

WILLIAMS TO TALK AT COLLEGE FORUM WEDNESDAY NIGHT

"Wanted: A New Alignment In American Politics," Topic

VISITOR ALSO TO SPEAK TO FROSH ON WEDNESDAY

Speaker Is Executive Secretary for the League for Independent Political Action, and Is Brought To State College Under Auspices of College "Y"—Will Lecture To Seniors and Business Students On Topic, "The Place of the Trade Union In Politics."

Howard Y. Williams, of New York, executive secretary of the League for Independent Political Action, will be at State College Wednesday, February 5, for a public lecture, a forum meeting, and a lecture to the students in the School of Science and Business.

Mr. Williams has a record of splendid fidelity to the public interest and has spent his life in work for the general welfare of the people.

The speaker has traveled extensively in the United States and is well acquainted with the political and economic institutions and problems. He has interviewed personally many of the social, political, and labor leaders of the world, and is now traveling over the United States, working with local third-party movements with the aim of a critical opposition party comparable to the British Labor Party. He is well acquainted with the political situation in Mexico, and one of his lectures deals with the situation there.

Mr. Williams will deliver an address at the freshmen chapel meeting Wednesday, February 5th, at 12 o'clock, in Pullen Hall. At 10 o'clock he will address a combination of classes in the School of Science and Business. The subject of his lecture will be, "The Place of the Trade Union In Politics." He will conduct the forum at 6:30, talking on, "Wanted: A New Alignment In American Politics."

Primary Election For Norris Trophy On February 12th

"The primary election for the Norris Athletic Trophy will be held on Wednesday, February 12. At this time each student will be allowed to name the man whom he thinks is the most outstanding in athletics. The nominee must be from a varsity squad and have passed 70 per cent of his credit hours for the year. If the first three men are not eligible, the next three will receive the nominations," said Dean Cloyd, at the regular freshmen assembly Wednesday.

The final election will be held at the same time the officers of the Student Government are elected.

"The Norris Athletic Trophy, which becomes the permanent property of the winner, has accomplished much in increasing interest in athletics, and the scholarship requirements under which the trophy is awarded have a very wholesome effect upon the scholastic standing of the members of the various athletic squads," continued Dean Cloyd.

This trophy is awarded annually by Mr. Frank E. Lowenstein, of the Norris Candy Co., of Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Lowenstein, an alumnus of State, 1897, died during the past year, but it is understood that provision will be made for the continuation of this trophy.

The trophy will be presented at commencement with appropriate exercises. The winner of the trophy last year was Frank Goodwin, of Greensboro, football and basketball star.

The Norris Athletic Trophy Committee is composed of the following: Chairman of the faculty athletic committee, manager of athletics, president of the student body, dean of students, and the alumni secretary.

Business Students Will Hear Cotton Tuesday At 7 P.M.

Dr. J. H. Cotton, professor of economics and business administration at Duke University, will speak to the students and the faculty of the Science and Business School and the general public Tuesday evening at 7:00 o'clock in Peale 8.

Dr. Cotton is brought here under the auspices of Delta Sigma Pi, a professional commerce fraternity.

Dr. Cotton spent the greater part of last year in Germany, making a very exhaustive study of conditions there. Using his study there as a basis, his speech will be on "Rationalization in Germany."

This will be the first of a series of open meetings which Delta Sigma Pi will conduct this year. The fraternity will have open meetings every month and a different speaker will be presented at each. There will be a meeting for the members on February 18.

ITALIAN CLUB IS FOUNDED WITHOUT OFFICERS OR DUES

"No Dues and No Officers Make the Club Ideal," Say Its Members

Dr. L. E. Hinkle, head of the Modern Language Department at State College, is leading the newly formed Italian Club, a group of students and professors who are interested in the study of the Italian language and customs.

The Italian Club is entirely a voluntary organization, which was started for the benefit of the men who are interested in learning more of the language and customs of the Italians. There are no officers at present and no dues are charged, the only expense being the cost of the books used.

The club originated as a student movement, the Italian men of the campus leading the movement. No the group numbers 15 or more, including five faculty men and 10 advanced language students. The members of the faculty who are in the club are: Dr. Hinkle, Professors Ballenger, Winston, Brannon, and Nelson.

