PROPOSED SETUP IN CONSTITUTION TO BE DISCUSSED

Publications Board to Meet in Coming Week to Discuss
New Constitution

DISTRIBUTION OF VOTES TO BE GREATLY CHANGED

Publications to Have Three Votes
Each Under New Constitution;
Three Faculty Members to Have
Voting Privilege; Three Students
Outside Publications to be
On Board; Constitution Drawn
Up After Much Research

C. Romeo LeForte, assistant Dean of Students at State College, has announced the proposed constitution for the Publications Board which was drawn up by a committee of which he is head, to be presented to the Board for consideration at a meeting next week.

The purpose of the constitution is to more firmly establish the powers of the Board in regard to publications, and it has been an indirect outcome from the conflicting of departmental publications now on the campus. Other members of the committee are: Dave Morrish, editor of The Watagan; and Bill Barker, president of the Student Body.

As the proposal now is, there would be two departments of the Board, an executive department, composed of the three major publications, The Agronomist, The Technician, and The Watagan; and the president of the student body; and the president and the executive of the junior class. The other department would be the Legislative, composed of the nine members of the Executive department and the editors of The Agriculturist and the Southern Engineer.

The constitution, in the exact form given by LeForte follows:

ARTICLE I
NAME
The name of this Board shall be the Students' Publications Board.

ARTICLE II
PURPOSE
It shall be the purpose of the Students' Publications Board to handle all matters of publications, to hear all complaints of students and faculty, to advance the interest of North Carolina State College, to promote the general interest and welfare of the publications on the campus, and to insure cooperation between them in their relation with the faculty, student body, and public in general.

ARTICLE III
DEPARTMENT
There shall be two departments of this Board, namely, Executive and Legislative.

ARTICLE IV
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
Section 1. Membership of Executive Department. (a) Student members of the Executive Department shall be all editors and business managers of the three major publications, Agronomist, Technician, and Watagan, President of Student Body, President of Junior Class, and Ex-president of Junior Class. (In the event that the Ex-president does not return, a member from the Senior Class chosen by the Board shall serve.)

(b) Faculty members of the Executive Department shall be one member from the News Bureau, one member from the Purchasing Department, and one member from the Dean of Students' office who shall all be appointed by the President of the College.

Sec. 2. Officers of Executive Department. (a) The officers shall be a chairman and secretary.

(b) The chairman shall be a member of the faculty elected by members of the Executive Department at their first meeting.

(c) The secretary shall be a member of the faculty elected by members of the Executive Department at their first meeting.

Sec. 3. Duties of Officers. (a) It shall be the duty of the chairman of the Executive Department to call and preside at all meetings, to call special meetings, to appoint committees, and to perform all other duties of an executive of the department.

(b) It shall be the duty of the secretary of the Executive Department to record, preserve, and have for exhibition to all members of the Board, upon request and sufficient notice, all papers, proceedings, rolls of attendance, and records of the Board; to sign all warrants; to check budgets and all financial reports; and to send notices of meetings to the members.

Sec. 4. Meetings. (a) At least one regular meeting shall be held each month during the college year.

Textile Dean

Dean of the Textile School who has predicted that the Textile Exposition this year will be larger than ever before.

TEXTILE SCHOOL PLANS FOR FAIR

Seventh Annual Textile Exposition to be Held at State College April 26

Preparations for the seventh annual State College Cotton Style Show to be given by the Textile department on April 26 are being made by all members of the Textile School. At a meeting of the Tompkins Textile Society in January officers for the show were elected and preliminary plans were made.

Dean Thomas Nelson, head of the Textile School, announced that the 1934 Textile Exposition and Style Show, in which various young ladies from North Carolina will participate, will be larger and more elaborate than any of those conducted by any of the textile students in previous years.

Election as officers of this annual event is considered one of the highest honors that can be obtained by textile students.

The officers elected for this show are as follows: Superintendent, G. T. Gardner; assistant superintendent, W. A. Blackwood; foreman of yarn manufacture, T. L. Ritchie; assistant foreman of yarn manufacture, H. D. Whitner; foreman of weaving, H. M. Foy; assistant foreman of weaving, K. W. Horne; foreman of designing, P. W. McCollum; assistant foreman of designing, R. L. Poovey; foreman of dyeing, T. S. Blackwood; assistant foreman of dyeing, J. J. Griffith, Jr.; foreman of knitting, D. A. Brannon; and assistant foreman of knitting, E. L. Bollick.

The first of these annual spring style shows was held at State College in 1928 for the purpose of demonstrating to a silk-minded population that women's wear made from cotton goods could be both attractive and stylish. Since that time the event has attracted an increasing amount of interest and attention. Pictures of winning costumes have appeared in leading papers and magazines throughout the country.

Every garment shown at the Style Show is made from cotton material designed and woven by students in the State College Textile School. Many of the fabrics shown in previous years have served as an inspiration for clothing manufacturers in following seasons.

The show attracts hundreds of women who are interested in textiles and 104 delegates from nine different girls' schools are expected to be present at this show.

Last Chance

Today is the last day that seniors wishing invitations may secure them, announced Joe Dixon yesterday.

All those who have not secured invitations may order them by calling at the Agronomist office in Fifth Dormitory this afternoon.

The invitations this year have several new improvements over those of previous years. The price of the cardboard invitation is twenty-five cents, and the price of the leather invitation is fifty cents.

DRAMATIC GROUP WILL GIVE PLAYS BEFORE TEACHERS

State Debaters Also to Make Trip to Birmingham to Appear at Convention

BOTH GROUPS DIRECTED BY PROF. EDWIN PAGET

Convention to be Held in Birmingham, Alabama April 20; Actors Will Present Experimental Type Plays; Will Follow Up Convention by Giving Plays in Numerous Cities Before Returning to College; Climax of Season Reached

The Experimental Theater will present as the major event of the season a group of plays before the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech at Birmingham April 20, at the annual convention of the Association, according to Prof. E. H. Paget, director of forensics and dramatics.

This production will climax a highly successful season for the Experimental Theater, according to Professor Paget, as the group has presented a number of plays to Little Theaters, drama clubs and other groups throughout the Southeast.

Those appearing in the Birmingham production are Frank Busbe, H. D. Carpenter, Professor and Mrs. Paget, and Dwight Stokes.

On the return trip from Birmingham the group will appear before the Little Theater in Charlotte April 23. A production will also be given in Goldsboro May 3. Tentative arrangements have been made for a presentation at Chapel Hill during May.

Professor Paget also announced that tryouts for the cast in the Red Masquers three-act play to be presented this term, will be held this afternoon between four and six o'clock, or by special arrangement with him. There are a large number of parts for both men and women, according to Professor Paget.

Debaters to Attend

The State College debate team will leave here Sunday for Birmingham, Alabama, where it will compete in the Southern Debate Tournament, which is held by the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech.

The team, which ranked ahead of 101 teams out of 118 in the National Tournament and went to the seventh round is confident of a successful week at Birmingham. The tournament will begin Tuesday and last through Friday.

The team will clash with the Georgia Tech team at Atlanta Monday night in return for the clash here tonight with the Tech team. The State speakers for tonight will be R. L. Batts and Dwight Stokes. Other members of the team that will go to Birmingham are Horace Cotton and Frank Busbe.

Horace Carpenter, the Tri-State Champion orator will compete in the after-dinner speaking and oratory, while Stokes will participate in the extemporaneous speaking. Carpenter will speak on "The Peril of Germany."

The State team will clash with Alabama April 21, in a return engagement for the meet here last week.

Professor Paget will accompany the team to Birmingham.

