Approximately 700 freshmen will have registered here by tonight to make the incoming class one of the largest in the history of State College, according to Dean E. L. Cloyd.

Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of the college, will formally welcome new students tonight at 7 o'clock in Pullen Hall. He will speak on "State College, Its Aims and Purposes."

Dan M. Paul, of Pantego, president of the student body, will deliver the principal address at the 2 p. m. assembly period of the frosh tomorrow. His subject will be "Government of State College Community."

A corps of thirty college Y. M. C. A. workers, led by Archie Ward, chairman of the new student committee, greeted new students at the stations and transported them to the campus, where they are becoming familiarized with the college. Freshman week lasts until the return of upperclassmen, Tuesday, September 23d.

Yearlings were given an informal reception at the Y. M. C. A. last night at 8 o'clock. They listened to short talks by Dean Cloyd and C. LeRoy Clark, president of the "Y."

The churches of Raleigh will furnish cars Sunday to carry all frosh to the morning services. The afternoon will be given over to the first freshman picnic in the institution's history, to be held in Pullen Park.

Rev. E. McNeil Potest, pastor of Pullen Memorial Church, Raleigh, will deliver a special sermon to the 1934 class Sunday night in the college auditorium.

Monday sessions will be taken up with addresses from deans of the various schools and classes will begin on Tuesday morning.

College Sends 71 To Military Camp At Fort McClellan

Seventy-one students, including thirty-nine sophomores, made up the State College contingent at the Reserve Officers' Training Corps Camp at Fort McClellan, Alabama, during the past summer. Twenty-seven different colleges and schools were represented at the camp, which enrolled a total of 770 students.

Schools with large representations were Clemson, 139; the Citadel, 74; L. S. U., 53; University of Florida, 53; Wake Forest College, 49; University of Georgia, 49; and Georgia Tech, 38.

MAJOR LINDSEY SILVESTER TO HEAD R. O. T. C. UNIT HERE

Expects Banner Year for the State College Military Regiment

Major Lindsey McD. Silvester, of the infantry branch, United States Army, has been detailed by President Herbert Hoover for duty as head of the North Carolina State College R. O. T. C. regiment, to succeed Lieutenant-Colonel C. C. Early, who will report to the Army War College for duty in the historical section.

Immediately before coming to Raleigh Major Silvester visited the offices of the chief of infantry at Washington and the corps area commander at Atlanta.

"All along the line," said Major Silvester yesterday, "I heard words of praise for the R. O. T. C. regiment at State College. The unit here has a reputation in the army of which it can be proud, and it is a distinct pleasure to me to become associated with it."

"We expect another banner year for the regiment this year. Every effort will be made to make the work—Continued on page 4.

Orphan Works Way Thru College With Help of 'Y'

David A. Ramsey, 16-year-old Oxford Orphanage boy, had little hopes of paying his way through college, because he had no money and an invalid grandmother to support. That's why he decided to talk with Joe E. Moore, director of the self-help bureau at N. C. State College. Tears were in his eyes as he handed Joe a letter from his 17-year-old brother. Joe said the letter was utterly frank. The brother said: "I have my own life to live and am not responsible for the family foolishness. I can't keep our grandmother up as I promised you when you left for college."

"I can't leave her to starve," said David. "She has enough troubles. Granddaddy is no good; he beats her often. I'd just have to quit college."

David left the office of Mr. Moore with a smile on his face. He had been assured of $20 a month to provide for his grandmother and urged to stay in college. Soon he had his grandfather on the roads and life seemed bright to him again as he began work in the College Y. M. C. A. as operator of the moving picture show. He earned $132.64 from January to June.

"His grandmother received her $20 each month," said Mr. Moore, in telling of the incident recently, "and frequently I would see $3 entered in his—Continued on page 6.

STATISTICS

Women-shy lads at State College have a tough winter in store for them.

An estimate from the registrar's office revealed that about 90 co-eds are expected to matriculate this fall. This is an increase of about 20 over last year's co-ed enrollment.

