COLLEGE TO HOLD FINAL EXERCISES IN OPEN JUNE 10

Dr. T. P. Harrison Announces
Plans for Forty-first Annual Commencement

1200 ALUMNI TO RETURN
FOR REUNION ON MONDAY

Baccalaureate Sermon To Be Preached Sunday Night in Pullen Hall; Ceremonies To Be Held On Riddick Field; Awarding of Medals and Prizes To Be Held Saturday; Alumni to Elect
Class Officers Monday

Plans for State College's Forty-first Annual Commencement which will be held through two days and three nights, beginning Saturday evening, June 10 have been announced by Dr. T. P. Harrison, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Harrison said speakers for the graduation exercises and for the Baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening would be announced later. The graduation exercises will be held out-of-doors again this spring on Riddick Field. This site was selected in preference to the one in front of Holladay Hall because of the flood lights and seating facilities available. The exercises will begin just at twilight, according to Dr. Harrison. The plan of holding the ceremonies out-of-doors was begun last spring and met with the instant approval of the graduating class and those in attendance. The programs had been held previously in Pullen Hall, the college auditorium, but in recent years this hall has become too small to accommodate the large classes the college has been graduating.

Saturday's program will begin in the evening with the announcement of honors and the awarding of medals and prizes to honor students in Pullen Hall. This will be followed by the senior oratorical contest. The orations will be delivered by seniors representing the various schools of the college. The Baccalaureate sermon will be preached Sunday night at 8:30 in Pullen Hall. Special choir music will be furnished by the choir of the First Baptist Church of Raleigh. Monday morning will be turned over to a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the College at 9:30. A full day of entertainment has been planned for more than 1200 North Carolina State College alumni and their wives who are expected to return to the college on June 12 to take part in the annual Alumni Day and the commencement exercises.

Although only ten of the 40 classes, which have been graduated, have been invited, L. Polk Denmark, alumni secretary, says there will be a number of graduates here from the other 30 classes. The ten classes receiving special invitations this spring are: 1902, '03, '04, '05 and '08, and 1925, '26, '27, '28 and '32. The tentative program, as mapped by Secretary Denmark, calls for a meeting of the various classes Monday morning to elect class officers and talk over old times. At noon there will be a meeting of the officers and committees of the General Alumni Association, and the annual meeting of the entire association will follow in the afternoon. At one o'clock the grads, their wives and families will have luncheon in the college dining hall at which time Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of the college, will speak. Last spring the State College Women's Club tendered the visiting ladies a lawn party on the lawn of Dr. Brooks' home and the courtesy is expected to be extended again this year.

New Technician Heads

E. J. LASSEN

E. J. Lassen of Plainfield, N. J., pictured above at the left, was named editor of THE TECHNICIAN at the student elections last Friday. D. A. ## Pass Stadium Bill

The House yesterday passed the Hindsdale Bill, which would authorize State College to borrow $50,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to erect a stadium. The Senate passed the bill without dissent Tuesday. The bill would permit the Trustees to borrow the sum and repay it out of the athletic receipts. The measure has the approval of Dr. C. E. Brooks, president of the college, and the executive committee of the Board of Trustees of the Greater University.

COMMITTEE NAMES COLLEGE TRUSTEES

Only Five Alumni of State College
Are Among the Thirty-three Nominated

Nominations for trustees of the Greater University of North Carolina were announced recently. Of 33 men and women nominated by the legislature's joint committee on trustees of the consolidated University of North Carolina, only five are alumni of State College.

State college alumni have claimed that they are not properly represented among the 100 members of the board. Eleven of the 33 are members of the legislature itself. The nominees will be presented to the General Assembly for election within the next few days. Of the 23 trustees whose terms expire this year, 15 were nominated for re-election for eight-year terms. The other 10 vacancies were the result of resignation and death.

Former Governor O. Max Gardner was not included among the list of nominees, nor was former Governor Cameron Morrison nominated for re-election. Former Governor Angus W. MacLean was. Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, wife of one legislator and sister of another has refused to accept her nomination. Senator E. M. Land, chairman of the Senate committee said Tuesday that another meeting of the committee will be called as soon as he can confer with Representative R. O. Everett, chairman of the House branch.

TEXTILE SCHOOL TO EXHIBIT WORK AT ANNUAL SHOW

Exposition and Style Show Thursday Planned To Be Largest in Six Years

STUDENTS DEMONSTRATE MANUFACTURING METHODS

Seventy-eight College Girls, Representing Eight Schools to Participate; Textile Manufacturers to Discuss Timely Problems at Morning Meeting; Military Department to Give Parade at Noon in Honor of Participants

State College's annual Textile Exposition and Style Show will be held on Thursday, April 27, and from preparations being made by students for the event, will likely be the largest in its six years' history.

