STATE WILL HAVE STUDENT 'AG' FAIR ON OCTOBER 10-15

President A. D. Williamson Says
There Are Faculty Members
Opposed to Fair

DR. Z. P. METCALF DENIES THAT FACULTY IS OPPOSED

Director of Instruction Says Some Faculty Men Objected on Grounds of Shortness of Time in Preparation; This Year is Fairs' Twelfth Anniversary;
Fred Jones President of Fair in Connection With Annual State
Fair

Despite rumors of faculty opposition, the Students' Ag Fair will be held this year in conjunction with the State Fair from October 10 to 15.

A. D. Williamson, president of the Ag Club, told the organization at the meeting Tuesday night that there were faculty members opposed to holding the fair this year. Sentiment for the fair was strong at the meeting and the students went on record as being in favor of holding the fair.

Preparations have been under way for some time for the exhibits at the fair.

Dr. Z. P. Metcalf, director of instruction of the Agricultural School, denied reports of faculty opposition, stating that the basis for the rumor was the fact that some of the Agriculture faculty had said that, due to the shortness of time for preparation, this would be a good year to abandon the fair if it were to be abandoned. The students stressed the point that the fair was a very good advertisement for the college, and especially the School of Agriculture, as well as being good experience for the students. The president of the club, A. D. Williamson, said, "The Students' Ag Fair is a great advertisement for the college in that it shows the public exactly what we are doing and trying to do in the School of Agriculture."

This year will mark the twelfth anniversary of the fair. The officers for this year's fair are: Fred Jones, president; George Sprinkle, vice president; H. C. Colvard, secretary; R. M. Williams, assistant secretary; A. D. Williams, treasurer; and D. S. Weaver, faculty adviser.

The heads of the departmental exhibits are: A. H. Scott, animal husbandry; E. G. Odom, vocational agriculture; Tom McChesney, agronomy; J. K. Henry, poultry; K. J. Shaw, botany; C. S. Cleverner, zoology; Frank Permuter, horticulture; and R. A. Wood, forestry; Robin M. Williams, agriculture economics.

The big tent housing the Students' Fair will be directly behind the exhibit building, where the citizens and students will have the privilege of viewing the arts displayed by the eight departments of the Agricultural School.

Prizes will be given for the best exhibits. Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, will conduct an information booth, in order to answer any questions asked concerning the fair or Agricultural School.

The secretary of the State Fair is cooperating with the Ag Fair officers in an effort to make this year's fair one of the best to be held. The annual judging contests will be held on the campus the week following the fair. These contests will include agronomy, farm engineering, livestock, poultry, soils and essays.

DORMITORY MEN ELECT OFFICERS FOR 1932-33

President, Vice President, and Other Officers Named at Wednesday Meets

Officers were installed in the various dormitory clubs which met Wednesday night in response to a notice sent out by Mark Wilson, president of the student body. Each club elected a president, vice president, secretary-treasurer, and athletic manager.

In addition to the regular officers the athletic manager was added to arrange and to manage the club in the intramural contests.

Besides electing officers the club members discussed the dormitory regulations and added suggestions to make them more suitable places to live.

Registration Cards

W. L. Mayer, director of registration, announces that the fall registration cards will be given out today upon presentation of temporary registration cards. The cards serve as a means of identification and as a pass to athletic events held on the campus.

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL GIVE PLAY

"Baby Mine" Name of Red Masquers' Play to be Given Nov. 18 in Pullen Hall

The Red Masquers will present Baby Mine, a farce comedy written by Margaret Mayo, on Wednesday, November 16 at Pullen hall.

The play ran a year and a half in New York, one year in London, eight months in Chicago, and has been produced by amateur groups in all parts of the world.

Try-outs for the many places that are open will be held at 109 Pullen on Friday noon and Monday evening from seven-thirty to eight-thirty o'clock. Arrangements for try-outs can also be made.

Red Masquers' officers for this year are: Mary Hugh McDonald, president; J. D. Swain, vice president and advertising manager; LeRoy Lumphin, secretary; R. H. Mims, treasurer and business manager; and W. G. Butler, property manager.

WILLIAMS MAKES TALK AT GARDEN CLUB MEET

Professor C. B. Williams, head of the Department of Agronomy, addressed the members of the Raleigh Garden Club Wednesday afternoon, October 5, on "Precaution in Lawn Making."

Professor Williams, who is an authority on the subject, in addition to making the talk, distributed mimeograph copies of instructions on lawn making and keeping.

Williams made a radio talk on the same subject yesterday.

DR. GRAHAM MAKES PLEA FOR LIBERAL UNIVERSITY

University of North Carolina President Talks at N. C. C. W. Wednesday

Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, made an address at North Carolina College for Women, at Greensboro, Wednesday at the Founder's Day program, making a plea for preservation of a "free university where students can obtain and develop ideas."

Dr. Graham said students could "grow stronger intellectually" in such an atmosphere.

He said, "There are three characteristics of this generation; and listed them as contained in an 'era of intellectual and moral confusion'; an era 'after great slayings in the World War where personality was submerged'; and an era of depression 'when young men and women should give special thought to social, spiritual and economic conditions.'"

Dr. Graham said "only abiding things are spiritual and intellectual ones and only at a free university can these human values be seen and developed."

Gets Appointment
J. T. Winstead, Jr., a graduate of State College, has been ordered to Kelly Field October 10, to report for flying instructions.

Winstead was graduated in electrical engineering in June, 1932.

Among the Best

"Daddy" Price, director of the State College Band, says that he has six men in his band that are qualified to play in any band in the United States.

The seven veteran bandmen named in this highly complimentary statement are: Joe Allen, D. E. Bennett, J. M. Poyner, J. W. Culp, B. R. Culp and J. C. Geddie.

FROSH FALL OFF FOUR TONS LESS THAN 1935 CLASS

State Freshmen Laid End to End Will Reach Little Less Than One-half Mile

YEARLINGS MORE CHESTY WITH INDIVIDUALS HEAVIER

Milan Zori is Tallest at Six Feet Seven Inches; Overcast Weighs 237 Pounds; J. R. Chapman Lightest at 91 Pounds; W. N. Flouray and B. F. Falgum Most Chesty With Expansions of Approximately Five Inches

By J. W. LAMBERSON
The average freshman at State College this year is 5 feet 8 1/4 inches tall, weighs 149.02 pounds and has a chest expansion of 2.96 inches, according to the records of the physical examinations compiled by the R. O. T. C. on registration day.

The freshmen weigh 54,327 pounds or a little over 27 tons. Last year the freshmen weighed 31 tons.

Their height is 24,432.5 inches or 2,026 feet high, or almost half a mile high. Last year they totaled 2,466 feet in height. If they were laid end to end they would reach around the track on Riddick field more than twice.

The total chest expansion for the frosh was 1,938.6 inches or 86.5 feet. This is 10.3 feet less than the chest expansion of last year.

The average freshman compared with last year is one and a third inches taller, twelve and seven-tenths pounds stouter, and has a chest expansion of three-tenths of an inch greater, making him taller, fatter, and more chesty than last year's freshman class.

The figures seem to indicate that in spite of a depression, future graduates had plenty to eat.

The reason for this weight may be seen when the following weights are considered. C. B. Overcast tipped the scales at 237 pounds, and he is the heaviest freshman to pass the military requirements for training this year.

Several men were heavier than he, but they were not allowed to take military this year. J. R. Chapman weighed only 91 pounds, and was advised by the military department that he would have to gain some weight before being allowed to participate in military training this term. He was also one of the smallest in stature this year, being only five feet one and a half inches tall. Milan Zori, freshman football player, was the tallest, being six feet seven inches tall.

We have several chesty men in this year's frosh class. W. N. Flouray and W. F. Falgum have a chest expansion of five inches. They would probably make good Sousaphone players, and V. F. Jones, who has only a little over an inch of expansion would make a good piccolo player.

The military department stated that there were very few men turned down this year, and as a whole the men were in good shape.

LOYD MOORE SELECTED AS JUNIOR CHEER-LEADER

Other Classes Do Not Elect Cheerleaders as Scheduled; System New This Year

Lloyd Moore was elected cheer-leader for the junior class at the first meeting of the class Tuesday at 12:00 noon in Pullen Hall.

Norman York was elected, but resigned and Moore was chosen.

Other classes did not choose cheerleaders at the end of last year, as was planned. Until last year cheerleaders were chosen by the head cheer-leader, who was elected by the student body. Last year a plan was worked out whereby each class was to choose a cheer-leader. Due to failure to elect them last year, there will be a revision to the old system and the head cheer-leader will choose his assistants. Moore, however, will join the staff as a regular cheer-leader.

At present, plans do not contemplate election of leaders by the other classes for this year, but the scheme of electing them from each class will be started this year and leaders will be selected by each class at the end of this year.

