Two conventions met on the campus last week. A State man was president of one, and a State man was elected president of the other.

Milton A. "Al Smith" Abernethy is now one of the editors on a paper at Carolina. The editorial staff reads like the roll call in Russia.

The State College tennis team is paying for the poor investment the college made in John M. Van Liew. This team raised a "racket"—but they were rackets paid for by the players.

A faculty member complains that the professors do the work for the Engineers' Fair, but after all—the engineering faculty is interested in increasing its enrollment and Fair is a wonderful advertisement.

A co-ed was selected winner of one of the most coveted awards made by the college—the Phi Kappa Phi medal. It will be hard to prove that State College co-eds are not raising the scholastic standing of the institution.

OPEN TRIALS

Much criticism has been poured upon Student Government at the college. Much of the criticism is centered around convictions, trials, probation, and the like.

The efficiency of Student Government has been challenged. Students say that cheating is prevalent.

As long as the Student Body feels that it is a greater crime to report a man than to commit the act that should be reported, Student Government will remain unchanged.

Some suggest open trials to curb crimes against student laws. This suggestion has its advantages.

Humiliation is a deadly weapon and can be used to advantage on the campus.

Open Trials would stimulate interest in the Student Government and decrease offenders. After all, shouldn't the students have knowledge of their own government, its functions and, above all, its trials?

Many believe that a TRIAL of the OPEN TRIAL will be of mutual benefit to the college, students, and a student government.

GOOD AGITATION

What this school needs is not a good five-cent cigar, but a general assembly at least once a month, and we believe it will be of benefit not like that of the "State General Assembly."

That old school spirit that every writer speaks of will be increased—a particular need on this campus.

It would be a good investment to hold a meeting of the entire student body in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium—let the students take part in discussing the problems that face them, and let the cheer-leaders have a round of cheers.

Let's not give up in our fight for an auditorium before we start. To show that we really need an auditorium is requisite to obtaining it. It may take years, but it is entirely worth while.

No one kicks when the College is running smooth, but a little agitation in the right direction will raise standards and accomplish much.

FAME

Pause here to pay tribute to Prof. Edwin H. Paget, coach of the North Carolina State College debating team.

Never before in the history of forensics at State College has more been done in oratory and debate than under his leadership.

Milbourne B. Amos, orator supreme, has won practically every honor in the State and South as an individual under his leadership.

State College is a technical school, Amos is a textile student, and these facts make the honor even greater.

In establishing such a record as made by Amos, some of the best debate teams and orators in the United States have been defeated.

Our institution is proud of Amos and proud of his coach—their records are enviable ones and the student body and alumni of the school share equally in CONGRATULATIONS.

HONOR SYSTEM

Some student said that North Carolina State College students had the honor and the faculty had the system.

It is doubtful whether the honor system at State is working; you are the best judge.

It is doubtful whether the faculty encourages the working of this system.

In The Wataugan sometime ago this item appeared:

"This examination will be conducted on the honor system. Students please take seats three apart and in alternate rows."

This is the idea many professors have of the honor system, and it is no less than a challenge to many students to cheat if they can. The professor matches his wits against those of the students, believing that his close observation of the "exam" will eliminate all cheating.

The student says, "Well, he thinks he's a smart old duck. I'll show him," and the inevitable result is that the student goes in competition with the professor as to their individual ability to beat one another at their own game.

Dan Paul is right; the State College honor system does need more stress.

To date many students look upon the honor system as patrol duty for the professors.

It is not a question as to whether the professor shall stay in the room when an examination is being conducted. Many would prefer that he stay in the room to clear up doubt as to the meaning of questions. But is this his reason for remaining? Can State College students be trusted?

AMATEUR BURGLARS

Some students don't know a good thing when they see it.

Those State College men who rob pay telephones, to say the least, are amateur burglars. The most money they could get would be three or four dollars and the smallest number of years across the railroad track would be one or two years.

Telephones were installed in State College dormitories as a convenience to the student body. Will you stand by and see these phones robbed, without reporting the offender, or will you protect those other 1,700 students who are law-abiding?

Oftimes the innocent must suffer for the guilty—don't hesitate to report telephone robbers.

REALISTIC

There's little chance of the Blue Key bulletin board being an unfinished memorial on State College campus.

Unlike most constructions, the Blue Key members have their working plans and no pretty picture to show the public. They mean business, and if they need our support let's give it to them unselfishly.

Another monument on State College campus is in the beginning—they call it the War Memorial Monument. Seemingly State students will never know what the finished monument will be.

