MILTON ABERNETHY GRANTED NEW TRIAL BY APPEALS COURT

Council to Retry Writer of "Cheating Article" Wednesday

SUSPENDED FOR 2 YEARS AT HEARING LAST WEEK

Dr. Brooks Declines to Commit Himself on Outcome Other Than to Say That Affair Will Be "Worked Out All Right"—Prof. W. N. Hicks Does Not Think Abernethy Misrepresented the Figures, But Failed to Give Sufficient Explanation—Dr. Taylor Maintains That His Part in Trial is Intended to Protect Student Government as Well as Defend Abernethy.

Milton Avant Abernethy, suspended for two years by the Student Council last Saturday for bringing discredit upon the student body, was granted a new trial by the Court of Appeals Thursday afternoon. He will be retried Wednesday.

The charge on which Abernethy was arraigned arose from an article in the News and Observer in which Abernethy declared the "game of cheating" was the leading sport at State College. His article was based on a thesis written by Prof. W. N. Hicks for his master's degree.

When questioned, Professor Hicks stated that he did not think Abernethy misrepresented figures, but that he did fail to give sufficient explanation of the data. In his article Abernethy pictured as chronic cheaters all students who admitted getting aid on one or more examinations since entering State College.

In last Sunday's News and Observer appeared an article by the student in which he gave the preface to the thesis he based the original story upon. In the article he also stated that the first article was written with the intention of bettering State College.

Dean of the Graduate School Carl C. Taylor, who was defense counsel, in a statement for publication, said in part: "I do not think that Mr. Abernethy has done anything which is either outrageous or in violation of"—Continued on page 2

OWEN'S LAST ALUMNI NEWS NOW BEING DISTRIBUTED

The November issue of Alumni News, edited by E. B. Owen before his demise, is now off the press.

The next copy of the magazine will be edited by F. H. Jeter, agricultural editor and head of the State College Bureau of Information.

By the first of the year it is expected the Alumni Association will have selected an editor for the publication.

Crocker and Phelps Address State Forestry Association

The N. C. State Forest Club held its second bimonthly meeting last Friday at 7:30 o'clock. President Barner, after dispensing with current business, called upon two freshmen for a talk on why they chose forestry as a profession.

T. Crocker, Forestry sophomore, gave an account of his work during the past summer. Crocker worked for the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development through the summer months. He was located in the western part of the State and most of his work had to do with the construction of telephone lines.

Phelps, a senior, was employed for the summer by the Federal Forest Service. He was stationed at the Appalachian Experiment Station in Western Carolina. He gave the students an idea of the methods of the Service used in laying out sample plots and the like. He also explained some of the work that the Forest Service is carrying on in this State.

Cotillion Club To Give Dance Saturday Nite

Following the N. C. State-Duke grid classic here Saturday afternoon the N. C. State Cotillion Club will give an informal dance at the Frank Thompson gymnasium Saturday night from 9 to 12. Admission, according to "Spivis" Stevens, president, will be strictly by card.

This is the first of four dances to be sponsored this year by the college cotillion club. Their final dance, a fancy dress ball, is one of the most colorful social events held on the campus.

Jack Wardlaw and his Carolina Tar Heels will play for the dance. As the dance follows the annual Home-coming Day game, officials are expecting a large number of alumni to attend.

Officers of the club are: "Spivis" Stevens, Alpha Lambda Tau, president; "Dunk" Garfield, Sigma Pi, vice president; and Elliott Cooper, Tau Kappa Alpha, secretary-treasurer.

Armistice Day Is Celebrated in Pullen Hall

Armistice Day, designated twelve years ago when battling armies laid down their guns ending the world's greatest war, did not pass unobserved at State College.

Excused from classes at 10 o'clock, R. O. T. C. students marched up street and played a major role in the American Legion parade. The 50-piece State College band and the drum and bugle corps were in the parade.

At 12 o'clock all students were excused from classes to attend an address by L. P. McLenodon, of Durham. Faculty members were seated on the rostrum.

Mr. McLenodon expounded on the horrors of war and the virtues of peace.

At 2:30 Tuesday afternoon the Armistice Day football game between the Davidson freshmen and the State Wolflets attracted a large crowd to Riddick Field.

At 6:30 and again at 7:15 the Y. M. C. A. ran off three reels pertaining to the World War. They were: "The Victory Parade in Paris, The Signing of the Peace Treaty at Versailles, and General Pershing's Farewell to France and Return Home.

Dr. Brooks Leaves Sunday To Attend College Meet

President E. C. Brooks will leave Sunday for Washington, D. C., where he will attend the annual meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities to be held there next week.

The convention will be in the Willard Hotel of Washington and will last for three days; beginning November 17 and ending the 19th. Dr. Brooks is chairman of a committee on Land Grant Institutions for Negroes. He will make a report of the functions of the committee at the current conference.

While in Washington, Dr. Brooks will be a delegate at the White House conference on Child Health and Protection, which will be held November 19 to 22. He was extended a personal invitation by President Hoover.

Mr. Flory, assistant State Forester of North Carolina, was the main speaker of the evening. Mr. Flory graduated from Pennsylvania State Forest School and has been known by the upperclassmen for quite some years.

Mr. Flory maintained that the field of forestry holds a great future and that N. C. State is an excellent place for a man to learn the ropes. All of the principal forest types in North Carolina, he said, are within easy reach of the school. This State has possibilities of becoming the leading State in the Union as far as forestry is concerned. There are, already, many lumber companies and furniture plants throughout the State. The pulp and paper industries are moving southward.

Mr. Flory was formerly a district forester in the eastern part of the State. He is now assistant State forester and is head of the Protection Bureau.

AFFIRMATIVE DEBATERS TO MEET WAKE FOREST

Ward and Amos Represent State College Forensic Men in Initial Meet

The affirmative team of the State College Variety Debate Squad will meet the negative team from Wake Forest College in Pullen Hall tomorrow night at 7:30 for a verbal clash on the subject, Resolved, That the Nations Should Adopt a Policy of Free Trade.

A. F. Ward, sophomore of Lumberton and a successful debater of last year, will represent State College as the first speaker on the affirmative. Milbourne Amos, senior, of High Point, a former member of the nationally famed champion State College team of last year, will fill the position of second speaker for the affirmative side of the query. The debate Saturday night will be the opening event for State College in participation in Southern Conference Intercollegiate Forensics for this scholastic year.

Prof. E. H. Paget, who trained the national championship debaters of State College last year, is the coach this year also, and has arranged an extensive program for the season. He is president of the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech. This gives him intimate connection with the foremost instructors and professors of speech in the South and throughout the nation.

Some of the debates scheduled to be met by State College teams in the near future are: State affirmative vs. Carolina negative at Chapel Hill, November 25; State negative vs. Carolina affirmative here December 2; State negative vs. Wake Forest, December 8; and various others which will be announced at later dates.

