BLACK-FACE BOYS FIRST TO BE SEEN HERE IN 16 YEARS

Faculty Council Endorse
College Comedians'
Minstrel

CARRAWAY ONLY MEMBER OF FACULTY AMONG CAST

Co-ed Gets Place In Production—
"Ole-Time Black-Face Minstrel" Will Be Staged In Pullen Hall, Thursday, February 19, At 8 o'Clock—Cast Includes 23 State Collegians—Nothing Amateurish About This Show, Says Director Hanks—Large Crowd Expected To See Initial Performance.

For the first time in 16 years, North Carolina State College students will be given an opportunity to see a campus-produced "ole-time black-face minstrel" when Collegiate Comedians present "Dixieland Minstrels" in Pullen Hall, Thursday evening, February 19, at eight o'clock.

The production is being directed by W. F. "Tubby" Hanks and Blain Chapman, veteran entertainers.

The Faculty Council endorsed the presentation of the minstrel at their regular meeting Tuesday. Lieut. William Carraway is the only faculty member included in the cast.

The cast includes: Robert Gatlin, J. W. Freeman, J. David Britt, Spivis Stevens, Miller Hughes, J. L. Land, Edwin Poole, William Clifford, Sam Evans, Johnnie Geoghegan, Gilbert Thurlow, Jack Blakeney, H. S. Stoney, David Bohannon, M. C. Elliott, Lee Mercer, Bus Albright, Nelson Tate, Walter Clement, J. F. Brown, and "Hop" Wilson.

Dorothy Turlington, co-ed, is pianist.

J. E. "Goof" McIntyre is stage manager and is assisted by W. Hamilton and J. W. Britt.

"There is nothing amateurish about our show," states "Tubby" Hanks, who has been putting the chorus through their drills daily for nearly two weeks.

A large crowd is expected when the curtain goes up next Friday night. It is the first and only performance of its kind to be given on the campus in 16 years.

LAWRENCE MAKES $3,065 TO PAY WAY THRU STATE

Arrives With $65; Earns Money
Selling Magazines and Shoes;
Also Works In Infirmary

C. G. Lawrence of Hiddenite is one self-help student at North Carolina State College who hasn't written home "No man, no fun, your son."

Three years ago, Lawrence came to State with $65, all the money he had. When he leaves with graduation in June, he will have earned $3,065 through his own efforts.

With the exception of his mother and father, young Lawrence didn't tell any one that he was going to college. He waited a week to break the news to his parents, and then began a journey to seek a diploma and incidentally found a "fortune."

He has paid his way through State and sent money home to his parents; but Lawrence advises no boy to come to college and work as he has.

SELF-HELP STUDENTS ARE FACING POOR YEAR

The winter term at North Carolina State College is the hardest for self-help students in the history of the institution, in the opinion of J. E. Moore, head of the self-help bureau.

Only six students have been placed at work by Mr. Moore since the first term began in September. The additional six men bring the total self-help collegians to 67.

Most of these students are paying their way through college by work obtained through the College Self-Help Bureau.

Headliners In "Dixieland Minstrels"

Blain Chapman and "Tubby" Hanks as they will look in "Sidewalk Convention," a special act in "Dixieland Minstrels," which will be presented in Pullen Hall, Thursday night, February 19, at 8 o'clock. This will be the first time in 16 years that students have had an opportunity to see a campus produced real "ole-time minstrel."

Bill Introduced In Legislature To Merge Three State Schools

Does Not Contemplate Consolidation of Physical Plants—New School Would Be Named "The University of North Carolina"—Merged Institutions Would Be Governed By Consolidated Board of Trustees.

A bill authorizing the consolidation of North Carolina State College, the University of North Carolina, and North Carolina College for Women was introduced into the House of Representatives today by Representative Jeffress of Greensboro. The new institution, if the bill passes, will be called "The University of North Carolina."

The physical plants of the new merger shall remain as they are, but will be controlled by a central board of trustees. State College's name would be "The State College of Agriculture and Engineering of the University of North Carolina."

All the members of the board of trustees of the three institutions shall comprise the board of trustees for "The University of North Carolina," January, 1933, a new board limited to one hundred members shall be elected by the General Assembly.

Sixty days after the ratification of the act a commission will be appointed by the Governor to work out plans for the consolidation of the component parts of the new university. On this commission the presidents of the three institutions will serve, as well as nine other members appointed by the Governor from the—Continued on page 4.

Elbert Overton Leaves To Visit "Sunny South"

Elbert Overton, former associate editor of The Technician and "Over the Campus" editor, temporarily left school Sunday for Miami, Fla.

If business matters in Florida can be satisfactorily arranged, the business student will probably return here some time next week. If he is unsuccessful, young Overton plans to drop out of school until next fall.

If he long resides in the "Gator State," he plans to continue to column for the paper, mailing his weekly observations.

Agriculturalists Elect Dr. Brooks As New President

President E. C. Brooks was elected president of the Southern Association of Agricultural Workers at a meeting of that body in Atlanta, Ga., last week.

Dr. Brooks was first vice-president of the association last year. Along with Dr. Brooks several members of the agricultural faculty attended the meeting.

COMPETITIVE DRILL NOW OCCUPIES R. O. T. C. MEN

Finals To Be Held Feb. 16, 17, 19; Army Officers From Fort Bragg To Choose Winners

Annual competitive drills are occupying the attention of members of the Reserve Officers Training Corps regiment at State College. Finals will be held on February 16, 17, 19.

On these dates Regular Army officers from Fort Bragg will be on hand to select winners in a long string of events.

Zest is added to the preliminaries and finals by awards, which include a silver loving cup, a scholarship, an officer's sabre, one pair of military shoes, and free tickets to showings of the Publix-Saenger Theatres in Raleigh.

In addition to these prizes, it is planned to engrave the names of winners of the important events on a plaque, which will be displayed permanently on the walls of classrooms.

The scholarship has been awarded annually to the sophomore whose in the college and the military department is most outstanding.

Of all the competitions, that which causes the most general activity in the regiment is that for the best drilled squad in each of the three battalions. In keeping with his custom for the past several years, W. G. Enloe, of the Publix-Saenger Theatres, has promised to give liberally again this year of theatre passes to each member of the winning squads.

Prizes or coveted places on the permanent honor roll will be awarded the following: Best drilled company, best drilled platoon, best drilled squad in regiment, best individual junior, sophomore, and freshman student, best musician (band), best drummer (drum corps), best bugler (bugle corps), best competitive shot.

Foresters Return From Week's Visit Studying Timbers

Senior Foresters of State College returned this week after a seven-day trip through Eastern North Carolina, where actual lumbering utilization practices were observed.

At Washington the seniors inspected the Eureka Lumber Company, where a complete study of sawmill and logging operations was made, covering a two-day period. The students camped on the Pamlico River at night.

