CITY TO INSTALL STOP-LIGHT HERE, CLOYD ANNOUNCES

Paul and Gorham Request Traffic Congestion Be Remedied

CLOYD WRITES CULBRETH,
SUGGESTS IMPROVEMENTS

Safety Commission Officer At College Intersection To Make
Study of Situation—President
Brooks Asks Faculty To Suggest Possible Improvements—
Faculty Members Think Street

To Avoid Congestion—Another Stop-Light Promised.

A stop-light at Ferndale Lane and possibly another at Oberlin Road will be the reply of the city commissioners to requests of the college following the four accidents on Hillsboro Street intersections last week, according to Dean E. L. Cloyd.

Last week Dan Paul and Frank Gorham, representing the student body, called on President E. C.
Brooks, asking him to request that better traffic conditions be made by the city. Dr. Brooks got in touch with Mayor Culbreth, who informed him that plans had already been formulated to hang one stop-light at Ferndale Lane.

An officer from the safety commission was sent out at the beginning of this week to study the situation.

CONTEST

Extending over a period of three weeks, and beginning last Tuesday, an advertising contest is being sponsored by the business staff of THE TECHNICIAN.
The winner, bringing in more subscriptions and advertisements in dollars and cents than the other contestants, will be appointed Assistant Business Manager.

John Rabb, Jimmie Crooch,
and George McAuley are members of the staff competing in the contest. The winner will be announced February 14, according to Alfred Land, Business Manager.

Dire Poverty Causes Two Women To Offer Their Bodies For Sale

Two North Carolina girls offered to sell their bodies to State College for medical research purposes after their death, provided they can secure cash for the sale now to meet present financial needs, it was revealed here in a letter received by A. S. Brower, comptroller of the college.

"The letter from the young ladies," says Mr. Brower, "was written in all sincerity and explained that the girls were rather desperately in need of money." The comptroller refused to divulge the names of the girls, but said they lived in one of the larger cities of the State. The girls asked that their names be kept strictly confidential.

"I would like to know if the medical department of State College would like to buy a body to experiment on," the letter reads.

"You see, times are so very hard,
I and a friend of mine must have some money immediately.

"If there is any chance of our selling our bodies and getting the benefit of the money while we are still living, we guarantee that you could get our bodies after our death."

Hold Meeting

The Piedmont section, American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists, will hold their regular winter meeting at the O. Henry Hotel in Greensboro, N. C., January 31, 1931.

The chief speaker for the meeting will be Mr. Hill Hunter, who was graduated from State in 1904.

STATE DEBATERS MEET FARMVILLE TEACHERS

On February 12th Will Meet Debaters From Wake Forest College

On the evening of February 6, at 7:30, in Pullen Hall, the State College Negative Debate Team, composed of J. E. Gill of Henderson and D. Stokes of Newsome, N. C., will meet the affirmative team of the Virginia State Teachers' College of Farmville, Va., in a verbal clash.

Last year the affirmative team, composed of M. B. Amos and E. W.
Buchanan, lost one of the two debates they lost during the entire season to this institution. It will also be remembered that this team, which suffered defeat from the "Farmville Girls," won national honors last year by closing the season with 11 victories and two losses.

Gill and Stokes are first-year men on the squad, but have made a fine showing thus far. They have entered two debates, one with Wake Forest before Christmas which was non-decisive and another the first of January with the University of North Carolina, which they won by a large majority.

On February 12 the affirmative team of State College meets the negative of Wake Forest at Wake Forest.
This debate will be followed by a return debate between the same teams in Pullen Hall. M. B. Amos and Archie Ward will represent State College in these debates.

On February 28 the affirmative
of the University of South Carolina will meet our negative in Pullen Hall.

Fields Robber Caught By County Policemen

Relating a story that paralleled that of the victim, Luther Workman, of Hillsboro, at an inquest before Magistrate L. M. Waring this week, confessed his guilt and that of his cohorts in the robbing and shooting of T. M. Fields, State College student, when they gave him a ride to Rocky Mount sometime ago.

The hearing was held after all three of the party had been rounded up as a result of about four weeks of searching on the part of Wake County officers. Members of the highway party, besides Workman, were Bolling Byrd and Raymond Duke, both of Durham. Byrd was the driver of the car in which Fields was given a ride. Duke is the man who fired the shot. Fields attended the hearing and is still crippled from the wound. He identified the men at the hearing.

Magistrate Waring returned the verdict of guilty and the three men have been bound over to the Superior Court under $5,000 bond each.

MAJOR LINDSEY SILVESTER SPEAKER AT CLUB LUNCHEON

Six Cadet Officers Are Presented
To Members of Army-Navy Club.

Maj. Lindsey McD. Silvester, professor of military science and tactics, was principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Army and Navy Club held in the College Y. M. C. A. Tuesday.