"No dues and no officers make club ideal," agree members.

FACULTY TO HOLD PARTY IN GYMNASIUM TONIGHT

Variety Program Arranged by J. F. Miller, Chairman Entertainment Committee

In an effort to get better acquainted, faculty members and their wives will meet from 8:00 till 11:30 in the Frank Thompson gymnasium for their second informal get-together of the school year.

Johnnie F. Miller, chairman of the entertainment committee, has arranged a program consisting of dancing, swimming, and bridge playing. The Shaw University orchestra will furnish music for the event.

The faculty last fall had hope of having a faculty club, with a clubroom on the third floor of Holladay, but their hopes were never realized because of insufficient finances, Director Miller said, adding that these monthly gatherings were being used as a substitute.

Approaching Junior Dancant Gives Promise For Big Event According to Milton Vipond

Engineer Council Moves Celebration Date To March 27

At a meeting of the Engineers Council held Thursday evening the dates of the Engineers' celebration were advanced to March 27, 28, 29. The parade will be held on the evening of the first date, the fair on the afternoon and evening of the second, and the "Grand Brawl" on the last date.

The change was made necessary on account of the promised visit of the high officials of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers to the campus on March 26, and the desire of the faculty and students of the Department of Electrical Engineering to entertain them at a banquet that evening. The visit of these officials will be one of the high lights of the program of the week.

All committees, reported progress and details of the celebration are being rapidly worked out. The parade committee promises some startling innovations which will no doubt make it the best in the history of the event. All they ask is that the engineering students turn out en masse. More floats are promised than ever before.

The fair managers have obtained several valuable prizes to be awarded for individual exhibits. This will be another innovation. Engineering students in all departments are urged to prepare exhibits and compete for these.

Brooks Addresses Textile Chemists On Saturday Night

Speaking in Greensboro Saturday night at the midwinter meeting of the Piedmont Section of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists, Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of North Carolina State College, declared that the shifting of the textile center from New England to the South had placed new demands upon textile education in this section. He discussed at length the broadening of the work of the Textile School of the College to meet these new demands, according to a plan which has been worked out by Dean Thomas Nelson, in cooperation with the textile committee of the Board of Trustees.

Salient points in the proposal of the textile committee, according to Dr. Brooks, to be presented later to a full meeting of the Board of Trustees, include the addition of new courses to the curricula of the Textile School; a broader research program in cooperation with mills and other textile agencies; the addition of courses for seniors and graduate students, which will be pursued in the mills of the State; the need for the establishment of evening classes in textile centers for mill operatives, and the necessity of employing one or two contact men to aid in organizing and conducting research, in supervising the work of students in the mills, and in planning evening classes.

"The enrollment in textile schools in New England seems to be on the decline, but in the South it seems to be on the increase. It appears also that in New England approximately six times as many young men are trained in night schools as in the day schools. In the South we do not have the night schools planned in a way that is comparable to the organized night schools in New England. It also is apparent that by far the greater number of specially trained textile men are the products of the night schools, which either award a certificate or an academic degree for completing the curriculum."

WELTMER IS HONORED AT ENGINEERS' FEED

W. W. Weltmer, E.E. '30, St. Pat 1930, and president of the Engineers' Council, honored last Saturday evening by being invited by the North Carolina Society of Engineers to represent the engineering students of State College at the annual banquet of the society, held at the Carolina Hotel.

Weltmer was given a prominent place on the speakers' program and his short but sparkling speech was acclaimed the best of the evening.

Juniors Will Receive Class Rings at Dance Held May 2d

GEOGHAGEN CHAIRMAN
JUNIOR RING COMMITTEE

Class President Urges Juniors to Pay Their Class Fees to Dance Committee or to Class Officers—Representative of Ring Contractors Will Be Here on February 20 to Take Measurements—"Ring Dance" Will Be Among Features at Coming Junior Event.

"Plans for this year's Junior Prom are rapidly being completed, and it's going to be an event that nobody will forget in a hurry," said Milton R. Vipond, president of the Junior Class, in an interview this week.