Coach John Van Liew Arrives With Endorsement of Officials

Once more North Carolina College will adopt the Notre Dame system when John VanLiew, star athlete and former coach of Grinnell College, Iowa, begins his work as head coach at State College this fall. Mr. VanLiew succeeds Gustav Tebell, who resigned this spring to go with the University of Virginia coaching staff.

The new State mentor's training was under the Notre Dame system, and in addition to being a close student of the Rockne method of play, he has combined many new ideas of his own. Athletic officials in the Midwest say that Mr. VanLiew is more familiar with the Notre Dame style of play than many of the young men now teaching this system.

Coach VanLiew, though new to the Southern Conference, has established an enviable coaching record in the west. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics in the Western Conference, says: "Mr. VanLiew is one of the best football coaches among my acquaintance. He is a thorough student of football and basketball, and has attended most of the well-known coaching schools. I have seen him under trying circumstances, where his material was not so good as the other fellows, and yet he won more than his share of the games. He is favorably known by most of the athletic men of prominence in the government of Peru. He has lots of original ideas and is preeminently a coach."

He has met with marked success in the handling of scholastic teams in Des Moines, Iowa, and in Champaign, Ill., two successful seasons as football and basketball coach at Knox College, and a year at Western State, in Colorado.

The Peruvian Government recently awarded Coach VanLiew a gold medal in appreciation of excellent services rendered the government of Peru in the training of their athletic teams for Latin-American Olympics. He spent more than a year as athletic director for the South American country and was eagerly sought again this year to train its teams for the World's Olympics in 1932 at Los Angeles.

Officials of State College believe that Coach VanLiew will enter N. C. State in an era of athletic prosperity when football has promise of rising to another zenith of "Wolfpack" fame.

Twenty-three new or promoted instructors will face students when classes start Wednesday.

W. A. Anderson, who has been appointed to make a sociological study in a foreign country, is succeeded as professor of sociology by C. P. Loomis, who last year was student assistant here in history and sociology.

R. S. Dearstyne, professor of poultry science, has been promoted to be head of the poultry department. He succeeds Dr. B. F. Kaupp, who resigned to enter commercial work. R. E. Greaves and H. C. Gauger succeed W. F. Armstrong, former associate professor of poultry science, who resigned to enter the commercial field.

W. K. Wynn has been promoted from instructor in English to head of the journalism department. Stewart Robertson, former head of the department, is doing research and commercial work in the North.

T. B. Mitchell succeeds L. H. Snyder as associate professor of zoology. A. M. Greaves-Walker's place as instructor in ceramics will be filled by Norman Stolte and W. L. Farbanis.

DR. BROOKS SAYS

State College extends a cordial welcome to all students. The president, the deans, and the members of the faculty will all ways be willing to meet and advise with any student about courses of study, professional aims, and other matters pertaining to college life; and frequent interviews, especially with the deans, will be very helpful in getting the right start in college.

In extending this welcome for the year 1930-31, I am urging all students to begin now to enlarge their equipment for usefulness by a proper application to their college duties, to increase daily their capacity for true friendship through the right kind of associations, and to strengthen their fidelity to duty by adhering at all times to fundamental principles of good citizenship, which are always in harmony with the aims of a gentleman and the ideals of a Christian.

DAN PAUL SAYS

Here we are, fellows, at good old North Carolina State College, ready to begin a year of "honest-to-goodness" work.

The old men of the student body are ready and willing to aid you in your new undertaking. We are glad to have you become a part of our student body, and we congratulate you upon your selection of N. C. State.

We are expecting the class of '34 to assist us in carrying on the spirit, a new organization, the which is characteristic of our student body. We need your spirit to go with ours. Put your shoulders to the wheel and help us make this year the most successful year in every way that we have ever had.

NEW STUDENT COMMITTEE GREET'S FRESHMAN CLASS

Archie Ward Is Head of "Red Arm Band" That Gives
Big Reception

Red arm bands on smiling sophomores gave many freshmen their first glimpse of their future college mates Thursday when the New Student Committee of the Y. M. C. A. again met the new students and helped them get located at their new rooms. Much of the kind of assistance was taken off by the willing sophomores who had in their first year been helped in the same way.