To members of the club Major Silvester presented Cadet Officers Walter Clement, C. B. Turner, R. B. Gatlin, Harvey Whitley, H. B. Merriam, and Mack Stout.

"Daddy" Price and his State College band furnished music during the luncheon.

At the business session Adj. Gen.
Van B. Metts was elected president of the organization. Other officers elected were: Captain Dan B. Floyd, vice president, and Captain A. O. Alford, secretary.

Discuss Military

The Young People's Society of the West Raleigh Presbyterian Church will meet Sunday night at 8:30 in the home of Mrs. Gunter, 7 Maiden Lane. The subject for discussion will be: "The Relation of Military Training to the Teachings of Christ."

Labor Is Subject Pullen Debaters For Friday Night

"The Five-Day Week" schedule for labor as recommended by the American Federation of Labor was discussed in the form of a debate at the meeting of Pullen Literary Society, Friday evening at 6:30.

The affirmative side of the question was upheld by D. J. Crowell and H. F.
Anderson, both of whom spoke in favor of the five-day week system.

The five-day week program was condemned by the negative side, composed of R. P. Moore and L. B.
Owens. The negative contended that the short working week would lower the purchasing power of the buying public by effecting a decrease in wages. The affirmative, however, defended their position by showing how, when, and where a shortening of the week by one day would not result in an even slight decrease in wages. They used as authority decisions rendered by the United States Supreme Court.

At the close of the debate the president of the society and the critic rendered their decision unanimously in favor of the affirmative.

At the next meeting of the society,
Friday evening, the following timely issue will be discussed: "Should Congress appropriate twenty-five million dollars to the Red Cross to be used by that organization for the relief of the people in the drought-stricken areas of the United States?"

Co-Ed President Exonerated Of Blame For Killing Pescud

State Rifle Team
Wins 8 of 11 Meets,
Making 3638 Score

The North Carolina State College
Rifle Team, captained by J. L. Shepherd, senior from Orrum, fired eleven matches last week.

Eight of the eleven matches were won by the State College marksmen.
The score for them was 3638, while their closest competitor, Louisiana University, scored 3607.

Institutions which State met last week were: L. S. U., Oregon State, Boston Tech, University of Wisconsin,
University of Cincinnati, Pennsylvania State College, University of Alabama, and Mississippi A. and M.

The rifle team here this year was composed of: "Sheik" Lyster, Parade, Ponzer, Ashe, Leroy, Gorham, Pate, Tew, Campbell, and Shepherd, captain.

Captain Shepherd heads the list this season for high score for the school. His is 378.

Manager Leroy has arranged for the coming week the following matches: Rhode Island State Agricultural College, University of Washington, Montana State University, Calvert, and New York Stock Exchange.

ROBINSON ANNOUNCES A SERIES OF PROGRAMS FOR AGRICULTURE MEN

B. D. Robinson, president, today announced the Agriculture Club had adopted a series of programs featuring various phases of agriculture study to advance the interest in modern farming by students.

The program for the term follows:
"Agricultural Economics," by A. S.
Jenkins, February 3; "Poultry," J.
W. Kelly, February 10; "Agronomy," T. C. Bass, February 17; "Horticulture," W. K. Bailey, February 24; and "Plant Pathology and Entomology," D. H. Latham, March 3.

C. H. Shafer began the series of lectures with a talk on "Forestry," Tuesday, January 27.

CLASS RING MEASUREMENTS WILL BE TAKEN THURSDAY

Ring measurements for juniors and seniors will be taken in the Wataugan office Thursday evening, February 5, from 8 o'clock until all measurements are taken.

All juniors who desire to get rings
this year are urged by Romeo Le-Forte, class president, to come by for measurement.

Mr. LeForte also announced the juniors would hold a class meeting Monday, February 2, at 1:30 p. m.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEER MAKE INSPECTION PLANTS

William Hand Browne, Jr., Will Take Seniors To Electrical Plants

Seniors in Electrical Engineering will leave here by bus Monday, February 2, for a three-day inspection trip to representative electrical developments of the State. The trip is a part of the course in electrical engineering and will be under the supervision of Professor William Hand Browne.

Monday, the first day of the trip,
the students will visit the hydroelectric plant at Norwood. They will spend the night in Albemarle.

They plan to inspect the hydroelectric plant and the sub-station of the aluminum works at Badin Tuesday. That night they will visit the telephone exchange and telegraph offices in Charlotte.

Wednesday the River Bend power plant and a sub-station of the Piedmont Northern Railroad will claim the attention of the young engineers.

Taking the trip are: B. Beavers,
J. H. Brown, W. C. Calton, J. L.
Chandler, H. J. Cobb, J. E. Collins,
Sam Dimeo, F. L. Fentress, G. O.
Finch, A. S. Furtado, J. B. Gentry, A.
W. Hamrick, H. H. Hartman, M. C.

