

Annual Barn-Warming Held By Agricultural Students Most Successful In Years

"Red" Staton Adjudged Best Swine Coaxer At Dance

SQUIRE SWICEGOOD LEADS STUDENTS' SQUARE DANCE

For First Time in the History of Agricultural Club a "Queen of the Barn Warming," Margaret Jones, Was Selected by "Ag" Students at Dance.

The most informal social event of the year, the annual "barn-warming" of the Agricultural Club, was celebrated in the Frank Thompson gymnasium Saturday night from 8 till 12 by agricultural students and faculty, Meredith juniors and seniors, and many local girls. The boys wore overalls and the girls were clad in gingham.

A "Queen of the Barn-warming," for the first time in its history, was selected, with the farmers and farmerettes electing Margaret Jones of Raleigh as queen. She was crowned "Queen of the Barn-warming" by Earl Meacham of Stateville.

Bales of straw and pine trees were used to form an inner square inside the gym, while overhead crepe paper of different colors softened the light and added beauty to the place. Behind the inner wall of straw bales and pine rustic seats fashioned from bales of straw offered ideal places for pairs of opposite sex to gather.

For those bashful lads who were wary of the farmerettes and others, Swicegood had gathered a supply of palatable eats. Bananas, punch, apples, ice cream, and peanuts were served.

Prior to the dancing, which began at 10 o'clock, games were played and contests held. The most noisy, if not the most interesting, was the "hog calling" contest. Twelve strong-winded lads, each one having a different method of summoning his swine, took part in this contest. Sounds running from soft crooning tones to ear-splitting yells were employed by the contestants as they fought for the prize. Bruce "Red" Staton was adjudged winner.

Co-Eds Bring Many Student Comments In Forum Articles

Since the publication of two articles about what co-eds are and what co-eds ought to be in last week's TECHNICIAN, a great deal of talk has been heard on the campus about these new additions to the college.

It has been said that they are a blessing to the institution, and it has been said that they will prove its ruin.

The general opinion, though, seems to be that if the co-eds are the right kind, they will be a blessing.

The question perplexing the TECHNICIAN right now is—just what characteristics does "the right kind of co-ed" possess? Does she smoke? Does she pet promiscuously? Does she pet at all?

These and several other questions appear in a questionnaire which appears in this week's TECHNICIAN.

The staff is anxious to know what sort of girls the students at State like. They would also like to have the opinions of the faculty members and of the co-eds themselves.

Just fill in the questionnaire which appears on page five, cut it out, and bring, send, or mail it to the TECHNICIAN office in old Primrose Hall sometime before 6 o'clock Monday afternoon. Results of the questionnaire will be published next week.

Freshmen

There will be a meeting of the Fourth Freshman electoral district for the purpose of selecting a freshman candidate of this district for class president. Meeting will be held in Y.M.C.A. Tuesday night, November 12th, at eight o'clock.

PRICE'S BAND WINS PRAISE AT ANNUAL FOOTBALL CLASSIC

Although State lost to Carolina in the game last Saturday, the innovation in the system of band conduct won the praise and commendation of all spectators.

Mr. T. S. McCorkle, director of music at Carolina, complimented "Daddy" Price and the State College band very highly on their performance. He said the combination of color guard, company standards, and band was the best he had ever seen, and the parade and movements were carried out to perfection.

The parade formation was somewhat similar to that of the West Point cadets before each game, the only difference being that before the Army games the entire cadet corps and band march on the field together, parade around the field, and then go in a body to their section in the stands, while the State College parade lacks the cadet regiment.

Freshmen To Elect Officers At Meet Here November 20

The election of officers of the Freshman Class will be held November 20, at 12 o'clock.

The election will be held under the same plan used last year which proved very successful. Under this plan the State is divided up into eight districts and the out-of-State students form the ninth district. Each district has a captain who will call a meeting and select one nominee. From the nine nominees the class officers will be elected.

The counties and districts with their captains are listed as follows:

First District—Chairman, L. A. McRoy, 206 Watauga, of Beaufort County, Chowan, N. C.; Camden, Chowan, Currituck, Gates, Hertford, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Beaufort, Dare, Martin, Hyde, Pamlico, Tyrrell, Washington, Bertie, Northampton, Edgecombe, and Halifax.

Second District—Chairman, Jacob F. Wade, of Morehead City, Carteret County, N. C.; Pitt, Franklin, Nash, Wilson, Carteret, Craven, Greene, Jones, Lenoir, Onslow, Johnston, and Wayne.

Third District—Chairman, W. J. Hayes, 319 South, of New Hanover County, Wilmington, N. C.; Duplin, New Hanover, Pender, Sampson, Bladen, Brunswick, Columbus, Cumberland, Robeson, Harnett, Hoke, Moore and Randolph.

Fourth District—Chairman, Arthur H. Rogers, 1100 Glenwood Ave., Raleigh, N. C.; Wake County: Chatham, Lee, Wake, Vance, Warren, Granville.

OCTOBER FIRST MONTH SELF-HELP BUDGET IS USED, SAYS JOE MOORE

In October there were 91 budgets turned in by N. C. State self-help men with a total earning of $1,172.92, this including the amount made during Fair Week. Joe Moore says that October was the best month in self-help since he has been here.

The man earning the highest amount was Everett Cooper, who made $62.35. Cooper used a car and contracted for the delivery of the Raleigh Times. The largest amount reported for odd jobs was $16.08, made by Ralph Cummings. Other men with permanent jobs made $30 and more. The average for the 91 men was $7.42.

October was the first entire month in which the new budget system of the self-help was used, and according to Joe E. Moore, associate secretary of the Y. M. C. A., the new plan of reports is working very well.

There were over 200 men who purchased budgets, but there is only about 50 per cent cooperation between self-help men and the Self-Help Bureau. This is an index to the need of these men, some being insincere in asking.

CO-EDS ORGANIZATION WILL BE KNOWN AS THE PIONEERS

Will Give a Weiner Roast At Lassiter's Mill Saturday, November 16

State College co-eds recently formed an organization, to be known in the future as "The Pioneers." This was the name that was chosen at their last meeting, Monday noon. The flower is to be Queen Ann's Lace, the colors, green and white, and the symbol, the horseshoe.