Arrangements have been made to get the class rings by the first of May, and a ceremony will be held at the dance, May 2, in which each boy will receive his ring from his partner. "This is similar to the 'Ring Dance' so popular at other schools, but is a distinct innovation at State," continued Mr. Vipond.

He also stated that the juniors should pay their class fees as soon as possible to any member of the dance committee, to the class president, or to the treasurer of the college. The ring committee consists of J. T. Geoghagen, "Skeet" Atkinson, J. D. Welch, Bob Sessoms, Ed Rankin, Byron Gurley, Charlie Whaley, and R. E. Noblin.

A representative of Charles H. Elliott Co., who received the contract for the rings again this year, will be at the college all day February 20 to measure the juniors for their rings. Only those men who are shown to be eligible in the Registrar's office will be allowed to get their rings this year.

EDWIN H. PAGET OUTLINES PULLEN SOCIETY PROGRAM

Speaker Urges Keener Interest in State Literary Society Meetings

Edwin H. Paget, professor of public speaking and advisor to the Literary Societies, made a brief talk to the members of Pullen Literary Society Friday evening at 6:30, in which he outlined the nature of the programs to be had planned for the Society at the future meetings. He also urged the members of the society, and especially the officers, to take more interest in the society and make of it a worthwhile organization.

The society accepted an invitation of the International Relations Club to attend the lecture of Dr. Tibor Eckhardt, who will speak to the club, Friday, January 31, on International Relations, dealing mainly with the Five Power Naval Conference now in session in London.

At a previous meeting of the year the following new officers of the society were elected: President, J. S. Wilkins; vice-president, D. B. Thomas; secretary, H. F. Anderson; treasurer, J. E. Gill; chairman of program committee, J. E. Gill; pledge captain, J. A. Broadwell; sergeant at arms, W. E. Vinson.

Drum and Bugle Corps Make Debut Tuesday

The State College drum corps, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Raleigh, gave an exhibition drill last night during the intermission between halves on the N. C. Stat-Carolina varsity basketball game in the Frank Thompson gymnasium.

The time between halves was so short, however, that the drum corps had little more than time enough to march onto the basketball floor, demonstrate its ability with bugles and drums, and march off again.

The State College band played for the game. For the freshmen game, which preceded the varsity contest, the freshmen band made its first appearance.

DOLLAR BILL FOUND AMIDST WINDOW PANE BY ALERT COLLEGIAN

Reaching between the window panes in Primrose Hall, R. M. Lightfoot pulled down a dollar bill and showed it to the awestricken witness, who did not believe the story of the finder until he showed the cubwells which encircled the medium of exchange.

This dollar bill had probably been in its prominent "hiding place" since September, when the college weekly moved into Primrose Hall. "This episode proves the 'Purloined Letter' theory of Poe," says Lightfoot.

Play Is Selected By Dramatic Club At Last Meeting

"Captain Applejack," an Arabian Night's Adventure in three acts, written by the famous playwright, Walter Hackett, will be "Red Masqued's" major production for the year, as was announced at the meeting held last Friday.

The local dramatic club is very enthusiastic over "Captain Applejack." It has run on Broadway and in London, and on the amateur stage and has proven to be a success at all times, both from the standpoint of drama and the box office. Of all the plays available, the club and the directors seemed to consider "Captain Applejack" the greatest hit of them all.

According to Director H. J. Oberholzer, rehearsals will begin at once. He said that the play would require from 20 to 25 rehearsals in order for it to reach perfection.

The casting director has not yet announced who will fill the parts, but will probably have the final cast chosen within a week. One preliminary try-out was held Tuesday evening at 7 in the Brooks Literature Club room of the D. H. Hill Library. No definite roles were assigned. The following members tried out: Lavenia Fuller, Agnes Moore, Nancy Beddingfield, Mary Hugh McDonald, Hazel McDonald, Catherine Harding, Messrs. John H. White, Walker, Page, Leggett, Gilbert Thurlow, Stokes, J. C. Whitehurst, J. D. Britt, W. G. Butler, W. P. Sea graves, and Elbert Overton.