Architects of the War monument have an elaborate design of the completed monument—it looks like a dream.

Some morning we will wake up and find the Blue Key monument a reality.

SUMP'N FOR NUTHIN!

Now that the Luxury Tax seems to be certain, we suggest that the General Assembly pay their share of the "nuisance." They would certainly come under the head of "luxury" in so far as State College is concerned.

Josephus Daniels suggests that we vote them thanks and appreciation for staying over without pay. The corporations seem to be taking care of the remuneration. They are not working for nothing, but this is what they are accomplishing.

ECONOMICS ASSOCIATION MEETS AT STATE COLLEGE

The North Carolina Economics Association met her Friday for its spring session. Prof. C. B. Shulenberger, member of the state committee, presided at the meeting, which was held at the Y. M. C. A.

The association was organized at Duke University February 11. The membership is composed of all teachers of commercial and economic subjects in the colleges of North Carolina.

According to Professor Shulenberger, the purpose of the association is to promote friendly relations among the teachers and to discuss important subjects in the field of economics.

and Dan J. Torrence, Jr., treasurer-elect.

Student councilmen who will take office for next year are N. R. Whitener, W. F. Wilson, Joe Hull, Mark Wilson, W. T. Jordan, Fred Jones, B. C. Skinner, J. T. Cooper, T. L. Richie, Joe Dixon, and U. O'Dell Fighill.

President Paul says that every member of the student body should attend the installation ceremonies. "There is nothing that gives incoming officers a greater send-off than a large attendance at an installation," he declares.

Thomas Elected Head of Press Convention At College Saturday

ited by J. C. Haines, with Fred Ardens, of Gastonia, business manager.

Institutions represented at the convention included Meredith College, Duke, N. C. State, N. C. C. W., Queens, Catawba, Campbell, Wake / Forest, E. C. T. C., Elon, Davidson, G. C., High Point, and Mars Hill. Representatives from South Carolina also attended the convention in preparation for a South Carolina association next year.

Flora Macdonald College was voted membership.

Judges for the various publications were W. Joyner MacFarlan, of the Associated Press; Wade H. Lucas, city editor of The Raleigh Times, and P. D. McLean, managing editor of The Raleigh Times, for the newspapers. Miss Carrie Broughton, State Librarian, and Mrs. Nina Holland Covington, of the Hugh Morson high school, for magazines, and Hugh Dixon, of Winston-Salem, State news editor of the Journal, judge of the annuals.

STEPPING INTO A MODERN WORLD

The long arm of the telephone operator ~ ~ ~ made longer

How to extend the operator's range five-fold? There's an example of the problems put up to a telephone engineer.

This was part of a study in stepping up the speed of service to distant points. "Long Distance" used to relay your call to one or more other operators. Now she herself reaches the city you are calling, 30 or 300 or 3000 miles away.

Result: in five years the average time needed to complete a long-distance connection has been cut from 7 minutes to less than 2 minutes.

In this industry even long approved methods are never considered beyond improvement. For men of the right aptitude, that viewpoint is a stimulating challenge.

Confirm Election Of Belvin As Head Chemical Society

A special meeting of the student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers was called Tuesday night for the purpose of considering a petition for a referendum on the election of W. L. Belvin as president of the organization for next year. The race between Belvin and the defeated candidate, A. P. Moss, was close and charges were made that the election was unconstitutional and that members ineligible to vote had voted. After heated discussion the matter was referred to the executive committee, consisting of the present officers

At Virginia and Kentucky
... down where tobacco grows

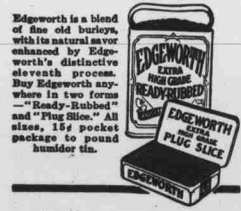

college men choose this one outstanding SMOKING TOBACCO

The men who go to the universities of Virginia and Kentucky know tobacco... they see how it grows and what makes it good. So when Virginia students, and the men who stroll down Old South Limestone Street in Lexington, pack their pipes with Edgeworth, their choice tells volumes about the cool, slow-burning quality of this favorite smoking tobacco.