Chemical Society Pledges Nine Men At Thursday Meet

Gamma Sigma Epsilon, national honorary chemical fraternity, pledged nine new members last Thursday night. The pledge ribbon and insignia were placed around the necks of the candidates and they were placed on probation for a week.

The men who had passed the requirements for membership in the fraternity were: C. M. Sprinkle, Leroy Clark, Nemo Gross, H. D. Crofts, E. L. Greene, W. K. Cathey, W. L. Bevin, and H. D. Mathieson.

LOS HIDALGOS PLEDGES 4 AT RECENT MEETING

Four students were pledged to Los Hidalgos, language fraternity, Tuesday night. The pledges will be initiated Tuesday, November 25.

The pledges are: B. F. Crumpler, E. J. Brown, J. M. Reeves, and W. T. "Monk" Jordan.

Officers urge that all members be present and take part in the initiation.

22 STUDENTS CHECK OUT

Although less than two months have elapsed since the opening of school, 22 students have checked out of school for various reasons.

Financial difficulties caused nine students to leave school, illness comes next with four men, four were dissatisfied with conditions here, one student's parent needed him at home, the schedule of one fitted the last two terms better than the current period, and unknown or undisclosed reasons forced two students to leave the college.

LAST CHANCE!

For the last time this year the Agromock photographer will be at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, November 19, 20, and 21, from 9 to 1 and from 2 to 6 to make individual pictures for the 1931 annual.

Staff officers, company commanders, and platoon leaders of the R. O. T. C. are scheduled to have their pictures taken at this time. Extra lieutenants will not have their pictures snapped.

"Please avail yourself of the opportunity," admonishes E. G. Couch, editor, "and have your picture made during the time specified if you wish your likeness to appear in the Agromock this year. This absolutely will be your last opportunity."

State Florist Meeting Held On College Campus

The North Carolina Florist Association held its annual convention here in Raleigh on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Part of the meeting was held in town, but most of it was held in Pullen Hall on State College campus.

On Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock the members and guests registered at the Sir Walter Hotel and afterwards inspected the various trade exhibits. At 2 o'clock there was held in the Virginia Dare Ballroom of the Sir Walter a gorgeous flower show, and at 2:30 the board of directors met. At 3 a business meeting of the association was held at which Mayor Culbreth gave a membership address of welcome, and officers were elected.

Thursday night the association attended a banquet at the Sir Walter with J. J. Fallon, a local florist, as toastmaster. A novelty dance was given by Misses Jean McCarthy and Louise Mitchell, followed by addresses given by Mr. Tommy Luke, president-elect, of Portland, Ore., and Mr. Chas. H. Grakelow, president, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Last year the meeting was held at Wilson, N. C.; the next convention will be at Winston-Salem.

Blue Key Frat Takes In Seven Thursday Nite

Blue Key, leadership fraternity, officially accepted sponsorship of the State College Band at a meeting held in the cafeteria dining room Thursday night. The fraternity was requested by "Daddy" Price in a letter read to members at the meeting to become official sponsor of the band. Blue Key unanimously voted acceptance.

Six students were initiated into the society at the meeting, which changed from Friday noon to Thursday night to allow the members to attend the State-Carolina game in Chapel Hill. The new members are: Dan M. Paul, C. R. LeFort, John Crawford, R. G. Vick, J. B. Gurley, Roy H. Park, and Henry A. Ricks. At the same time "Butch" Slaughter was taken in as an honorary member.

For quite a while Blue Key has been unofficially sponsoring the State band, and it was through the efforts of the society that members of the band obtained their present uniforms. It is the plan of the newly-elected sponsors to increase the band and better the appearance of the uniforms.

A Blue Key dance, proceeds from which are to go to the band, was scheduled for Saturday night, but inability to negotiate with the Pan-Hellenic Council forced the fraternity to postpone the event until later in the season.

STATE BEGINS BROADCAST OF COLLEGE ACTIVITIES

Fifteen Minutes On Air Every Thursday Sponsored By News Bureau

Yesterday saw the birth of State College's broadcasting news and events that happen on the campus, as well as interesting anecdotes pertaining to the activity of the students.

This period from 4 to 4:15 p. m. Thursday will in the future be known as "State College Campus Gossip," and is to include topics primarily for the entertainment and enlightenment of the old students of State who are not near enough to keep in close touch with their Alma Mater.

The broadcasts will include news on all phases of college life, including athletic, society, departmental, and agricultural notes. The broadcast is sponsored by the State College News Bureau with Louis H. Wilson as spokesman. In yesterday's broadcast the latest prank of Jane Virginia Hawkins Andrews, local co-ed who has consumed so much Transylvania space of late, was explained by Wilson, as well as the attempts of a State College student to save time with mechanical devices for doing many of the tasks incidental to getting up in the morning.

Janie enticed Prof. H. A. Fisher's mathematics class munching an ice cream cone.

"Do you know the penalty for eating ice cream on class?" asked the prof.

"No, sir."

"Well, you'll have to stand the whole class to cream," he said, dropping the matter and starting class discussion.

Two days later, on Saturday, the class was interrupted by a knock on the door. Janie frisked to the door and admitted a delivery boy with 16 cones of cream.

That day the class had two visitors, but as two members were absent the allotment came out right.

PHI GAMMA EPSILON FRAT LOSTS EXEMPTION FIGHT

Educational Fraternity Wants To Exempt Seniors With Grade of B or Better

The petition, sponsored by Phi Gamma Epsilon and signed by over 200 of the seniors, asking for exemption privileges on all courses on which they average a grade of B, was partially rejected by the general faculty at a meeting Tuesday afternoon. The clause wherein the petition relates to the spring term was unanimously passed upon by the body, while examination privileges extending to the fall and winter terms was rejected without a dissenting vote.

Heretofore, the senior classes have successfully petitioned the faculty for exemption on exams for the third term, but no ruling had been made which resulted in making this permanent. At the meeting Tuesday, the general faculty made the ruling, exempting seniors from exams on courses on which they make a B average for the spring term, so that it will have a permanent effect, applying to all senior classes in the future.

Fellowships Are Offered By Educational Institute

A limited number of foreign study fellowships are being offered American students this year by the Institute of International Education, New York.

The fellowships usually take care of board, lodging, and tuition. Fellowships are available for study in the following countries: Austria, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Spain, and Switzerland.

Requirements for fellowship are: United States citizen; college graduate; good moral character; good health; initiative and ability to do independent research; practical reading, writing, and speaking knowledge of language of instruction in particular country.

Co-eds To Make No Move Until Trustees Take Action

The co-eds are not going to take any moves in defense of their student government which was recently attacked by the regular student council of State College, according to Lorena Brinson, president of the co-eds' student council.

Miss Brinson, when first approached on the subject by a reporter, declined to commit herself. She stated that she had been advised not to give out any plans of her organization. She then stated that it was the intention of the co-ed government to await the action of the college Board of Trustees before doing anything.

