchek Band will furnish the latest dance music from 10:00-11:00.

Members of the band are Francis Daniel, Thad Williams, Mitchell Evans, Doug Evans, Quentin Leggett, and Greg Kornegay--all of Bladen County.

"LEARN, LIVE, SERVE, THROUGH 4-H"

4-H'ERS COP NATIONAL HONORS

North Carolina's 40-member delegation received 10 national honors and $7,300 in scholarships at the 52nd National 4-H Congress.

Fred Baggott of Forsyth received a $1,600 forestry scholarship. Susan Craft of Duplin won a $1,000 scholarship in the safety program.

Winners of $700 scholarships and their programs were Adrian Gaskins, Craven, health; Julia Lynne Snyder, Forsyth, horse; Robin Kinton, Harnett, food-nutrition; Neal Grose, Iredell, dairy; and Lynne Yow, Randolph, bread.

David Palmer of Haywood County received a $600 scholarship in the achievement program, and Danny Moore of Caldwell won a $600 scholarship from the Alpha Gamma Rho Educational Foundation.

Dr. Gerald M. Bolick of Caldwell was cited as one of eight national 4-H alumni winners.

NORTH CAROLINA MEETS PLEDGE

North Carolina's delegates to the National 4-H Conference in Washington, D. C., April 20-25, presented Luke M. Schruben, National 4-H Foundation consultant, with a check for $25,000. The check represented the final payment on North Carolina's pledge of $75,000 to the National 4-H Center's Expansion Program.

The delegates were: (left to right) Lynn Hall and Willie Moore, both of Duplin County; Schruben; Sharon Runion, Mitchell County; and Patricia Todd, Davidson County.

HORTICULTURE WINNERS

North Carolina 4-H members won several national honors at the National Junior Horticultural Association annual meeting in Oklahoma City, Okla., in November.

Winners of first place honors and their programs were Marta Rogerson, Rt. 1, Tyner, horticultural marketing demonstration; Mary Lillian Landen, Lilesville, fruit and vegetable use demonstration; Lynn Hall, Rt. 1, Warsaw, landscaping demonstration; and Janet Vick of Hertford County, in the environmental beautification project.

Dee McNamara, 5937 Hedgecock Rd., Kernersville, was re-elected to the Board of Directors.

Some 400 persons from 35 states attended the Horticultural Meeting, including a delegation of 35 North Carolinians.

DEVELOPMENT FUND

Twelve 1974 Tar Heel high school graduates have been awarded $500 scholarships through the North Carolina 4-H Development Fund.

Recipients were announced by Wayne A. Corpening, senior vice president of Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., Winston-Salem, and president of the fund.

Corpening pointed out that this year's 12 grants of $500 each bring the total amount to $78,000 that the fund has awarded outstanding 4-H members in the state during the last 13 years.

The scholarship winners are: David Ruff, 543 Tracy Grove Rd., Hendersonville; Janice Shook, Big Ridge Route, Glenville; William Stuart McLaury, Rt. 2, Hiddenite; Cynthia Rimmer, Troutman; Joseph Alston, Nashville; Donna Jean Ward, Rt. 1, Efland; Kenneth N. McCaskill, Rt. 1, West End; Rita Diana Ross, Rt. 3, Lillington; Douglas Lee, Rt. 9, Kinston; Carla Fields, LaGrange; Virginia Ann Andrews, Rt. 1, Oak City; and Mary Helen Dail, 20 Westover Heights, Edenton.

The 4-H Development Fund, with headquarters at North Carolina State University at Raleigh, was organized in 1958 by friends and alumni of 4-H to help support certain phases of the youth program. The 4-H program is conducted by NCSU through the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service which has an office in each county.

The winners were selected on the basis of their high school records, evidence of college aptitude and 4-H records. The scholarships are to be used for college study during the 1974-75 school year.

INTERNATIONAL DELEGATE

Melanie McKinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McKinney, Rt. 2, Salisbury, was one of eight U.S. delegates to the Canadian National 4-H Conference, Nov. 10-14.

Miss McKinney and the other U.S. delegates served as 4-H ambassadors to the five-day meeting in Ottawa and Toronto as guests of the Canadian Council of 4-H Clubs.

International Delegate Continued

Expenses were paid by the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago, Ill., and International Mineral and Chemical Corp. Skokie, Ill.

The delegates were selected on the basis of leadership and citizenship activities.

Miss McKinney, a 1974 graduate of South Rowan High School, has been a 4-H member for eight years. She has won numerous county, district and state honors.

HARRILL SCHOLARSHIPS

Two outstanding North Carolina 4-H members have been selected to receive L. R. Harrill Scholarships for college study.

Recipients of the 1974 grants, worth $500 each, are Lynne Yow, Seagrove, and William S. Pass, Rt. 1, Blanche.

Wayne A. Corpening, senior vice president of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company in Winston-Salem and president of the North Carolina 4-H Development Fund, announced the winners. The 4-H Development Fund, with headquarters at North Carolina State University, handles the selection of recipients.

The Harrill Scholarships were begun in 1964. They are given by Mrs. L. R. Harrill of Raleigh in honor of her husband who served for 37 years as head of the North Carolina 4-H program. He retired in 1963.

Miss Yow, the daughter of Mrs. H. C. Yow, and a graduate of Southwestern Randolph High School, plans to attend the University of North Carolina at Greensboro or East Carolina University.

The son of Mrs. Eva J. Pass and a graduate of Bartlett Yancey High School, Pass plans to attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

SMITH-DOUGLAS SCHOLARSHIP WINNER

Norman A. Jordan, Jr., Rt. 4, Siler City, has been named winner of a $325 scholarship for outstanding 4-H and scholastic achievement. Dr. Chester Black, state 4-H leader, said Jordan will receive the scholarship awarded by Smith-Douglass, a Div. of Borden Company.

A recent graduate of Jordan-Matthews High School, Jordan plans to attend NCSU.