At the last meeting of the club W. D. Stephenson was elected treasurer, W. P. Seagraves was elected program manager, W. G. Butler was elected advertising manager, and Josephine Richards was elected secretary.

Director Oberholzer welcomes any students interested in dramatics to the try-outs. Now is an opportunity to become a member of the club by participating in the try-outs and displaying dramatic talent and interest. Several extra people will be needed to use as understudies for the actual members of the cast.

STATE COLLEGE TO OFFER EIGHTH METERMEN COURSE

Electrical Engineering Department Faculty Teachers in School

North Carolina State College offers the eighth annual short course for electrical metermen, to be given February 3 to 7, 1930. The program has been laid out after careful study of the work done in preceding courses. It has been decided to continue the two-year course.

The instruction will be given by William Hand Browne, Jr., professor of Electrical Engineering; R. J. Pearsall, L. M. Keener, and R. R. Brown, assistant professors of Electrical Engineering; Karl Glenn, instructor in Electrical Engineering, and E. W. Rugles, assistant director of the college extension division.

They will be assisted by John V. Strange, of the Carolina Power and Light Co., and the following superintendents of the meter departments: A. C. Morrison, Elwood Doudna, S. M. Sprowl, Jr., W. H. Davis, W. B. Stover, W. H. Holloway, and C. H. McAllister. The following experts will also assist the instructors: H. G. Duns, G. B. Traxton, H. W. Richardson, B. F. Sturtevant, S. C. Snyder, and Walter V. Gearhart.

A registration fee of $5 will be charged to defray incidental expenses in connection with the course.

Los Hidalgos Told Of Mexican Life By M. A. Urquiza

Los Hidalgos, the modern language fraternity, met Wednesday night in the Library. Due to the weather, the majority of the members were not there and the business of electing new officers had to be postponed until the next meeting.

M. A. Urquiza, a native of Queretaro, Mexico, was the speaker of the evening and gave a most interesting talk on the history and progress of Mexico since its beginning. He told of the legend of the people who first settled there. Their chief God had told them not to stop until they found a royal eagle sitting on a cactus devouring a snake, so they wandered from Alaska on down through Canada and did not find this token until they reached the spot where the Cathedral of Mexico now stands.

"The ideas that the Americans get from the picture shows about men singing with guitars under the windows of their sweethearts are all wrong," said Mr. Urquiza. He explained that the method of courting was much different from that in the United States, but the pictures usually were exaggerated. The same thing, he said, was true of the idea of jealousy.

Mr. Urquiza had brought some victrola records that were typical of the music of Spain and Mexico, and after listening to these the meeting was adjourned.

project. But what about the old "North State," which is using Noah's Ark as an auditorium under the name of Pullen Hall? What about our muddy streets, the inspiration for that song, "Muddy Water Around My Feet"? Where's our stadium? Governor, we have lots of emergencies at State College.

The University received $848,100 and State College received $607,400, according to the budget of the State of North Carolina. Carolina is whining for more money to keep up their "national prestige." State College will not boast of its "prestige," but it has placed all graduates and has a demand for more. In an "emergency" we labor under insufficient funds. If there is any such thing as State's Evidence, the passer-by can see, in evidence, the need for adequate building and roads.

THE CAP QUESTION

The past few months have been filled with discussion of the Freshman cap. It is not our purpose or desire to reopen this question, but with all due respect to our student government and to those freshmen who want to do right, we would like to see the rule, as laid down in our constitution, carried out.

For the past several weeks a number of freshmen have been seen without caps, but the greatest misdemeanor is the fact that the freshman cap is being disfigured. We carry the case no further, and hope that the adjustments may be made with the least of trouble.

The first man to work his way through college was Zachariah Bridgen, of Harvard. He entered in 1657, at the age of 14, and was graduated when he was 17.

Ping-Pong seems to be the sport of the month at Auburn. A tourney was recently held there, sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., and prizes amounting to $4.50 were awarded.

The latest from the University of Florida is "Bush Day." This event comes on Wednesdays, and all freshmen are compelled to hide behind bushes when they see upperclassmen approaching and stay hidden until they get out of sight.