On the next stop, the foresters inspected the plants in New Bern, where the Intra-State Coopers Co.'s plant, the Rowland Lumber Company, New Bern Veneer plant, and the Virginia Manufacturing Company's plant were visited. At these plants studies were made of machinery used in lumbering.

Leaving New Bern, the seniors found sleep in the Onslow County Courthouse.

On the road to Wilmington, the students observed the various operations in the turpentine industry, and in the city the Spiritine Chemical Company plant was inspected. Special study was given to products of the pine tree.

At Southport, the foresters toured Smith's Island through the courtesy of the United States Coast Guard. Students making the trip are: D. B. Griffin, J. B. Cartwright, J. O. Artman, H. A. Altman, C. H. Shaffer, C. F. Phelps, W. B. Ward, H. A. Foreman, J. K. Slocum, W. B. Burman, R. B. Alter, and G. W. Barner. R. W. Hayes, associate professor of forestry, supervised the trip.

Is III
Professor Satterfield, of the chemistry department, has been confined to his home for the past few days with an attack of influenza.

Junior and Senior Classes Vote To Give Sunday Lunch To Aid City's Unfortunates

SHOW GIRLS

Take it from Blain Chapman and "Tubby" Hanks, women are, in more ways than one, a great asset in the show business.

The youthful directors of "Dixieland Minstrels," to be presented in Pullen Hall Thursday night, had been having trouble getting every member of the cast out for rehearsal. Not much trouble, mind you, but nearly every rehearsal would be minus at least one comedian.

Then they decided to supplement the show with a chorus of 16 beautiful Raleigh girls. They announced to the cast that the chorus would be on hand for practice Thursday.

And not a single student comedian was absent when rehearsal time rolled around.

Engineers Hear President Wright Saturday Morning

"In order for an engineer to be a leader in industry, he must be able to express himself on his feet and tell others about his great work either orally or in well-written report," stated Roy V. Wright, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, in his address before the N. C. State student branch of the A. S. M. E. Saturday morning in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium.

The speaker stated in the beginning of his address that the engineers of the past have paid too little attention to developing their potentialities for public speaking. "Designers in engineering cannot escape appearing before an audience," he said; "he must be able to demonstrate himself and his design before a board"—Continued on page 2.

FELLOWSHIP COUNCIL IS STATE'S NEWEST SOCIETY

Formed Last Week To Discuss Problems Which Confront
Upperclassmen

To discuss problems confronting upperclassmen, the Students Fellowship Council was formed at North Carolina State College last week with C. Leroy Clark, of Winston-Salem, as first chairman.

State's newest student organization was formed mainly through the efforts of Mr. Clark, who says there has been an increasing need for such a council on the campus and the desire for the society was expressed by more than 22 students who attended the first meeting.

The discussion selected to begin the program February 15 will be "The Race Problem." All meetings will be conducted on the forum plan and devoted largely to discussions.

Officers will be elected on February 21.

E. S. King, secretary of the College Y. M. C. A., says that the new council will inevitably do great good on the campus. It is not a religious organization, but will serve as an "organization for expression" of modern-day problems.

N. C. State Debaters Clash With Deacons

The debating team of North Carolina State College will meet the Wake Forest forensics men in a decision debate on Thursday, February 12, at Wake Forest.

This debate will be followed by a return contest at State College, on the question: "Resolved, that the Nations Should Adopt a Policy of Free Trade."

M. B. Amos, of High Point, and Archie Ward, of Lumberton, represented the State team.

State College forensics teams have not lost any debates this season, and have defeated the University of North Carolina and Bowling Green College of Ohio.

On February 28 the University of South Carolina will be debated in Raleigh.

Mrs. Gordon Smith Appeals To Juniors In Behalf of Poor

LAST VOTE TO BE TAKEN IN COLLEGE "BULL HALL"

Money Derived From Sunday Night Bag Lunches Will Be Given To Charity Organizations—Students Not Eating In the Dining Hall Will Be Given Opportunity To Contribute To Poor—Mack Stout Appeals To Juniors and Pictures Conditions In City Schools.

The Sunday night bag lunches will only be a memory if the movement already voted upon unanimously by the junior and senior classes is concluded successfully.

At a meeting Tuesday the senior class voted to give the bag lunches each Sunday night for the remainder of the school year to help feed the poor children of Raleigh. The junior class, at a meeting Wednesday, voted to do likewise.

Mrs. Gordon Smith, chairman of the welfare work in Raleigh, spoke at the junior class meeting, explaining that many school children in Raleigh were on the verge of starvation, and that only through the work of charity were they given one meal a day. Their parents, it was explained, had been unemployed because of the mills closing down.

Later in the week slips will be passed around in the dining hall, and students wishing to give up their lunches will be asked to vote upon it. If the students eating in the dining hall vote to do this unanimously, the money heretofore expended upon the Sunday night bag lunches will be given to the charity organization that is doing the work among the school children. With this money food will be bought.

Mack Stout spoke before the junior class meeting, telling of conditions in which many of the children were. Food, he declared, was needed, and needed very badly, by the children. He had previously made a visit to the school where the children had received their one meal per day. In many instances, he said, this was the only meal that they received. Calling attention to the vote of the senior—Continued on page 5.

STATE ALUMNUS WINS TRIP NEW ORLEANS MARDI GRAS

"Red" Carr Is Awarded Trip and Given Membership In Honor Club

H. J. "Red" Carr, '28, now special agent for the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company, is one of the three men in the Raleigh office who have been awarded a trip to New Orleans for a meeting of the company's annual gathering of the "$150,000 Club." "Red" sold over double the amount necessary to get membership in the club, his total sales for 1930 running over $300,000.

He will leave here tomorrow and will not return until late next week. The club is to be in session in New Orleans on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, February 16, 17, and 18, the time of the Mardi Gras festival.

COL. HARRELSON IS FIRST TO ENDORSE OWEN MEMORIAL

Col. J. W. Harrelson is the first to endorse and contribute to the "Owen Memorial," which is to be a hand painting of the former alumni secretary. He donated $5.

The painting will cost approximately $200 and L. Polk Denmark, alumni secretary, urges faculty members to mail cash or pledge as soon as possible so the order may be placed for the picture.

Red Terrors Play Davidson Cagers Here Friday Nite

The State College basketball team plays its second Big Five basketball game of the week tonight when it meets the Davidson Wildcats in the Frank Thompson gymnasium.

The varsity game will follow a meeting of the freshman clubs at seven o'clock.

In their first meeting this year, Davidson won over State, the game being played in Charlotte and was the first of five court tilts that State lost on a road trip.

Coach Ray Sermon worked the Terrors late here Wednesday and Thursday afternoon for the conflict with the Wildcats.

Following the game with Davidson, State will have one more home game this year. That game is with V. M. I. at Raleigh, next Friday night, February 20.

