COLLEGE TO PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD TODAY AT NOON

Ceremony at Memorial Tower Will Honor Thirty-two Who Died in World War

REGIMENT TO PARADE IN ARMISTICE CEREMONY

Classes to be Suspended at 12:00 Noon; Parade at 1:30 and Exercises at 12:00; Colonel Harrelson to Read Names of War Dead; Dr. Elbert Russel of Duke to Deliver Address; State College Band Will Play at Ceremony

State College will pay tribute to the World War dead in the Armistice Day program held here today. Those organizations taking part in the program include the State College regiment and the R. O. T. C., State College band and others. The program includes the military parade, music by the State College band, and the program dedicated to the thirty-two State College men who died in the World War.

The program begins at ten o'clock when the military regiment begins its parade from the college, down Hillsboro and Fayetteville Street. The regiment will pass in review in front of the court house. From there they will march back to the college and assemble for the exercises to be held on the campus around the monument. At twelve o'clock all classes will be suspended for the exercises held in honor of those men who gave their lives in the World War. The R. O. T. C., band, and other State College students will assemble at the monument. The invocation will be given by Rev. Joseph Fletcher.

Following this Dr. E. C. Brooks will introduce Dr. Elbert Russel, head of the School of Religion at Duke University, who will be the principal speaker for the ceremonies. Col. H. B. Harrelson will then read the list of thirty-two men from State College who gave their lives in the war.

Appropriate selections will be rendered by the band during the program.

POULTRY HEAD BEGINS DISTRIBUTION OF FOWLS

Over 300 Pure-bred Cockerels to Be Sold to 4-H Club Members Over State

Inspiring the 4-H Club boys and girls to practice better breeding methods will lead to the improvement of the poultry flocks in North Carolina is the opinion of R. S. Dearstyne, head of the poultry department.

The poultry department is raising over 300 pure-bred cockerels to be distributed early this season at cost to the 4-H Club members over the entire state to be used for breeding purposes. About fifty-five have already been sold.

"The cockerels we are distributing," said Professor Dearstyne, "are the progeny of high producing hens that have annual records ranging from 290 to 250 eggs."

By breeding these cockerels, which inherited their high productivity from their mothers, to the farm flocks, whose annual average is not over one hundred eggs, their progeny will be greatly improved within a few generations.

FOREIGN STUDENTS TALK TO RALEIGH ROTARYMEN

Jivatode, Hagopian, Radi and Petroff Represent Several Continents

Foreign students at State College were guests of the Raleigh Rotary Club at a luncheon held at the Sir Walter Hotel, last Monday at 1 p.m.

E. S. King, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., accompanied the students and introduced them to the members of the club.

Dean B. F. Brown Prophesies Roosevelt's Unpopularity

Speaker at Sophomore Assembly Says People Will Expect Too Much of President; Discusses Japanese Question, Gandhi, Irish Situation, Germany and Mexico; Program Includes Music by State Quartet

By J. W. LAMBERSON
Dean B. F. Brown predicted that Franklin D. Roosevelt would be unpopular two years from now in his address on world events to the sophomore class at their regular meeting at noon in Pullen Hall on November 8.

The program for the assembly also included music by the college quartet under the direction of "Daddy" Price.

Sympathy Expressed
The dean expressed his sympathy for Hoover, who was so badly defeated, and to Roosevelt for what he will have to go through with in the next four years. In prophesying unpopularity for the Democratic president-elect, the dean explained that "people are expecting an instantaneous return of 'good times' which neither Roosevelt nor any one else can accomplish quickly." He said that economists have seen indications only of a slow return to better times.

"The Japanese question," asserts Dean Brown, "is the outstanding one of today." Japan has apparently ignored and violated all the rules of the Kellogg Treaty, the Covenant of the League of Nations, the Nine Power Treaty and the Five Power Treaty in establishing her self in Manchuria.

The Kellogg Treaty obligates the signers not to seek national aims by force. The League of Nations is built upon the foundation of peaceful arbitration, while the Nine Power Treaty and the Five Power Treaty is formulated on a "gentleman's agreement" to arbitrate any difficulties that may arise among the signers of the pact or with any other smaller nation.

The Lytton report, which is to be handed to the League for inspection within the next few weeks, and which is described by critics as one of the most notable documents ever drawn up in recent years.

The important business confronting the trustees will be the consideration of the recommendation of Dr. Frank Graham as president of the consolidated university and the naming of the three vice presidents for the three branches. Other matters scheduled are reports on the rebuilding of the library at the Woman's College in Greensboro and the selection of a member of the executive committee to take the place of Charles W. Gold, State College alumnus and member who was killed accidentally near Wilmington, a State College alumnus.

Members of the executive committee, twelve in number, are: S. B. Alexander, Joseph Daniels, Miss Easdale Shaw, Mrs. Laura M. Cone, J. J. Parker, Walter Murphy, Haywood Parker, Charles Wheeler, Dr. Clarence Poe, Leslie Well, and John Sprunt Hill.

Mr. Gold's death left the executive committee without a member who is a State College alumnus.

Every member of the society took part in the debating. President Knott, after the decision says, "we will be glad to have all State co-eds who are interested to join our organization."

Tonight the question for debate will be, "Resolved, that the student supply store should be operated by self-help students." D. W. Ramsay and P. E. Hinton will uphold the affirmative side and the negative argument will be presented by T. L. Hearst and William Wade. The meeting will begin at 6:30 and will be adjourned in time for the Blue Key stunt night program.

On Thursday the talks were made on "Record of Performance Work and Its Value," by C. J. Maupin; "Selection and Mating of Barred Plymouth Rocks," by C. F. Parrish; "Selection and Mating of Rhode Island Reds," by Henry Britt, of Tarboro, N. C.; "Selection and Mating of S. C. White Leghorns," by K. F. Howard, of Dunn, N. C., and a Poultry Judging Contest.

The college course closed with "Does Blood-Testing Pay," by J. W. Beck, with, of the Beckwith Hatchery, Acme, N. C.; "The Duty of the Hatcheryman to the Supply Poultry Owner," by Mrs. F. B. Bunch, of the Bunch Hatchery, at Statesville, N. C.; "Benefits of Proper Incubation," by H. A. Bittenbender, of Buckeye Incubator Company, at Cleveland, Ohio, and Discussion of Incubators and Incubation at the Poultry Plant.

In the judging contests, held Thursday afternoon, Mrs. T. A. Buffy won first prize for the poultry judging with a score of 485 out of a possible 600. Burnette Moore of Madison won second prize with 475 and D. M. Anderson of Burlington, N. C., and Henry Walker of Hillsboro were tied for third place with 450. Six classes were judged, three utility and three standard.

In the egg judging contests, Eugene Buffalo and Mrs. Buffalo of McCullens were tied for first place with a score of 95 per cent and H. S. Walker of Hillsboro was third with 93 per cent.

TRUSTEES BOARD FOR UNIVERSITY MEETS ON MONDAY

Consolidated Board to Meet at 10:30 A.M. in Office of Governor Gardner

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE TO MEET AT SAME TIME

Trustees to Consider Recommendation of Dr. Frank Graham as President; Place of Charles W. Gold to be Filled With J. L. Becton Suggested; One Hundred Members Compose Board With Twelve on Executive Committee

The new Board of Trustees of the Greater University of North Carolina will meet at 10:30 Monday morning in the office of the Governor. The executive committee will meet at 9:30, immediately preceding the trustee meeting.

Important business confronting the trustees will be the consideration of the recommendation of Dr. Frank Graham as president of the consolidated university and the naming of the three vice presidents for the three branches. Thursday at 3:15 p.m.—a radio program with "Daddy" Price's State College Jazz Band was presented over radio station WPTF. Mark Wilson, president of the student body, and Carlton Anderson, president of Blue Key, made talks welcoming visitors to the college during the week-end. An official welcome from Dr. E. C. Brooks was read.

Blue Key and Golden Chain, honorary societies, planned the program with the cooperation of other student groups.

The football game between Duke University and State Saturday at 2:30 p.m. will be the major event from the standpoint of popular interest. Tonight after the Blue Key stunt night there will be a pep meeting.

