DEDICATION

To those brave boys of our Forestry School who have given their lives in order that we may continue to enjoy our democratic way of life, we humbly dedicate this volume.

Tech. Sgt. MURRAY LEBOWITZ of Brooklyn, N. Y., was killed in the crash of a Liberator bomber near Henderson Field, Guadalcanal, last April 29. When called to service, he lacked only a few months of being graduated, with the Class of 1942.

In memory of her son, Mrs. David Lebowitz launched a campaign to obtain $300,000 in War Bond subscriptions to replace the plane in which Murray and his six companions perished while on a bombing mission. Mrs. Lebowitz was successful in completing the drive with $351,875.75 and the bomber will be named "Murray."

JAMES H. GRIFFIN graduated with the Class of 1937. After graduation he joined the Army Air Corps. He met his untimely death in the crash of the army plane which he was piloting on Aug. 17, 1940, near Ruston, La. Lt. Griffin with his three companions was returning from a week-end visit with relatives at Biltmore, N. C. when the accident occurred.

CAPTAIN HENRY CHURCHILL BRAGAW, son of Mrs. Helen G. Bragaw of Southport, was killed in action in defense of his country on Jan. 22, 1944. He was with the 5th Army, in the invasion of Italy, and was wounded on Christmas Day. Recovering from his wounds, he returned to his command in eight days. Don Whitehead, foreign correspondent of the AP wrote of him as follows:

"For his cool, daring leadership in organizing the defense and encouraging the men under intense enemy fire, 31-year old Lt. Henry C. Bragaw... is being recommended for battlefield promotion.

"Bragaw is a slender, soft-voiced Southerner who was a horticulturist on a North Carolina plantation before the war. He sports a fierce red handlebar moustache which is his identification with his troops.

"'Bragaw was a cool one,' a colonel said. 'He stayed in there in the hottest part of the fight to keep the men organized and their spirits up.'"

CAPT. JULIAN V. LYON of Creedmoor, N. C. was captured by the Japanese at the Battle of Bataan, and was held as prisoner. It is not definitely known whether he is still living. He was a Captain in the U. S. Marines.

Julian graduated in 1939.

We regret to inform the Alumni of the death of Joseph H. Mulhall. The details below have been furnished by Mrs. J. V. Hofmann.

Joe left State in March of 1942 and was placed in the Signal Corps at Scott Field, Ill. On Christmas Eve of the same year he was placed in Bronx Veterans Hospital, where, after an unsuccessful operation on his knee, his leg was amputated. While recuperating in the hospital, Joe learned handicraft and became a favorite with his associates there.

In September he returned to his home where he continued to improve and learned to use his artificial limb quite well. During Christmas of 1943, he wrote the Forestry Department that he was planning to resume his studies at State in March. However, in January, he was taken ill, but did not want to return to the hospital for fear that he would not get back in school. Within three days after the doctor had ordered him back to the hospital, he became worse and passed away. His death was attributed to sepsis. He was buried in the uniform of which he was so proud, with full military honors.

Progress Report for the Hofmann Forest
for 1943

by G. E. Jackson

The past year was a great one on the Hofmann Forest. Game was plentiful, logging good, forest fires few and small, the cattle program was expanded and all financial obligations were met.

During 1943, 469 deer and 5 bear were killed on the forest in 27 days. Daily permits were sold as follows: legal residents of Jones and Onslow Counties, $1.10 each and all others at $2.10 each. 840 work permits were issued and used by local sportsmen who took part in the hunters' work program. This gave 2,121 hunting days put in during the season for an average of a deer for every 7 hunters. Hunting was good in all parts of the forest.

The N. C. Forestry Foundation operated a sawmill on the forest, and special orders were cut for the defense program and local consumption. R. L. Humphrey was foreman. A T.D. No. 9 International Trac-Tractor was purchased for logging, road construction, and plowing fire lanes.

The Williams-McKeithan Lumber Co. ran a sawmill and logging operation on the forest, the logs and lumber being hauled to their plant at Pollocksville. Three miles of road were built to help in their operations. The entire cut for the year was less than the annual growth.

All the heifer calves for 1942 and 1943 were kept on the forest. Several cows and two bulls were also added to the herd. The four months' winter grazing experiment with cottonseed meal as a supplement was run in the Deppe pastures. The herd was then driven through the forest to the Comfort pastures where the experiment was started to find the effects of grazing on logged and unlogged reed-bed areas. Nash Thomas was herdsman at Comfort and R. C. Adams at Deppe.

Only 93 acres were burned on the Hofmann Forest during 1943. Lonnie Griffin and his crew did a swell job in forest fire control. It was extremely dry during the fall and most of the adjoining woodland was burned. The woodland owners in the White Oak River area continued to cooperate with the Protective Association and many new areas were added, among which were the adjoining lands of the N. C. Pulp Co. An assistant ranger was appointed.

Crews were maintained at both the Deppe and Comfort Towers. Fire lanes were plowed around the plantations and all the forest roads were mowed and burned for fire lanes.