TAYLOR SOCIETY HEARS ADDRESS BY GARRISON

Society Will Vote on Officers and Pass on Constitution at Next Meeting

The newly-formed Taylor Society met last night for the second time in Pease Hall. The society was addressed by Prof. K. C. Garrison who spoke on the application of industrial psychology to business.

In his lecture Professor Garrison pointed out that America was late in applying psychology to business problems, therefore causing useless waste. England and Germany both were ahead of America in its use. He also showed the advantages of the use of psychology in business operation. Professor Garrison said that while England used psychological research from the standpoint of better working conditions, and Germany, for the more efficient and advantageous use of man power, America is using it from the standpoint of consumers' research.

The Society will meet again next Thursday night and elect the officers for the coming year. The Constitution has been drawn up and will be passed upon at the next meeting. All students that are interested in any of the forms of Industrial management are invited to attend the meetings.

FROSH AND SOPHS TO STAGE BATTLE

Freshmen Take Up Challenge of Joe Canady to Engage in Battle With Sophs

Joe Canady, vice president of the Sophomore Class, issued a challenge to the entire Freshman Class, at the Freshman Assembly held in Pullen Hall last Friday. Canady, speaking in behalf of his own class, challenged the Frosh to a battle of some kind or other.

Amil J. Gerlock, president of the Freshman Class, promptly arose at the conclusion of this challenge and declared that he was sure the freshmen would take up that challenge. He said, "Follow classmates, we must react to this challenge. We must compete with the sophomores in a 'rush' or 'battle' which shall be designated by a committee to be appointed. The sophomores have already voted in favor of this idea and also have appointed a committee, so we will have to act fast."

The appointed freshman committee is composed of: Carroll Conrad, chairman, Bill Weltman, W. T. Gill, Henry W. Underhill, Dick Thompson, and N. M. Dalrymple.

According to President Gerlock, this committee is to work with the sophomore committee to decide the type or form the proposed "rush" is to take. They will also decide when and where it is to be held. The committee also has the power to make rules and regulations concerning the carrying out of the "rush," and finally, they must appoint a committee from members of the senior and junior classes, headed by W. N. "Red" Hicks and some other faculty member. This committee will act as judges, having the power to stop the whole affair if any unwarranted actions or events arise. The combined frosh-soph committee also has the power to select a trophy for the winner of the battle, if they finally decide to award a trophy.

"In regard to the purpose of the 'rush,'" said President Gerlock, "the main idea is to create a new spirit between the soph and frosh classes. Which spirit, in time, shall be the foundation of a perfect school spirit."

It is probable that the Freshman Class will vote on this challenge at the next meeting and that the two committees will have everything decided in the near future. The frosh president, Gerlock, is very much in favor of the idea and has done much to bring about a discussion of the topic. In an interview recently he said that all members of both classes would have to take part in the proposed "rush" if it was to be successful. He also expressed the opinion that he was sure the idea was going to meet with perfect cooperation and approval.

AGRICULTURE FRATERNITY HOLDS BANQUET TOMORROW

The annual spring banquet of Alpha Zeta, national agricultural fraternity, will be held at Carolina Pines Club House tomorrow at 7 p.m.

Pledges taken into the fraternity recently were W. H. Pierce and J. P. Lourens. Pierce is a sophomore and Lourens is a senior.

The informal initiation will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow afternoon and the formal initiation at 4 p.m.

The requirements for entrance into Alpha Zeta are that the student must be in the upper two-fifths of his class, and must have personality and leadership.

Using as his theme "Scholarship in Action," Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the Greater University of North Carolina, spoke to a large audience at the ninth annual Scholarship Day exercises held in Pullen Hall Wednesday. Two hundred eighty-four students were honored at the exercises for excelling in scholarship during the past two terms.

Prior to Dr. Graham's talk, W. N. Hicks, professor of sociology and religion, spoke on "The Purpose of Scholarship Day." He explained that scholarship day was set aside to honor those making high grades and to give a reevaluation of that which the day honors. He stated that the purpose of grades is to stimulate students to work and to punish others for not taking the right amount of interest in their studies. "Scholarship may be compared to a long journey," Professor Hicks declared. "The student on this journey is the observing traveler, not an excursionist."

Following Professor Hicks' talk, Dr. Graham was introduced by Dr. W. C. Edmick, dean of the engineering school. Dr. Graham began his speech by describing a young man that had succeeded despite many obstacles because of his superior scholarship.

"Large companies have found that scholarship in their personnel pays," he said. "After much research, this has been found to be true. Formerly, companies believed that the best graduates were those that had been student leaders, notwithstanding their grades. Now they have found that graduates who made honors in scholarship while in college were distinctly the best men to have in the organization. Much waste was eliminated when some of the companies adopted this new policy of selecting men. Employers want men who have simple, clean loyalty to their business."

"The character of parents make enormous sacrifices sometimes to send their children to college, and students who have a moral sense of responsibility of what to do with their time have character. Too often time is squandered uselessly, when the student could be applying himself to his studies. 'Happiness is the product of a well-directed life,' concluded Dr. Graham, "and this is why some students fail to ever achieve happiness, while other good students achieve this goal."

Following Dr. Graham's talk, Dean E. L. Cloyd read out the names of those 105 students who made high honors during the year.

Special Awards

Special awards went to the following students: T. J. Raber, senior; Miss Christine Shepherd, junior; and R. W. Seitz, sophomore, were awarded the Phi Kappa Phi Scholarship Medals for receiving the highest grades in their classes. L. Hurst was awarded the J. C. Steele scholarship cup and the A. R. Blackburn the Moland-Drysdale scholarship cup in the ceramic awards. The Science and Business award went to J. C. Goddie. This award is given to that student in the School of Science and Business showing the greatest improvement in scholarship during the year. Walter H. Pierce received the Alpha Zeta scholarship cup. The Sigma Tau Sigma award, given by the Textile School, was presented to H. M. Foy, Jr., R. W. Seitz won the Tau Beta Pi award. This is an engineering award. Carter-Williams, member of Alpha Kappa Phi social fraternity, won the White Spades scholarship cup given by the Interfraternity Council for the best junior student among the fraternities.

Good Joke

Dr. W. C. Riddick received quite a scare late yesterday afternoon when some student or students made him the butt of a practical joke.

Dr. Riddick entered his automobile and stepped on the starter when a loud report under the hood caused him to think his car had blown up.

Investigation by Dr. Riddick and nearby students disclosed two wires on his spark plugs running to a firecracker. When the ignition was turned on, the firecracker exploded.

"That was a pretty good joke, wasn't it?" was Dr. Riddick's only comment on the explosion.

Claude Carrow Runner-up in Race for President of Student Government

FINALS WILL BE HELD ON TUESDAY, APRIL 17

Aycock and Seitz Receive Largest Number of Votes for Secretary;
President and Secretary to be Decided at Final Elections; Two Low Men Vice President and Treasurer; Knight and Sissell Run for Editorship of The Technician

Leading his nearest opponent by nearly one hundred votes, Marshall Gardner, independent candidate, polled the largest number of votes for president of the State College Student Government at the primary election Tuesday. Claude Carrow was runner-up in the election.

Gardner and Carrow will run in the final election to determine the president of the Student Government. The candidate receiving the largest number of votes becomes president and the other, vice president. Gardner received 298 votes in the Tuesday election, and Carrow received 204.

In the race for secretary and treasurer W. B. Aycock, receiving 244 votes, led R. W. Seitz, his nearest opponent, who polled 144 votes. In the final election the candidate receiving the largest number of votes becomes secretary and the other candidate becomes treasurer.

The number of votes received by other candidates for president was as follows: John Stanko, 84; and John Findlay, 54. Other candidates for secretary and treasurer received the following number of votes: Thomas Jenkins, 120; Seamon Hudson, 92; and C. H. Lloyd, 32.