A good deal of discussion took place before the name was decided on, as all of the suggestions were along the same line. "The Pioneers" was chosen because this sort of an organization is a pioneer on the campus. If the co-eds continue to come to State College they will not always be considered pioneers, but the organization felt it proper to choose such a name to keep in the minds of the people in the future the beginning of the women on the campus.

The co-eds were very practical-minded in choosing their flower and took Queen Ann's Lace, because it was inexpensive, easy to get, and made an effective decoration. The horseshoe was chosen for luck.

At the recommendation of the president, an advisory board was chosen to work with the co-eds and give suggestions when needed. Those selected were: Miss Olive Webb, Mrs. T. E. Browne, and Mrs. W. L. Mayer.

In order that the girls may get better acquainted with each other, the chairman of the social committee, Nancy Beddingfield, announced that there would be a weiner roast at Lassiter's Mill, Saturday, November 16. This was decided to be strictly confined to the ladies.

BLUE KEY SOCIETY WANT MORE BULLETIN BOARDS

Many Suggested Improvements for Good of the College Given at Meet

Blue Key, national honorary fraternity, held its third bi-weekly luncheon in the cafeteria last Friday at 12:45. Suggestions for improvements for the good of the school came thick and fast. Many good points concerning a bulletin board were discussed, as also was the subject of school spirit.

This organization was founded at the University of Florida several years ago and a chapter was placed here in 1928. This fraternity for the betterment of college conditions is known as present time there are 19 student members, a faculty member, and two honorary "Rotary of the Colleges." At the oratory meetings.

At the meeting several weeks ago the following committees were appointed by President C. H. Belvin: A president's committee, to confer with Dr. E. C. Brooks in regard to proposed advancements; a program committee, to arrange entertainment for all functions of the organization; a forensic committee, an athletic committee, and a publicity committee.

The subject of a central bulletin board was discussed last year and carried to the president of the College, but action failed when the College architect refused to endorse the move because of the effect the placing of the board would have on the landscape. This year the fraternity thought the need greater than ever, and they are renewing the effort to put it over.

Dr. Ray R. Serron, honorary member, was present and brought up the ## Letter Addressed To Will Hays Attracts Comment From N. Y.

Many favorable replies already have been received by Leazar Literary Society to their open letter addressed to Will Hays, in which they deplore the misrepresentation of college life portrayed on the screen.

Several letters, one from a prominent New Yorker who read the story in the New York Times, are to be read tonight at the meeting of the society. Prof. Edwin H. Paget, faculty adviser, and Eddie P. Bass, president of Leazar, seem to be well pleased with the comments and replies they have received.

The letter containing the resolution passed by Leazar Literary Society, a copy of which was sent to the leading newspapers of the country as well as to Mr. Hays, follows:

An Open Letter to Will Hays

Dear Mr. Hays:

Since the motion pictures have an enormous influence on American thinking, their producers should make every effort to be fair and accurate. The members of Leazar Literary Society of North Carolina State College believe that a majority of college films are false pictures of college life and injure the prestige of the college man or woman. We hope that you will call to the attention of the motion picture producers of America the following specific defects. These are only a few of the numerous objectionable features found in many pictures of college life:

1. That athletics are usually falsely made to occupy about 80 per cent of the students' time.

2. That most of the athletic contests shown are ridiculously inaccurate, since the football captain is rarely ever kidnapped the night before the game; since most touchdowns are not made in the last minute of play, and since most universities have an elaborate coaching staff in addition to the sole coach shown in most motion pictures.

3. That almost invariably students are falsely shown to have an excessive interest in members of the opposite sex, and that their conduct as pictured would normally lead to expulsion from school.

4. That the wide-awake and mentally vigorous college leader, whether man or woman, is rarely the type portrayed by our leading motion picture stars.

5. That the many brilliant thinkers and teachers found on the faculties of American colleges are often grossly misrepresented by the comic "college professor."

6. That most pictures of college life are trite and obvious. The home team sometimes loses the big game of the season.

7. The many vital and dramatic situations in college life have been almost completely neglected as picture-making material. We recommend that college pictures be written and directed by college men.

8. We recommend that, since the youth of the nation imitate the speech of the college talking picture, the various producers cooperate with the National Association of Teachers of Speech in achieving admirable speech standards.

Signed:

E. P. BASS,
President of Leazar Literary Society.
EDWIN H. PAGET,
Associate Professor of Speech and Faculty Adviser.

1929 Pledge Dances Will Be Held Thompson Gymnasium Beginning Friday Afternoon

VARSITY AND FROSH DEBATING TEAMS TO BE SELECTED SOON

Members for varsity and freshman debating and oratorical squads will be picked Monday, November 18, in Room 109, Pullen Hall, between the hours of three and five.

All entries will be required to make a five-minute speech on "Resolved, That the United States should advocate the world-wide agreement to disarm all forces except those needed for police forces." The speech may be on any phase that the entrant desires to take. Further material may be obtained by calling at the Library.

Tryouts for the members and temporary pledges of the Leazar Literary Society will be held Friday, November 15, at the regular meeting.

The Pullen Literary Society held its tryouts Thursday, November 7, at the regular meeting.

All who have had any previous training or oratorical experience are urged to participate in the tryouts.

Ray Miller's Brunswick Recording Orchestra Will Play Here

DECORATIONS WILL BE IN MODERNISTIC DESIGNING

Dan Torrence, Assisted by Horace Pennington, Will Lead the Dances—Each of the Sixteen Fraternities Belonging to the Pan-Hellenic Council Will Have Lighted Crest.

Preparations for the annual pledge dances, which consist of a tea dante from 4 to 6 this afternoon and dances this evening and tomorrow from 9 to 12, were completed this morning with the adding of the final touches to the decoration of the gymnasium.

The dances are sponsored by the Pan-Hellenic Council, of which sixteen fraternities are members, and Allie P. Baggett, president.

The figures are to be led by Dan Torrence, Chi Alpha Sigma, assisted by Horace Pennington, Sigma Phi Epsilon. Over one hundred pledges will be in the figure.