V. M. I. Cage Game Will End Playing For Red Terrors

The State College basketball team will play V. M. I. in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium Friday night, February 20, according to an announcement made by Dr. R. R. Sermon, athletic director.

It has been stated that State's 1931 card would be closed Friday night when the Terrors play Davidson in Raleigh, but since that statement, the game with V. M. I. has been scheduled. Following the engagement with the Virginians, State will enter the Southern Conference Tournament in Atlanta, Ga., February 27, 28, and March 2, and 3.

A boxing match with Presbyterian College was also added to the sport calendar at State this week. This match will be staged in Raleigh, Saturday night, February 21. The freshman punchers of State and Carolina will also fight that night, this meeting of first-year men being changed from February 23 to February 21.

Duke University School of Medicine DURHAM, N. C.

On October 1, 1931, carefully selected first- and third-year students will be admitted. Applications may be sent at any time, and will be considered in the order of receipt. Catalogues and application forms may be obtained from the Dean.

Terrors Win From Duke Team; Lose To Wake Forest Cagers

In Wake Forest Battle State Ties Deacons, But Pistol Closes Fray 20 to 19—Clark and Rose Feature Terrors' Fight—Duke Defeated By Sermonites for Second Time, Score 26-23.

By RUSSELL EVANS

The Devils dared and the Terrors took! Well might this be taken literally in the N. C. State-Duke basketball game of last Saturday night which saw those fighting State College hardwood warriors take a thrilling game on the Duke University court before one of the largest and most enthusiastic crowds of the '31 Big Five season. The final count stood: N. C. State, 26; Duke, 23.

By taking this game, the Red Terrors jumped into a tie with the Davidson Wildcats for leadership in Big Five competition. Prior to Tuesday night's game with Wake Forest, which the Terrors dropped by the close score of 20-19, Doc Sermon's proteges were holding the favorite position for State championship honors, since they had played twice as many games as their tied opponent, Davidson. Davidson had played three times, losing one and winning a couple, while the State quint had won four out of six.

Doc Sermon put a smoothly running machine on the court against the Blue Devils in the Saturday game. He exhibited a team well drilled in teamwork, passing, and sharpshooting. Too late did the Devils realize what they were up against; and 'twas not until the end of the first half that the home team grasped the significance of the score, which showed State leading by seventeen to six.

State's margin of victory was lined off by this early attack, plus the ability to check a Duke second-half rally which brought the Devils within five points of leadership, with but twelve minutes to go. A sudden burst of speed on the part of the visiting outfit definitely pushed them to the front. State rung up the hoop for five markers, which left the Duke lads too far behind to even hope for a catch-up.

Soph Johnson, that darting State sharpshooter, left his guard in a haze and slipped the ball through the ropes five times from the field and once from the free throw line. Johnson's eleven points crowned him with scoring honors of the game. Nor did Morgan or Rose stand flat-footed. Besides doing his share in the little circle, Morgan did effective basket work by connecting for six points. Bud Rose saw to it that Duke's snipers had a hard road to travel on their journey to the basket. Bud made

State Boxers Lose To South Carolina By 4-to-3 Decision

State's varsity punchers and the South Carolina Gamecocks had a big time down in Columbia last Saturday night. The field house was filled with plenty of hard socks, knock-downs, knockouts, and harmonious crowning, with the South Carolina boys having the edge by a verdict of 4 to 3.

"Red" Espey, State's football center and star heavyweight, won his fourth college bout in as many matches, scoring a knockout over Urquhart in the second round.

The summary follows:
Bantamweight: Karig, 118, North Carolina State, won a technical knockout over Rogers, 118, South Carolina, one round.
Featherweight: Brailsford, 128½, South Carolina, won judges' decision over McGee, 135, North Carolina State, three rounds.

Lightweight: Watts, 138, South Carolina, won a technical knockout over Guthrie, 135, North Carolina State, first round.
Welterweight: Bowers, State, won T. K. O. over Green in third round.
Middleweight: Callahan, 162, South Carolina, won a judges' decision over Hinson, 162, North Carolina State, four rounds.

Light heavyweight: McCravy, 162, South Carolina, won judges' decision over Gardner, 162, North Carolina State, three rounds.
Unlimited: Espey, 175, North Carolina State, won a technical knockout over Urquhart, 175, South Carolina, second round.
Referee: Dean Briggs; Judges: Bob Thackman and D'Mars.

Varsity Boxers Leave Saturday To Meet Citadel

The State College varsity boxing team will leave tomorrow morning for Charleston, S. C., where they meet the Citadel team that night.

This is the second trip for the State punchers into South Carolina during the last eight days. Last Saturday they boxed South Carolina at Columbia, losing the match to the Gamecocks by a 4-3 score.

Lieut. C. H. Elmes was undecided last night as to who he would use in the 135-pound class. Either Guthrie or Greenhaigh will get the call. Guthrie fought at South Carolina and lost on a decision. Greenhaigh was used for the first time in the Duke fight and lost on a technical knockout in the second round, when he hurt his arm.

Capt. Sam DiMeo could not make the 145-pound weight at Columbia, but Bowers substituted and fought a great fight to win on a decision after having been floored twice in the first round. Should Bowers fight in this weight again, DiMeo may be sent back to the 160, which is now occupied by Carl Hinson.

Karig will be used in the 115 and McGhee at the 125 for a certainty. Robin Gardner looks best in the 175 and Red Espey will be seeking his fifth straight win in the unlimited.

Virginia Matmen Win Over State 19 to 9

Virginia Poly wrestlers scored two falls and three time decisions to defeat Coach Hicks' varsity there last Saturday night, 19-9.

Captain Eason, Smithwick, and Laney were the big guns for the Techmen.

Summary
115 pounds: Captain Eason, State, defeated Price by time advantage of 2:27.

125 pounds: Graves, Tech, defeated Bazemore by fall in 6:25.

135 pounds: Mitchell, Tech, defeated Oakley by time advantage of 4:23.

145 pounds: Smithwick, State, defeated Munday, time advantage of 4:23.

165 pounds: Leonard, Tech, defeated Sutton by time advantage of 1:55.

175 pounds: Laney, State, defeated Cecil, time advantage 8:37.

Unlimited: Gibbs, Tech, defeated Clavenger, fall, in 8:32.

AGAIN!

William "Red" Espey won his fourth straight boxing match Saturday night, at Columbia, when he won a technical knockout over Urquhart, of South Carolina, in the second round. Espey's other wins have been over Faulkner of Washington and Lee and Don Hyatt of Duke. State was defeated 4 to 3 by the Gamecocks last Saturday night at Columbia.

February 14, the Tech punchers go to Charleston to fight the strong Citadel team on St. Valentine's night.

trustees or a similar board before it can be worth anything to him. Research work in engineering must be put before the people. Students entering the engineering sales field must be able to present themselves before city councils and boards of trustees, and in order to be successful in their endeavors must be able to express themselves and deliver the goods in a very acceptable manner.

