Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity Elects Next Year's Officers At Annual Spring Banquet

Dr. B. W. Wells Elected President of National Society

COOKE VICE-PRESIDENT HONORARY FRATERNITY

Wm. J. Dana, L. L. Vaughn and Dean E. L. Cloyd Among Other Officers Elected at Banquet—Dean Carl C. Taylor Urges Members to Be Broad-minded in the Work of the World—Ten Students Are Initiated With Six Graduate Men

The Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholarship society, held their annual spring banquet Monday night, May 26, in the Carolina Hotel. This banquet was given in honor of the members taken in during the second and third terms of this year.

After the banquet election of officers for the coming year was taken up and the following officers were elected: President, Dr. B. W. Wells; vice-president, F. W. Cooke; secretary, Prof. W. J. Dana; treasurer, Prof. L. L. Vaughn, marshal, Dean E. L. Cloyd. The retiring officers are: President, Dr. B. F. Kaupp; vice-president, Miss Ada Spencer; secretary-treasurer and marshal were re-elected.

Dr. Carl C. Taylor made the speech for the occasion and in his talk he said that the educated person had three tasks, which are as follows: First, to disseminate the knowledge with which they have been invested; second, to discover new knowledge; third, to be broad-minded person in the work of the world.

The following undergraduates were initiated into the society: R. F. Alexander, J. E. Bethea, A. G. Bullard, C. S. Mitchell, Jr., K. A. Neill, G. N. Owen, C. R. Taylor, I. S. Kleiger, R. E. Smith, Jr., and L. P. London. The following graduate students were taken into the society: L. H. Foutice, H. C. Gauger, Mrs. H. B. Mann, C. P. Loomis, Miss Nancy Lee, and N. W. Williams.

Among the members present there were ten persons who have secured their doctor's degree in their respective fields.

Awards Are Given To Military Lads Of Winning Corps

Prizes, won by fifty-four students as a result of competitions in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, fifty-five of which were donated by merchants, are being delivered this week.

A scholarship, which pays tuition next year, donated by the Faculty Council, goes to F. W. Gorham, sophomore, for outstanding work in the Military Department during his freshman and sophomore years.

A silver loving cup, the gift of Bowman Jewelry Company, goes to W. W. Weltmer, commanding Company "H," which won the best company competition.

Other awards, with the names of those who have donated them and the winners, are: One officer's cap, Associated Military Stores, Captain J. A. Westbrook, Co. "F"; a fountain pen, Thiem's Book Store, Captain H. D. Pinkston, Co. "B"; one necktie, Whiting-Horton, First Sergeant C. D. Whaley, Co. "C"; one necktie, MacLeod & Watson, First Sergeant Mack Stout, Co. "F"; one shirt, Ehrd's, Sergeant R. F. Montony, Co. "I"; 100 cards or stationery, Capital Printing Company, Sergeant W. L. Morgan, Co. "F"; six phonograph records, Duff-Gore Music Company, Sergeant R. F. Montony, Co. "I"; two pairs socks, Charles Stores, Sergeant A. J. Hayes, Co. "F"; one razor, Galloway's Drug Store, Sergeant H. D. Atkinson, Co. "A"; one N. C. State wall plaque, Students' Supply Store, Sergeant H. H. Hartman, Co. ### Sells Bible

When the second-hand book buyer came to the State College campus to collect texts for which the students add no further use, he was alarmed to see the variety that were thrust upon the counter in the Student Supply Store by students in pursuit of a few more pennies to spend during the last days of school. The buyer was approached by men with agriculture yearbooks, English texts, science books, and many others. All of these were nothing but usual occurrences; but one student, "Skeet" Atkinson, brought his Holy Bible to sell and received fifteen cents for it.

Hartley Praises College Magazine Just Off Presses

By PROF. L. C. HARTLEY

The May issue of The Wataugan is off the press. As his final gesture as editor of the campus literary periodical, Leslie Vipond has succeeded in giving his reading public one of the most attractive and interesting magazines ever seen at State.

From the cover, on which a drawing by Carter Schaub has replaced the conventional design, to the linoleum cut on the last page The Wataugan is an artistic achievement. The literary material is of somewhat unusual excellence.

John H. McInnon's prize-winning oration, "Our Flag," is one of the outstanding features of the issue. "Militarism or Education—Which?" a symposium on compulsory military education edited by Milton Abernethy and Richard E. Yares, is also given a place of prominence. It is particularly interesting and valuable on account of the fact that it contains hitherto unpublished statements on the question from such noted American thinkers as Zona Gale, Harry Emerson Fosdick, Oswald Garrison Villard, Nicholas Murray Butler, and others.

Among the short stories are "System" by Robert Berryman, "There's Always Something," by Mitchell Lightfoot, Jr., and "Gully—Hell, Yes," by a new-comer to the pages of the magazine who chooses to mask his identity under the pseudonym, Ian McGregor. The three poems, "Acknowledgment,"

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY HEARS DR. B. F. KNAPP

The Agriculture Club held its regular meeting Tuesday evening. A lecture on the Russian plan of agriculture and the needs of U. S. agriculture was given by Dr. B. F. Knapp. There was a large crowd present. Dr. Knapp said that he would be at State again next year.

