ANOTHER HAIR-CUTTING

State College had its first hair-cutting Sunday morning, and whether Charlie Witt deserved it or not should probably be left up to the author of the clipping. Witt may or may not have been deserving of the free hair cut, but there are surely many about the campus who also have enemies and deserve like treatment in the minds of these enemies.

Freshmen in the class of 1933 were subjected to a total of 33 hair cuts, and according to all accounts, they deserved them. Since then, however, hazing rules have been more firmly established, and student government has come more into prominence. With a Student Council which is endeavoring now to fight down a reputation for no activity in enforcing its laws, and with a warning over its head that student government at State College must either be working or be done away with, in favor of faculty control, and besides, with Bill Barker, president of the body, putting his every effort into finding the unskilled barbers, those who did the cutting will find it difficult to keep in the dark for long.

The great test of student government comes at a time like this, and its real benefit on the campus will be shown by its action in last Sunday's attack. If those on the Student Council wish to see student government continue to function properly here, their efforts must be given over to finding the six attackers. Student government cannot continue to function on the State College campus unless its benefit is shown in a case like this, to prove to alumni, trustees, and others having its fate in their hands that it can take the job assigned to it.

Although the conviction and expulsion of the hair cutters sounds distasteful, it is far more important that students continue to govern, while such students as are unnecessary and unwanted here continue to take matters into their own hands against laws of State College and the State of North Carolina.

The feud now seems to be between the moral victory to be gained by the Student Council against faculty control and the unwillingness of responsible students to report an element on the campus which is working against the proper administration of statutes by a shaky student government.

THE SERIES CONTINUES

That Huneycutt's store was again broken into and robbed early Wednesday morning is no longer news. The robberies are now a general occurrence at Huneycutt's, and without police protection, they will continue indefinitely. This was the thirteenth robbery of that establishment in three years.

Here is what the Raleigh Times, of Thursday, November 2, has to say on the point, regarding an editorial which appeared in THE TECHNICIAN of October 27, wherein Huneycutt's is stressed as the main issue, as the chief demonstration of the need: COLLEGIATE CLOTHING SHOPPE IN SAD NEED OF POLICE PATROL

This paper has from time to time had occasion to criticize with more or less severity the police force of Raleigh, and it would be possible to run every day a column showing its deficiencies, could every aggrieved citizen be induced to voice his complaint. Yet, even so, the police in such an ample territory, with such a small force available, still would fail to measure up to the ideal standard of a cop's fingers in the collar of every criminal by the time he made two jumps away from the scene.

In short, it is more or less a bootless business to jump the police on points of omission in particular cases. Our own complaints have in general been confined to police sins of commission, as when some years ago they took to target practice in crowded streets in a big way, and several times either winged or murdered a mere misadventurer or killed or pinked an innocent bystander.

However, The Technician, State College student paper, takes a different view, and it must be said that the bill of particulars filed with its indictment gives a piece of meat to be chewed on at City Hall. Its story: Huneycutt's clothing store was again robbed this week, and the thieves who entered apparently did all their work peacefully and quietly, without the slightest fear of the police interfering. Any robber who wishes may come to the College Court at State College and carry on his work at will at any time between sun-down and sun-up, for police protection is absent there.

The robbery early Wednesday morning of $200 worth of clothing from Huneycutt's was the twelfth in a series. These series will continue until the Raleigh police force in some way finds out what is going on around it and makes necessary efforts to bring to an end these robberies. If some moving force were possible whereby these men could get enough drive behind them to do some apprehending for a good cause, students and residents of West Raleigh would be very appreciative.

Dictating to a police force is not, perhaps, in a student's line, but it has been all too apparent that police are neglecting their duties near State College, and the sooner the police make their appearance near College Court at hours when they are needed most, the sooner will thieves realize that their isolated gold mine has been reclaimed.