Infringery List

Those that were confined to the infirmary this week for treatment were: E. S. Cole, LeRoy Jay, L. M. Singleton, J. J. Stephens, Cliff Bascoe, Jr., J. H. Volkman, L. S. Allen, J. W. Johnson, V. A. Nealon, H. E. Bralton, C. H. Foy, F. B. Davis, J. S. Komolov, J. H. Westbrook, M. Zorie, J. L. Jones, J. A. Garodrick.

College Observes Birthday In Pullen Hall Wednesday

Brooks, Wilson and Tull Speak at Forty-third Anniversary of Institution; Seniors Attend in Body; President Announces Meeting With Student Leaders; Official Welcome and History of College Featured

Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of the college, Mark Wilson, president of the student body, and Reid Tull, president of the senior class, were the speakers on the program Wednesday in Pullen Hall at noon upon the occasion of the forty-third anniversary of the founding of the college and the official opening of the college year.

The senior class attended the ceremony in a body and the faculty sat upon the rostrum in a body.

Dr. Brooks announced that the first of the meetings of the student leaders will be held within the next two weeks. These meetings, inaugurated last year, bring the administration and campus leaders together in an informal dinner and discussion of mutual problems.

Dr. Brooks told the students that this was a period of great unrest, when people were dissatisfied with government, industry and all institutions and that a critical questioning of their values and principles was evident. This criticism extends to every authority and the welfare of the human race.

Dr. Brooks pointed out the conflict between business and government, and said that there was an increasing opinion that the aims of these two institutions should be the same—the welfare of the human race.

"We are emerging slowly from the depression," said the prexy, "and no doubt there will be more hope when the undergraduates of today leave college. Great changes will come in all the branches of human effort and college students should be keenly interested in these changes, keeping abreast of them by same discussion."

He said that the United States would finish this great period of change with new economic theories and new standards of values in many things.

Campus Life
Dr. Brooks said that campus organizations and administration of campus affairs must undergo the same search of values that is taking place in the outside world. He told the students that "Campus organizations and administrations must be placed on a sound basis that will square with good business ethics and public duty."

His advice to student officers was to "use public funds legally with the same care and conscience and place campus administrations on an efficient and ethical plane."

Dr. Brooks advocated these principles as a basis for citizenship and assumption of responsibility in later life. He stated a principle of campus citizenship which he said was a favorite philosophy of his, "Make honor grow from an inward desire to be honorable, for every one has the possibility of becoming what he thinks he is and (Please turn to page three)

SOPH COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES PLANS

Speakers Will be Limited to Fifteen Minutes Decides Program Committee

Speakers at the sophomore assembly will be limited to fifteen minutes, and in each program will be featured Dean B. F. Brown of the School of Science and Business, who will speak briefly on the current world events, were the plans made by the sophomore program committee, who met Thursday night to discuss ways to make the class meet as interesting as possible.

The program committee is composed of Allen Bailey, president of the class; Walter Greenwood, vice president; Professor W. N. Hicks, sophomore adviser; James Barnhardt, and Captain Ricamore.

At the meeting to be held next week there will be featured a talk on "Sportsmanship" by Head Football Coach "Clipper" Smith, and also a short talk by Mark Wilson, president of the student body.

At the meeting, Thursday night James Barnhardt was chosen to head the committee to put the "numerals '35 on the fence inside Riddick field, and Walter Greenwood was elected chairman of the committee to choose a cheer leader from the sophomore class.

Three members of the class will be chosen by the committee and the best one from these three to represent the class.

"We shall try to make the programs as interesting as possible," said President Bailey, "and we urge all sophomores to be present at the first meeting next week."

CERAMIC ELECT COUCH COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVE

President Post of A. C. S. to Present Charter to Local Branch in December

A. H. Crouch was elected junior representative to the Engineers Council for the current year at the first meeting of the year of the Ceramic Society Tuesday night.

W. B. Boyd was elected to fill the vacant post of vice president of the society.

Professor A. F. Greaves-Walker, head of the ceramic department, announced that A. K. Post, national president of the society, would be a visitor to the campus in the near future. While here he will formally present the chapter's charter. His visit will probably be some time during December.

Professor Greaves-Walker also introduced to the society Teaching Fellows Willis and Arnold of Wisconsin, who are at State College to acquire a degree in ceramic engineering. Freshmen will be initiated into the society at the next meeting, October 18.

COLLEGE WILL BE HOST OCTOBER 14 AT ALUMNI EVENT

Swimmers

Freshmen at State College who can not swim will have to learn. This is a new requirement of the freshman physical education course, adopted because swimming is taught in sophomore gym courses, and will give the freshman a year to prepare for his aquatic instruction.

ALUMNI ORGANIZE TWO NEW GROUPS

Chapters Formed in Elizabeth City and Richmond, Va., According to Denmark

Two State College alumni chapters, one in Richmond, Va., and one in Elizabeth City, were recently organized, according to Polk Denmark, alumni secretary.

The chapter in Elizabeth City was formed September 23 by Secretary Denmark, and includes the alumni in Elizabeth City and counties in the east of that city.

Officers of the new chapter are: Buxton White, president; Frank Cramer, vice president; and G. W. Bell, secretary-treasurer.

The Richmond chapter was established while Secretary Denmark was in the Virginia capital attending the State-Richmond football game. About twenty alumni were present at the meeting. Officers elected were: F. J. Jones, president, A. T. Bowler, vice president; and A. D. Thomas, secretary-treasurer.

FORESTRY CLUB PLANS OUTING FOR NEW MEN

Hoffman and Hayes Speak at Initial Meeting of Club Thursday Night

The North Carolina State College Forestry Club held their initial meeting of the year Thursday night in Ricks Hall.

Plans were made for a picnic to be given for new men enrolled in the Forestry School. The outing will be given Saturday, October 15, at Prison Farm forest, located about two miles east of the city. The purpose of the picnic will be to establish closer contact between the members of the Forestry School.

Dr. J. V. Hoffman, head of the Forestry School, and Prof. Hayes spoke to the members of the club concerning the coming year's work. Tentative plans for a dance, to be given before the Thanksgiving holidays, were discussed and approved.

Officers for the present year are Jack Blakely, president; William Barker, vice president; H. P. Bishop, secretary; and C. T. Front, treasurer. Dr. Hoffman is faculty adviser of the organization.

THIRD FLOOR SOUTH DORM ELECTS HALL OFFICERS

At a meeting of the Third Floor of South Dormitory held Wednesday night, H. M. Foy, Jr., was elected president and J. C. Broome vice president. Joseph Poliseo was elected athletic director.

The students of this floor decided to make life in the dormitory more comfortable. No more unsupervised water battles are to be held, but if a water fight is held, it must be under the supervision of an officer of the floor.

Honolulu

From the Honolulu, Hawaii Advertiser comes the story of the All-Scottish backfield at North Carolina State College. The article contained the names of Bob McQuane, quarterback; Bob McAdams and Lawrence McCullley, halfbacks; and Hank McLawhorn, fullback. The Honolulu paper was sent to Prof. Grimshaw by E. Tom who graduated from State College in 1927 and who is now residing in the Hawaiian city.

Student Leaders Planning Dad's Day Program to be Held On November 12

BOTH EVENTS SCHEDULED
ON IMPORTANT GAME DATES

Regiment and Band Expected to Take Part in Annual Affairs; Golden Chain, Blue Key and 30 and 3 Order Working on Plans Including Invitations for Students' Family to Attend Events; Visitors to be Shown Over Campus

State College will be host to its alumni and friends at Homecoming Day on October 14, the day of the Wake Forest game.

Plans for the day include welcomes for alumni returning to the campus for the occasion, decoration of the campus, and the appearance of the regiment and the band at the game.

Student leaders are already planning for the program for Dad's Day, which will be celebrated on November 12, the day of the Duke football game.

Golden Chain met last night and heard a report from a committee headed by Dan Torrence on the affair. In cooperation with Blue Key, 30 and 3 and other campus organizations, attempt will be made to have every student invite his family for the affair. The regiment will appear at the game, the band will be on hand. On the Friday night preceding the game the annual Stunt Night will be held in Pullen Hall, with an entertainment program put on by each of several campus organizations.

A new feature for the event this year will be provision for visitors to see the campus on Saturday morning, November 12. Technical societies and heads of departments will be asked to arrange that departments be open and student guides provided to show the college to parents and friends who will be here.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS HOLD MEETING TUESDAY

Student Chapter of A. I. E. E. Meets With New Members and Plans for New Year

The A. I. E. E. held its first meeting Tuesday night with prospective members and made plans for the coming year.

D. M. House, presented to the society by L. G. Atkinson, chairman, outlined the advantages of becoming a member of the society. He called attention to the fact that the annual convention of the A. I. E. E. is to be held at Knoxville, Tenn., and that the senior members of the society will go upon several inspection trips throughout the State.

Professors Browne and Fouraker told also of the benefits of membership, and membership blanks were issued to prospective members.

Smokers, a banquet, and speakers will be on the future programs. The officers for this year are L. G. Atkinson, chairman; W. C. Cheatham, vice chairman; J. R. Salem, secretary-treasurer; and C. M. Smith, representative.

Hereafter the first and the third Tuesdays of each month will be the regular times for the meeting of the society.