STEWART ROBERTSON ASKS BOARD FOR YEAR'S LEAVE

Will Do Publicity Work for University of North Carolina Press This Summer

Prof. Stewart Robertson, teacher of Journalism and English, has recently asked the Board of Trustees for a year's absence from duty. During this time he expects to do editorial work and advanced study.

Professor Robertson came to State College in 1923—just prior to the beginning of the present administration—and has taught Journalism and English, acting as faculty advisor for all student publications since that time. In addition to the college work, he has taught a number of publicity workers and feature writers of Raleigh.

During the summer he expects to do publicity work for the University of North Carolina Press, and will collaborate with Dr. G. W. Forster in the writing of an Agriculture Economics textbook to be published by McGraw-Hill Co.

AGRICULTURE MAGAZINE TO BE PRINTED IN 1931

Rufus G. Vick is Elected Editor of "N. C. State Agriculturalist"

"The N. C. State Agriculturalist," monthly agricultural magazine published by the students in the different departments of agriculture of State College, is being revived and will begin to appear each month next fall with the opening month, according to information received from the Agricultural Department of the college.

Rufus G. Vick has been recently elected editor of the agricultural publication by the students in the school of agriculture for next year. He will be a senior in agriculture next year and has made a high scholastic record since he has been at State College. His home is in Roanoke Rapids. While here he has distinguished himself by being elected to the student council, serving on the court of customs, and has also made several honor organizations. He is president of Alpha Zeta for 1930-31.

In an interview with Vick, he stated that the purpose of the N. C. State Agriculturalist was to make a close connection between the students of agriculture, the college, and the men working in the field of agriculture. The publication will be edited and published on the same plan as the other college publications.

W. B. Callihan, of Whiteville, was elected business manager of the magazine for next year. He will also be a senior in agriculture. Callihan is a member of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, Alpha Zeta honorary agricultural fraternity, and business manager for next year's edition of the College Handbook. He said that his aim is to put out as good a magazine as is possible. He will solicit both local and national advertising.

The N. C. State Agriculturalist was founded at State College in 1923. The publication of it has been discontinued for about a year, but according to the new officers it is revived now to live. The staff officers are to be appointed later.

ADD ACCOUNTING COURSES TO STATE SUMMER SCHOOL

Students Desiring Courses Are Requested to Make Early Arrangements

The need for the addition of commercial subjects for high school teachers to be taught during the regular summer school session from June 16 to July 25, according to Prof. E. W. Boshart, is to be supplied by the addition of two of the business group faculty, Professors R. O. Moen and C. B. Shulenberg.

In addition to courses added for the benefit of high school teachers, these two professors will also teach a number of courses for college graduates. These include Introduction to Economics, Business Organization, Business Law, Advertising, Sales Management, and the addition of accounting for Engineers, a course required for graduation by all students of Engineering, and three terms course required in the Business Group.

All students attending summer school and desiring additional credit or to make up work can do so during the coming week or during registration.

College Federation Is Now Recognized By National Branch

Within two weeks after its organization, the North Carolina Federation of Students has received endorsement of both the national and southern student federations.

John Lang, of Carolina, president of the State student organization, has just received a letter from Ed R. Murrow, president of the National Student Federation of the United States, endorsing the movement.

Lang announced that he previously had received a letter of endorsement from faculty members and students in the State and elsewhere, asking for information and generally approving the movement.

Dan M. Paul, president of the State student body, has enthusiastically endorsed the movement and is heartily co-operating with the association.

ELECT ALUMNI OFFICERS AT MEETING OF SENIORS

Purpose of Alumni Dues Will Be Discussed and Explained at Meeting

Plans are under way by the Alumni Association to explain to the seniors at their last get-together meeting before graduation the purpose of the alumni dues. Also alumni officers for the coming year are to be elected. The date for this election has not been definitely decided. According to figures secured from C. A. Sheffield, alumni secretary, State College has 2,700 graduates and 6,500 that have been enrolled as regular students, but did not receive degrees. This makes a total of 9,200 alumni, of which 700 have paid their dues. "This is an increase of 350 over last year," said Mr. Sheffield.

The dues are $3 per year, of which $1 goes to Alumni News, $1 to athletics, and the other $1 to publications. "The men have left college without a clear-cut knowledge of the meaning of alumni dues," said Mr. Sheffield, "and if the class of 1930 will start the system of organization before leaving school it will only be a few years before the Alumni Association will be a success."

DORMITORY COUNCIL TO HELP RALEIGH CHARITY BUREAUS

Members of Organization Appeared to At Meeting Tuesday Evening

At a meeting of the Dormitory Council Tuesday evening, presided over by President Dan Paul, attempts were made to get members of the different dormitory clubs to each donate a small sum of money for the relief of the poor in Raleigh. Owing to the fact that only a few members were present, a motion was made and carried to write letters to the absent members, appealing for aid.

Plans were also discussed for the dormitory clubs to cooperate with the Y. M. C. A. in welcoming the incoming freshman class next fall. Since many of the members will change their rooming places before next year, the election of officers was delayed until that time.