Co-ed government controversy was started several days ago when the regular student council voted to ignore the government of the women at this institution. An article which appeared in The Technician announcing

Seven Free Acts To Feature Program Tonight—Plan To Raise Spirit for Duke-State Football Classic Tomorrow—Practically All Honorary Fraternities Represented With Stunts—Bob Gatlin Leader In Movement—Colossal Military Review Is Planned for the Duke Game.

"Stunt Night," to be held at State College tonight on the eve of the homecoming game with Duke University tomorrow afternoon, will be among the most elaborate and entertaining events ever staged at the institution, announces R. H. Gatlin, of Raeford, president of the Blue Key, national leadership fraternity.

The holding of "Stunt Night" exercises will be started at the college this year for the first time and will be under the direction of the honorary fraternities, who will continue it as an annual affair.

Blue Key fraternity, since its installation at State, has annually sponsored a "Home-coming Day," encouraging alumni to return to the campus and assuming responsibility of entertaining the old graduates. In previous years, one day has been devoted to the alumni and their entertainment, and "Stunt Night" will come as a surprise to State "grads" Friday night.

Johnnie Geoghegan, of Danville, Va., president of the senior class, will act as master of ceremonies for the occasion.

RED MASQUERS TO PRESENT 'YOU AND I' DECEMBER 5

John White and Catherine Harding To Play the Leading Roles

John H. White, junior in Business Administration, has been selected as the hero in the cast of "You and I" which will be presented by Red Masquers, local dramatic club, in Pullen Hall here on Friday, December 5, at 7:30, according to information obtained from the dramatics department this week.

"You and I" is a three-act play written by Philip Barry. It was awarded the Pulitzer award for being the best play written in 1923. Barry is a former student of Professor Baker's famous English class of Harvard. His play, "You and I," has been presented widely. On Broadway it was produced with H. B. Warner filling the position which White is filling for State College.—Continued on page 2

State students who rode the special excursion train from here to Chapel Hill for the State Carolina grid affair were heartily commended on their good conduct in a letter to Maj. McD. Silvester, from J. S. Bloodworth, district passenger agent of the Southern Railway. Major Silvester obtained the excursion train, and is largely responsible for the big turnout of the student body.

The letter read in part: "Your thought of a plan which would enable members of N. C. State College student body to see the State Carolina football game at Chapel Hill, November 7, at a minimum cost and maximum of convenience, and the splendid cooperation given the matter by the R. O. T. C. and student body as a whole was so outstanding that it is with much pleasure that I am writing this letter to thank you for your part in the matter, and to commend all the students participating in the trip.

hall where the tickets were sold were most courteous and accommodating on each of our several visits, and the good conduct of students on the train was such that is seldom equalled on a trip of this kind."

In an open letter to the student body, Major Silvester said:

"The student body as a whole is to be congratulated on the preparation and conduct of the trip to Chapel Hill, November 7, 1930. Never have I made a trip with so many students where such excellent conduct was demonstrated. This was accomplished solely through the loyalty to State College. Such action is bound to reflect credit upon the student body and will go a long way toward bringing about closer relations between the people of Raleigh and throughout the State with the college.

"State College has again set a standard for other colleges to follow, for such letters are seldom received. It is not unusual for the college to receive a bill instead of a letter of commendation on such trips. While this letter is addressed to me, it is aimed at the students who made the trip. The students themselves made this trip possible and without the close cooperation and team work this trip would not have been possible.

"Your football team appreciates your efforts. I feel sure that the spirit of the student body was unexcelled on this occasion.

"Our game with Duke is rapidly approaching. The team needs your backing. Be present Saturday, November 15, for it is the last home game of the varsity. Make this date the greatest event of the year."

SOUSA'S BAND

Today is "Sousa Day" in Raleigh and the State College band is booked for a major role.

Strains of "Stars and Stripes Forever," Sousa's famous march, played by the N. C. State Band, will greet John Phillip Sousa and his band on their arrival in the capital city.

Sousa's compositions are world-known, but there is one especially that has endeared him in the hearts of State College students. It was he who composed the music for "Old State College Keeps Fighting Along," the words being written by Hardy M. Ray, former State student.

The State band will greet Sousa at the Union Station and escort him to his hotel. He has invited them to be his special guests at his concert to be given tonight in the Broughton High School.

be "worked out all right." He added that the Student Council misused the word "suspension," explaining that, according to the board of trustees, a student who is sent away from college for more than one year is "expelled," and not suspended. This was only a minor mistake in terminology, though, the president said.

Represented on the Court of Appeals are: Dan M. Paul, president of the Student Body; Mack Stout, vice president of the Student Body; Prof. L. H. Hartley, Dean E. L. Lloyd, and Lee R. Mercer.

Otherwise, he should be dealt with just as any other creature whose degree of intelligence and lack of gratitude allows him to bite the hand that is feeding him.

Joint planning by student honorary societies, the Athletic Association and the R. O. T. C. regiment at N. C. State College forecasts an unusual array of spectacular features for the annual home-coming day football game on Riddick Field Saturday with Duke, and of special entertainment for returning alumni who are on the campus for the home-coming.

The R. O. T. C. regiment is scheduled to turn out practically 100 per cent of its 900 members as a volunteer cheering section. Those in charge predict better organized cheering than ever before held on Riddick Field. Headed by its large band and drum and bugle corps, and with each member in dress uniform, the regiment will march on the field promptly at 2:15. This is 15 minutes before the time the game starts. Prior to taking seats reserved for it, the regiment will give an exhibition drill.

The seven regimental sponsors, selected by the cadet colonel, his staff, and the battalion commander, will be the guests of the regiment. A guard of honor, composed of selected sophomores, will be escort to the sponsors. Preparations are being made to take care of a large attendance of Duke student's and followers. For them and other visitors, ample parking space convenient to Riddick Field will be provided.

The Duke band, one of the largest and best drilled in the country, is expected to present something new in steps and figures. In addition to competing bands on the field between halves, surprise stunts are in preparation.

I do not think I would have done what he did, but I think it is the very essence of democratic government that other persons have a right to do things which I would not personally do, so long as these things are not legally criminal or flagrantly immoral. I am anxious that the Student Government do not take the type of action which would bring unfavorable publicity to State College, and I was sure that the expulsion of Mr. Abernethy on the basis of the indictment brought against him would bring disrepute upon both the Student Government and State College. In other words, I can honestly say that I am as much concerned with the protection of our Student Government as I am with Mr. Abernethy."

According to Mr. Wellons the life in the dormitories is much improved over that in the years previous. There has been very little destruction of property; this is quite unusual.

By the end of next week the officers of each dormitory will have been elected. By doing this it is hoped that the boys will pull together, and have greater friendship among them.

Mr. Wellons complimented the students for their good conduct, and hopes that they will continue to keep up the good record that they have begun.