The gymnasium, through the work of the decorating committee, headed by Burgess Perry, chairman, has been transformed into a blaze of color in a modernistic setting. A huge illuminated silver star has been hung in the center of the gymnasium. Crepe paper and many varicolored balloons combine to form a canopy of striking and original beauty.

Each of the sixteen fraternity members of the Pan-Hellenic Council have their illuminated crest.

Sixteen illuminated fraternity crests, one for each fraternity of the Pan-Hellenic Council, have been placed along the walls of the gym.

Ray Miller, the "Personality King of Jazz," and his noted Brunswick recording orchestra, have been secured for the dances. A special treat should be in store for the local dancers, for this is reputed to be one of the most original orchestras that has ever scored the triple distinction of being ballroom, theatre, and recording stars.

J. Stitt Wilson To Deliver Lectures At State Next Week

Hon. J. Stitt Wilson, of Berkeley, Cal., will be at State Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, of next week to fill his sixth speaking engagement. Mr. Wilson has been visiting our campus since 1923, and has always brought a stimulating and challenging message. In introducing him last year, Dean Carl C. Taylor said:

"Stitt Wilson, the friend of State College, the most valuable man who comes to State College campus, who comes not to orate but to teach, who always brings a message to the campus on some fundamental problem."

Mr. Wilson will deliver six lectures during the three days he is here. There will be two lectures on "My Philosophy of Life." These will be given on Tuesday at 12 noon and 6:30 p. m. On Wednesday he will give two lectures on "The Relation of Science and Religion." These will also come at 12 noon and 6:30 p. m. On Thursday there will be two lectures on "The Technique of Creative Personality." The hours for these will be the same as on the preceding days, 12 noon and 6:30 p. m.

The Faculty Council has voted to suspend all classes on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday between the hours of 12 and 1, in order that every student in college may have the opportunity of hearing these addresses.

Since his visit here last December, Mr. Wilson has spent several months traveling, studying, and working in European countries. His work over there was so acceptable that he has been invited to return. He is now on his way from Berkeley, Cal., to England, and will stop in Raleigh on his way there. State is about the only college in the United States he will visit this year.

NOTED RED CROSS MAN GIVES FUNDAMENTALS IN SWIMMING INSTRUCTION

Raymond Eaton, of Washington, D. C., head of the Red Cross National Swimming Association, is spending a few days in Raleigh and at State College.

Mr. Eaton makes it his job going from one school to another instructing the boys in swimming. His major job, however, is to train and qualify boys to become Red Cross swimmers. He feels the need that every able-bodied boy of America should know how to swim.

Saturday night, Mr. Eaton, assisted by our local Red Cross representative, Mr. Simons Busbee, had approximately 80 Boy Scouts in the college pool, teaching them the fundamentals of swimming. The students and Boy Scouts are taking a great interest in swimming and have benefited greatly by Mr. Eaton's instructions.

State College has a number of boys each summer that accepts jobs as life-savers at some beach or lake. Nothing would be more fitting than have a larger number of our students capable of promoting swimming and giving the examiner's test to the boys.

State's Literary Society Condemns Collegiate Movie

The Pullen Literary Society has come to the support of the Leazar Literary Society in their stand against the so-called "collegiate" motion pictures.

Mr. J. A. Broadwell, the president of Pullen, has invited Professor Rogers, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to speak before a future meeting of the two societies in defense of his views on snobbery.

The members of Pullen believe that Professor Rogers may do serious injury to the prestige of college students and college graduates all over the country. They believe that the motion-picture producers, always eager to exaggerate collegiate characteristics, will in the future picture as the typical college student the snob in pursuit of an heiress.

The Leazar resolutions published last week have been printed in newspapers in all parts of the country, and have been taken seriously by all except the Raleigh papers, who seem to be in an unusually playful mood. The members of both societies believe that in time the discussion which is now going on will lead to some improvement in the type of photoplay. The letters received from Mr. Will Hays and the various motion-picture producers will be read at future meetings of the societies. The reply of Professor Rogers will also be discussed in the near future.

The officers of both societies will

RAMOS ORCHESTRA ATTENDED BY LARGE AUDIENCE MONDAY

Last Monday night the famous Ramos Orchestra delighted a large audience in Pullen Hall with the beautiful old songs, and overtures of old Mexico. The climax of the evening came with the singing of the beautiful favorite, "Carolina Moon." Several beautiful old classical numbers were offered and well received by the music lovers of State College and Raleigh.

The orchestra is composed of members of the Ramos family, all of which have graduated from the National Conservatory of Music in Mexico. Senor Ramos, who is a famous composer and international musician, rendered several beautiful numbers on the piano. His daughter, Rosa, sang a number of old Mexican tunes, but it was in the chorus of "Carolina Moon" with her two sisters that the audience lost itself in applause.

Several beautiful and well-known waltzes were played which turned the mind of the music lovers back to the old classics.

At the age of 22, Senor Ramos won the international music contest in which 31 countries had entries. In this contest he played a song of his own composition.

The Ramos family left their triumphs in Mexico City to take Havana by storm. From Havana, they arrived in New York, where appearances at the Hotel Astor and at the Pennsylvania Hotel soon established them as a general favorite. Concerts broadcast over WEA, New York, built up a tremendous popularity for them.

Richardson Goes To Convention At Washington, D. C.

Prof. H. A. Richardson, local professor of Marketing Department, also head of Placement Bureau, left Wednesday morning for Washington, D. C., to attend the 21st annual convention of the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America, to be held Wednesday and Thursday of this week in the Mayflower Hotel, of that city.

The purpose of this convention was to organize the Grocery Manufacturers into such a unit as to compete with the chain stores, a confronting problem which has been growing very rapidly during the past few years.

The main subject to be discussed at the convention was: Concentration in Distribution—Its Trade and Public Significance.

Many outstanding men from the leading educational institutions of America were present. Some of the leading ones who delivered speeches were: Copeland, of Harvard; Weidner, of Ohio State; Griffin, of Michigan; Westerfield, of Yale, and many others. Professor Richardson is honored by being officially invited to attend the occasion.