Forestry Society Founded At State With Thirty Men

Another order has been added to the list of social organizations at State College. Theta Phi Theta, forestry fraternity, recently received recognition by the faculty.

This local fraternity was first organized at Pennsylvania State Forestry School in 1927. Upon the transfer of the majority of its active members to North Carolina State College the fraternity was discontinued at the Pennsylvania State Forestry School and was reorganized here last January with George K. Slocum as president.

There are 30 boys in this fraternity and out of this group there are 11 who will graduate in June. The following are members of this fraternity: N. R. Harding, S. G. Hile, J. W. Walter, H. G. Posey, N. R. Seader, E. R. Chance, C. B. Zizelman, H. E. Howard, K. G. Brown, T. C. Evans, R. S. Pierce, H. J. Longhead, C. G. Phelps, G. W. Warner, A. A. Grumble, W. T. Buhman, W. B. Ward, J. B. Cartwright, G. K. Schaeffer, J. J. Kerst, N. B. Alter, H. H. Smith, J. Sadosuk, J. F. Renshaw, H. A. Foreman, C. G. Rogers, W. L. Ayre, G. K. Slocum, J. O. Artman.

Cotner To Leave

Dr. J. B. Cotner has accepted a position at Cornell University for the summer months. He received his doctor's degree in plant breeding there in 1929.

He will be connected with the New York "Better Seed Program" of the Plant Breeding Department. At the present time Dr. Cotner is professor of farm crops at State College.

Degrees Will Be Conferred On 1930 Graduating Class In Pullen Hall on June 10th

Final Warning

Reuben Carter Windsor, Agromeck business manager, has announced that he and his lieutenants will be in the basement of the "ST" from 12 to 1 o'clock all next week to dispense Agromecks. Part if not all the expense of the Agromeck was taken care of by publication fees paid by each student, and Manager Windsor earnestly urges that all students who have not procured annuals do so at once.

President Brooks Praises Military At State College

That their four-year course in the military department had served to inculcate qualities which would prove highly valuable to them in later life, whether or not they ever served in the army, was stressed by President E. C. Brooks of State College, addressing the fifty-four seniors of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps of the college last Monday at noon.

President Brooks' address followed graduation parade, at which the seniors stood with him while the juniors, in command as their successors, marched the units of the regiment past them in review. As part of the ceremony, the seniors were presented their commissions as second lieutenants in the Officers' Reserve Corps of the United States Army. This presentation was made by General Albert L. Cox of Raleigh, acting in behalf of the War Department.

Dr. Brooks declared that the military department is a major department at State College; that the college accords it this place because it not only teaches orderliness, with consequent respect for law and order.

STATE TO SEND FOURTEEN TO Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE

Clark, Paul, and Hagopian Will Compose State College Delegation

Fourteen State College men will attend the Southern Y. M. C. A. Conference held at Blue Ridge, June 14-24. State College always has a large delegation, and this year is one of the largest.

C. L. Clark, president of the local Y. M. C. A.; D. M. Paul, president of the Student Body; and Hagop Hagopian will attend the six weeks' training school. The following will attend the ten-day conference: A. D. Stuart, president of the conference; Dean Cloyd, E. S. King, J. B. Ginley, J. E. Moore, J. W. Halstead, R. H. Gathir, E. M. Overton, A. F. Ward, and R. W. Cummings.

MAST ELECTED PRESIDENT PINE BURR FRATERNITY

Colonel Harrelson, Founder of Society, Is Principal Speaker

W. T. Mast was elected president of Pine Burr, local honor society, at a banquet held by the organization in the Y. M. C. A. recently. W. G. Blake, vice-president; Rufus Vick, treasurer, and Sam Dimeo, sergeant at arms.

Col. J. W. Harrelson, founder of Pine Burr, was the principal speaker. He urged the members to develop a charming personality, explaining that personality involved such things as dress, conduct, approach, and English. He admonished the members to make good resolutions and to stick to them. Other speakers were Dean W. N. Hicks and I. O. Schaub. Five new members were initiated into the society. They were Roy Drye, L. H. Angel, Sam Dimeo, Fred Herbst, and D. P. Melton.

Class of 275 Represents All North Carolina Sections

STODDARD WILL DELIVER COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Sixteen Other States and Two Foreign Countries Are Numbered Among State College's Cosmopolitan Graduating Class—Alumni Day is Scheduled For June 9—Senior Oratorical Contest Feature of Coming Graduating Exercises

About 275 degrees will be conferred at State College at the graduating exercises which will be held in Pullen Hall Tuesday, June 10, at 10:30 a. m. Every section of North Carolina, 16 other states, and two foreign countries are represented among the students who will be graduated this year.

States other than North Carolina represented in the 1930 graduating class are Rhode Island, Alabama, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Illinois, South Carolina, Massachusetts, Ohio, New York, Georgia, Maryland, Connecticut, Kansas, Porto Rico, and the District of Columbia. The foreign countries are South Africa and India.

Dr. Lothrop Stoddard, of Brookline, Mass., will deliver the commencement address, on Tuesday morning. The commencement season will begin Sunday evening, June 8, with the baccalaureate sermon, which will be delivered by Dr. W. Walter Peete, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Charlotte.

