INTRAMURALS

The increased interest in Intramurals athletics has been more and more manifested by the student body. It has been gratifying to Johnny Miller, head of the department of Physical Education to note the vigor with which students are participating in the campus sports. The clean sportsmanship and the fair play that is being demonstrated by those taking part is commendable.

Back in 1924, athletic teams representing colleges of the South were stressed, but the balance of students received little thought in the matter. At that time, State College put itself on record as being one of the first colleges in the South to realize that an opportunity for every student to enjoy healthful exercise and such social contacts as can be gained only on the athletic field, and the college installed Intramurals. Student athletics such as this has since been an organized part of the Physical Education department.

The lack of enough fields and courts on which to carry on the sports has been the only limiting factor. Last year held the record for the number of students participating and the varieties of sports participated in. A total of 2,350 men were entered in 13 different sports. It is estimated that 1,000 students composed this number.

The public is today forcefully making demands that more encouragement and opportunity be given the mass of students who is not out for athletic teams. Sentiment is that "athletic teams are a fine thing but the duty of the college is toward each and every student who matriculates." The college seeks to train and develop each student physically, mentally and morally. This does not mean that this all-around training should be limited to the few who participate on college teams and who possibly need the physical development less than other students.

Those students who have been negligent about reporting and taking part in campus athletics will find that much benefit can be derived, and should take part in all events in which their group may enter. It is especially important that freshmen come out for the sports.

INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERING

The transformation of the Business School into one of Industrial Engineering, now going on under the leadership of Prof. T. S. Johnson will bring to a point the necessity which has prevailed for an up-to-date course which can prepare students for a definite vocation after graduation.

The course in Business Administration was at one time capable of preparing a student for a general business career, with no thought given to any specialization in a given line of work. It gave him the fundamentals necessary to a business career and no more. Now, with increased attention being paid to study for a given branch of work, the old cut-and-dried methods of teaching have given way to a differentiation of subjects which have been part of one course. The resulting changes to be made in the Business school are a result.

The course in Industry will give an entering student an opportunity to study various phases of industry before he makes his choice as to his life's work. One of the difficulties encountered by students coming to college has been their inability to choose a certain line in which to lodge their efforts. They have never been instructed regarding the advantages and disadvantages of certain types of work, and consequently they cannot freely choose the course which they wish to pursue. They may have a smattering of the many kinds of work open to them—they may, as some too often do, wish to take aeronautical engineering because they want to fly, or take electrical engineering because they want to become radio operators—but are sadly disillusioned later when they find that the course they chose will not prepare them for that exact type of work.

By offering the freshman a general course in various lines, and illustrating to him the type of work done by the different kinds of engineers, Industrial Engineering will give him better satisfaction in picking his course later, he will gain a working knowledge of other professions than the one he has chosen, and since he will know some reason for choosing his later vocation, he will work harder toward preparing himself for it by stressing in his studies those elements which will help him most later.

ANOTHER ROBBERY

Huneycutt's clothing store was again robbed this week, and the thieves who entered apparently did all their work peacefully and quietly, without the slightest fear of the police interfering. Any robber who wishes may come to the College Court at State College and carry on his work at will at any time between sun-down and sun-up, for police protection is absent there.

The robbery early Wednesday morning of $200 dollars worth of clothing from Huneycutt's was the twelfth in a series. These series will continue until the Raleigh police force in some way finds out what is going on around it and makes necessary efforts to bring to an end these robberies. If some moving force were possible whereby these men would get enough drive behind them to do some apprehending for a good cause, students and residents of West Raleigh would be very appreciative.

Dictating to a police force is not, perhaps, in a student's line, but it has been all too apparent that police are neglecting their duties near State College, and the sooner the police make their appearance near College Court at hours when they are needed most, the sooner will thieves realize that their isolated gold mine has been reclaimed.

LOCKERS NEEDED

The need for more lockers in the Gym has been a long felt need by upperclassmen who wish to use its facilities in their spare time as well as those freshmen and sophomores who have been forced to run across the campus on cold days clad only in shorts, jerseys, and sweatshirts. The department of Physical Education has long been trying to have an adequate number of lockers installed, but has as yet had no success.

Juniors and seniors are required to pay six dollars in physical education fees, and no return for this money is seen. The installation of lockers would obviously not be an added expense, and upperclassmen wishing to use them would see a benefit derived from the use of their money in this manner.