CHEMICAL CLUB HOLDS INITIAL MEET TUESDAY

Several Prominent Speakers to Appear Before Society During Fall Term

L. A. Moss, vice president of the American Society of Chemical Engineers here, welcomes the members and students planning to join the society at the first meeting of the year Tuesday night.

Dr. Randolph highly commended the society upon its excellent record manifested by both the present members and those who have graduated.

Plans for the future meetings were discussed and the following speakers are expected to appear before the society this fall: Dr. James L. Tryon, director of graduate courses, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; E. M. Baker, department chairman of the advisory committee of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers; J. V. N. Dorr, national president of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Officers for this year are: L. M. Knott, president; L. A. Moss, vice president; C. F. Lane, secretary.

A. E. OMAN WILL DIRECT RODENT EXTERMINATION

New Canned Bait to be Prepared Under Direction of State Agriculture School

A. E. Oman, rodent control specialist attached to N. C. State College by the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, will direct an extermination campaign on rats, to be launched November 17 for the eastern half of the State and December 10 for the western half.

The new canned bait prepared under the direction of the agriculture department will be used in the war on the rodents and Oman will seek to secure as wide distribution of the poison as possible.

County agents in 50 counties will take part in the campaign. The agents will ask the farmers to place the bait on their places to kill rats. Sample poisonings will be made in various sections and then the canned bait will be used extensively. Each half-can of the bait will slay 50 or more of the vermin, Oman said, and there are three of the half-pound cans of bait in each standard farm package.

The bait is red squill mixed in the ratio of one of 16 with meat, fish and cereals. The material is relatively harmless to domestic animals but is toxic to rodents. It is slow acting, which means that rats eating of it can leave the premises before dying and also that all rats will get a portion of it before the alarm spreads, Oman said.

"This is a war against filth and waste," the Federal expert said. "We want to start the practice of cleaning up the rat population of this State each fall at the beginning of the storage season."

It will cost about the price of one bushel of corn to buy a package of bait and the results will save many barrels of corn. Every farmer who wants to have a part in ridding his premises of destructive rodents should get in touch with his county farm agent and seek to have some of this bait placed around his premises during the campaign.

With a very short corn crop this season the war on the rodents will have as its major object the preservation of as much of the corn as possible. Reports show that annually thousands of bushels of corn produced in North Carolina are destroyed by rats.

PROFESSORS TO JUDGE AT VIRGINIA STATE FAIR

R. H. Ruffner, head of the department of animal industry, and W. H. Darst, professor of farm crops, left Monday for the Virginia State Fair to be held in Richmond. Both will be judges at the fair.

Professor Ruffner has judged dairy cattle at this fair for the past nine years. Professor Darst will judge the farm crop entries.

GRAEBER SAYS FARMERS PROFIT FROM FORESTS

According to R. W. Graeber, extension forester of N. C. State College: In five Piedmont and foothill counties—Alamance, Davidson, Stanly, Gaston and Caldwell—farmers and timber owners under a supervision of the county agricultural agents, are showing by putting their heads and axes to work how to change their farm woodlands from a supposedly worthless area into a profit making unit of their farm. On some farms pine seedlings have been planted to reclaim idle and eroded land. Harvests on a commercial scale are conducted on other farms. Here farmers are practicing a systematic method of taking a harvest to get profitable returns and at the same time keep the land fully stocked with thrifty trees for future crops.

Scissored

Should Football be Broadcast? Modification of the Eastern Intercollegiate Associations rule against radio-casting football games probably has been viewed by a majority of spectators as a forward pass in the sport's progress. The association's vote to permit members to decide individually whether they will radio-cast the games leaves the ball in the air. Many followers of this sport, no doubt, will strive to complete the pass by urging each institution concerned to put its games on the air.

Despite the action of three large conferences—the "Big Ten," Southern and Eastern—which have opposed radio-casting this season, the differences between radio and football managers seem reconcilable. Some colleges and universities attribute reduced attendance to radio reports, small institutions, particularly, suspect that radio-casting of the more important contests keeps potential spectators away from games between the less accomplished teams. This argument is met with a claim that radio reports popularize the sport and thus increase the crowds by general advertising.

The schools base their conclusions on comparative gate receipts, but it seems reasonable to believe that any decrease during the last three seasons is attributed largely to abnormal business conditions. One possible basis of compromise was stated recently by Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics of the "Big Ten" Conference:

"Athletic directors of the conference agreed unanimously last spring that broadcasting has cut down attendance. If the radio stations would advertise the games several days ahead of time instead of just broadcasting the games as they occur, then radio would be an asset to football. Programs could be broadcast during the preceding week, giving college songs, dope concerning the schools and their grid teams. That might solve the problem."

Such advance information by radio would be comparable to the pre-game reports ordinarily published in newspapers. Obviously, the news of forthcoming games would be less interesting than the results of such contests. If radio-casters adopt this plan, it will be because they recognize the unusual listener-interest in the events thus advertised.

Aside from the opinions of athletic directors and radio promoters, it seems fair to consider the public's preference. Alumni and friends of both the tax-supported and the endowed institutions often are unable to witness games which they might like to hear described. Radio owners in general would like the widest possible choice of amusements; they may be on the Pacific coast, where the local conference games are broadcast, but prefer to tune in on a national program of alma mater and her traditional rival in the East, Middle West or South. They hope that college officials and radio-casters can compromise, so as to make the best games available to radio audiences.—Christian Science Monitor.

DEARSTINE SAYS POULTRY PROFITABLE TO FARMERS

According to R. S. Dearstine, head of the Poultry Department, there exists no other phase of agricultural work that has more common interest and a higher per cent of transient producers than poultry work. This is due to three factors: First, the human interest in working with birds or animals that are alive and growing; second, the relatively small amount of capital that is required to get into poultry work, and third, the fact that poultry, if properly handled, should make a commensurate return for the intelligence and money placed in it.

Palace

"Movie Crazy," Harold Lloyd's new comedy, with Constance Cummings, will open Monday and run the entire week at the Palace Theater, and before the end of the week, it is probable that about everybody in town will be in the same state as the boy in the film—literally and unashamedly movie crazy.

For the comedian has made a film comparable in hilarity only to "Grandma's Boy" and "The Freshman," perhaps the top-notchers of his efforts in the silent days. To the best that was in those pictures add new gags, advanced film technique, a finer performance by the star and a supporting cast headed by Constance Cummings, which is far superior to any with which Lloyd has surrounded himself in the past, and you will have some idea of the calibre of this latest laugh riot.

The audience will not merely laugh. It will howl until the rafters shake. For Lloyd has paced his comedy so fast and multiplied the gags in such rapid succession, that the audience will not have time to recover from one laugh before going off into another. The reception in honor of the producer's wife, a sequence in which Lloyd shares honors with Louise Closser Hale and others, will surely go down in Lloyd history as the funniest thing the comedian has ever produced.

In addition to his hysterically funny gags, "Movie Crazy" tells a human story of a movie-struck boy who tries his luck in Hollywood and makes good. Moreover, it takes the audience back stage in the movie studios and gives a good many glimpses of the way pictures are made.

Miss Cummings is easily the best leading woman Lloyd has had in a long time. She adds much to the excellence of the picture, as do Mrs. Hale, Kenneth Thompson and the other members of the supporting cast.

Everybody has been looking for a tonic for the depression. Harold Lloyd has provided it in "Movie Crazy." "Your Hat," a comedy, "Hollywood on Parade," an act and a Pictorial act completes this program.

State

A powerful drama of the cotton country of the South will be shown at the State Theater on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday when Richard Barthelmess appears in his latest photodrama, "The Cabin in the Cotton," directed by Michael Curtiz.

Barthelmess portrays a "poor white" boy of the district, educated and given a home by a rich planter, who finds himself torn between love for his own kind, the distressed tenant farmers, and loyalty to the planter who has been his benefactor. In the end, he succeeds in doing both—without a gripping and colorful tale has been unfolded.

Reviews from New York, where this picture has had a premiere showing, indicate that it is one of Barthelmess' best films in years.

A bevy of screen beauties adorn the picture and enhance the love interest. They are headed by Dorothy Jordan, who plays opposite Mr. Barthelmess, and who has been called "the prettiest girl in Hollywood." Bettie Davis also has a leading role opposite Barthelmess, and others in the cast include Florine McKinney, Dorothy Peterson, Berton Churchill, David Landau, Henry B. Walthall, Tully Marshall and many more.

Haunting negro melodies, a series of remarkable shots of the cotton-picking countryside in full bloom, atmosphere of the old South, as yet unspoiled by an advancing industrialism from the north, all contribute to make this one of the most beautiful pictorial exhibits to come out of Hollywood.

The picture is adapted from the original novel by Harry Harrison Kroll. The screen play is by Paul Green, whose play, "In Abraham's Bosom," won the Pulitzer Prize for drama.

A musical comedy "Ma's Pride and Joy," a Krazy Kat cartoon "Birth of Jazz," and a Sound News will complete this program.