The Style Show, which is always the attractive feature of the day's program, will be participated in this spring by 78 college girls representing home economics departments of Meredith, Peace, Catawba, Elon, East Carolina Teachers, Louisiana, Flora Macdonald and St. Mary's schools.

These young ladies will model a variety of costumes which they have made as part of their class work. Fabrics for the dresses have been designed and woven by students in the textile school.

Following the Style Show, which will be held at 2:30, the textile building will be open to the public, where the students will demonstrate many processes involved in the manufacture of fabrics and hosiery. Spectators will also be shown through the carding and spinning department, the knitting department, and will be carried through the main floor of the building, where they will see looms weaving floral effects, woven picture marquisettes and sports goods, towels, narrow ribbons, fancy leno curtain goods, suitings, ginghams and wide shawings. On the lower floor visitors may see the dyeing department and the research laboratories.

There will also be a meeting of the Eastern Carolina section of the Southern Textile Association in the morning, at which time problems of interest to textile manufacturers will be discussed. At 12 o'clock there will be a full dress parade by the State College R. O. T. C. regiment, in honor of the Textile School faculty, mill officials, Style Show participants and Exposition visitors.

A picture of the signing of the Declaration of Independence made of 10,000 threads of silk will be on display at the Textile Exposition Thursday. The picture is one of the masterpieces of textile art, and was made from a steel engraving of the oil painting in the rotunda of the National Capitol in Washington. Six machines and a special building was used in making this picture which required three years for completion.

The picture was one of the first four made and was presented the Textile School of State College by the Wulfschager Company in Lyons, France. One of the first originals was presented Former President Herbert Hoover, and another is in the large silk museum in Lyons.

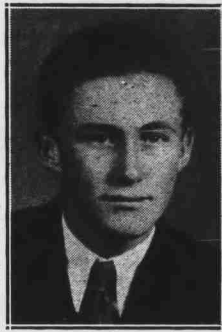

Various shades of black and white silk threads were used to get the desired effects. The picture itself is 24 inches long and 15 inches wide, and there is an additional four inch grey border. The picture will be on display in the Textile Building along with several other silk designs which are used in the Textile School as models for students in designing.

'Possum Chase

'Possum hunting need not be confined to the woods, so E. L. Van Hook and Walter Sharpe found out Tuesday night after the Phi Kappa Alpha chase. Sharpe and Van Hook, clad in tuxedos, were walking along Salisbury Street near the Bland Hotel when they spied an opossum in the street. They immediately gave chase and captured the animal. A policeman standing nearby wondered at the antics of the students and, thinking them possibly intoxicated, chased them to blocks and sent them home after finding the cause of the disturbance.

The opossum is now residing at the Sigma Pi house.

Elected President

W. J. BARKER

W. J. Barker of Burlington was elected president of the Student Government at the student elections Friday over W. P. Kanto of Youngstown, Ohio. Kanto automatically becomes vice president.

MATH DEPARTMENT CHANGES COURSES

Analytics to Replace Solid Geometry Usually Taught Engineering Fresh

Courses in engineering mathematics at State College have been changed, and beginning next year a different schedule from that hitherto used by the mathematics department will be put into effect, according to an announcement made yesterday by professor H. A. Fisher.

Solid geometry which has been taught in the Freshman year will be taken entirely from the schedule and analytics, which was taught in the sophomore year will replace it. Freshmen will be required to have taken this subject before entrance in college, and in case a student meets all other requirements but this, arrangements will be made to give him a course in solid geometry, for which he will receive no college credit. Algebra analytics, and trigonometry will be taught in the freshman year, and Calculus will be taught in the sophomore year. Terms will still be run as before, giving three semesters of five hours a week.

"The principal reason for the rearrangement," said professor Fisher, "is to give students more phases of calculus, and at the same time take the subject more slowly, allowing for 'absorption periods.' Calculus is known to be one of the most difficult subjects taught in college today. It has been termed the 'mud sill' of the engineering education."

The mathematics department will also endeavor to aid students by giving night sessions, to be taught by various teachers in that department.

Y. M. C. A. TO GIVE PLAY IN RALEIGH AUDITORIUM

Play to Include Cast of Forty and Chorus of Two Hundred People

Plans are being formulated by the Y. M. C. The play will include a cast of forty and a chorus of over two hundred. More than thirty negro spirituals, especially arranged for this production and each representing a different type of Negro folk belief or activity, will be sung. The play is credited with giving 32 successful performances in Florida, 12 in Georgia, 7 in Chicago, and one in Atlantic City, where it was the main spectacle at the Episcopal Church.

W. J. Barker of Burlington, in the final elections last Friday defeated W. P. Kanto of Youngstown, Ohio, for president of the State College student body by a vote of 534 votes to 414 in one of the liveliest contests staged for several years. Kanto automatically became vice president.

George Culberson of Rockingham defeated Marshall Gardner of Greensboro by a vote of 467 to 431 for secretary of the student body. Gardner thereby became treasurer of the student body.