"Lack of a proper cultural background is one of the greatest drawbacks of many American engineers today," he declared. "Too many of our engineers fail to attain their full measure of success because they do not know how to express themselves before an audience or in writing."

In addition to being prominently connected with several railway and mechanical engineering societies, Mr. Wright has served as associate editor of the American Engineer and Railroad Journal, and as mechanical department editor of the Railway Age, a publication of which he is now managing editor.

It has been reported that important helium supplies, sufficient to offer some competition to American sources of the gas which is used for the inflation of dirigibles, has been found in the Belgian Congo.

SPORT SCHEDULE

State's sport schedule for next week includes one basketball game, fourteen rounds of boxing, and two wrestling matches.

Friday night, February 20, the Red Terrors play V. M. I. in basketball in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium. Saturday night the varsity boxing team of Presbyterian College comes here for a match with State. The yearling teams of State and Carolina will also fight on the same card.

The two wrestling matches are scheduled for Monday and Friday afternoons, both freshmen. The Monday match is with Duke freshmen, at Raleigh, and Friday the yearlings go to Bragtown to meet the Bragtown High School team.

State and Wake Faculty Prepare To Meet In Golf

Prof. A. H. Grimshaw is now completing arrangements for a golf match with the faculty of Wake Forest College.

Arrangements so far made include a match to be played at the Raleigh Golf Association on tomorrow afternoon, and a return match to be played at Wake Forest next week. Each team is to be composed of fifteen men.

The team will be picked and consists of fifteen of the men mentioned who are getting the lowest scores. Professor Grimshaw said he would like to have all of these men on hand next Saturday for fear that all of the first team might not be able to be present.

Professor Grimshaw also announces that the students of State College are now anxious to play their faculty, and have issued a challenge for a match.

Baseball Games Will Be Played Freshman Field

Baseball games at State College this spring will be played on freshman field instead of Riddick Field, Chick Doak, baseball coach, said today.

The reason for the change is due to the huge light poles on Riddick Field which are used for night football practice. The poles and lights were erected last fall for night football games, but only one contest was staged "after dark."

Bleachers with a seating capacity of 1,800 are expected to be ready for the first game with Maryland on April 3.

BABY DEACONS WIN OVER TECH FRESHMEN

Wake Forest Frosh Score 25 Points in Second Half for 32-21 Victory

Wake Forest freshman cagers dropped in 25 points in the second half Tuesday night to defeat the State College yearlings 32 to 21. The Baby Deacons trailed 14-7 for the first half, but in the second half it was quite a different story. The game was a preliminary to a varsity clash between the schools in Frank Thompson gymnasium here.

In second-half play State's lead soon was at 18-9, but here the Baby Deacs started a spurt which jumped them to the top end of a 23-18 score before the Techlets counted again. The rest of the way the Techlets got only three points while the victors added nine.

Brown, Techlet forward, and Holding, Baby Deac guard, came close to swapping blows twice during the second-half battling.

Mulheim and Malloy, forwards, led the Baby Deacs, while Jay, Techlet center, caged 12 points for high honors of the game.

Michigan Students To Vacate Frat Houses As Result of Raids

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Students of five prominent fraternities of the University of Michigan Campus were preparing to vacate the houses today, under an edict of the University Student Affairs Committees which ordered the houses closed until September 1 because liquor was found in them.

The fraternities affected are Theta Delta Chi, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Not only must the houses remain closed for the rest of the present school year, but the fraternities will be on "social probation" during the 1931-32 school year, and thus prohibited from holding social functions.

The university committee warned the national officers of the five fraternities that a recurrence of the offense would result in cancellation of their charters at Ann Arbor.

The 79 students booked by the police after the raids must still make their peace with the law, but that settlement is to be deferred. The hearing set for today in Justice Court will be continued for two weeks, County Prosecutor Alber Rapp said.

DATES

Directing a show is no set-up, according to Blain Chapman and "Tubby" Hanks, who have charge of "Disciland Minstrels." The youthful directors had plenty of trouble selecting a date.

This is what they did: First, they scheduled the minstrel show to come off Friday night, February 12. Investigation showed that the Red Terrors were scheduled to meet Davidson here on that date.

The date was switched from Friday to Tuesday, February 17, but this date was knocked out by a debate.

Then they switched to Friday, February 20. A few minutes after they decided on that date Dr. Sermon announced a special basketball game with V. M. I., which would be played then.

The date was moved back to Thursday, February 19, and they say they intend to hold on to this date regardless.

University Announces Fifteen Scholarships

Fellowships valued at more than $18,000 and a number of scholarships and other appointments for the academic year 1931-32 were announced today by Dr. W. W. Pierson, dean of the graduate school at the University of North Carolina.

Applications must be filed with the dean not later than March 15, it was stated.

Twenty-six teaching fellowships, carrying free tuition and $500, making them worth approximately $600 each, are to be awarded to graduate students. The recipients will be expected to devote part of their time to instruction or other prescribed work.

A limited number of appointments with a stipend of from $500 to $800 and free tuition will also be available to graduate students, who may be required to give half of their time to instruction in the department to which they are assigned.

Scholarships with free tuition are to be awarded 15 men or women in the graduate school.

The Ledoux Fellowship of $300 and free tuition for research in chemistry, and the two Graham Kean fellowships in philosophy, with a stipend of $700 and free tuition, are likewise available to both men and women in the graduate school.

Through the Institute for Research in Social Science there will be from eight to twelve appointments available, carrying an allowance of $1,500 annually for the expenses of students who will devote their full time to research.

LOCAL FACULTY MEMBERS INVITED TO CONFERENCE

Dean I. O. Schaub and Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, of State College, have been invited to the White House Conference to be held February 19-21.

Dr. Albert Smedes Root, of Raleigh, noted baby specialist and instructor in pediatrics at Duke University, is a member of the committee on pediatrics of the medical section of the conference.

A permanent training school for Texas firemen to be conducted at the A. and M. College of Texas, is contemplated in a bill just introduced in the State legislature by Senator C. S. Gainer.

Averette's Fate Is Baseball Submerged In Technicalities

R. R. Sermon, Director of Athletics Here, Contends Co-Captain-eligible For Mound Duty—Records In Office of John H. Farrell Show Him Ineligible Because of Signing With Rochester Club—Question Hinges Around Date of Signing—If It Was In September, 1929, Averette Can Play—If In January, 1930, He Is Ineligible According To The Southern Conference Rules.

The baseball status of Bill Averette, State pitcher and co-captain of the 1931 team, is still dangling, with Dr. R. R. Sermon contending that he is still eligible, and records of John H. Farrell, secretary of the minors, declaring him, along with two other Big Five captains, ineligible.