Thrill upon thrill—the breath-taking radio-cast play of "Chandu The Magician" brought to the speaking screen in an amazing manner will provide little short of sensational when it is shown at the State Theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

With the versatile Edmund Lowe in the title role and a well-knit and intensely dramatic plot revolving about the invention and theft of Regent's mysterious death-ray by the fiendish Roxor, this production sets a new high mark for screen novelty and entertainment. The gorgeous settings, from a Brahmin temple in the Himalayas to exotic palaces and weird caverns along the upper reaches of the Nile, are the background for some of the most astonishing photography in this reviewer's recollection. A story that kept the spectators at the edges of their seats contributes to the excellence of this offering.

do splendidly in their roles. Whether you have followed the radio adventures of the great Chandu or not, here is a distinctly "different" picture that is well worth seeing. And the children will go into ecstasies! A musical act "Yatch Party," a novelty "Strange as it May Seem," and a Sound News will complete this program.

Capitol

The greatly-anticipated appearance of Jean Harlow, transformed from platinum blonde to a redhead when she makes her red-headed bow in the title role of "Red-Headed Woman," will be shown at the Capitol Wednesday and Thursday.

It is a type of role particularly suited to her talents, for Miss Harlow has an indisputable flair for portraying the type of woman who can twist men around her fingers. In this instance she reveals not only a keen instinct for the demands of her characterization but a fresh acting personality as well.

You are going to like "Red-Headed Woman," both in the story and in the person of the girl who plays the title part. It is a difficult role, for it is the portrait of an unscrupulous woman. The result is a lightening and softening in places, so that what could have been stark reality becomes more pleasant entertainment.

Chester Morris is a likable Bill Legendre, Jr., and plays with an amorous light in his eyes, which explains his weakness for the physical charms of the red-headed Lil Andrews, Lewis Stone is deft as Legendre, Sr., while Ella Hyams, Ana Merkel, Henry Stephenson, May Robson, Charles Boyer and Harvey Clark add an atmosphere of competence to the surrounding roles. Due credit belongs to Jack Conway as director.

Wak Theatre

Monday and Tuesday—"Attorney for the Defense," with Edmund Lowe, Constance Cummings and Evelyne Brent. Also a two reel comedy, and the Famous Pathe News.

Wednesday—"Extravaganza," with June Colyer, Lloyd Hughes, Owen Moore and Gwen Lee; also a Broadway Brevity, "Artistic Temper," and Lew White Organologue.

Thursday—"Bad Company," with Helen Helvetes and Ricardo Cortez. Also a Benny Rubin comedy, "Julius Sizzer," and another issue of the Pathe News.

Friday and Saturday—Joe E. Brown in "Going Wild," with Ona Munson. Also a Knock-out comedy, "Way of All Fish."

Saturday Matinee only—Red Grange in the start of a thrilling chapter play, "The Galloping Ghost."

Wilson Talks Wilson made a plea for the student body to do all in their power to assist the college in this time of stress over the consolidation and avoid the things that bring public discredit upon their institution.

He said that students should count themselves fortunate to be in college in this period of economic stress and that they should make the most of the opportunities offered here. He sounded an optimistic note for the future of college students and welcomed the student body with hopes for a successful college year.

MECKLENBURG ALUMNI FEAR LOSING ENGINEERS' SCHOOL

Resolution States College Does Not Expect to Absorb Carolina's School

The Mecklenburg Chapter, N. C. State College Alumni Association, has adopted the following resolution:

"The legislative act affecting the consolidation of the University of North Carolina, N. C. State College and N. C. College for Women specifically provided that the college at Raleigh be known as the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering of the University of North Carolina, and should be located at Raleigh.

"The Legislature plainly intended that engineering courses and engineering and industrial education be carried on at Raleigh and if there is to be any elimination of duplicate instruction, the engineering should be eliminated at Chapel Hill.

"The board of trustees, including 58 graduates of the University, but only nine graduates of State College, ordered State College to discontinue courses in business administration, but ignored the mandate of the Legislature relative to the more important question of engineering instructions.

"The president of the three colleges recommended to the executive committee in meeting September 25 that the functions of each institution and the course of instruction to be given at each be defined. However, the executive committee, composed of nine graduates of the University and one graduate of State College, has ignored that recommendation. We feel that the alumni of State College and the people of North Carolina are entitled to know why the most important feature of the consolidation, the location of the engineering school, is continually evaded. As graduates of N. C. State College we are vitally interested in seeing that its engineering school is continued on its present high plane, as provided by the consolidation act, and ask that we be shown evidence from anyone in authority that engineering instruction or any major part of it is to be discontinued at Chapel Hill and the equipment moved to Raleigh.

"We have no desire to absorb the engineering school at Chapel Hill, but do wish assurance that if both schools are continued, the State College either by immediate or gradual elimination.

"We regard the evasion of the major question in connection with the consolidation and the evasion of the mandate of the Legislature as evidence of the current reports that engineering school in Raleigh is to be removed to Chapel Hill.

"State College has 800 engineering students as compared to about 300 at Chapel Hill, and the investment at Raleigh is far greater than that at Chapel Hill."

From The Daily Tar Heel, of Chapel Hill, comes facts about the Graduate Club. Students from South Africa, Kentucky, and Oregon are entering into the cosmopolitan group. Each year more graduates from other parts of the country are enrolled. The student from South Africa is a research worker in sociology.

DR. SERMON TRIES TO GET SOUTHERN CAGE TOURNEY

Athletic Director Gets Aid of Junior Chamber of Commerce in Efforts

Dr. Ray R. Sermon, director of athletics and head basketball coach of State College, with the backing of the Junior Chamber of Commerce is trying to have the 1933 Southern Conference Basketball Tournament played in Raleigh.

Dr. Sermon pictured Raleigh's chance as rosy in an address the other day to the Junior Chamber of Commerce, an organization which several months ago launched a campaign to bring the annual conference tournament here.

The Junior Chamber has its eyes set on the 1933 tournament but, failing in this, will continue its campaign in an effort to get the next meet. The site of the 1933 meet is to be decided at the annual meeting of Southern Conference officials at University of Tennessee, Knoxville, in December.

The new Memorial Auditorium here provides Raleigh with an ideal place for holding the tournament. The auditorium can accommodate 5,000 spectators, a bit more than the Atlanta auditorium's capacity where the tournament has been staged for the last decade.

Numerous would be the advantages to Raleigh in having the tournament brought here. Also, Raleigh would have a strong talking point—in seeking the tournament—because of the location here of N. C. State and "almost next door" of Carolina and Duke.

These three North Carolina members of the conference have been strong annual contenders for the basketball title and in every tournament a North Carolina entry has either come off with the title or advanced as far as the semifinals or finals.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce committee named to lead the campaign for bringing the tournament here is headed by Andrew C. McIntosh. His report to chamber officials is that he has already secured agreement of Raleigh business men to underwrite the guarantee necessary to bring the tournament here.

There is no question that the Memorial Auditorium is a fine site for the tournament. With the necessary sum underwritten, the Junior Chamber will have ready the two chief talking points. The confederate officials are interested principally in the financial success of the tournament and a suitable place for holding it.

There's no question that a tournament held here would attract large crowds. Raleigh fans would turn out en masse while there's a splendid section from which to draw—to say nothing of the student bodies of the three schools which would have teams in the field.

Gus Tobell, former N. C. State basketball coach now coach of the University of Virginia, and a member of the conference basketball committee indicated that he and at least two other members are willing to have the tournament played in Raleigh.

Raleigh could support upon support of schools in the northern sector of the conference when it came voting time to select the site of the 1933 tournament.

And, while the 1933 tournament may be played in Atlanta after all, there's no reason why a move to alternate the annual meet between the Georgia metropolis and the North Carolina capital should not be successful.

Plans for the coming year were discussed at the first meeting of the year of the Student Council Wednesday night.

The Point System Board was asked to make a careful survey of the officers and offices of the various organizations on the campus.

All members were urged to be able to offer suggestions and plans for the year's work at the next regular meeting.

SERMON URGES RALEIGH TO SUPPORT N. C. STATE

Athletic Director Says College Serves Different Type of Student From Others

"N. C. State College is serving a type of student that no college in the State and very few in the South can and do serve. The type of boy that comes to State College is different in many respects from those who go to institutions seeking a liberal education," said Dr. Ray R. Sermon, director of athletics at State, in his talk yesterday at the regular meeting of the Raleigh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"For instance," illustrated the speaker, "in our regular high school basketball tournament we stress representation from the small towns. Our tournaments have always paid, not well, but made expenses, which is all we want. Many of the participants look on the event of coming to a basketball tournament here with the same eagerness that many people here would look on a trip to Europe."

Dr. Sermon told of the workings and expense of the Southern Conference basketball tournament that has been held each year in Atlanta. He told of much waste in expenditures caused by the lack of proper, less expensive equipment being used.

"Raleigh people do not give State College the backing and support that they might. I do not mean what they display at the athletic contests when I say this, but I mean in their general lack of interest in State College," said Dr. Sermon.

