INFLUENZA PACKS STATE INFIRMARY WITH 30 STUDENTS

State College Not To Be Closed, Says President Brooks

NO CASES ARE SERIOUS, SAY COLLEGE NURSES

New Cases Reported for Every Student Released From Infirmary—Extra Beds and Ample Room Will Be Provided, Says J. S. Brower—General Rumors That Pointed to Closing of College Unfounded—Thirty Cases of Influenza and Bad Colds Keep State College Infirmary Filled All Week.

A mild form of influenza has filled the North Carolina State College infirmary during the past week, and new cases are being reported each day, Josephine Mainor, head nurse, said today.

Students housed in the infirmary numbered thirty Tuesday night, and the number suffering from colds or influenza varies between 30 and 28, she said.

General rumors about the college campus this week pointed to the closing down of the college, but President E. C. Brooks said that he had heard no such rumor, and that the college would not shut down.

"Extra beds and ample room will be provided for any student suffering from influenza," A. S. Brewer, controller of the college, says. "The infirmary staff is handling the situation very satisfactorily, and the authorities believe that there is no cause for worry by the students' parents."

Investigation of the cases today revealed that none are of a serious nature. "But there has been a new case for every case released," said Miss Mainor.

Confined in the infirmary Wednesday were: M. C. Hunter, F. M. Halloran, J. H. Matthews, H. M. Hayes, C. W. Styrone, E. S. McLeod, C. Bridges, W. M. Wood, E. C. Dark, B. Smithwick, C. Cole, R. R. Gilliam, R. A. Gilliam, R. H. Evans, H. M. Conyers, R. B. Harper, H. C. Colvard, George Newcomb, H. H. Cromarty, H. D. McVey, Skinner, J. B. Mooney, D. E. Baggett, O. H. James, and C. B. Penny.

Wright and President

Roy W. Wright of New York, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, will lecture at North Carolina State College February 6. L. L. Vaughan announced.

Oldest Employee Is Victim Of Auto Driver Wednesday

Allen Haywood, one of State College's oldest employees, died Wednesday night of injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile Wednesday morning about 10 o'clock. H. S. Harper, of Littleton, driver of the death car, is being held pending an investigation.

Allen Haywood, carrier of the college mail, sustained a fractured skull from being knocked down by an automobile as he attempted to enter a trolley car in front of the College Court Pharmacy on Hillsboro Street, Wednesday morning.

The automobile victim was rushed to St. Agnes Hospital, of this city, immediately following the accident.

Beauty Ballot

In an effort to refute the popular idea that all State College co-eds are homely, THE TECHNICIAN is this week sponsoring a "Comely Co-ed" contest. Students are urged to submit a critical opinion of candidates, which include all girls enrolled at the college.

Also, the most popular girl will be elected. It is thought that, by conducting the one elected, other girls can increase their popularity.

Engineer Council Wants News-Reel Of "Big Parade"

The Engineers' Council is rapidly completing plans for the annual fair which will be held here April 2, 3, and 4.

Officials are attempting to get a news-reel photographer to take pictures of the parade. To make taking of a screen picture possible special manganese flares have been ordered instead of the customary red ones.

A new "skin" has been ordered for the green snake which follows the parade.

Plans for departmental floats are being formulated. Prizes have been offered for the best floats.

Bill Bangs, of the social committee, has announced that the gymnasium will be decorated in Irish green and white for the Grand "Brawl" Saturday night, when prizes will be awarded and Knights of St. Pat. dubbed.

G. W. Dameron, "St. Pat," urged engineering students to begin early in preparation for the fair.

Phi Psi Fraternity Initiates Seven Men

Eta Chapter of Phi Psi National Honorary Textile fraternity initiated seven North Carolina State College students Thursday night, January 22.

Newly initiated students are: D. J. Crowell, Jr., E. W. Freeze, Jr., J. B. LaMar, Scott Wanda, L. B. Brown, and C. D. Reams.

"Students selected for the fraternity must have a high scholarship, a keen interest and all-around ability as a textile student," says Dr. Thomas Nelson, dean of the textile school.