Chemical Engineering Men Make Annual Visit To Industries

Last Friday Dr. E. E. Randolph, dean of the Chemical Engineering School, took part of his students to Badin, where they inspected the aluminum plant located there.

The students and the professor left Friday morning at six o'clock and returned at eight in the evening. To add pleasure to the trip they stopped at Pinehurst and Southern Pines.

This trip is an annual affair, and is considered to be of practical benefit, as it gives the chemical students an insight into one of the many industries open to the chemical student.

MR. POTEAT SPEAKER TO MEN AT FRESHMAN DISCUSSION GROUP

Rev. E. McNeill Poteat was back with the discussion group leaders last Monday and led an interesting discussion on the question that was presented the freshmen last Wednesday: How to meet times of testing.

Mr. Poteat will fill a speaking engagement in Charlotte next Monday night and his place will be taken by Hon. J. Stitt Wilson, who will be here at that time.

Many people have commented on the excellence of the discussions at the Monday night meetings. Mr. Poteat is not to be surpassed in leading college men in discussion.

The meeting of the freshmen will be postponed from next Wednesday until the following week, in order to cooperate with the visit of Stitt Wilson.

for help, and others obtaining money from home or outside sources.

The budget system requires that a man estimate his expenses ahead so that he can improve his financial habits and check up on all loose ends. Then a record must be kept of all money that is earned and spent as a check on financial standing at the end of the month.

All budgets are checked and graded on accuracy and neatness as well as the improvement made from month to month. The needy men who get the best grades stand a better chance at the jobs to be secured through the Employment Bureau, while the men who neglect to turn in their budgets automatically take themselves off the roster of self-help men who are in good standing, and are not allowed to get any work through the Employment Bureau.

"College is a man's greatest investment," says Joe Moore, "and all men should make college a business proposition. A man will get ten years of interest for each of the four invested in college, and he should not waste his college years." The budget of personal expenses is a good place to start making college seem more like business to a man. It will help by teaching him accuracy and neatness and it will enable him to know where his expenses are too high.

subject of school spirit. Sermon says that the team is not getting the proper backing from the student body. Following this remark the fraternity went on record as desiring that after each game the individual members give the team a word of praise, and also try to foster the move among the students.

Plans for a "Dad's Day" next year were discussed, the final outcome being that plans be started immediately for a real homecoming day for next year. The situation at the present as to a homecoming day for this year are somewhat doubtful.

Blue Key meets every other week on Friday, in the college cafeteria, and is one of the factors on the campus leading toward progressivism. It is also a forum where free and open discussion on campus needs, problems, and schemes of betterment may be held.

This is Miller's initial appearance at State College as a musician.

Ray Miller's is recognized as one of the prominent orchestras of the country. Mr. Miller made his first bow as a director of the Black and White Melody Boys at the famous old Maxim's in New York. From here he went to the Pollies Bergers, where he attracted the attention of Ed Wynn, who signed him up and for whom he played for eighty weeks.

Only a few years ago a contest of all recording orchestras was held, and the Ray Miller Orchestra won first prize. He and his orchestra have played in the Gibson Hotel, Cincinnati; the hotels Arlington and Eastman, Hot Springs, Arkansas; the Blossom Heath Inn, Newark; the Beaux Arts, Atlantic City, and the Arcadia Ballroom, New York.

The pledge dances are the first social events of the season. They are the only dances sponsored by the Pan-Hellenic Council until the final dances in the spring. The German Club controls the dances during the mid-winter.

State-Davidson Game To Be Run Off Tomorrow

WILDCATS COUNT FOUR VICTORIES IN THIRTY YEARS

Gus Tebell Expected To Use a Revamped Line-up

State meets its third foe in "Big Five" circles tomorrow afternoon when Davidson plays here at Riddick Field. The game will mark the first visit of the Wildcats to the local gridiron since 1926. The last two Wolfpack-Wildcat battles were staged in the Memorial Stadium in Greensboro.

The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock.

The 1926 game in Raleigh saw the Davidson team win 3-0, and Tebell's machine will be out tomorrow for revenge. At the same time Davidson will be endeavoring to lick the Wolfpack for the two straight defeats they have received in the last two games. The 1927 score was 25-6, and last year it read 14-7.

In the last thirty years Davidson has won but four games over the Techmen.

The game will have an important bearing on the final standing of the two teams in the championship race, and comparative scores indicate that the two aggregations are evenly matched.

State barely beat Wake Forest by a count of 8-6, and then the Deacons nosed out Davidson 6-0 a week later. Taking everything into consideration, the game will be the best of the season for State-College students.

Coach Tebell will probably start the same line-up against the Wildcats that he used against the Tar Heels last week. It will be the second game that the revamped line-up of the Techmen has started this season.

Give a movie usher enough rope and you'll stand behind it.

OPPOSING CAPTAINS IN TOMORROW'S GAME

CAPT. JOHN LEPO

SERMON PAID GLOWING FOOTBALL TRIBUTE AS OUTSTANDING PLAYER

In a recent edition of the Raleigh News and Observer, "Phog" Allen, paid Dr. Ray Sermon, athletic director here, a tribute for his playing while a player at Warrensburg Normal School.

The tribute to Dr. Sermon is recounted by C. E. McBride, sports editor of the Kansas City Star.

McBride, under the column heading "Great Moments in Valley Football," writes:

"Over a long string of years, with many a brilliantly played football game bobbing up in memory, I recall no game in which one splendid star dominated the contest more than did Ray 'Ug' Sermon, sensational halfback of the Warrensburg Normals, when he personally conducted a 16 to 6 victory over a powerful Westminster team. The game was played at Fulton, Kan., Friday, October 17, 1917.

"Sermon was a cripple in this game. He could not lift his right arm above his waist and the arch of his right foot was broken. 'Phog' Allen, now director of athletics at Kansas University, was coaching the Warrensburg team. Before the game he taped Sermon's shoulder and ankle, sending him into the contest to run the team, that and nothing else.

"Whatever you do, 'Ug' do not call a play that will put you on the receiving end, either running or forward passing," was the parting word the coach gave Sermon.