HOW TO AVOID BONERS

THE UNITED STATES IS LOCATED IN THE TEMPERANCE ZONE

POOR BILL BONER—he just can't think straight. He thinks a person is safe from contagious disease if he is intoxicated!

But no college man ever pulls boners with a good pipe between his teeth. There's something about a pipe and tobacco that soothes a man, helps him think straight. That is, of course, if he uses the right tobacco. A recent investigation showed Edgeworth to be the favorite tobacco at 42 out of 54 leading colleges.

If you're not already an Edgeworth smoker, there's a new smoking satisfaction waiting for you. Edgeworth's blend of fine old burleys is distinctive, different. You'll know—after the first puff.

TAXPAYER'S RIGHTS

Considering State College as a self-governing community, student citizens pay eight dollars per year in student activity fee taxes for the maintenance of public works.

Six dollars of this goes to publications and one dollar goes to student government. Considering the cost of government elsewhere, $800 is a small sum for administrative costs.

The remainder of the fee goes to a student activity fee, creating a total fund of approximately $2,400. Little is known around the campus about this fund.

Last year it was disbursed by a committee composed of the four class presidents and the president of the student body. This scheme of handling the fund is apparently the best and will probably be continued this year.

This committee, in an analogy with government, corresponds to a legislation finance committee, and as such is responsible to student taxpayers.

Publicity given to the disbursements from this fund is almost a necessity if the student body as a whole is to know very much about this angle of student administration. If appropriations were published, then it would give public opinion a chance to influence the expenditures to the end that the appropriations would meet the approval of the student body, whose money it is.

These appropriations are a matter of real news interest, just as the loans of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation occupied the public interest to the extent that there was a positive demand that they be made public.

The more students know about their government, the better that government will be.

THE FIRST CHANCE

The first chance of the college year for organizations to take part in a program for the direct benefit of the college comes as work begins to make Dad's Day a success.

Homecoming Day next week needs no particular effort on the part of students. It is an alumni event, and whatever energy students have to extend on such things should go to Dad's Day event, since it is more a matter of direct student interest.

The idea is to have as many parents and friends as possible visit the campus on the week-end of November 11 and 12. If plans mature, an attractive program will be offered, including Stunt Night, Friday night and the Duke football game Saturday at which visitors will see the band and the entire regiment on parade. Another projected idea is to throw open all departments of the college to visitors, this giving families an opportunity to see the institution. To make this a success heads of departments must arrange to have laboratories and buildings open and technical societies must furnish student guides.

Each student will be given an invitation to mail to his family. This is a convenient way for a student to plan an enjoyable week-end which should result in good-will and interest for the college.

Golden Chain, Blue Key and 30 and 3 have indicated their willingness to direct and plan the event, but they need the cooperation of other groups to round out the details of the program.

The College Calendar serves the college, furnishing each week a complete list of all the scheduled happenings for the benefit of faculty and students. However, cooperation is needed to make it complete each week. All that is necessary to do this is for the individual responsible for planning an event to drop by the Dean of Student's office and leave the name and date. Both the student body and the sponsors of the event gain if this is done.

COMMERCIALIZATION

The name of the State College Football team will be used this week-end for private profit in direct violation of a college rule.

Promoters of a dance Saturday night have placed on invitation cards the words, "Benefit State Football Team." It is understood that the athletic association will receive a percentage of the receipts, and that official sanction and support was given on that basis.

Even if there were no college rule, this commercialization would be bad. Even if the athletic association did lose money in the treasurer's office robbery, there is no reason to descend to such methods to make up the loss.

It is through such things that black marks are placed upon the record of the student body. At the dance there will be numbers of people not in any way connected with the institution, but if anything unpleasant should happen the blame will be placed upon State College students.

The College cannot afford to take this risk.

LONG-FELT NEED

Work started last year on the new tennis courts promised to the student body last year has been abandoned through lack of finances.

There is no doubt of the need of the courts. The problem is how to get them.

Already the college has invested over two hundred dollars towards the construction of four new courts. This sum was thought to be sufficient to build the courts, but it covered only the cost of grading for courts of the quality which was thought desirable.

Spring-time and tennis-time may seem far away, but unless definite plans for finishing the courts are made soon, another season will roll by with the student body deprived of this need which is almost a necessity.

One of the principal factors which will be considered in the final decisions on the consolidation of the University of North Carolina, State College and N. C. C. W. will be a reduction in the total cost of the three branches.

The three steps suggested by Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, for educators to meet the economic crisis which has hit the country and the schools is very suggestive.

He says: (1) "I think educators should get to the teaching profession and to the public all the pertinent facts about the short-sighted forces operating in the current drive against educational expenditures.

"This is not to say that the schools should not strive to cut costs. They should. And they must. But they must not permit, if they can prevent it, a blind assault on the enterprise of education by limited and anti-social interests that are seeking to take advantage of the time to slash the heart out of education in the cold interest of their own pocketbooks.

(2) "I think educators should meet on unfair propagandizing of the public with a wide education of the public in the facts of the situation.

"We need to realize that thousands upon thousands of honest Americans who have always been the friends of education have become bewildered by the propagandists during the last few months. There is, make no mistake about it, an organized desire to cut educational costs below anything even this difficult time requires. If the bewildered friends of education are not enlightened, the politicians will be able to get away with a high-handed scuttling of the educational ship instead of buckling down to the unpopular task of fundamental political and governmental reforms that, in cutting costs, might reduce political pork.

(3) "I think educators should meet the situation with offensive rather than merely defensive tactics.

"I mean that now is the time of all times to go to the public with far-sighted educational programs the importance of which to the national future can be shown conclusively. Now is not the time to huddle defensively around doubtful services."

The last sentence is particularly significant in view of the fact that soon the future of higher education by the state of North Carolina will be mapped out for a long period of time.

News that the informal meetings of campus leaders and the administration will continue this year is welcome to students who are interested in seriously considering the problems of the institution.

Last year these meetings clarified several important situations and led directly to progressive action, besides creating an enormous amount of good-will and mutual understanding.

Students wonder how many of them are in the institution, and THE TECHNICIAN tried hard to get the information, but the registrars office is non-committal. Suggestion: Count the number in front of some building and multiply by the number of buildings.

Attention is called to the ruling of the Publications Board that a student must work on a publication during the whole of the school year preceding the spring elections if he is to be a candidate for office at that time.

State College would welcome an extension of the new bus line to serve the State College community. The dual advantage of a reduction from eight to five cents in fare along with faster service down town is no small consideration.

SCENES and SAYINGS

"The consolidation and football prospects," remarked Polk Denmark, alumni secretary, "seem to be the questions foremost in the minds of State College alumni. I anxiously thought two questions popped at me by the old graduates almost everywhere I went this summer.

L. S. King, Y. M. C. A. secretary, announces that since the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. conferences would be held jointly, there would probably be a better attendance on the part of the male representatives.

Sergeant Lathan, in the military department, stated that he was having plenty of difficulties in locating the freshmen that signed up to one company and then strayed off to some other company, or just didn't show up at all.

Lieutenant W. E. Carraway has played only one football game in his entire life, but he played the hero role in that one.

Carraway was playing for Company "B" and the score was 6 and 6. He intercepted a pass during the last quarter and dashed down the field for a touchdown and glory for he and his company, as the other team was so demoralized by this play that they failed to stage a comeback and the game ended 12 to 6 in favor of Company "B."

When informed that this bit of news of his past life was to be aired in the Technician, Lieut. Carraway vowed that hereafter reporters would have a hard job of getting any news from him.

Lieut. Col. Magruder stated that the military department was getting to be a very popular place this year, since a member of the faculty and a co-ed tried to get in the corps.

Captain Venable announced that, among other plans that he wished to carry out, he wished to take the regimental staff out to the Carolina Pines and give them lessons in riding, so that when there is a parade they will know how to handle their fiery steeds.

It is told by Professor Jones, instructor in the Chemistry Department, that a freshman in one of his classes studied all over the lab for a half an hour for a bottle of "tap water." Inquiries are that there will be one "funk" in the Chemistry Department this year unless more complicated things than "tap water" are understood.

Freshman Brockwell lost his clothes between Elizabeth City and Gatesville while he was on the N. C. State Fair boosters' trip.

John Nyeum announced today that at last he was a student in school. He as well as others has had plenty of difficulties in getting registered.

"The reason for the unusually long time it takes us to get students registered," said Dean B. F. Brown of the Business School, "is the many students who are irregular in their work, thus taking many days when it should take only one."

COLLEGE EDITOR SAYS AMATEURISM IS FARCE

Tennessee Publication Suggests Football Players Receive Share of Profits

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 5.—Declaring "amateurism" among college football players "is farce," the Orange and White, University of Tennessee publication, suggested in an editorial today that "a certain percentage of the gate receipts should be divided among the players in proportion to their value to the team."

The editorial referred to the recent Southern Conference ruling which declared Nollie Felts, of Tulane, ineligible because he had played professional baseball.