Officers of the organization are: H. H. Rankin of Gastonia, president; W. R. Rogers of Roxboro, vice president; M. B. Amos of High Point, secretary; Henry Burrus of Columbus, Ga., treasurer; and Rhyme Little of Southside, senior warden.

Oldest Employee Is Victim Of Auto Driver Wednesday

For several days Allen had been sick with the flu and had been kept away from his work. Wednesday he was a little better. He came over to the college and brought the college mail up and distributed it. He said he wanted to come over and see how everything was getting along. He left the college to go down town, supposedly to see the doctor, when he met with the misfortune.

Allen Haywood had been employed by State College since its beginning.

He was here the morning of the laying of the first brick. He served as office boy for President Holladay. For many years he had the responsibility of seeing after the campus mail, and through his dignified conduct and efficient service won the respect of all with whom he came in contact, white and colored alike. He was twice married. His last marriage took place on Thanksgiving eve of 1930, at which time he married Margaret Durham Thornton, a teacher in the graded school of Oberlin. He lived well and educated his sons and daughters to high positions among their race.

Beauty Ballot

"If you can keep people ignorant you can do anything with them," declared J. Stitt Wilson, national Y. M. C. A. lecturer, in a speech in the college 'Y' auditorium last night. That was the fourth of a series of night lectures which he has made here this week. He will deliver his concluding speech tonight in the 'Y' on the topic, "The Development of a Spiritual Life."

Mr. Wilson had as the theme of his speech here last night, "A Challenge of the Present Economic Crisis." He pointed out the present growing tide of injustice and the separation of the people into classes. He deplored the present system of property management and said that we must find some new solution to the present problem presented by the institution of property.

He emphatically endorsed Oliver Cromwell's statement of "No man has the right to use the government to obtain private ends."

For seven years Mr. Wilson has visited State College during the scholastic year, and delivered a series of lectures. He arrived here last Saturday and began his series of speeches immediately upon arrival. He made a talk at a luncheon in the 'Y' at noon Saturday. Monday he made two speeches, one at Carolina, and returned to Raleigh and made a speech before the faculty Monday night. Y. M. C. A. officials report that he has had a very successful campaign here this year, having been heard by large audiences each time. He is a former mayor of Berkeley, Cal.

At the last night lecture Miss Emily Rose Knox, of Raleigh, played a series of violin numbers. Mr. Wilson will talk at chapel today.

STUDENT FROM ORIENT ENTERS STATE COLLEGE

Graduate Student K. K. Thomas Will Work In Nelson's Textile School

K. K. Thomas, of Travancore, India, has entered the Graduate School this week as a candidate for a M.S. degree in textiles, expecting to study until June of 1932. Upon the completion of work here, he intends to return to India.

Slight of build, with dark skin, black hair, and flashing eyes, Thomas appears to be the typical Indian.

After arriving in the United States in October, he entered M. I. T. in Massachusetts, studying there for three months. While still in India, Thomas was employed by the government in the inspection of the textile industry, after first completing training in one of the schools of his country.

After obtaining his degree, he intends to return to India, and will, to use his own words, "attempt to alleviate the social and economic suffering of my people—the Christians—who are now being oppressed by the Hindus."

In Boston, Thomas made several speeches on life in his country to audiences gathering in churches and other public buildings. He will be glad to continue his speeches here, he says.

When asked to comment upon Great Britain's sanction of India's request for dominion status, he said: "I don't think the dominion status will work very well at present in India. Later, after adjustments are made, the plan will work. At the"

Silvester Announces New Military Award

Major Lindsey McD. Silvester, Commandant of the North Carolina State College R. O. T. C. unit, announced today that the military department will hold an array of parades and exhibitions this year that will equal any in the college history.

During these exhibitions, awards will be made to the best corporal of the entire unit. "This award is coveted by the R. O. T. C. students and considerable competition will be had this year," Major Silvester said. Prominent officials of North Carolina will be asked to review the Regiment during the early spring.