E. J. Lassen of Plainfield, N. J., was unopposed as editor of THE TECHNICIAN, as was Dan Torrence of Petersburg, Va., for business manager. In the three-cornered race for editorship of the Wataugan, David Morrah of Greensboro defeated J. O. Wright of Norfolk, 457 votes to 349. O. K. Irgens of Atlantic City, was third with 126 votes.

Edgar Lowrance of Charlotte was named business manager of the publication over Leslie Williams of Kinston, with 566 votes. Williams polled 290.

William Braswell of Greensboro was named president of the Y. M. C. A., with 713 votes over Van Shuping of Morganton, with 206. Shuping automatically became vice president. J. L. Ponsler of Elizabethtown defeated J. F. Poul of Winston-Salem, 560 to 353 for secretary. Kenneth Stephens of Apex defeated John Findlay of Charlotte, 593 votes to 307 for treasurer of the Y. M. C. A.

The student votes gave William "Red" Espey of Hickory, captain of the 1932 football team, the Alumni Athletic Trophy, designating Espey as the outstanding athlete on the campus. Espey defeated Allen Neims of Raleigh and Wilson, a three-letter man, 599 votes to 352.

H. S. Stoney of Watertown, Mass., was named president of the Interfraternity Council and W. B. Jones of Fayetteville was named vice president. New student body officers will be installed some time in May, according to Mark Wilson, past president of the student body. Installation ceremonies will be held during freshman chapel in Pullen Hall. At that time the outgoing president, Wilson, will give a short talk, followed by a speech of acceptance by Barker, the entering president. The new Y. M. C. A. cabinet is at present being organized, and members will be announced in the near future. According to Braswell, the new Y. M. C. A. cabinet will probably take office Thursday night, when the installation will take place.

Editors and business managers are taking over publication, before the end of this school year, at the option of present staff officers.

A NEW STAFF

Election season always brings about changes in the staffs of the campus publications, accompanied by perceivable variations in the style used by the several writers of the various news-carriers. These changes are no fault of the men themselves, but are merely the personal writing-habits of the new staff-members, given the free run of columns, after being held in check by the habitual copy-reader, the editor.

THE TECHNICIAN staff, as well as others, has suffered changes, which, whether fortunate or unfortunate, will not cause any policies set up by the paper to be replaced by too radical variations in the news-gathering and registering by less experienced writers. It will be our future endeavor to stick to the old lines of reasoning taught us by our predecessors. The angles at which we may look at good and bad may not be as wide, or perhaps they may go beyond bounds, but we shall try to keep to the straight and narrow path—fair judgment—in all cases.

Our desire throughout our term as news-gatherers and analyzers will be to find what lies at the core and give it to readers as unbiased knowledge. Our paper shall be uncontaminated by petty or trite originalities. It shall contain those things which will interest the student body as a whole. It will be open to criticisms and suggestions brought by student and faculty alike, for our knowledge of journalism to judge upon, thereby giving the student body a voice in the handling of their campus newspaper.

The outgoing editor has drawn the line at particularly critical points, has taught that news is confined to certain limits within which personal opinion must not enter, and has instilled in his apprentices a jurisprudence which he has maintained against unwise arguments to the contrary. The spirit of his teachings shall be maintained as well as that which lives on from editors long gone, each of whom left some little particle of constructiveness which worked toward the growth of our present paper.

At times our talk may grow wearisome, and at such instances we shall improve upon it to the best of our ability by changing to a new vein of thought in criticism or comparison.

The fate of this blade is in our hands. May fate be kind.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

Fire alarm boxes are suddenly much in demand on the campus. Recent fires have proved that there is only one fool-proof way of announcing to outsiders that aid is needed and that is the fire box. When the cow barn burned recently, one individual found, too late, that the phone he had tried to use to send the alarm was not in working order because some unthinking student had filled the deposit channel with salt.

The argument has been put forth that false alarms would be all too frequent should the school be supplied with alarm boxes. However, by placing the box at some centrally located spot where it would be safely watched, such as the Y. M. C. A., students could be positive of the fact that when they sent the message it would be received, and would naturally run to the spot immediately, rather than waste time, money, and buildings by becoming the brunt of some imbecile's prank.

STUDENT TRIALS

A concerted movement against any form of political favoritism between the judge and the accused at student council trials may gather momentum if a discussion started at the Blue Key meeting Monday has the desired effect upon the students and their exponents. Methods for improvement in the trials of student law breakers will eventually gain perfection, but not until such a time as the judges' opinions will be untouched by public feeling.