The changes in the Constitution that were proposed by the House at a previous meeting were voted upon and passed by a large majority.

The rule to modify drinking restrictions was passed 423 to 192. The rule at the present reads: "Drinking or having in possession or intoxicating liquors by any students is strictly forbidden. The penalty for this offense shall be at the discretion of the Student Council." The House proposed the complete abolishment of this rule, and the adding of "drunkenness" to the preamble of the By-Laws of the Constitution.

The rule on gambling also passed by a large majority. The rule at present reads: "All forms of gambling or betting on the campus by members of the student body is strictly forbidden. Violation of this rule shall be punishable at the discretion of the Student Council." The proposed rule reads: "Excessive gambling on the part of any student on the campus is strictly forbidden. Violation of this article shall be punishable at the discretion of the Student Council." The vote on this change was 461 in favor and 150 opposed.

These proposals will now be placed before the Board of Trustees for final decision. If they are passed by the Board, they will take effect at the time passed.

Candidates for Y. M. C. A. officers will be voted upon at the final elections, Tuesday, April 17. Candidates for president are Carter Williams and Horace Cotton. The candidate receiving the largest number of votes becomes president and the other, vice president. N. B. Dozier and V. C. Herlocker have been offered as candidates for secretary of the Y. M. C. A. In the race for treasurer will be John Findlay and Marion Gatlin.

Candidates for the editorship and business management of The Technician and Watagan will also be voted upon at the final elections. Brock Sissell and Eugene Knight have been offered by the Publications Board as candidates for the editorship of The Technician. Charlie Turlington is unopposed for business manager of the paper. Bill Sullivan is also unopposed for editor of the Watagan. Carter Williams was offered as a candidate by the Board but withdrew his nomination. Collyer Kerr and Larry Martin are candidates for business manager of the magazine.

Bob McQuage, John Stanko, and J. E. Buchanan will be voted upon to determine the athlete who has brought the most recognition to the school. Ray Rex received the largest number of (Please turn to page three)

PLANS RELEASED FOR GRADUATION

No Commencement Speaker to Be Secured This Year, Announces Harrison

According to an announcement made yesterday by Dr. T. P. Harrison, professor of English and chairman of the commencement committee, plans for the annual commencement exercises, which are to be held Saturday, Sunday and Monday, June 9-11, are nearing completion. "The general arrangement of the exercises," he said, "is like that of the exercises of last year."

The commencement will be opened Saturday night June 9, by the senior orations which will be held in Pullen Hall at 8:30 o'clock. The baccalaureate sermon will be given by Bishop Edwin Anderson Penick of Raleigh, in Pullen Hall Sunday night at 8:30 o'clock.

The alumni will meet Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock, followed by an alumni luncheon to be held at 1:00 o'clock. The Board of Trustees will also hold a meeting during the morning.

The exercises will be concluded by the awarding of the diplomas at twilight Monday evening. According to Dr. Harrison, the number of students receiving diplomas is so great that the regular formal commencement address had been discontinued for the lack of time. However, there will be short informal talks by President Frank Graham and Vice President E. C. Brooks.

THIEVES STAGE ROBBERY ON HUNEYCUTT'S STORE

Huneycutt, Inc., popular college outfitting shop in College Court, was once more broken into and sacked. This recent robbery is about the fifteenth time Huneycutt's has been broken into. The last two or three robberies, happening about three months ago, were so close together that special guards and investigators were placed on duty. From that time until Monday night there has been a constant guard of this College Court section. However, on Monday night, the elevator in the Municipal Building crashed and injured seven policemen. Due to this serious and unexpected accident it was necessary to call in the policeman on College Court duty to take a beat in the main part of the city.

Someone must have discovered this, because, for the first time in over three months, Huneycutt's was again broken into and another serious loss was suffered by the proprietor.

One-Half Co-Ed

If Self-Help Director Shepherd is seen wandering around the campus tearing his hair and muttering incoherently, it will be because he has not yet determined what to do with half a co-ed.

According to the FERA ruling he is allowed to place 35 co-eds in work, which is the eligible percentage of the co-ed enrollment. However, to date Director Shepherd has placed four on the job. Now just what to do with the other half is becoming a serious problem. Another thing that is worrying Shepherd is which half of which co-ed will he have to dispose of in order not to get rid of the "better half." Any student with a solution for this problem should communicate with Mr. Shepherd at once.

Many Queer Actions Seen During Greek Initiations

Social Fraternity Pledges Suffer Many Humiliations During "Hell-Week"

NEOPHYTES' MISERY ENDS WITH LAST OF INITIATION

Pledges Forced to Carry Matches and Cigarettes for Benefit of Members

By FRED GORE

If some dumb looking fellow wearing a "tax" should come up to you and ask you if roses were red or some other question of similar importance, think nothing of it—it's merely some pledge going through "Hell Week."

Preceding the formal initiation of new members of each social fraternity in the third term of every school year, the neophytes are forced to perform certain stunts of varying degrees of humor and hardship.

From the time of rising in the morning until the wee hours of the night and morning when the "rats" drag their weary bones once more to their bedside it's, "Freshman, come 'ere and shine these shoes," or "rat" get the hell up outa that chair and give me a seat."

John Dillinger and his gang had best be careful how they try to rob the Wachovia Bank, as two neophytes were seen walking guard duty in front of the bank Tuesday. Also another interesting event on the schedule was the checker game played on the sidewalk in front of Eckerd's drug store. It is reported that some of the pledges are even wearing burlesque underwear. There is also an abundance of matches and cigarettes on the campus. Whether or not the noises heard the other night in two of Raleigh's largest cemeteries were made by ghosts or some of the trembling pledges could not be found out, but I happen to know that some of the "rats" didn't get to bed until way after twelve o'clock.

Almost all of the fraternities require the pledges to take off their shoes before entering the sacred precincts of the fraternity house. "Mr. So and So" and "Yes, Sir" are frequently heard about the house and campus. Ash trays are always kept empty and the floors clean. In the event that these rules are not carried out to the letter the neophyte is generally punished by a brisk application of a substantial board to the proper spot on the offender's body. If the "rats" are lucky or do not violate any of the set rules they may survive the week.

The grand finale comes the last night when about one or two o'clock the pledges are taken out in pairs seven or eight miles from Raleigh and left. Oh yes, I forgot to say that to make it a little harder the pledges are blindfolded while they are being taken out. When the unlucky, or you may call them lucky, ones return their lives as the underdogs of the fraternity end, and they are ready for the formal initiation into the fraternity. This fact usually draws out the extra reserve power that is needed to carry them through the week, so don't anyone be afraid that any of the pledges will succumb to the punishment.

PROF. T. R. HART TALKS TO HIGH SCHOOL SOCIETY

Prof. T. R. Hart, of the textile department of State College, spoke at the Roller Science Club of Hugh Morson High School at the Tuesday night meeting held in the school building. His topic was "Choosing a Vocation." He pointed out the necessity for selecting one's vocation early in life, and gave some interesting information concerning textiles.

FOREST SENIORS WILL MAKE TRIP

Students to Travel 5,000 Miles and Visit Seven States on Inspection Tour

Seniors in forestry will leave on their annual inspection tour of the Southern States Saturday, April 21. They will be accompanied by George K. Slocum, associate professor of forestry.

This year's trip, which lasts through June 6, will include approximately five thousand miles of travel with stops at various places in seven states. It will be made in the school bus.

Students will bear all their personal expenses, the transportation having already been provided for in their senior forestry fee. Each person will carry his own bedding and shelter will generally be furnished at the places where they visit. A negro cook will be carried to do the cooking.