"Certainly," said the editorial, "those who guide the destinies of Southern Conference athletics must possess an unusual sense of humor to declare ineligible on the one hand a man who has violated a mere technicality of the amateur code and, on the other hand, to ignore either willingly or negligently flagrant evils which have arisen as the result of our so-called amateurism."

"Whether Mr. Felts is technically guilty, he deserves an apology from the S. I. C. officials for being censured for professionalism."

The editorial asserted that "all sorts of subtleties are resorted to in order to remain within the letter of the law which demands pure amateurism of college athletes. Football, even in college, is a professional sport.

Coaches are quite frequently the most highly paid members of the faculty. High prices are charged for admission. And, as we have said before, the players get their pay—and rightly so. They earn it."

The phosphorescent glow often visible in swamps is called "Ignis fatuus," meaning in Latin, foolish fires.

Scheduled airline in the U. S. in 1931 flew 42,755,417 miles; in 1930 the total mileage was 31,992,634.

The Annual Chase

HERE and THERE

R. W. WYNNE, JR.

Charlie Cobb might resent being called the missing link, but nevertheless, that's what he is this year. Charlie is the only member of the Golden Chain who failed to return to school this year; thus the chain is broken, not, however, at its weakest link.

State College students are getting their education by degrees, but by degrees they're not getting their education. Or call it what you will—here are the facts: Dr. Randolph received his degree in English, but is teaching Chemistry; Dr. T. P. Harrison received his degree in Chemistry, and is teaching English; Professor Fountain has a degree in Engineering and is now teaching Public Speaking.

Headlines in the Armour Tech News read, "Will Recognize Honor Students." It takes a good man to do that.

Dan Torrence was married this summer, and has returned to school to graduate this year. He's a regular glutton for punishment, isn't he? I'm sure you will all join this columnist in offering him congratulations and the very best of luck.

A placard, distributed by a leading paper company, was seen on the campus the other day. The card read, "Wasn't That Depression Awful? YES, IT IS!"

It is said that some people, especially the farmers, do not realize just how serious this depression really is. Perhaps it's a good thing they don't, for they might feel like giving up the ghost. Many farmers have already given up their farms.

And speaking of taxes, why not place a heavy one on speech by the professors? This might save a great many hours of boredom from these fellows who ramble on for half the class period about subjects which could in no way be connected with the lesson. But of course that's just what a great many students (My, but that noun is loosely used!) want.

Frank Lawrence was seen walking down the street the other day looking as though his last friend had deserted him. He was about the most forlorn looking creature that's ever been seen around these parts. A boy approached him and asked what had happened. "Have you lost all your money," he said. "Has your dog died? or are you afraid of flunking out of school?" "Aw hell," was the dependent reply. "I broke my rick-rack."

The uncompleted and ungraceful monument which adorns (?) our campus, and which is dedicated to those who served in the World War, should have its cornerstone changed, making it a monument to the depression.

Another sore spot on the campus is the fountain between Watauga and Pease. He was about the most forlorn looking creature that's ever been seen around these parts. A boy approached him and asked what had happened. "Have you lost all your money," he said. "Has your dog died? or are you afraid of flunking out of school?" "Aw hell," was the dependent reply. "I broke my rick-rack."

DR. LEFLER TO SPEAK TO MERIDITH ALUMNAE

Dr. Hugh Lefler, Professor of History, will speak on the platforms of the different political parties at the meeting of the Wake County Chapter of Meredith Alumnae Monday afternoon, October 10, at 3:30.

Hibernating Animals

Some hibernating animals pass into such a profound sleep that their breathing and rigidity are suggestive of death and considerable time is required to arouse them. The wormouse cannot be awakened in less than 20 minutes.

Personality Research
Personality is the title of the new publication founded by Dr. W. McDougall, professor of psychology at Duke University, and Dr. Robert Saudek, of London. This quarterly will be wholly for scientific research in modern psychology, concerning knowledge of personality; it will be published at Duke University. In Berlin an editor will be under the supervision of the same editorial branch.

Ill Wind
It was an ill wind that carried Bert Rouillard, veteran prospector, to what he believes is a rich find of gold. He had filed seven claims today on an island in a lake in Western Ontario. A storm forced him to beach his boat on this island where he was marooned three days without food. While here he kicked up a patch of moss under which he found a gold vein from 2 to 12 inches wide and around 200 feet long.

In Prison
More than half of the people in the prisons of England today are not real criminals but only poor and friendless men and women who have committed minor offenses and are unable to pay the small fines imposed upon them.

Hereditary Thieves
The Ghamptas of India, a tribe of hereditary thieves, comprise today the largest and best organized gang of trained robbers in the world.

Limited Seating
The Cheighton, College of Commerce, of Omaha, Nebraska, has happened upon a wail (without making any hold-fast rule) whereby classes may be filled on time. As the story goes—one particular class which has rapidly increased, has found much confusion in getting enough chairs for all. Their slogan is: "First come, first served." Thus a general rush for seats—even to the professor.

Pointing the way to the advertised brand

Many a "sale" made by advertising has gone to a competitor because the purchaser did not know where to buy the advertised brand. Telephone men evolved a plan to make it easy to find. They created a "Where to Buy It" service in the classified telephone directory. There—beneath the advertised trade marks—Buick, Goodrich, RCA Victor, General Electric and many others now list authorized local dealers. Thus telephone men complete the chain between advertiser and consumer—increase the effectiveness of advertising—help manufacturers and dealers to increase sales—help consumers to get what they want! Because they apply vision to subscribers' problems, Bell System men continually increase the value of telephone service.

WOLVES CLASH WITH CLEMSON

CLEMSON IS FIRST CONFERENCE CLUB TO ENGAGE STATE

Battle Tomorrow at 3:30 Will Be First Played in Raleigh in Six Years

CLEMSON TEAM HAS EDGE WITH FIVE OF SIX GAMES

Game Saturday Will Be Third for State; Tentative Line-up Given by Smith; Coach Jess Neely of Clemson Has Ten Lettermen to Pit Against 'Pack; Rex, Komlos and Stephens May Not See Action Against Tiger Team

North Carolina State College's Wolfpack will make its 1932 appearance in Southern Conference football circles tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 when it plays Clemson College's Tigers of South Carolina on Riddick Field.

The game tomorrow will be the first in six years that the two college teams have played against each other in Raleigh. In 1927, the year they last met in Raleigh, State defeated them by the score of 19-0.

Records of State-Clemson games give Clemson a decided edge in the number of victories since 1926. State's only win since that year was in 1927. The scores since 1926 are:

1926.....	State 3, Clemson 7
1927.....	State 19, Clemson 0
1928.....	State 6, Clemson 7
1929.....	State 6, Clemson 27
1930.....	State 0, Clemson 26
1931.....	State 0, Clemson 6

The last game was played in Charlotte.

The game with the Spiders tomorrow will be the third for the 'Pack this season. State defeated Appalachian and the University of Richmond. Following the Clemson game State plays Wake Forest, the University of Florida, the University of North Carolina, Duke University, and the University of South Carolina in Southern Conference competition.

Coaches Clipper Smith and Frank Reese expect another hard game tomorrow, harder than the one they had last Saturday. Coach Clipper expects to use his best line-up against the Tigers.

State tentative line-up is:

Duke	left guard
Capt. Espey	center
Tull	right guard
Strope	right tackle
Greason	right end
McQuage	quarterback
Bohannon	right halfback
Cumiskey	fullback

Coach Jess Neely of Clemson has ten lettermen of the 1931 crew back along with a number of bright sophomore prospects.

Chief among the sophomores is Ben Kirkconell, 175 pound center. Kirkconell is almost sure to start against State. The rest of the team will most likely be composed of seven monogram players and one senior reserve of 1931. The monogram men are Capt. Bob Miller, quarterback; Fred Hook and Charlie Moss, halfbacks; Gene Williamson, senior fullback; Rufus Wertz and Gene Patterson, ends; W. C. Doster and Fouts Davis, tackles; L. K. Proctor and John Heinemann, guards.

Coach Neely scouted the State-Appalachian game and was deeply impressed with the running attack of the 'Pack. State players who are sure to see action tomorrow are Redding, Troshkin, Stanka, Daugherty, Wilson, and Roy. Ray Rex, Ken Stephens and John Komlos are not sure of getting in the game, due to injuries.

Carolina Man Hurt
North Carolina will be minus the services of Tom White, regular halfback, in the Tennessee game tomorrow.

An X-ray picture showed a small bone fracture in his ankle, due to an injury received in the Vanderbilt game. It was feared White would be lost to the squad for several weeks.

Bargain Affair
The Davidson-Wofford game at Davidson this afternoon will be a "bargain affair." It is announced by Treasurer M. W. McGill of the Davidson Athletic Association. He stated that the price of tickets would be one dollar, including the federal tax.

Strong on the Defense
In the twelve games the Duke University football team has played under the coaching of Wallace Wade they have been scored on in only three contests. In seven of the ten games last year, Duke's goal line was uncrossed.