J. H. Lee, H. F. Litchy, B. S. Manney, J. H. Mauney, D. P. Melton, W. L.
Morgan, J. M. Reeves, J. F. Riddick,
M. L. Shepherd, W. S. Smith, E. R.
Tull, L. C. Vipond, C. D. Whaley, D.
A. Worsley, and R. E. Truesdell.

Coroner L. M. Waring exonerated Lorena Q. Brinson, president of the co-ed student body, of the charge of running down Edward F. Pescud, 76, Friday evening, January 23, about 7:30, when her car struck and fatally injured him.

The inquest was held Tuesday, January 27, in Coroner Waring's office.
Miss Brinson was coming down town with two boys and another girl in her car. She arrived at the intersection of Enterprise and Hillsboro Streets traveling about 20 miles an hour, witnesses said. About fifteen feet past the intersection she said she saw a car approaching with dazzling headlights, and was unable to see Mr. Pescud, who was in the middle of the street. She swerved sharply to the left in an attempt to miss the pedestrian, but hit him with the right front fender of her car, and also knocked down Miss Daisy Walt, who was accompanying him to a lecture at the college. Miss Brinson stopped her car as quickly as possible and picked him up and rushed him to the hospital, where he died a few hours later, never regaining consciousness.

Coroner Waring, after hearing the witnesses, consulted the lawyers and gave his verdict. "There was no speeding, the car was past the intersection of the two streets, and it was just an unavoidable accident."

For many years Mr. Pescud ran a bookstore on Hargett Street. He required a few years ago. He is survived by his wife.

This was the second fatality out of three accidents that occurred on Hillsboro Street within two blocks of each other in one week. The other fatal accident was the running down of Allen Haywood, the oldest employee of State College. He was hit about ten o'clock Wednesday morning, January 21. The third accident occurred when a Buick coach collided with a street car in front of the postoffice on Friday, January 16.

CLARK BACK AT STATE AFTER Y. M. C. A. MEET

C. LeRoy Clark, president of the local "Y," attended the conference of the executive council of the Southern Region of the Y. M. C. A., which was held in Atlanta, January 23-24-25, to discuss problems which confront Y.
M. C. A. presidents.

Mr. Harry F. Comer, general secretary of the "Y" at the University of larity contest.

Officially, John received 13 votes for the beauty prize and seven in the popularity race.
Wednesday at 2:30, after final results of the election had been tabulated, a freshman turned in 25 ballots, each insinuating Mayo is the most beautiful co-ed on the campus.

Change in Policy Needed To Make The Wataugan Even
Mediocre, Is Conclusion

By PROF. E. M. BERNSTEIN
The current issue of The Wataugan is decidedly inferior in quality, even as compared with the earlier issues.
There are not more than ten pleasant minutes in two hours of reading. One leaves the current number with the feeling that the editors have done their best, but that only a major change in policy can ever improve the publication even to the extent of making it merely mediocre.

The issue contains a variety of jokes, sketches, stories; verse, and reviews. The jokes, as a whole, are poor, and the better ones are familiar.

STATE COLLEGE COMEDIANS
TO PRESENT 'MINSTREL' SHOW

Musical Comedy Is Being Directed By "Tubby" Hanks and Blan Chapman

The N. C. State College Comedians, newly organized company, are daily practicing on their production, "Dixie Land Minstrels."

The musical comedy is being directed jointly by "Tubby" Hanks and Blan Chapman, comedian couple, staff of the "Stunt Night" program.

While in Charlotte high school the young directors put on a show which, according to newspaper clippings, was one of the best amateur productions ever to appear in the city.

The exact presentation date has not yet been decided upon, but the show will be presented in Pullen Hall soon, the directors said.

President Paul Endorses Move To Fight Wage Slashing

SALARY CUT TO BURDEN
TAXPAYERS, SAYS LANG

President of N. C. Student Fed-and Governor Gardner To Hinder Legislation of Wage Reduction—John A. Lang Appeals To Colleges To Aid In Fighting Proposal, and Says

"It Will Cost Millions of Dollars To Restore Education System Should Bill Pass."

North Carolina Federation of Students, headed by John A. Lang, of the University of North Carolina, president, is waging a bitter attack on Governor Gardner's proposal to lower salaries of State employees.

Dan M. Paul, local student body head, who is a member of the executive council of the organization, today said that State College students were back of the movement.

Mr. Lang opposes the proposal as "disastrous not only to state institutions, but to the whole State as well."
"It's adoption," he said, "would cost taxpayers of North Carolina millions of dollars in the future to restore our schools and colleges to their present high standards."

In a formal summons, he requests
"every student in a state institution in North Carolina to write his friends in the legislature, to the Governor, and to the other leaders of the State and inform them of the serious effect that a reduction in appropriation would have on the state institutions and the whole State."

