

Paulson Announces Finding of Famous Da Vinci Painting

Architecture Prof Brings to Light Painting Thought to Have Been Lost

SAYS PAINTING CREDITED TO SANDRE BOTTECELLI

"The Birth of Christ" Painted in 1493 as Present to Emperor Maximilian

Professor J. D. Paulson, assistant professor of architecture at State College, announced Wednesday his discovery of one of the world's long lost and first famous paintings—Leonardo Da Vinci's "Birth of Christ." It accepted, the discovery of this painting will give to the world another of three famous works by the versatile Italian artist.

Announcement yesterday of the discovery of one of the world's long lost and most famous paintings—Leonardo Da Vinci's "Birth of Christ," by Professor J. D. Paulson of State College, will, if accepted, give to the world three famous works by the versatile Italian artist.

Professor Paulson, who is a graduate of the Yale School of Fine Arts in painting and drawing, formed his conclusions through the use of photographs of the original painting.

According to Prof. Paulson, the painting for 400 years has been erroneously titled "Adoration of the Kings" and incorrectly ascribed to Sandro Botticelli, celebrated Florentine. Paulson has never seen the original, which, he said, is formerly hung in the Hermitage in Petrograd, but recently had been acquired by a private citizen.

Paulson says Leonardo painted the Birth of Christ upon order of the Duke of Milan in 1493 for presentation to Emperor Maximilian. The painting shows the Emperor and the Duke—both identified as such by Paulson through inscription—with their followers paying obeisance to the Christ Child in the central background. The artist himself is identified by Paulson as a member of the Duke's retinue. Mary is holding the Child and Joseph is standing just to the left.

Should the painting be definitely proved to be Leonardo's work, as Paulson asserts it is, he said it would take its place as one of the most important paintings, "one without price," and probably would be the only figure composition by Leonardo which is in perfect condition.

Leonardo's other two famous paintings are those of "The Last Supper" and "Mona Lisa."

Prof. Paulson is a native of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and studied at the Alleghany College in Pennsylvania before attending Yale. He has made quite a study of and has written a series of articles on unnoticed inscriptions of famous paintings for a leading art publication.

The National Collegiate Agricultural Council is composed of representatives from undergraduate Agricultural groups of various agricultural schools elected to membership in the Council. Its purpose is to furnish a clearing house for plans and projects of the various councils and to foster, promote, and encourage new Ag groups. Last year an entirely new constitution was drawn up allowing a more stable and continuous program. Under the new constitution the body was divided into four sections: east, southern, which state is in, central west, and western section. At the coming meeting the question of having a section president and a faculty member for general chairman will be discussed.

The Y. M. C. A. cabinet conducted the Sunday vesper service at Meredith college last Sunday evening. P. E. Stone, chairman of the deputation committee, was in charge of the program.

The State college quartet, composed of E. L. Johnson, W. E. Boykin, Edgar Geddie, and Marshall Gardner sang for the Meredith students. W. E. Braswell also took part in the program. The Meredith college B. S. U. was invited to conduct a similar program at State in the near future.

FROSH HEAR HART AT FRIDAY MEET

Major C. D. Kutschinski Leads Freshman Class in Songs for Duke Game

Ray Shaulls, newly elected freshman president, took charge of the freshman class meeting for his first time last Friday.

Shaulls presented Major C. D. Kutschinski, head of the music department, who had charge of the first part of the program. Major Kutschinski explained to the class that he was there to practice two new songs that are to be sung at the Duke-State game tomorrow. He then through the songs twice alone and then had the class try them with him. The songs are, "Hello There, Mr. Duke, Duke, Duke!" and "How Do-You-Do, Mr. Wolfpack?" As accompaniment for the singers the band will play Saturday, facing the Duke students' section for the first song and State's for the last. The band has been practicing the music for these songs, and more practice for the students will come Friday night. Major Kutschinski expressed a desire for the whole-hearted support of the freshman class in putting these songs over at tomorrow's game.

Shaulls then introduced Rev. John R. Hart, former chaplain and graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, who spoke on good sportsmanship and enthusiasm in athletics. He gave several incidents of interest that have occurred in college athletics and pointed out where good sportsmanship had helped many people in other ways than merely winning a game. Rev. Hart states that backing up a team will renew its pep and many times win a game.