Monday, June 9, will be Alumni Day, with the following classes holding regalia: 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1905 (25th anniversary), 1895, 1896, 1898, and 1929. The General Alumni Association of the College will hold its annual meeting on the same date. Other activities of the day include the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees, the alumni smoker and the senior orations, the last two being held in the evening.

Final examinations at the college begin Monday, June 2, and continue through Friday. Definite announcement of the names of the graduates will be made as early as possible after

Members of Faculty Entertain Col. Early With Big Reception

The faculty of the North Carolina State College entertained at a reception Wednesday evening in Holladay Hall, honoring Col. Clifford Cabell Early, of the military faculty, and Mrs. Early, who will leave Raleigh at the closing of college for Washington, D. C., where Colonel Early will be stationed.

The parlors of Holladay Hall were en suite and filled with masses of pink roses and blue and purple larkspur against an effective background of palms and ferns. Tall ivory floor baskets held exquisite clusters of mixed flowers in blending colors.

Dean and Mrs. E. L. Cloyd received the guests on arrival and presented the receiving line, which included Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Brooks, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Poe, and Colonel and Mrs. Early.

Assisting in receiving elsewhere were Dean and Mrs. I. O. Schaub and Dean and Mrs. T. E. Browne. Punch was served from a large bowl embedded in pink and blue flowers and the center table on which it stood was

This issue ends THE TECHNICIAN's overture. The big show will get under way next fall.

Now that the telephone has been disconnected THE TECHNICIAN office will not be such a popular place.

Congratulations to the Wataugan staff. But it's too bad they had to wait till the last issue to start publishing such a good magazine.

Two hundred and seventy-five seniors will soon leave State College to strengthen State's representation in the commercial world.

We understand Prof. Winston and his Social Pathology class visited the State Insane Asylum this week. Lucky all of the members returned.

In a recent class election it was obvious that residence in another state was held against candidates. Looks like Governor Gardner's "Live-at-Home" gospel is being adopted by collegians.

WHY NOT ETIQUETTE?

Why not a course in etiquette for the freshman roster next year? Of course we don't want to start the idea that whenever a fellow is in doubt he should look in the "book" and turn to page 52, or anything like that; but since the greater part of our education comes through association with others we should at least be anxious to see that association made as happy as possible.

The majority of the fellows entering State College could get a lot of benefit from learning, not so much what not to do, but what to do in order to make as pleasant as possible for themselves and for others every situation of personal contact into which they are thrown. This is not insinuating that State College harbors a bunch of boors—far from it; but everybody must learn how to get along, and although experience is a good teacher, her methods are in some cases embarrassing, if not painful.

Since a college is an institution of learning which has as its purpose the preparation of men for a successful life, why not start a man right in that part of his active life which yields the greatest power in shaping his career, his bearing and actions in his personal associations?

Every man should learn to conduct himself well, and, therefore, we advocate a course in etiquette for each man who enters State College. It might help to cut down some of the adverse criticism thrown at us from time to time, too.

LIBRARY DISCRIMINATION

Students who keep library books overtime are charged five cents an hour for each reserve book or an equal amount per day for each two-weeks book. This charge is listed against the delinquent student and his privilege of borrowing books is revoked until he has paid his fine. This is all mighty fine and should induce students to be more prompt in returning books.

But how about faculty members?

Early this week we requested a book from a student librarian. It was out. The card revealed that the book had been withdrawn from the library and out of circulation for five years. It was charged to an agriculture professor. When questioned the assistant librarian explained that faculty members had the privilege of keeping books as long as they desired. He cited other cases, and substantiated his statements with records, where books had been kept out of the library for three or four years.

The State purchases books and places them in the library for the uses of students and faculty. They are not bought for the exclusive use of one man. More than likely the volume charged to the professor is dust-covered from lack of use. Probably he has not consulted it in years. And through his neglect many students have been unable to study the text.

What's wrong with letting the fine rule work with both classes? Why not fine faculty members as well as students when they are guilty of a breach of the time limit?

OVER THE CAMPUS

By ELBERT OVERTON

There has been much talk of "school spirit" during the past few years in colleges. In many cases "school spirit" has gone a long way toward winning victories for various athletic teams in colleges and universities throughout the nation. It is not the policy of the author of this column to criticize, especially unduly. But there is one incident which is so overbearing that it is impossible to refrain from saying a few words in regard to it. It is obvious that here at State we have the school, but the spirit seems to be dying away. Someone remarked recently that the baseball team of 1930 was one which would go down in history. Why? Is it because of outstanding victories accomplished? No, it is because that not a single time during the entire baseball season was there a yell given by the captain of the team. Do we not appreciate the honor which he brings to the school any more than that? We are not trying to support the team. At the annual baseball game between State and Carolina, one of the most important games of the season, the head cheer-leader was not present. He was at the May Day Exercises being given at Meredith College. Let's awake and show the people of North Carolina and the Nation that N. C. State College is made up of students who are interested in their Alma Mater and are willing to do everything possible to push it forward.