The program for stunt night includes a boxing match between Bill Dunaway and Charlie Garner, put on by the Monogram Club; Blue Key will present a mock meeting, a mock Kangaroo Court by one of the dormitory clubs, a stunt by Scabbard and Blade which takes the form of a mock operation, clog dancing by Coon Silver and George Silver, a stunt by the State College Woman's Club, a dance number by members of Phi Epsilon.

Music will be furnished by the State College Jazz Orchestra under the direction of "Daddy" Price.

Information Bureau
Saturday morning an information bureau will be maintained on the porch of Pullen Hall for the convenience of visitors. Each guest of the college will receive a red and white ribbon to wear during the day.

Saturday morning the college will be open to visitors, with the entire equipment and laboratories thrown open with student guides to aid visitors to enjoy their tours of the campus.

Today's entertainment program includes a freshman football game with Lenoir College at 3 p.m., the first of the annual pledge dances given by the Interfraternity Council in Frank Thompson Gymnasium at 4:00 p.m., and the second of the series of dances at 9:00 p.m. Visitors will be guests of honor at the dances. The junior class will sponsor a midnight show at the State Theatre at 12:15 a.m.

The last of the series of Pledge Dances Saturday night in the gymnasium will bring the program to a close.

MASQUERS GIVE PLAY WEDNESDAY

State Dramatic Club to Offer Prize for Play Funnier Than "Baby Mine"

After four weeks of rehearsal, Red Masquers, State College dramatic club will present "Baby Mine," a three act farce comedy written by Margaret Mayo, on Wednesday, November 16 at Pullen Hall.

According to E. H. Passt, director of the organization, "the cast and officers are so convinced that the play is the funniest ever written that in order to test this belief they are offering a first prize of five dollars and a second prize of three dollars to anyone who can submit a play which is more amusing."

The play submitted may be any play ever produced or it may be an original one. All plays submitted for entrance must be either in manuscript form or by the title and author, accompanied by a detailed synopsis of the play. The manuscripts can be presented only at the end of the second act of "Baby Mine."

The officers of the play will examine the manuscripts presented and will submit the most promising ones to the neutral committee which will determine the winners. Prizes will be awarded only if the committee feels that the plays are actually funnier than "Baby Mine," however, the members of the cast feel that at the end of the second act no one will think that his play is funnier than "Baby Mine."

Special features of "Baby Mine" will be the acting of J. Dyer and D. B. Young, leading male members of the cast. The leading feminine roles will be played by Miss Elizabeth Gaither and Miss Hazel Beacham. Miss Catherine Harding, who did outstanding work in "The Trial of Mary Dugan," will also be in the cast.

The cast for the play is as follows: Alfred Hardy, a business man, J. Dyer; Jimmy Jenks, his friend, David B. Young; Zora, Alfred's wife, Elizabeth Gaither; Aggie, Jimmy's wife, Hazel Beacham; Michael O'Flaherty, an Irish father, J. H. Carpenter; Burlington Hardy's secretary, L. M. Knott; Rosa, an Italian mother, Catherine Harding; Maggie, the laundress, Volene Williams; Finnegan, a policeman, O. K. Irwins; and Donovan, a detective, J. H. Forbes.

The officers of Red Masquers for this year are: Myra Hugh McDonald, president; J. D. Swan, vice president; LeRoy Lumpkin, advertising manager; R. H. Mims, business manager; and W. G. Butler, property manager.

Pep Meeting

As an added attraction to the Armistice Day program a pep meeting will be held on Red Field at 7:30 immediately after the Stunt Night performance.

A banner with the burning of a blue devil will be the feature of this meeting.

Student cheer leaders will be on hand to lead cheers to inspire confidence in the Wolfpack for their game with Duke Saturday.

Louder Yelling

Cadets at the same Saturday will yell for the Wolfpack through snappy little megaphones, which are being given to them by the Military Department as souvenirs. The megaphones are sturdily built to withstand the treatment they will receive during the exciting moments.

STUDENT JUDGES TO DEFEND TITLE

Champion Crop Team Will Leave November 23 for International Meet in Chicago

State's national championship crop judging team will leave for Chicago on November 23 to defend their title against teams from colleges all over the United States.

Dr. J. B. Cotner, and Prof. William H. Darst are coaches of the team.

"The judging contests are held annually in connection with the International Livestock and Grain Exposition.

Members of the team this year are J. L. Zimmerman, R. W. Cummins, W. E. Adams, C. Y. Tilson, E. G. Odum and J. A. Lutz.

An appropriation of $400.00 from the student activity fund makes the trip possible.

Out of seven trips to Chicago, State College teams have won five championships. In 1931 C. C. Murray made the highest score that was ever made in this contest. "The college team has made a record that is unequalled by any other college in the United States," says Dr. Cotner.

DORMITORY RESIDENTS ESTABLISH GUEST ROOM

Students on First Floor of 1911 Plan for Place to Entertain Visitors

The First Floor 1911 Dormitory Club made final plans for the establishment of a club room on their floor at a meeting Wednesday night with the club president, H. M. Jernigan.

The club felt the need for some place where they could entertain their parents and friends, and have taken this step toward that goal. A committee has been appointed to go on with the preparation and it is expected that it will be ready for "Dad's Day," Saturday.

T. T. Wellons, superintendent of buildings, has agreed for the club to use the room and will supply the necessary tables and chairs. In addition to this there will be newspapers and magazines supplied by the members.

The club is extending a welcome to all visitors to the campus on "Dad's Day" and other times they visit State College.

Invisible Light
Visitors to the World's Fair in Chicago next year will be able to have their photographs taken in the dark. The fair is to set up a booth and use the newly discovered ability of infra-red rays to make objects visible in the dark to a photographic film.

LEAZAR DECIDES TO ADMIT CO-EDS

Heated Debate Precedes Decision of Literary Society to Invite Women Members

Shattering all past precedent, the Leazar Literary Society decided after a heated argument Friday night to admit co-eds to membership in the organization.

Every member of the society took part in the debating. President Knott, after the decision says, "we will be glad to have all State co-eds who are interested to join our organization."

Tonight the question for debate will be, "Resolved, that the student supply store should be operated by self-help students." D. W. Ramsay and P. E. Hinton will uphold the affirmative side and the negative argument will be presented by T. L. Hearst and William Wade. The meeting will begin at 6:30 and will be adjourned in time for the Blue Key stunt night program.

STATE STUDENTS ATTEND ANNUAL BAPTIST MEET

H. R. Weston and H. L. Bowling Go to Chapel Hill on November 4, 5 and 6

Two State College students, H. R. Weston and H. L. Bowling, attended the annual Baptist Students Union Convention held at Chapel Hill, November 4, 5, and 6.

The purpose of this annual convention is to bring the Baptist students from the different college camps together for the purpose of discussing the problems confronting the college men of today and considering means of remedying them.

TWELVE EXTENDED BIDS TO LANGUAGE SOCIETY

Pledges Will be Initiated Into Fraternity at Social to be Held November 18

Twelve new members were pledged to Sigma Pi Alpha, language fraternity, at a meeting Tuesday night.

The pledges are: M. E. Annetta, J. M. Gregory, R. L. Stepler, A. W. Petty, J. O. Wright, Elizabeth Gantt, W. M. Dry, Lucy Wilson, Ralph Cummings, J. R. Salem, Alfredo Gonzales, and Elizabeth Brooks.

Prof. Alexander Seibert, of Wake Forest College, gave a talk on "La Civilization Francaise." He has just finished a year of study in France and brought back with him many memories.

Agriculture School Change Recognizes Forestry Course

Department Established Four Years Ago Has Had Amazingly Rapid Growth

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT RATES SCHOOL HIGHLY

Dr. J. V. Hofmann Organized New School; Variety of Courses Offered; Projects in Experimental Forests Have Been Successful; Students to Begin Logging Next Week; Pennsylvania Students Were Nucleus of School

Four years ago a Department of Forestry was established at State College and last June the board of trustees recognized the rapid growth of the department by changing the name of the School of Agriculture to the School of Agriculture and Forestry.