It's the same story everywhere—North, South, East and West. In 42 out of 54 leading colleges and universities, college men prefer the smooth, fragrant burley blend of Edgeworth. Try Edgeworth yourself. You'll find more pleasure in a pipe than you ever knew before. Every tobacco store has Edgeworth, 1 1/2 tin. Or, for generous free sample, write to Larus & Bro. Three first-round games in the upper bracket of the intramural baseball league have been played and the other preliminaries are scheduled to be run off this week and next. Sigma Phi Epsilon eliminated Delta Sigma Phi 7-5 in the first game of the season with an eighth-inning avalanche of six runs. Kappa Alpha overwhelmed Theta Phi 21-2, and will play the winner of the Alpha Lambda Tau-Sigma Nu tilt. Theta Kappa Nu eliminated Beta Sigma Alpha and will play Sigma Phi Epsilon in the first second-round match, scheduled for April 22.

Amos Wins Award In Each Contest At Tourist City

Farmville in February, when he won first place in the oratorical contest sponsored by the Pi Kappa Delta Southern convention. "In conjunction with these oratorical victories Amos has been instrumental in establishing at State College the most outstanding debating record in history," says Professor Paget. "Not only has he entered every principal decision debate entered by State College this year, but last year his record in debating was equally as good. He was rewarded for this distinction by being granted the degree of distinction by the Pi Kappa Delta forensic fraternity. This is the highest honor which a member of this fraternity may achieve."

At the convention of the Southern Association of the Teachers of Speech in Atlanta, where Amos won the two highest honors given by that convention, he was also a member of the debate team from N. C. State which won out in the preliminaries and semifinals, but lost out in the finals when defeated by the Western Texas State College. He was assisted in his debate by Archie F. Ward, a sophomore at State in agricultural economics. Ward has been a member of State College debating team for the past two years.

Some of the larger universities and colleges which State College debaters have met and defeated in oratory and debate this year are University of North Carolina, Farmville State Teachers College, University of Tennessee, Pennsylvania State College, Georgia State College, University of Georgia, Wake Forest College, University of South Carolina, University of Florida, University of Alabama, University of Maryland, William and Mary, Birmingham Southern, Emory University, and George Washington University.

CAROLINA LEADS ENTRIES TO WIN AFTER-DARK MEET

Preliminaries To Be Conducted In Afternoon and Finals At Night—All Meets To Be Held In War Memorial Stadium—Gurneau and Seitz Entered In Discus, With Stout and Floyd In Dashes—State Records To Fall During Gathering of the North Carolina Big Five College Cinder Teams—V. P. I., Davidson, Carolina, State, and Duke Entered In Meet.

The first night track meet to be conducted in North Carolina will be run off Saturday night in the World War Memorial Stadium at Greensboro, when track teams from the Big Five schools of the state meet in the annual intercollegiate gathering.

Preliminaries will be conducted in the afternoon and the finals at night. Carolina is hoped to win the meet, as the Tar Heels are considered to have one of the strongest teams in the school's history. Duke University may upset the predictions, as in a recent meet with Carolina the Tar Heels won by only ten points. State College, getting off to a slow start, has developed a comparatively strong team, and in its last meet defeated V. P. I. Davidson has had one of its best track years, and Wake Forest, the other entry, although a little inactive in track this spring, has perhaps the best crop of javelin and shot-putters in the state.

Individual performances in dual meets this spring among the schools give promise that several state records may fall Saturday night.

State will offer its best bets in Captain George McGinn in the half-mile, Sam Gurneau and Rudy Seitz in the discus, and Gurneau in the shot-put. Carolina's two vaulters, Rable and Arnold, and Duke's broad-jumper, Polmer, are stars that may topple existing records.

The dash events will include such names as Farmer and Stusser of Carolina, Fleagle of Davidson, Brownlee of Duke, and Stout and Floyd of State.

Frosh Baseball Team To Play Raleigh High

By FRED DIXON
State's freshman baseball team plays Raleigh High School this afternoon in the Broughton High School field on Saint Mary's Street. The game will start at 4 o'clock.

The engagement will be the eighth for State this spring. The Techlets have won four games and lost three. The wins have been over Wake Forest, Campbell College, Davidson, and Oak Ridge. The three losses have been to Wake Forest, Duke, and Carolina.

Coach Bob Warren has three more tilts on his 1931 schedule. They are with Duke, Carolina, and Campbell College.

State's biggest win this season has been over Davidson. Jimmy Cooper was on the mound that day and held the Kittens to five hits while his teammates hit out a 9-0 win over West.

In that game Red Blair poled out two home runs, and Parker Powell, second baseman, and Curtis Roach, third sacker, also connected for one each.

Blair and Powell again laced out home runs in the Oak Ridge game last Saturday, which State won 11-9.