After Rev. Hart's talk, Shaulls announced that the vice president, secretary, and treasurer would be elected at the next meeting.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO BE A FOOTBALL REFEREE

M. J. ("MIKE") THOMPSON, FAMOUS FOOTBALL REFEREE

IF YOU WANT TO SEE nerve strain, look at "Mike" Thompson's job—refereeing two tons of football brawn. "Mike" Thompson has been a steady smoker for years. "I'm open-minded on cigarettes," he says, "but I've got to keep my nerves in shape, so I stick to Camels."

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

M. J. ("Mike") Thompson, football's most famous referee, has to keep his nerves healthy. He says:

"Because nothing can be allowed to interfere with healthy nerves I smoke Camels. I have tried them all—given every popular brand a chance to show what it can offer. Camels don't upset my nerves even when I smoke constantly. And the longer I smoke them, the more I come to appreciate their mildness and rich flavor."

Many smokers who have changed to Camels report that their nerves are no longer irritable... "jumpy." Switch to Camels yourself. You will find that Camels do not jangle your nerves—or tire your taste.

ELECTRICAL MEN HONOR FOURAKER

Engineering Professor Chosen Representative to Engineering Council

At the recent annual fall meeting of the North Carolina section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, R. S. Fouraker, professor of electrical engineering and counselor to the student chapter of A. I. E. E., was chosen as one of the representatives to serve on the North Carolina Engineering Council for the North Carolina section of the A. I. E. E.

Fouraker was also elected to serve on the executive committee.

The delegates were welcomed to the University by Robert B. House, executive secretary and Frank L. Moser of Charlotte, chairman of the North Carolina section, responded.

The number of delegates from State College numbered 23, the number from Duke University 10, and Carolina 5.

The afternoon session was devoted to papers by several authorities on engineering. Officers were also elected. Papers were read by F. M. Craft, chief engineer of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company of Atlanta and vice president of the Southern district, A. I. E. E.; Robert J. Marvin, University student in engineering; and T. Johnson, Jr. of the General Electrical Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Dr. J. O. Perrine, associate editor Bell System Technical Journal, American Telephone and Telegraph Company, New York, N. Y. lectured upon the fundamental, physical, and psychological principles of television, using slides and portable apparatus to demonstrate.

"Television is still a long way into the future and when it comes into general use, its benefits will have to be judged largely by personal likes and dislikes," said Perrine. "Enabling radio audiences to see the performers, chiefly on the desire of people to have their entertainments supplemented in such a way."

The lecture followed an informal dinner held at the Carolina Inn with Prof. William J. Miller, acting dean of the University of North Carolina school of engineering, presiding.

ALPHA ZETA TAKES IN SEVEN PLEDGES MONDAY

To be Eligible for Membership Ag Student Must be in Upper Part of Class

Seven men were initiated into Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, at the regular meeting of the fraternity last Monday night.

The men initiated were: D. B. Sheffield, C. Y. Tilson, B. H. Corpening, A. N. Tatum, H. F. Bishop, J. A. Lutz, and J. E. Foll.

To be eligible for membership in the fraternity a student must be in the upper two-fifths of his class scholastically; have taken part in some college activities; and have a good moral character.

At the present there are twenty-two members in the local chapter. The officers are D. M. Whit, chancellor; A. F. Hoffman, scribe; Olaf Wakefield, treasurer; C. D. Thomas, censor; and J. L. Ritzel, chronicler.

The chapter plans to give a dance Saturday night, at its chapter room in Polk Hall, in honor of the men initiated Monday night.

EXTENSION DEPARTMENT HAS LARGE ENROLLMENT

Students from all sections of the United States are registered for correspondence courses given by the Extension Division of N. C. State College, a check of the files disclose.

The enrollment in the 60 courses offered in the field of agriculture, engineering, social science, education, business law and economics is approximately the same as last year.

The states represented by correspondence students are North Carolina, California, Texas, Florida, South Carolina, Virginia, Ohio, New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Georgia, Delaware and Pennsylvania.

E. W. Ruggles, director of the College Extension, said that when the college first offered a correspondence course in ceramics, enrollments were received from practically every state in the union and many foreign countries, including Norway, Sweden, Australia, South Africa and Canada.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERS MAKE PLANS FOR DANCE

The A. S. M. E. held a scheduled meeting Tuesday, at which plans were discussed for a society dance to be held immediately following the Christmas holidays.