Tragic Accident
A tragic accident occurred when Gehrig, of Hammond, Indiana, sat down to enjoy an after-dinner cigarette. Gehrig inadvertently swallowed the lighted cigarette and strangled to death in a paroxysm of coughing.

Big Five Race

SPORT BITS

Ed Beardell
Mr. Johnnie Miller is always doing his part in seeing that the boys get some kind of enjoyment during their college career. This year he has outlined a separate intramural sport program for the freshmen. The first thing on his program is the Freshman Military Basketball League which is going to start soon.

You know folks this intramural program is a very good way of getting acquainted with the other fellow, so let's all get out there and have a lot of fun.

Among the members on the sick list of the Wolfpack we find Ray Rex, who is suffering from a bad shoulder. Ken Stephens and John Komlos are two more good boys who may be lost to the football team for tomorrow's game.

Speaking of tomorrow's game, you better get early and grab a seat, because a large crowd is anticipated. The game starts at 3:30.

The annual migration of North and South Carolina football teams from one state to another gets under way today. Davidson battles Wofford at Davidson today and tomorrow Clemson's Tigers meet the Wolfpack on Riddick Field, while South Carolina and Wake Forest tangle at Charlotte.

Dady Price and his band will be on hand tomorrow to furnish interesting sidelight to the colorful game, with special features both before the game and during intermission.

Coach Bob Warren seems to have a fairly good shaped team ready for the Blue Imps of Durham. In their scrimmages against the varsity they showed they can take it as well as give it.

To show his boys that he really meant business Coach Clipper Smith had 'Pack practice throughout the afternoon of rain the other day. I guess he did it more to accustom the players to a muddy field than for punishment.

Coach Clipper expects another hard game tomorrow. He believes the Spider team will offer more opposition than what Richmond offered.

Ken Stephens, big sophomore end, was the only one who was seriously injured in the Richmond game. As he was attempting to take out his man Ken lost his balance and fell. Another Spider came along and stepped on his jaw, inflicting a wound which required three stitches to close.

Milan Zori, big freshman tackle who stands 77 inches high and weighs 235 pounds, received a bad cut in the face during the scrimmage against the varsity last Wednesday. He will be unable to play against the Duke freshmen this afternoon at Durham in their opening game.

Coach Clipper Smith will end practice this afternoon with a light workout.

Win or lose, the Clemson Clubs of Richmond and Raleigh are giving a dinner to the members of the Clemson team at the Sir Walter Hotel after the game.

Let's all sit together tomorrow, boys, and help the cheer leaders give the Wolfpack confidence.

The east side of Riddick Field is provided for State College students and fans. The cooperation of the student body will materially aid the cheer leaders and the moral of the team.

Incidentally the school song of both State and Clemson colleges is the same.

Speedsters Clash
Here's one thing that will be definitely settled in the Duke-Auburn game at Birmingham tomorrow: Whether John Brownlee of Duke or Casey Kimbrell or Sterling Dupree of Auburn is the fastest griddler in the South. In track Brownlee is an under second man, while Dupree and Kimbrell both have stepped off the hundred yards in ten seconds flat.

Frosh Gridders Open Today

He Wrecks 'Em

Ray Rex, North Carolina State's 210-pound dynamic sophomore fullback, is still leading Big Five backs in scoring with 18 points. He scored State's only touchdown against the University of Richmond last Saturday afternoon to go with his two touchdowns against Appalachian in the opening game.

Intramural

Mr. John F. Miller, director of intramural sports, asks that each fraternity and each dormitory choose an athletic manager and send him to the meeting which is calling Sunday afternoon, October 9 at his office.

Mr. Miller has planned an active intramural program and called this meeting for the purpose of making rules and schedules.

Trophies will be awarded to the victors of the different leagues. Send your manager to the meeting and get the details before it is too late.

REX STILL LEADS BIG FIVE SCORERS

Wolfpack Fullback Scores 18 Points With Three Duke Men in Tie for Second

Rex is still leading Big Five scorers with 18 points. Captain Lowell Mason, Nick Laney, and John Cox all of Duke, are tied for second with 12 points each. Laney scored twice against V. M. I. last week and Mason and Cox registered one. They scored their first touchdown against Davidson.

Bom McQuage, State's triple threat back, kicked a field goal against Richmond to boost his average to 12 points for the season. He scored a touchdown and an extra point against Appalachian.

A complete record of all scoring done by members of the Big Five is given here:

Player-School	TD.	EP.	FG.	TP.

Tiger Leader

CAPTAIN BOB MILLER
Captain Bob Miller, star quarterback of the Clemson Tiger eleven, who will lead his South Carolinians against the State Wolfpack Saturday afternoon at 3:30 on Riddick Field. Capt. Miller won his monogram last year and hailed from Tampa, Florida.

MILLER PLANNING FOR INTRAMURALS

Physical Education Director Calls Meet for Sunday for Club Team Managers

Intramural sports is once more under way. As usual this program is under the direction of John F. Miller, director of physical education.

Mr. Miller plans to have an interfraternity league and an interdormitory league. Every fraternity and dormitory is requested to enter a team for every sport. The winner of each league will be awarded the usual little trophy. A record for the entire year will be kept of the fraternity and dormitory. The record will be in the form of points. Teams will be given points for their attendance, spirit, sportsmanship, and victories. The team having the most number of points will be given a big trophy. The victor may keep the trophy for one year. Permanent possession of the big trophy goes to the team winning for three years.

In order for Mr. Miller to carry out his plans he has called a meeting for Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at his office for the athletic manager of each fraternity and dormitory. Fraternities and dormitories who have not as yet appointed a manager do so today and send him to that meeting this Sunday.

Both athletic fields are used and the gymnasium is left vacant so in order to utilize the spacious basketball floor.

Mr. Miller plans to have basketball as the first attraction.

There will be a freshman military basketball league among the three battalions. Each battalion will be divided into three companies. Each company in each battalion will play each other twice to decide the championship of the battalion. The champion of each battalion will fight it out for the championship of the freshman military league.

The purposes of this league, according to Mr. Miller, are that basketball is so popular among the students that he will give them ample time to play during the winter and not wait until later when the interfraternity and interdormitory league gets under way.

The other purpose is to look over the prospects for the freshman basketball team and save time for Bob Warren, who will again coach them as soon as football season is over.

Tigers to Eat

Win or lose, Clemson College's Tigers are to be feted after their football game with N. C. State here Saturday.

The Clemson grid squad and coaching staff will be guests of the Clemson Clubs of Richmond, Va., and Raleigh at a supper to be served at the Sir Walter Hotel following Saturday's grid hostilities.

All Clemson alumni living in this section, or who chance to be here for Saturday's game, are invited to attend the "spread."

Coach Jess Neely of the Clemson club has already accepted the invitation to have his boys at the Saturday evening affair. Incidentally, reports from Clemson are that a large delegation of Tiger supporters plan to come here for the game.

May Get Choice
"Mountain Goat" Lynn, who received much attention in headlines during the track season last spring, may break into team again, this time as a backfield man for Clemson. The 300-yard dash star is being used in the Tiger backfield and probably will get his chance against N. C. State's huskies in Raleigh Saturday. The Tigers took a long workout in the rain yesterday.

WOLFPACK TRIMS RICHMOND, 9 TO 0 IN LAST QUARTER

State Gets Touchdown and Field Goal After Being Outplayed Three Quarters

McQuage AND REX FEATURE BATTLE WITH SPIDER SQUAD

Captain William "Red" Espey Plays Stellar Game at Center With Seitz and Strope in Forward Wall; Roy and McAdams Play Spirited Game Among Backs; Both Teams Score Seven First Downs; State's Score Made in Fourth Period

After being outplayed for three quarters State College's football team rallied in the last quarter and crushed the Spider's defense for a touchdown, which was followed up with a 30 yard field goal.

The touchdown came after a 34-yard march, in which speedy backs circled the ends and battered down the Richmond line, and Rex went over for the first six points.

With another kickoff, the Wolfpack advanced to the 30-yard line, and attempted a field goal from placement, but it failed. They tore at the line for two yards, and McQuage's second placement attempt for the field goal was good.

The comeback staged by the visiting Carolinians came as a surprise to the Spiders, who throughout the first half completely outplayed them. During the opening half Richmond staged two marches that barely failed.

After the game opened on even terms, Richmond gained the advantage about the middle of the first period when Doley intercepted a State pass just past midfield. A pass, Joyce to Essex, advanced the ball to State's 36-yard line. As the second quarter opened, Richmond started a combination aerial and line attack which took them to the 20-yard line, but State checked this and punted out of danger for the moment.

Richmond started another march with a pass for 16 yards, and an end run for 13 more. Here the threat ended when State recovered a Richmond fumble by Dobson. The Wolfpack made two quick first downs but was forced to punt as the half ended.

It was not until the fourth period that State showed signs of aggressiveness.

The play frequently was in Richmond territory, but until the fourth period the Spiders were holding their own or better.

Both teams made seven first downs; most of these for State coming in the latter part of the third period and during the marches of the final quarter.