"I sincerely hope," he concluded,

FOR 5 CENTS!

Students rooming on the third floor south are phoneless.
Torn from the wall and practically demolished, the phone was found in a closet on the floor Wednesday morning. Efforts to rob the phone of nickels was in vain. The cash box was intact when found, although the rest of the phone was practically demolished.

Student body officials said an investigation was under way to find out who is responsible for the mischief.

Hallie Covington was elected "most beautiful" and Leah Godwin "most popular" in the co-ed beauty and popularity contest sponsored by THE TECHNICIAN last week. Eight hundred and seventy-nine votes were polled.

Miss Covington, who received 348 votes, was followed by Josephine Bland with 217. Students marked 364 ballots for Miss Godwin, and Clyde Cotner was runner-up with 123 votes.

Eleven candidates were nominated on the "most beautiful" ballot.
Eleven also were in the popularity race.

Johnnie Mayo, ardent follower of the fair sex, was given 13 votes in the beauty contest. He also pulled down seven votes for popularity.

Final results of the ballots tabulated by members of the staff follow:
Most beautiful: Hallie Covington,
348; Jessamine Bland, 217; Jane Virginia Hawkins Andrews, 95; Mrs.
H. L. Bringer, 87; Hazel McDonald,
56; Dorothy Tullington, 21; Beatrice Troutwein, 18; Sara Holman, 16;
Johanne Mayo, 13; Nancy Wood, 7;
and Evelyn Rigan, 1.

Most popular: Leah Godwin, 364;
Clyde Cotner, 123; Sara Holman, 109; Nancy Wood, 83; Elizabeth Gather, 71; Mary Joe Swicgood, 53; Katherine Sams, 29; Beatrice Troutwein, 19; Margaret Bogie, 19; John-

SPORTSMANSHIP—SILENCE

THERE are three kinds of silence. Silence from words is good, because inordinate speaking tends to evil. Silence or rest from desires or passions is still better, because it prompts quickness of spirit. But the best of all is silence from unnecessary words and wandering thoughts.

The word silence should not be thought of as having any connection with sportsmanship, but if there ever was a time when two words should have been more closely connected and weren't, it was the other night when State defeated Duke in basketball.

It was a wonderful game, perhaps the best we shall see this year, but State won that game in score only, losing miserably in sportsmanship—silence.

This story or whatever you would like to call it is written at the request of Dr. R. R. Sermon, athletic director and coach of the varsity basketball team, who wants something said and done about the uncalled-for booing of officials at the game Saturday night.

This booing business began in the V. P. I. game and, we hope, reached its climax in the Duke affair.

There is absolutely no need for students to boo a referee. In the first place, 99 out of every 100 students don't know what the foul was for, and, in the second place, once the referee has made his decision, he won't change it.

State's players didn't kick when the referee called something that didn't look exactly right to them, so why should we, who are just looking on, not playing the game?

Now when a group of students get to the point where they know more about the way a basketball game should be run, then and not until then will they have the right to boo a referee's decision.

The officials at the Duke game have been in the game as players and also as officials for many years, and they know in five minutes more rules and regulations and how to use them than we will ever learn as spectators.

No doubt they called a few wrong, and it's not for us to sit on the bleachers and smile and say that's all right, but neither is it right for us to show such drastic emotional feeling as booing.

If we are going to boo, let's do it when they call them wrong on the opponents also, not just when WE THINK they have called something wrong on a State player.

Then, too, it's a hard job to see every false move in a basketball game where ten men are fighting and fighting hard for a win—a clean win as those two teams were doing Saturday night. They call a few wrong and miss a few, but we work a math problem wrong and miss one also, right often.

Dr. Sermon also wishes it stated that State students are using their student books in the wrong manner by turning them over to some one out of the school, and he says that beginning with the Carolina game Tuesday night, every student must have his own name on the book in ink, and that if they are presented at the door by some one else, they will be taken up.

In that Carolina game we have a good chance to show how close sportsmanship and silence can go together; let's do it.

Silence is a true friend who never betrays.—E. D.

THROUGH THE TRANSON

By DICK YATES

Time To Call A Halt

In less than a week two men have been killed at the intersections on Hillsboro Street across from the college grounds. Several years ago a student was killed, and feeling naturally ran high. Yet, that feeling never materialized into anything of a practical benefit. Announcement was again made by authorities that the speed law would be enforced, and the students lapsed in another state of lethargy, only to wait until the latest series of accidents.

Whether the drivers of the cars are responsible, either morally or legally, for the deaths of the victims is a matter for conjecture. Coroners, along with their jurors, were instituted to settle matters of this nature. Nevertheless, the fact remains that if some means of slowing down the drivers to the maximum speed law were in evidence, the deaths would have never occurred. This is where the civil authorities, those agencies instituted to protect life, limb, and property, come in for their share of the blame—a lion's share, one might say.