Trains and busses were met, rooms were located on the campus, rooms for those unable to stay on the campus were located by upperclassmen with cars going to places where rooms were to be secured, and the bewildered new students found willing friends in the "Y" workers.

Thirty men came in a week early and after an evening at Powell's Cabin making plans the committee started functioning early Thursday morning and kept many of the new students from suffering from the pangs of homesickness.

Archie Ward, of Lumberton, was chairman of the committee and made assignments to the various places where help was needed. C. LeRoy Clark, president of the "Y," welcomed the committee and assured them of the cooperation of his cabinet. Notables included Dr. E. C. Brooks, college president; E. L. Cloyd, dean of students; Ed. King, secretary of the "Y," and Joe E. Moore, associate secretary of the "Y." Talks were made by all of these, while Dean Cloyd presided as chief chef with plenty of eatables prepared for them.

The Y. M. C. A. cabinet preceded the new student committee by a day to arrange for the year's work.

Remarkable Record By Dunham At College

Discouraged by his father and made fun of by his brothers for trying to get an education, R. Sheldon "Dad" Dunham, of Bladenboro, worked his way through college to become one of the best known and loved students on State College campus, in the opinion of Joe E. Moore, director of self-help work.

"Dad's" father was a tenant farmer with only $50 in personal property. His mother is dead, and his three brothers and three sisters had not finished high school. There were no college graduates in his entire family until this year, when he graduated with every possible honor accorded by his State College classmates.

During the three and one-half years he took "Dad" Dunham to finish school he earned $1,300 working in the college dining hall, Y. M. C. A., and campus store.

"The greatest factor concerned with my success was that my college education depended on my own efforts. I would have never gotten as—Continued on page 2.

SHATTERED

Upsetting a nine-year precedent, this year's incoming class will not wear the traditional red and white freshmen caps.

Although a vote of the student body taken last spring favored by a small majority retention of the caps, the board of trustees in a meeting this summer abolished compulsory wearing of the lids.

"Oh, well, you can tell 'em, anyway," remarked an upperclassman when the news was broken to him.

Line Coach Butch Slaughter An-

Training Camp This Year of More Than Fifty Candidates Is Larger Than In Previous History—Many Sophs Are Working for Berths On Team.

When the North Carolina State College "Wolfpack" goes into action with High Point College gridmen Saturday at 7:30 p. m. on Riddick Field they will begin night football in the South, Dr. R. R. Sermon, director of athletics, says.

Coach John M. Van Liew says he will get his team in condition before he starts any rough stuff, declaring that this year's team was exceptional to the college, although it would not be an outstanding, but a good squad.

Scrimmages were slated for the squad all the past week, and Van Liew says he has spent most of his time finding out "who's who" on the team. "We're going to get a good backfield," he said, "but I don't look for any one outstanding player, and if the team shows the same fine spirit I've seen since Labor Day we will get along fine."

Line Coach "Butch" Slaughter announces that the Wolfpack training camp this year of more than fifty candidates is larger than in previous history, due to the fact that there were so many sophomores working "on par" with each other.

"Line material coming up from the freshman team is the best State College has had in the last four years, and coupled with the veterans, Captain Mack Stout and "Bud" Rose, should develop a very strong line before the end of the season," says Coach Slaughter. "The majority of the team being made up of sophs, the future seasons of 1931 and 1932 should see a Wolfpack line as strong as any in the South."

Football fans who have seen the practices say that Van Liew's style of play was different from any familiar to the South, and predict that his method will be very successful.

Freshman Bible To Be Delivered At College "Y"

Freshmen and upperclassmen who have not yet secured their copies of the Y. M. C. A. Handbook may now get them by calling at the "Y" desk.

Approximately 450 copies of "Freshman Bibles" have been mailed out to new students and now there are about 1,000 copies at the "Y" being held for distribution.