Dr. Sermon stated that Averette signed with the Rochester team—a farm of the St. Louis Cardinals—in September, 1929, and that the youth did not receive any money for signing. At that time the Conference rule covering this matter termed ineligible any athlete "receiving money for signing a contract with a professional baseball team." In December of 1929 the rule was tightened so that a collegian loses eligibility if he signs "a contract or enters into any agreement, explicit or implicit, with a professional club." In this second "nailing the matter of money plays no part."

Averette's signing with the Cardinals, Dr. Sermon said, came before the ruling barring an athlete merely for signing a contract. Since he did not receive any money, Dr. Sermon continued, he is eligible. He continued that the question of Averette's eligibility was taken up with him prior to the last baseball season and that at that time the college authorities found Averette had not violated any Southern Conference ruling.

A news story in a local paper Wednesday stated that the records in the office of the secretary of the minor league showed that Averette signed a contract with Rochester January 18, 1930.

Dr. Sermon Tuesday said that Averette had signed with Rochester in September, 1929, and that Bill had received no money for signing. At that time the Conference rule forbade the signing of a contract for money. Then the rule was made more rigid in December.

The whole question rests on the date of the signing. If Dr. Sermon is right then Averette will be able to play for State; if he is wrong and John H. Farrell right, then State will have to look for another pitcher.

Students Have Parley On How To Run a College

The dream of every college student—to be able to turn out the college administration, and run the campus himself—was given varied expression in Missouri recently when the students of Central College, in a Sunday meeting, discussed thoroughly the question: "How a College Student Would Run a College."

Faculty members were given a special invitation to be present, but as yet there have been no radical changes in the college policies.

Have More To Do Than Write, Says Prof. Erskine

"Few good novels are produced by writers under the age of 40," Prof. John Erskine, author and president of the Julliard Music Foundation in New York, said in an interview here. "I don't want to discourage young writers, but too often they are sucked dry by their first success. Then they go into retreat in a closet with books and we hear no more of them."

Erskine advises that every author have a lot to do besides writing. "Other work would furnish the writer material to write about," he said.

In writing a novel, Erskine rarely writes more than an hour a day. Usually he puts down only 300 words, which is about a page of print, he said.

This is his program in constructing a novel: a first draft with no revisions, after six months spent collecting data, then critical revision, and finally rewriting often two or three times.

Erskine is a tall easy-mannered man with a heavy but pleasing voice. He doesn't care to talk about his writings with most people, he said, because they try to be complimentary, and to "play-up to a successful author."

Erskine is on leave from Columbia University, where he taught English. He is striving to "make America as much a music loving country as Germany." He dreams of seeing the majority of American schoolboys pianists and most of the aldermen acquainted with the organ, and the white county as versed in music as it is in baseball.

Schaub Asks For Schools' Support In Live-At-Home

Over 100,000 farm food supply and feed budget sheets were mailed today by the State College Extension Service to 750 rural high school principals for use in presenting "Live-at-Home" program to school children in North Carolina from the seventh to the eleventh grades during the coming week, designated by Gov. O. Max Gardner as "Live-at-Home Week." This cooperation with the school officials of the State is only a small part of the follow-up work of the extension service in the "Live-at-Home" program, which began on January 6 with the holding of meetings by farm and home demonstration agents and district agents and district agents in practically every county in the State, according to Dean I. O. Schaub, director.

The part which the schools will play in the "Live-at-Home" program this coming week and the need for complete cooperation by all extension workers was stressed by Dean Schaub at a conference at State College yesterday. Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, assistant director in charge of home demonstration work, emphasized the necessity of explaining the "Farm to Make a Living in 1931" slogan to all school children. The conference was held in conjunction with the regular monthly meeting of all workers under Mrs. McKimmon's direction, including home agents and women specialists, with several district farm agents also in attendance.

The farm food supply and feed budget will be explained to the children by county extension workers. The sheets will then be filled in. One school in each county will receive two sheets for each pupil, so that the duplicates can be returned to Dean Schaub's office. This will give the extension service a cross-section of the food and feed requirements of typical rural communities in each county in the State, together with facts on deficiencies and surpluses.

Expect Big Results

Dean Schaub and Mrs. McKimmon both expressed the opinion that the follow-up plans this year would more closely coordinate the work of the farm and home agents, together with district agents. They felt that the work to be done in the schools this coming week would bring big results, as it is believed that farmers generally would more closely follow recommendations this year than ever before, especially through the medium of their children. Extension workers will continue throughout the year to call attention to shortages in food and feed crops and the advisability of producing more food and feed where it is profitable to increase the acreage of such deficient crops.

The need of keeping exact cost records will be stressed also as one of the most desirable features of the present "Live-at-Home" movement. Wherever possible, curb by improving present markets and by organizing additional markets in communities not already served by such facilities. This work will be done by home-demonstration workers with the cooperation of all other workers. Extension workers in the eastern part of the State will pay special attention to the growing problem of tenancy and unemployment. The holding of "Live-at-Home" dinners, either county-wide or otherwise, was discussed by those at the conference. Due to the success which marked the holding of these dinners last year, many counties will repeat this year, it is believed.

Drought relief work in the State came in for some comment, when the necessity of cooperation by farm and home agents in the proper distribution of such funds was pointed out. The fact that 300 persons were being fed in Stokes County through the American Red Cross and the sending of $1,300 to Vance County for similar relief by the Red Cross were mentioned as examples of work, wherein extension workers could lend needed assistance.

Sympathy For Hoover Is Voiced by Al Smith

The man who failed to get to the White House in 1928 feels sorry for its present occupant.

Alfred E. Smith told the Advertising Club of New York:

"I feel sorry for the president. He sits on top of Capitol Hill, holding the bag."

The expression of sympathy came after a discussion of the Wickersham report and the Eighteenth Amendment in which the former governor declared he felt certain the Eighteenth Amendment would be defeated if it would come up for ratification at present.

Of the Wickersham Commission's report, he said, "It did one good thing; it was at least unanimous in finding that the thing is not right."

"The wets have the liquor and the drys have the law under the present conditions," he said.

Semper idem

"ALWAYS THE SAME" . . . a good slogan for any one of a thousand advertised articles whose superior qualities are maintained year in and year out.

Have you ever stopped to consider the time, patience, skill, money, and experience invested in every one of the articles you see advertised in this newspaper? No matter what it may be—a lead pencil or a cigarette—the problems of maintaining and improving quality are constantly in the minds of those responsible for their manufacture. Quality must be maintained at all hazards. Quality must be bettered wherever and whenever possible. Price must be kept at a level that will insure the utmost in value.

Advertised goods must, and do, live up to their advertising. "Semper idem"—always the same. They cannot afford to vary in the least.

Trust advertised goods. Buy them regularly. Read advertising to learn what is new. Read it to know what others are buying. Read it to ascertain how you can save money and yet get better merchandise.