State College and its community are not simply a somewhat quiet outlying district. They make a nucleus of population entitled to something special in the way of protection. Small as the Raleigh police department is, we might well spare some police court grays in the shape of crap shooters and hip-flaskers by putting a bull on parade in that quarter. Or an arrangement might be worked out whereby a self-help student or so might be deputized with police powers and put on parole to see that the Collegiate Clothing Shoppe's stock remains to adorn those for whom it was purchased.

It may also be well to repeat an editorial which appeared in THE TECHNICIAN, April 28, 1933, as follows:

POLICE NEED EVIDENCE

The frequency of recent robberies near State College, in the Cameron Park section, has brought many to wonder at the inefficiency of the Raleigh police.

Each time a robbery occurs, police are notified, come to the scene of the burglary, and invariably leave muttering some words about "... State College boys." The incident is forgotten, the insurance company pays for the loss, until, perhaps, such as occurred in the case of Huneycutt's London Shoppe, the insurance company of revolta, and burglarized are left to bear the loss. Meanwhile, citizens are left to look over the situation on their own, often noting a lack of energy and initiative on the part of representatives of the police force in retrieving the thief.

The last time the Raleigh police force showed any form of interest in the welfare of the community which they are paid to watch, State College boys were the chief target for their action. Bumping from the curb was suddenly declared illegal for the time being, and without forewarning students were brought to court.

Now State College students are again made a subject for insult by a few negligent police who take the evidence of the missing articles as a proof of a State boy's dishonesty, whether these stolen goods be three steel tubes or two bags of doctor's tools, and whether the thief as he is seen disappearing is black or white. State College students resent the implications of the police. It is suggested that the Raleigh representatives of the law give less time to apparently false statements and more time to the carrying out of the duties required of them as employees of an unguarded populace.

There is no doubt but that robberies such as the above hurt the student body of State College. It is therefore necessary that Raleigh police do something definite and tangible in bringing the thieves to justice.

When the police last week apprehended the thief who had stolen a State College boy's clothing, they asked, when the State boy went to retrieve his clothes, that he speak a good word for the efforts of the police in the matter, for, they said, editorials in THE TECHNICIAN regarding their inability to cope with circumstances had harmed them. In due time they shall have their pat on the back, but not until the end of the last episode of these robberies at College Court, which occurred while they rested on their laurels.

HERE AND THERE

By G. W. FORD

The rain on Tuesday seemed to be a good omen for voting day but we woke up on Wednesday to find it cold and DRY. Well it's just as one of my good friends said: there are enough bootleggers in the state to vote dry and prevent the repeal of the 18th amendment in North Carolina. It's a great life... too bad we only get one apiece.

C. F. Witt, formerly of Watauga Hall, claimed that there were not enough men in State College to cut his hair. Someone overheard the bright young freshman and repeated what he had said. Three o'clock last Sunday morning a group of masked individuals entered Witt's room in Watauga Hall and proceeded to clip his hair. Upon leaving, they took the doorknob with them to prevent the victim from leaving his room and following them.

Witt moved to new quarters on Sunday and things at Watauga are once more normal. It is sometimes more profitable for one to reserve his opinion.

"Stunt Night," the annual event which was carried out on last Friday, turned out to be quite a success. Pullen Hall was packed to the doors, and before you ask why, I'll tell you. Had Mae West appeared, we would have expected a crowd; but, when no less than a half-dozen Mae Wests appeared on the same program, old Noah's Ark did not have enough seating capacity for the multitudes. Then there was Joe Dixon's Fan Dance with the new small-sized fans... we just had lots of things... you'll have to come up and see us sometime when we throw another stunt night.

And speaking of fans and fan dances, Sam Hagermann is still telling the boys about the Street of Paris at the World's Fair in Chicago.

I see that they have started work on some new doors down at the gymnasium. You know, it's a funny thing but, up until the time they built the City auditorium, our gym was good enough for dances. Right in step with the completion of the auditorium came the orders condemning the use of paper decorations for dances in the gym. We had fire commissioners all along, but it wasn't until then that they made up their minds to throw a wet blanket on our dances. We'll fox them yet; wait until those new doors are completed.