Observation will readily inform one that when sufficient interest and desire is manifested by a large group in an improvement or innovation, that which is requested is usually given. If the students wish to terminate the series of accidents that has so long hovered over this section of Hillsboro Street, it can be done. But to be done, it requires something more than a mild protest followed by silence. Concerted action on the part of all the students, or at least their representatives, is necessary.

There's Still Hope

Governor Gardner has done, among many other things, something that few public characters have had courage to do. Replying to critics of his highway program, he has assured them that when such authorities as Frank Page and Leslie Ames disagree with his plan, he will reverse his position.

The politician, essentially, exists by doing things and convincing people that he is right. By giving others the opportunity to prove that he is in the wrong, and then offering, if such be the case, to reverse his position, Governor Gardner has pulled himself up one notch out of the slime of state politics.

Weekly Definition

The college professor may be defined as that individual who spends the first thirds of his life in gathering knowledge, and the other two-thirds in spreading this knowledge among what he laughingly calls students.

OVER THE CAMPUS

By ELBERT OVERTON

In Hon. J. Stitt Wilson's last lecture here at State College he condemned everything on the campus. I am wondering if he would approve of the outcome of THE TECHNICIAN'S co-ed beauty and popularity contest.

While speaking of co-eds, we are reminded of a recent discovery by Anonymous. It follows:

ODE TO THE CO-ED

Blessings on the little dame,
Bareback girl, with knees the same;
With those rolled down silken hose,
And those short, transparent clothes;
With your make-up on your face,
And your bobbed hair's jaunty grace;
Your red lips reddened more,
Smeared with lipstick from the store.
From my heart I give thee joy,
Glad that I was born a boy.

"Collegiate Comedians" have begun the production of the "Dixie Land Minstrels," which they will present in the near future, although the date has not been announced. This promises to be a success and is a very commendable movement, as their aim is to create and maintain better school spirit and to furnish wholesome entertainment for athletic events and other occasions. "Tubby" Hanks and "Bobby" Chapman have been cast as the headliners for the current production, and they will surely be a hit, if their previous acting here is to be taken as evidence, also the many press notices from the Charlotte newspapers which have found their way into this office telling of their dramatic activity while in high school. A composite group of outstanding students go to fill the other parts of the show.

The IRC is a great organization which is supposed to foster better relationships among people. Now is the time for those boys to make a name for themselves by aiding the Red Cross in their drive to alleviate the suffering and starvation among the unfortunate people who are affected by the drought and unemployment.

We would like to take this opportunity to nominate Dr. "Red" Wynne for membership in the Blue Pencil Club.

Diary of some of the modern collegians: Up at 7:30 for a ravenous breakfast in the bull hall. Then to class, where the monotonous tones of the professor encourage nodding. Exchange amenities with students at change-class period. And this until the classes are nodded through. To a show in the afternoon. This followed by scrutiny of Meredith beauties as they parade the walkway. A date in the evening, followed by a late dance or wild party climaxes the day. Sluggishly to bed with a resolution to study tomorrow—which never comes.

And there is the big boy who gets sick smoking cigars.

"Death Valley" is the new name for Hillsboro street. This week a speed cop made it more fatal for motorists than pedestrians.

Unless he could get another, Stitt Wilson claims he wouldn't sell his "Diet" book for $1,000. Why not let Mr. Harris buy and follow the diet regularly, indirectly presenting each student with $1,000?

Seniors Teach In High School To Get Diploma

Twenty-three N. C. State College seniors in Agricultural Education are now receiving their teaching practice in high schools of North Carolina. Leon E. Cook, professor of Agricultural Education at State, announced this week.

This early privilege, an annual affair, of obtaining teaching practice is restricted to seniors enrolled in Agricultural Education. The 23 men now out on their teaching missions left January 12 and will remain until February 21.

The 23 seniors and the schools in which they are teaching are: L. H. Angell, Spring Hope High School; H. C. Beck, Gold Sand School; W. B. Callihan, Lowe's Grove School; A. S. Crosby, Lillington High School; W. H. Ferguson, Edward Best School; M. L. Fields, Lowe's Grove School; M. G. Garner, Apex High School; H. T. Gryder, Snow Hill High School; A. J. Haynes, Spring Hope High School; N. L. Hendrix, Woodleaf High School; E. C. Latham, Garner High School; G. C. Lawrence, Cary High School; G. A. McClenny, Cary High School; M. A. Morgan, Rosewood School; L. H. Overton, Edward Best School; A. W. Parker, Apex High School; I. F. Raper, Garner High School; W. D. Reynolds, Franklin High School; B. D. Robinson, Nashville High School; Robert Sessions, Cary High School; R. G. Sharpe, Apex High School; E. Shouard, Aurora High School, and H. P. Winchester, Snow Hill High School.