Read the advertisements . . . they stand for quality merchandise . . . semper idem

MAKE THE VOTE UNANIMOUS

If the movement started to give the Sunday bag lunches to the poor children of the city is voted for unanimously, as it will have to be in order to accomplish the aim, State College and State College students will have at last aroused themselves to the condition of their less fortunate brothers.

State students, although by no means wealthy, or even well-to-do, live in luxury as compared to the plight of many children and grown-ups of the city. Poor housing conditions, scarcity of food, and little or no warm clothing make the lives of many poor people of Raleigh miserable. Unemployment is said to be the cause, and only through employment—and steady employment—can this condition be remedied with a permanent effect. But in the meantime, while the country and the world are gradually throwing off the heavy hand of depression, relief measures, like the one supported so admirably by many State students, will go far toward putting an end to, or at least relieving, the suffering caused by lack of food.

But suffering from the lack of food is not the only type of suffering that the poor undergo. Many grown-ups of the city, living in the unemployed mill districts, are suffering from the cold—and warm clothing, the pants that you throw away or the shoes you discard, would be a positive luxury to many of these unfortunate. When you give up your Sunday bag lunch, think also about retrieving some old clothing from your closet and give this, too.

The I. R. C. is attempting to collect clothing for this purpose, and it is only through your aid and your cooperation that its efforts, or the efforts of any other group, can be successful.

THROUGH THE TRANSOM

By DICK YATES

Tennis—the Victim

If, by some action of the powers that be, the funds appropriated to the Engineering School were suddenly withdrawn and given to the Business School, a howl of mortal terror would be raised that would rock the entire State. Of course, nothing like that will be done—the idea is admittedly absurd. Yet, something on a smaller scale, as truly unfair and discriminating, has been done on the campus for the past few years, and, from all indications, that practice will be continued.

I refer to the disgraceful condition in which the sport of tennis now wallows.

Whether tennis, as a minor sport at State College, was ever given a decent appropriation, I don't know. But that it was at one time supported, at least to a small extent, is evidenced by the presence, or, more strictly speaking, the sight, of tennis courts.

If appropriations have ever been given this sport, they most assuredly have been removed, as well as any moral support that may at one time have been given by the athletic officials.

Due to this withholding of funds, tennis as a college sport has descended to the ridiculous. A member of the faculty, competent to train a tennis team, has, for a long time, attempted to make a creditable showing, but due to the lack of financial support from the college, he has at last given up all attempts, realizing that athletic officials, apparently, care little for the matter.

Naturally, the old bugaboo of a poor financial condition has been given an excuse. But one has only to point to the useless floodlights on Riddick Field to dispel this reason. That the noble sport of football can, and does, receive financial support to the detriment of practically every other sport has been shown time after time. The announcement that baseball would no longer be played on the football field shows conclusively that what I am saying is founded upon proof.

State College must, it seems, have a wonderful football team that will put to shame the efforts of all rivals. Everything that will contribute to this end is being put forth. Failure to achieve this ambition will, in the eyes of alumni and many college students, be a disgrace to the college.

If by taking the money that could be used for the support of tennis and adding it to football appropriations, a good team will result, alumni will sit back contented and the students will cheer as they have never cheered before. This practice of robbing the minor sports is, therefore, not to be blamed altogether upon athletic officials.

I have no proof that there are more State students who play tennis than there are who play football. But I am convinced that if the courts were upgraded into some semblance of smoothness, the students playing tennis would far outnumber those playing the noble and many game of football. And this number, I am convinced, would grow larger as the years passed and courts were added and improved.

If college sports are for the benefit of those who participate, as I have been led to believe, then the act of athletic officials in withdrawing support from minor sports descends to the depths of hypocrisy. And tinging their action with a bit of hypocrisy, those eminent gentlemen will do well to cross their fingers and put their tongues in their cheeks.

COMMENTS From Other Colleges

At last some of the schools are recognizing that a certain subject should be taught in class instead of by the movies. Rollins College is giving a subject which allows five credits toward the diploma. Is it possible to flunk a new course? It hardly seems so. The new subject is "The Art of Making Love." It looks as if the students might be eager to catch the "leak," but when it comes to handing a written report to the "prof."—well, maybe he is not so dumb.

Clemson College is under quarantine! However, it is not on account of the "flu," but something far more serious. The disease for which the institution is under restriction is spinal meningitis.

Did you know? Over one-third of the 64 lawyers licensed in the State last week call Wake Forest their alma mater. . . . N. C. C. W. is the largest female college in the South and the third largest in the nation.

Prom decorations stolen! Decorations valued at $150.00 were stolen at the University of Utah, according to The Utah Chronicle. A check-up after the annual student social season revealed these strange facts. The placards and emblems of the fraternities were stolen or destroyed and other articles which were used to decorate the buildings. Let's hope "Dixieland Minstrels" will be immune to this fate.

Montana State College co-eds are refusing to attend classes until the new rule stating that they must be in by eleven o'clock on week-ends is repealed. The old rule allowed them the pleasure of bringing the milk at two-thirty. We wonder why the boys don't kick!

One campaign promise, dormitory telephones, is being fulfilled. How about window screens, a new stadium, carpeted floors, new door locks, more night watchmen, and all the other things promised by candidates last spring?

We can't see why they call this "Carolina Cow College" when the engineers and "bookkeepers" schools on the campus put the "Ag" students in third place.

SPORTSMANSHIP

As defined in the dictionary, this word means whatever is characteristic of a sportsman. Sportsman: one who in sports is fair and generous; a good loser and a graceful winner.

The writer of this appeal has seen many evidences of State College sportsmanship. It is almost zero—minus zero, in fact.

Silence at basketball games, in the writer's mind, is an excellent manner in which we show our sportsmanship—and how we have shown it! If we follow the path that we are in now we will become, if we aren't already, the poorest sportsmen in the State.

There is no excuse whatsoever for students to boo an official in the inexcusable manner that State College students (so called) did in the Wake Forest-Freshman game Tuesday night. The officials have been in the game long enough to know what they are doing. It is for them to make decisions, not us.

We cannot see every play which takes place during a game; our place is to observe the game and remain silent. Why can't State College students do that? Because they aren't made of the stuff that sportsmen are.

Theta Tau Will Give Founders' Day Banquet

The local chapter of Theta Tau, National Professional Engineering Fraternity, will hold its annual Founders' Day Banquet at the Capital Club, Monday, February 16. Each year the banquet is regarded by the members of the fraternity as one of the major activities of the chapter.

Invited guests of honor include: Dr. W. C. Riddick, Dean of Engineering; Harry Tucker, honorary member of Rho Chapter; Major L. McD. Silvester, P. M. S. & T.; Col. J. W. Harnelson, charter member of Rho Chapter; Donald D. Curtis, of Clemson College, Grand Marshal of Theta Tau; Fred Coffman, of Duke University, Grand Vice Regent of Theta Tau; and John "Clipper" Smith, newly elected head coach of the Wolfpack.