The 1930 Handbook is dedicated to Edward Bentley Owen, alumni secretary of State College. The dedication reads: "This handbook is dedicated to Edward Bentley Owen, who has loyally served North Carolina State College since his graduation in 1894."

F. H. Harvey Whitley is editor and W. B. Callahan business manager. Twenty pictures of campus leaders are found in the book. Among these are pictures of E. B. Owen, alumni secretary; Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of State College; E. L. Cloyd, dean of students; C. LeRoy Clark, president Y. M. C. A.; E. S. King, "Y" secretary; J. E. Moore, associate secretary Y. M. C. A.; Mrs. L. W. Bishop, office secretary, "Y"; F. Harvey Whitley, handbook editor; W. B. Callahan, handbook business manager; J. B. Gurley, associate editor; Prof. W. N. Hicks, Dr. A. J. Wilson, chairman faculty athletic committee; John VanLiew, Bob Warren, "Doc" Sermon, and "Chick" Doak, all coaches; F. W. "Dad" Price, director of music; J. F. Slaughter, J. F. Miller, and "Shork" Lawrence, athletic instructors and coaches, and Dan M. Paul, president of student body.

EXTENSION DIRECTORS OF SIX COLLEGES MEET HERE

Set of Standards For Quality of Work Adopted By the Organization

Extension directors and officials of six colleges and universities recently met here together with the State Department of Education officials to work out a set of standards to be used in connection with all college extension activities in the State.

North Carolina State College, the State University, Lenoir-Rhyne College, Catawba, High Point, and the North Carolina College for Women were represented and a tentative organization was perfected, looking toward a permanent association to be formed in October at a meeting to be held in connection with the State Teachers Assembly.

A set of standards were adopted by the organization, containing the character and content of extension work in North Carolina. Qualifications for instructors, amount of credit to be given for work, methods of presenting work to students, and the amount that could be earned by teachers during the school year, were also embodied in the adopted standards.

Frank Capps, director of State College extension, says that the extension work in North Carolina is growing rapidly and that an association is a great need to keep down duplication of work. "There is room for all extension college workers in the State," he said, "and there is more territory at the present time than teachers to supply."

The temporary organization has been organized with the intention of petitioning the national branch, officials announced.

much out of college life if it had not been for the fact that I was forced to work my way through," R. G. Dunham told Mr. Moore. "The things essential to a self-help man coming to school is a passion for education and a willingness to do any type of work, taking pride in doing it."

While in college "Dad" Dunham was elected to the most outstanding national fraternities, which included Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural; Blue Key, leadership; Golden Chain, senior honorary, and Pine Burr, scholarship. He was a member of the Poultry Science Club, Agricultural Club, treasurer and cabinet member of the Y. M. C. A. and the Self-Help Club.

"Dad" is teaching vocational agriculture at the Cary High School and has won the respect and admiration of the students there, as he did when he was in college at State.

His achievements at college should be an inspiration to the many boys who think a college education beyond their grasp, says Mr. Moore.

Wolflets To Play One Game At State Sermon Announces

North Carolina State College "Wolflets" will play five grid games this fall. Dr. R. R. Sermon, director of athletics, has announced.

Dr. Robert E. Warren, former State football and basketball star, returned here during the summer to accept the position of coach of freshman sports, after a successful season at Virginia Polytechnic Institute as basketball coach and trainer. Under his coaching the V.P.I. freshmen carried off the Virginia Conference frosh basketball championship.

Coach Warren is enthusiastic about the possibilities of his yearlings this year and says that his backfield material looks equal to that of last year, with prospects equally as good for a good line.

North Carolina State freshmen took the State championship last year, but lost "Shag" Waddell, quarterback, and "Mope" Comisky, fullback, both stellar players, but Dr. Warren promises several more threats this season that will give grid fans "varisty thrills."