THIRD ISSUE OF WATAUGAN LEAVES PRESS NEXT WEEK

Drumright Edits Current Number, Initiating Editorial Try-Outs

The third issue of the Wataugan, local literary-humorous magazine, will come off the press next week, and will be delivered not later than Saturday, January 31, Mike Whitehurst, editor of the publication, announced this week.

In the current issue the following are printed: "Merely Sense of Honor," by A. F. Ward, Jr.; "What's Wrong With Student Publications?" by Dick Yates; "The Inevitable," by J. C. Whitehurst; and two book reviews, "Tambo and Jones," and "The American Scrap Book of 1930," by R. M. Lightfoot, Jr., and Virginia Anderson, respectively.

The cover of the magazine, printed in four primary colors, depicts in a satirical manner the conceptions the average layman has concerning college activities, with State College as an example.

This issue, edited by Lewis Drumright, marks the beginning of the try-outs of staff members for editorial ability. The humor section was under the supervision of Bernard Ahman. Charles Simmons, local advertising manager, has since the first issue aided materially on the business side of the publication, officials of the magazine say.

As usual, the humor section is profusely illustrated with cartoons drawn by staff members and outside contributors. Two sketches by Dorothy Blankenship are included.

COLLEGE PRESIDENTS ARE OPPOSED TO SALARY CUT

Drs. Brooks and Wright Register Disapproval At Appropriations Hearing

Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of State College, and Dr. R. H. Wright, president of E. C. T. C., registered their disapproval of the proposed 10 per cent cut in salaries in a hearing before the joint appropriations committee Wednesday.

Dr. Brooks did not assume the role of a fighter in protesting, but asked the committee to permit the institution to adjust salaries of teachers so as not to compel a horizontal cut.

"We do not wish to take the revenue from any other department, but if it is possible for the committee to increase our allotment we will be grateful," Dr. Brooks said. He named no amount in seeking an increase.

Dr. Wright asked for an increase of $40,580 for each year of the biennium.

Robert Gatlin Addresses Army On "Character"

Cadet Maj. Robert H. Gatlin addressed military students at the "rainy day" exercise last Wednesday on "Essential Characteristics that Should be Developed During College Life."

Gatlin listed as essential characteristics: sense of honor, fairness, sympathy, unselfishness, self-pride, initiative, ability to be a good loser, and personality. He placed scholarship second in importance to these characteristics.

The student major said that professors took too much time discussing the subject matter of texts and too little in helping a student develop these characteristics.

"It is up to the individual himself to develop these characteristics," he said, pointing out that college was the logical place for development.

'Clipper' Smith, New Coach For State College Wolfpack, To Take Charge February 15

Clipper de Skipper

If new coach Clipper Smith teaches his men to evade tacklers like he gave photographers the slip Wednesday, the 1931 Wolfpack should be hard to beat.

Newshound Fred Dixon had arrangements all made to snap a picture of the new grid pedagogue. He went to hotels, searched the streets and looked high and low for the new coach. But Coach Smith was already on a Washington-bound train, speeding away from Raleigh and the photographer.

Amos President Of Red Masquers, Paget Announces

M. B. Amos of High Point will be the new president of the Red Masquers Dramatic Club at North Carolina State College, E. H. Paget, dramatic coach, announces.

New members taken in the organization are: W. F. Hanks, of Charlotte; Felix Italiano, of Orange, N. J.

"The dramatic club is planning to present several one-act plays during the rest of the year and will appeal to civic and women's clubs to sponsor these plays," said Mr. Paget.

For a technical school, State College probably has one of the most active and progressive dramatic clubs in the State.

Members of the Red Masquers this year are: Dwight Stokes, Hulda Branch, Hazel MacDonald, R. W. Cummings, J. D. Britt, Agnes Moore, Jessamine Bland, Sarah Holman, W. G. Butler, R. S. Poole, Claiborne Mangum, Catherine Harding, R. H. Nims, W. P. Seagraves, and H. B. Merriam.