State-Duke Home-Coming Affair Tomorrow

WOLFPACK PLAYS LAST HOME GAME HERE TOMORROW

Meets Blue Devils On Day Set Aside for Homecoming

STATE-DUKE CLASSIC WILL DRAW LARGE CROWD HERE

Locals Began Work Monday On Duke Plays and Will Continue Until Day of Game—Improved Showing Made By N. C. State Against Carolina Expected To Add Interest To Game—Only Large Game Scheduled In This Part of State—Davidson and Carolina Meet At Davidson.

The State College Wolfpack plays its last home game of the season on Riddick Field tomorrow when it meets Duke University in a Big Five game, which is also being carded as a Homecoming affair for State alumni.

One of the largest crowds ever to attend a football game here is expected, as the game will be the only one of much importance in this section of the State.

The University of North Carolina will play Davidson at Davidson on this date and Wake Forest has no game scheduled for Saturday. Several smaller colleges of the State have been carded, but none are expected to have any effect on the crowd which will witness the game with the Blue Devils.

The improved showing State made against Carolina at Chapel Hill last Friday and the wonderful game Duke has exhibited recently in defeating Kentucky, Villanova, and Navy, coupled with the attendance of many State graduates who will be here to help celebrate Homecoming Day, is expected to draw a large crowd to the State-Duke game.

Following the game Saturday, State will play South Carolina at Columbia, November 22. The Gamecock scrap will be the last for the State College team this season.

Work began in the Wolfpack camp Monday afternoon in a study of Duke plays and Tech coaches are expected to continue to work the men behind closed gates for the remainder of the week.

METTS IS COACHING FOOTBALL

Bill Metts, former N. C. State center on the 1927 championship team, is now coaching high school football at Hampton, Va. This is his first year at coaching football; formerly he worked at the Newport News drydock. Reports have it that Metts is making a wonderful showing, having lost only one game since he has been coaching and that to Norfolk, whereas formerly the team had made a rather poor showing.

State Wolflets Swamp Kittens By Score 61-0; Game Tuesday

Skirting the field with thrilling end runs and smashing the line for heavy gains, the N. C. State freshman football machine registered nine touchdowns and seven extra points to successfully close the 1930 frosh season with a 61-0 walkover at the expense of the Davidson first-year gridmen in the Armistice Day mix-up on Riddick Field.

By walking rough-shod over the Davidson Kittens, the Techlets partly avenged the drubbing suffered by the State varsity at the hands of the Davidson Wildcats in their second contest of the season.

Freshman supporters, numbering about 4,500, were on hand for the tussle, which was the first and last game of the 1930 frosh season to be played at home. The fans were well repaid, since they saw a freshman out fit in action that will surely be heard from next year in the varsity competition.

Coach Bob Warren worked his first string backfield for the first quarter and a half, and in that short time 27 points had been piled up out of the total 61 score. However, Coaches Warren and Evans used three sets of ball-carriers and each set proved itself worthy of the honor. Rice made the longest run of the game when he took a punt 50 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter. Each of the ball-toters got off for long gains, ranging up to 35 yards.

State used the aerial route to tally four extra points, but the lone attempt made outside of these was grounded. The visitors tried the air several times, and were successful a few times. Two of Davidson's three first downs were scored by the overhead route. The third was on Curlee's 12-yard sprint. While the Wolflets were not scoring touchdowns or trying for the extra points, they were busily occupied in piling up 13 first downs.

The first half was bitter medicine for the Kittens. Every line play resulted in a loss, since the State forward wall, which has not been holding so well this season, redeemed itself in this final battle by being almost impregnable. The latter half saw the visitors' advance to State's 35-yard line—the nearest they came to scoring during the entire game.

Rafferty led the scoring with three touchdowns, while the all-round driving power of Rice and Wilson was a feature within itself. Garner, Kinken, Bohannon, Browne, and McQuage also played a good game for the winners. Buchannon at guard, Utley at center, and Scholl and Jones at end played stellar games in the forward wall. Curlee and West in the backfield and Wooten and Mickey in the line looked good for Davidson.

Line-up and summary:

State Frosh	Position	Davidson Frosh
Scholl	Left End	Pratt
Blair	Left Tackle	Lynn
Utley	Center	Wooten
Lavery	Right Guard	Nickey
Gillespie	Right Tackle	Wilson
Jones	Right End	O'Keefe

50 Frosh Heed Warren's Call For Cage Meet

The first call for freshman basketball practice saw some 50 aspirants at the first workout last Monday afternoon at 4:30. Coach Warren issued the call for preliminary practice last week, and enthusiasm among the court men was immediately aroused.

Although football still has the spotlight of publicity, only a matter of a few weeks will shift the light to the basketball courts. The shrill whistle of the referee, the patter-patter of dribbling, and the slashing fury of the eager players will soon claim their rightful place in the center of attraction.

Dr. Warren, though still giving his time to the coaching duties involved in the football teams, both frosh and varsity, is keeping one eye on the developments on the basketball court as the candidates get into shape during these few weeks before actual practice begins. The purpose of issuing the call before the football season is over is, of course, to put the men into proper shape before strenuous workouts get under way.

WOLFPACK LOSES TO CAROLINA TEAM BY SCORE OF 13-6

Margin of Victory Less Than Football Fans Expected

GURNEAU RUNS 60 YARDS FOR 'PACK'S TOUCHDOWN

Losing Team Brings Stands To Feet Three Times—Sam Gurneau Intercepts Carolina Pass On His Own 40-Yard Line and Gallops for a Touchdown—Dellinger Makes Long Run But Fails To Score—Pass From Morris To Nelms Nets 48 Yards.

N. C. State lost to Carolina last Friday in the annual meeting of the two schools by a score of 13-6. Carolina did what was expected by beating the State boys, but the margin of victory was considerably less than the fans expected. The Tar Heels barely eked out their victory, winning by one touchdown and an extra point.

Three times did the losing team bring the stands to their feet, but only once did a score result. In the second period Sam Gurneau, Wolfpack fullback, intercepted a Carolina pass on his 40-yard line and ran the remaining 60 yards for a touchdown. Gurneau's long run came just after Carolina had scored its second six-pointer, the first Heel score coming in the first quarter.

The two big thrills that brought the stands to their feet and did not produce scores came in the first and last quarters. State elected to receive after Carolina had made its first score. Blackwood kicked for Carolina and Dellinger, State halfback, caught the boot for State, and behind perfect interference started down the middle of the field. On the 40-yard line the two teams met, and out of the tangle that followed came Dellinger, ball under one arm and an open field before him. On the Heels' 30-yard line Pete Wyrick made a grab for him and succeeded in holding him by the neck for just a second. But "Dink" was slow up and Nash made a beautiful tackle to stop the boy from Cherryville. Dellinger had passed over 70 yards of the coveted ground before he was finally stopped. Two line plays, a pass, and an end run gained no ground, and the ball went over.