Two committees were appointed, a place committee, and an expense committee. These committees will make reports at the next meeting which will be December 5, and the time and place will be definitely set.

Prof. T. S. Johnson was to be on the program, but he was called to Washington. Prof. F. B. Turner gave a short talk on scholarships, and E. L. Riverbark gave a fifteen minute talk on heat treatment of gears.

Student Rates

Approximately 150 State College students were led a merry chase between the East and the North gates at Duke, last Saturday, looking for a certain Mr. Dean, who the ticket collector at the East gate said, could arrange lower rates for them.

Contrary to the opinion expressed by several who attended the Duke-Carolina game last Saturday, H. H. Hutchisson, clerk in the treasurer's office, says that lower rates to students are permitted only when teams from their schools are playing at that game, and that at other games, students from schools outside of those competing are charged full rates.

The admission for State College students to the State-Duke football game tomorrow will be 50 cents, upon presentation of the student's registration card, at the East gate of the Duke stadium.

PEGRAM MAKES SPEECH AT TEXTILE CLUB MEET

Says Textiles Offer Many Advantages for Efficient and Progressive Men

T. C. Pegram, superintendent of the Erwin Mills of Coalee, addressed the regular meeting of the Tompkins Textile Society last week.

Pegram was graduated from the Textile School of State College in 1916 and has been a successful superintendent of North Carolina mills for a number of years.

After giving a detailed review of the problems confronting mill officials in a fancy colored goods plant which makes a variety of fabrics ranging from ticking and canton flannel to covers and play suitings, Pegram showed and explained different charts which enable him to keep accurate records of each pattern made and of the transit of material through the plant so that he could tell exactly when an order could be delivered. He presented a portrayal of the economic side of mill management and stated that his company employed a number of textile school graduates who were rendering useful service in various capacities.

Keen competition between well managed mills makes trained men in all key positions a necessity, and in Pegram's opinion no other industry offers as many advantages to young men who are efficient and progressive.

LANGUAGE FRAT TAKES IN TEN MEMBERS LAST WEEK

Initiation of 10 new members of Sigma Pi Alpha, national language fraternity, was held last week in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

Those initiated were: Arleens Jentrett, Raleigh; D. A. Brannon, Rockingham; W. G. Ryan, Wilmington, Del.; A. J. Wilson, Jr., Raleigh; James Weltz, Raleigh; F. G. Strazza, New London, Conn.; Mary Matthews, Raleigh; Sue Pearce, Raleigh; C. W. Comfort, Asbury Park, N. J.; and I. O. Garodnick, Newark, N. J.

Officers of the local chapter are: M. I. Annetta, Palmerton, Pa., president; Katherine Williams, Raleigh, vice president; Elizabeth Gantt, Raleigh, secretary; G. B. Croom, Maxton, secretary; and Professor S. T. Ballenger, corresponding secretary.

The fraternity was founded at State College in 1927 and has become a national fraternity with four other chapters located at Catawba College, Mississippi A. and M., Mississippi School for Women and Wake Forest.

FORMER WATAUGAN EDITOR NAMED C. C. C. LIEUTENANT

A. L. Drumwright, editor of the 1932-33 Wataugan, who last year graduated in Construction Engineering, was appointed a Lieutenant in the Civilian Conservation Corp Company 362, at Spotsylvania, Virginia, on November 5, according to a letter received by Col. Bruce Magruder last week.

DEBATERS ASKED TO DEMONSTRATE

National Association of Teachers of Speech Invite Paget to New York

The State College debating team has been invited to appear before the National Association of Teachers of Speech in its annual convention at New York City, December 29, 1933, in a direct clash debate, Prof. E. H. Paget, debate coach, and teacher of forensics announced recently.

Professor Paget will also address the convention for the eighth consecutive time. The address will be "The Unusual In Debate Strategy."

Last year State appeared before the Association, as the first school to receive that honor during the entire eighteen years of the association's existence. According to Prof. Paget this second invitation is an unusual honor. The Direct Clash debate system was worked out by Prof. Paget and used at State College for the first time in 1930, causing considerable interest in debating groups.