The following schedule has been announced:

- Oct. 11—Oak Ridge at Greensboro.
- Oct. 18—Duke at Durham.
- Oct. 24—V.M.I. at Lexington, Va.
- Nov. 1—Carolina at Chapel Hill.
- Nov. 11—Davidson at Raleigh.

FINANCIAL FACTS

To safeguard State College men against the "money fear disease," the YMCA Self-Help Bureau offers a stiff dose of facts to be applied each day as the mind seems to need it.

Each new man has 88 days until Christmas and each day will cost just $2.02, but this does not include books, drawing instruments, spending money, etc. In round figures the cost of college up to Christmas is $177.75, this including board, registration fees, room and tuition for students living in the State.

If a student has paid his fees, the remainder of the fall term (three months) will cost him only $47.50 for board.

Dr. Robert Warren Selected On Staff Of State Coaches

Dr. Robert E. (Bob) Warren, successor to John Drennan, coach of freshman sports at North Carolina State College, has reported for duty at the college.

Coach Warren comes to the "Wolfpack" teams after a successful season at Virginia Polytechnic Institute as basketball coach and trainer. Under his coaching the V.P.I. freshmen carried off the Virginia Conference frosh basketball championship.

The new freshman coach was graduated from State College in 1925, and from the American School of Osteopathy at Kirksville, Mo. He is a three-letter man at N. C. State College and one of the outstanding players on the Southern championship basketball team and the football team that tied for the Southern Conference championship in 1927. In 1928 he served as captain of the "Wolfpack" gridmen.

Dr. Sermon, in speaking of the new frosh mentor's ability, says: "Dr. Warren has proven his ability as a coach at V.P.I. His excellent type of leadership, sportsmanship, and knowledge of athletics and his thorough grounding in all types of sports make him well prepared to coach. His personality won for him as a student and player at State College as one of the ranking all-time athletes of the institution. His sportsmanship and leadership are not only recognized by his own college, but by opposing teams and members of the faculty and student body of rival institutions. Dr. Warren received many letters from faculty members and rooters from other schools praising his splendid sportsmanship and leadership, both on and off the field. The greatest compliment that can be paid to Coach Warren is that he is an ideal sportsman."

Entered as second-class matter, February 10, 1920, at the postoffice at Raleigh, North Carolina, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Today the usual number of new men will be inquiring for "Professor Staff."

Wonder how many freshmen have bought radiator keys, bath tickets, and chapel seats?

Be considerate of the new men. Remember, upperclassmen, you, too, were freshmen once.

Freshmen are "kings for a week." Then their reign will end with the return of the soph.

With the invasion of women and abolition of freshman caps the old school just doesn't seem the same.

THE TECHNICIAN staff has moved to new quarters in the basement of Holladay. Comptroller Brower was afraid old Primrose was too weak to endure the gaff of another literary storm.

Once again the annual four-year educational marathon has begun.

All entrants have an even start—they've all passed the high school post. But soon the straight line will be jagged. Some will lag behind, others press ahead.

The finish does not depend on spurts, but on a long, steady gait. Assume a gait you can hold until you are confident you can put on more speed. Four years observation has shown us that most students who make a flaming start with many extra-curricular activities in their first year burn out before they reach the tape line.

Don't be discouraged if you are not elected to some outstanding position by your class. Most stellar freshmen become mediocre seniors. Just keep plugging and save a little wind for the last two laps. But on the other hand, don't at any time lay down on the job—remember the fable of the hare and the tortoise.

Prepare yourself with high scholarship. Pushed forward by high marks, clean habits, true friends and steady plugging, you will zoom down the speedway on the last lap and finish with honors.

"IF I WERE A FRESHMAN AGAIN"

(Looking back through the clarifying lens of five and twenty years.)

If I were going to college next year I would aim for:

1. A letter in athletics. Because play is an essential part of life. Athletic contests—some of them—are play at its best for a normal, healthy man.

2. A grade average of B. Grade "C" or "D" usually means shoddy work, and that's a bad habit. "A" for me would require a grind and neglecting life, which I refuse. "B" is all that is left.

