The varsity debate squad of N. C. State College will meet the Albion debate team Friday evening at 7:30 in Pullen Hall.

At this time our affirmative team, composed of E. W. Buchanan and M. B. Amos, will meet the negative team of Albion College, composed of William Pitkin and Marvin Pahl.

The entire Albion debate team of Albion, Michigan, is composed of William Pitkin, Marvin Pahl, Leslie Williams, David Anderson, and Philipps Hembdt, and is making an extensive trip through the southeastern states to Florida. On this trip they will have debates with the following colleges: Transylvania College, Berea, both in Kentucky; North Carolina State College, Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., and Miami University.

100 Business Men Needed At State, Says Richardson

are fitted for. What he wants to do is to help them clear up all such problems of this nature.

"We are not only developing jobs for Seniors," said Professor Richardson, "but also acting as a clearing house for experienced men who are graduates of State College and desire positions in the field of business."

This year State College is being recognized by some of the outstanding business firms of America and Professor Richardson is expecting to place many of the Seniors with them. Some of those who Richardson has been communicating are: W. R. Grace & Co., B. F. Goodrich, Goodyear Rubber Co., Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., W. T. Grant, J. C. Penny, and S. S. Kresley. Many others with whom men have been placed in the past, such as American Bell Telephone Co., General Motors, and many others.

Not only is he trying to place men with firms outside the State of North Carolina, but is also making efforts to place as many men here in the State and in the South as possible.

Following is a statement from a letter received by Richardson, and according to him it is representative of the general business world. The statement follows: "The kind of men we are seeking for our business are the fellows who have given serious thought to their business careers and have made up their minds to enter upon the work as their life's work, for in our business, the same as in most any other line, it means starting in small and putting in a long hard pull in the hope of qualifying for a worthwhile position in later years, rather than a big job and big money in the first few years."

Mother: "Certainly, dear."
Johnny: "Aw, why can't I powder it like sister does?"

to editor his vacancy was filled by Fred Plonk.

May seemed the quietest of the 12 months. Fifteen new members were taken into the Blue Key honor fraternity, and the Golden Chain, senior honor society, tapped its twelve men in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium, rain preventing the ceremony being held at the memorial tower.

June saw the students pull out for home and the campus take on the appearance of a "Deserted Village" until summer school opened. "Petticoat" rule invaded the campus during the six hot weeks of summer school. Even some of the most gruff males fawned themselves susceptible to feminine touch. They gave their places in line at the cafeteria to the co-eds and shaved at least once a day.

Country invaded the city in August during farmers' week and 4-H club week here. Both young and old seemed to have a great time as they romped about over the campus in

DANCING PREFERRED TO DRILL PRACTICE, SAY STATE STUDENTS

The members of the R. O. T. C. Regiment at State College often say they get tired of drilling, and to offset this feeling of hard work there must be some form of recreation. Understanding that this is a college and college boys like to dance, it can be readily seen that the recreation might take this form.

The plans formulated by Colonel Early for the spring term social activities are now released and they promise a gay social whirl for the remainder of the year.

There will be a Regimental entertainment Monday, March 9, at 8 o'clock, in honor of the three colleges for young ladies in Raleigh: Peace, Meredith, and St. Mary's, and it is anticipated that the entire student body of the three schools will be present. The entertainment will consist of a band concert and various comedy stunts. The annual Regimental Dance will be held in the gymnasium about Friday, May 2. The Annual Scabbard and Blade Dance and dinner will be held at the Country Club on or about Friday, May 16. The Annual Lawn Peté with Military Review for the three girls' schools will be held about Monday, May 12, or a week later. A Sponsors Dance for R. O. T. C. Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomore Corporals in honor of the young ladies sponsoring R. O. T. C. organizations is planned for Commencement Week early in June. The Regimental Reviews will take place as usual during the spring term with the deans of State College schools, presidents of Wake Forest, Duke University, and the University of North Carolina, reviewing the Regiment.

Capt. W. R. Watson is in charge of all the social affairs of the R. O. T. C. unit. Cadet Lieut. W. T. Garibaldi is the social representative for the Senior class, while First Sergt. C. B. Turner looks after the interests of the Junior class.

kiddish games or sat quietly and discussed matters in general.