Editor's Note: Mr. Jackson resigned as Supervisor of the Hofmann Forest in March of this year and has accepted a position with the Hines Lumber Co. of Kinston. Jim Stingley was appointed to succeed him.

School Activities

by

J. V. Hofmann

The school year of 1943-44 has brought to a close, for the present, forestry teaching at State College. The Class of 1944 entered the Army last year and the class was reduced to two members. Six members returned in the fall with the ASTP, but were not permitted to take forestry courses until the second term. There were transferred again during the second term and sent to various other training camps, most of them to Officers' Candidate Schools. The policy of the College is to keep the classes open, even though the number enrolled is small.

Prof. J. W. Chalfant was called to the Army during the summer of 1943 and is now serving in Italy. Profs. Lenthall Wyman and W. D. Miller are teaching in the ASTP and Air Corps- teaching mathematics. Prof. Geo. K. Slocum is teaching history in the same program. Office and routine work of the school has been turned over almost entirely to Miss Mabel Conley and by her efficient help we have been able to keep all loose ends together. In the fall of 1943, Dr. Clemens Kaufman joined the forestry staff in the forest research field. He is teaching some classes, but spends most of his time on research.

During the year the McLean Forest in Hyde County was sold, in order to avoid scattered tracts of land, especially since this tract contained only 1550 acres and was not large enough to justify administrative and fire protection organizations. This tract was first acquired for work in the coastal type of forest. Afterwards, when the large tract later named the Hofmann Forest, was added, all the coastal forest types were provided for and duplicated the McLean Forest conditions.

The Poole Woods, which many of you will remember, was cut over completely and the land sold. This was done to dispose of the scattered tracts, and too, as the Poole Woods contained only 75 acres, it had no value to the school after the virgin timber was cut.

The Hope Valley Forest is a tract of 1750 acres about 4 miles from Chapel Hill. It was originally administered by the Farm Security Administration, but when the organization began to retrench, the deed was turned over to State College and put in charge of the Division of Forestry. There is under way now an operation cutting veneer stock and pulpwood. The Prison Farm area has not been cut, but the grazing experiment as outlined by Dr. Kaufman has been established on this area and will be continued for 10 years. The Hill Forest is in about the same condition as most of you remember it, although much cutting has been going on. Sawmill operations and pulpwood cutting are in progress, the latter being done by Italian prisoners during the past year. The deed to the Hill Forest has been transferred from the College to the N. C. Forestry Foundation, Inc. in order to facilitate the operation and development of the forest.

Up to the present time the total cut has been about 17,000,000 board feet, which makes an average annual cut of 1,700,000. These figures show that in the past the cut has not been equal to the growth. With this type of operation it is clear that the forest can be paid for completely in the 20-year period, as set up, and at the end of that period there will be more merchantable timber than there was at the beginning. There is a bond issue of 20-year serial bonds which are being liquidated on an annual payment plan.

At present there are 203 head of cattle on the forest, and it is intended to increase this herd to 2,000. Very definite improvement is shown in the fire situation on the grazed areas and a reduction of green briars, vines, and shrubs, leaving the areas in much better condition without injury to the pine.

On March 1 of this year, Mr. G. E. Jackson resigned as Supervisor of the Hofmann Forest, which position he had held since 1934. He did a very fine work in establishing cordial public relations around the forest, and in developing game programs and fire organizations. We regret his leaving, but are glad to feel that the training he received in connection with this work has made him a valuable man in a business organization. Mr. J. M. Stingley, Class of '35, was appointed Supervisor on March 1, 1944. He has had considerable experience in forestry, including his 6 years as District Forester in New Bern; he has been particularly outstanding in fire prevention, and his experience will greatly benefit our fire control organization.

The Hofmann Forest was acquired on June 27, 1934, and this year completes the ten-year period of operation as a school forest. Among the accomplishments are the completion of a cruise and the division of the forest into 10 blocks, each block being laid out in regular order and containing areas inside and outside of the forest boundaries. For this reason the blocks are of different size within the forest boundaries. Beginning in 1945 block No. 1 will be recruised and surveyed, and all data completely analyzed for a ten-year period. Continuing into the future, one block will be analyzed each year. It will be the duty of each class to complete the records of one block which will set up the program for a ten-year inventory of the forest. The timber cruise for 1935 has been completely analyzed and shows a total stand of timber, 8 inches and over, d.b.h., of 67,880,620 board feet. The total stand under 8 inches is 5,541,275 board feet, making a grand total of 73,421,895 bd.ft. This is the stand that was on the forest in 1935. The annual growth has been 1,712,436 bd. ft. This volume of merchantable material and growth is sufficient production to allow an annual cut of 1,910,875 bd.ft. Analysis of the figures shows a rotation of 70 years and a cutting cycle of 35 years. As the forest is recruised, and new inventories analyzed, it is very evident that the annual growth figures will be increased and the rotation will be shortened.