State Forensic Team To Debate Virginians

North Carolina State College debating team will meet the Farmville State Teachers College, at Farmville, Va., February 6, Edwin H. Paget, forensic coach, announced this week.

The question to be debated will be: "Resolved, that the Nations Should Adopt a Policy of Free Trade."

J. G. Gill of Henderson, and Dwight Stokes of Newsom, will represent the State College debaters.

"At this debate," says Coach Paget, "the State team hopes to keep its 100 per cent winning average."

State College has won decision debates from Bowling Green College of Ohio, and two debates from the University of North Carolina.

Construction Engineers Get General Contractor Chapter

Galloway's Victim Young Hold-Up Men

At 11:15 Monday night two well-dressed young men held up the employees and customers of Galloway's Drug Store and escaped with about $50.

Upon entering the store, one of the men ordered a drink, while the second proceeded to the rear of the store where he, revolver in hand, ordered the patrons to lay on the floor face down. The other member of the duo proceeded to relieve the cash register of the money, which amounted to about $35, and, still greedy, he took about $15 from one of the clerks. None of the patrons were relieved of any money.

All-American Notre Guard Succeeds Van Liew

NEW GRIDIRON MENTOR 'GIVEN JOB FOR YEAR

Knute Rockne Says Smith One of Most Outstanding Men Developed At Notre Dame, Where He Was Captain In 1927 and Line Coach In 1928—Appointment Ends Long Waiting of State Students and Alumni—Was Former Coach At Georgetown University—Is Highly Recommended.

John P. "Clipper" Smith, former All-American guard at Notre Dame and line coach at Georgetown University last fall, was today announced as head coach at North Carolina State College.

Smith's appointment brings to a close the much-discussed question as to who would take over the job left vacant by John M. Van Liew, who resigned last October 20, Dr. R. S. Sermon, athletic director, taking over the duties as temporary coach at that time.

Smith was given a one-year contract and is to report for work February 15 in time to begin spring practice. No announcement was made as to the price made Smith for his services.

State's new mentor played at Notre Dame in 1925-26 and '27. In 1927 he was captain of the team and was that year named All-American.

Smith has had three years of coaching experience. In 1928 he was line coach at Notre Dame. In 1929 he returned to his home in Hartford, Conn., to be at home with his sick mother and was made line coach at Trinity College there. Last fall he was line coach at Georgetown University under Tommy Mills, head coach.

Graham Anthony, of Hartford, a State College alumnus, says of Smith: "It is believed he has wonderful coaching ability, and we would like to see him at State College."

Knute Rockne said he was one of the most outstanding men developed at Notre Dame.

Many other recommendations were received by the Athletic Committee here in regard to Smith, and the officials at Georgetown gave Smith high recommendations as a man, coach, and manager of men.

Brinson Injured

Lorena Brinson Thursday was using a crutch to go to and fro from classes. Her left knee was sprained last week when she slipped up on a sleet-covered walk.

The Construction Engineering Department at State College now has a student chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America.

State College is the first institution in the United States to be given this honor. The main factor back of State being granted the charter originated last spring when the graduation class of 1930 were guests of the Associated General Contractors of America at Washington. While there, the State students made a strong impression on the officials of this organization, says W. G. Geile, professor of construction engineering at State College, and thus made possible the granting of this student chapter.

The course in construction engineering at State was begun four years ago under the supervision of Professor Geile. The enrollment since that time has steadily increased until now there are approximately fifty students, enrolled for the course.

"Daisies won't tell," the song goes. But De-Boe did.

Our new coach is John Smith. Now, let's see, seems like we've heard the name before.

Negroes will attend State in 25 years, predicts Oxley. His name even sounds like Bull.

For the benefit of a certain co-ed, Ziegfeld is the man who glorified American womanhood.

"Little John" Mayo is "Queen of the Co-eds," according to the unanimous decision of members of the staff.

Let's see, now, which is the best way to get the Flu. They used wet towels to start an epidemic two years ago.

They say all will come to him who waits. About all football fans got waiting for officials to name a new coach was flat feet.

Good thing it's not near examinations. If it were students would glut the infirmary and the college would have to close.