ELECTION AFTERMATH

The political machine, so cleverly designed by a few self-styled exponents of candidates seemed to find itself too heavily loaded, and became overbalanced, to the deep regret of its champions. However, there may still be some way to solve this mystery surrounding the failure of elaborate unsolicited, and—unknown to many—undesired favors that friends tendered candidates. Perhaps what occurred will serve to prove to a few that the kind of publicity used to bring candidates before a nation is not practicable on our campus. This selfsame fact was demonstrated a few years back when blotters were the vogue, and blotter-donors found that what the students wanted were not material gifts, but the offerings of one who apparently looked beyond the life of a blotter.

After all, what is college but a melting pot into which we are cast as freshmen, to absorb both good and bad, sometimes boiling over with enthusiasm, and then again falling back into the normal stride, when we extinguish the flame that leads us on. So it is with well-meaning friends whose helpfulness can at times go beyond bounds.

An education is luckily not confined to scholarship. A greater portion of our days are given over to learning how to meet defeat and to gain knowledge from mistakes which lead us to defeat. Those disappointments which may confront the loser will benefit him more at the proving grounds than will all the success that comes to another.

All the admiration of fellow students must be heaped upon a losing candidate who can leave all grieving to be done by his fellows, grip the winner's hand and offer him any help that may lie within his power to give.

A glance to the winning side reveals, satisfaction and a feeling of peace which overtakes the flurry of excitement that governs all when election day approaches. And well may he be satisfied who sees his schoolmates go as a body and check his name. The spirit shown by the Agricultural school was remarkable in its intensity, and it leaves behind it a lesson for other schools to follow. It has always been known that members of the Ag school are more closely bound together, and last Friday's demonstration was sufficient proof.

Having won, new officers will now be ready for criticisms or suggestions. The beginning of a term in office presents difficulties which should be ironed out. Right now must be the ideal time to make changes and additions to laws governing the student body, which may seem useless. Start off your friend among those chosen to lead by making him work.

A NEEDED IMPROVEMENT

A worthwhile campus improvement might be the placing of some form of marker or sign at the east entrance of the campus as a means of identifying the institution to the visitor or passerby.

At the present the only means of identification which the college has is a small, faded, wooden sign at the far western end of the campus, which is placed in an inconspicuous place and is not, seen by the majority of people passing.

The construction of a sign which would ably identify the institution could be secured at a comparatively low cost and would pay for itself many times as an asset to the campus. For a small added cost the sign could be electrified, thus making it conspicuous even at night.—E. S. K.

A LOPSIDED BOARD

The familiar custom of legislators naming themselves and their friends in the lobbies as trustees of the State's institutions of higher learning was followed with a vengeance on Wednesday when half the new members of the board of trustees of the Greater University of North Carolina were named from the membership of the now sitting Legislature. Well-known persons urged by the various units of the University were passed by while the members of the joint committee on trustees appointed themselves and their friends.

An old evil, however, is easier to bear than a new one, and the board of trustees of the Greater University is suffering today from a lopsidedness which was not helped by the nominations Wednesday. The board of trustees for the consolidated institutions is supposed to reflect the interests of all three institutions. Actually, as the board now stands, an overwhelming majority of the trustees are alumni of the University at Chapel Hill, while the Woman's College at Greensboro and the State College unit have only the scantiest representation on the board.

Sixty-four of the 106 trustees are alumni of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Nine of the 106 trustees are alumni of North Carolina State College.

Two of the above members are former students both of State and the University, making the total for these two colleges 69 members of the board. On the board are only 11 women, not all of whom are alumnae of the North Carolina College for Women. The remaining 18 trustees are alumni of none of the three institutions.

There is no suggestion here that the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is attempting to secure a disproportionately large representation on the board. There is no suggestion that that disproportionately large representation will seek to further the interests of the institution at Chapel Hill at the expense of the other large units in the Greater University. It is obvious, however, that in the consideration of the various problems of consolidation which must inevitably arise there is not sufficient representation of the State College and Woman's College viewpoint to give proper emphasis to matters of vital concern to them.

One of the most important problems involved in the consolidation is that of the consolidation of the two engineering schools, one at Chapel Hill with around 200 students and the other State with around 700 students. Yet on the whole board of trustees there are only three engineers, though the names of distinguished members of this profession were presented to the joint committee on Wednesday.

The truth seems to be that the board of trustees of the Greater University has ceased to represent the diverse interests of the three units and to represent only, so far as control of the board is concerned, the one unit at Chapel Hill. This is a situation which will not aid healthily and intelligently consolidation nor secure for the Greater University the loyal acceptance of the decisions of consolidation from the alumni of all three of its units.—Raleigh News and Observer.

HERE and THERE

By PHIL SEWELL

I see that the Sigma Nu's have made their annual move to Carolina Court. The move was evidently a hurried one for they exchanged a very nice house for something on the order of a telephone booth. I cannot conceive of the reason for their effecting such a move unless it could be a tradition. Maybe in the past you have noticed that more than once strange people have mistaken State College for the State Home for the Insane, because of the nearness of the two institutions. Well, if the same people were to return to the campus now they would have good reason to think that people here are crazy. When nothing crazy can be thought up just let some fraternity start their "Hell Week" and you will see more crazy things being done than you ever dreamed of. Now that "Hell Week" is in full swing on this campus just sit tight and keep your eyes open and you will see things that every one will enjoy except those putting on the "show." Don't blame the poor freshmen for what they do, for they feel that a shine on the campus is better than two shins some place else.