Passing Holladay Hall Wednesday night and hearing the music and noise coming from the interior, it seemed as if a Gala Jubilee night was being celebrated. The faculty was holding a reception in honor of Lieut.-Col. C. C. Early, who is about to depart from State College. It is very pleasing to see the faculty expressing such gratitude to the Colonel for having had him spend several years at this institution. They all realize what a loss his departure will be to the college. Colonel Early is a real friend to N. C. State, and the faculty and students realize it more and more every day.

Many non-military students, as well as those who are thrown into intimate contact with him by taking military, have expressed heart-felt regrets at his leaving. He has made many friends here and has won the highest esteem

THROUGH THE TRANSOM

By DICK YATES

DEDICATION

To those many students of the campus who view our column with disdain—who criticize our knocking—who wish for us to devote this space each week to a series of praises and outpourings of "soft soap" for the many evident services rendered by the college—and who wish us to maintain a discreet silence on all matters needing improvement, we respectfully dedicate this, our last column of the year.

PERMIT US TO CHEER

Several months ago the college, at no little time and expense, erected two sets of steps immediately in front of Fifth and Sixth Dormitories. Many students saw no reason for these aids to locomotion, reasoning that no difficulty was experienced by those students wishing to enter the dormitories. In all fairness, the steps were not used to a great extent. Probably as a result of this apparent neglect on the students' part, that committee in charge of the grounds in casting around, trying to find a possible reason for the disuse, noticed that on each side of the steps a shoulder, about six inches high, arose. That admirable bicep pounced on this bit of evidence and determined to make the improvement. Said shoulders may at some time be instrumental in tripping up some poor student. Now it should be remembered that no students had as yet been injured in the manner above described. No our wise and benevolent administration does not wait until one of its students is injured to remove the injurious sources (please try, for the time being, to forget that apple orchard shooting of 1928), but before a chance of injury is even suspected, these sources are removed. Nestling finger-nail files, labored long and hard (?) in removing the obnoxious shoulders. And last night a student was seen by your columnist and three reliable witnesses, tripping lightly up the steps in front of Fifth. We venture to say that in 1940 the steps will be in constant use by a body of students who are so credulous as to take "Keep off the Grass" signs seriously.

WE ASK YOU—IS THIS RIGHT?

Due to the failure of the last legislature to appropriate sufficient funds to State-supported schools, fees and tuition here have been raised. In attempting to get the information relative to this increase in the cost of an education, a Technician reporter met with a blank refusal from a member of the administration. Since the Board of Trustees had not formally passed upon the increase (a thing it obviously must do in order to maintain the school), it was judged wisest by the powers that be to keep the news a secret for the time being. This time next week, school will close, and the student body will go to their respective homes, completely ignorant of the expense necessary to complete their education. Is this fair to the students? and respect of the student body. Col. Early, we hate to see you leave.

The graduating class is unusually large this year. If a survey were made of all the colleges in the United States the proportionate increase would be found to prevail throughout the Nation. This means that competition is increasing and the difficulty of holding a position will increase. It will be a "survival of the fittest." Seniors, we will miss you on the campus, but we all hope that when you enter your life work that you will be successful in whatever branch of human activity you choose.

It seems that all the organizations on the campus have by this time elected new officers to pilot the respective lodges and clubs for next year. We hope that every student who has been elected to an office realizes the full responsibility of the work he has been entrusted with, and will exercise every ingenuity to make his organization a success next year. No organization is stronger than its weakest link, and in every group there must be a capable leader.

This is the last issue of THE TECHNICIAN for the biennial year of 1929-30, and today and tomorrow many classes will meet for the last time. Many associations will be severed, never to be renewed again. For the ones who will not return, let's not let our friendships die, but instead, let's keep in as close contact through-out life as possible. This year, like all others, has had its "ups and downs," but for the majority it has been time well spent. A happy summer to all!

Managing Director: "Have you met our Lord and Manager?" Visitor: "Very informally—he called me a liar once."

gracefully trailed with ivy. Palms and ferns formed the background in the punch-room. During the reception the State College Orchestra under the direction of P. W. Price rendered musical selections, and Mrs. E. B. Wheeler and Mrs. Roy Dextery entertained the guests with beautiful solos. Special guests at the reception in addition to Colonel and Mrs. Early were Dr. Clarence Poe, Dan Paul, president of the State College Student Body; Paul Choplin, vice-president; Charles H. Belvin, cadet colonel of the State College R. O. T. C., and Miss Frances Thompson, president of the Pioneer Club of the college.

Hartley Praises Just Off Presses

"Thoughts," and "Franelias," are unusual both in quality and subject matter. The only critical article is B. J. Kaston's "The Cynicism of Mark Twain," in which the great American humorist is presented in a new light. The art editors are to be especially congratulated on the illustrations. Schaub's "Dance Negre," used as the frontispiece, is the high-water mark of art in the issue. Mike Whitehurst's cartoons are even more clever than usual. "Life, Jr.," is particularly interesting for its "Hall American Team," embodying an idea that seems to be distinctly in the tradition of Alpha Sigma Sigma nominations. The compiler has ingeniously concealed the identity of the "players" by anagrammatical spelling.

CAPTAIN WATSON PRAISES WORK OF MAJOR WORKMAN

Record of Cadet Battalion Commander Is Unsurpassed, Says Watson

A record as cadet battalion commander probably unsurpassed in the history of the Reserve Officers Training Corps at N. C. State College has been made in the school year now closing by Cadet Major J. Workman, of Burlington, according to Captain W. R. Watson, regular army supervisor of the third battalion of the regiment, which Cadet Major Workman commanded.