The United States Department of Agriculture recommends the school as the best in the South by sending its prospective Civil Service forestry employees to State College to study.

The Forestry Department was organized by Dr. Julius V. Hofmann, former assistant professor of forestry at the University of Minnesota. After obtaining his Ph.D. degree at that university, he remained there for a year as a special lecturer on silviculture.

Later Dr. Hofmann was transferred to the United States Government's Wind River Forest Experiment Station, which included Alaska, Oregon, Washington, and Northern California, and for twelve years he was director of this experiment station.

After his services expired at Wind River, Hofmann became assistant director of the Penn. State Forestry School at Mont Alto, and remained there until February, 1929.

When the need of a forestry school was realized in the South, Dr. Brooks took a special interest in the situation as the school of agriculture was already located here, he thought that it would be a good place for the forestry school. He extended an invitation for Dr. Hofmann to come down and take charge of organizing the new school. Ralph W. Hayes, master of forestry, was secured from the civil service as professor of forestry. Hayes taught at the Colorado Agricultural School for two years and three years at Louisiana State College. For ten years Professor Hayes has had charge of the forests on the Indian reservation lands for the United States Government.

In addition to Professor Hayes, the school has George K. Slocum, M.F., a graduate of the class of 1930. He is at present working for a Doctor's degree, specializing in the cause and factors, which produce germinational tree seed.

A variety of courses are offered in this school. At the beginning of the third year the student has the option of selecting any course he desires in the field of forestry. These include utilization, how to turn wood into profitable uses, silviculture, how to raise a forest, forest management, how to maintain a permanent producing forest, and the field of research.

Many facilities for studying are available to the students. Among these the school owns two motor buses, which are used for transporting students to and from field studies and experiments. Donations of several tracts of forest lands were made by prominent citizens of this state who are interested in the development of forestry.

George Watts Hill donated three hundred acres of forest lands, seven miles northwest of Durham. In addition 732 acres were bought from Mr. Hill.

Besides the Hill forests, an arboretum, a place in which trees are cultivated for scientific and educational purposes, of eighty acres is located on the Garner road. In this place eight hundred species of trees of American and foreign varieties will be grown to determine their adaptability.

The school nursery is located near the gymnasium. Here instructions are given in seeding and planting trees. From this nursery ninety thousand trees were planted in the school forests of North Carolina during the last two years.

The MacLean forest, recently purchased, is located near Belhaven, in Beaufort County.

It consists of fifteen hundred acres of pine trees. Starting next week logging operations will begin in this forest. Students will be shown how a saw mill works and will also get practical experience in logging.

The valuation of forest lands owned by the forestry schools is in excess of

WASPS FURNISH MATERIAL FOR STUDY OF GENETICS

Professor Bastian Shows How Human Traits Are Inherited by Use of Wasps

Students of the School of Agriculture are taught the modern science of genetics by making actual breeding experiments with wasps.

Prof. C. H. Bastian of the zoology department maintains many thousands of wasps by which he illustrates to his students how children inherit characteristics from their parents.

The advantage of using the wasp is because of its fast breeding habits which enables the student to make several experiments in a short time.

State College offers unequalled facilities for the study of genetics among the colleges of North Carolina.

DR. HUGH LEFLER TALKS ON D. A. R. RADIO PROGRAM

Dr. Hugh Lefler, history professor, spoke over station WPTF Thursday afternoon at 2:15 p.m. under the auspices of the D. A. R. on the subject, "The Part North Carolina Played in the Revolution."

Dr. Lefler addressed the semi-monthly meeting of the Fortnightly Review Club Tuesday afternoon about Thomas Jefferson as the first great Democrat.

Church Invitations

West Raleigh Presbyterian Dr. Henry Louis Smith, former president of Davidson College and of Washington and Lee University, will preach at the 11:00 o'clock morning service of West Raleigh Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Smith, member of a prominent North Carolina family of educators and ministers, is a popular lecturer and campus speaker throughout the South. He comes to Raleigh to speak to the International Relations Council, which meets this week at the United Church of Raleigh.

Students and faculty are invited to hear him on Sunday morning.

Tabernacle Baptist

State College students have a cordial invitation to attend the services at the Tabernacle Baptist Church, and especially the Sunday school services of the Broughton Bible Class.

The Broughton Bible Class meets every Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Hon. J. M. Broughton of Raleigh teaches the class.

Just Dug Up

Liquor flasks, rat traps and market baskets, all made of stone and dating back to 143 B.C., has been unearthed by Dr. Leroy Waterman of the University of Michigan at Seleucia, in Mesopotamia.

Five dollars an acre. This figure does not include the value of the laboratories and facilities for doing research work that these areas provide.

Coming of Pennsylvania Students During 1928 the Pennsylvania State Forestry School was consolidated with the Pennsylvania State College. All of the students in the forestry school did not approve of this consolidation.

Since their former professor, Dr. Hofmann, was organizing a forestry department at North Carolina State College, the students transferred their credits and themselves to State College. The class of 1930 graduated seventeen forestry students. In 1931 fourteen Pennsylvania forestry students were graduated.

At the close of this year the forestry school will graduate its first class of regular four-year students.

ADMINISTRATORS MEET IN DURHAM

Dr. Brooks and Mayer Represent State at North Carolina College Conference

The twelfth annual meeting of the North Carolina College Conference is in session at the Washington Duke Hotel in Durham. Dean E. L. Cloyd and W. L. Mayer are delegates from State College. Dr. E. C. Brooks is also attending, but not as a delegate.

Dr. Charles E. Brewer, president of Meredith College is president of the Association and will make the president's report and address. According to Dean E. L. Cloyd, the speeches of Dr. Fred J. Kelly, chief of the Division of Colleges and Professional Schools, U. S. Department of Education, on "Progress of Research in the field of higher education," and Dr. A. Monroe Stowe,

Why Take Chances? When you buy a suit from a salesman who is here today and gone tomorrow you are taking a big chance. When your suit comes in you pay for it before you see it and you have no way of knowing whether it will fit you or not and the salesman has departed for parts unknown.

MENTION THAT

YOU ARE A STATE COLLEGE STUDENT WHEN YOU PATRONIZE RALEIGH MERCHANTS They are Anxious to Serve you.

Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., on "Democracy's outstanding need—a challenge to Democracy's higher education" will be the most important addresses.

Thirty-four North Carolina colleges and junior colleges are members of the conference. The conference will close with this afternoon's program.

Just Names

Bottle, Licker, Glass, Stein, Pepper, Bass and Ales, although they sound like items on the shopping list of a night club hostess, are really the names of students who registered last semester at Long Island University. The last name on the list was To-maine.

Why Take Chances?

When you buy a suit from a salesman who is here today and gone tomorrow you are taking a big chance. When your suit comes in you pay for it before you see it and you have no way of knowing whether it will fit you or not and the salesman has departed for parts unknown.

DEAN B. F. BROWN PROPHESES ROOSEVELT'S UNPOPULARITY

Dean Brown made the comparison of Japan's actions by using the example of Mexico or some of the smaller Latin-American countries trying to rule the whole Western Hemisphere, for Japan with her seventy million inhabitants could not control the Far East, when China and India, alone have more than four hundred million inhabitants each, unless she used her powerful army and navy, and as far as an intellectual and cultural background, she has little superiority.

Mahatma Gandhi
Mahatma Gandhi, by refusing to partake of food, can cause the whole British empire to turn their attention to him and his cause, while the refusal of a man to eat in our country would only cause comments as to his rationality. The reason for this is because in India, the people of that region give much more consideration to a man making a martyr of himself for a cause, and the more that he suffers for his cause the more followers that will support him.

The underlying cause of the unrest in India is the "caste system," a system that has been in existence for many centuries, and the only comparison that can be made is our shunning of foreigners by some of our people.

The British government tried to establish a doctrine in India by which the "untouchables," a caste of that country, might be allowed to vote. This no doubt was for the passage of some British law that was pending at the time. Gandhi at once opposed this action, and since then has carried on a vigorous campaign against British rule.