Stable Brown, one of the cleverest shortstops in freshman circles, will be back in the line-up this afternoon, after being out for several games with a bad leg. He played in the Carolina game Wednesday. Brown led the high school hitting in the State last year as a student at Salisbury.

Jimmy Cooper and Paul Nance are doing some good chunking for Coach Warren. Nance let Campbell down with three hits and Cooper's effectiveness against Davidson has already been stated.

The State College-Wake Forest baseball game, which was scheduled to be played last Saturday, April 25, will be run off Wednesday, May 13, at League Park.

The game with the Deacons on May 13 was originally set for Easter Monday, April 6, but rain caused it to be moved up to April 25. Conflicting dates with V. M. I. on that date made it necessary for the game to be changed for the second time.

Bridge Tournament
 Lambda Chi Alpha will hold their fourth annual fraternity bridge tournament at their residence at 2407 Clark Avenue on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, May 5, 6, and 7.
 This tournament is an event of great interest among the competing fraternities. Phi Kappa Tau won the first competition in 1928, Theta Kappa Nu in 1929, and the Kappa Sigma team came out winners last year.
 The name of the winning lodge is inscribed on a plaque each year, and the plaque will become the property of any lodge winning it three years in succession.
 The plaque and the pairings will be on display in the window of Honeycutt's London Shop Saturday and will remain there throughout the tournament.

 All teams will play on the first day of the competition. Twelve hands will be played in the preliminaries and sixteen hands will be played in the finals. Eighteen fraternities are expected to enter teams.

"Tarnished Lady" which will be the feature attraction at the State Theatre on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, marks the motion picture debut of a really great actress, Tallulah Bankhead, a new screen personality which will captivate American film audiences everywhere just as it swept England's theatre-going public off its feet.

A Laurel-Hardy comedy, "Be Big," a screen song entitled "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain," and a Sound News will complete the program.

That "Daybreak," which is coming to the State Theatre on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, should have a continental flavor seemed to be the intention of its producers from the first moment the story was selected. It has been brought to the screen with a Viennese, Dr. Arthur Schnitzler, as author; a Frenchman, Jacques Feyder, as director, and the distinguished young Latin, Ramon Novarro, in the stellar role of Willi Kasda.

Billy House in a comedy entitled "Thou Shalt Not," a Mother's Day novelty, and a Sound News will complete the program.

Lawrence Tibbett and Grace Moore are costarred in "New Moon," which is to be shown at the Palace Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

"New Moon" in its talkie form is a story of adventure and romance, excitement and intrigue, with the haunting melodies of the stage show, augmented by several new numbers, running through the fast-moving plot as salient parts of the action.

A comedy, "Don't Leave Home," and Palace Sound News will complete the program.

STATE COLLEGE "Y" HOST TO CAROLINA

The open discussion group conducted every Sunday afternoon in the State College "Y" was given an insight into the workings of the Y. M. C. A. system at the University of North Carolina last Sunday through a brief lecture by Mr. Harry Comer, general secretary of the Carolina "Y."
 Mr. Comer described in detail the method of the "Y" in handling the college student from his first day as a freshman to the end of his senior year.

According to Mr. Comer, there is at present a movement on foot through which the college Y. M. C. A. will be able to reach and have personal contact with the prospective freshman before he ever sets foot on a campus. He also told how interest is created and retained through lectures by inspiring talkers and by challenging talkers.

With Mr. Comer were Ed Hamer, president of the Carolina "Y," and F. M. James, president-elect. The meeting was presided over by President H. Y. Brock of State College "Y," and was attended by a group of State students.

To Present Rings To Junior Class At Annual Dance

The second annual junior-senior Prom will be held in Frank Thompson Gymnasium beginning at 9:00 p.m., May 9, Frank W. Gorham, chairman of the dance committee, said yesterday.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by Jimmy Stephenson's orchestra.

The gymnasium will be decorated with blue and gold streamers in keeping with the class colors, says Gorham.

Nearly 200 juniors and their girls will take part in the dance figure, which will mark the annual presentation of the "Senior Rings" to the class of 1932.

Romeo LeFort, president of the Junior Class and president-elect of the student body, will lead the figure, with Miss Martha Ruth Kendall, with Henry A. Ricks, vice-president of the class, and Mary Elizabeth Meeks.

The senior class of approximately 300 students will be guests of the Juniors.

The Junior Class dance committee is composed of E. W. Freeze, A. P. Moss, G. B. Hobson, J. W. Halstead, R. G. Richardson, with Chairman Gorham.