The purpose of the trip is to acquaint the students with forest conditions as found in general practice, especially in the fields of utilization of forest products and in logging and lumbering as found in the South. A close examination will be made of the national forests in their naval stores practice, timber sales units, silvicultural work, road and trail construction, grazing practice, and their recreational development.

Stoppers will be made at the Timber Products Co., Coddell, Georgia; Superior Pine Products Co., Fargo, Georgia; Camp Pinchot, Crestview, Florida; Louisiana State University Forestry Camp, Bogalusa, Louisiana; Hot Springs National Park and Ozark National Forest, Arkansas; Muscle Shoals, Knoxville, Tennessee; Pisgah Game Preserve; Champion Fiber Company, Canton; the Nantahala National Forest in North Carolina and many other places of interest to a forester.

Seniors making the trip are W. J. Barker, E. E. Chatfield, B. H. Corpening, A. B. Crow, F. A. Doerrle, L. B. Hair, F. H. Hube, F. H. Ledbetter, D. C. Plaster, C. T. Prout, A. G. Shugart, and W. R. Smith.

R. O. T. C. TO BEGIN ANNUAL PARADES

First Spring Parade of Corps to Be Reviewed By Col. Davids On April 23

Inaugurating a series of regimental parades, the R. O. T. C. Corps will parade for the annual review and inspection by Colonel H. G. Davids, senior instructor of the North Carolina National Guard, on Monday, April 23. The last parade in preparation for the series will take place Monday.

Colonel Davids' review of the Corps is part of the annual proficiency inspection and will be followed by a tour of the drill fields and classrooms. On the basis of his report will depend the rating of the State College Corps. For nine consecutive years the corps has worn on its sleeve the blue star signifying rating of excellent.

April 30, May 7, May 14, and May 24 have been designated as dates for parades of the series. One of the first three will be given in collaboration with the Textile Fair. May 24 will be the date of the graduation parade.

As reviewing guests at the military ceremonies Governor Ehringhaus, General McCloskey, commanding officer of Fort Bragg, Dr. Frank Graham, and Dr. E. C. Brooks of the University of North Carolina at State College, have been invited. The public is invited to witness the ceremonies, which will take place on Red Field.

COLLEGE LIFE IN 1924 TOLD BY FORMER STUDENT

Mr. Shuford Tells of Some Capers Done While He Was a Freshman at State College

A reminiscence of student life at State College ten years ago is featured in the latest issue of The State, weekly magazine. The article was written by F. C. Shuford, a freshman at State in 1924.

Mr. Shuford tells of some of the capers which the students of his day and time cut while pretending to study at State. He says, "College students today are hardly as bad as those of ten, fifteen, or twenty years ago. Hanging is out of style; that is, hanging of the rough-and-tumble, leg-breaking, hair-cutting, devil-may-care kind."

In his article, Mr. Shuford tells of what it was like to be at State on a rainy day. "It rained for weeks, open stretches of a new water system stretched from the dormitories like mole roads . . . mud, mud, mud!"

A game called "train" was played in those days on Freshman. It was the forcing of freshmen to crawl down along the hall pushing a peanut with their noses . . . each joint in the board was a station, each station meant a stop, and a whistle. The last freshman "train" to reach the end of the hall received a lick from the paddle of each sophomore. According to Mr. Shuford it was a rough game. If Mr. Shuford wishes to observe some rough games he should visit the college in 1934 and observe the tactics of the fraternities during "Hell Week."—B. S.

DUKE THESPIANS TO PRESENT PLAY

Student Volunteer Movement to Present "Ordered South" in Pullen Hall

The Student Volunteer Movement of Duke University will present "Ordered South," a three act play, in the State College Y. M. C. A. auditorium next Wednesday night at 7:30. This will make the third play presented by this group to State College audiences in the past three years. Last year and the year before, the two famous plays, "Ba Thane" and "The Color Line," were given.

The drama, which is produced under the direction of James H. Phillips, Jr., includes four men and two women. The leading male role is played by Warren Scoville, who takes the part of Frank Jameson, a twenty-two year old university graduate. Miss Marrian Roe plays opposite Scoville as Jean Munro, his fiancée, a girl about twenty-one years old.

Others included in the cast are: Robert Kincheol, as Oliver Jameson, young Jameson's father, an engineer who has been successful in commercial life; James Starling as Clarke Harvey, a middle aged mining engineer from South Africa; Harriet Way as Eleanor Gardiner, a friend of Jean and Frank; and Phillip Shore, as Phillip Lawry, Eleanor's beau.

The play, which has been successfully presented to a number of audiences, was written by W. J. Noble and adapted to the stage for the benefit of the Volunteer Unions. When asked about the play, E. S. King, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., replied, "It will be a very good play because the Duke players always put on a good show." State College students and faculty, as well as friends in Raleigh, are invited to attend.

Next Watanagan

The final issue of The Watanagan under the editorship of Dave Morrah, present editor, will be distributed about April 23, he announced yesterday.

The last issue of the year will be published by the incoming editor. The coming issue of the magazine will contain about the same number of pages that the past issues have contained, said Morrah.

LUCKIES are All-Ways kind to your throat

— so round, so firm, so fully packed no loose ends

We like to tell about the finer tobaccos in Luckies—the choicest Turkish and domestic, and only the mild, clean center leaves—they taste better—then "It's toasted"—for throat protection. But we're just as proud of the way Luckies are made. They're so round and firm, so free from loose ends. That's why Luckies always "keep in condition"—do not dry out. Luckies are always—in all-ways!—kind to your throat.

"It's toasted" ✓ Luckies are all-ways kind to your throat

Only the Center Leaves—these are the Mildest Leaves

NOT the top leaves—they're under-developed—they are harsh! They taste better NOT the bottom leaves—they're inferior in quality—course and sandy!

IN RETROSPECT

Next week a newly-reorganized group will be presented with THE TECHNICIAN, and from then on its destinies will be left for a new editor and business manager to control. No changes in the general policies of the paper have been planned, and it is expected that it will fare nicely in other hands.

During the past TECHNICIAN year, reporters have come and gone—some working for material being in credits received in their journalism courses for work done, and others giving their whole-hearted aid, and much time in an endeavor to learn through a college paper the rudiments of newspapering. We want to thank the former group for the short time they spent with the staff, but we ask that all credit be given those students who stuck and did their jobs with no other objective in view than to gain this experience, and perhaps later to be advanced as their work progressed. It has been pleasant to see the energy with which these men took to writing, as this is probably one of the best rewards a head of a publication can have.

A college paper, as well as student government or any other student project, can never be a finished project. After elections, the new editor on a weekly paper sees ahead a rocky slope, and each issue is but another stride up. He gains by his mistakes, and at times takes a roundabout trail to see that the slip-up does not occur again. His obstacles are of many different kinds, but with a clear mind, gained through his travel to the slope, in the fresh air of "club journalism," it is not so difficult to overcome these barriers. In traveling, a great deal of energy can be saved by stepping over stones which lie in his path, and he finds that in many cases it is better to forget certain difficulties, and pass over others.

When he finally reaches the crest, he sees near him other hills, rolling higher and higher, and he wishes then that he might have passed by this one small slope and gone on to the higher pinnacles, thinking perhaps that he has lost something by this smaller climb. However, in climbing this hill of journalism he has gained infinite experience into realms which would not otherwise have been open, and this experience gained may do him more good than higher mathematics, advanced accounting, or the countless and sundry other such work in which he might have achieved what seemed at the moment better results.

Editing a college paper is fascinating to the extreme, and the education therein received is as valuable. The close of a year of college news-editing is the closing of another book in a college student's life. However, this book will never be forgotten.