Completed buildings, remodeled structures, and campus improvements combined with hearty handshakes and glad halloos to welcome the return of students in September. Registration here last fall exceeded any number ever reached before. To the satisfaction of the campus "Don Quixotes" and disgust of many other students more women registered last fall than ever before. Now half a hundred or more of the fair (?) sex sit daily on the front seats and exhibit their legs to the eagle-eyed "profs" while the hapless males slouch in despair on the seats farther back. The men know that all the "A's" are going to the front row, where the sheery covered and shapely (?) limbs are partially exposed.

Red-blooded Americans turned Greekish in October. One hundred and fifty-two lads pledged themselves with the different Greek-letter fraternities.

A veritable whirlpool of excitement was stirred up during November—the month of peace, marked by the signing of the Armistice. Freshmen forgot that it was during this month that the treaty ending the World War was signed. They revolted against the wearing of the traditional "rat" cap. At one time it appeared that the red caps would be transferred into gray ashes, but cool-headed men averted rash action. During this month Prof. Edwin H. Paget and the Learz Literary Society sent a letter to Will Hays and many newspapers in which they advised the movie czar how motion pictures should be made, and pointed out alleged existing defects.

Retention of the freshman cap was assured by a small majority when a vote was taken in December. Lupton Wilkinson dropped in from a trip to Southern Pines and told the movie reformers a thing or two about making motion pictures. Among the things he told them, Wilkinson very emphatically explained that most all directors, actors and actresses, cameramen and scenario writers were college men and women. Midnight oil, cramming, and exams held sway for a few days before the students left for a two weeks Christmas holiday.

And now (and we are stepping over into 1930), with Hoover prosperity signs glaring from the highways of western North Carolina, big men saying business is good, and the Farm Board having five hundred million dollars for farm relief, just as many boys got housemaid's knees from pleading with Mr. Bowen for an extension of credit this last registration as ever before.

With the co-eds kicking up sand at every chance, it is a safe bet that State students and alumni during 1930 will get plenty of tongue exercise talking about happenings at the one time "Man's College."

MODEST CHEER LEADER RATES IN MILITARY

Here is a man who has adapted himself to southern customs and southern traditions in such a way that it is nothing short of remarkable. Evidence substantiating this statement can be collected best here on the campus of North Carolina State College. Calling Winston-Salem, N. C., and Buffalo, N. Y., as his home "Skip" Merriam entered State as a freshman in the fall of 1927 and promptly became imbued with an honest to God school spirit, which has merited him many honors during the two and a half years he has been here: head cheerleader, Associate Editor of TECHNICIAN, treasurer and business manager of Dramatic Club, White Spades, Cotillion Club, and Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity.

The military department at State College created a new position at the beginning of the school year—a very responsible position in fact—that of regimental sergeant major. In looking over the various men who were eligible, "Skip's" activity record and excellent military scholarship warranted his selection as the first regimental sergeant major of the R. O. T. C. unit at State College.

The selection of men like "Skip" is only one of the steps taken by Colonel Early to improve steadily the military unit at State, and his selections have always been justified by the results which these men have shown.

Under the leadership of William E. Sweet, as president of the Denver Y. M. C. A., that organization had a most significant development. He is known throughout the United States as one of the most active Christian laymen of the country. He has been influential in the political

STATE STUDENTS KEEPING ROOMS IN BETTER SHAPE ACCORDING TO WELLONS

"The boys are keeping their rooms in fine condition this year," said Mr. T. T. Wellons, superintendent of buildings, when interviewed by a TECHNICIAN reporter this week.

During the last inspection of buildings very little disorder was found. The boys are complying with the recently adopted dormitory rules to the fullest extent. Practically none are taking advantage of the privileges accorded them. They are all using the limited number of electric light bulbs, tables, chairs, beds, etc.

The new rooms in 1911 Dormitory were found in splendid condition. The walls are remaining clean and free of disfiguration.

Mr. Wellons has announced that the students may put pictures or anything else on the walls of the rooms without extra charge by using thumb tacks or Moors push tacks which can be secured at any book store.

MAN WORTH 98 CENTS

A man is worth only 98 cents chemically speaking, according to Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, New York. Dr. Mayo, in addressing the American College of Surgeons at Chicago, said the chemical elements in the body would not command more than that. Many of the food companies that distribute products containing calcium and phosphorus to build up bone and tissue will be very surprised to hear of this statement.

...and a Telephone man brought them together

In the Bell System research and development are not confined to engineering laboratory. These methods are applied also to the commercial side of the business, to make telephone service more and more useful.

An example is the classified telephone directory, with its convenient listings by trade and profession, for quick and easy reference.