In the last period Morris passed to Nelms on State's 35-yard line. Nelms made a beautiful catch and bolted for a clear field. Once again it seemed that Tech would score, but Johnny Branch came in between Nelms and the goal and Allan was downed on the 15-yard marker. The pass had netted 48 yards. On the first play State tried a pass, but the alert Branch was there instead and intercepted, returning the ball to the 15-yard line, and once again State lost the ball when a touchdown seemed inevitable.

Carolina's production scores against the boys from Raleigh, who refused to take the one-sided licking forecast for them. The Heels made 20 first downs to five for State, and in the first half Carolina got a dozen of its first downs while State was getting none.

The Techs completed only one pass—that from Morris to Nelms—but it was a whopper. Five Tech passes were grounded and three intercepted by Carolina. The Heels tried 27 passes, worked 10 for 122 yards, had 16 grounded, and the other was turned by Gurneau into a State touchdown.

As things went, punting played a big part in the game and State got the decidedly smaller end of this. Two poor punts, as related, set the Heels in position for their scoring efforts. The Techs got only a 25-yard average on a dozen punts, while Carolina's eight boots averaged 38 yards.

However, State had twice the edge on one side of the punting game—return of opponents' kicks. Tech ends were down under punts fast and Johnny Branch was covered more effectively than in any game Carolina has played this season. In all, the Techs returned the eight Carolina punts 56 yards, while Carolina's returns on the dozen State kicks aggregated only 28 yards.

The Tar Heels were throwing passes with regularity in the final quarter. In that period they tried ten heaves. The first failed, the next gained 12 yards, and then came eight unsuccessful tries in a row. The Tech secondary played havoc with the overhead efforts of the Heels. Carolina gained 225 yards on rush-

BOXING

Six matches have been arranged on the partial schedule of the State boxing team, Lieutenant Elmes, coach, announced yesterday.

The partial schedule:
January 10—Duke at Durham.
January 17—Washington and Lee at Lexington.

January 30—Duke at Raleigh.
February 7—V. P. I. at Blacksburg.

February 21—William and Mary at Williamsburg.
February 28—South Carolina, tentative.

Basket Ball Men Have No Coaches But Still Playing

With forty men working out every day for the basketball team without coaching assistance from Coaches R. R. Sernon and Bob Warren, the N. C. State College "Red Terrors" got off to an early start this week to "limber up" for the approaching season.

Actual basketball practice is scheduled to begin November 24. This year's basketball squad, as with the gridmen, will be composed largely of sophomores. Many of the prospective basketballers are still busy with the football season, which will not end until November 22, when State plays South Carolina at Columbia, S. C.

The present basketball squad will reach far beyond 40 candidates when the grid season is brought to a close.

State's 41-yard line. Branch passed to Slusser to put the ball on State's 31-yard line, and Chandler in two tries made it first down on the 19-yard line. But State held for downs, although Chandler made six yards on first down, and the ball went over barely inside State's 10-yard stripe.

Greason's kick was weak, going outside on the 29-yard line, but Carolina's first play brought a 15-yard penalty on the Tar Heels. Two passes and a line play failed and then Branch kicked outside on State's six-yard line. Greason's return boot was for only seven yards before the ball went outside on the 13-yard line. Two ground plays lost two yards and then Cook and Nelms broke up pass tries and the ball went over on the 20-yard line.

In the third period Adams returned a Carolina punt 23 yards to the Tar Heel 45, and Adams, Sharpe, and Dellinger made it first down. The Techs uncorked a pass play, Dellinger's throw being taken in by a Wolfpack player, who ran to the seven-yard line. But the receiver was "Red" Espey, center, and therefore ineligible to take a pass. The result was the Techs drew a penalty of loss of the ball on the 33-yard line.

Early in the fourth period Gilbert, Tar Heel No. 2 center, who started the game and played well at the pivot post, intercepted a pass on

In dormitories as well as in the gym ... beware of "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

THE man who's making his "M. A." as well as the man who's making the team—the fellow whose foot-work is from class to class as well as the bright boy who can foot it in 10 seconds flat—any one or all of them stand a good chance of having that ringworm infection commonly known as "Athlete's Foot." In fact, 50% of the men in universities as widely separated as those of Pennsylvania and California have caught it, according to authoritative reports. "At least half of all adults suffer from it at some time," according to the U. S. Public Health Service.

The symptoms vary, but all are traceable to one germ, trichophyton by name. Sometimes it starts with redness between the toes and it-it-it-ing. Again, tiny blisters appear; or it may show itself in a thick, moist skin condition; or dryness with little scales.

It lurks in the very places where we all go for cleanliness

"Buy Now" would be a good slogan if "Pay Later" tailed it.

Cobb and Stroupe next will be giving "Mack" Stout a compact.

The latest type of competition seen in the classroom is knee-cap.

Tomorrow State plays the Devils. Let's hope they don't play the Devil.

State florists are meeting here this week. It should be a beautiful convention.

A few more games like Tuesday and State College students will have to pull out their arithmetics.

A few more players like "Primo" and some ambitious student will start peddling opera glasses.

This week's trial procedure only goes to show that Hickory nuts are hard to crack—even by squirrels.

Professor Loomis carried his sociology class to Dix Hill recently. Wonder how they all managed to get back?

"Co-ed Government Not Recognized," says headline. Now, what's that old saying about man wearing the pants?

The Watauga is not a strictly humorous magazine, but rather a literary-humorous publication. That's the funny part about it.

When it comes to publicity Janie Andrews is runner-up to the "Great Art Shires." Only she's not liable to be getting married for a while.

State's most honest freshman: The yearling who handed Professor Lucas a psychology quiz with the pledge, "I was unable to receive any aid on this test."

According to Jimmie Summey, most of the pledge dance "rowdies" were students from other schools. More proof that State men are not as bad as pictured.

Blue slips instead of white will be mailed out this year to students with a grade on any course of more than 85. This color certainly won't match the mood of the recipients.

For the most optimistic faculty member we nominate Prof. C. B. Schulenberg. In his statements of profit and loss and balance sheet examples, business owners, regardless of present business depression, never go in the hole.

BOOTLEGGING TICKETS

BEING the only important game in this section, the Home-coming classic with Duke tomorrow is expected to draw one of the largest crowds of the season. State's good showing against Carolina Friday transformed the outcome from a certainty to an enigma.

Good seats will be in demand tomorrow and many students, yielding to the temptation of gold, will peddle tickets to loyal alumni who have journeyed miles to witness again the Wolfpack in action. The proceeds from the smuggled tickets, like gambling profits, is often considered "hot" money and squandered for unnecessary fancies and in dissipation, doing the student more harm than good. Peddling tickets and staying away from games both reflect upon the spirit of the entire student body. Then, too, the tickets are confiscated by authorities when found to be used by other than the right purchaser.

A few students rooming in South have set up a "cut rate" stadium, featuring window seats. Charging 25 or 50 cents for admission, the entrepreneurs attract a large clientele, consisting usually of students who have sold their tickets.