Then there is the misogynist who suggested that instead of a "Most Beautiful" we sponsor a "Nearest Beautiful" contest for co-eds.

A Bull Session politician's plan to promote prosperity: Adopt Gardner's salary cut. Then let State employes' graft and teachers' bribes make up for the reduction.

Will Rogers recently said college professors ruled the world. Action on the salary slash proposal should determine whether he meant it or was just being funny.

"Go West, young man, go West," said Horace Greeley to young men years ago. Two juniors disregarded his advice and went East—for their courting. If you don't get a laugh out of this, see members of the Wataugan staff.

CO-OPERATE WITH THE COACH

NAMING of "Clipper" Smith as new Wolf-pack coach brings back memories of last year's unsuccessful gridiron season, probably caused by the coaching dilemma.

When a coach accepts a position he assumes full responsibility for the success or failure of the team. Along with that responsibility should go absolute authority to do what he thinks best. Sometimes his methods may seem awkward and indiscreet to the layman, but our new coach, a former Notre Dame captain and All-American, should know more about football than barber-shop fans.

And even if he should steer slightly in the wrong direction, our criticism would only retard whatever progress he might make. Like the unruly waves may destroy a captain's mighty ship, a coach's success may be wrecked by the lashing wave of destructive criticism.

He's off to a good start. Let's give him a calm sea and back him up with our wind, and "Clipper" will pilot the 1931 Wolfpack to victories.

THROUGH THE TRANSOM

By DICK YATES

Not Exactly Non-Profit

The price of foodstuffs has, for the past year, steadily dropped to a lower level, until now prices of food bought in large quantities are probably lower than the pre-war figures. This is merely a statement of fact; an examination of prices will easily sustain it.

The dining hall buys food in large quantities, and thus, naturally, benefits from price reductions. Yet, with prices of food steadily declining, and with the price of labor and management remaining static, or even decreasing, no reduction in the amount that the students pay has been offered. This is advanced as another statement of fact.

The dining hall, our State College catalog graciously informs us, is operated on a non-profit basis. But since the price of food is decreasing, since labor and management expenses are, at least, not increasing, it is apparent that a profit is being made.

If the profit is not to be given back to the students, certainly the dictates of common decency and common honor would cause the word "non-profit" in the catalog to be changed to the word "profit." If the dining hall is to operate on a basis other than non-profit, it is only fair and just that the students who make the profit possible should know of the true state of affairs.

A Barren Field

This week THE TECHNICIAN is conducting an election to name the most beautiful and the most popular co-ed on the campus; Diogenes spent a lifetime in a vain attempt to find an honest man; and the Democratic and Republican parties are now searching for a presidential candidate for 1932 who believes sincerely in the puritanical qualities of Prohibition.

If THE TECHNICIAN conducts many more elections like this, we won't have enough copy for the April Fool edition that we are planning to publish for, by, and of the students and faculty.

We Need Another Remedy

If the ten per cent salary cut is made into a law (and who, not gifted with divine power, can tell what the legislature may do?) State will, in all probability, lose some of its most brilliant faculty members. This, as well as many other things of importance, the Governor overlooked in the conception and birth of his idea for reducing expenses.

State College, like practically every other school in the country, needs a method by which it can be rid of its poorest teachers, not the best. If the Governor can give us a plan whereby we can have this long-delayed matter attended to, we will owe him our sincere thanks.

Weekly Definition

The Truth, frankly defined, is that thing against which man has been fighting since the beginning of his existence, and which, if suddenly revealed, would destroy some of his most cherished institutions.

OVER THE CAMPUS

By ELBERT OVERTON

This week THE TECHNICIAN is conducting a contest to determine the prettiest and most popular co-eds on the campus. The original plan was to have the contest for the most beautiful and the most intelligent. A group of the State College lassies were being informed of the tentative plans to make them popular and informed that the winner of the beauty contest would be presented to Ziegfeld for his consideration. One of them shyly queried, "Is that the Field boy who was robbed and shot recently when 'bumming' a ride?" That's why we changed the last part of the contest.