For a young man planning to enter business as a career, a college education is only a four-year handicap, according to Floyd L. Carlyle, prominent Princeton, N. J., business man, himself a college graduate.

In last week's TECHNICIAN we read: "The Southern Bell representative, representatives of the Bell of Pennsylvania and the Bell of New York, and J. P. Foster of W. T. Grant & Co. interviewed 27 seniors in business administration and approximately the same number in electrical engineering, giving the seniors an opportunity to meet prospective employers. A number of firms are not able to send representatives, but wish to get in touch with the seniors." Evidently all business men don't agree with Mr. Carlyle.

Tuition at Massachusetts Institute of Technology is $500 per year, at Yale it is $350, and at Armour Tech it is $250. At N. C. State it is $60, less than one-eighth of the fee at M. I. T.

A cow that moos into the microphone is a radio feature in the East. Probably because many listeners mistake it for Al Jolson singing "Sonny Boy."—California Aggie.

The girls of the University of Idaho returned to college after their Christmas recess with skirts hanging well below the knees. Miss Permel French, dean of women, announced an edict just before the recess that the girls were not to return to college unless their knees were covered.—Westleyan Watchman.

Through the Transom

By R. E. Yates

Approximately a week ago, the Federal Radio Commission, in replying to numerous demands to "do something" about W. K. Henderson's alleged use of profanity from his broadcasting station, stated that they had no power to interfere with Henderson's choice of words. Last Saturday the commission renewed his license with the "understanding that he abstain from using offensive language when broadcasting." This, to us, seems just a bit inconsistent. Where did the commission find this power that they did not possess a week ago. We can draw a parallel case to this: In our childhood we sometimes stated that we could not do a certain task which our parents wanted us to do. Either by threat or a promise our parents sometimes encouraged us to overcome this difficulty. In this case, we wonder who made the threat or promise to the Radio Commission which caused them to place the restrictions on Henderson.

Incidentally, our friend Henderson used most of his profanity while fighting the chain stores. It seems that it is barely possible that the chain stores may be responsible for this sudden increase of power which the commission exhibited. Maybe, who knows?

In an attempt to pave the way for future disarmament and world peace, five of the largest and richest nations in the world are engaged in a giant naval conference in London. The United States sent its quota of delegates to show that we really entered into the spirit of the cause. So far, so good. But while gazing out of the window in an attempt to catch an elusive thought, we see approximately 600 college students drilling to the strains of martial music with arms designed and built to kill other students like themselves. Army officers, highly skilled in the art of directing men to kill, supervise and control these potential warriors. And still we wonder why every disarmament conference or world peace pact meets with utter failure!

Atty. Gen. William D. Mitchell has announced that "habitual drinkers and anti-prohibitionists" will be barred from Federal liquor law prosecution posts. With that we heartily agree. But why not go it one better? Under the present prohibition law, habitual drinkers should spend most of their time paying fines and serving jail sentences. As for having authority to confiscate liquor, why they'd probably drink more of it than the Coast Guard did.

From the efficiency that the prohibition agents have shown in killing law-breakers in the last ten years, it seems that the typical two-gun man of the old West would fit in rather well with the scheme of affairs. Probably if Jesse James were living he would make an ideal enforcement agent.

As some men approach old age they just must have attention. Senator Simmons received his by disturbing an otherwise peaceful election in his voting precinct. Tom Heflin made a name for himself by bolting the Democratic party. Bishop Cannon, whose name is oddly appropriate ("Cannons," you know, are obsolete as weapons of warfare), seems to get the most of his attention by making absurd statements. His latest and most absurd statement is to the effect that the "Twentieth Century Whisky rebellion" was caused by Roman Catholic Church interference. If the Bishop wants to excite a little mirth, why doesn't he blame the present economic situation on the presence of house flies in Ladhah?

NEED FOR BOXERS

A clean fight is liked by all real men, whether it be a fight with brains, brawn, politics, money, or a combination of all of these. The ability to fight with all these factors belongs to real men. This type of men are the kind who are leaders in the army, industry, research, education, and politics. Imagine, if you please, any one of these professions without fighting men. Fighting men who direct their fight toward the proper perspective soon are leaders in their respective professions.