"I will narrate some of the plays of that game as I recall them. Right at the start Sermon punted. A powerful Blue Jay lineman broke through, left his feet and sent Sermon sprawling to the ground. For that the Blue Jay line was ejected from the game. Sermon was shaken up, but the shaking seemed more inspirational than anything else.

"Westminster made a forward pass. Sermon, playing safety, batted the pass with his left hand, and as the ball bounded away from him Sermon sprinted after it, caught it, balanced the ball in his left hand, and ran for a touchdown.

"Westminster held Warrensburg on the Blue Jay 35-yard line. Sermon called for a place-kick, and I knew from the manner in which the man who was to hold the ball was 'setting' himself that it could only be a left-footed kick. Sermon's right foot was out of commission. Sermon never had kicked with his left foot. Out along the sidelines 'Phog' Allen was raving! Later the coach said he figured the play was a fake kick and that Sermon would make a forward pass.

"But 'Ug' Sermon had other plans. Using his left foot, he teed the ball squarely over the Westminster crossbar, shooting his team into a 9 to 0 lead.

"That was the first time I ever saw him kick with his left foot," said Coach Allen after the game.

"A while later Sermon, forgetting instructions from his coach, as he warmed to the thrill of the battle, called a forward pass play, received the ball and ran for a touchdown. Warrensburg scored 16 points in that game and 'Ug' Sermon compiled each one of them.

"I have seen many brilliant football players," said K. U.'s present athletic director recently, "but I have never seen a man in intercollegiate athletics who could do the things that 'Ug' Sermon could do."

NOTICE!

All managers of teams entered in the horseshoe tourney please post their entrants' names on the schedule in the gym.

By the way, what do you think of this idea of running something about other big five colleges every week? We would like to know what our readers think about it.

TECH YEARLINGS AND BABY DEACONS SCRAP HERE ARMISTICE DAY

Anticipating their fourth straight victory, the Wolflets of State College will mix with the yearling Deacons of Wake Forest at Riddick Field, here, on next Monday, Armistice Day. The game starts at 2:30.

One of the best freshman teams in history, an aggregation that already has swept three powerful freshman elevens aside, will be matched against a heavy Wake Forest frosh team when the two clubs clash at 2:30 in the feature athletic attraction of Armistice Day.

Pat Miller, varsity coach at Wake Forest, has spent much time with the yearling team in preparation for the coming tilt with the youthful Techmen, and a whole bag of tricks may be opened for the benefit of the Junior Wolfpack. To guard against surprises, Coach "Buck" Drennan has drilled the Tech yearlings hard during the week, and he has emphasized the cardinal sin of over-confidence.

The State freshmen, with a fine array of performers, have developed a strong running attack this season, although all but two of the tallies scored by the team have been made by the air route. The coaching staff is giving a good deal of attention to smoothing up the ground work, in order that the team may show a greater punch within the scoring zone.

The Wake Forest yearlings will be all set to smear State's perfect record, and any Tech-Baptist battle is a hard-fought affair. The young Deacons have a heavy, aggressive team, with a shifty backfield and a line that charges hard.

GAMECOCKS WILL MEET HEELS IN COLUMBIA, S. C., TOMORROW

Two Teams Fought to a Nothing-Nothing Tie At Hill Last Year

With the scalp of the State College football team hanging to their belt, Carolina will arrive in Columbia, S. C., early this morning to take on the Gamecocks tomorrow.

Reports from both camps indicate it will be a game featured by an aerial attack. South Carolina won over Clemson last Saturday through the overhead route, and Carolina used the same method to chalk up a victory over the State Wolfpack. However, South Carolina's touchdowns that came by the way of passes were ones intercepted. On the other hand, Carolina was on the sending and receiving end of their heaves.

Chuck Collins has one of the best passing attacks in the South, and, regardless of how strong the Gamecocks are in breaking up passes, the Carolina mentor will depend chiefly on this method of attack tomorrow.

Last year the two teams fought to a nothing-nothing score at Chapel Hill in a sea of mud.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETIC SCHEDULE GETS GOING

Swimming Events Partly Run Off Thursday; Will Be Completed Later

The intramural athletics have started off strong this year with 30 teams representing various organizations on the campus.

The swimming events started Thursday at 4:30 with the 50- and 150-yard swims, backstroke and underwater swim. Next week the 100- and 400-yard swims and the fancy diving will be run off as fast as possible.

In the horseshoe pitching the first round will be played any time before the 15th of November.

This year each organization can have only two men entered in each event, and one man cannot be entered in more than three events.

RUNS WITH OWN PASS

Here's new one for you, although ten years old.

Capt. Irving Langhoff, of Marquette's 1919 football team, caught his own pass and ran 20 yards with it in a game with North Dakota. Langhoff tossed the pass to his right end, who juggled it, and in return a Dakota man took his turn in handling the ball. While those two men were juggling the pigskin, Langhoff rushed in, grabbed the oval, and ran with it for a 20-yard gain. The incident took place in Milwaukee in October of 1919.

DUKE PLAYS LOUISIANA IN FIRST CONFERENCE TEST

Will Be Second Home Game for DeHart's Blue Devils In New Stadium

Duke will make her initial bid for Southern Conference honors tomorrow, when Louisiana State University journeys to Durham to clash with the Devils.

This game will mark the second one played in the new stadium at Duke, and also the second time Duke has been host to a visiting team this season.

Having played five games so far this year and losing all but one, Duke will meet another tenacious foe in the L. S. U. aggregation. The visitors are at present in a tie for conference leadership, and rank as one of the leading contenders for championship. Having scored over 200 points against rivals already this season, the Louisiana State machine has added such scalps as Sewanee and Mississippi A. and M. to her long list of captors.

The Devils should have learned a good bit about football this fall, as teams entirely out of their class have been met. Captain Henry Kistler is reported to start the game at tackle, and with the addition of "Ock" Godfrey at full, a well-balanced team should be had. "Kid" Brewer will probably play one half instead of Beaver, as the "Kid" has it over "Flopp" in running with the ball, and also in weight and power.