Sometimes the students, aware of their vantage point, throw missiles out the window or unfurl Black Core tissue paper, letting it drift over to the stadium.

Suppose a student, wildly excited because of a good State play, should in demonstrating his mood, fall out the window? What would the outcome be?

Tomorrow when the ball is kicked into play let's all be out on bleachers yelling for State. And, here's hoping South Dormitory will not be a peanut gallery.

SELF-STYLED MARTYR

THE Abernethy case, blazoned in newspapers for the last ten days, will continue live news for at least five more days and more ink will be spread on paper before its final burial.

The Court of Appeals, in granting the defendant a new trial, only fanned the dying embers of unfavorable publicity and now the sensational news will take new life and spread like wildfire in dry sage.

Only once since the first trial has the Abernethy story failed to appear on the front page. Editorials defending the space writer have appeared in State and college papers. These editors, in most cases blindly upholding the "Freedom of the Press," are not fully acquainted with the charge and do not have a knowledge of the background. They are availing themselves of an opportunity to uphold free speech.

The offending article, a glance will show, was written from a biased standpoint. Strong descriptive words, like reek, oily, and foul, are usually employed in denunciation, not exposition.

Cheating is unquestionably in evidence at State College. If and when it is stopped it will be done through the students and not through any effort on the part of the outside world. For that reason any further airing of the incident in question would be regrettable.

Taking his past college career into consideration, Abernethy should be suspended on that record, were it not that expulsion seems to be his goal. Last year he was heard to remark that he "would like to be shipped from State College."

A self-styled martyr, he is now at the height of his glory. Strife, publicity, sensation, uproar—they seem to be his delight.

Whatever is done about the matter, it should be done immediately, and with finality.

When first approached the co-ed leader would not talk, but you know how women are—we got the story.

Twenty-three students have gone home since registration. The campus is now wondering the "who and when" of the 24th.

Seems as if the Student Council by its condemnation of woman government, wants to go in for anarchy in a big way.

For four years Allie Peahead Baggett has set campus styles. But now "Dink" Dellinger has introduced gridsters to a new fad.

Instead of an adjutant being by Charlie Turner's side tomorrow, it will be a Sargent. But she won't wear the regulation uniform.

If State beats Duke tomorrow, Raleigh theatres will, in all probability, have to withstand their first rush of the year. Happiness, like sorrow, generally causes the mob mind to act as if it had no mind.

THROUGH THE TRANSOM

By Dick Yates

They're At It Again!

The same old thing has started again: The boys got together the other night and decided that the co-eds could get along just as well without a separate student government. Being what one could call "men of their words," they drafted their decisions to the board of trustees, asking them to reconsider recognition of the woman government which they so graciously made last spring. Then last week, The Technician blazoned the whole proceedings on the front page with a Heyst-like streamer.

Regardless of what the board of trustees does in this matter, the Student Council, in my opinion, either accidentally or as a matter of course, put out a statement that hinted very, very close to the truth. Few students raise a big kick about the girls attending school here; but as to their right to set up a special government simply because they want one—that right can be seriously questioned.

Examinations Must Go On

Hopes entertained by the senior class relative to the examination exemption petition referred to the general faculty Tuesday were a bit upset when that body voted unanimously to reject the clause relating to the winter term, and voted just as unanimously to grant exemption during the spring term exams. Strangely enough, the general faculty refused their petition regarding the winter term by an exact reversal of the very fact or opinion by which the seniors hoped to have it passed. While the fourth-year men entertained the idea that by exempting B grade students from all senior exams scholarship would be raised, the general faculty took an exactly opposite stand, maintaining that scholarship would be lowered rather than raised by the move.

To ignore either side of the question would be foolish; but to see both sides and then not decide how one feels about the matter would be an admission of inability to make up one's mind. Two things which the general faculty seemed to overlook in its discussion Tuesday are the generally-accepted facts that a student who averages B on a course throughout

MR. BALLENGER PIPES UP IN A BIG WAY

Dear Editor: I should like to call your attention to the fact that the recent election to membership in Los Hidaigos was not a "Ban on Co-eds" in any manner. We have nine of the fairer sex enrolled on our rolls.

We were the first organization, as far as I know, to enroll a co-ed's name. In the spring of 1928 we pledged one co-ed. There you can see that the temporary embargo was only an action of that meeting and not the general action of the general fraternity.

Sincerely yours,
STANLEY BALLENGER,
National Corresponding Secretary.

WHERE WOULD HE GO?

Editor, TECHNICIAN,
N. C. State College,
Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Sir: I have noticed with regret some of the newspaper stories concerning the contemptible "cheating" article by one of the juniors at N. C. State College. This article was based on "confidential questionnaires answered by the students in 1928." Any student who cheats is lacking in self-respect and brings discredit to the college. While it may be hardly probable that many colleges exist in which some cheating is not done, it does not lessen the offense and no student who cheats should be allowed at any college.

Be that as it may, it seems to me that the student who used the information gotten from those confidential reports and wrote that article acted with extreme impropriety and showed himself a traitor to every man who cherishes the good name of State College. To my mind it is very much like a man's making public his private family affairs—which men of honor don't do.

If cheating is going on at the college it should be corrected within the college. Nothing is to be gained by exposing such conditions to the public. Whether the writer of the article quoted correctly or incorrectly, or misrepresented the facts, the principle upon which he acted is the same. He the term has a fair knowledge of the subject, and that last-minute cramming, always attending the approach of examinations, does not do one bit towards insuring a permanent knowledge of the work covered.

OVER THE CAMPUS

By Elbert Overton

"Bob" Gatlin, president of Blue Key, came rushing into the office out of breath this week, before we even had a chance to get out and look over the campus, and said he had been over supervising the rehearsals for the stunts which are going to be pulled off up in Pullen Hall tonight. From what he said about some of the characters who are taking an active part in this elaborate occasion it is going to be about the most important thing happening on the campus this week. We'll all get so much pep and rejuvenated school spirit that we'll be sure and beat Duke tomorrow. Bob said that the program would begin at 6:30 and urged that we all come early and avoid the rush.

From the forensic department comes the announcement that after the game tomorrow the verbal battlers are going to warm up and meet Wake Forest for the first intercollegiate debate of the season. The clash will take place in Pullen Hall and they are going to thresh out the matter of whether the nations should adopt a policy of free trade or not. State will defend the affirmative side of the discussion. It will be Amos and Ward on the air instead of Amos and Andy.

Down in the library Mr. Capps tells us that there is and has been, over the past 18 scholastic months, a gradual increase in the circulation of books from the shelves there. It is very satisfying to know that students are taking an increased interest in reading. It is a wonderful pastime and especially a good one during a period of Hoover prosperity, as there is no expense involved.

could not have hoped to improve the college or any part of college life by writing it. He evidently was prompted by a depraved appetite for that sort of sordid publicity, or possessed with the false and mistaken idea that he was playing up to the admiration of some of his instructors, thereby getting a little nearer the diploma which he expects to get from the institution which he is now knocking.