N. C. State College is full of fight, and we are proud of it. Our R.O.T.C. students won four first places and several second places in boxing at summer camps last year. Yes, and they were competing with colleges that had trained teams coached by professional coaches. If our boys can win four first places out of eight, and several second places, without training and coaching, what could they do when fighting under favorable conditions? It looks as though North Carolina State is ready for a boxing team.

Last year the military department sponsored intramural boxing within the regiment. This year more interest is shown in the sport, and the commandant, Colonel C. C. Early, has broadened his scope and interest by sponsoring boxing for the school as a whole. His idea is to help the school by making boxing a college sport. Why not? Our neighboring colleges have had boxing teams for years. Are we to be left behind in this sport? Do you love to fight? Show it by entering this boxing tournament and

Over the Horizon

HERE they come—the nucleus of an all-electric merchant marine. Yesterday, they were a dream. To-day, they are well over the horizon, linking the ports of the east and west coasts with fortnightly service. The goal of the Panama Pacific Line is to build three more turbine-electric ships, thus enabling weekly New York-Frisco sailings.

Even now, the three liners, California, Virginia, and Pennsylvania, constitute the largest fleet of turbine-electric commercial ships in the world.

Besides propelling these ships, electricity hoists freight, raises anchors, mans pumps, turns rudders, drives winches, and warps the vessels into their berths. It lights lamps, spins fans, operates elevators, cools and cooks food. Its magic touch is apparent on every deck.

The planning, production, and distribution of such equipment has been largely the responsibility of college-trained men who are working with General Electric and who have aided in bringing these ships over the horizon.

$200,000 FOR EMERGENCY

At the very hour on Tuesday that President Eugene Clyde Brooks was imploring the faculty to cut the expenses of the various departments at State College during the balance of the year, and advising that no more travel funds would be allowed except in extremely important instances, the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina voted to tear down Memorial Hall and replace it with a new auditorium to cost $200,000, the money to be taken from the State Emergency Fund.

By what stretch of the imagination the Governor, who has charge of this fund, can consider this an "emergency" is more than we can see; but considering the present condition of the State Treasury and the efforts of State College to cut expenses in order to help the situation, we are inclined to think there is "something extremely rotten in Denmark."

"Carolina! Carolina! Heaven's blessings attend her" will be the campus anthem for the "Tar Heels" if they succeed in their

CAROLINA AND DUKE WIN FROM TERRORS IN CAGE CONTESTS

"Old Lady Luck" Reluctant With State's Basketeers

LARRY HAAR HIGH SCORER IN BOTH TILTS OF STATE

"Old Lady Luck" has been very reluctant with the State varsity basketball club in the past two games, and as a result two defeats have been encountered. Duke won from the Terrors last Saturday night in a home game, 35 to 31, and Carolina managed to wedge out a 27-to-25 victory last Tuesday.

Both contests were bitterly fought and won only in the closing minutes of play. The size of the opponents had much to do with the games' results, as both Carolina and Duke were equipped with exceedingly tall men. But the puzzling attack used on the offensive and fight for the tip-off enabled the Terrors to press the score until the last.

Duke Led At Half

Joe Croson and Rogers, Dukemen, spelt defeat for the Terrors in the Devil tilt, as each caged baskets from all angles, and Croson especially holding the State forwards to limited goals. Duke started scoring on short notice and held the lead until late in the initial quarter; State produced a rally and it was anybody's game. The half ended with State on the little end of a 17-15 score.

As intermission closed the Terrors spouted field goals, with Haar and Morgan acting as the faucets, and led the game in points. The Devils quick lightened, but loosened their scoring

CONFERENCE BEGINS ON ITS SECOND MONTH BASKETBALL PLAY

By GUS TEBELL

The Southern Conference boasts five undefeated teams through the first month of its season. Alabama won from the two Mississippi schools to go into the lead with five wins and no losses. Washington and Lee and Kentucky are in second place with four games won.

Georgia, reputed to be the best in the southern half of the conference, trails with three games won. Sewanee remaining idle through the week, is up with the leaders in the percentage column, having won two and lost none.