Here's a hot one for you: W. Y. Joyce took a couple of his girl friends for a ride in his car the other night. Some place out in the country they decided to pull off the road and park for a while (to look at the moon, no doubt). When he tried to start the car again he found that it was up to its hubs in mud... he had driven into a plowed field. To make a long story short, all the occupants of the car had to get out and push. They came home with mud up to their knees... and they still stick to the same story.

And going from the mud into the upper atmosphere, wasn't that a neat trick that Miss Derby pulled when she dropped the football from an airplane onto Riddick Field at the game last Saturday? We were full of tricks that day... she dropping the ball and Locke Webb sending those balloons up.

A little girl who used to hop fences on her way to Saint Mary's last year and who is now at W. C. U. N. C., made her appearance at a dance here not so long ago. We had missed you, "Fence Hopper," come back and see us again soon.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES

TO BE AMERICA'S GREATEST STUNT GIRL

● A SUDDEN NERVE-RACKING swing upward from a racing auto into a hurtling plane... It's all in the day's work for Mary Wiggins, famous stunt girl who also dives on fire into fire and does the suspension glide in mid-air while hanging only by her teeth. It means something when she says, "Camels never give me edgy nerves even when I smoke a lot."

ME: I'm so glad to see you, Sue. Were you nervous during your first flight?
SUE: Not a bit. I smoked Camels all the way, and I never felt better! I haven't worried about nerves since I took your advice and changed to Camels.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

LISTEN TO MARY WIGGINS, greatest of all girl stunt performers, as she tells of her discovery that one cigarette is different from the others! She says:

"I have to be sure my nerves are healthy to do my stunts, changing from a speeding auto to a plane, the high dive on fire into fire, wing walking while up in a plane, and the high-altitude parachute jump. As to smoking, I've found that Camels don't interfere with healthy nerves. I've tried all the brands. Camels are milder and better in flavor. They do not give me edgy nerves even when I am smoking a lot."

You'll like that rich Camel flavor and mildness. And your nerves will tell you the difference there is in Camel's costlier tobaccos.

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW
 Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Wolfpack and South Carolina Team Meet for Fourteenth Time at Columbia

GAMECOCKS GIVEN ODDS BY SPORTS DOPESTERS

Victory Over State Will Give Gamecocks Clean Record in Southern Conference; Wolves Have Holiday Monday and Tuesday; No Workout Expected Tomorrow in Columbia; State Team Goes to South Carolina Without Serious Injuries

The State College Wolfpack will battle the University of South Carolina Gamecocks at Columbia tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in a Southern conference game.

The Southern Conference battle with the Gamecocks will bring State and South Carolina together for the 14th time since 1903. In the 13 games already played, the Gamecocks have won six times, State five times and two tilts resulted in ties. The tie games came in 1904 when there was not a score, and last fall when both teams battled to a 7-7 tie on Riddick Field.

State is yet to taste victory in the Conference this fall, having been defeated by Clemson and North Carolina. One of South Carolina's wins was a 7 to 0 victory over Clemson. The Clemson Tigers defeated the Wolfpack 9-0 early this fall.

South Carolina is favored to take State for the seventh time when they meet tomorrow. The Gamecocks are leading the Conference with two wins and no defeats and a victory over State will give them a clean record in the Conference this fall, as their remaining games are with teams outside the Conference.

State suffered no serious injuries in its game last Saturday with Carolina and the big 'Pack stars of that game will probably be ready to upset a favored Gamecock machine which is led by Earl Clary, one of the finest backs (Please turn to page four)

Sports Views By BROCK SISELL

Last week-end's celebration of Homecoming and Dad's Day must have been a little too much for the 'Pack. Leastwise they could use this for an excuse for losing to Carolina, 6 to 0.

That second half was a nightmare for the 'Pack—not a first down was scored against Carolina.