We began our term with comments on that time-honored subject, the Honor System, knowing that the school as a whole would be far better off without it. There is no room for such an institution on the State College campus, and we hope that it will soon be done away with. We feel free to say that if cheating continues here as it has, it will not be long before honor fraternities will be a thing of the past, and quizzes and exams will be open discussions. As long as the general student body sees the system as an opportunity to cheat, rather than a chance to develop individual honor, it will be a drawback to State College.

The State College campus is open for countless improvements; so subjects for editorials were not wanting. Plentiful other improvements were suggested serving as arguments for many interested students. We hit fraternities in their sore spots, and good friends were lost as well as made through the stands we took. However, we feel justified in any slams taken at the fraternity system, for although some order has been gotten in the Greek orders, reparation has not yet been completed, and there are improvements galore which can be made in the manner of pledging, in scholarship, and in other practices carried on in fraternity houses.

We worked for the furthering of the cause for dramatics on the campus, for we feel that it has in the past shown great possibilities. The practice of one man putting on the plays and himself taking part in them, besides, has made of dramatics here more of a "one man" proposition, and some changes should be brought about to gain a greater student interest.

The verbal fight between THE TECHNICIAN and the head of the student body was begun through our statement that "There has been much discussion among executives in State College of doing away with Student Government completely and going back to the old method of complete faculty supervision." We feel that Student Government here is so in name only, and new policies should be begun in the handling of campus affairs and the Student Activities Fees. Bill Barker, president of the body, has done much toward the improvement of its work, and it is hoped that other leaders can do as well.

There is no more room for new publications on this campus, and we see a consolidation of the magazines now present, in order to remedy the conflict which has been set up in getting advertising, for Raleigh merchants are now overburdened with advertising, with at least 15 college publications now soliciting advertisements from them.

We attacked the Raleigh police, for we feel that they are incapable of handling their work efficiently; a hair-cutting came up for discussion among the students, but all felt that the victim deserved his punishment; the Library, THE TECHNICIAN feels, is not receiving due attention; we argued for pacifism, together with other college papers, but we're in favor of any necessary work for defense; we feel that the Student Supply Store carries on its work honestly and well, and should not be a subject for thoughtless attacks; minor sports are being neglected, and too much attention is being paid to football, basketball and baseball.

The bringing back of freshman caps was a stand we took, and THE TECHNICIAN is still in their favor. The result of arguments on the subject was that the freshman class voted to begin wearing the caps immediately, by a majority of 179 to 145. Of course, this must go before the Board of Trustees for a hearing. It is more than likely that it will stick to any previous stands, but student sentiment endorses the headgear.

The Caps and Gowns issue is not yet through. So, with the above mentioned debates still open for controversy, we close our term, hoping that State College will continue to grow and prosper as it has in the past.

FACULTY UNITY ASKED

Action should be taken at once by the faculty on the wearing of caps and gowns by the group as a whole at the commencement proceedings. Last term the senior class sent a resolution to the general faculty asking that those who would not wear the apparel do not take part in the exercises, but as yet no motion on the matter has been made.

Thought should be given by those members of the faculty who claim they cannot afford to purchase the garments to the fact that there are many students who are unable to buy the gowns, and who must scrape and borrow, and that while these students need wear the gowns but once in their lifetime—at their graduation, the caps and gowns purchased by the faculty will be used year after year.

There are too many petty divisions among the faculty. As the matter has stood, many of the faculty will not take part in the graduation procession until the caps and gowns are adopted by all, and too many will not take part if they are adopted.

THE TECHNICIAN, speaking for the senior class as a body, and for what we think is only proper, asks that the graduation apparel be adopted. If for no other reason than to give the graduating seniors a better opinion of a group which has in the past been divided in every endeavor, the faculty group should work together for this one, final demonstration of a wholesome spirit. A faculty which will work as a unit will command a higher respect from its students.

CONSIDER THE MINOR SPORTS

Joe Moore and W. N. Hicks, swimming and wrestling coaches, have officially announced their severing of connections with those teams, and it is reasonable that they did so, for while football, baseball, and basketball coaches are being paid excessively high sums for their services, these members of the faculty have been doing their work of their own free will and accord, while their salaries as instructors at this institution have been slashed mercilessly.

When next year's football schedule is announced, probably the large majority of the games will be out-of-town. This presents the question of the price students are paying to see each football home game. A rough figure, $3.50 a game, would not be far from right, while an outsider may see the game for around $1.50. Where is justice?

The turnout of students for intramurals last year indicated plainly enough that the students were as much, if not more, interested in the community sports than in the monopolized college sports.

Practically nothing is being allowed for tennis, golf, wrestling, boxing and swimming, although the total number of students interested in these minor sports is larger than those interested and taking part in the major ones.

The distribution of funds from the athletic fees is being dictated by a few men who are not graduates of State. They have lost sight entirely of the students' voice in the matter. We might take a lesson from the election of Gus Tebell as mentor of sports at the University of Virginia. He was elected by the 3-3-3 committee—three alumni, three faculty members, and three students. There the student's opinion was taken into consideration, for after all, without him, college sports could not exist.

The handling of athletics at State College has been none too successful in the past 10 years. Unless those in control will give the student his place in directing athletics, there will come a demand for a severe shake-up that cannot be ignored.

HERE AND THERE

By G. W. FORD

We always get our reports on the week-end dances out a little late but we get them out nevertheless. In regards to the Engineers' Brawl of last week-end: It sure turned out to be a marvelous shin-dig. I bumped into more people that I hadn't seen in a long time . . . in fact, I believe that I bumped into everyone on the floor at one time or another.

The student government should pass a law prohibiting anyone bringing chewing gum into a dance in the gym. for the next hundred years at least. I was waiting along one time with a girl that I had just met when I put my foot down on one of the biggest wads of gum . . . and was it embarrassing . . . you should try it some time.

The Electrical Engineers always seem to have an amazing exhibit at the fair. The audiences are usually held more or less spellbound at the display of the high voltage and the phenomena caused by electrical charges passing through the atmosphere in a dark room. One of their favorite stunts is to pick a girl from the audience, let her hold a bulb in her hand, and when the lights are turned off, and the current turned on, the bulb lights. It takes a girl with a dynamic personality to perform this trick.

Not being present at the time, I can't go very much into details but they tell me that "Colonel" Bohannon was recently seen accompanying a very attractive young lady who seemed to have insisted that her pet puppy be brought along too. "The Colonel" just couldn't keep his face from flushing as he passed the boys.

There comes a time in every pledge's life when "There's no place like home," double and redouble. That time has come . . . it is better known as "Hell Week." During this week the pledges from different fraternities pay the supreme penalty for things which they have done or "just on general principles." This, of course, explains some of the unusual things which you will see going on around here these days.

And just a few short thoughts . . . a lot of business and ag students became engineers last week-end . . . One boy over in South Dormitory sleeps with his lights on every night.

Johnny Parrot goes in for black shirts and white ties . . . Dean Clody is a darn good sport . . . We're still trying to work up some good clean friction between the Watagan and The Technician. . . Howard Strickland says it isn't so . . . The girl on the cover of McCall's resembles Barbara Moore . . . "Bill" Williams disregards shoe laces . . . Huneycutt has been robbed again . . . If you count the rats, the boys and the Honey-cut robberies, the robberies will come out on top . . . Dean of Administration, Santa Claus, and the Stork are three of a kind . . . "Muddy Water 'Round My Feet" seems to be Howard Stoney's latest song . . . Jimmy Poyner would be much better if he stuck to smoothie music . . . especially during these hot days . . . We're getting worried about the Higgs Field . . . The campus streets are going to have names one of these days . . . It might be a good idea to plant grass on the roads . . . cars seem to be riding across the court and on the walks so much . . . When people make up lies they shouldn't stop at fifteen dollars . . . "Teeny" Holland is going in for Introduction to Aeronautics . . . "Doubting" Thomas is getting to be a regular night owl . . . It seems to be all off between Frank Hunt and Fanny . . . Glen Lancaster likes to see to it that a fellow meets all of the girls at a dance.