BUNN REPLACES WILLIAMS IN STATE SCORING RACE

Guilford Back Takes Lead With Six Touchdowns for 36 Points

Football play in North Carolina colleges and universities last week saw Jimmy Bunn, Guilford halfback, forge into the lead for individual scoring, replacing Pete Williams, of Elon.

Bunn sent his number of touchdowns up to six in last Saturday's game, giving him a one-point margin over his rival from Elon. Williams has scored five touchdowns and five extra points.

Following close behind Williams is Manner, of Carolina, who has crossed the last white line five times and has added two extra points to go with the six-point markers. Another Tar Heel ranks in fourth place in the name of Yank Spaulding. Spaulding has scored four touchdowns and seven extra points. His seven extra one-pointers sends him into a tie with Thad Brock, of Davidson, for the leadership in extra points.

Other individual leaders are Branch, Nash, and Erickson, of Carolina; Cox, of Guilford; Mills, of Wake Forest; Walker, of Elon; McCall, of Davidson; and Jones, of Lenoir-Rhyne.

The barn-warming was a great success, according to reports. Every one seemed to enjoy the rustic surroundings and the square dance. Something different is always a hit.

N.C.S.

For the benefit of the students and every one concerned, THE TECHNICIAN will be off the press and ready for distribution every Friday for the rest of the year, as contrasted to the Saturday edition of former issues.

N.C.S.

We hope that each subscriber gets his TECHNICIAN this week. The past month has been one big rush, and, with no mailing list, the circulation department was kept busy with sending out advertising copies and exchanges.

N.C.S.

Co-eds have organized and have named their organization "The Pioneers." Wonder what kind of new land they think they are going to settle. The boys are going to have to watch out or the invasion will be equivalent to what happened to the North American Indian.

N.C.S.

Much discussion has been raised in regard to the forum articles last week on What Co-Eds Think. Well, so many letters have come in this week that the subject is getting monotonous. Answer the questionnaire in this issue, and then we'll all know what is thought of the co-ed.

N.C.S.

The staff has been enlarged by the addition of a co-ed editor, and an exchange editor. The need of a co-ed editor is felt due to the sudden rise of the women to prominence. An exchange editor is also needed, and one of his duties is handling the newly formed "Comments From Other Colleges" column.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

Has State College got the so-called abstract quality of school spirit?

Why is it that as long as things are going right that the students are all enthused and ready to give the deserving party the glad hand—but let things go wrong and they turn their backs and say nothing?

Laugh and the world laughs with you,
Cry and you cry alone.

This situation, as described in the two lines above, is typical of the present condition in regard to our football team. A college cannot have a winning team all the time, and if they did, it would not be long until the other schools would tire of playing them. That desired element of competition would be eliminated, and school spirit would be ruined.

We have a team this year that is putting out its best for State College, but old Lady Luck—if there is such a thing as luck—is against them. Contests have been lost, and the future may hold other losses. Are we to fail them in this time of need? They are fighting for us, and could we not do so little as to say, "Good, game team; you played a great game, but the odds were against you?"

When the team is winning the fans go wild. They are proud to call it their team, and after the game every one tries to rush the gym to pat the individual members on the back. But what a difference the reverse in scoring makes! After the beaten team goes off the field the would-be supporters sink away with a woe-filled look and never think of going to the gym.

Such a situation is now confronting State College. Our team is fighting a lone battle. The students are not doing their part. They yell at the game, but when the team begins to lose they shut up like a clam. This is not the right kind of school spirit—it is no school spirit.

What is needed most is the advancement of a move sponsored by the Blue Key fraternity to give the team the glad hand, whether in victory or defeat. Our team makes several long trips before the season is over. Before previous games the team has left and returned and seemingly never been missed. On their return they are battered and bruised, and if in defeat feel disgraced. Just a word of encouragement will do worlds of good.

Are we as students going to allow the team to bear the burden alone? Fellows, it is never too late to redeem yourselves. So, after the next game, and the next, tell the team that they were good. Be there after the return trip from another school and give them a real welcome, whether in victory or defeat.

NEW AUDITORIUM

Long has been the need for an auditorium that would be a credit to a technical institution such as State College. No one has ever remarked, "What a beautiful auditorium State College has." And after listening to a speaker or to a musical program, no one has ever commented favorably on the acoustics.

It is time that we were getting appropriations from the State to build an auditorium that the students would be proud of. At the present the barn we have is all right for the holding of freshman assemblies, but for further meetings or entertainments it does not meet the requirements.

With the present student body of 1,829 and over 200 faculty members, how can there ever be a meeting of the entire group when the auditorium will only hold 1,200? On the occasions when a speaker is present the poor acoustics and the disadvantageous seating arrangement make it an undesirable place to hold the meeting.

State College made an initial step toward dramatics last year, and, according to reports, this year will bring further improvement to the "Red Masquers." But they can never present their play at the college because there is no scenery, no curtains—no nothing—to use in the presentation. Other schools, even high schools, are able to equip their auditoriums with sufficient stage scenery and sets to make the platform attractive. But we have only bare walls—a hole in the wall to mark the place where the speaker stands.

The future must see a change. Are we getting our right? Is State College being left out?

Are we to keep the old things while other schools get everything?

THE CO-ED SITUATION

The prolonged replies relative to the co-ed question seem to have bothered many males and females on our campus.

We'd like to know just what a co-ed expects when she invades a male institution?

Co-eds come to State College for knowledge????? when there are three prominent and first-class girl schools in this city.

It is very nice for a co-ed to ask when to neck and when not to neck, but why not ask some questions that are constructive? To many of the students at State this question is quite ludicrous, and to some of the co-eds these questions are deplorable. Many of the boys want to know who the co-ed is who asked such personal questions, and many of the boys have expressed a desire to educate this little ignorant girl.

Student Forum

TREAT TO CO-ED

With all due respect to the "treat" which "A student" gave "a co-ed" in last week's TECHNICIAN, I wish to offer her another.

I read with interest the first article in the Student Forum. It all seemed plausible until the last paragraph. There convulsions of laughter overcame me. Having what I term a sense of humor, I made the most of the laugh—and have tacked the article in a conspicuous place on the wall in my room.