Venice Farrar, Wolfpack tackle, was the subject of much favorable comment when he went into Wolfpack line last week and played a corking good game, even though he had a badly infected arm.

Milan Zori, who replaced Farrar at the tackle post last week, did some mighty good blocking and tackling in his first varsity game of the season. Bad health has kept Zori off the team for most of the season, but he is rapidly getting back into condition and should go great in State's remaining games.

State can regain some of its lost prestige tomorrow by taking the Gamecocks for a ride. The Gamecocks have not been beaten in Southern Conference circles this season.

Have you noticed that every time the Wolfpack is picked to win a game—it has lost? Well, in tomorrow's battle we are dooped to lose. It would be a sweet victory if the 'Pack did upset the dopesters tomorrow—and win a game for a change.

Beat Duke! Down the Blue Devils! Interest apparently seems to be pretty high when such expressions as these are heard around the campus. Will say more about the coming State-Duke game next week.

Rodeo Sports Football has been discarded for rodeo sports at the Cheyenne School at Colorado Springs. Bucking horses and wild steers are considered less dangerous by Dr. Lloyd Shaw, superintendent.

WRESTLING TEAM BEGINS PRACTICE

Nine Varsity Wrestlers Report for Team to be Coached by W. N. "Red" Hicks

The State College wrestling team began practice early this week in preparation for the heavy schedule which it will face this winter. Nine varsity wrestlers of last year's team reported for practice.

The varsity men reporting were: Captain Jimmy McLaurin, 155 pounds weight; Dave Morrah, 118 pounds; Colin Kerr, 125 pounds; Charles Nolen, 135 pounds; Chatfield, 135 pounds; J. T. Cooper, 145 pounds; Craig Furr, 165 pounds; Carl Bernhardt, 165 pounds; Clifton Croon, 175 pounds; and E. W. Cooper, unlisted. These men will probably be the nucleus for this year's team.

Besides the experienced varsity men, quite a number of candidates from last year's excellent frosh team are making strong bids for a berth on the mat team. These sophomores are: Phil Davis, 155 pounds weight; Davis is on the Wolfpack football team and will not report for regular practice until the end of the football season; Krach, 145 pounds; Lloyd, 155 pounds; Thornton, 125 pounds; Comfort, 165 pounds. In pre-season practice, the mat work of Captain James McLaurin, Cliff Croon, and Carl Bernhardt has been exceedingly well. These men furnished many thrills in last year's meets. Dopesters are predicting that they will repeat their excellent performance in thrilling meets this year.

W. N. "Red" Hicks is coaching the team. He is a capable man. During the past several years he has put out wrestling teams which have become a terror in collegiate mat circles.

Coach Hicks said yesterday that regular practice will be held every afternoon at 4:30. Initial practice for froshman wrestlers will begin Monday afternoon at 4:30 in the gym.

The complete schedule of both varsity and frosh wrestling matches will be announced in the near future. Intramural Sports Delayed Intramural sports were set back in their schedule this week due to the wet fields. Coach Johnny Miller, director of the Intramurals, requests that all the team managers see him about playing off all games which were scheduled this week and were not played.

WOLFPACK LOSES TO HEEL ELEVEN

Game Played in Drizzle of Rain as 8,000 Fans Watch Old Rivals Perform

By BROCK SISELL The State College Wolfpack went down to defeat before a superior University of North Carolina team by a score of 6 to 0 last Saturday on Riddick Field. The loss for the Wolfpack marked the end of three successive ties which State had been held to by earlier foes.

Some 8,000 spectators shivered through the game, played on a raw afternoon. A cold drizzle fell during stages of the first half and added to the discomfort of the fans. Despite the muddy field and the raw weather, the game was free of loss of ball by fumbles by either side and the battling was hard and yet more friendly than one usually sees in a college game.

Tar Heels Score The Tar Heels' score came with less than a minute to play in the first half. Frankel, Tar Heel end, gave his team the break when he blocked McQuigg's punt and recovered for the Heels on the State 37-yard marker. Jackson passed to Frankel on the next play, who jumped high in the air to make a beautiful catch and record a 20-yard gain.