Now that a week-end of extensive dancing has passed some feel that they have enjoyed themselves to the utmost while others feel a little worse for the wear and tear. My comment would be that the dances were fine and did honor to the groups or organizations that sponsored them.

Elections are over and there is a smile of victory on the faces of some and there are smiles there of others. All with regret on the faces of others. All those who were running for offices, that I have seen, are taking victory and defeat very gracefully. The campaign this year was one of the most interesting ones that I have ever followed and even if the election was clean in every way the competition was hot to the very last. The only regret that I have is that I lost two bits by betting on the wrong man. I hope that no one on the campus suffered a greater loss than that, and that whether the man you were backing was elected or not that you will back the incoming officers to the best of your ability and then we cannot fail.

I see in THE TECHNICIAN that the State College swimming pool will be open to co-eds on Thursday nights and open to boys and girls on Saturday nights. The pool has not been open to the girls before this year so I presume that the announcement was taken as good news to them. There is only one drawback to this plan and that is, that the girls will not wear nude suits since they cannot go in nude as the boys do, it all comes down to this—the girls will wear woolsen suits, and when the boys and girls go in together, the boys will have to wear woolsen suits. Anyone that knows anything about an indoor swimming pool knows that nothing will ruin the bathing suit quicker than small threads that come off of a woolsen bathing suit, and who wants to swim in a pool that is not clean?

I know that the college authorities and those that enjoy the pool would greatly appreciate it if those that use the pool would, as far as possible, use cotton suits.

A certain student on this campus informed me the other day that he had found a sure cure for insomnia. I was very interested in this for if he had he had accomplished a feat that the most celebrated doctors in the world could not equal. I asked for more details about this cure for sleepless nights and he made the following explanation:

The cure can be enacted anywhere that you have a place to lie down, but the best place is in your own room. First you direct the lights of the room on the place that you are going to recline—then you doze and see that the windows are raised so that you will have plenty of fresh air. Now make your bed as comfortable as possible and prepare for a good night's sleep. If you don't have a copy of the Watuspan, get one, for this is absolutely necessary. Now when you have acquired a Watuspan lie down and start to read. Before you read much pull up the covers, for in less than five minutes you will be asleep.

I have never been told, but I shall be willing to bet that the students that work in the library are the best read students in school. I went down to the library the other day to get a book and it took me fifteen minutes to find out that the book I wanted was not even in.

I wonder if it would be asking too much of those that work at the desk to request that they stop reading in the middle of a paragraph if you are waiting to draw out a book. If they would I am sure that they would receive a vote of thanks from quite a few that have mentioned the fact to me.

More than once in the last week it has been brought to my attention that we have quite a few outstanding men on the campus. One that is locally prominent is the well known boy that rides a bicycle to meet all of his classes. He is very active on his wheel, but to avoid any incumbrances that might impair his driving he carries his books in a satchel that is strapped on his back. This man is outstanding because of his odd mode of transportation. If you had been told his name at the first you would have associated it with his bicycle.

Now take another man on this campus. He is not only locally outstanding but has won national fame and glory for himself and his school. His name is Lonnie Knott. How many of you know that he has grounds to claim to be the best collegiate extemporaneous speaker in the United States? There is really no such title as this but no intercollegiate speaker in the United States can lay claim to as many honors or titles as can this boy from N. C. State. Men like this not only heap laurels upon themselves but they do credit to their school. May we have many more like him in the future.

R. O. T. C. STAGES SPRING PARADES

Series of Seven Drills Honor Heads of Schools at State College

Seven dress parades are being staged by the R. O. T. C. department of North Carolina State College this spring, according to Col. Bruce Macruder, commandant of the State College unit.

The series of parades started Thursday, April 6, at noon when the regiment of some 800 students paraded in honor of the Dean Riddick and heads of the engineering schools and the officers of the feet of United States bombing planes here as a part of the exercises of the students' Engineers' Fair.

Monday the recently elected student body leaders were honored at a full dress parade on Red field.

Before passing in review, the unit paid honor to members of this year's rifle team, presenting sweaters and monograms to ten of the team members.

A parade will be held in conjunction with the Cotton Ball on Thursday, April 27, to honor Dean Thomas Nelson faculty and guests of the Textile school.

This will take the place of the parade which was to be held on Monday of that week.

In addition to these, there will be drills of this sort on April 24 and May 1, 5, and 15.

On Thursday, May 25th, the regiment will pass in review in honor of the graduating class of 1933.