Or take this other use of the classified directory. Telephone men analyzed advertising and merchandising. They saw that prospective purchasers of advertised products often did not know where to buy them. They developed a plan for listing these dealers under their brand name in local "Where to Buy It" directories—a genuine service to buyer and seller alike.

Duke Tops Basketball Clubs In State For Coming Season

State and Carolina Battle for Second Place in State Title Race

CATS AND DEACONS NEXT

In a review of the prospects of the 1930 basketball State champions, the Blue Devils of Duke seem to have the edge on the other State schools. N. C. State and Carolina run about neck and neck for the keystone position, with Davidson trailing third, and the Deacons of Wake Forest bringing up the rear.

Joe Croson

Around one tall, blond-headed chap, who hails from Washington, D. C., Duke has built a smooth-running machine with each cog functioning perfectly. The chap just spoken of is none other than the elongated Joe Croson, and this certain lad holds down the pivot position on the team which was runner-up of the Southern title. An all-Southern man in the person of Harry Daugherty, and Bill Weber from the two guards for the Devils. Weber, too, was an all-Southern man in 1928-29. At forward, Coach Eddie Cameron has George Rogers and Capt. Roland Farley, who round out the quintet.

Taking a look at our own school, State, plenty of material is found on hand. However, it is going to be a much harder job defending a conference title than it would be to a strong contender for it.

Coach Tebell is centering his attack of both offense and defense around the last of the all-Southern material, Capt. Johnnie Johnson. With the graduation of Goodwin, Bob Warren, and Capt. Hank Young, not much old and experienced material is left. The State champion freshman team of last year saved the day somewhat as Jimmy Brown and Woodward were advanced to the varsity. Both are forwards and went like a house after before the Christmas holidays, but since then Brown has failed to show up. Also, Big Gus Wright, a letter man from the last season's squad, has failed to report for practice. Each of the men left for their respective homes for the holidays, and nothing has been heard of them since.

One other worry in the Terrors'

WADDELL, COMISKEY DECLARED INELIGIBLE

When the 1930-31 N. C. State football squad trots on the gridiron for practice, two very bright stars will be absent from the roll call, it was learned today.

The scholastic pruning knife heaved high and wide during the Christmas holidays, and thus "Shag" Waddell and "Mope" Comiskey were cut from the roll. These two men were graduated up from the champion freshman team, and would have made excellent material for Coach Gus Tebell, had not scholastic work interfered.

Both men were backs, with Waddell playing at half and Comiskey at full. Outside these two, all the freshmen participants of this season will be on hand next year.

GUS WRIGHT

Jimmy Brown, star forward, and Gus Wright, guard, of Coach Tebell's basketball squad have yet to report for practice.

DIXIE CRANS

Now 1930 begins—nearly 250 more school days in this year—250 nice, new, clean pages. What is State College going to write on them that will bring her credit? What new athletic records will be made? What new marks of distinction will be achieved? It is mostly up to you.

Coach Gustav Tebell comes back from Atlanta all pepped up over the game that was played New Year's Day. Looks as if his side won.

Also news from the football game in Atlanta was brought back about ex-Captain John Lepo. Lepo was in the game practically a whole quarter, and showed up well, it was stated.

We suppose the Collins-Carolina question has been settled, at least for the present, anyway. Chuck was offered around $10,000 to come to Georgetown University. It is doubtful if he will get that amount at Carolina, but some nice, fat offer must have been put before him.

And with the talk about Collins comes the message from the University of South Carolina that Billy Laval wants to quit. Laval, Furman coach for several years, must have landed on a better proposition from Clemson.

This new year also brings big questions for 1930. Will State produce another all-Southern basketball club? What will Duke do? What prospects has State in the coming track and baseball season?

We also see where Coach William A. Alexander, of Georgia Tech, has been elected president of the Coaches Convention of the United States, which met in New York City recently. At the meeting it was voted to leave the football rules as they are, with no change taking place, as was once mentioned.

Also from Princeton comes the news that Bill Roper has quit the coaching game. Roper has been the head coach at that school for many years. Business is his reason for retiring.

The sports department of The Technician wish to Fred Dixon, former sports editor, the best of luck and success in his future attainments.

NEW PACK LEADER

MACK STOUT

Mack Stout, stellar guard of the State Wolfpack football team, has been named captain of the 1930-31 eleven. The election took place at the annual banquet held at the Fair grounds just before the holidays. The selection of Stout was by unanimous choice. He succeeds John Lepo, of Youngstown, Ohio.

Stout, who hails from Sanford, will be a senior next year, and has played football his four years here at State.