The co-ed who asked those questions in the last paragraph must be at least 18. She would have already reached this age to finish high school and enter college. However, after realizing that girls' ages are rather uncertain things at the best—we'll place it at 17, or even 16.

Now, let's proceed. We have a girl in our college who has finished high school—entered college—who is 17 years of age, and doesn't know yet the attitude of boys toward the smoking, drinking, and peeping of the girls. Where, oh, where, could she have lived 17 years so isolated from boys (St. Mary's?) that a question of the type would be so necessary? Does she have any girl friends who do? Is she of average intelligence? All those questions came to my mind as I read the last paragraph. No, my dear readers, I couldn't be so base, so heartless, as to answer her questions and destroy such beautiful innocence. Such a thing is a joy to all who behold it—a flaming light for younger girls to guide by—a source of laughter to young and old. This co-ed is a representative of an almost extinct type. I'm not the sort of chap who would, with one stroke of the pen, destroy the product of 17 years of life. On the contrary, I think the library should get a new supply of Hans Andersen's fairy tales for her benefit.

DICK YATES.

CO-ED'S REPLY

We've just read the "Reply to the Co-ed's Question," and if you want to know, that is the last straw, and we are going to explode—and now!

Pray, why can't a boy afford to have five dates with the girl friend without kissing her? As far as we are concerned, he can wait until he has had fifty dates, then maybe he would appreciate just how great an honor and pleasure it would be. Maybe, who knows?

So, the girl has a right to kiss her boy friend on the second date. We also have the right to jump in the river. But who wants to do either? Who wants to kiss just a boy, whom we know will never be anything except a friend? Believe it or not, we'd have to be particularly in love before any kissing is done.

So, a girl should kiss her boy friend on the second date if she wants him to come back. That's just what you think, dear "Student." But, listen! If they want to come back they will, anyway, without the petting, and we know that most of them will.

Again, dear "Student," if you have pictured your ideal girl, we truly hope that ideal girls are rare. You say that your ideal should pet, smoke if she likes, and above all to give the boy friend some "loving."

Say, where are you from? Pardon us if we have taken you the wrong way. Maybe your motives are different in saying that a girl should pet, and on the other hand perhaps you just wanted to see that the members of the "bull sessions" were well entertained. Seems as if lots of these boys couldn't keep anything to themselves. Whoever said that women were the gossipers would rise in holy horror at the falsity of the statement were they to chance on our campus and catch one of those wonderful "Bull Sessions." It seems that we co-eds are getting all the tough breaks. We never have to study. Oh, no! We leg the profs, bring them apples—just a hangover from elementary school-day times," says our worthy Technician. That is the sort of thing that we get credit for—credit that we don't deserve. We get an "A" paper back. Some would be bright student comes forth with the remark that he wished that he had on a skirt. Listen! Put on one and see if you get your "A."

Well, we have wandered from the subject, but it all centers around the fact that most of the boys have the wrong opinion of their co-eds—at least that is what we think.

TWO CO-EDS.

LITERARY SOCIETY MAKES COMMENT

Probably it wasn't necessary to ask Mr. Hayes to do anything about the films; probably we have one right at home who, if allowed to write scenarios for the movies, would accomplish as good results. Jonathan Daniels' scenario is exceptionally well done. I have only a few suggestions to make: First, that the usual comic newspaper radio announcer be inserted in the story, since Mr. Daniels has in the scenario all of the other general run of comic college characters, and the character be called Jo Nathan Dan Yells.

(Signed) E. P. LOSS.

"THIS WEEK"

By E. H. ROBERTS

A thought: Most people on reaching the age of 35 or 40 begin to fill out in the abdominal region. We have many instances of that upon the campus. The reasons thereof I don't know. It might be too much leisure. To illustrate that point, take the case of Mr. Brower, the hard-working controller of State College. Mr. Brower seems to be perceptibly receding in that particular region. Mr. Brower's job is to prevent our optimistic deans from spending all the college's money. Isn't that a job? Stewart Robertson, in commenting upon Mr. Brower's situation, expressed the belief that he was attending too many Kiwanis luncheons. I don't know the reason, but as a remedy I know a lot of folks who drink home brew.

Nominations: Best looking, Prof. Garrison; most dignified, Dr. Harrison; best athlete, Shulenberger; biggest talker, Stewart Robertson.

I personally hated to hear of the resignation of "Dad" Dunham from the "Y" desk. "Dad" had one great attribute that many of us sorely lack. He could work hard all day, yet if you walked up to the desk he always had a smile waiting you. Things like that don't cost much, but they go a long way.

Well, here's to more organizations to join and a calmer stock market.

Safety-Pin Rag Song

Is the day of the denominational Church, it almost looks that way. college nearly over? At High Point College, which is under the jurisdiction of the Methodist Protestant Church, it almost looks that way. Out of 250 students only 114 were M. P.'s, leaving 136 as members of other churches.

Following close upon the heels of the tremendous success of "Weary River" and "Drag," comes "Young Nowheres," the newest First National and Vitaphone starring production for Richard Barthelmess. It opens at the Palace Theatre Thursday, and runs through Friday and Saturday.

Barthelmess proved a sensation in his first audible production, "Weary River," which is still breaking records throughout the country; then he followed that with "Drag," which proved highly popular with press and public. Because of her lovely work in "Out of the Ruins," Marion Nixon was awarded the rôle of the girl in "Young Nowheres," one of the most coveted rôles of the year. Bert Roach and Anders Randolph play important rôles. The story was adapted to the screen by Bradley King from the short story by L. A. R. Wille.

Gloria Swanson breaks her cinematic silence and speaks from the screen for the first time when "The Tresspasser," her initial all-dialogue United Artists picture, comes to the State next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. Miss Swanson reveals a stage voice that is a boon to jaded critics. Her tones are rich and well-modulated—and quite in keeping with the rôle of the lady of refinement that she essays in "The Tresspasser." Another revelation is Miss Swanson's soprano singing voice. That she well might have succeeded on the concert stage is indicated in her singing of the two numbers that give lyrical heights to the feature. One of the pieces is Toselli's "Serenade," a standard work. The other, "Love," was composed especially for Miss Swanson by Edmund Goulding, author and director of "The Tresspasser."