Asserting that the spirit and morale of all units of the battalion have been high throughout the year, Captain Watson points to the following specific outstanding accomplishments within the battalion. Company I was declared the best drilled company in the regiment. Its first platoon won the competition for selection of the best drilled platoon in the regiment.

Company H had the best drilled squad in the regiment, and supplied the winning teams in the regimental basketball and baseball tournaments. Its best drilled squad also won a drill competition participated in by police and national guard units of Raleigh.

Cadet Major Workman is a senior in the Architectural Engineering College. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha and was on the Pan-Hellenic Council in 1928. He also is a member of the following honorary societies: Delta Alpha Sigma, Beaux Arts Club, Theta Tau, and Scabard and Blade.

Prof. John B. Schneider Accepts Position in Ill.

John B. Schneider, professor of Industrial Management, has accepted a position with the University of Illinois, where he will teach and in addition do research work towards a master's degree in Marketing. Professor Schneider has made many friends among students, faculty, and citizens of Raleigh during his one-year stay here.

Because of a mistake on the part of the editor, an insertion under Professor Schneider's cut in last week's TECHNICIAN made the story appear satirical. The TECHNICIAN regrets this and at the same time laments the loss of a teacher of the professor's calibre. We offer our apologies to both Professor Schneider and Fred Plonk.

Jeffries Is Champion Hot Dawg Consumer As Chemical Engineer

The Chemical Engineering students had a "Hot Dawg" roast and picnic last Saturday afternoon. The party left Winston Hall at 5 o'clock and motored to the Boy Scout Camp. After a dip in the pond the boys gathered together and built a large camp-fire. Hot dogs were roasted, marshmallows toasted, and the usual camp-fire yarns were told. Lemonade was served with the "dawgs."

It seemed that there was a secret contest on hand for the one to find a stick that had the most prongs on it to roast the wieners. R. N. Jeffries won by a large majority, finding a stick with six prongs. After much consideration for the remainder of the crowd he cut off two of the prongs. Jeffries won a second contest by eating the most, with Dr. Randolph running a close second.

As there were no girls along, C. M. Sprinkle got melancholy as soon as the moon came out and moved that the pilgrimage to town begin. Others seemed to be feeling the call of the moon, as the motion was carried unaimously.

"Little Doc" Morris To Have New Rendezvous To Meet Big Business

"Little Doc" Morris' Rendezvous at the College Court will not be as small next year as it has been in the past, according to information given out by him this week.

The Joint so commonly known to State College students as "Little Doc's" will enter a new home at the beginning of the next scholastic year. The building for it is now under construction next door to Huneycutt's London Shoppe and the Pi Kappa Alpha house. According to Mr. Morris, he is going to equip a shop sufficient to satisfy every need of the college man. He says that he will have a 14' soda fountain with capacity for making ... sodas at the same time and in addition will have an eight-hole ice-cream frigidaire. In the stock he will carry a full line of toilet necessities, stickers, penknives, stationery, fountain pens, and other writing equipment, including binders for note books and files.

The new building is being so constructed that there will be adequate space for tables and private booths in the rear. Curb service will be one of the main features of the new establishment, according to Little Doc. He will stay open seven days per week and at the same hours as usual. "Little Doc's" aim is to be able to accommodate young men with their lady friends as well as being of service to the students at all times in supplying their necessities.

TRACK MEN ELECT GEO. MCGINN CHIEF FOR NEXT SEASON

Charlotte Junior To Captain 1931 Cinderpath Artists; Took 1st Place In Half Mile In Southern Conference

George McGinn, junior hailing from Charlotte, was last night announced by Doc Sermon as captain for the 1931 N. C. State track team. The flashy youngster performs in the hall. McGinn succeeds Patterson and Ottinger, co-captains, for the position. The new captain has participated in track activities for three seasons here in State, and was considered as a likely candidate for State honors even while in high school in the Queen City.

McGinn held the State record in the half last year, being beaten this past season by Simon, captain-elect of Duke. During the Southern Conference meet held recently in Birmingham, Ala., McGinn annexed the initial place in the 800 run, with his time bettering the present State record, and also establishing a new mark for McGinn, himself.

Student Supply Store Is Awarded Contract For Senior's Blazers

All members of the junior class are urged to get their measurements taken now without any obligation to order a blazer. With this data recorded, the blazer may be ordered by a student any time during the summer by sending the required deposit of $2 to Mr. Ivey, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week, between the hours of 12 to 1 and 3 to 5 p. m. will be given by Mr. Ivey to measure all juniors at the Students Supply Store.

A deposit of $2 is necessary before any order is sent off, and the blazer will be sent to any address given as soon as it arrives here, according to Mr. Ivey. The blazers proved very popular this year in which they had their beginning, and their significance is expected to grow each year.

Junior Order of Saints Select New Officials for Coming School Year

At a meeting Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. the Junior Order of Saints elected officers for the coming year as follows: Ed Rankin, Pi Kappa Alpha, was elected president of the organization; Zeb Plonk, Pi Kappa Tau, vice-president, and Cocky Lee, Pi Kappa Alpha, secretary and treasurer.