Irish Situation
The Irish troubles are perhaps as deep rooted as are the Indian troubles.

for their difficulties date back beyond the time of Cromwell. Cromwell in a war with Ireland captured a portion of their territory, and after the war this land was sold and given to English landlords. The people of Ireland who occupied these farms were forced to pay rents to the landowners in England, an irksome proceeding to them.

About 1910 the English government, to quiet the many disturbances about the affair, bought the land from the English landowners and sold it back to the Irish, who were to pay directly to the English government over a long number of years. When the Irish Free State was formed the farmers of Ireland made their payment to their own government, who in turn paid the English. Now the Irish government has collected the money and refuses to pay it to England.

Unstable Germany
Of all the European nations Germany is perhaps the most unstable politically and economically. During the past year there have been five elections in Germany, an indication that the governments of Germany did not suit the people and that they were trying to change with a view of bettering their conditions. The most notable change in policies was the changing of many of the people to the Communist party. The Versailles "Treaty," placed on Germany after the World War, is cordially hated by the German people.

Dean Brown also commented on the Mexican situation, which is at present in a bad way. Dean Brown closed by cautioning the Sophomore class to watch the results in the newspapers of the Japanese question, Mahatma Gandhi, the Irish situation, unstable Germany, the political results of the United States and the troubles in Mexico.

Due to the conflict with the fall examinations there will not be another Sophomore assembly before the Christmas holidays.

DEBATERS START WORKING TO KEEP UP REPUTATION

Remarkably Good Records Have Been Made by Speakers in Recent Years

Preliminary training already begun and several debates scheduled for December, the 1932-33 State College debating squad is faced with the big task of living up to the high standard set by teams of past few years.

In the last three years teams representing State College have four times been named Southern champions in debating and extemporaneous speaking and one year, 1930, the squad won the national debating championship. Several state championships are included among the accomplishments of the three-year period which has seen State College teams win more than 80 per cent of all dual debates with colleges and universities from all over the United States.

Three of the country's best college speakers have been developed at State College in that time. This year one of them, L. M. Knott, Jr., of Wendell, is back to lead the team through a difficult schedule. Knott is Southern champion in oratory and extemporaneous speaking and was a finalist in the national extemporaneous speaking contest last year.

Perhaps the largest part of the credit for the success of State College teams and individual speakers is due to the coaching and training by E. H. Paget, professor of public speaking. In addition to his activities in forensics, Professor Paget directs several plays each year and teaches public speaking and English.

DORMITORY COUNCILMEN MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT

L. L. Vaughn and Polk Denmark Talk on Upkeep and Reputation of College

At a meeting of the dormitory council on last Wednesday night L. L. Vaughn gave a talk on the general upkeep of the college.

He gave figures on some of the monthly expenses of running the institution and in this connection asked that the dormitory residents cooperate this year in cutting down on the expenses. He also requested that they cooperate in keeping college property from being destroyed.

Folk Denmark gave a short talk in which he showed how students could increase the respect of Raleigh people for the college by observing good conduct down town and by refraining from the petty pilfering of signs from stores and streets.

There was a brief discussion of problems pertaining to dormitory life by all members.

Forster Leaves
Dr. G. W. Forster, head of the department of agricultural economics at State College, will address a meeting of the Southeastern Economic Association in Atlanta today on the subject, "Burden of Farm Taxation in the South." Dr. Forster left for Atlanta yesterday.

Economy
All college students should be married, says a professor at the University of Oregon. Academic standards would be heightened, he says, because the time used to chase the wily "IT" could be more usefully put to study.

There are twenty-eight villages and cities in the United States named Washington.

AT THE PALACE

Zane Grey's "Heritage of the Desert" with Randolph Scott and Sally Blane. The student with the all "A" report isn't always the one who succeeds in later life. And, to put it the other way around, the fellow who gets poor reports in school isn't necessarily a failure.

Zane Grey, popular novelist, whose action romance of the West, "Heritage of the Desert," plays at the Palace theatre Friday and Saturday, with a cast headed by Randolph Scott, Sally Blane and J. Farrell MacDonald, is an example of that.

Grey never got all "A's" on his report card. In fact, the first letter of the alphabet seldom graced his cards when he was a student at the University of Pennsylvania. He was better known as a baseball player than a scholar, and the letter "P," which he won in that sport, recurred more frequently for him than any other.

It was baseball, in fact, which later proved of more advantage to him than knowledge of Greek and Latin. For after he graduated from college, studied dentistry, and opened up an office in New York City, he discovered that patients were few and far between. So few and far between were they, in fact, that he turned to professional baseball to bolster his income. During the summers he earned enough money this way to carry him over lean, patient-less winters.

"Burned at Stake," comedy, and sound news complete the program.

"Wild Girl" with Joan Bennett and Charles Farrell.

Theatre-goers have a real treat in store for them at the Palace theatre this week. "Wild Girl," the Charles Farrell-Joan Bennett vehicle which plays Monday and Tuesday, is the first film in this reviewer's recollection to capture the colorful but elusive spirit of the California mining camps in the gold-rush era, and it does it in a way that makes the picture linger in one's memory. All the vividness and bracing atmosphere of Bret Harte's immortal "Salomy Jane's Kiss," from which the production is taken, are retained in this delightful offering, produced in the "Giant Forest" of Sequoia National Park in the California Sierras.

Miss Bennett in the title role of a mad-cap mountain girl, and Farrell as the grim-purposed "Stranger," both go far afield from their usual characterizations, but do such notable work that their many followers will be delighted with their portrayals.

"Honeymoon Beach," comedy, and sound news completes the program.

Joel Sayre's hilarious book, "Rackety Rax," has been transferred to the motion picture screen by the picture studios. Described as a comedy satire of sporting racketeers who muscle in on big college football, the picture which plays at the Palace theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

Victor McLaglen, heading the cast of comedians and comedienne, is said to have a far funnier role than those he had in "What Price Glory" and "The Cock-Eyed World." Greta Nissen, platinum blonde beauty, is cast as the tenderloin sweetie of a sporting world racketeer who is bothered by a battling wife, a role played by Marjorie Beebe. Nell O'Day, musical comedy stage favorite, has a sprightly role as a newspaper girl with both beauty and brains.

Others in the cast are Allen Dinehart, Allen Jenkins, Vince Barnett, Stanley Fields, Marjorie Beebe and Esther Howard.

AT THE STATE

Imagine football in a prison, where the players are convicts and are unrestrained by any sporting etiquette, social niceties or fear of penalties. Then, if you have not imagined yourself into a swoon, imagine again the plight of the poor referee in a prison football game. Beside his job, sky-scraper-window-washing, dynamite-sorting and deep-sea-diving are as safe as canary-training or interior decorating.

That's why in "Hold 'Em Jail," the comedy coming to the State theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday there will be eleven referees instead of one officiating at the "big game" for the "Penitentiary Conference Championship" between Bidemore and Lynwood prisons.

As fast as one referee is put on the spot by the happy-go-lucky boys in denim, another takes his place.

In the vanguard of this laugh riot of things as they could not possibly be in a prison, are Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, Edna May Oliver, Rosco Ates, Warren Hymer, Paul Hurst and Edgar Kennedy. Norman Taurag directed.

Completing this program is a comedy "Joe Man's Ball" with Clark McCullough, a novelty "Hollywood on Parade," a travel talk, "World Dances," and a sound news.

Five stars instead of one shine in "Grand Hotel," spectacular picturization of the celebrated Vicki Baum novel and play, which will play at the State theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at popular prices.

Probably no film in recent years has attracted as much advance attention as this unusual screen drama which is described as a symbolical study of human nature in startling realism. The play ran in New York for more than a year with similar success accorded its presentation in other American cities as well as the capitals of Europe.

In bringing it to the screen Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer placed five of its major stars in the central characterizations and engaged Edmund Goulding, director of "Devil's Holiday" and "The Trespasser," to handle the ambitious assignment. The remarkable cast is headed by Greta Garbo with John Barrymore, Joan Crawford, Wallace Beery and Lionel Barrymore playing outstanding roles. Lewis Stone and Jean Hersholt are featured in the large supporting cast.

A sound news completes this program.

ter returns to his most universally-liked role, that of an average American.