Student Forum

That's Almost a Whole Week

Dear Parks:

Many times we hear a "wall" about giving some news and every one doing their part toward making a success of the college paper. From what I can learn, the faculty feel as I do, that is "what's the use." I have spent as much as six days in writing articles for THE TECHNICIAN. I have no less than half a dozen times spent my time in helping boys that come out here for a story to write up a story. All my time has been wasted. Nothing is ever run. You have your problems, I know, in making stories fit, etc., into each issue, but how do you expect folks to try and cooperate and never run their articles?

Again I say, as it is prevalent all over the campus about anything that comes up, "Oh well, why worry, what's the use; let everything slide along. I guess there's no need for me to try to contribute and help spirit, moral, organization, progress along."

Sincerely yours,

J. F. MILLER.

College Magazine Again

Receives Scathing Review

Perhaps the best is the story of the football player's exam. There is a full page of serious words and scattered bits of humorous verse. Mr. Altman's contribution, Tranquillity, is far below the high standard he set in earlier issues. Reny's two poems are simple but not satisfying. Mechanically A Wish is superior to Lips; but the poet makes use of such rhymes as sealed and revel, and loan, and alone. A short poem by Y. T. G. is the best of the contributions in verse, but here too the lines are not mechanically perfect. The book reviews are fair, with Mr. Lightfoot's decidedly the better.

The longer pieces include stories by Ward and Whitehurst. Mr. Ward's story is poorly written and obvious. The moral—honesty is best policy—is certainly acceptable; and the ending is very, very happy. Not only does the hero get the girl, but in the last paragraph he also is reinstated (with due amendments, no doubt), wins a thousand-dollar prize, and is offered "the finest kind of a position" in a bank when he is graduated. The honors come too thick and fast. Mr. Whitehurst's story on psychology in the trenches is well written and holds the interest of the reader to the end. The plot is simple and insufficiently developed.

For its intellectual subscribers The Wataugan offers its own well-reasoned editorials, a sketch by E. F. Smith and an article on student publications by Dick Yates. The article is stimulating, although the author's view is not entirely accurate. For one thing there never was a publication that was a true collection of undergraduate literature. The Harvard Hound and Horn, for instance, always drew largely on recent graduates. Nor is there anything debasing in a humorous undergraduate publication. Such publications as The Columbia Jester are of high quality, and decidedly worthwhile. In all, the problem of student publications is not so much a problem of taste as one of ability. There are few colleges with undergraduates capable of turning out good newspapers or magazines, and this applies no less to humorous than to literary magazines.

One is tempted to offer the editors of The Wataugan Mr. Punch's word of advice to young men about to marry: "Don't." But that would be too harsh and perhaps unjustified. Obviously the editors cannot gather sufficient material of a high order to issue a copy of The Wataugan every month. The remedy would seem to be to publish the magazine once in two months. The editors might well make use of the talent of their capable cartoonists—particularly Ferree, Jernigan, Henry, and Miss Blankenship. The subscribers would be the gainers if some of the short stories were replaced by more pen work from these young people. I do not despair of The Wataugan; I look forward to a good issue next time.

State Plays Devils To 24-19 Victory In Saturday Game

Part revenge for the N. C. State gridiron defeat of the 1930 season was registered last Saturday night in the varsity tilt. The score of the Frank Thompson Gymnasium when the State College Red Terrors took the Duke aggregation of loopers into camp to the tune of 24 to 19, a score which indicates decisive victory. The Blue Devils reluctantly accepted their defeat after four quarters of hair-raising basketketeering. Even the Baby Devils took bitter medicine from the State Yearlings in the preliminary to the varsity tilt. The score of the frosh scrap showed Duke with 28 points to State's 29, after an extra period was played for decision.

Doc Sermon placed practically the same team on the court last Saturday night that he matched against Virginia Polytech in the preceding Wednesday night game; but this same team gave a much better exhibition of teamwork, accuracy, and passing than was previously shown. By turning back the Devils, Doc Sermon's cagers added their fourth victory—a victory which was the first defeat for the Duke quint at the hands of a North Carolina College team since the finals of the 1929 Southern Conference Tournament in Atlanta when State licked the Duke Devils to claim the Dixie title. State's win is its second victory in Big Five activities.

State's five-point victory margin was the same space which separated the Terrors at the close of first half play which ended at 14-9. Duke started the second half in a fighting mood and was not checked until the mark stood: Duke 18, State 16. 'Twas time for State to "act now or never"; and they acted. Again lurching forward, the State basketekers rang up eight points in quick succession to end the struggle at 24-19. Both teams tallied for ten points each in the final half.

BASEBALL

According to reports recently released from the Athletic Department, Mr. Charlie Dock's baseball warriors will use the field next to the Frank Thompson Gymnasium during the coming season.