Year after year, freshmen have heard the same old story, "There aren't enough lockers to go around; so you'll have to find some friend who lives in a dormitory and dress in his room," and it is getting tiresome. The locker problem should not remain a problem if account were taken of the use of money paid by upperclassmen toward physical education. If this sum were used solely for the benefit of those who pay it, lockers would immediately appear.

HERE AND THERE

By G. W. FORD

Well boys, here's one to put in your notebook: It seems that a certain young girl, I might have said young lady, but I won't, throws flowers to her boy friends as they are going home nights. Nothing unusual so far, but wait . . . Gertrude Mann, a Raleigh girl, threw a geranium to a State College boy the other night, but the absent-minded young darling forgot to take it out of the flower-pot.

Take heed, young fellows, and don't go calling on flower-tossers. There's an old saying that goes, "Forewarned is forearmed." Or I might even say, "People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw wild parties." You know I just have to quote something when a thing like this happens.

Smut Smith has had some daring adventures in the M. E. Laboratory. He claims that he has been made a human target of more than once. Smut does not usually brag about his adventures . . . ask him about them.

That rain last Monday did things to the basement of the gymnasium. The water came up to a little higher than it should have and as a result the locker room was submerged. It's funny how things change . . . a few weeks ago we were kicking about getting lockers to go swimming; then it turns out that we have to go swimming to get to a locker.

Jack Coffey, the manager of the football team, had a cold in his head the other day. He sat in his room with a piece of adhesive tape over his nose to keep it from running. I'd like to see Joe Summers try this some time.

I see that the Rotunda, a weekly published at the Virginia State Teachers College, is running a series of beauty hints. Now that's an idea. . . Why not have one of our fair ones write a few such articles for THE TECHNICIAN? Not that we need it. . . No. . . but it would be something different.

Here's a hot wrinkle: E. W. Williams, one of our soldier boys, had his toe broken when a freshman stepped on it at drill the other day.

J. F. Pou is confined in the infirmary with the measles. More than one of us breaks out with a rash when out good professors start popping unexpected tests on us.

They're keeping the decorating scheme of the pledge dances a secret. They tell us that it will be a surprise. . . Well, if we went down there and found no decorations at all, that would be a surprise.

It's about time for our swimmers to start their meets again. With Coach Joe Moore and Captain "Sonny" Carter at work they ought to go places.

Davidson Team Seeks Revenge for 7-3 Defeat Handed Them by State Last Year

CUMISKEY BACK IN TOGS AFTER INJURY TO HIP

Ray Rex, 215 Pound Fullback to Start Game, But Will be Relieved at Intervals by Cumiskey; Bob McQuage Ready for Action After Shoulder Injury; Mackorell and McQuage Expected to Engage in Brilliant Kicking Duel

A tussle between two schools with plenty of fighting spirit is expected when the State Wolfpack team meets the Davidson College Wildcats here tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 on Riddick field. The Wolfpack team is expected to be on the top end of the score although the Davidson team is determined to upset the dope bucket even though they have already lost two Big Five games.

The Wildcats will be seeking revenge for the 7 to 3 defeat the Wolfpack handed them last year. Near the end of the game Mackorell kicked a field goal and gave Davidson a three point lead. On the kickoff which followed, Roscoe Roy ran for a touchdown, and the game ended shortly thereafter.

Everything is pointing to a thrilling game this week-end, provided the weather man cooperates and orders a bright afternoon for the big battle. Davidson will have its full strength as injuries received by some of its players in the Duke game were not as serious as had been thought. State will also have more strength available than it did against Wake Forest as Captain Mope Cumiskey has completely recovered from a hip injury that kept him on the sidelines for two weeks.

State fans hope that the return of Cumiskey to action will see a change for the better in the Wolfpack, and this is not at all impossible as Cumiskey is a great leader as well as a great player.

Ray Rex, the big 215 pound fullback and star of the Florida and Wake Forest games, will start the game, but will be relieved at times by Cumiskey. Rex has been showing more drive this fall than Cumiskey and with both men ready for action, coach Smith has everything a coach could ask for in fullback material.

Bob McQuage's shoulder, bruised rather badly in the Wake Forest game, is recovering rapidly and the Salisbury flash will be ready for Davidson. The Deacon's last week succeeded in keeping McQuage well covered, but did not prevent him from getting off a 59-yard punt.

The punting of McQuage and of Pittman and Mackorell of Davidson, will be one of the many thrilling things expected to take place when the Wildcats meet the Wolves. McQuage has done some fine punting this fall for State, and last Saturday, Pittman out-punted the kicking Rossiter and Laney of Duke.