The report came to the office this week that "Markie" Boone has purchased a nice box of chocolate candy. His fraternity brothers are wondering who the fair young lady is.

Professor Schutenberger's accounting class has learned that there are two figures that cannot be divided—Katherine Sams and Jerry Bowen always appear there together. John Rabb intends to pass the information along to Professor Leeger. Maybe the statistician will plot a curve and determine that this premature romance signifies an early spring.

Over at the "Y" last Saturday there was a luncheon. About 40 boys and only seven ladies partook of the free meal. It was interesting to note who the ladies' men were. When all had filed into their seats, the following young men were seated by ladies: Bob Gatlin, Nemo Gross, Milo Stroupe, LeRoy Clark, Harvey Whitley, Ed Hamer and Joe Moore. We could understand Joe being at a lady's side, for she was his wife. But for the rest, it seemed they were champions in a mad scramble.

Dr. Bernstein turned from economics to a joint discussion of fashions and romance in a class this week. He said: "In days of old girls wore ornaments of gold around their necks. Now their necks are free." For details we refer you to Bill Freeman, champion necker and cigarette concealer.

Nothing small about this work

Reaching out to the far corners of the earth for raw materials of telephone apparatus, is a Western Electric function in the Bell System.

To assure adequate sources of supply, men engaged in this work of mass purchasing continually search the entire globe. To buy wisely, they study all factors affecting prices—economic and labor conditions, transportation facil-

All in all, a vast and fascinating task. For men of keen business judgment, the opportunity is there!

State Red Terrors Defeat V. P. I. Court Stars

STATE RALLIES IN SECOND PERIOD TO EMERGE VICTORS

At Beginning of Second Period Score Stood At 17 to 13

Staging a fourth quarter and final minute rally which completely overwhelmed opposition, the N. C. State Red Terrors added another to their string of victories by annexing the hardwood warriors from V. P. I. by a close yet decisive score of 22-18 in the Wednesday night thriller played in Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

At the beginning of the final period the score stood 17-13 against Doc Sermon's ace. In a game as hard fought as was the Wednesday night battle, a four-point lead loomed up mountain-high. By lurching into a scoring streak as well as playing steadily on defense, the State cagers were able to even the score early in the final quarter. A final spurt gave State four more points—a total of eight points in this quarter to the visitors' lone foul counter, which brought the final figures to 22-18.

John Gammon proved to be the mainstay in the Terrors' attack, since he managed to ring up 13 points. Gammon's 12 points were gained through 4 field goals and 4 foul points. Morgan and Donaldson had a fight of their own in the circle.

Donaldson, who was a few inches above Morgan, did not seem to have any advantage, since the tip-offs were about evenly divided.

The outstanding floor man of the game proved to be Clark, State's sophomore guard, who has been playing a fine brand of basketball all season. Clark opened the scoring for the Terrors early in the first quarter after Bosley of V. P. I. had made one foul point. Clark opened with a long looping shot, and then proceeded to do his share of closing the V. P. I. attack. Bud Rose did his share of the defensive work during the short time that he saw action. Bud had been confined to the infirmary just before the game, and his effectiveness in Wednesday's battle earned the crowd's applause when he was withdrawn. Allan Nelms did steady guard duty during the time that Rose did not play.

State's other ten points were made by Morgan, Clark, Atkinson, Nelms, and Rose. Morgan sunk a field shot and a couple of fouls to total four, while Clark and Atkinson were credited with two points each. Nelms and Rose made a foul point each.

Hall did the most effective sharpshooting for the Virginia Tech lads by tolling twelve points. He vied for scoring honors with Gammon. Bosley with four points was next in line for V. P. I. scoring honors. Jenkins and Yaggi made the Virginia final count eighteen.

Yaggi at guard for V. P. I. was a constant menace to every State attack. He easily outclassed his teammates in defensive work. He also did his share of advancing the ball within favorable scoring territory.