3. Time for some real friendships, both men and women. Life's chief value finally is friends. These four years must not be friendless or hurriedly, superficially "friendly."

4. Some real piece of service on the campus or in the community. A great, growing, selfish life—"There ain't no such animal."

5. To do well what I do. It's a slow college nowadays that has less than one hundred extra-curricular activities on the campus. Well, about ninety-six of these I would let the other fellow run, and I would "saw wood" on the few that seemed to me of most value.

6. The discovery of scientifically valid processes of growth—physical, mental, religious, and the beginning of habits of growth in this direction. Life is not a storehouse. It is an organism. Not what I know on Commencement Day, but what habits are mine which will give drive and productivity increasing when I'm out in life. So I'd test any college activity by habit-producing value.

Would I join a fraternity if I had a chance? Oh, well—maybe. I (I am a fraternity man) would tell the fellow who waxed eloquent on "All the real fellows in college are in the frats" that his information is inaccurate, that there is no need of hurry, and I may join later and I may not.

Would I date it and "say it with flowers"? Sure, but I wouldn't talk myself hoarse saying it.

In a word, I'd try to be a growing, human Christian student, and if any one got more fun out of life than I, I'd ask him how he got that way.

(Editor's Note: The author of this editorial is unknown, but it is being reprinted upon request of the Student Government President.)

DEAN CLOYD WELCOMES NEW STUDENTS

A stranger passing out of Raleigh to the west on Hillsboro street during August saw a beautiful campus and many buildings, and upon inquiring was told that that was State College. He went on his way feeling that he had seen the State College of North Carolina.

But he had not seen the college. He had seen only a small part of it, because he had seen none of the students. For after all, the greatest part of any college is its student body.

So after having spent six or eight weeks following the summer school in preparing for another college year, the whole college community joins in extending this direct unadorned word of friendly greeting to the freshman class.

Many members of the class of 1934 have visited our campus, so that it is not entirely new to you, but you are now to live among us, and we are glad to have you.

There is a place in our community for every man and woman who has a desire to better fit himself or herself for his chosen profession.

There are activities here which should furnish an outlet for your special interests, and we invite you to enter into our community life by working with us for all that will contribute most to your own enrichment, and to the enrichment of our whole college community.

DOPE FOR DUPES

Joe E. Moore, head of Self-Help Bureau, gives the following advice to new men:

1. Don't pay three prices for a college belt. (a) College markings rest between one's ears, not on one's belt.

2. Collegiate looks do not make for Phi Kappa Phi grades.

3. Don't blow off too much—turn your breeze on a windmill and do a little good.

4. A long face—it might mean "Room to let in the back." Watch your mug.

5. It takes many muscles to fgrown—a few to smile. Why overwork?

6. Blind alleys—don't fear them; they are for the men who are content there.

7. Get your cigarettes ready, boys, your close friends are here.

8. Study—don't let the side-shows swallow the circus.

Major Lindsey Silvester To Head R. O. T. C. Unit

in the military department pleasant and profitable.

"The new uniform will greatly help the appearance of the corps. And it will be more comfortable to wear. 'I consider the R. O. T. C. is one of the most important elements of our national defense system, and I know I am going to enjoy working with it.'

"For the department I shall be glad to have you extend a welcome to incoming State College students, old and new."
The new R. O. T. C. commander is a graduate of Maryland Agricultural College in 1911, and received appointment as second lieutenant of infantry in the same year. He attended the Second Lieutenants School at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and after graduation was assigned to duty in Hawaii. When he returned to the United States the Government promoted him to the rank of first lieutenant and later to captain.

In 1918, as captain of the 30th Infantry, Major Silvester was ordered to France for active duty. Northwest of Chateau Thierry he commanded an attack on the enemy and received a division citation and recommendation for promotion. He was later made major of the 2nd Battalion, 30th Infantry, which he commanded in the battles of the Champagne-Marne defensive and the Alsne-Marne offensive.