The question for the debate will be, "Resolved: That the powers of the President of the United States should be substantially increased as a permanent policy."

State College has a brilliant record in debating and forensics. During the last four years State College has won two National titles, seven Southern championships, three South Atlantic, three Tri-State and eight State championships in Forensics.

ARCHITECT ADDRESSES GENERAL CONTRACTORS

Wm. H. Dietrich, architect of Raleigh, addressed the student chapter of the Associated General Contractors at State College recently.

Dietrich spoke on business ethics within the industry and relations between the architect and contractor, illustrated by reference to practical experience. A general discussion from the student members followed Mr. Dietrich's talk.

The chapter is now preparing to admit some new members. Mr. R. L. Smith, of Leaksville is president this year and H. E. Benton, of Wilson is secretary-treasurer.

STATE THEATRE

Tom Mix, the all-time, greatest film star in creation, is coming to the State Theatre in person, heading a monstrous stage roundup of thundering hoofs, cracking whips, spinning ropes and flaming guns. The sensational Westerner will be at the State Theatre on Monday and Tuesday and he's bringing Tony; a picked congress of his riders, ropers and shooters; a herd of the famed Tom Mix thoroughbred horses, and last, but not least, Mrs. Mix, the premier aerialist of the show world.

A Krazy Kat cartoon and News completes this program.

Paul Muni, noted stage and film star, will be seen on the screen of the State Theatre on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, in his latest starring production "The World Changes." Completing this program is Walt Disney's all color little feature "Three Little Pigs," the subject that features the song "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf," and a News reel.

A deeply emotional tale of mother love and sacrifice comes to State Theatre on Saturday and Monday in "Cradle Song," the first American vehicle for Paramount's newest star, Dorothea Weick. Bringing to the role all the charm and beauty that she displayed as the school teacher in "Maedchen in Uniform," Dorothea Weick reveals in "Cradle Song," a sensitivity, a dramatic understanding, and a grasp of the different part that places her high.

among the leading dramatic actresses in Hollywood. Selected short subjects complete this program.

PALACE THEATRE

With the advent of the new musical cycle on the screen, the foremost producers of such shows of which "Footlight Parade," which comes to the Palace Theatre all next week is an outstanding example, may well be termed the "Ziegfelds" of the motion picture world. Certainly no other theatre producer has been able to turn out any musical picture that can compare with "42nd Street," or "Gold Diggers of 1933."

"Samarang," which will play at the Capitol Theatre Monday and Tuesday reveals eternal warfare and destruction beneath the sea. There the strong are seen forever destroying the weak. It is a perpetual cycle of life eat life.

A comedy, "Leave It to Dad" with Harry Langdon and Sound News completes the program.

A comedy, "How Comedies are Borne," and "Top of the World," an act completes the program.

"Vanishing Men," the sensational Western thriller which will play at the Capitol Theatre Friday and Saturday, abounds in action. Many of the more thrilling scenes depict spirited rides, harrowing gun-battles, and hand-to-hand combats. Chapter No. 6 of the "Three Musketeers" and a cartoon "Bosko the Speed King" completes the program.

You say
Chesterfields are not like other cigarettes

CIGARETTES are made of tobacco, wrapped in paper, and they may look alike; but that doesn't mean that they are alike.

Chesterfield Cigarettes are not like other cigarettes. The tobacco is not like the tobacco used in other cigarettes. It is mild, ripe—not harsh, or strong.

Then again, Chesterfields taste better. They are seasoned in the right way with the right kind of Turkish Tobacco. There is nothing flat or tasteless about them.

Sophomore Ball

The first All State College Ball of the year for faculty and students will be sponsored by the class of 1936 Saturday night, December 2 in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

The sponsors for the affair are: Miss Lillian Williams of Raleigh, with E. W. Copper, president of the class; Miss Frances Lewis of Wilmington, with Joe Canady, vice president of the class; Anne Owen of Fayetteville, with Charlie Turlington; Miss Boots Haywood of Trenton, with Carson Sims.

Accommodations for a large crowd have been arranged. All State College students and faculty members are being cordially invited to attend the informal, script function. To assure a pleasant evening of dancing, Jimmy Poyner and his Collegians have been engaged to furnish the music. Students are anticipating making the "Sophomore Ball" an annual affair.