If that pitiable young man feels that the student body of State College has

Charting tomorrow's telephone needs

Looking ahead — laying a firm foundation for tomorrow's telephone service — has long been a keystone policy of the Bell System.

To illustrate: business starts creeping into a residential district — a sign that greatly increased telephone facilities will be required. Through intensive studies, commercial engineers forecast the needs of five or more years hence with scientific accuracy. Additional exchanges, cable ducts, equipment of all kinds are planned and built. When the call comes the telephone company is ready.

So long as the nation continues to change and grow, the plotting of its future telephone needs will never grow dull. The opportunity is there!

ARGENTINE GOVERNMENT SEEKS STATE'S ADVICE

Courses in Aeronautical Engineering Draws International Attention

International attention has been directed to the new courses in Aeronautical Engineering begun at North Carolina State College last year, as indicated by letters from officials in other countries to John M. Foster, of the engineering faculty in charge of aeronautics.

Abelardo Pantin, commander of the Argentine navy and president of the Argentine Naval Commission, writing for information about the State College Aviation courses, says in part: "Our navy department wishes to obtain information regarding courses in Aeronautical Engineering which may be followed in this country, and we shall be greatly indebted to you for any assistance you can give us in obtaining same."

"Courses in aviation are relatively new at State College," says Professor Foster, "but are fast becoming among the most popular in the engineering school of the college."

Inquiries from all parts of the United States have reached the Engineering Department and the present enrollment is so large that an additional instructor will be added next year.

Dr. W. C. Riddick, dean of the school of engineering, believes that

State College has an exceptionally good course in aeronautics. State College is teaching the ground school work for the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service and has access to the local airport maintained at Raleigh by this pioneer aviation company.

"Those Three French Girls" will be at the Palace Theatre for three days, beginning Monday, and might well be subtitled, "Making Whoopee in Paris," for this talkie farce contains as amusing a series of incidents connected with the French capital as has been shown on the screen in some time.

"War Nurse," the story of which portrays the hardships, the labors, the dangers, and the loves through which the women participating in the World War passed and an angle which has never been portrayed before, is coming to the State Theatre next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

The program will be completed by an Eddie Cantor Act, "Cockeyed News," "Meet the Boy Friend," with Lillian Roth, and Paramount Sound News.

Do you want to be thrilled? To hold your breath while a drama of life and death, of hate and love unfolds itself in ever-mounting action against a background of storms at sea, of ships crashing in the night, or daring rescues and perilous encounters?

Then see "Derelict," the feature coming to the State Theatre next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, in which the great George Bancroft depicts a masterful character, taken right from the salty ocean, in a manner that is thoroughly moving and convincing, in a drama of deep-sea love and hate that will stir you to the very depths of your soul.

Other features on the program will be a Jack Haley Comedy, "Twentieth Amendment," a talkie novelty, "Swing, You Sinners," and a Sound News.

"Extravagance," a Tiffany production in which June Collyer and Lloyd Hughes head an all-star cast, is the attraction next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at the Palace Theatre. It is an original story by A. P. Younger, continuity and dialogue by Adele Buffington, and directed by Phil Rosen. The cast also includes Owen Moore, Dorothy Christy, Jameson Thomas, Nella Walker, Bobby Agnew, Gwen Lee, and Joan Standing.

SAVED!

An unknown Negro ought to be thanking Prof. J. A. Fontaine for his life.

Professor Fontaine was walking down the track. In front of him reeled a Negro man, who apparently had imbibed of "roasting ear beer," too heavily "Toot, toot," shrieked an oncoming train.

Fontaine moved to safety, but the Negro was unconcerned. Seeing that the Ethiopian would be mangled, the professor yanked him off the tracks to safety.

On down the track they trekked. Soon another train, a freight, approached and again the Negro refused to budge out of its way. Fontaine again jerked the drunk to safety, this time getting him out of reach of any oncoming trains.

FELLOWSHIP GROUPS DISCUSS MEN AS RELATED TO WOMEN

Friendship Council Work, Headed By Ralph Cummings, To Start After Christmas

The Freshman Fellowship Groups met last Wednesday night at 6:30 and discussed men and women relationships under the guidance of the various upperclassmen who are in charge of the discussion groups.

The leaders for these freshman groups are directed in their work by Jimmie Halstead, of Norfolk, Va., one of the men on the Y. M. C. A. cabinet. His leaders meet each Monday with Rev. E. M. Potat to plan the program for the Wednesday night meeting.

Freshman Fellowship Groups are a regular part of the program of the Y. M. C. A. in their work on the campus. From the groups that meet to discuss various topics of interest to new students there comes a small number of interested men who continue in the Freshman Friendship Council work in the winter and spring terms.

The Friendship Council work will start immediately after Christmas, taking place of the discussion groups on the weekly program. Ralph W. Cummings, sophomore from Reidsville, will meet with the men to help in getting the organization completed.

A study of campus records reveals that the majority of the Y. M. C. A. and student body officers for the past few years have been men who started work in the fellowship groups and in the friendship council.

TIP-OFFS

By Z

Last year, from September to June, Little Doc Morris sold 36,102 feet of weiners, 45,210 feet of rolls, and 91,800 bottles of soft drinks. If all these weiners, rolls, and soft drink bottles were laid end to end they would stretch out over a distance of 150,168 feet, or to put it differently, if one end of the line began at the Governor's Mansion the other end would reach to the new Duke University campus. If you happen to be taking statistics, figure out how many times the line of weiners, rolls, and bottles would encircle Riddick field, or how long it would take you and your roommate to eat 100 feet of weiners if you only ate two each day.

A recent clipping from "Men's Wear," fashion authority for men, states that spats will be a prime favorite among college men this winter, that beige will be the favorite color, and that they are generally accepted for all town wear. Personally, I like them more because they ward off the cold winter winds than for the fact that they are becoming the accepted thing. Huneycutt's London shops are showing some keen ones, if you're in the market.

And anyone who has lugged a pigskin around as much as Mack Stout should no doubt be well qualified to judge leather. He evidently is, because he bought a pair of Regal shoes the other day.

With Doctor Cader Rhodes adding the famous Rexall line of drugs to his stock, co-eds' student government being opposed by the men's governing body, and the Raleigh Merchants Association inaugurating a "Buy Now" campaign, the next thing you know they will be running Knute Rockne for president.

And if you happen to be passing, stop a moment and read the sign on Fisher's Lunch window. It's O. K.

Well, adios! See you next week.

Mark Webb, Cambridge University bacteriologist, told students of the university that two youths who had grafted the head of a bee on a beetle afterwards maintained they had evolved the perfect humbug.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Cotillion Club Dance Saturday Night
The N. C. State College Cotillion Club will give an informal dance at the Frank Thompson Gymnasium Saturday night from 9 to 12. Jack Wardlaw and his Carolina Tar Heels will play for the event.