Hundreds of Raleigh people attend these parades each spring. They are held on Red Field, on the campus, and in addition to the uniformed regiment, the 60 piece military band also passes in review.

The parades will be led by Cadet Col. Dan Torrence of Petersburg, Va., who is the highest ranking student R. O. T. C. officer.

Why doesn't somebody give him a good pipe and some tobacco? For a pipe helps a man to think straight. Of course, it's got to be the right tobacco. But any college man can guide him in that. A recent investigation showed Edgeworth to be the favorite smoking tobacco at 18 out of 54 leading colleges.

Which is only natural—for in all tobaccos there's no blend like the mixture of fine old burleys found in Edgeworth. In that difference there's a new smoking satisfaction, a new comfort, for the man who likes to think and dream with a pipe between his teeth.

Techmen Meet Blue Devils at Duke Tomorrow at 3 P.M.

Captain Snoozy Morris or Seitz Will Hurl Against the Dukemen

CADET GAME CALLED OFF ON ACCOUNT OF WEATHER

State's Baseball Team Scheduled For a Win Yesterday Against V. M. I.; the Techs Trimmed the Cadets 11 to 3 on State's Virginia Trip; Cooper Has Slated to Pitch Game Having Shutout the Cadets Before

State meets Duke tomorrow for State's second game in the Big Five Conference. Captain Morris and Rudy Seitz are slated for mound duty against the Blue Devils.

This game will make the Techs eighth game in the Southern Conference. State has won six out of seven games to date, their only game lost was to Wake Forest on Easter Monday, V. M. I. Game

The V. M. I. game scheduled for yesterday was called off because of rain. This game will not be played later because the Techs schedule does not call for any more trips to Virginia, and the Cadets are unable to play later because they are on a scheduled trip.

State beat the Cadets to the tune of 11 to 3 when State was on its Virginia trip. Cooper hurled a fine game, and had wonderful support from his team-mates. The Techs were favored to win yesterday's game by a safe margin.

STATE GOLFERS SUCCEED IN SPITE OF NO FUNDS

With no Appropriations as a Handicap, the State Golfers Fight to Win

Golf is looking up at N. C. State College and the team recently organized at the school will play one of the heaviest golf schedules any such team has ever played at State.

The team has already played three matches and expects to book at least six more. It recently defeated Wake Forest College 17 1/2 to 1/2 on the Raleigh Country Club course, and expects to play the Deacons in a return match Saturday of this week. This date, however, is not definitely settled.

Other matches are pending with Davidson, V. P. I., Richmond University, Carolina and Duke. The team also expects to enter the Southern Conference tournament this spring.

Fred Newnam, Jr., of Raleigh, is No. 1 man on the club and is considered one of the best college golfers in the State. He is the son of Fred Newnam, prof. of the Raleigh Country Club where the State team practices and stages all of its home matches.

Pat Pastore, Newark, N. J., No. 2; Charlie Styron, New Bern, No. 3; Myron Rhyne, Kings Mountain, No. 4; Arthur Wilson, No. 5; and Jimmy Foyner, No. 6, both of Raleigh, complete the team, which is coached by Capt. B. W. Venable of the State College R. O. T. C. department.

The athletic department of State College does not appropriate any money to the upkeep of a golf team, and the members of the club are footing their own bills.

DEACONS TROUNCE STATE IN EASTER DAY CLASSIC

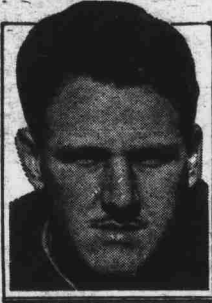

June Barnes's Clever Pitching Augmented by Good Work at Bat Features Win

For the first time since 1930 the tilt between State and Wake Forest was held on Easter Monday. Wake Forest gave State its first defeat this year to the tune of 13 to 1.

June Barnes pitched a nice game and held State to but six hits which were all well scattered. He also wielded a nice stick getting three for five trips at bat.

State's lone score came in the eighth inning when Roach and McQuage doubled after two were out. McQuage was put out when he attempted to stretch his double for another base. Roach featured in hitting for the Doakmen when he got two for four.

Slugging Pitcher

Rudy Seitz, fast ball right-handed pitcher, is setting something of a hitting record in the Southern Conference for other college pitchers to swing at. In 14 trips to the plate he has hit one home run, two doubles, and two singles.

GRADUATION TAKES WOLFPACK PUNTER

Bob Greason Averaged Better Than Forty Yards a Kick Last Season

Graduation this spring will take Bob Greason from N. C. State College and will leave Head Football Coach John P. "Clipper" Smith looking for someone to do the kicking for the 1933 Wolfpack.

Greason, an end, was the leading punter in the State last fall, averaging better than 40 yards a boot during the season. A player to take his place will be hard to find.