Miss Nixon, too, is seen in the wistful, emotional sort of role in which the public loves her best. Together, they make a romantic team of believable sincerity.

Joe E. Brown, affectionately regarded as the current king of comedians, follows up his "Fireman, Save My Child" success with "The Tenderfoot," which is coming to the Capitol theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

In his latest, wide-mouthed Joe portrays a Texas rancher who comes to New York with the last of his money, which he intends to invest profitably so he can lift the mortgage on his ranch. Armed with his money and his six-shooters, Joe becomes involved with a theatrical producer, falls in love, buys a show which is a failure, miraculously and unwittingly turns the show into a howling success, gets mixed up with lawyers and ladies, eventually overcoming all obstacles, lifting the mortgage and winning the gal.

The script of Brown's latest film funning story was written by Arthur Caesar, Monty Banks and Earl Baldwin, generally regarded as Hollywood's best concocters of comedy. Monty Banks will be remembered as a former comedian on stage and screen. The direction is by Ray Enright, co-author of the previous Brown success, "Fireman, Save My Child."

CHANGE OF ATTITUDE

One of the most remarkable changes on the campus has been the gradual, but comparatively rapid change in the attitude toward women students on the campus. The latest example is the decision of Leazar Literary Society to admit co-eds to membership. The establishment of Phi Epsilon as a successful organization, the admission of women to Gamma Sigma Epsilon and their representation on the debate team were examples of the same changes last year.

When it is remembered that only three years ago THE TECHNICIAN was heartily against co-eds and male students were generally in favor of running them off the campus, the change becomes apparent. The only opponents to co-eds now are a few students who consider it very masculine to be against them.

The fact is, the co-eds lifted themselves to where they are today. When they made consistently high grades, took part in activities and increased in numbers they forced the student body to realize that they were becoming a permanent part of the campus picture.

A review of the news this week reveals the part they are playing in campus affairs. They have an entertainment feature in the Stunt Night program and roles in the Red Masquers' play. The Red Masquers' Club could hardly do without them, for a series of womanless plays would bring no audiences. Co-eds can be credited largely with whatever dramatic talent has been developed. The personal appearance and conduct of boys on the campus is much better than it would be in a more masculine atmosphere.

However, co-eds must still take a great deal of good-natured badinage because they are State College co-eds and they can never fit completely into the picture until they increase sufficiently to require the building of a co-ed dormitory.

Theoretically, their only handicap now is taxation without representation. They can not vote for student body officers and their own government amounts to little. This is no reflection upon its officers or upon the co-eds—the Women's Student Government merely does not have an opportunity to function. Girls do not live on the campus and their number is so small as to make their decisions relatively unimportant in general campus affairs.

It is gratifying to note the complete absence of any appreciable sentiment against women students and the increased participation in college activities by co-eds. The campus is the better for their presence.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

The action of the Board of Trustees last June in giving recognition to the Forestry Department by changing the name of the School of Agriculture to the School of Agriculture and Forestry actually is just a matter of words, but it is official notice of the fact that the course is passing milestones in its progress as one of the most valuable phases of technical education to State College and to North Carolina.

Under the capable direction of Dr. J. V. Hofmann the department has grown through three years into one of the most valuable and esteemed courses in the college. The enrollment has increased steadily and the school's experimental forest in Hyde County has been financially and educationally profitable.

Forest production and conservation, along with other natural resources, is today one of the most significant fields of operation for trained experts. North Carolina offers peculiar advantages for profitable production of timber and its by-products. With trained leaders and a program of education to its potentialities, forestry production and increased utilization of waste land for this purpose should mean more and more in economic value to North Carolina. It is a school with a future.

The campus is suddenly deluged with publications. The Alumni News, the Watauga, the Agriculturist and the current issue of THE TECHNICIAN all come out within a week.

FAVOR TO THE PUBLIC

The athletic authorities will have a difficult job in handling the large crowds at the Duke game tomorrow. Lack of seating facilities will present the opportunity for over-enthusiastic fans to completely ruin the game for those in the stands by collecting along the sidelines. Most of them will not be students, but the harm is done no matter who they are. Next year the college plans for a stadium, but in these last home games something must be done if the good-will of fans is to be kept and they are to fill the stadium next fall.

The patrolling by students in uniform will help, but if the situation gets beyond them, one thing that can be done which will stop the crowds from gathering on the sidelines, and that is for the radio officials to stop the game and the radio announcer tell the fans why it is being done. Then the outcry of the people in the stands will bring order again at once. With advance notice to the referee and the announcer, this could be done without any trouble. There is a penalty provided on the home team for the crowd interfering with the game anyway, and the risk need not be run. As for looks, it is much worse to have the disorder than to stop the game for a few minutes. This plan has been suggested before, but it has not been carried out.

Efficient management of tomorrow's crowds will be a credit to the college under the difficult circumstances that are sure to prevail.

POLITICS

Campus politicians are already building their playgrounds for the spring elections can well take inventory of the admirably-planned Democratic campaign and its successful strategy. However, the statement was made some time ago by a prominent politician that he and his cohorts could not hold a candle to the astuteness of college vote manipulators.

There is no doubt that the boys are clever, and there is no doubt that their operations are not so much the evil sometimes pictured.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

Students are again requested to do everything they can to make the Dad's Day program a success. By hard work on the part of Golden Chain and Blue Key, with the cooperation of other organizations, everything has been done to give the student body an opportunity to make the week-end an eventful and instructive period for friends and parents.

The student body at large can add the last touch by being of as much service as possible to visitors and helping the college to be at its best for the occasion.

The ancient ducking-stool should be revived for application to student motorists who drive rapidly on rainy days through the pools on the campus streets between classes and splatter pedestrians.

Probably a long condemnation of all speeders would be appropriate also, but it is unnecessary, since State College students seem to be a particularly alert group of young men. They are all able to sidestep and jump remarkably well and are rarely hit. The only danger is that they may relax in caution and there is little fear of that as long as there are so many speed demons on the campus.

In case any students are wondering why there have been no reports of Student Government trials in THE TECHNICIAN, the explanation is that there have been none so far this year. Cases will be printed without names as announced last year.

College Opinions

HAZING

Hazing in the present day is simply a left-over from a time in American college life when there may have been some excuse for it. Fifty years ago when freshmen came to college from isolated spots and entertained some original notions as to how a student should act, he was probably obstreperous and some stern disciplinary measures were needed to curb any unsocial tendencies that the freshman may have had. But today the freshman knows how he should act because he has read books and seen moving pictures on college life.

Hazing at a college of this size is carried on more intensely within the fraternities. However, the national headquarters of the better fraternities advise its members against this one-sided fight. About 25 years ago students were killed and seriously injured every year, especially in the western colleges and several fatalities have occurred in Virginia even in the last ten years.

Hazing is rapidly going out of vogue. The more intelligent college man evades it entirely and indulgently leaves his inferior classmates the one opportunity he has to exhibit the selfassertive urge, which would under other circumstances be squelched.—Yellow Jacket Weekly.

AN AWAKENING

The first tremor of waking is now quivering throughout the aging and almost palsied joints of Rip Van Winkle Tulane. Intellectually asleep for these many football seasons, our university is beginning to show that it thinks as well as blocks and tackles.

This sign of intellectual waking is manifested in the interest of a handful of students in the economic plight of their country. As yet, the movement is insignificant. The student body as a whole is still sleeping blissfully. There is only a handful who have shown an interest. But all movements must have a beginning and most big things start in just this way—with a handful of persons who, by dint of their enthusiasm, set the others into activity. It is in the grasp of these few students who have expressed an interest in the political situation of the country, most of whom declare that they don't know exactly what to do about it, but that they want to do something, to set off the fuse that will end in an intellectual explosion at Tulane. Which is just what we need. Tulane might some day, to use a Tulane professor's favorite expression, cease to be just a group of buildings attached to a football stadium. We might even some day become a university in the true sense of the word—a center of learning. We have a start, a very slight one, it's true, but a start just the same. So who knows what may happen, if the handful of students who have come out unashamedly and used their brains to think with, are given the proper cooperation? So, let us pray.—Tulane Hallelujah.