Chaperon invitations have been sent to: Governor and Mrs. J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Dean and Mrs. E. L. Cloyd, Dean and Mrs. Thomas Nelson, Professor and Mrs. F. M. Hag, Professor and Mrs. W. H. Hicks, Captain and Mrs. P. W. Rasmore, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Poster, and Dr. and Mrs. J. V. Hofman.

BROUGHTON MAKES TALK ON BUSINESS AND LAW

President of North Carolina Bar Speaks at Open Meeting of Delta Sigma Pi

Beta Delta chapter of the International Commerce Fraternity, Delta Sigma Pi sponsored an open meeting last night in the Y. M. C. A. J. M. Broughton, President of the North Carolina Bar, was guest speaker. Mr. Broughton spoke upon the subject "Business and Law."

"Most people have the conception that law impregnates the policeman and the courthouse, the truth of the matter is that law is a rule of conduct effecting the rights of people and property," Broughton said.

"Law is the foundation of all business and there isn't a single step that you can take without being influenced by it. Law is an enabling agency which determines the courage that you can follow in business; the law is also a restraining influence which tells business the methods and things that can be pursued. Law is progressive and inflexible and expands as the ingenuity of man expands; law keeps up with the changes in society and the pace that society sets.

"The following are four suggestions as to what attitude a business man ought to have toward law: the business man ought to have an intelligent understanding of the principles of law that are applicable to his business; he should have an earnest desire to obey the law; he ought to see that the law is enforced, and that the business man should have the right to participate in the shaping of our laws for conditions change the policies necessary to conduct a successful business and the business man should have the opportunity to aid in the shaping of the laws."

Broughton concluded by advising the members to always take the advantage to better inform themselves of the principles of law.

A group of students from all the schools of the college were present for the fine discussion. This makes the second of a series of open professional meetings Delta Sigma Pi has sponsored this term.

NEW SPORTS IDEA PROVES SUCCESS

A real sectional touch was added to the games played by the 3d floor of 7th dormitory. This team is composed almost entirely of Northern boys, and their games have been called battles between the "rebels" and the "yankees."

During the winter term, Miller plans to add an "Independent Club" league to the fraternity and dormitory league. Teams eligible for this will be those organizations who do not fall under the heading of fraternities or dormitories. All such organizations who wish to enter are asked to get their entry for the winter term sports into the gymnasium office before the holidays. Teams who do not expect to play every game on their schedules will do the rest of the teams a favor if they do not enter a team, said Johnny Miller.

Joint Concert

The State College and Duke hands will offer a special program during the half of the football game tomorrow, in memory of the late "Duke" P. W. Frice who was for 15 years the director of the State College band.

Combining to make a band of 120 pieces, the Duke and State musicians will play "My Buddy" and then render "The Wolfpack," N. C. State song written by their beloved director who died last summer. Mrs. Frice and children will be the guests of the hands for the game.

DR. GRAHAM URGES WIN OVER DEVILS

Greater University Head Gives "Pep Talk" to Wolfpack On Eve of Game

Dr. Frank Graham, president of the Greater University, urged the State Wolfpack to avenge the defeat handed the Chapel Hill division by Duke last week by making Duke come out on the short end of the score in tomorrow's game.

The president appeared unexpectedly at the workout yesterday and asked permission to speak to the Wolfpack squad. All players seemed inspired by the president's pep speech.

He urged them to pay no attention to the predictions that Duke will be a heavy favorite in the contest.

"You have a strong football team, so go into the game and block, and tackle, and fight," urged Dr. Graham. "Give the Duke team everything you've got during the whole game."

After the president had made his talk, each of the State players shook hands with him, and assured him that they would do all in their power to defeat the Duke aggregation.

If State wins from Duke tomorrow, the Blue Devils' chance at the Rose Bowl will vanish. So far this season Duke has been undefeated and untied, and prospects for a bid to the Rose Bowl look exceedingly bright.

Dress Shoes

Herbert Rosenthal, local shoe dealer and an ardent follower of the State eleven, made an offer yesterday of a brand new pair of shiny dress shoes to the first State College player scoring a touchdown in the Duke-State game tomorrow in Durham.

It appeared yesterday that there would be quite a battle for the prize as most of the Wolves said they were in dire need of new footwear.