All Guiltlet borrows "Ducky" Fredericks' glasses to read his roommate's mail . . . The Military Ball ought to be a big success tonight . . . yesterday was pay day . . . The FEHA allows us to have three and a half co-eds on the working list . . . There are four working; that means that we will have to drop a half of a co-ed . . . H. B. Hines is quite a hypnotist . . . watch out for him, girls . . . And here's some of the latest things that have been happening in the "Hell Week" exercises . . . The Sigma Pi's sent all of their pledges to the State Drug Store in both robes at eleven o'clock the other night to find out where the fire was . . . The S. P. E.'s stripped their pledges, tied their clothes in knots and gave them forty seconds to get on enough clothes to wrap around the block . . . The Lambda Chi's had the pledges play a checker tournament on Fayetteville Street and also walk guard around the Wachovia Bank . . . Phi Kappa Tau's have them carrying eggs in their pockets . . . Well, it's getting time to go and put on the feed-bag . . . come back next week and we'll have more for you.

Well, editors come and editors go, and nothing ever happens. So far, I've worked under four of them and next week will usher in another one.

The old political pot is boiling up a storm around the campus. It's a funny thing how so many guys get so friendly around election time.

ENGINEERS HOLD SUCCESSFUL FAIR

Eighth Annual Engineers' Fair Held Last Week-end With Varied Activities

The eighth annual Engineers' Fair held at State College last week-end proved entirely successful.

The fair was opened by a parade in which the Architectural Department won the cup awarded by Raleigh merchants for the best float.

The six engineering departments represented in the fair were thrown open for the inspection of the public Friday afternoon and night. About 3,000 visitors attended. J. C. Bolen, senior in Electrical Engineering, won the prize for the best individual exhibit, and the Electrical Department won the prize for the best exhibits as a whole.

One of the features of the Fair was the anti-aircraft section brought from Fort Bragg. The exhibit attracted a large crowd throughout the afternoon.

A great deal of interest was shown by visitors in the foundry where a run of iron was made. While the iron was in a molten state it was poured into molds.

The Fair was terminated Saturday night with the Grand Brawl, one of the outstanding dances of the college social year. William New, as St. Pat, and Miss Matilda Ehringhaus as Princess Pat, presided over the Brawl. Twelve freshmen were made Companions of St. Pat for outstanding work in their schools during the year. Two freshmen were selected from each department. Seniors who had shown themselves as worthy student engineers were knighted at the ceremony.

Doakmen Engage Virginian Colleges During Week-End

Tech Nine Team Will Play V. P. I., W. and L., V. M. I. During Invasion Trip

TEAM RECORD FOR WEEK IS THREE LOSSES AND TIE

Hitting Honors for State Divided Among McQuage, Rex, Ferris and Oakden

Snow and cold weather prevented the scheduled game between State and V. P. I. yesterday. The Tech nine will engage V. M. I. today.

North Carolina State's baseball games for the past week did not turn out so successfully. Coach Chic Doak's men lost to Davidson, South Carolina, Duke and tied Clemson College in an eleven inning game. The team is now on a trip into Virginia. They played V. P. I. yesterday and are scheduled to meet Washington and Lee today and V. M. I. tomorrow.

The game at Davidson last Thursday was the second of a two-game series, the first of which State won 11-4. However, in the second game, Davidson rallied in the eighth inning to stop the State team 9-8. The Wildcats scored four runs in this eighth inning rally.

Ferris and Jenkins divided the hurling honors for Davidson, while State used three men, Dave, Rodwell, and Lynn. State batters got nine hits from the Davidson pitchers, while Davidson made ten hits. Bob McQuage led State's batters with two hits out of three times at bat. Floyd Bumgardner and Captain Frank Mock, second baseman and centerfielder respectively for Davidson, led the Davidson rally with a home run each, while Johnny Mackorell hit two three-base hits. This was Davidson's first victory of the current season.

The following day, the South Carolina Gamecocks took the visiting State team for a ride to the tune of a 10-1 victory in the Columbia team's first conference victory. To Grayson Wolf, Gamecock pitcher, and to the slugging of his teammates went most of the credit for the South Carolina victory. Wolf, who is also a football, basketball, and boxing expert, struck out eight men and walked three.

Flythe, Freeman and Kirkman pitched for State. Flythe was quelled by six runs in the sixth inning before he was replaced on the mound. State was leading until this sixth inning outburst by the Gamecocks. At Clemson College last Saturday, the game was halted in the eleventh inning by darkness with the score tied 7-7. State tied the game in a two-run rally in the seventh inning. During the last four innings, the game was featured by the relief pitching of Flythe for State and Swails for Clemson. Each relief moundman allowed only two hits. Wilson and Oakden, who had two runs each, were the leaders for the hits for State, while Sherman and Catcher for Clemson each made two hits of the South Carolina team's six.

The Duke-State game was played last Tuesday before a large crowd of about 3,000 fans at Southern Pines. The victory was Duke's, 7-5. The contest was featured by more hits than at any game State has participated in this season. State getting 12 and Duke 18. Six of Duke's seven hits came in the third inning, while State did not make more than two runs in any one inning.

Lynn and Freeman divided the hurling for State, while Ken Weafer pitched through the entire game for Duke. Lynn struck out one man, Freeman three, and Weafer seven.

The prettiest play of the whole game was turned in in the second inning when Coach McQuage of State made a beautiful double play, putting men out at first and third. Farris, State catcher, got four hits out of four times at bat.

FROSH NINE PLAY FIRST TILT TODAY

Mason Bugg Is Expected to Get Call to Pitch in Game With Raleigh High

State College's freshman baseball team will play Raleigh High School here this afternoon in a practice game at 4 o'clock. The game will be played on Freshman Field.

The Techlets will not open their regular schedule until Tuesday of next week when they play Lenoirville College here.

Twenty-four candidates remained on the State College freshman baseball squad after Coach Bob Warren and Assistant Coach Peele Johnson applied the pruning knife Wednesday for the first time since practice was begun a week ago.

Five of the 24 survivors are pitchers and one of these is Mason Bugg, Angier husky who turned in a great record in high school circles. The other pitching candidates are Jerry Davidson, Murphy; Vance Almond, Ashley Heights; Wesley Boye, Hancock, N. H.; and Walter Machado, Fair Haven, Mass.

Other candidates and their positions: Catchers—Phil Peterson, Manassquan, N. J.; Julian Richardson, Pace, Va.; and Louis Spitalnik, New York City. First Basemen—J. K. Banerman, Burzaw; and Carroll Conard, Greensboro. Second Basemen—Uriah Norwood, Norwood; and William Culpepper, Elizabeth City. Third Basemen—James Barb, Hickory; and Henry Rivenbark, Wallace. Shortstops—Neill Dalrymple, Jonesboro; Parks Shell, Elmwood; and Albert Hein, New York City. Outfielders—Taylor Barrow, Farmville; Howard Bards, Wilkingsburg, Pa.; James Hines, Raleigh; Bill Hooks, Fremont; J. L. Powers, Bennettsville, S. C.; Jess Tatum, McCall, S. C.; Clyde Tickle, Burlington; and William Terrell, Norfolk.

Ten of the freshman football team are being named for the State football team. They are Bugg, Boye, Spitalnik, Conrad, Barb, Rivenbark, Hein, Bards, Powers and Tatum. Dalrymple was a regular guard on the freshman basketball team.