W. and L. won from Virginia; Vandy from Auburn, but lost to Alabama; V. P. I., coached by Bob Warren, former all-southern guard of N. C. State, lost to Virginia and Maryland on a trip. Tennessee mounted a few notches in the percentage column by defeating Georgia Tech and Auburn. Carolina, stepped into the win column by taking a hard-fought game from State 27-25. Three teams must risk their leadership in games this week. Eighteen intra-conference games are scheduled.

power, and collected 18 points in a final rally to take the game.

"Two good teams met and a swell game followed," is the general idea of the State-Carolina affray. Carolina took the tip-off and a goal resulted immediately. Captain Johnson, Rose, and Haar sank nice shots to capture the lead in short order, only to be outdone by the Heels. The half ended with Carolina leading 15 to 9.

Nip and Tuck

The second half was a nip-and-tuck affair, with the score standing in each team's favor only for a short time. Haar and Johnson raised the average for State repeatedly in this period, making good free tosses and field goals.

However, State missed many a basket that would have affected the final score, while Ashmore's proteges seemed dead-shots on all throws. Marpet, "Puny" Harper, and Neiman starred for the visitors, while Captain Johnson, Rose, and Haar were the bright lights for State. Marpet and Haar were high scorers, each collecting 11 points.

TEBELL AGAIN ON RULES COMMITTEE

Gus Tebell, head football coach at State, has been reappointed to the National Rules Committee of basketball for the coming four years. It was learned today.

Tebell represents the third district, which composes the Southern Conference, and each district is represented by only one man.

DAVIDSON GRAPPLERS TO BE MET BY STATE

Second Match of Season Scheduled for Tomorrow in Gymnasium

The varsity grapplers of N. C. State will take on the grapplers of Davidson Saturday afternoon at 3:30 in the gym.

Coach Drennan announced that his squad is in good condition with the exception of Beard, who is out, due to injuries received in the V. P. I. meet. The starting line-up for State will be Eason in the 115-pound class; Stovall or Evans, 125-pounders; Perry or O. Jones in the 135; Smithwick in the 145-pound class; D. A. Jones, 155; Captain Choplin in the 165; Croson, 175, and Blalock in the unlimited class.

Although State and Davidson both lost their first meets, the matches are expected to prove very good, as Davidson usually has a scrappy bunch of wrestlers. Gattis of the Navy will referee the bouts.

DADDY'S arrangement of the drum and bugle corps for the intermission of basketball games proved quite effective in the State-Carolina contest. It was a unique arrangement of his musicians, and will be continued in the future.

STATE seems to have an athletic program that is satisfactory to one of our sister schools, anyway. A coach from a nearby college, on having explained the general outline of the work for the gym classes at the recent Terror-Heel game, showed much interest.

"DUTCH" Holland, a graduate of State, was just a schoolboy again last Tuesday night when State and Carolina met. He remarked that brains were taking the place of his hair—in other words, that was the reason for the loss of hair. Holland was a star football and baseball player here in 1922.

THE Generals of Washington and Lee continue their record pace in basketball, and still lead the Conference in standing. It seems as if they are going on to the top, but maybe they will have a set-back soon and their stride will tend the other way.

WE are indebted to Coach Tebell for the football story appearing in this issue of our paper, thus making two for Gustav this week. And, too, he seems to be as equally skilled in writing as in coaching.

SWEATERS FOR 1929 PLAYERS RECEIVED

Sweaters for the 1929 football lettermen have arrived and will be presented to the wearers for the asking. It was stated by "Doc" Sermon.

The reward of the gridiron season is of bright red color, and is of the slip-over type sweater with V-neck style. The white monogram of State College is visible in large letters on the front center.

FOOTBALL DRILLS FOR SPRING CALLED FEB. 3; FEW VETERANS ON HAND

Spring football practice will start in dead earnest Monday afternoon, February 3d, on the freshman field. Uniforms will be issued by Coach Butch Slaughter today and Saturday, and everything will be made ready for a full afternoon's workout.

Lepo to Help

The practice will be in charge of Coach Tebell, assisted by Dr. R. R. Sermon, Butch Slaughter, Shorty Lawrence, and Ex-Captain John Lepo.