Spring football drills are on at State and considerable part of each day's drill is being spent by the coaches in developing kickers. One of the best bets is Raymond Redding, another flanker. Redding is a sophomore and played regularly on the varsity this past fall. He has been kicking the ball on an average of 50 yards this spring.

Robert "Red" McAdams, all-State halfback; Ray Rex, 210 pound fullback; Venice Farrar, big tackle of the freshman team of 1931, but who is being converted into a center; Allan Bailey, halfback; and Capt. Mope Cumiskey, all-State fullback; are also being coached in kicking.

Steve Sabol, regular freshman center last fall, and Venice Farrar, star tackle on the 1931 freshman team, but who has been shifted to center this spring, are leading candidates for the pivot post.

Higher Grades

It was recently discovered in a survey at Franklin and Marshall College that the grades of those students who had chosen their vocations before entering college were 5 per cent higher than those of students who had not decided on their future work.

VARSITY DEFEATS V. P. I. SATURDAY

Score 12 to 5 to Win Sixth Straight Game of Southern Conference

State romped over V. P. I. Saturday to the tune of 12 to 5 to make their sixth straight win of Southern Conference Games.

Willie Duke hit three triples to feature in batting while Lambeth alternative short stop led the team in hitting.

After the third inning the game was on ice and the Virginia Polys did not have a chance because of the terrific slugfest staged by the Doakmen. So deadly did the Techs wield their sticks that it took four Polys hurlers to try to stem the tide, but to no avail, the slaughter still went on.

Wood and Avera scored in the first inning off of Bailey's single through the pitcher's box. Lambeth scored in the second inning when Morris hit to first base. In the third inning the bucket was upset when Duke hit a triple to score Avera, and Duke scored on a sacrifice fly. Lambeth hit a single and stole second, and then stole third, Fuller hit a double to bring Lambeth across the plate.

The winning pitcher was Morris, Fuller catching him. Hymen Dave relieved Morris in the seventh frame, Ferris doing backstop duty for him.

High Track Meet

The Wake County high schools will hold their annual track meet on Riddick Field tomorrow. The meet is scheduled to start at 9 a.m.

Six schools will be entered, with competition for both boys and girls. Johnny Miller, director of physical education, will officiate at the meet.

Yearlings Trim Campbell In 11 Inning Return Game

Flythe Pitches a Good Game to Hold Campbell to Nine Scattered Hits

WILLIAMS AND STATON LEAD WITH SINGLE EACH

Game is Tighest That Has Been Played This Season in Frosh Circles

State Frosh trimmed Campbell College Tuesday in an 11-inning game by a close score of 3 to 2. The batteries for State were: Flythe and Staton; for Campbell, Fowler and Singletary.

From the time the game started it was a pitching duel to the finish. Flythe's team-mates gave him perfect support, playing a tight game all the way, handling all chances safely with but one error by Flythe.

Campbell scored their first run in the first inning. State tied this in the fourth, this continued till the eleventh inning when Campbell pushed in a run on Matthews double scoring Byrd. State came to bat in its half to tie and to make the winning run. Williams singled and went down on Womble's bunt, which he beat out. Fowler handled the bunt and overthrew first, advancing both men. Flythe grounded out. Staton laid down a perfect bunt scoring Williams. Fowler took the bunt and threw wild to second to catch Staton, and Womble scored when he overthrew the base.

Williams and Staton led the yearlings in hitting with a single apiece. This is thought to be the tightest fought game played this season by any Frosh teams in this state.

FROSH MEET BABY DEACS ON WAKE FOREST FIELD

The State yearlings meet Wake Forest frosh, at Wake Forest, tomorrow at 3 p.m.

This game should prove very interesting because they seem to be fairly evenly matched, both having won one game and lost one.

Conference Standings

State and North Carolina are tied for first place in the Conference. They are leading with six wins apiece.

The standings of the Southern Conference teams follow:

Twenty-one athletes were among the 309 students honored at N. C. State's eighth annual Scholarship Day exercises yesterday at noon.

High scholastic honors were conferred upon six of the athletes and honors were conferred upon 15 others. It was the largest number of athletes ever to gain such recognition at State College. High honors are the top scholastic rank to be obtained at State and the next highest is that of honors.

The six students making high honors are: Wynant Moorman and Henry Dinkelapfel, swimming; David Rodwell and James Cooper, baseball; William Myatt, basketball; and Herbert Lynch, track.

Those making honors are: John Stanko, David Bohannon, Reid Tull, Arthur Wilson and Micott Browne, football; Ned Wood, baseball; F. A. Carter, swimming; Hubert C. Row, tennis; Charlie Styron, golf; George Beaghen, John Guzas, basketball; Donald Fry and David Morrah, wrestling.

Trophy Winner

WILLIAM "RED" ESPEY

Espey, the former Hickory high school flash, has had a nice athletic career at State. Red was voted the most valuable athlete this year at State, winning the Alumni Athletic Trophy.