Charles B. Turner, Jr., president of Rho Chapter, will assume the role of toastmaster, assisted by Johnnie Coghegan. Long-winded speeches will not be in order.

Bill Introduced in Legislature To Merge 3 State Institutions

State at large. This commission will be charged with the following duties:

"1. To work out a scheme to bring about the unification of the executive control of the University of North Carolina, North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, and the North Carolina College for Women, so that each of the said institutions may best serve the needs of the people.

"2. To unify and coordinate the general educational program of the University of North Carolina, herein created and established.

"3. To work out a scheme in which and through which all the problems arising from the consolidation of the three existing institutions into a new University of North Carolina may, in their opinion, be best solved."

The bill was referred to the Committee on Reorganization of State Government.

Until the merger into the new University of North Carolina, the three institutions will continue to operate separately. Each of them, however, will be governed by the consolidated board of trustees authorized by the bill.

After the ratification of the act all degrees conferred by the University of North Carolina shall be conferred by the board of trustees of the University of North Carolina upon recommendation of the faculty of its component parts. The diploma, however, shall specify which institution the graduate attended.

Within a year after the passage of the act the new university may, upon request, award diplomas ex legis to the living graduates of any of the three institutions, or post-mortem upon application of next of kin of deceased graduates.

MARCHING with modern industry to World-Power

In the great new power plant that serves the city of Buenos Aires, Crane valves and fittings are found in use. In the paper mills of Ontario and the water power developments of Niagara Falls, engineers swear by them. Camels carry them into the depths of the Abyssinian Desert and dog sledges into the wilds of Canada.

The quality of Crane piping materials has won them a world-wide demand. The globe-girdling Crane distributing organization has placed them within easy reach of power and industrial builders everywhere.

Naturally, this distributing organization is most complete and efficient in the United States. In this country are factories in five cities manufacturing industrial piping materials; branches and sales offices in 160 cities; warehouses in close proximity to every important industrial center. All these facilities are keyed to receive orders for quickly needed materials and have them on the spot with no loss of time.

No matter where you take up your career after you leave school, you will find need for piping materials from the complete Crane line, and a Crane office nearby to make it easy for you to get them.

has been called one of the most realistic actors on either stage or screen. He credits this reputation to the fact that he carefully studies people in real life who actually live the part he is to play. Before appearing in "The Criminal Code" Huston spent a great deal of time observing courtroom and prison scenes. In this picture he plays the part of Warden Brady, who is a virile, impartial arbiter of the destinies of the prisoners he has in charge. Huston thinks it is one of the most interesting of the many roles he has played.

There is a good scenic and Pathe Sound News to complete the program.

"Beau Ideal," thrilling sequel to "Beau Geste," drama of the Moroccan desert, opens at the Palace Theatre Thursday for a three-day run. Herbert Brenon, who directed "Beau Geste," is said to have achieved another dramatic victory in its sequel.

Ralph Forbes, who was started on the road to stardom when he was discovered by Herbert Brenon and given the role of John Geste in "Beau Geste," plays the same character role in "Beau Ideal." Another "discovery" is seen in this sequel in the person of Lester Vail, a newcomer whose screen success seems assured by the splendid performance he gives in his first film.

Others in the excellent cast include: Loretta Young, Irene Rich, Don Alvarado, Leni Stengel, Otto Matieson, and others.

Chester Conklin's new comedy, "Studio Sap," and Pathe Sound News complete a good program.

One of the most sensational successes the stage world has known becomes a talking picture in "The Easiest Way," which will be the feature attraction at the State Theatre next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

"The Easiest Way" presents as its star the deft and beautiful Constance Bennett of "Common Clay" and "Sin Takes a Holiday." Jack Conway, director of "New Moon," handled the microphone in a highly capable manner.

Adolph Menjou's "Brocton" is a particularly splendid picture of a man of the world. "Brocton" is not painted as a black villain. He is just human. The part is a difficult one and we doubt if any other actor could have handled it as well.

Other features on the program will be a comedy act, "Don't Bite Your Dentist," Ted Lewis and His Band in "The Happiness Remedy," and a Paramount Sound News.

"The Devil To Pay" is the type story one would expect from Lonsdale. The situations are clever, lightly sophisticated. The dialogue is sharp, witty, zestful, abounding in good humor. In every way it is a screen play to reveal brilliantly the talents of Ronald Colman. For in "The Devil To Pay" Colman is a reckless, modern hero who spends his father's money with a lavish hand, doing it in such a pleasant manner that the querulous old gentleman forgives his debonair son even after planning to turn him out of the house.

Seen in support of Ronald Colman are two attractive young actresses, Loretta Young and Myrna Loy, who in "The Devil To Pay" contribute excellent performances. Others in the cast whose work deserves mention are Frederick Kerr, Paul Cavanaugh, and David Torrence.

George Fitzmaurice, who directed Ronald Colman in his recent success, "Raffles," directed "The Devil To Pay."

"The Devil To Pay" will be pre-

Teacher who allowed some of the students to entertain the class with funny stories.

frequent basketward trips and counted five points as a result.

Sam Curnean again stepped into his own against the Devils by giving an excellent floor exhibition. Big Chief, although not figuring greatly in direct scoring, proved time and time again that teamwork was necessary for successful basketball. Sam was the main cog in State's offense, since his lightning passes gave the Terror forwards many crisp shots.

Clark, of the State five, split his hand in the early part of the game when he struck it on the backboard as he leaped into the air for the ball. He resumed play, however, after the hand had been bandaged, and proved that his injured hand had not affected his shooting eye when he bagged an action goal to end first-half scoring.

Joe Croson did the most effective plugging for the Duke aggregation. Croson totaled nine points, while his teammate, Rogers, counted six points from a forward post.

Overconfidence probably spelled the downfall of the State College basketball quint in last Tuesday night's battle with the Wake Forest Deacons, who snatched a 20-19 victory in the game played in Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

The Red Terrors got off to a slow start, and at the half the teams were locked at 12-all. Second-half play was marred by the many fumbles of the State players. Breaks seemed to be with the visitors, and the Deacons took advantage of all possible breaks. The ball seemed to dislike the State basket, since many of the State attempts at baskets would roll around the rim of the basket and drop off the sides.

In spite of the slow start, the State quint put up a real fight the whole way, and the winner was determined only by the final gun. Rose broke the 12-12 deadlock by a beautiful shot from beneath the basket. Rose's left-handed shot, made while he was running at full speed under the basket, resulted in his landing on the floor. This single play was one of the best plays that State pulled during the entire game.

Johnson copped scoring honors for the losers with three field goals and two foul goals. Rose was next in line for scoring laurels with six points, while Gammon tallied with four points.