Any man with football aspirations is urged to draw equipment and report for Monday's practice. Much time will be spent on fundamentals and organization of team play. It is the aim of the coaching staff to prepare a team for the opening game next September.

The squad will be divided into teams and regular games will be played from time to time. Graduation took a heavy toll of last year's regulars and practically a new team will have to be built up this spring.

YOU'VE noticed how expressive the pipe can be, what meaning it can put into the simplest gesture. The pipe even helps you say nothing at all—and that, O mortal, takes a man among men!

Men to their pipes and women to their lipstick—but suppose you had no pipe and faced repression? Suppose you had no tobacco to put in your pipe! Empty pipes make empty gestures that have no meaning. Filled with good tobacco, your pipe becomes eloquent. Filled with Edgeworth, it is Olympian!

What, no Edgeworth? Lose not a moment—haste to the mails with the coupon. Let the machinery of government rush to you a free packet of good old Edgeworth, delicious and friendly Edgeworth, full-flavored, slow-burning, cool.

Edgeworth is a careful blend of good tobaccos—selected especially for pipe-smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready Rubbed" and "Plug Slice"—its pocket package to pound humidity tin.

When Alfred Sutro's well known play, "The Laughing Lady," was produced in New York a few years ago, Ethel Barrymore was seen in the leading rôle. Next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, at the State Theatre, Paramount presents the all-talking screen version of this play, with Ruth Chatterton, herself a celebrated actress of the legitimate stage, interpreting the rôle originally made famous by Miss Barrymore.

Playing opposite Miss Chatterton is Clive Brook, the distinguished English actor who recently was seen and heard to advantage as the wizard of Baker Street in "The Return of Sherlock Holmes." Particularly well suited to the rôle of the suave, successful lawyer who first wrecks Miss Chatterton's life and then falls madly in love with her, Brook's performance is well-nigh perfect.

Other entertainments on the program will be a talking comedy, "Purely Circumstantial," a screen song novelty, "Bedelia," and a Paramount sound news.

How do girls make good under the blazing banner of the great glorifier of American womanhood, Florenz Ziegfeld?

That question will be answered to the complete satisfaction of all patrons at the Palace Theatre Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday when "Glorifying the American Girl" comes as an all-talking picture.

Based on a story that might have been and probably has been an actuality in real life, this gorgeous production moves rapidly and furnishes ample occupation for the eyes, the ears and the heart.

Mary Eaton, herself a glorified Ziegfeld show girl who rose to the position of premier dancer for Flo Ziegfeld, plays the leading rôle, that of a tank-town girl, who makes good in the big Ziegfeld spectacles.

A special revue scene in the production brings Eddie Cantor, Helen Morgan, and Rudy Vallee to the all-talking screen in songs and skits.

The big girl-and-music spectacles with their superb dancing and singing are done in Technicolor. In all, it is an amazingly gorgeous picture. It is Ziegfeld out-Ziegfelding himself.

FORESTRY CLUB HEARS COBB ON NORTH CAROLINA SOILS

Sixty-five Members Attend the Second Meeting of New Organization

Friday evening, January 24, the North Carolina State College Forestry Club held its second regular meeting at the Senior Forestry House, 2605 Clark avenue. Approximately 65 members of the Forestry Club were present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, J. C. Evans, and after a short business meeting, Dr. Cobb, head of the Soil Department, gave the address of the evening, which was on "The Soils of North Carolina." He outlined in detail the physiographic regions, and told of the character of soils of North Carolina. He concluded this with the most important tree growth to be found on each type and site, giving the species as they occurred and the probable reason for their being found upon such sites.

Following his address, he was asked a number of questions concerning Forest Soils.

The president next called upon a freshman member of the club, Jack Alexander, to tell "exactly what he expected of this or any other Forestry Club." After he finished, Howard Snyder, a senior member of the club, endeavored to answer his questions. Following this, the meeting was turned over to the refreshment committee and developed into a social discussion.

The next meeting of the Forestry Club will be held February 7, in the Junior Forestry House at 2607 Clark avenue, at which time Dr. Wells, of the Botany Department, will give an illustrated lecture.