SCENES and SAYINGS

By J. W. LAMBERSON

The boys of Sigma Nu fraternity attended Christ Church in a body last Sunday morning. This was done in honor of deceased members of their fraternity, and Christ Church was the one selected to attend.

Chester Sewall, whose name is called out constantly in the dining hall for no apparent reason, says that if the boys enjoy calling his name that he doesn't mind. He has taken an attitude that very few if any of those who are doing the yelling would take.

Prof. W. K. Wynn's journalism class is "accosting" the Technician. Students in his classes are getting news stories for him and turning them over to THE TECHNICIAN. Several stories have been turned in before the reporters were assigned to go after them.

A funny incident several weeks ago: Frank Watson, a transfer student from Carolina was examining an "Agriculturist," and upon finishing the examination laid down the paper and remarked, "I don't think so much of that issue."

"Meet the editor," his friend nearby said, as he presented L. M. Boswell, the editor of the magazine, and you can imagine Watson's surprise and embarrassment. The moral of this story is to never comment before strangers.

The dog at the Pi Kappa Alpha house is expecting several blessed events, according to Charles Spratt and Frank Snowden.

Professor F. B. Wheeler says, "The abolishment of 'bull tours' brings back memories of the time when Lieut. John S. E. Young was head of the Military Department here at the college. In the days when I walked 'bull tours' about fifty boys would walk in a circle with a radius of about eighty yards in front of Holladay Hall. Lieut. Young would stand in the middle of the circle, seeming to enjoy it immensely. If a boy reported to walk out his punishment he did not represent military perfection in every respect he was required to walk an extra hour."

STUDENT VOLUNTEERS MEET NOV. 12 AND 13

Large State College Delegation Expected to Attend Raleigh Meetings

The annual regional conference of the Student Volunteer Union will be entertained by the West Raleigh Presbyterian Church, Saturday and Sunday, November 12 and 13, which more than one hundred delegates, including many State College students will attend.

Addresses and group discussions will continue from 3:00 p.m. Saturday to 12:15 Sunday afternoon at the church and the Y. M. C. A.

The theme of the program will be "Your Crusade to the Sleeping Church."

The Student Volunteer Movement, an outgrowth of the rise of the missionary zeal among college students of America during the past century, is recognized as having done more than any other missionary organization in the world towards bringing in the modern era of Christian missions.

High light addresses of the program include: "Contemporary Mission Problems," by Dr. Darby Fulton, secretary of the Foreign Missions for the Southern Presbyterian Church, 3:15 Saturday at the church; A missionary address by Rev. McNeill Poteat, pastor of the Pullen Memorial Church, 7:30 Saturday at the church; "The Way Out For Foreign Missions," by Dr. Fulton, 9:15 Sunday morning at the State College Y. M. C. A.

"Y" CABINET DISCUSSES NON-QUOTA STUDENT RULE

Definite Action Postponed After Talk About Department of Labor Ruling

The question of non-quota students working in the colleges of America, was brought up at the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet meeting held Wednesday night, November 9.

The law which was passed by the Department of Labor reads: "If any such student already here or hereafter admitted to the U. S. engages in any business or occupation for profit or labors for hire, he shall be deemed to have forfeited his status and shall be liable to arrest and deportation."

On September 1, of this year this law was sent out to the schools, and it met with such disapproval that it was modified so as to permit foreign students to work in exchange for room and board, and in part payment of their tuition, but not for money to apply for their expenses.

Charlie Styron, Bill Braswell and L. M. Knott were appointed as a committee to look up any other information concerning this bill, and have it ready for the cabinet meeting next Wednesday, at which time the Cabinet will consider the report.

Bringing Father Up

Open Forum

Point System

In the year of 1931-32 the Student Council, in making a study of the different organizations on the campus, found two great faults: first, there were too many organizations on the campus; and, second, that there were too many boys trying to lead as many organizations as they could.

The Council felt that the first fault would require much more time and study than the Council could complete within a year. The problem of too many organizations is now being studied by different major organizations on the campus.

The second fault the Council worked on for quite awhile and submitted a plan in the Spring term of 1932 which it hopes to please the student body and Administrative Board. This plan is called the Extra-Curricular Point System.

The purpose of the point system is twofold: (1) To safeguard the man from attempting to do so much outside work that he must neglect his scholastic work, and his reputation is lowered because of inefficiency in performing the duties of his office. (2) To safeguard the organization against deterioration because of inefficient officers made so by too much work.

A committee of six Council members has been appointed to watch the progress of the point system and to make what changes seem necessary after a year's trial.

We hope you will watch this with interest and make suggestions to help keep the Point System in use on our campus.

A file is kept in Dean Cloyd's office of the organization and their officers and allowances of all students holding offices on the campus. Those boys who have gone their limit are notified as well as the organization of which they are officers.

ROSS SPEAKER AT MEET OF AGRICULTURAL CLUB

Zoology Department Gets Loving Cup for Best Exhibit in Students' Ag Fair

The origin and operation of the North Carolina Credit Association was discussed by George Ross, Class of 1911, at a meeting of the Agricultural Club Tuesday night. Ross is now superintendent of the prison farm, and director of all farms owned and operated by the state.

President A. D. Williams presented a loving cup donated by T. W. Wood and Sons of Richmond, Va. to the zoology department, putting on the best prize at the Student's Ag Fair.

He also discussed the establishment of the federal agricultural credit banks. These banks are to deal directly with the farmers and are supposed to aid the farmer in getting back on the cash basis.

A bank will be established in Raleigh to meet the needs of the people of this vicinity and neighboring states. A branch of the Raleigh bank will be established in Macon, Ga. North Carolina is aiding the Federal Government in this move by removing a part of the direct tax burden from the farmer and making it more indirect. The next legislature proposes to take more of the direct tax off the farmers.

Ross stated that, "It looked as though the people who live on farms will be able in the future to purchase what they want."

It haunted clerks for generations

"The first of the month" used to be a time of feverish activity for ledger clerks. But the Bell System accounting staff—breaking away from tradition—simplified the keeping of accounts and rendering of monthly statements to customers.

They applied a modern system of rotation billing to the telephone business which now spreads this work evenly throughout the month. In cooperation with manufacturers, they devised special typewriters and bookkeeping machines. Thus they did away with inefficient rush and achieved greater accuracy, speed and neatness.

This is but one example of a point of view found throughout the Bell System. Even long accepted routine is constantly studied—it's always worth looking for the more efficient way!

GAME SATURDAY PROMISES TO BE GRIDIRON CLASSIC

Duke Out for Revenge in Feature Battle at 2:30 P.M. on Riddick Field

EXTRA STANDS OBTAINED FOR EXPECTED CROWDS

Rivals Present Strongest Grid Machine in Years; Game is State's Last Big Five Tilt; Aerial Attacks and Excellent Punting on Tap; Duke Will Cinch Big Five Crown With Win; State Will Have Long Chance if Successful

Two of North Carolina's most colorful football teams play on Riddick Field Saturday at 2:30 p.m. when the State College Wolfpack faces Duke University's Blue Devils.

It will be State's last Big Five game and the eighth of their scheduled nine. It will be the third Big Five game for Duke and the eighth of their scheduled ten.

State has a chance for a double tie with Carolina for Big Five honors if they defeat the Blue Devils Saturday and if Carolina defeats Duke and loses to Davidson.

State's and Duke's impressive showing their victories over two excellent gridiron machines this past Saturday has set State College athletic officials to worrying over how to take care of the 15,000 spectators expected to throng Riddick Field to watch the battle.

Dr. R. R. Sermon, athletic director of State College, says additional temporary bleachers, which will be borrowed from Raleigh High Schools, will be placed at the North End of the Field in preparation for the game. The game is sure to break the attendance record set by the State-Wake Forest game during Fair Week in October.

The Wolfpack and Blue Devils machines are packed with a goodly number of tricks and Saturday's game should see a number on display.

All pepped up over its 13-0 win over Kentucky and anxious for its third Big Five win, Coach Wallace Wade will bring his team to Raleigh seeking revenge for the unexpected 14-0 loss the Wolfpack handed it in Durham last year.