"Pap" Riddick's dedicated territory will be used for football only in the future.

The new field has already been surveyed, and if weather permits, workmen will have everything in readiness, including bleachers, before practice opens on March 1.

Carolina and Duke Lose To Wolflets With Scores 29-28

State College freshmen won a couple of their hardest fought basketball games when they edged out the Duke frosh and Carolina first-year men by identical scores. Each battle was taken by one point margin of 29-28.

29-28 seemed to be the favorite score for the freshmen last week. The Duke-State frosh game ran into an extra period for a decision.

In Tuesday's game at Chapel Hill the State Yearlings were never headed, and showed at the half the advantage of 17-11. In the closing minutes, Carolina rallied and had three chances for tying the score by foul shots. However, they missed all chances. Browne was State's big gunner in that he bagged five action goals and a couple of free tries. Beaghen followed with nine, Jay with six, and McQuage with two. Fisher led the Tar Babies with nine points.

Saturday's contest with Duke was a hectic affair from start to finish. The regulation game ended at 24-14, and the score at the finish of the five-minute period gave the State frosh 29 to Duke's 28.

Jay led State's offense with nine points, while McQuage, Kinkin, and Beaghen performed notably also. Alpert and Thompson did most of the basket work for the Blue Imps.

Frosh Wrestling Team To Meet Duke Friday

The State College freshman wrestling team opens its three-match schedule here Friday afternoon, when it meets the Duke Blue Imps in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium. Joe Moore, coach of the freshman grapplers, has a large squad of men seeking berths on the team, and he said that he would use the next few days in picking his men for the seven weights by having them wrestle the varsity grapplers.

Some of the men who have shown up well this season are: E. B. Kidd and J. G. White, 125 pounds; R. S. Moody, W. W. Hult, and E. R. Tedder, 135 pounds; W. T. Becton, J. C. Swan, and B. T. Farmer, 145 pounds; J. T. Cooper, H. C. Buckner, and Dave Cohen, 155 pounds; G. D. Newcomb, 165 pounds; L. L. Cole, 175 pounds, and Donald Fry, unlimited. The freshman matmen have a match with Oak Ridge there February 7, and a return match with Duke at Durham, February 13. Possible meets are pending with Carolina freshmen and Moore's Grove High School.

Duke Meets State In Boxing Matches In "Gym" Tonight

The first match of what is expected to be a leading sport at State College within the next year will be held here Friday night when the boxing teams of State and Duke meet in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium, the varsity bouts to follow the freshman tilts which begin at 7:30.

The match will be the first official ring meet ever held at State College. The Athletic Council at State made boxing a minor sport this past fall.

This is the second meeting of these two boxing outfits in the squared ring this year. State lost to Duke at Durham, 6-1, in the first meeting.

Fourteen bouts or 42 rounds of fighting will be offered, seven matches between freshmen and seven between varsity men.

The feature bout of the evening is expected to be between Red Espey of State and Hyatt of Duke in the unlimited class. Both men are football stars and Espey won a four-round decision over Hyatt at Duke.

Two other football men, Herman Gardner of State and Kid Brewer of Duke, will fight in the 175-pound weight.

Captain Sam DiMeo will fight in the 145 instead of the 160 Friday night. In the 160, Sam gave away five to six pounds to opponents against Duke and Washington and Lee.

Carl Hinson is ready for the 160 in place of the 175, where he worked against the above teams.

Greenhalf seems to be best bet for the 135-pound and Foreman may probably do the work in the 125, with Kerig fighting in the 115.

State freshman winners over Duke at Durham, 4-3, are in fine shape, and with Grey in fine trim after several days illness, should be ready to take the match again.

Matmen Leave Home To Meet Davidson

Coach W. N. (Red) Hicks and his matmen will open the State race with the Davidson Wildcats Saturday night at the Presbyterian institution.

When the Tech wrestlers step out on the mat Saturday night they will be without the services of Charlie Cobb, their unlimited, because of injuries. Otherwise, the boys are in great form.

The line-up for State: 115 pound, Captain Eason; 125 pound, Evans; 135 pound, Oakley; 145 pound, Smithwick; 155 pound, Hargrove; 165 pound, Sutton; 175 pound, Laney; unlimited, Clevinger.

Red Terrors Meet Defeat at Hands Of Carolina Five

The State Wolfpack lost the first game they played with Carolina Tuesday night. It was a close game and most of the time was rough with both sides. Although both teams showed good floor ability and guarding, neither showed superiority in looping the basket. Morgan was high scorer for State, with five points, while Edwards was high scorer for Carolina, with eight points. Johnson, sophomore of State, showed excellent floor work, as did Rose and Clark. The Tar Heels in their "tin can" know the spacing of the floor and are hard to beat at home.