Both State and V. P. I. missed many crisp shots which, had they been made, would certainly have made the game much more thrilling than it was. The Terrors' short-pass system did not work out so neatly against the Virginia huskies, who remembered "Bob" Warren's instructions of last year very well. Coach Warren was the V. P. I. basketball mentor last season.

The interest of the gay crowd which thronged the gym was aroused by the closeness of the score, which stayed tied most of the time. The visitors' had a 7-6 margin at the end of the initial quarter, but they soon surrendered this, only to gain it again during the third quarter. The

Moore Says Freshmen Wrestle 5 More Times

The wrestling teams at N. C. College have five remaining matches scheduled for them this winter, announced Joseph Moore, freshman coach, this week.

Three of the matches are for the freshman team. The dates are: Jan. 30, Duke freshmen at Raleigh; Feb. 7, Oak Ridge at Oak Ridge, and Feb. 13, Duke freshmen at Durham.

The two varsity meets are scheduled with V. P. I., Feb. 7 at Blacksburg, and Duke, Feb. 14 at Durham.

The winner was determined only by the gun which ended the most exciting game of the year on the State court.

State "Wrigglers" Lose To Generals

State College lost its first Southern Conference wrestling match of the season Saturday, losing to the Washington and Lee Generals in Lexington, Va., 28 to 6.

Capt. George Eason and Smithwick were victorious in their matches. After a few more days of keen practice, State should have a well balanced team to face Davidson College on January 31.

The summary:
 115-pound weight: Captain Eason, State, defeated Acting Captain Evans. Time decision, 1:14.
 125-pound weight: Abramson, W. and L., threw Evans with crotch and half-Nelson. Time, 5:55.
 135-pound weight: Davidson, W. and L., won over Oakley. Time decision, 7:08.
 145-pound weight: Smithwick, State, won over Osterman. Time decision, 2:53.
 155-pound weight: Thomas, W. and L., threw Hargrove, scissors and full-Nelson. Time, 3:15.
 165-pound weight: Wright, W. and L., pinned Sutton, scissors and half-Nelson. Time, 1:40 (of the last period).
 175-pound weight: Tilson, W. and L., pinned Laney, head scissors. Time, 5:18.
 Unlimited: Wolford, W. and L., threw Clentinger, half-Nelson and crotch. Time, 3:00 (of the first period).
 Referee: Heamer (Illinois).

State Basketeers Meet Blue Devils Tomorrow Night

The third Big Five, and what is considered State College's biggest basketball game at home this season, will be played here Saturday night against Duke University.

The scrap with the Blue Devils will get under way at 8:20, following a freshman game between the two schools which is on tap for 7 o'clock.

One of the largest crowds ever to attend a basketball game at State is expected to see the Devils and Red Terrors fight it out. A meeting of these two teams in basketball is considered one of the biggest sport attractions in North Carolina.

To date, Eddie Cameron's Duke cagers have made a more impressive record than Ray Sermon's Terrors. The Blue Devils have defeated three times and State has gone down just two more than three.

Duke's defeats were chalked up by Villanova, Temple, and Maryland. The Devils' biggest wins have been over the Navy, South Carolina, and Wake Forest.

State has lost to Davidson, Auburn, Georgia, and twice to Alabama. The Terrors have won over Villanova and Wake Forest. State defeated Villanova by 11 points, and the Wildcats' win over Duke was by one point.

The freshman clubs at both schools have seen but little action. State lost to the Baby Deacons in its only game this season, and Duke's yearlings found Wake Forest rather easy, winning by a good margin.

Sermon's varsity squad is still crippled with slight injuries to the letter men, and it is not known whether Bud Rose, one of the outstanding guards in the Southern Conference, will be able to play or not. Rose has a severe cold.

Sermon will probably start Gammon and Gurneau, forwards; Morgan, center, and Clark and Nelms, guards. Gurneau, Clark, and Nelms are sophomores. Gammon and Morgan are letter men.

Bob Warren, coach of the freshman team at State, will very likely use Rice and Brown, forwards; Jay, center, and Kinkin and McQuage, guards.