McQuage's heavy tackle, McElrath, center, and Captain Rives, guard, are outstanding men in the Davidson Wildcat line and are expected to be pitted against such fellows as Isaacs, tackle; Steve Sabol, center; and Don Redding, end; of the Wolfpack line tomorrow afternoon.

INTRAMURAL SUMMARY
The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, with its steam-rolling 170 pound tag football team, won a thrilling 13 to 0 game over the Sigma Phi's Tuesday afternoon to clinch first-place honors in the fraternity intramural sport group. The Lambda Chi's forfeited their football game to the Sigma Nu's in the only other game played this week.

In the horse shoe groups the Delta Sigs took the lead by winning over the Theta Phi fraternity in an interesting match. The Sigma Phi Epsilons beat the Kappa Sigs in a close tussle earlier in the week.

Sub-Halfback

ALLEN BAILEY
Bailey, halfback and understudy of Bob McQuage, who played brilliant football in his first game of the season in the Wake Forest game last week. He is expected to show up good in the Davidson game tomorrow.

Sports Views

By BROCK SINELL
The scores seem to be the "jinx" for Wolfpack teams during the past two weeks. First came the Wolfpack 0-0 score with Florida, then the Techlets' 6-6 score with the Duke Imps, and along comes the Cross-Country team with a 28-28 score with Winston-Salem. The climax came last Saturday when the Wolfpack team was again tied 0-0 in a game with Wake Forest. Maybe the Wolfpack team will kill Mr. Jinx in tomorrows game with the Davidson Wildcats.

The flooding of the gym Monday forced Johnny Miller to suspend his Physical Education classes for the first time in 10 years. Miller is taking steps to see that this doesn't happen again for at least twenty years. We be unto the frosh or soph who expects another deluge soon!

"Jeep Guy, what are you doing down here?" The expression was used by one of the Techlet tackles to a Duke Imp tackle opposite him in last week's game. Good old friends were the two opposing tackles who last year, I am informed, were playing on a championship prep team in New Jersey. Until last Friday neither player knew that the other was in the Southland. Just shows that the old world is a small place after all in sportland.

Steve Sabol, star center and iron man of the Wolfpack team, should not be left out when the All-Southern football candidates are nominated this fall. Sabol is one of the main-springs in the Tech line. He is also out to scalp Red Espey's 495 minutes of consecutive playing of last season. Sabol already has 300 minutes to his credit—and with four more games to play he can beat Espey's record by 45 minutes.

"Clipper Smith's pony backfield composed of Lawrence McCulley, Quarterback; Norman Raines and Johnnie Johnson, halfbacks; and Cliff Croom, fullback was doing some scrappy playing in practice scrimmages Wednesday night. These boys have not had much of a chance to show their stuff this fall. My hunch is if the pony backfield is put in the game tomorrow—they will give the Cats something to worry about.

Football fans who insist on berating the Wolfpack team should just remember the fact that the Pack hasn't lost a game on the home field during the past two seasons.

The State-Davidson game tomorrow will be a tussle between two determined teams. The student body can do its part in winning the game by giving its moral support, sitting in the student reserve section, and cooperating with the cheer leaders. Be there!

DEACS TIE STATE IN HARD BATTLE

Wake Forest Holds Wolfpack to Scoreless Tie Despite Prior Predictions

The State College Wolfpack played a hard-fought 0 to 0 tie game with the Wake Forest Deacons last Saturday at Wake Forest before 6,000 enthusiastic football fans. The tie was the second consecutive 0 to 0 tie for the Wolfpack team in two weeks. The game also marked the second game that State has had with Wake Forest since beginning football relations in 1908.

The Deacons, led by a speedster named Martin, who was playing his first varsity game, outplayed the Wolfpack throughout the game but could not get up enough offensive power to score. Rex, 215 pound fullback, was the leader in State's defensive play in holding the Deacons scoreless.

State's best scoring chance came in the second period when Ray Rex, the powerful State fullback, moved the ball to Wake Forest's 16 yard line. The drive started from Wake Forest's 45 yard line. Rex carried the ball five times in this drive and picked up 25 yards, but when the 16 yard line was reached and four downs to go, Rex was not run again and after the fourth play the ball was on the 19 yard line. This was the nearest State came to scoring.

The best runs of the game were both turned in by Martin, brilliant Wake Forest halfback. Once he broke loose for 33 yards, and again for 23 yards. Martin was the best ground gainer of the afternoon, picking up 91 yards. Rex was next with 75 yards.