A Fox Movietone News and a novelty act, "Cow Camp Ballads," will complete the program.

A dramatic rôle of great power is portrayed by Billie Dove in her newest First National-Vitaphone picture, "Her Private Life," which comes to the Palace Theatre Monday, and running through Wednesday.

Opening in London, the story moves to the colorful background of English country life, where Miss Dove portrays a titled English woman. Then the action swings to New York, where the heroine is shown pawning her last jewels so that she may eat. Only at the end does the light of happiness and love dawn upon the horizon.

It is a rôle that is by far the most difficult that this beauty of the screen has portrayed, and the coming of "Her Private Life" will be awaited with interest by her many admirers in this city.

The fine supporting cast includes Montague Love, Holmes Herbert, Roland Young, Thelma Todd, Zasu Pitts, Mary Forbes, and Brandon Hurst.

"Her Private Life" was directed by Alexander Korda, the noted Hungarian director, who was also at the megaphone on Miss Dove's "The Yellow Lily" and other pictures.

The picture is 100 per cent dialogue.

A flip, fast, furious, free and flaming festival is "Good News," the international musical comedy success which comes to the State Theatre next Friday and Saturday, November 15th and 16th, with matinee on Saturday.

It is a strictly collegiate tale—fraternity boys, sorority girls, glee clubs, strict "profs," campus cutups, naive "freshies," and a rousing football climax. Laurence Schwab and Bud de Silva wrote the book, while Lew Brown provided the lyrics and Ray Henderson contributed the music.

Cotton Technologist From Soviet Country Visits Textile Dept.

Dr. William S. Federov of Moscow, Russia, a cotton technologist who is connected with the Moscow Textile Institute and the Central Research Textile Institute, visited the Textile School at State College last Tuesday.

Dr. Federov came to America a few days ago to begin a tour of the textile schools of the United States, his first stop being at State College.

While here Dr. Federov spent the day in looking over the school and examining the equipment. He was very much interested in the plan of organization of the school, the work being done, the courses that are taught, and especially in the well-equipped and modern research laboratories.

CHEMICAL STUDENTS MAKE PLANS FOR COMING YEAR

The Society of Chemical Engineers met Tuesday night in Room 222, C.E. building, and began work in earnest for the coming year. Details of organization were perfected first. An entirely new constitution set off, and by-laws, read by the president, were adopted after discussion. The officers of the society are as follows: E. H. Harwood, president; M. A. Urquiza, vice-president; J. F. Thompson, secretary; J. D. Welch, treasurer; W. P. Lawrence, reporter.

Plans for the year were discussed and one of the first activities of the society was to sponsor an inspection trip Friday to the plant of the Aluminum Company of America, at Badi.

The first social function will occur early in December, when the society will entertain the Chemistry students from Meredith College, and others of its friends.

As an evidence of the rapidly growing interest in chemical engineering ten new members were initiated into the society, making a total of forty-six to join this year. The Chemical Engineering department is only a few years old and already ranks high in size

Peele Is Elected Chairman Mining Engineer Society

At the recent meeting of the Mining Engineers Society W. W. Peele was elected chairman for the coming year. Marvin Greene was elected secretary and treasurer.

The Mining Engineers Society was organized at this institution in May of last year, the organization being sponsored by Prof. Greaves-Walker.

The purpose of the society is to bring the students of that department into closer contact with each other, so that there will be created greater interest in the mining course. Also in order to help better the mining curriculum through cooperation with the faculty.

At the recent meeting the following new members were taken in: Coon Silver, Fletcher Phillips, Freshmen Dunlap, Ludeman, and Berton.

Professor Jamison of the civil engineering faculty is the faculty adviser for this year.

The organization is planning a float for this year's engineering parade. They are also planning to petition the Engineers' Council this year for entrance.

Pledge Dances

The largest and best dances of the fall season in North Carolina are now in full progress at the Frank Thompson Gymnasium, as one hundred and fifty pledges of Greek letter fraternities enter into North Carolina collegiate society.

To the syncopating strains of Ray Miller's Brunswick Recording Orchestra, many young ladies of Raleigh and North Carolina were joining in the festivity with their host, as the tea dance this afternoon got under way in a blaze of color and merriment.

Particularly striking are the decorations. The gym is decorated in the futuristic manner. In the center, above the dancing floor, a large star is hung. Draping from the star as a center, beautiful decorations of all colors form themselves into expressive modernistic designs. From the ceiling are hung hundreds of differently colored balloons, which add a certain fantasy to the entire scheme. The orchestra platform is in the shape of an autumn silvery moon.

The dances consist of a tea dance Friday, 4 to 6; night dances Friday and Saturday, 9 to 12.

The committee is composed of Pan-Hellenic officers Allie P. Bagget, A.

The Raleigh chapter expects to entertain with several dances during the winter and spring, and their first one is being anticipated with a great deal of interest by Raleigh's dancing set. The date and the place will be made known later, they having not been definitely decided upon. The committee in charge of preparations for the dance is composed of Gene Miller, John Monie, William Hunt, and Chreston Holoman.

Many State College students are members of this chapter.

Lambda Chi Alpha Dance

The Raleigh Chapter of the Lambda Chi Alpha Alumni Association entertained at a Halloween dance and bridge party at "Rusticana," the home of its president, Errol O. Marshburn, on White Oak Road, the occasion being the acceptance of the charter and also honoring the local Gamma Upsilon of the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity at State College.

The Marshburn home has never appeared more attractive than in Halloween attire. The lower floor, thrown in suite, was profusely decorated with streamers, pumpkins, skeletons, and varicolored lights. Johnson's "Blues" Orchestra furnished music for the occasion. Bridge was played at four tables on the balcony, and the lower floor was used for dancing.

Miss Elizabeth Hinnant, accompanied by Miss Ruby Jane Warren, entertained with several of her feature dances. Orange ice was served from a beautifully decorated bowl throughout the evening by Mrs. R. Q. Wilfong. About midnight coffee and sandwiches were served.