Being founded in 1906, the Junior Order of Saints is one of the oldest campus organizations now in existence here. It has as its purpose the promotion of good fellowship between different fraternities.

The Saints will meet Saturday, June 7, for the final feast of the year.

Mu Beta Psi Society Selects 1931 Cabinet

The Mu Beta Psi, national musical fraternity, recently elected J. B. Gurley, Rosemary, N. C., president for next year.

Other officers elected are: R. L. Shephard, Orrum, vice-president; R. L. Beard, Winston-Salem, secretary-treasurer, and R. S. Vick, Rosemary, and J. H. Brown, Selma, were elected inner and outer guard respectively.

TURN IN SPORTS ARTICLES

It is requested by Doc Sermon that all athletic equipment be turned in to him sometime this week, or the first of next, as with the close of school all school belongings must be checked and accounted for.

Much equipment is out, including football and basketball uniforms, and it is thought that some of this equipment is in the lockers in the gymnasium. "The student has probably forgotten all about the equipment by this time, but I'm hoping we have results from this article," the N. C. State athletic head said.

A considerable amount of money is lost each year by the neglect of students failing to return all school belongings.

Sigma Nus Champions In Baseball Matches Of Intramural Sport

The intramural athletic season closed Wednesday afternoon with the baseball championship of the campus won by Sigma Nu fraternity, by beating the First Floor of 1911 Dormitory.

The consolation tournament was won by Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity over First Floor of Watauga Dormitory.

Each spring this tournament is run by the physical education department. A cup is awarded the winner each year.

A great deal of interest is always shown as was demonstrated in the tournament this year.

Captain To Wed

The students and faculty of N. C. State College will be interested to learn of the approaching marriage of Captain Watson to Miss Katherine Badger Johnson, of Eustice, Fla. The wedding will take place June 28, in the Episcopal Church, at Eustice. Miss Johnson is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. D. T. Johnson, of Eustice. She is a graduate of St. Mary's and the University of North Carolina, having taught at St. Mary's for the past two years.

We hope and wish Captain Watson and his future bride all the happiness and success possible.

Ex-President Weds

Many students of State, while casting about for an answer as to why Paul Choplin left school last week, were surprised when the answer to their unasked question came in the form of an announcement of Choplin's marriage to Miss Madeline Locke, who also terminated educational activities, having been teaching at Caswell Training School.

Mrs. Choplin, who is formerly from Maine, has gone into the realm of housekeeping with her husband at the Skyland Poultry Farm, Asheville.

Alpha Zeta

The annual spring banquet of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity of State College, was held in the Hotel Carolina ballroom Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock. A six-course dinner was served. The ballroom was decorated with colors of the fraternity, mode and sky blue. A carnation, the fraternity flower, was presented to each guest. The ladies received bracelets bearing the fraternity coat-of-arms, as favors.

A. D. Stuart acted as toastmaster, and short speeches were made by F. H. Jeter, Dean I. O. Schaub, Dr. Z. P. Metcalf, Joe Ellis, Jr., J. B. Litchfield, and R. G. Vick. The retiring and incoming officers were presented by the toastmaster. The theater party at the State followed the banquet.

Alumni and guests present were: F. L. Davis with Miss Mary Avera; R. S. Dunham with Miss Mary Huffine; Mr. and Mrs. James M. Gray; Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Hoffman; C. W. DEMOCRACY LEAGUE MEETS AT PENNSYLVANIA CAMP

Milton A. Abernethy Will Represent N. C. State College Organization

The choice of rackets in planning a life-work is fully as broad as the field of legitimate professions, in most cases equally respectable, and by far more remunerative. These are the findings of a sub-committee of the League for Industrial Democracy assigned to choose a subject for discussion at the 16th annual June Conference of the League. Milton Abernethy will represent State College.

With so many congenial and remunerative "rackets" to choose from, work has been found to be folly. Under the general heading of "The Folly of Work—Racketeering High and Low," twenty authorities on assorted rackets will address the four-day conference to be held at Camp Tamiment, Forest Park, Pa., from Thursday, June 26, to Sunday, June 29, inclusive. Stuart Chase, Heywood Brown, Norman Thomas, and Prof. Paul Douglas of the University of Chicago, are among those who will discuss the rackets that beckon to every young man and woman.

Los Hidalgos Elects Dusty King President

The Alpha chapter of Los Hidalgos, honorary language fraternity, selected its officers for the coming year at a meeting held last Tuesday night. The officers are as follows: President, J. E. King; vice-president, F. A. Geile; treasurer, C. H. Shafer; secretary, Miss Mary Jo Swicegood; reporter, Harvey Whitely.

Favorable reports were had from the other chapters of Los Hidalgos, located at Catawba College and at Mississippi A. and M.-

STUDENTS TO MAKE TRIP

With the end of the school year 13 State College students start on a trip through the middle west, working in the harvest fields on the large wheat farms. These students will make the trip with T. R. Benfield, sophomore here. Upon the completion of the work in the wheat fields, they intend to continue their tour towards the Pacific coast, visiting Yellowstone National Park, the Grand Canyon, and other places of interest.