The FAVORITE tobacco of the Dartmouth man is . . .

If you want to know the Dartmouth man's favorite tobacco, watch him as he loads his pipe between classes in front of Dartmouth Row. Watch him as he strolls along Wheelock Street and pulls the familiar blue tin of Edgeworth out of his pocket.

A pipe and Edgeworth—this is the smoking combination that has won the college man. Harvard, Cornell, Michigan, Stanford, Illinois . . . all agree with Dartmouth. Natural merit has made Edgeworth the favorite smoking tobacco in America's leading colleges and universities.

College men everywhere respond to the appeal of pipes packed with cool, slow-burning Edgeworth. Be guided by their choice; try Edgeworth yourself. Taste its rich natural flavor that is enhanced immeasurably by Edgeworth's distinctive "eleventh process." You will find Edgeworth at your nearest tobacco shop—15¢ the tin. First Home Meet Of State Boxers Saturday Night

State College boxing team will have its first meet at home on Saturday night, January 30. Coach Elmes thinks that all his men will be in good condition by that time.

Hinson, who has been out with a cold since the Washington and Lee meet, will no doubt be in condition by this time. The regular lineup will be as follows: Bantamweight, Karig; featherweight, Foreman; lightweight, Beavers; welterweight (lies between Bosley, Nye, and Hull, also Whitehead); middleweight, Captain DiMeo; light-heavyweight, Hinson; heavyweight, Espey.

The freshmen will meet the Duke freshmen the same night. The men who will fight on the freshman team are as follows:

Bantamweight, Blum; featherweight, Welling; lightweight, Rhyno; welterweight, Garner; middleweight, Purlmutter; light-heavyweight, Newman; heavyweight, Skinner. Skinner, Garner, and Franklin all won their bouts with Duke at the last meet.

The freshmen won their first and last meet with Duke at Durham and they are expected to do even better on their own canvas at home. The two meets that the varsity have lost have been close decisions, extra rounds being fought in the last meet. Espey has won both of his fights this year, the opponents being end iron men as well as fighters. The varsity has a good chance to win this meet from

Ah! Ah!
 Campus depression should be temporarily mitigated this week. Fifty-seven seniors and sixty-eight juniors Wednesday were given pay checks of $27.60 by the military department. The payroll totaled $3,450.

The showing they have made in previous meets and in the workouts which they are going through every afternoon with the bags and in the ring.

The next varsity meet will be February 7, with the University of South Carolina at Columbia, and the 14th with Citadel at Charleston, S. C. The freshmen will meet the University of North Carolina in February and they will also face Oak Ridge for the last meet schedule.

The varsity's last meet will be with Presbyterian College of South Carolina here, we hope. This is pending. This being the first boxing team to represent State College and the first meet at home, we are expecting a good attendance.

Boshart Talks On Unemployment As Investigator

Since the beginning of the winter term Prof. E. W. Boshart has been drafted as investigator to aid in the work to relieve the unemployment situation. He said the situation could have been quite a lot worse had it not been for Governor Gardner's "Live-at-Home" drive.

"The situation," he said, "is a dangerous one, though it can be taken care of by having all of the county agents working together very conscientiously. A great deal can be done in the Department of Agriculture. This department can promote the people to raising all crops necessary for food. A lot can be done through the teachers of agriculture in the schools. The farm agents, home demonstration agents, and the health officers can all work together and do a big piece of work. These organizations can do a great deal if they are properly supported. The people in the communities can do a great deal to cooperate with them by only following the advice that they give."

Back In College

The Self-Help students are not decreasing in numbers here at State College, according to Joe Moore, assistant secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and head of the Self-Help department.

The most outstanding of the Self-Help students who failed to return was Myron Reeves, a freshman, who during the first term worked on an average of 12 hours per day, and at the same time averaged 80% on his studies. He remained out of school this term on account of sickness, which he brought on by overworking himself during the first term.

Kappa Sigma to Entertain

Members of Kappa Sigma fraternity will entertain in honor of their alumni tonight. A banquet will be given, after which the members will enjoy dancing.