State invariably plays its best game against the Blue Devils, and Duke knows it too. Coach Clipper Smith has the most powerful and perhaps the lightest backfield in the state. The backfield is built around Cumiskey in the number one outfit. In this backfield with Mope are McQuage at quarter and Bailey and Bohannon at the halves.

The possible line-up for Saturday's game is:

Neils LE Rositter
Seitz LT Crawford
Capt. Espey C Dunlop
RG Schock
Daugherty RT Andrews
Gresson RE Phipps
McQuage QB Capt. Mason
Bailey LH Laney
Bohannon RH Abbott
Cumiskey FB Ersler

The State line is built around Capt. Espey with Stanko and Seitz ranking next. The remainder of the line is made up of Neils and Gresson at the wing posts, Stroupe at right tackle, and possibly Tull at right guard.

FROSH WIN 12-7 OVER DAVIDSON

Touchdown in Last Two Minutes Of Play by State Yearlings Defeats Kittens

State College's yearling football team defeated one of the gamiest and snappiest freshman eleven's ever to tear up turf on Riddick Field when it eked a 12-7 victory over Davidson's Kittens on Friday, November 4.

It was State's first appearance and the Techlets fought an uphill battle in order to reach the top and please the home folks. State's second and winning touchdown came with 90 seconds left to play.

Coach Bob Warren's locals scored first in the second quarter on a 52 yard drive. Phil Davis, Tech half, led end for one yard. The drive was featured by numerous gains by Brinson, fullback from New Bern.

Davidson went ahead in the quarter when Pittman looped a high 30 yard pass to Burns, standing behind the goal. Pittman then made a place kick.

State took possession of the ball on the 20 yard line when Davidson punted badly. Warren hit the line for three yards, but a pass failed. Phil Davis then eased a nifty pass to Dusty, the little quarter who received the ball on the five yard stripe and crossed over.

The Techlets made six first downs to the Kittens' four. Davidson presented a speedy backfield and a fine defensive line. The game offered no outstanding stars.

The line-ups:

State Frosh	Davidson Frosh
Brown	Left Guard
Cooper	Center
Hudson	Right Guard
Zori	Right Tackle
Nicholson	Right End
Dusty	Quarter
Davis	Right Half
Warren	Fullback
State Frosh	0 6 0 6-12
Davidson	0 0 7 0-7

Touchdowns for State: Davis, Dusty.
Touchdown Davidson: Burns.
Extra point for Davidson: Pittman.
Substitutions: Tackle, Scott; guards West, Fortune; center, Sabol; quarter, Raines; fullback, Brinson.
Substitutions for Davidson: End, Cumble; guard, W. H. Clark; half, Yarrowhough, Sanders, Pearce.
Officials: Gerald (H.), referee; Sanders, W. and L., umpires; Doak (Gulford), headlinesman.

Formidable Backs in Duke Grid Machine

LOWELL MASON
These two powerful Blue Devils hail from Charlotte. Mason is a quarterback with a clever head. His quick and wise decisions have helped Duke defeat some of the most outstanding teams in the South. Lane is the crooning halfback who has been lulling opposing teams into submission this season. He has turned in at least one 25-yard run in every game. The Wolfpack will have to watch these two men closely.

COX STILL LEADS BIG FIVE SCORING

Rex in Second Place; Duke Sets Pace in Big Five Scoring With State Second

Johnnie Cox, of Duke, is still leading the race for individual honors in Big Five scoring by 28 points. He is closely followed by Ray Rex, of State, Capt. Mason of Duke, and by Nick Laney, also of Duke, with 24 points to their credit.

Duke is setting the pace in team scoring with a total of 133 points scored and 34 points against them. State ranks second with 84 for and 22 against.

Halfback Runs for Touchdown on Kick-off After Davidson's Field Goal

BRILLIANT PLAY COMES AFTER BITTER STRUGGLE

Davidson Fails in Try for Touchdown With Four Downs to Gain Last Foot

The Wolfpack won their fifth game of the season Saturday, November 5 when they defeated the Davidson Wildcats at Charlotte 7-3. It was State's first victory in Big Five competition and Davidson's second loss.

All the scoring was made during the last quarter on spectacular playing on both sides.

On the opening play of the fourth period Bruce Peabody booted a field goal and Davidson supporters settled back contentedly to see the kick-off. Roscoe Roy then pulled one of football's most glamorous plays. He received the kick on his 10-yard line and threaded through the Wildcat eleven 90 yards to a touchdown.

The State back hugged the sidelines virtually throughout his journey. Once he was surrounded by red clad players but he dodged them and outdistanced three would-be tacklers in a final mad sprint to the goal.

Bob McQuage kicked the extra point. The play was a brilliant climax to a bitter battle which saw the Wolfpack pile-driving backs match their wares against Davidson's feet carriers. Offensive threats studded the game but the long drives always ended just short of the goal line.

In the third period with but a foot to go for a touchdown and four downs to make it in Johnny Mackorell, Davidson's great little back, fumbled and Davidson's golden touchdown opportunity was gone.

In the fourth period State's steamroller offensive got going and threatened constantly to add another touchdown.

WOLFLETS MEET LOUISBURG TEAM TODAY AT 2:30 P.M.

WRESTLING TEAM BEGINS TRAINING

Schedule Opens January 16 With Six Varsity and Three Frosh Meets Carried

The varsity and the freshman wrestling teams of State College began training activities in the auxiliary gym this week for their mat schedule which opens January 16, 1933, with the University of North Carolina at Raleigh.

This match with Carolina is the first home match in three years, it is also the only home match on this year's schedule.

Six meets are booked for the varsity this winter and three are scheduled for the yearlings. Additional matches with the different high schools throughout the state are expected to be carded for the freshmen.

The schedule as it now stands is: January 16, U. of North Carolina here, varsity and freshmen.
January 28, Duke at Durham, varsity and freshmen.
February 4, V. P. I. at Blacksburg, varsity.
February 11, V. M. I. at Lexington, varsity.

February 20, Washington and Lee at Lexington, varsity.
February 25, Davidson at Davidson, varsity and freshmen.
Coach Red Hicks faces the task this winter of building a varsity team without a single letterman of last year's team. Capt. Martin Bazemore, a 125-pounder, was the only regular expected to report this fall and he did not return to school this fall. His absence will be keenly felt.

The following men are working hard for places on the varsity and others are expected at the close of the football season: David Morrish, 115 pounds, Colin Kerr, 125, Charles Nolen, Tony Marchese, Hiram Bell, James Leroy, and Chatfield, 135, James Cooper, James Fortune, and Davis, 145, James McLaurin and Steve Colenda, 155, Woodrow Furr, Clifton Croom, James Stiney, and John Henry, 165, Stanley Cleverley, 175, Donald Fry and Vince Farrar, unlimited.

Farrar and Henry are newcomers to the wrestling game, but both of these men have unusual promise and will be strong contenders for a place on the varsity team.

The following men are working for a position on the freshman team: L. M. Holland, J. E. Thornton, K. W. Clark, A. O. Basnight, 125, J. L. Canady, M. D. Wall, W. A. Speer, R. M. Wallsor, R. G. Hodgkin, B. C. Cleve, J. K. Dyer, R. L. Nicholson, 135, J. H. Westbrook, K. J. Krach, J. F. Harper, C. T. Litvin, R. L. Lloyd, 145, W. S. Shih, C. T. Whitehead, 155, C. Comfort, G. R. McCall, J. L. Eiland, and L. Sivan, 165.

The freshmen are being tutored by Coach Joe Moore. Both varsity and freshman candidates are rounding into shape nicely and in the short time they have been out they look mighty good. They have a good spirit and always report for practice every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at four o'clock.

In the Dormitory group of the tag football league the following teams are to play in the second round: Beta Sigma Alpha to play Kappa Alpha November 15 on Red Field; Lambda Chi Alpha vs. Theta Phi, November 10, on Red Field; Pi Kappa Phi vs. Pi Kappa Alpha, November 18, on Freshman Field; Sigma Nu vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon, November 15, on Freshman Field.