Rex Rex is undoubtedly the students' choice for the Alumni Trophy judging from the returns on the primary elections. Rex polled over 85 more votes than his nearest rival. But alas! Rex will not get the trophy because of not being able to fulfill the eligibility requirements of a .75 scholastic average. However, Rex still has another chance for the trophy next year provided he can pull up his scholastic average. No athlete could have a better record in bidding for the trophy. Rex at present is the only non-letter man at State College.

Eligible candidates for the trophy to be given to the athlete receiving the highest vote next Tuesday are: Bob McQuage, John Stanko and Buck Buchanan. All three candidates are of the highest type of athlete found at State. McQuage is a senior and a three letter man. With Rex out of the race, some students say McQuage is sure to get the award. But these students can be wrong for Buchanan, a senior and president of the Monogram Club, is very popular among the students as also is Stanko, a junior and a highest honor student. As I see it, the race will be between McQuage and Buchanan since Stanko will have another chance for the award next year. The award in the past has always gone to a senior candidate.

Four State College tennis courts have been conditioned—thanks to the College. Now all the tennis team needs is the conditioning of the two remaining courts.

Coach Hunk Anderson pulled a big surprise on most of us last week when he called out the football team for spring practice number two. "Practice makes perfect" may be Anderson's motto.

TWELVE MEN INITIATED INTO MONOGRAM SOCIETY

Twelve men were recently initiated into the State College Monogram club. These men were from the football, golf, cross-country, and tennis teams. The initiates were introduced by "Buck" Buchanan, president of the club.

New members are: Steve Sabol, Barnes Worth, and Russell Nicholson, football; Fred Newham, Jr., Pat Pastore, Earl Lion, and Charlie Stryon, golf; A. S. Floyd, James Fallon and Smith, cross-country, and Bill Fisher and A. L. Polley, tennis.

Struck out by Weafer 7, Lynn 1, Freeman 3. Hits: off Lynn 10 in 2-2-3, Freeman 8 in 6-1-3. Hit by pitcher: by Lynn (Wagner); by Weafer (Johnson). Passed balls: Farris. Losing pitcher: Lynn. Umpire: Kearney. Time: 1:50.

Alumni Trophy Candidates

Above are the three athletes who will compete in the final elections Tuesday, April 17 for the Alumni Athletic Trophy, which is annually awarded to the athlete who, by the vote of the student body, has meant the most to State College athletics during the past year.

McQuage, a senior, was captain of the 1934 basketball team and a co-captain of this year's baseball team. He has also been a star player on the football team for three years. John Stanko, a junior, has played two years of varsity football and is a high honor student. J. E. "Buck" Buchanan, a senior, has been a matinee as a guard for three years on N. C. State's football team. He is also president of the Monogram Club.

TECH TENNIS TEAM LOSE FIRST TILT TO DEACONS

J. O. Wright and J. D. Renn Scored All State Points in the Single Matches

The State College tennis team in its first appearance of the season lost to the Wake Forest netters, 7 to 2, Wednesday. The matches were played on State's reconitoned courts.

The visiting Deacon netter swept the three double matches and took four of the six single matches. A high wind swept the course and made playing difficult, but some fine tennis was displayed. Many of the matches were close. J. O. Wright and J. D. Renn were the only State netmen to win matches. Both won in the singles group.

Single results: Dickinson, Wake Forest, defeated Fisher, 6-2, 6-1; Wright, State, defeated Fletcher, 6-3, 6-3; Hanson, Wake Forest, defeated Westbrook, 6-8, 6-4, 6-3; Davis, Wake Forest, defeated Folley, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2; Hutchins, Wake Forest, defeated Brown, 6-3, 6-2; and Renn, State, defeated Josey, 6-2, 6-4.

Double results: Dickinson and Hanson defeated Fisher and Wright, 8-6, 6-1; Fletcher and Hutchins defeated Westbrook and Brown, 6-4, 6-3; and Josey and Davis defeated Folley and Renn, 9-7, 11-9.

STATE NINE LED BY REX AND COX IN BASE HITS

Ray Rex and Rupert Cox, outfielders, are leading State College's baseball team in slugging extra base hits.

In the five games in which they have played to date, they have accounted for a total of eight extra base hits. Rex has hit four doubles and one triple. Cox has a home run, a triple and a double.

Rex got his fourth double of the season in Tuesday's game with Duke University.

Two eagles were scored during the matches. Perry, Duke, scored on the twelfth hole and Charlie Stryon, State, scored his on the fourth hole.

In a golf match played yesterday afternoon on the Carolina Pines course, the State golfers swamped the Washington and Lee team by a 15 to 3 score.

Fred Newham, Jr., State, held the best score for the matches. He shot a 72—par on the course. McDavid, Washington and Lee, was paired against Newham. His score was 75 and was the best score for the General team.

Pat Pastore, State, shot a 77 for the second best score for State. His opponent, Cohen, scored 81. Scores for remaining matches are: Bill Berth-lein, State, 78, vs. Cross, W. and L., 79; Charles Stryon, State, 79, vs. Alexander, W. and L., 80. Another scheduled match will be played this afternoon when the State golfers meet the strong Furman University team here. The matches will be played on the Carolina Pines course.

Sports Council Announces Awards For Tech Athletes

29 ATHLETES ARE HONOR STUDENTS

Annual Scholarship Day Program Recognizes 9 Athletes Making High Honors

Twenty-nine athletes were among the 384 students recognized Wednesday at the annual Scholarship Day exercises at State College. The recognition came for having made high honors or honors on studies during the past two terms.

Nine of the 29 made high honors, a grade of 90 or better. The others made honors, an average of 80 or more.

Varsity athletes making high honors were: Football—John Stanko, Steubenville, Ohio, and Arnold Peterson, Batavia, Ill. Wrestling—Kenneth Krach, Baltimore, Md. Baseball—J. P. Leagans, Cana, Tenn.—Herbert Lynch, Wilmington, Ga.—Fred Newham, Jr., Raleigh, Tenn.—J. O. Wright, Norfolk, Va.

Amil Gerlock, freshman basketball forward from Mt. Union, Pa., also made high honors.

Varsity players making honors were: Football—Bo Bohannon, Louisville, Ky. Swimming—Fehl Carter, Mooreville, and John Hunter, Raleigh. Baseball—Dave Rodwell, Warrenton; Robert Smith, Leaksville, and James Cooper, Kerr, Westling—Dave Morrah, Greensboro, and Charlie Nolan, Stoneville. Track—Bernice Corpening, Lenoir. Tennis—James Renn, Raleigh, and Leonard Dearborn, Waverly, Pa. Rifle—James J. Griffith, Kernersville, and Frederick Hube, Wise, Va.

Honors were also won by the following freshmen: Football—Edward Jaskwich, Kenosha, Wis.; Chester Wescott, Hockensack, N. J.; John McLaughlin, Gloucester, Mass.; and James Barb, Hickory. Baseball—Billy Croel, Raleigh. Wrestling—William Bell, Greensboro.

ZORI AND REX TO ENGAGE IN NORTHERN TRACK MEET

Milan Zori and Ray Rex will be the representatives of State College at the University of Pennsylvania Relay Carnival which will be held at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, on April 27-28.

Zori is State's expert with the discus and Rex will compete in the shot put. In practice, Zori has consistently thrown the discus over 160 feet this year. His record throw is 165 feet one inch, which is not far short of the present world's record of 169 feet and 7/8 inches. Dr. Ray Sermon, State's track mentor, sees no plausible reason why Zori should not set a new world's record before he concludes his athletic career at State.