Clark and Rose played their usual heads-up games at the guard posts, and made things exceedingly warm for Wake's sharpshooters. Both guards gave good dribbling and passing exhibitions.

Barnes was high scorer for the Wake Forest boys, while Joyner matched Barnes 13 points with four.

by a whistle is not his idea of "getting the most out of college." He believes that a student must take part in outside activities to enjoy his education.

Part of Lawrence's $3,065 came from playing "doctor" to flu victims in the State College Infirmary where he has been a part-time employe. He sold magazines, fired furnaces, worked in the college dining hall, and as a shoe salesman to accumulate one of the largest "student fortunes" ever to be made at State.

In addition to being a good business man, Lawrence has not neglected his studies. He was recently taken into Alpha Zeta Honorary Fraternity composed of Agricultural students. This fraternity is for students engaged in agricultural work or study and who have shown leadership and have a good scholarship record.

SLICKERS

This is the height of freshman dumbness. This story was told by Freshman R. L. Smith. Plebes L. Brunnal and Adams were bumming their way to Franklin. When one of their rides ended it happened to be in a lonely spot on the road, so they hung their brand new slickers on a post and then sat down and waited for another ride. Soon a man came by and picked them up. They were so excited on getting their ride that they rode merrily off leaving their slickers hanging on the fence-post.

NEGATIVE DEBATERS WIN FROM VIRGINIA TEACHERS

Upset Young Ladies' Record of Ten Wins and No Losses Last Friday

The State College Negative Debate team upset a perfect record of ten straight wins and no losses for the young women of the Virginia State Teachers' College Friday night in Pullen Hall when they defeated them by a two-to-one judges' decision.

The two fair opponents, including their coach and assistant dean, fame to State boosting an excellent record of ten wins in as many contests; having won their tenth from Wake Forest Thursday night. It was the consensus of the judges that if the young ladies had been able to present their arguments as forcefully and as tactfully as the State College debaters, they would have won the decision here.

The debate topic was Kappa Delta question: "Resolved, That the world should adopt a policy of Free Trade." Both State and the Virginia institution are members of Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary forensic fraternity. Miss Elizabeth Johnson, of Portsmouth, Va., sophomore, and Mable Barksdale of Stuart, Va., represented the Teachers College and upheld the affirmative side of the debate. State College was represented by Dwight Stokes, Junior in Mechanical Engineering, and Milbourne Amos, senior in Textiles. They defended the negative side of the question.

Misses Johnson and Barksdale argued that high tariffs increase the cost of living, that tariffs are unjust, that employment cannot be increased by restricting trade, that mass production needs no protection, and that even with free trade, American manufacturers can undersell European manufacturers. The negative team, composed of Amos and Stokes, defended their position by arguing that workers benefit from a protective tariff, that free trade would demoralize American business, that industries have grown up under protection, and that free trade would tear up the roots of the economic structure in this country and would result in a business chaos.

The judges for the debate were: William J. Andrews, retired Raleigh business man; Clem B. Holding, local attorney; and Wade H. Lucas, city editor of the Raleigh Times.

PULLEN SOCIETY VOTES TO APPROVE ROAD BILL

Members of Pullen Literary Society passed a resolution Friday evening at their regular meeting, in the Y. M. C. A., favoring a bill before the present State Legislature to the effect that, "The State of North Carolina should assume complete control over the construction, supervision, and maintenance of all county roads within the State."

The passing of the resolution followed a discussion of the subject in the form of a debate, by four members of the society, W. E. Vinson, junior in Electrical Engineering, and E. M. Hall, Jr., Senior Business Ad., upheld the affirmative side of the question by voicing their opinion in favor of the "Gardner Plan" for the supervision of county roads.

STATE ECONOMICS PROFS. ATTEND MEET IN DURHAM

A meeting of the professors of economics and allied subjects was held Wednesday night, February 11, 1931, at Duke University so that a closer relationship among the economics professors of the various schools of the State might be had. This meeting was not held to decide anything definite about the plans of this group, but merely as an informal dinner and get-together meeting of the economics professors.

A general agreement among the professors has been made to meet tri-annually, alternating each time between N. C. State, Carolina, and Duke as the meeting place.

Among those attending from "State" are: Dean E. F. Brown, Profs. E. M. Bernstein, E. E. Goehring, R. W. Green, G. W. Forster, J. G. Knapp, M. C. Leager, R. O. Moen, and C. B. Shulenberger.

AGRICULTURE CLUB HEAR FOUR SPEAKERS TUESDAY

The N. C. State College "Ag" Club held its regular weekly meeting Tuesday night in Patterson Hall. Vice President J. M. Parks presided.

The members giving talks were as follows: N. B. Nozby, History of Poultry Business; J. W. Kelley, Education of Research Work on Poultry; E. F. Green, Early Incubation. C. G. Green, What Becomes of All Our Eggs.

Each of the speakers gave a very interesting talk. The speakers brought out the fact that incubation was first started in Egypt and China about 500 B.C. Eggs in China today sell for one-sixth of a cent apiece.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Cook, a graduate student, spoke briefly on the increasing high standards of the poultry business.

State Sends Three Men To Missionary Meeting

Dr. Paul Harrison, former medical missionary in Arabia, will be one of the speakers at the Students' Conference on Missions to be held at the University of North Carolina from February 27 to March 1, it was announced this week by Charles W. Clay, student at Duke University and president of the North Carolina Student Volunteer Union.

Dr. Harrison was recently awarded an honorary degree from Yale University for his work in Arabia. He has been called "one of the most outstanding of the younger missionaries in the whole world today." "Disease in the World: A Challenge to Christian Students," will be his theme at the forthcoming conference.

State College will be represented by Dan M. Paul, president of the Student Body; LeRoy Clark, president of the Y. M. C. A.; and Hagop Hagopian, Egyptian student lecturer. "There are still vacancies for a few delegates," Mr. Clark said, "and anyone wishing to attend the conference should see me at once."

Among other speakers included on the program are: Rev. E. McNeill Poteat, pastor of Pullen Memorial Baptist Church in Raleigh; Fay Campbell, head of the Y. M. C. A. at Yale University; Mrs. Rose Aggrey, widow of the famous "Agrey of Africa," whose missionary labors attracted world-wide attention; Lee Phillip, a young Negro student and poet from Howard University.

Delegates to the conference will be from the different North Carolina colleges, and will include a number of foreign students.

The conference will open at 4:30 p.m. on February 27, with a tea at which the conference speakers and delegates will be entertained. The closing session will be held at 3 p.m. on Sunday, March 1.

Special features in the conference include a daily musical program, with an organ recital on Saturday afternoon as the high light, special orchestra numbers, and a series of short addresses from foreign students on the theme "Messages From the Nations." The general theme of the conference is "Human Needs and World Christianity."