While commanding the 3rd Battalion, 7th Infantry, in the battles of St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne he was wounded by a machine gun bullet and sent to the hospital at Dijon, France. Upon leaving the hospital Major Silvester was ordered to duty with the American commissioner at Berlin and was detailed in reorganizing the prison camp at Bandenburg, Germany. He was later made inspector of prison camps in unoccupied Germany.

Major Silvester was representative of the Interallied Commission for the Repatriation of Russian Prisoners of War and ordered to Kovno, Lithuania, in 1919. He returned to the United States in August, where he was assigned to the Military Intelligence Division of the War Department. He reports to State College after finishing certain courses at the Army War College.

The new State College military commander was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, the French Legion of Honor, the Croix de Guerre with palm and gold star, the Victory Medal with clasps of the Alsne, Champagne-Marne, Alsne-Marne, St.

Mihel, Meuse-Argonne and Defensive Sector, and the Mexican campaign medal of 1916.

Truth needs no support; Sheaffer's is the college favorite
TODAY there are more Sheaffer's bought than any other make; among America's hundred leading colleges, each registering 1,700 or more students, Sheaffer's sales overtop all others.
With Sheaffer's, the reason for such success is that these instruments are supremely well suited to the business of writing. First, there is a Sheaffer's Lifetime° pen point for every hand. Second, each is a Balance° instrument, fitting the hand comfortably, taking class notes quickly, making long themes easy. Third, the Balance° contour is truly modern, a happy blend of line and curve, the combination of utility with beauty. And fourth, nobody can outlive his Lifetime° pen's guarantee of satisfactory service.
*A recent survey made by a disinterested organization showed Sheaffer's first in fountain pen sales among the 100 leading American colleges having registration of 1,700 or more students. Documents covering this survey are available to anyone.
AT BETTER STORES EVERYWHERE
The ONLY genuine Lifetime° pen is Sheaffer's; do not be deceived! All fountain pens are guaranteed against defects, but Sheaffer's Lifetime° is guaranteed unconditionally for your life, and other Sheaffer products are forever guaranteed against defect in materials and workmanship. Green or Black Lifetime° pens, $8.75; Ladies', $8.25. Black-and-Pearl De Luxe and Magine Green Lifetime° pens, $10; Ladies', $9.50. Petite Lifetime° pens, $7 up. Golf or Handbag Pencil, $3. SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Debutante Ball Given Sept. 11

Prior to the opening of State College on September 15, many students of State were attracted to Raleigh for the tenth annual State Debutante Ball given Thursday evening, September 11.

The annual ball, sponsored this year by the Terpsichorean Club of Raleigh, has come to be accepted by younger society through North Carolina as the formal opening of the fall season. Nearly 100 young ladies made their debut to state society this fall.

The debutantes wearing white evening gowns and carrying bouquets of pink roses were presented with their escorts immediately following the lead-off figure by the Terpsichorean Club, The Raleigh Municipal Auditorium, scene of the ball, was canopied in white and silver, with palms and ferns in the background. Following the debutante promenade came a very intricate and beautiful figure, and then general dancing, played for by Jelly Letwisch and his Duke University orchestra.

Governor and Mrs. O. Max Gardner and many of North Carolina's distinguished families were present for the ball.

During their stay the debutantes went through a continuous round of entertainments. The Intercollegiate Club gave a dance Wednesday evening, Thursday at noon the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce entertained them at a luncheon. On the evening of the ball there were numerous intermission parties and dinner parties. Governor and Mrs. Gardner gave a tea dance at the Mansion in their honor Friday afternoon. Friday evening the Black Cat Club honored them with a formal dance.

WOOF! WOOF!

Purposed to provide amusement between halves and during the game and to foster better spirit, a new organization, the Woophlo Club, is being formed at State College. Leaders in the formation are Buford Guy, Alfred Land, and Jimmie Summey.

The new organization has been sanctioned by Dr. R. R. Sermon. No dues or cost is attached to members.

The founders have requested that all men interested in joining and who are capable of "being funny," meet at Pullen Hall Wednesday at 4 o'clock.
