"IMPROVING FAMILY AND COMMUNITY LIVING"

4-H Club Week

JULY 25-30, 1955

NORTH CAROLINA STATE COLLEGE
RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

A HEALTHY LOOKING PAIR... That's Rachel Journey, Iredell County, and Manly Wilder, Nash County, our new Queen and King of Health.

GOOD HEALTH AND
'A PLACE IN THE SUN'

By Tom Garrett (Haywood)

Clay and Cherokee counties did an excellent job last night in presenting an inspiring Health Pageant built around the theme, "A Place in the Sun."

The first scene showed the opportunities 4-H'ers have as the 4-H Chorus sang 'There went up a Mist From the Earth.' In the second scene a man became the tiller of the soil. This was to show us how we must care for the soil and how we depend on it a source of life.

'Darkness Upon the Earth', the third

FROM THE GOVERNOR

By Ruth Temple (Wake)

A special treat was in store for all of us in assembly this morning when Nancy Mason introduced our own Governor Hodges and Mrs. Hodges.

Mrs. Hodges told us that it was grand to be here with us, and she expressed her regrets for not having us visit the mansion this year. She promised us a big time there next year.

Governor Hodges impressed us all with a most inspiring message. He made us feel proud of our leaders as he paid tribute to our own "Mr. 4-H Harrill".

VEGETABLE USE DEMONSTRATIONS

By Jo Ann Mills (Beaufort)

Mary Hardy of Gaston really showed her audience in Withers Auditorium yesterday how vegetables can be tasty, colorful and interesting.

The title of Mary's winning demonstration was "Meet the Vegetables."

She will represent North Carolina at New Orleans where she will compete for national honors. Her trip will be sponsored by the following chain stores: Roses, Kress's McClellan and Woolworth.

Also, giving vegetable use demonstrations were Marjorie Gray, Green County, Catherine Roberts, Orange County; Margaret Brooks, Anson; and a team Annie Lou Lane and Jo Ann Matthews of Perquimans County.

Judging the demonstrations were Mrs. Butler, Miss Pritchard and Dr. Jones.

MR. HISTORIAN

Glenn W. Woodley, retiring State Historian, has had a wide variety of projects and activities since he joined the 4-H Club in Columbia, N. C. 8 years ago.

His main projects are Farm and Home Electric, Farm and Home Safety, Field Crops and Livestock. He is also noted for his leadership, citizenship, community relations and recreation and rural arts activities.

Glenn has been county winner in numerous projects; district winner twice in achievement, leadership, recreation and rural arts, and in Farm and Home Electric. He also has been district winner in Community Relations, State winner in Citizenship, and territorial winner in Farm and Home Electric. He has been a delegate to National 4-H Congress and attended Danforth Camp in Michigan last year.

Glenn plans to enter State College next fall to study agriculture.

A CORRECTION

Yesterday we erroneously reported Midgie Honeycutt and Frank King, Rowan County, as placing third with "Midgie Goes to Market" in the vegetable marketing demonstration. Actually, they placed second. Our apologies, and it won't happen again . . . This year anyway.

FROM OUR GOVERNOR

He said that he would have preferred to have been in Mr. Harrill's shoes and made the fine contribution to the South as he affected the lives of young people.

He recalled the 4-H pledge and challenged us to use what we have received from 4-H to assure North Carolina of a bright future. He also told us that we must learn to lead, learn to dare, and have not only imagination but also courage and energy.

It was shocking news for us to learn that our state ranks so low economically. "But you're going to change that," our Governor said. "Be willing to make your own contribution of service," he continued.

He concluded with a serious note by saying that as good and intelligent as we are, we, as young people, are still North Carolina's greatest killers through reckless driving. Then he asked that all 4-H'ers strive to set an example in safety.

Yes, Governor Hodges, we accept your challenge and will let our 4-H light shine as we set our example.

RECREATION LEADERSHIP

Another truly wonderful class that is being carried on this week is "Recreation Leadership," with Mrs. Anne Livingston in charge.

The class is designed to teach 4-H'ers games and recreation ideas that they can take back to the counties to help make their own clubs better.

HERTFORD TEAM WINS IN PEANUTS

By Erwin Fuller (Franklin)

North Carolina 4-H'ers had an opportunity to view a new phase of work yesterday-the peanut demonstrations. Representatives from three districts provided some close competition.