Dr. Ray Sermon says of Stout, "He should be the outstanding guard in the Southern Conference next season; he has everything that it takes in this difficult position."

Stout is also a track man, performing in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, and throws the discus and javelin.

JIMMIE BROWN

Demon Deacons To Clash With State Basketeers Here

Monday night the old feud between State College and Wake Forest will be renewed as the two teams clash in basketball at 7:30 p. m. in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

Pat Miller brings practically his whole football team over for the game, only this time the participants are dressed a little more daintily, rather than in moleskin uniforms. Hutchins, Quillen, Baldwin, Benton, Mills, and Brogden, all football men, are to be used in the fray, it was stated. No starting line-up was announced from the Wake lads, but a team that has been functioning well above par is rounded into Edwards at center, Hutchins and Quillen as forwards, and Benton and Mills as guards.

State will probably start Gammon at the pivot position, Johnson (captain) and Larry Haar as forwards, and Bud Rose and Bill Brake as guards. If Brown is in uniform, Johnson will be placed at running guard, while Rose and Jimmy Brown will start at forward.

SEVERAL CHANGES NOTED IN VARSITY CAGE SQUAD

Loss of Several Stars to Cause Realignment in Wolfpack Line-up

Monday night when the State Terrors and the Demon Deacons clash in basketball here several changes will be noted.

It was announced today that Jimmy Brown of Jamesville, N. C., Big Gus Wright, Joe Ellington, and Hunky Warren were not registered in school. With two regulars absent from the line-up and two sub-centers, one of the main things that the State club needs, quite a change has been made by Coach Tebell for the game. Captain Johnnie Johnson, all-Southern material, has been shifted from running guard to forward as Haar's mate. Brake will replace Wright at guard and work with Rose, John Gammon, best candidate for center, will start at that pivot position, it was announced.

The above combination was put into effect yesterday, and very pleasing results were developed. However, the absence of Brown will be felt, as "Woody" Woodward is no two of getting in the game, and certain to be better

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE BASKETBALL

By Gus Tebell

It looks like a banner year for Southern Conference basketball. Never in its history has this association been blessed with so many good teams at the start of a race. Injuries and breaks of the game may force some of the better bets out of running before it's all over, but it is going to be mighty interesting.

Duke, the runner-up to the championship Wolfpack of last year, has its entire team intact, and they are hitting at mid-season form right now. They are going to be hard to stop.

The team that may do it is Kentucky, a good club, which did not lose a man from last year.

Washington and Lee, with its colorful Williams, lost only Lowry, and will be a much better team this year.

Tennessee has added a foot 5 inches to the four regulars of last year. They were a great team then and looked like the real "Dark Horse" of the conference.

Georgia, in the Southern end, should have the best team in that section. They have a veteran team, with the famous "Catfish" Smith as their pivot man.

The season started with Alabama taking two games from Tulane, Kentucky and Tennessee each won one from Clemson.

The fireworks start this week and we will know more about them all before long. With 23 schools represented, anything may and can happen. It looks like a great race.

men than Brown and Woodward have been seen working together.

Contest Speeded Up; Change Expected Soon to Become Permanent

JOHNSONS HEROES OF FRAY

The N. C. State Terrors inaugurated the new proposed basketball rules into the South last Wednesday night, and also won their second straight game when the quintet from High Point College fell in defeat to Coach Gus Tebell's charges by a count of 44 to 24.

The contest was speeded up quite a bit by the new laws of cage sport, and it is certain that before long some such changes as those proposed will take effect for permanent use.

Two Johnsons

Two Johnsons were heroes of the fray, one being Captain Johnnie of the State team and the other, Harry Johnson of the Panthers. These lads were all over the court at all times, and each caging difficult shots. The Panthers seemed to be more familiar with the proposed rules than State, as time after time the Terrors would lose the oval when attempting to pass in their own territory and which probably would have meant a tally.

As the toss-up at center was eliminated, the Panthers were given the ball at the end of their own goal to start the game. Unable to penetrate the State defense, and vice versa, the oval was thrown about the court for the opening six minutes of play before the scintillating Johnnie Johnson caged the ball. With State's captain and Larry Haar producing most of the action, the High Pointers were trailing by a 6-16 count at the half.

The second period opened with plenty of basketball, with the Panthers doing most of it. They caged several baskets in succession and came within five points of the Tebell-men. But this was stopped, and State resumed a lead that was never overtaken. The Panthers changed their mode of attack at the half and seemed to stage a comeback, but so did State.