Steve Sabol, big sophomore center, John Stanko, guard, and Carl Isaacs, tackle, were the big guns in the State line with Sabol looking best. Swan, big tackle; Swing and Hardee, ends; and Chetty, left tackle, were outstanding in the line for Wake Forest.

STATE AND WINSTON TIE IN CROSS-COUNTRY MEET

The State College cross-country team tied 28 to 28 in a thrilling meet with the Winston-Salem Olympic Club last Saturday in Winston-Salem. Smith of State, flashed across the finish line first to head a strong field of 13 runners.

The victor broke the tape with a timing of 14 minutes and 39 seconds, leading Trivette and Kinney, of Winston-Salem who finished second and third respectively, by scant margins. Falton, of State, finished fourth. Finishing in order behind Falton were: Lloyd, of State; R. Flynt, of Winston-Salem; Chatfield, of State; M. Flynt, of Winston-Salem; Lineback, of Winston-Salem; Moore, of Winston-Salem; Burnows, of State; Hines, of State; and Pou, of State.

The State line-up included: two former Winston-Salem runners, Hines and Pou. Red Lewis, State coach, an unofficial entry in the race, led the entire field to the finish with a fast timing of 14 minutes and 16 seconds.

FROSH TO PLAY BABY TAR HEELS

Outstanding Gridders to Compete in Big Five Title Clash in Greensboro

The State College freshman football team will leave today at noon for Greensboro, N. C. where they will play the University of North Carolina freshmen in the Greensboro Memorial Stadium at 8:00 p.m. tonight. It will be the first night game this season for the State freshmen and their fourth opponent. Both teams are leading candidates for the Big Five yearling title. A real battle is expected between the two teams.

The game will bring together some of the outstanding freshmen in the State this fall. There will be a tackle battle between Carl Goode of State and John Trimpey of Carolina. Goode, a North Carolina boy weighs 250 pounds and is without doubt the fastest man in the State for his size. It is said that he can run the 100 yards in 10 seconds flat dressed in track togs. Trimpey weighs 220 pounds and Carolina fans say it is impossible to make a gain on his side of the line.

Four brilliant ends will also be in action. Campbell and Carr of the Techlets and Buck and McCann of the Carolina frosh. All four men have played excellent ball for their respective teams this season.

Two diminutive quarterbacks will oppose one another. Nick Hayden, a 150 pound youngster, will direct the Techlets attack, and Wallace Dunham, a field general built along the lines of Johnny Branch, will handle the Tar Baby team.

In the fullback post the Techlets have in Barbes one of the cleverest line plungers in yearling circles. He is as great on defense as he is on offense. Jim Hutchins, All-State high school fullback last year, will be the driving fullback for the Tar Babies. The Techlets will go into the fray as favorites to win since their record of two wins and one tie is not equaled by any other Big Five team.

Student Embargo
Limitation, by legislative measures, of the number of foreign students in Holland, is being urged by a group of members of the Second Chamber on the grounds that Dutch students, in the pursuit of their studies, are being hindered by the large number of foreigners. The Minister of Public Instruction, sponsor of the measure, has affirmed that such a law, if promulgated, would be applied only in the case of extreme necessity.

I keep coming back to that word "balanced" on the back of the Chesterfield package

YOU often hear the word balance—something is out of balance—top-heavy, not on an "even keel."

What you read, "Chesterfield Cigarettes are a balanced blend," means that the right amounts of the right kinds of tobacco are welded together; that is, home-grown tobaccos, the right kind, the right quantity—are blended and cross-blended with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece.

When these tobaccos are balanced one against the other, then you have a mild cigarette.

When they are in balance, then you have a better-tasting cigarette.

May we ask you to read again the statement on the back of the Chesterfield package? May we ask you to try Chesterfield?

GRAHAM OPPOSES DRY LAW REPEAL

Greater University Head States That Liquor Traffic is Menace to Society

Dr. Frank Porter Graham, president of the Greater University, stated when he was in Raleigh Sunday that he is opposed to the repeal of the 18th amendment because the liquor traffic is a menace to society.

He was here Sunday to hear the address given by Hon. Clyde R. Hoey, supporter of the dry law. When asked to state his views on prohibition, he said:

"We who still support prohibition are not unaware of prohibition's many failures and their sinister implications. We, too, believe that the truest prohibition is the self-control that comes from within the individual. "But we also believe that the freedom and self-control find their reinforcement in the environment of the community and the sanctions of society.

"I am opposed to traffic in liquor for the fundamental reason that I am for the abolition of child labor, night work for women, the long work week, low wages, war, and many other forms of human exploitation that tear down and destroy the bodies and personalities of large beings."