Hertford County's team of Dick Whitley and Donald Breth was declared State Winners after some lengthy discussion among the judges. In their topic, "To Dust is a Must," they stressed the advantages of dusting to control leaf spot.

Erwin Mansfield, of Perquimans County, came in for a close second, and Sampson County's team of J. M. Odham and O. L. Croom was third. Both of these demonstrations were entitled "The Proper Way to Apply Potash to Peanuts."

OTHER WINNERS

Winners in other contests held yesterday afternoon are as follows:

Poultry--Judy Almond, Aberdeen, Rt. 1, Hoke County.

Soil and Water Conservation -- Linda Matthews, East Bend (individual winner); Duane McDougald, Hamrick and John Bennett, Micaville, Yancey County (team winners).

Dairy Management -- Brooks E. Piercy Jr., Boiling Springs, Cleveland County, first place; and the team of Bobby Matthews and Jimmy Cherry, both of Wilmington, second place.

Other contests coming up later today include: Electric, Forestry, Livestock Conservation, Forage Crops and Tractor Operators.

- Dill - "He has a head like a doorknob."
- Gill - "How come?"
- Dill - "Any girl can turn it."

"CAMPAIGN JITTERS"

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! The North Carolina 4-H delegates are having a time electing their state council officers.

Yesterday in the primary election Ronald Pinkerton was elected as our 1956 Sec.-Treas. Runoffs were being held today for the other offices. They are:

- President ----- Nancy Johnson
Nancy Tuttle
- Vice-Pres.----- Neal Kelley
Jackie Morris
- Historian ----- Joan Crawford
Ruth Temple

We aren't taking any bets on who will win the runoff elections, but we'll venture a guess that the winners will give their very best to the 4-H program in North Carolina during their tenure of office for the coming year.

And we expect an equally good response from those candidates who are not elected. It takes everyone in there pitching to make our 4-H program what it should be!!!

GOOD HEALTH AND 'A PLACE IN THE SUN'

scene, informed 4-H'ers to accept defeat as a challenge and not let it overcome them.

In the fourth scene, 'Light Shone in the Darkness.' This scene is where youth overcomes ignorance and after darkness comes light.

'That We Might Have Life' was the theme of the fifth scene. Youth gains abundance through sharing in club work.

The sixth and final scene, "A Place in the Sun," stressed the need for health improvements to work for the abundance of life. Rachel Journey, Iredell, and Manly Wilder, Nash, our new queen and king of health, have caught the vision of health improvements and followed it through with a lot of work in winning this title.

BIG PROGRAM PLANNED FOR FINAL NIGHT

By Clyde Templeton (Iredell)

"Good to the very last drop," goes the old saying and this certainly holds true for our annual 4-H Club Week's last program.

Mr. G. L. Carter will bring on the Parade of 4-H Talent in Reynolds Coliseum. Mr. Carter reports that 14 talent groups will be featured on the program and he promises a big program of entertainment.

4-H'ers have anxiously been awaiting the concert to be given by our own State 4-H Band with Major C. D. Kutschinski conducting at tonight's meeting.

The program will end as we gather at Freshman field for the candlelighting ceremony. At this impressive point, we will light a candle and pledge ourselves to carry this 4-H light back home!

A WORD OF THANKS

By Clyde Templeton (Iredell)

On behalf of the reporters of "Clover Leaves," I would like to express our thanks and appreciation to our wonderful advisors during the week. We realize that without the organizing and "dirty" work of Mr. Harold Parker, assistant editor, and the staff in the mimeograph room, the publishing of "Clover Leaves" would have been impossible.

We also appreciate the interest shown by assistant agents - Miss Carolyn Crouse, Mr. Douglas Young, and Miss Martha Cashion. We learned to love each of them and will always remember the hours of work and fun together!

County Agent: (leaning over rail of pig pen) - "Do you know, if you'd bile the corn before you feed it to them hawgs, they'd digest it in half the time?"

Philosophic Farmer - Aw! Pth, pth! What's time to a hawg, anyway?"

The new farm hand was awakened at 4:00 a.m. by the farmer, who announced that they were going to cut oats.

"Are they wild oats?"

"No, why?"

"Then why do you have to sneak up on them in the dark?"

Summer Visitor - "I do hope you keep your cows in a pasture."

Milkman - "Yes, madam, of course we keep them in a pasture."

Summer Visitor - "I'm so glad to hear that. I have been told that pasteurized milk is much the safest."