He played one year freshman football and three years varsity, being elected captain in his senior year and receiving honorable mention for the All-American center position.

Red not only starred at football but also as a boxer, winning six fights in six starts his first year of competition without having any previous training. Espey was co-captain of the boxing team last year.

His average grades for his entire college course were 78.6 per cent.

ROGERS DELIVERS TALK ON FARM MANAGEMENT

L. M. Boswell and O. P. Owens Given Keys For Work on Agriculturist During Year

"Every farm is a problem within itself; and even a good farm manager might not be able to successfully manage farms under varying conditions," said Ralph H. Rogers in a talk on "Farm Management" before the Ag Club on Tuesday night.

Rogers, who is connected with the North Carolina Experiment Station, doing research work in farm management, told the men of the work now in progress and of the need for further development of that phase of agriculture in this state.

After the talk a short business session was held, at which time E. M. Fress presented keys to L. M. Boswell and O. P. Owens for their work as editor and business manager of the 1932-33 N. C. State Agriculturist.

J. E. Foll was elected secretary of the Students' Ag Fair. The office was made vacant by the resignation of W. J. Barker, recently elected president of the student body.

Lonnie M. Knott will speak to the students of Shaw University today at noon on the subject, "Is Peace Impossible."

Too One-Sided

The routing of a small black mongrel by a herd of cows which were grazing in the fields west of the dairy barns drew the interest of many spectators from the Wake Forest-State baseball game Monday.

The solitary dog seemed to find pleasure in pursuing the cows about the inside of their inclosure, causing one to hurdle the surrounding barbed-wire fence.

In a short time the cows banded together, and bore down on the dog in a counter-attack. The dog suddenly lost interest in his play, and after leading the herd a merry chase around the enclosure, made a hurried exit through the fence.

BROWNE PREPARES SUMMER BULLETIN

Information Regarding Courses And Instructors to be Ready in April

The Summer School bulletin giving courses to be offered instructors and other detailed information is in course of preparation and will be ready for distribution in April, according to Director T. E. Browne.

The courses usually given in Summer School supplemented by several entirely new courses will be offered. Members of the regular college faculty will be used to do the teaching.

Browne says that "during the times when summer employment is so difficult to secure the Summer School offers a real opportunity for college students to get off work, thus enabling those who are irregular to become regular and the superior student to get off additional work and graduate in less than four years."

"A student can do nothing better during these times than to devote himself to study, getting ready for the day, which is bound to come, when the highly trained individual will be in great demand."

R.O.T.C. TO STAND STIFF INSPECTION

Colonel H. G. Davids to Conduct Tests April 24, 25 and 27 On All Work Studied

The ROTC department of North Carolina State College will have its annual spring inspection by the War Department on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, April 24, 25 and 27.

Colonel H. G. Davids, area inspecting officer, will visit the campus on these three days and will conduct an exhaustive inspection on all phases of work studied during the year.

The inspection will include a study of class work, close order and extended drill, and tactical maneuvers. Examinations will also be given in classroom work.

A parade and review honoring Colonel Davids will be held at the college on Monday, the first day, and the public is invited to attend the ceremony.

Col. Davids inspected the State College regiment last year and gave the unit an "Excellent" rating, the highest obtainable. Such a rank places the College on the national honor roll. State College has received the "Excellent" rating for the past several years and following the rating last year, the local regiment was chosen as the only college in the country to give a trial to the new and simplified drill regulations which the War Department is promulgating provisionally.

The new drill practically does away with squad drill, the emphasis passing from the squad to the section which has become the basic unit on account of the leadership problems developed by the increasing use of automatic weapons.

Although having only one year in which to develop this new system, Lieut. Col. Bruce Magruder and his staff of assistants are confident of an "Excellent" rating again this spring.

Ever smoke
"whittle"
tobacco?

Well... here it is... already whittled FOR you. Granger Rough Cut is tobacco whittled right... that's one reason why it burns so slow and cool.

WHEN we started to make Granger Rough Cut we knew that fine tobacco burnt hot because it burnt so fast. It kept your pipe hot. You could hardly hold your pipe in your hand, it got so hot at times.

Then we remembered that some folks back yonder used to "whittle" their tobacco. So we made GRANGER just like "whittle" tobacco - "Rough Cut." It smokes cooler and lasts a lot longer. And also, you'll find it never gums the pipe. So far, so good. Now we wanted to sell this tobacco for 10c. Good tobacco—right process—cut right. It was a question of how to do it for the price.

So we put GRANGER in a sensible soft foil pouch instead of an expensive package, knowing that a man can't smoke a package. We gave smokers this good GRANGER tobacco in a common-sense pouch for 10c.

GRANGER has not been on sale very long, but it has grown to be a popular smoke. And there is this much about it—we have yet to know of a man who started to smoke it, who didn't keep on. Folks seem to like it.