Captain Mulligan, veteran Pointer; Zaovic, Gammon, and "Woody" Woodward all played a nice game, too, before a crowd estimated at about 4,000.

Score by periods:
State 16 28-44
High Point 6 18-24
Substitutions: State, Woodward (2), Gaylor (1), Morgan (3), Brake, Garfield, High Point, Ludwig, Perdue (1), Zaovic (6), Referee, Shepard (Army).

Quite a lot of State athletes have flunked out, or left school. If they like to participate in sports as well as they say, why not study a little and get to play?

This program was given as a part of the deputation work of the State College Y. M. C. A. for this year. In addition to Joe Moore and Stuart, State College was represented at the meeting by Leroy Clark and Harvey Whitley.

Beautiful and colorful settings, some of them among the most costly ever built for a motion picture, provide the backgrounds for Marilyn Miller's first picture, "Sally," which comes to the Palace Theater all next week.

The picture is made entirely in natural color by the Technicolor process, and is described as a dazzling production with gorgeous ballets and dancing ensembles, lilting melodies, comedy, and romance.

"Sally," as a stage vehicle, was one of the prettiest musical comedies in history. As a picture its beauty exceeds even that of the stage version, for the screen allows a much greater latitude in spectacular settings and effects. On the stage "Sally" was Marilyn Miller's greatest success, on the screen it has already established her as a star of the first magnitude.

The big cafe scenes, for which an entire restaurant was constructed and equipped, from the front door to the kitchen, the huge Balkan gardens, the spectacular revue scenes, and the exquisite Long Island garden party all are rich and colorful to a degree which is said to be unequalled in the history of the screen.

Miss Miller is surrounded by a splendid cast. Alexander Gray, who sang the leading role in "The Desert Song" on the stage, plays opposite her, and Pert Kelton, late of Ziegfeld's "Rio Rita," is the ingenue.

Joe E. Brown, T. Roy Barnes and Ford Sterling provide much of the comedy. Others in the cast are E. J. Ratcliffe, Maud Turner, Gordon, Jack Duffy and many more.

"Sally" is a First National and Vitaphone production. The song hits of the original stage version have been augmented by specially written numbers for the picture.

Life on the rolling wave has its trials and tribulations, most of them comic, for William Haines, in his first all-talking vehicle of the screen, "Navy Blues," coming to the State Theater next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production is a comedy romance, in which Haines tinges his whimsical comedy with some serious acting that discloses, under the veneer of laughs, one of the most deft delineators of emotions on the screen. There are laughs galore, but Haines gives infinitely more than this in the new picture.

Much of the picture was filmed aboard a battleship, and Haines, as a festive gob, gets comedy out of the laundry on deck, the bunks, and the rest of the appurtenances of a destroyer. The dialogue is crisp and swiftly amusing.

Anita Page makes a very charming heroine as the sailor's sweetheart ashore and their misunderstanding, quarrel and ultimate reconciliation after a sensational fighting rescue in which Haines and the massive Karl Dane battle a roomful of thugs.

Dane's role is that of "Swede," Haines' gigantic buddy aboard ship and ashore, and a comedy interlude between Dane and his Swedish sweetheart, played by Gertrude Sutton, is hilarious. J. C. Nugent and Edythe Chapman play the parents of the heroine in a vivid bit glimpsing the home life of the girl in a navy port, and Wade Boteler is compellingly convincing as the hard-boiled chief petty officer. Harry Woods plays the lieutenant.

Elaborate glimpses of navy life, pastimes ashore, the resort of the sailors in Manila, the Orient, and other colorful background add interest to the swift-moving drama of the sea.

A talking comedy, a novelty and a Paramount News will complete the program.

Warner Brothers will present George Arliss in "Disraeli," a screen version of the play of the same name in which Mr. Arliss starred for four years, next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at the State Theater. There is no doubt but that it will be at the head of the list of the season's finest productions, and even that is faint praise for such a film as "Disraeli."

Mr. Arliss, of course, is perfect. A role of this sort requiring subtle shading, personal charm and mental power, is just a natural one for this great actor. His performance is a delight.

He is well assisted by a most capable cast. Chief among the members are Florence Arliss, wife of the star; Joan Bennett, who is exquisitely beautiful as well as clever; Anthony Bushell, an interesting new leading man; Ivan Simpson, an old trouser and a good one; David Torrence, an excellent "heavy;" and Doris Lloyd, charming and sly in the role of the spy.