Carolina made their start by Alexander making a free throw good, then Dameron added with two more singles. Edwards then sunk a field goal with a long sweep, which put Carolina five points ahead. State's first score was a single by Rose one minute later. Marpet then sunk a goal, which was followed by Morgan of State, who made a swoop-overhead shot with one hand. Johnson followed with a crisp shot. It was nip and tuck all the way, but Carolina maintained its lead throughout the game.

Knight, of the Durham Y, who is one of the best there is in this section, refereed the game.

NEXT WEEK

The sport calendar for State College during the week of February 2-7 will be featured by two basketball games against the Universities of North Carolina and Duke.

Tuesday night, February 3, Coach Ray Sermon's Red Terrors play Carolina here in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

Saturday night, February 7, State will play Duke at Durham.

The freshman teams also have games carded on the same nights.

The freshman wrestling team of State will meet Oak Ridge there on February 7, while the varsity is grappling with V. P. I. at Blacksburg, Va., on the same date.

The boxing team will be idle through the week.

this week, suggesting improvements by placing a stop-light at Ferndale Lane and at Oberlin Road, and by making it illegal to park cars on the south side of Hillsboro Street across from the College Court. With these two lights working simultaneously, traffic will be halted both east and west on Hillsboro Street, giving pedestrians an opportunity to cross in safety between the lights.

At a faculty council meeting early in the week, Dr. Brooks asked members to suggest possible improvements in the traffic conditions on Hillsboro Street. Some of the members maintained that cars should be forced to drive slower by the campus, while another added that the Carolina Light and Power Company should be asked to extend the street car line a few feet farther. By this action it is expected that the intersection at Galloway's will be cleared when the street car and bus are taking on and discharging passengers.

Short-Wave Society Holds Second Meet

The Short-Wave Radio Club held its second meeting Friday, January 23, in the north end of the Y, with John Rabb as chairman.

This club now has seven licensed men. One of them is Dr. H. L. Caveness of the chemistry department. Members of the club will give various pieces of apparatus to help in building a station. The proposed site for the station is one of the small rooms in the basement of the Electrical Engineering Building.

The temporary chairman announced that he would like the members to talk to as many electrical students as possible and to try to get a lot more of them in the organization. Now in the club are: W. M. Bell, T. J. Raber, T. P. Robertson, S. I. Allen, J. C. Balen, C. D. Barker, R. L. Willis, L. I. Childer, H. A. Eudy, D. L. Webb, E. F. Smith, Sargent H. C. Thomas, C. M. Smith, R. H. Cottrell, S. W. Spencer, D. A. Worsley, Dr. Caveness, John Rabb, and C. D. Whaley.

There will be another meeting Friday night, January 30, in the north end of the Y. Everyone is urged to bring new members.

SELF-HELP CLUB ADOPTS WEEKLY PROGRAM SCHEME

Self-Help Club members have adopted a weekly program scheme that will include all members of the organization.

Programs are to be given with both humorous and instructive topics. Self-help men who are not members are invited to attend the meetings, according to the officers.

Organized in 1927, the organization has strengthened materially until it now has a well-equipped clubroom for the benefit of the thirty members.

MORE WOMEN

With the completion of the winter term registration at North Carolina State College, co-ed population reached a new high mark of 84 women registered at the institution.

W. L. Mayer, Director of Registration, is of the opinion that women students will increase each year and cites the 660 per cent increase in the past five years to substantiate his belief.

Last year, co-eds numbered 75 at the college, and 9 were graduated.

STATE COLLEGE GRADS SPEAK AT GREENSBORO

The two speakers on the program of the technical meeting of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists which will be held at Greensboro, N. C., January 31, are graduates of the State College Textile School, Raleigh.

Mr. Hill Hunter, purchasing agent for the Proximity Manufacturing Company and other mills of the Cone organization, graduated in 1904. His subject for discussion will be "Purchasing for Textile Mills and Some Commercial Aspects of Same."

Mr. D. O. Gryder, head dyer of the Southern Dyeing Company, Burlington, N. C., graduated in 1928. His paper is entitled "Dyeing of Rayon Yarn." Mr. Gryder having made a special study of certain phases of this work, his paper will cover some of the latest phases of rayon dyeing.

Dean Nelson, A. H. Grimshaw, and several textile students will attend the meeting.

CUMMINGS AND WHITLEY LEAD FRIENDSHIP MEET

Under the leadership of Ralph Cummings and with the assistance of Harvey Whitley, the Freshman Friendship Council for 1931 is getting down to business for the term.

Meeting for the second time Sunday, January 25, the freshmen in the council evinced unusual interest in the organization. Over forty men are members at present, but the organization is still open to all freshmen who are not members.

A get-together social was held Wednesday night. "The Manhood of the Master" is the book being studied by the council. E. S. King, general secretary of the