Sigma Tau Beta Dance

Sigma Tau Beta, social fraternity, entertained with an informal dance at their home on Oberlin Road Saturday night from 9 to 12.

The house was en suite for dancing. Elaborately decorated in college colors, red and white, was one section of the house, while the other featured fraternity colors, old gold and black. Refreshments were served.

Young ladies attending were: Miss Mae Coates, Miss Margaret Kimble, Miss Margaret Hicks, Miss Marjorie King, Miss Lenora Brookwell, Miss Selma Davis, Miss Lillian Garner, Miss Catherine Bell, Miss Georgia Smith, and Miss Shelton Twiddy.

Chaperones were: Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sorrell, of Detroit, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Alford, of the State College faculty.

COUNTY CLUB ORGANIZES

A Davidson County Club, composed of 23 members, was organized here recently.

Officers of the club are: D. K. Clodfelter, president; H. O. Beck, vice president; M. L. Barnes, secretary; W. H. Ward, treasurer, and C. C. Parks, reporter.

It is estimated that 20,000 college students will be under paddle rule this fall because they happen to be freshmen.

CITIZENSHIP

Number III

Is It Dishonest To Divert Public Property To Private Uses?

By Dr. E. C. Baooks

Public property is any property that belongs to all the people of a given organization. The three officials of the organization referred to had charge of the $1,800 that belonged to all the members of the organization and the officials were directed to use the money in a way to purchase the best service for the benefit of all.

They had no authority to use the money for any other purpose, but the manager, having deposited the money on his own private account, drew a check for $100 more than he as an individual possessed, to make a payment on an automobile for his own personal use. At the end of the month he was short $100 and was compelled to pay higher prices for goods that he bought for the organization, because he was unable to pay cash.

Was the manager dishonest? If the funds had been sufficient to meet the obligations in accordance with the directions, would the manager have been dishonest?

The other two officials of the organization knew the manager was using public funds for his own private benefit. Were they dishonest, although they received no benefit from the use of the money? Is one purpose of public accounting to measure standards of honesty?

ACCOUNTING FRATERNITY INITIATES SIX STUDENTS

Six students were formally initiated into Sigma Alpha Kappa, honorary accounting fraternity, at a meeting of that group Thursday night.

The new members are: W. L. Shoffner, A. R. Guthrie, W. D. Finch, J. L. Carter, P. L. Dughi, and E. M. Guy.

The fraternity was organized in the fall of 1928 to bring into closer contact students specializing in accounting, to promote the profession of accounting, scholarship, and character.

To be eligible for the honorary organization a student must have averaged a "B" or better for all accounting courses for the first two terms. The fraternity plans to bring a number of professional accountants before the accounting students this year, giving them practical as well as theoretical knowledge on the subject.

Officers of the organization are: E. A. Rutted, president; A. C. Little, vice president; J. W. Lewis, secretary; H. J.

Hayes Preparing Students For Civil Service Exams

Prof. Ralph W. Hayes inaugurated this week the first of a series of instruction periods to be given to Forestry seniors on Tuesday evenings at 7:30. The purpose of these instruction periods is to prepare the men for the coming civil service examinations.

The students asked Professor Hayes to start such a group so that they might be able to discuss problems which might appear in the examination.

Last week various problems of Forest Mensuration were gone over and new theories which have not been put in texts were brought up.

From the attendance of the last meeting it would appear that practically all of the members of the Forestry senior class intend to take the examination, which if passed make the men eligible for Forest Service positions.

Professor Hayes is a member of the Forest Service and worked for a number of years in the western states. He has seen much of the "Timbered United States" and is an authority on Silvicultural Operations. He also taught in the State of Louisiana for a number of years.

Provisions for the founding of a college were left in a will of the late Mayor Anthony R. Ruffo, Jr., of Atlantic City, who was killed in an automobile accident. The mayor had hoped to establish the college in his lifetime.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS AT 'Y' CABINET MEETING

Clemson "Y" Men To Be At State Saturday and Sunday To Better Relations

At the Wednesday night meeting of the State College Y. M. C. A. Cabinet there was a large group of distinguished visitors, including Claude D. Nelson, field secretary for the Southern Region of Y. M. C. A., who made an informal talk to the Y. M. C. A. leaders.

From Duke University was W. M. Upchurch, president of the Y. M. C. A. at Duke; J. Foster Barnes, director of religious activity at Duke. Carolina's representation was Harry Comer, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Ed. Hamer, president of the Y. M. C. A.; H. M. James, and Sam Gorham. A former 'Y' president from Texas A. & M., Mr. Harding, who is a graduate student at State, was also present.

Clemson College Y. M. C. A. officials and cabinet are coming to State College for a visit as a step toward closer relations between the 'Y' groups, and are to be here Saturday and Sunday of this week. Dr. Poole is to help in providing entertainment for this group, as he is an alumnus of Clemson.

Mr. Nelson spoke to the assembled cabinets on his policy of work as he is taking it over for the first time this year. He is here to get acquainted with the men who are carrying the work on in the State and spoke expressing complete cooperation with the 'Y' programs in awing in North Carolina.

At present Mr. Nelson is the only field worker in the Southern region, but he is to have a coworker in Mr. James Hardwick, who joins forces with him December 1.

OH, MY! AR-MY

Practically the entire student body attended the State-College contest in Chapel Hill last Friday, rooting lustily and cheering the Wolfpack to upset the dope bucket and hold the Tar Heels to a low score.

A special excursion train, obtained through the work of Maj. McD. Silvester, transported most of the students; however, many made the trip by automobile. Student tickets were honored at the Carolina gate.

Observation Tour Taken By Advertising Students

The classes in advertising are going to make an observation tour of the Edwards & Broughton printing and engraving plant this week, it was announced by Professor Hayes A. Richardson, instructor of advertising, yesterday.

A schedule has been arranged whereby the students may take their class-hour off for the occasion. Professor Richardson announced the plans as follows: Class which meets Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 11:00 will go down town today at 11:00 and GOAL!

FOURTH down! Seconds to play! Defending a slender one-point margin of victory, eleven husky bodies have valiantly repulsed three smashing attacks which have advanced the ball a scant foot to the fifteen-yard line. With success almost certainly within the defender's grasp, the field goal specialist drops far back behind his stalwart line. A crashing impact—a blur of rushing bodies—and his nimble foot sends the ball high between the goal posts for the winning points!

Shift this scene to a battle ground of modern business. The goal is an important contract . . . a substantial order for equipment or appliances. Salesmanship, backed by a product of established quality, plays its important part; but a Westinghouse representative is more than a salesman. The background of specialized engineering skill that enables him to serve his customers as a consultant in electrification is what supplies the necessary "punch" to win.

To many a younger college man with Westinghouse has come the opportunity to apply his talent toward the conclusion of a worthwhile transaction. The young men whose photographs appear on this page are but a few of the many who, with college only a few years behind them, are finding success with an organization offering such a variety of opportunities in the world's electrical work.