Making the trip are: M. A. Tew, Bennie Wagner, F. S. Chandler, R. L. Jurney, W. I. McNabb, Buddy Merritt, Herbert Taylor, A. M. Pickett, Thurston Pickett, Rodney Smith, J. A. Sutton, M. H. Gurley, and T. R. Benfield.

BASEBALL BANQUET

Bringing the baseball season to an official close, L. H. Harris, steward of the college dining hall, gave a banquet for the 1930 diamond artists Tuesday evening at 6:30 in the dining hall.

The banquet has become an annual event and is furnished gratuitously by Mr. Harris.

Mr. Charlie Doak and his wife were present besides the members of the club.

Glee Club Elects Officers

The officers of the Glee Club and orchestra were recently elected to take charge of those activities for next year. J. K. Brown of Selma was elected president, M. B. Amos of High Point, vice-president, of Glee Club; Joe Allen, of Raleigh, vice-president of orchestra; F. H. Geile, secretary and treasurer.

At the election of officers meeting all of the 12 senior members were awarded a musical key.

DEAN BROWN ADDRESSES ANIMAL HUSBANDRY CLUB

"Development of the Human Race" Topic of Science and Business Head

"The chief characteristic of culture is that man destroys and wears out nature, and it is only recently that he has done this," said Dean B. F. Brown to approximately 30 members and guests attending the annual Animal Husbandry banquet in the Y. M. C. A. recently. Dean Brown spoke on the "Development of the Human Race."

Our culture, Dean Brown continued, is one of exploitation, for we are consuming the earth. Primitive man, according to the dean, did not interfere with nature, but "civilization attacks the earth like a consuming fire."

Dean Brown declared that "We have not arrived at a balance in our civilization—we take away more than we replace."

Urging the agriculture students to take cognizance of the exploitation, Dean Brown told them that they were face to face with the problem, and it was up to them to balance the budget, for the only replaceable resources were organic and in some way connected with the soils. "You can do more than anyone except foresters to balance the budget," he concluded.

Prof. R. H. Ruffner, in introducing the main speaker, Dean Brown, complimented the club for having more meetings and better results than ever before.

John W. Crawford, president of the club, acted as toastmaster for the event.

Tuneful, dramatic, and with elaborate sets dwarfing those of the greatest Broadway revues, "Be Yourself," starring Fannie Brice in an all-dialogue musical comedy opens Monday at the Palace Theatre.

Out of an elaborate night club setting which gives Miss Brice an opportunity to sing several "hit" numbers in that amusing and distinctive manner of hers, and a prize-ring background, Thornton Freeland, directing for United Artists, has woven an original sound film—a comedy with dramatic highlights and a musical extravaganza that does not bore one with recurrences of these songs.

The amusing and fast-moving story concerns a night club entertainer and hostess who falls in love with a lazy prizefighter. She forces herself upon him, trains him, and eventually sees him win the championship. However, the fighter, played by that excellent actor of he-man parts, Robert Armstrong, falls for the wiles of a chorus girl, Gertrude Astor, and allows his battered nose to be remodelled so that he may appear more attractive to her eyes.

He jilts Miss Brice, who, seeking both revenge and salvation for him, rematches him with the former champion and sees to it that he is soundly whipped. Remorseful, Armstrong goes back to his first love.

It isn't every day that an actress can step out of light, fluffy "sweetie" roles to don the more cumbersome garb of emotional drama—and get away with it to the satisfaction of her public.

But that's just what Nancy Carroll does in "The Devil's Holiday," which is coming to the State Theatre next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. Only one doesn't have the feeling that she is getting away with anything. One feels, rather, that she is delivering a million dollars worth of exceptionally valuable acting skill, and delivering it with a power of which no one ever realized she was capable.

In "The Devil's Holiday," which, to begin with, is a particularly masterful romance drama on the late lamented stock market crash in Wall Street. Willard Mack, the author, has drawn a very natural picture of two boarding-house keepers of Washington Square, New York, who are pulled into the imbroglio of Wall Street. And, of course, when too much prosperity splits the old friends it also raises hob with the budding romance of Marie's daughter, Annie Page, and Polly's son, Charles Morton. Incidentally, these two make an exceedingly attractive pair. It is the first time they have appeared together, "Caught Short" being Morton's first M-G-M picture. For several years he has been featured in Fox productions.

A lot of laughs are furnished by the boarding-house atmosphere of the piece, principally through the efforts of those three high-class comedians, T. Roy Barnes, Herbert Rortor, and Edward Dillon.

Riesner has maintained his suspense to the minute of the Wall Street crash in an admirable manner. In fact, the minister is just about to declare Morton married to another girl—but we really shouldn't give away the "gags" of this laughable picture.

Marie and Polly deserve a great big hand for the deft and easy manner in which they get their individual effects. You never feel the whirl of the wheels in the work of this pair. Their characterizations are always smooth and polished.

Several songs are introduced, including the hitting "I'm Spank Now," sung by Miss Dressler for the music and lyrics of Dave Snavely and Ray Egan.

Tit: "What is the most popular animal in America?"
Wit: "The hot dog."