In the fraternity consolation league, Alpha Kappa Phi vs. Delta Sigma Phi, November 17, on Red Field; Kappa Sigma vs. Phi Kappa Tau, November 17, on Freshman Field; Sigma Pi vs. Theta Kappa Nu, November 21, on Freshman Field.

In the Dormitory group of the tag football league Second Floor Seventh defeated Basement South on November 8, to enter the third round. First Dormitory forfeited to Third Floor 1911, putting the latter team in the third round. In the other game next week Third Floor South is slated to meet First Floor South, on November 14, on Freshman Field.

Freshmen Club Will Play Last Home Game of Season on Riddick Field

WARREN HAS GOOD CLUB 'BURG TEAM UNKNOWN

Freshmen Won One, Tied One, Lost One Thus Far in Games This Season; Coaches Warren and Beatty Undecided About Line-up, But All Sure to See Action; Raines and Dusty Shine in Backfield; Sabol and Zori Look Good on Line

North Carolina State freshmen play their last home game of the season this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, against Louisburg College varsity. The game will be played on Riddick Field, as an Armistice Day celebration.

The Wolflets have been defeated only once this year, and that to Duke. They tied Carolina Frosh 6-6 and defeated Davidson Frosh 13-7. They play one more game in addition to the one this afternoon, and that being with Eastern Carolina Teachers' College on November 18, at Greenville.

Despite the fact that Duke was victorious over the more powerful State team, the small Wolfpack have an exceptionally well-balanced and strong club. The backs are of the daring and reckless running type, while the linemen include some of the best talent in this section.

The freshmen resumed practice Thursday afternoon with signal practice. They have suffered no apparent injury during the past week and are raring to go.

Coach Bob Warren is undecided as to a starting line-up but whoever starts makes no difference as he plans to give everyone a chance. Coach Warren will pick his starting line-up from the following men:

Centers—Sabol, Croom, West, Fortune, and Knapp.
Tackles—Roessler, Zori, Fox, Stott, Spruill, and Burgess.
Ends—Nicholson, Davis, Duke, Williams, and Lamb.
Quarterback—Dusty, Andriani, Moore, and Cleve.
Halfbacks—Raines, Mongolis, Gates, Womble, and Cleve.
Fullbacks—Warren and Brinson.

Little is known about the Louisburg team, but there is talk that they have a few former Wake Forest varsity men on their squad.

Other guests included, with their escorts: Miss Eleanor Randolph, Miss Mary Emma White, Miss Sheldon Shaw, Miss Anne Simms, Miss Kitty Makepeace of Sanford, Miss Garnett Elchme, Miss Kildie Tucker. Chaperones were: Mrs. L. N. Mason and Mr. and Mrs. Van Brocklenburg.

CURRENT ALUMNI NEWS TAKES UP CONSOLIDATION

Alumni Secretary's Magazine Comes Out Thursday With Discussion of Problem

The "Consolidation" issue of the N. C. State Alumni News, edited by L. P. Denmark, Alumni Secretary, was distributed on the campus Thursday, November 10.

The main features of this month's issue were "From Me to You" and "Higher Education in North Carolina," by Denmark. Both the letter and the editorial dealt with the consolidation question.

Other stories in the issue were: "Consolidation in Oregon," a story portraying the conditions in Oregon after the consolidation of five schools had taken place; a long feature story on "Football," which reviewed the football season that the Wolfpack has had up until the last game with Davidson.

Resolutions that were adopted by the Richmond chapter of the Alumni Association and the resolutions adopted on October 10 by the executive committee of the General Alumni Association, as well as an "Analysis of the Board of Trustees of the Greater University," which shows who is on the board and what school that they represent.

Educate Further

To what point should the public be called upon to support a child's education? Through the junior college years, answers the distinguished commission of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. A new degree, to be called "Associate in Arts," making the end of the "civilizing process," should be granted, it recommends, for juniors college graduation at approximately 20 years of age. Beyond that only those qualified for advanced and professional study would proceed at public expense.

Clever Girl

Martha Smith, 19-year-old sophomore in Taylor University, Upland, Indiana, brought 150 chickens with her when she arrived this fall and is making them work overtime to pay her expenses. In order to speed up production, Miss Smith wired electric lights in the hen house to an alarm clock. The clock is set for two hours before daylight, forcing the chickens to start to work early. So far, she says, the system is a success.

Sigma Nu Entertains

The members and pledges of the Sigma Nu Fraternity at State College entertained a large group of guests at a wicker roast, at Murray Allen's cabin, "Blue Heaven," Friday evening, November 4th.

After the outing the party returned to the fraternity residence on Clarke Avenue, where dancing was enjoyed for the remainder of the evening.

Many of the guests attended the dance given by the Thirteen Club.

Members and guests attending the affair were: G. H. Trastell and Miss Irene Little, N. H. McQueen and Miss Mary Ellen Lawrence, J. W. Coschman and Miss Eleanor Randolph, H. T. Patterson and Miss Kildie Tucker, Karl Bridges and Miss Hazel Perkins, F. A. Edmundson and Miss Mary Nell Cummings, M. C. Hunter and Miss Ruth Penny, W. J. DR. B. W. WELLS TALKS TO HIGH SCIENCE CLUB

Dr. B. W. Wells, of the State College faculty, addressed the John Burroughs Science Club of Broughton High School at its meeting Monday night.

His subject was "Insect Galls." During his talk lantern slides were used to illustrate his points. He spoke briefly of a type of gall which he and Dr. Metcalf had found and named. Describing the method in which galls were formed, he said it would make one famous overnight if he could discover what fluid or stimulus caused the leaf to form the gall.

Freshman Friendship Council

The Freshman Friendship Council held their weekly meeting Wednesday night, November 9, at 6:30 with a good attendance.

(Continued from page five) then reeled off eight through right tackle. Wilson rammed the line and made it first down on the one-foot line. Then Mackorell fumbled and the ball was recovered by Espey of State.

McQuage punted to Davidson's 41 and on the next play Morgan caught a pass from Mackorell for a first down on the 21-yard line. Mackorell and Wilson made it first down on the five-yard line. Three line plays added three yards as the quarter ended. Peabody then dropped back and booted a placement which set the Davidson offense wild.

The next play is football history—not soon to be forgotten by the nearly 5,000 persons who saw the game—Roy's brilliant 90 yard dash.

After the kickoff Davidson executed a brilliant and daring play. Standing on his own 20-yard line, Pearce dropped back as if to punt and passed far to the left to Mackorell for 10 yards and the Hickory youth ran 21 more to State's 49 yard line. A 15-yard penalty halted this march.

After that everything was all Wolfpack. Cumskey and McAdams reeled off gain after gain, once marching to the 7-yard line where on fourth down McAdams was smothered on his 20 when he attempted to pass. The Wolfpack was deep in Wildcat territory when the game ended.

Captain Espey, State center, was in nearly every play. Wagner, tackle and Wilson and Mackorell held starring roles for the "Cats." Davidson adapted a special defense for the Wolfpack's puzzling shift and it worked well. One or two linemen dropped back of the line a couple of yards. The plays were well diagnosed and State had trouble launching its offense.

Professor M. E. Gardner, in a recent interview describes the "Golden Jubilee," a new variety of peach which was developed by M. A. Blake of the New Jersey Experiment Station.

"I believe the Golden Jubilee peach is the most important recent development in the field of horticulture," said Gardner, head of the horticultural department of State College. It is a freestone peach with the golden flesh of its mother, the Elberta, which is the most widely grown peach. Its father is the Greensboro, a large early peach. The Golden Jubilee ripens three weeks earlier than the Elberta and compares favorably with it. "However, the Golden Jubilee has a tang that tickles the palate better than the Elberta," smiled Mr. Gardner.

Many fruit growers will find this a profitable peach to grow. It keeps well when being shipped to distant markets. The tree is strong and healthy and grows well in many localities.

Professor Gardner believes that the Golden Jubilee will soon be found on the fruit markets as the aristocrat of peaches.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

THE FALL OF TICONDEROGA "Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by F. C. Yohn—inspired by that horror-filled dawn when the bloodthirsty savages fell on Ethan Allan's gallant "Green Mountain Boys" of Fort Ticonderoga fame. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.