Captain "Red" Espey, spirited N. C. State center, played himself a whole of a game on the defense, time and again nailing the Richmond runner and frequently for losses. Seitz and Strope at the tackles also were stalwarts in the forward wall, while Rex, Roy and McAdams flashed in the backfield.

A crowd of 5,000 witnessed the game. The Lineups:

Richmond (8)	N. C. State (9)
Essex	L.E. Neils
Strong	L.T. Seltz
Hope	L.G. Stanko
Slaydon	C. Espey (C)
Dietrich	R.G. Buchanan
Green	R.T. Strope
Perlowski (C)	R.E. Greason
Dobson	Q.B. McQuage
Chaitain	L.H. Balley
Joyce	R.H. Bohannon
Booth	F.B. Cumiskey

Score by periods:
Richmond 0 0 0 0-0
N. C. State 0 0 0 9-9

Touchdown—N. C. State: Rex.
Field goal—N. C. State: McQuage (placement).

Fraternities Entertain

Fraternities at State College have just concluded their annual rush week for the purpose of pledging new men for their respective fraternities. The freshmen have been royally entertained at a series of smokers, house dances, picnic suppers, and theatre parties during the rushing period.

Buffet Supper

Members of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity were hosts to a group of rushes at a delightful buffet supper, Tuesday evening, at their home on Forest Road. Dancing and other entertainments were enjoyed until the guests assembled. They were then invited into the dining room, where a delicious course of baked ham, potato salad, sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, rolls, and tea was served. Chaperones for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. William Van Valkenburgh.

House Dances

Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity members entertained a large number of rushes and friends at an informal house dance, Thursday evening, at their residence on Hillsboro street.

Music for the evening was furnished by the Capital City Aces, local colored orchestra. Fruit punch and wafers were served during intermission. Chaperones for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Mason Shirley, Dean and Mrs. E. L. Cloyd, Mrs. S. W. Williams, Prof. and Mrs. Ross Shumaker, and Mrs. O. R. Browne.

Members of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity were hosts Friday evening, September 30, at a house dance given in honor of the rushees. Dancing was enjoyed from nine until twelve by a large group of rushees and friends of the fraternity. Chaperones for the evening were Dean and Mrs. E. L. Cloyd and Mrs. J. N. Mason.

Ushering in the rushing season, the Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity entertained at a delightful house dance Saturday evening in honor of the many new men on the campus.

Their house at 1922 Hillsboro street was attractively decorated in the fraternity colors of green and white with colored lighting effects.

The dance was chaperoned by the house mother, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Brockwell.

The Zeta Chapter of the Alpha Lambda Tau Fraternity entertained freshmen rushees at an informal house dance at their home on Hillsboro street, Wednesday night.

Music for the evening was furnished by Dot Bennett and his Carolinas. Chaperones for the evening were: Dr. and Mrs. Mark C. Leazer, Mrs. J. N. Mason, and Prof. A. M. Fountain.

Other fraternities entertaining at house dances during the rushing season were Beta Sigma Alpha, who entertained Saturday evening at their home on 2703 Hillsboro street; Sigma Nu Fraternity entertained a number of rushees at a delightful tea dansant, Friday afternoon at their home on Clark Avenue.

Barbecue Supper

Members of the N. C. Beta Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity were hosts at a barbecue supper at Lassiter's Mill, located about four miles north of Raleigh, to a large group of new men. The earlier part of the evening was spent in playing games and singing. A delicious barbecue course was served later in the evening.

Picnic Supper

The Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity entertained a large number of new men and friends of the fraternity at a cabin party Wednesday afternoon, at George Ball's cabin, several miles east of Raleigh.

A delicious course of refreshments was served during the evening.

Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council at State College held their initial meeting of the year, Thursday, October 6.

Plans were discussed for the coming pledge dances to be held within a month. A dance committee composed of W. F. Scarborough, Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity, chairman; W. J. Clark, Alpha Gamma Rho Fraternity, and Fred Sutherland, Theta Kappa Nu Fraternity, was elected by the council to complete preparations for the series of dances.

An orchestra has not yet been decided upon, although many of the leading orchestras have placed their bids with the council.

Council members for the present year are: W. F. Hanks, president; Burke McConnell, vice president, and Dean E. L. Cloyd, secretary.

Barn-warming Society

The annual "Barn Warming" will be held on Saturday night, October 29. The Ag Club, at a meeting held Tuesday night in Patterson Hall made plans for the coming event. All the Ag students are looking forward to the event.

The following committees and chairmen were appointed to formulate plans for the event: program committee, H. E. York, chairman; refreshment committee, Ed Freas, chairman; floor committee, George Sprinkle, chairman; decoration committee, E. G. Odum and A. H. Scott; stage committee, Olaf Wakefield, chairman.

All Meredith and Peace girls have been invited to the dance.

Y. M. C. A. SHORT IN STUDENTS' AID

Organization Officials Believe Students Will Contribute More During Year

Y. M. C. A. contributions from the students have totaled to date $422.00. This total is much lower than anticipated, but "Y" officials expressed themselves as confident that the student contributions would equal the amount needed to carry on the programs for the coming year.

A varied program is being planned for the year, by the Y. M. C. A. cabinet officials in an effort to interest the students in Y. M. C. A. work, and indications are that these plans will be carried out if the present interest is manifested throughout the year.

President Cummings announced that Jim Barnhardt, freshmen friendship council committeeman, would start his work at an early date.

Every year it is the aim of the Y. M. C. A. through the New Student Committee, who assist the freshmen in settling and beginning their campus activities and the Freshmen Friendship Council, who continue throughout the year in assisting the men in their various campus problems, to render invaluable assistance.

To assist the students further on in college, the Sophomore and Y. M. C. A. cabinets are organized.

In addition to these services are rendered to all in the matter of securing lecturers, rendering aid through the self-help organization and the "Y" desk, which serves as a bureau of information to the outsiders in locating students and delivering messages.

Gandhi

Mahatma Gandhi, the famous Indian Nationalist, has declared that he will fast to death unless the British government drops its election plans for Indian communities—plans which reserved certain rights and sections of legislative halls for the untouchables.

Religious Relief

Between 500 and 1500 A. D. in Europe, the custom of bringing back religious relics from the millions of pilgrimages which took place during that period resulted in an extensive relic-manufacturing industry.

Against Odds

A contributing factor in the diminished roll of the freshman class year has been the opening of the women's branch of the University, Greensboro, erstwhile N. C. C. W., to men students. Greensboro makes seeking a higher education find it more economical to attend the Women's Division, from whence they will derive a diploma from the University of North Carolina, just as though they had attended the Chapel Hill branch. Some fifty-seven men constitute the male element of the student body. There are nearly two thousand women.

So, dog-eared old N. C. C. W.'s The Carolinian in its first edition of September 29: "Welcome, Co-eds!—The Daily Tar Heel

New Constitution

The University of Alabama has a new student constitution. It gives their honor system a little more flexibility in punishing a second, instead of a first offense by dismissal.—The Virginia Tech.

STYLE NOTES

BY

The Double Breasted Suit

Double breasted continues to grow in importance, confirming their remarkable comeback to the forefront of fashionable fashions. It is no accident that this season's most favored double breasted suit is the one that has long been preferred by well-dressed Englishmen, including a certain globe-trotting young prince whose influence on men's fashions is of unparalleled power. The wanted patterns in this suit are oxford and various black and white effects.

Of-the-face hats, tab collar shirts in English stripes, occasional stripe ties, and wing tip shoes are the proper accessories for this new Drapè Suit.

Cash and Liquor

The days when liquor sometimes submitted for currency were recalled with the finding of an old bill of sale. It revealed that Andrew S. Farrar sold a corner lot in downtown Cincinnati to James and David Heaton for 40,000 gallons of whiskey. That was in 1842. Five years ago the same property sold for $50,000.

In Movieland

A four-week-old girl has been adopted by Florence Aldridge, stage and screen actress, and her husband, Fredric March, film actor. They have christened the baby "Penelope." March declined to reveal where the child was adopted.

Cop Has Fall

Policeman Edward Stemple believes in doing his public duty even if it requires a tooth extraction. A citizen came into the police station bemoaning a toothache and asked relief.

Stemple got out the pliers and a few minutes later the citizen walked out minus the aching tooth—which, by the way, was his last.

Killed at Play

Giving his children a drill in calisthenics, Wilbur H. Long said, "now I'll show you how to 'skin the cat.'" "Watch dad!" the children shouted as Long climbed a tree. Swinging on a limb, he lost his grip and fell. He will be buried today.

Good Reading

Students enjoy good reading and not just trash; so comes the report from The Parthenon, of Huntington, West Virginia. It's mostly the "sweet old ladies with umbrellas" who request a copy of confession magazines, for the better-rated monthlies find a popular place on the college table.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

THE FALL OF CONSTANTINOPLE
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Thomas Webb... inspired by the savage slaughter of 5000 Christian defenders—at the hands of the vengeful, barbaric horde of 250,000 men under the ruthless Mohammed II—1453!

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies ... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?