Although Rex's participation in other sports has kept him from extensive track practice, he plans to make a strong bid for recognition with the shot. His best practice throws in the season thus far have ranged around 47 feet.

WRESTLING TEAM BEGINS SPRING PRACTICE MONDAY

The State wrestling team will hold spring practice at the gym beginning Monday, according to an announcement made by co-captain Dave Morrah. It is the hope of the co-captain that students who are interested in wrestling and have not practiced with the team before will turn out at this time. Jimmy McLaurin, Captain of the 1934 team, will be in charge of the spring practices.

Military Ball

The Seventh Annual Military Ball of the N. C. State College R. O. T. C. Regiment will be held tonight in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

The gym will be decorated in a true military style to resemble a military encampment. Gun stacks, flags, R. O. T. C. insignia shields, banners, tents, trees, machine guns, and other military equipment will line the spacious ballroom floor.

In this setting over 800 cadets, in dress parade uniforms, will enjoy an evening of dancing with their dates. In addition to the dancing and their escorts, hundreds of spectators have been extended special invitations and will be present to add to the evening's entertainment.

Nothing has been spared to make the dance the most colorful at the college this year.

Jimmy Poyner and his State Collegians will furnish the music.

One of the features will be a military dance figure at eleven o'clock at which time senior cadet officers will present their escorts with small miniature sabers appropriate for the occasion.

Invitations have been sent to many prominent people, including Governor and Mrs. J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Mayor and Mrs. George Isley and other Raleigh officials, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Brooks, president of State College, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Graham, president of the Greater University of North Carolina, all alumni on the State College Board of Trustees, members of the faculty and administrative staff of State College and military officials from nearby schools, and army and navy officials from nearby posts.

The Central Dance Committee in charge of all the necessary arrangements is composed of Cadet Lieut. Colonel Bill Barker, Burlington, assisted by Cadet Captains Joe Dixon, Greenville, and J. B. Liles, Raleigh and under the supervision of Captain B. W. Venable, faculty adviser.

The following committeemen will be present at the dance with their escorts:

Cadet Colonel D. L. Bohannon, head of the Figure Committee, with Miss Anne MacDermott, Battle Creek, Michigan, who is the 1934 "Queen of the Regiment"; central committeemen, Cadet Captain Joe Dixon, with Miss Emma Francis Hardee, Greenville; Cadet Captain J. B. Liles, with Miss Annie Mae Towler; Cadet Captain M. P. Thiem, with Miss Evelyn Briggs, Raleigh.

Publicity committeemen, Cadet Sergeant J. W. Lamberson, with Miss Bettie Bowling, Rocky Mount, and Cadet Captain E. J. Lassen, with Miss Garnelle Raney, Salisbury; general committeemen, Cadet Captain W. E. Kistler, with Miss Louise Warren, Raleigh; Cadet Sergeant Major R. W. Stephens, Jr., with Miss Louise Olive, Cary; Cadet First Lieutenant Rowlings S. Poole, with Miss Matilda Ehringhaus, Raleigh; Cadet Lieutenant Rufus Nims, with Miss Margaret Little, Raleigh; and Cadet Captain P. E. Stone, with Miss Margaret Brown, Raleigh.

Preparations for the dance began in March and there are over 40 cadets serving on committees, and every man of the nine companies of the regiment are available for duty if needed.

Sigma Pi Dance

Members of the Sigma Pi fraternity entertained at a delightful informal dance Friday evening at their home on Clark Avenue.

Preceding the dance, the members and their dates inspected the exhibits of the Engineers Fair at the college. Guests included friends on the college campus and numerous guests who were attending the N. C. State Engineers Fair.

Popular music was furnished by a complete amplifying system. Throughout the evening refreshments were served.

Young ladies present were: Miss Mary Pride Cruikshank, Miss Martha Metcalfe, Miss Elizabeth Layfield, Miss Katherine Noel, Miss Katherine Mason, Miss Virginia Weathers, Miss Margaret Kelly, Miss Eleanor Layfield, Miss Rosalie Hay, Miss Barbara Moore, Miss Margaret Underwood, Miss Mary Porter Flint, Miss Sally Bailey Heyward, Miss Lillian Haymore, Miss Effie McEnglish, Miss Dorcyce Wynne, Miss Joan McIntyre, Miss Nellie Russell, Miss Anne McDermott of Detroit, Michigan, Miss Sarah Smith of Leaksville, Miss Josephine Walker of Burlington, and Miss Louise Light of Leaksville.

Chaperons for the dance were Professor and Mrs. A. F. Greaves-Walker.

PRESS MEET TO BE HELD FIRST WEEK-END IN MAY

Delegates From Most of North Carolina Schools to Attend Convention Here

The North Carolina Collegiate Press Association's Spring Convention will be held in Raleigh at Carolina Pines the first week-end in May.

Delegates from most of the schools in the state having publications will attend the convention.

At this convention judges will select the best newspapers, the best annuals, and the best magazines. THE TECHNICIAN was the winner of the first prize last year in schools having over one thousand students. The newspaper prize for schools having less than one thousand students went to The Old Gold and Black of Wake Forest.

Since the convention is being held in Raleigh, the staffs of the three publications will have an opportunity to attend. A banquet and a dance will be given as part of the entertainment.

BAUERLEIN IS SELECTED TO REPLACE PROF. NELSON

New Professor Assumes Duties of Deceased Instructor at First Of Week

George Bauerlein, a former student at Wake Forest, has been chosen to fill the vacancy left by the sudden death of J. T. Nelson, well known instructor in the History Department. The new instructor met his first classes at the beginning of this week and announced that he was ready to commence the term's work.

Prof. Bauerlein, a native of Alabama, received his preliminary college education at Wake Forest. Following his graduation from there, he came to State College as a teaching fellow and spent the years of 1926 and 1927 here.

At that time he decided to go to the University of Pennsylvania, where he has been ever since, doing graduate work and acting as an assistant history instructor in the History Department at that university.

SUMMER SCHOOL BULLETIN READY

State College Summer Courses to Begin June 13 and Terminate July 24

The Summer School Bulletin, the material for which is in the hands of the printer, will give a detailed description of the courses to be offered at State College Summer School, during the six-week term, and the names of instructors for the second six weeks, which will be given at Chapel Hill.

Notice will be given through THE TECHNICIAN when these bulletins are ready for distribution. Students can arrange to continue their work at Carolina during the second term.

The Summer School is becoming more and more an integral part of the College year, and the offerings are designed to aid regular college students in pursuing their studies through a larger part of the calendar year. By taking advantage of Summer School a student can finish his work for a degree and be ready for permanent employment that much earlier.

The Summer School will be held at State College from June 13 to July 24.

The distinctive work of the summer session will be Agricultural, Technological and Vocational Education. Special emphasis, therefore, will be placed upon instruction in these technical fields.

In addition, there will be courses in the physical and social sciences, including both regular college work and professional courses in the fields of Secondary Education, Vocational Guidance, Industrial Arts, etc. Special Cotton Classing course will be continued. Short courses for teachers of Agriculture, extension agents, Young Tar Heel Farmers, School Building Superintendents, and school bus drivers will be offered.

— what it means

— to store

70 million dollars worth of tobacco

— 4½ miles of warehouses

Everything that Science knows about is used in making Chesterfields.

One thing we do is to buy mild, ripe tobaccos and then lock up these tobaccos in modern storage warehouses to age and mellow like rare wines.

It takes about 3 years to age the tobaccos for your Chesterfield, for Time does something to tobacco that neither man nor machine can do.

It means something to keep 70 million dollars worth of tobacco in storage. It means just this:

We do everything possible to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

the cigarette that's MILDER

the cigarette that TASTES BETTER