The story deals with one of the most exciting periods of Disraeli's career—the time when he fought against all opposition to obtain the Suez Canal for England. Later his opponents realized that he was correct and his queen decorated him for the coup in acquiring the canal.

A talking Tuxedo comedy and a Paramount Sound News will complete the program.

SYNTHETIC SUGAR

German medical circles are keenly interested in the recently invented synthetic sugar, "Sionon," produced by a chemist of the great I. G. Company.

It is said to be a substitute for sugar in nutrition of diabetes. The synthetic product has a decided sweet taste, and may be used for sweetening tea, coffee, soft drinks, and various sweet table dishes. The principal value claimed for it is that it contains virtually the same number of calories as grape sugar.

Sionon is said not to increase the sugar content of the blood.

The little girl who used to tug at her mother's skirt to attract attention now tugs at her own for the same reason.

The midwinter dances, ushered in by the Phi Kappa Tau dance on January 2, was followed with a series of dances given by the German Club. The events consisted of a dance on Friday evening, a tea dance Saturday afternoon and another Saturday evening.

These dances climaxed the entertainments for the New Year's celebrations. The music was furnished by Earle Hanson and Alec Mendenhall.

There were many charming young ladies from out of town attending these dances.

Phi Kappa Tau Annual Dance

One of the most pretentious events at State College this season was the New Year's ball at which the Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity entertained in the Frank Thompson Memorial Gymnasium the night of January 2. The dance is an annual event with the fraternity and is one of the most elaborate events of the collegiate year.

The interior of the gymnasium was decorated in old gold and Harvard red, which are the fraternity colors, effectively used against a background

The fraternity banner hung at one end of the hall while at the other was a large reproduction of the pin beautifully lighted hung from the balcony.

Prior to the intermission the fraternity figure was led by Jimmy Summey, one of State College's social leaders, and Miss Sarah Busbee, a well-known debutante of the city. They were assisted by Fred Plonk and Miss Letitia Mason.

Conservation Department Opens Two Game Preserves

The State Department of Conservation and Development announced recently the opening of two game preserves of 22,000 acres in the western part of Cumberland County ten miles west of Fayetteville. They are within the Fort Bragg Military Reservation in 71st Township.

The largest, 20,000 acres, is in the eastern end of the military reservation, while the other, 3,000 acres, surrounds the beautiful Lakerim and the state-owned Frank H. Stedman Fish Hatchery.

The Department of Conservation and Development is carrying on at Lakerim an important reforestation experiment and has already set out a large number of young pine trees. This is the first of several similar projects planned at this place.

Colonel J. W. Harrelson, formerly professor of mathematics at State College, is director of the department.

Taylor First Speaker On 'Y' Forum Program For Winter Semester

Dr. Carl C. Taylor had charge of an interesting meeting Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A., when he held the first forum of the term by discussing "The Present Economic Situation: How Did It Come About, and What May We Expect in the Future?" Dr. Taylor gave an impartial treatment of the subject that was before the student body last term. He correlated the views of Paul Porter, who spoke for the Labor side, and those of Mr. Gosset, who represented the employer's side, giving what seemed to be the main points of the question.

This forum was the first of a series that will be held in the College Y. M. C. A. each Wednesday evening at 6:30 throughout the winter term. The students and public are invited to attend all of these meetings, which will cover a wide range of the important topics of the day. They will be held in each case by some outstanding man who is an authority on the subject taken up.

The Westinghouse equipped all-electric locomotives of the Canadian National are the most powerful in the world.

The steam locomotive has a new rival

ATTENTION in railway circles focuses this year on a spectacular undertaking by the Canadian National Railways—the electrification of certain trains on non-electrified lines.

One great oil-electric locomotive is already in service. The largest and most powerful of its type in the world, this giant electric locomotive that carries its own generating plant develops 2660 horsepower, uses only .43 lb. of fuel per horsepower-hour developed at full load.

Many interesting features are incorporated in its design. The speed and voltage of the engine-generators are automatically controlled by the power demands.

The engine exhaust is directed through automatically regulated economizers that heat the coaches and serve as well as mufflers. Control is placed at both ends, to enable running in either direction. Only in a difference in gearing need the passenger type units differ from those adapted to freight service.

In the development of this locomotive Westinghouse engineers co-operated with the Railway's own engineers and leading locomotive manufacturers and frame builders. Every year hundreds of important jobs in which electricity is involved are delegated to Westinghouse, the clearing house for electrical development.