Shafer, on a reverse play, skirted his own left end on the next play and was (Please turn to page four)

FRESHMEN MEET BABY DEACS HERE

Two of North Carolina's Leading Football Teams Play on Riddick Field

In its last game of the season, the State College freshman team will meet the Baby Deacons of Wake Forest this afternoon at 3:30 on Riddick field.

The game will bring together two of the State's leading freshman football aggregations and the outcome will have important bearing on the Big Five yearling championship. One of the largest crowds ever to witness a freshman game at State is expected as both teams have brilliant players. The State frosh tied Duke frosh 6 to 6 while the Wake Forest gridlers defeated Duke 12-6 in a tough battle. The Techlets record this season is a win over E. C. T. C. and Davidson, a tie with Duke, and a loss to the Carolina Tar Babies.

The Wake Forest Yearlings are led in the backfield by Edens, former Oak Ridge prep school star. Kitchin, son of the president of Wake Forest, will also be a shining light in the backfield. In the Deacon line, Hardee and Swann are the mainstays.

State's backfield work will be led by Barden, a 195 pound youngster. Barden is fast, has all drive of men much larger than he, does the punting and is the best defensive back on the squad. Hayden, quarterback, and Blanchard, halfback, will also be in the backfield to give the Techlets power. In the Techlet line, Klaver, McIntyre, Cara, and Goode should show up good.

The Techlets did not practice on Monday and Tuesday of this week due to the inclement weather. Wednesday and Thursday Coach Bob Warren put the frosh through extensive drills in preparation for the game today.

Fresh Reserves Beat Raleigh The State frosh reserves slid to a 7 to 0 victory over the Raleigh high school team last Tuesday afternoon in a mud battle on Freshman field. The lone touchdown was made in the fourth period when reserve backs plunged for two fifteen yard gains after taking over the ball on the high school's 26 yard-line. Mason Bugg ripped through the line for the score, and Maurice Roy booted the extra point.

Pi Kappa Phi

Alumni, active chapter members and pledges of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity entertained at a delightful banquet and dance last Friday evening at the home of Tau chapter on Hillsboro Street.

State College and fraternity colors and beautiful arrangements of yellow and white chrysanthemums with colorful autumn leaves furnished decorations for the occasion.

During the banquet comedy skits were given and a trio, with guitar accompaniment, rendered several selections.

The young ladies who attended were: Misses Dorothy Farr, Dorothea Parker, Nancy Cox, Sadie Root, Suzanne Allen, Irene Little, Mary Meade Dameron, Weems, Virginia, Margaret Britt, Eula Bertha Warner, Annetta Thomas, Virginia Kennedy, Mary Nell Cummings, Evelyn Briggs, Anderson York, Martha Metcalf, Frances White, Kay Harris, Pickett Kendall, Mary Boone, Margaret Vass, E. Mac English, Mary Emma White, Edith Wyatt, Mabel York, and Elizabeth Brantley.

Chaperones for the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. John Coffey, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Rogers, and Mr. and Mrs. William Tally.

Sophomore Hop

The sophomore class has decided by a unanimous vote to sponsor an All College Dance. This is the first time a class has ever sponsored such a dance. The dance is to be held in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium on Friday, November 24. A popular orchestra will furnish music.

The object of the dance is to have non-fraternity as well as fraternity men along with faculty members to participate.

run out of bounds by Don Wilson. State's quarterback, on the State three-yard line. Three dives into the center of the line netted the Tar Heels only two yards, but on the next play G. Moore slid off left tackle for the Carolina score.

The third quarter was a rather listless affair, Carolina netting the only first down of the period.

Statistics

The Tar Heels dominated the offensive side of the battle with 13 first downs to three for the Wolfpack. In punting Carolina booted 11 times for a 33-yard average while State, with McQuage doing most of the kicking, booted the ball 13 times for a 34-yard average. Carolina completed four out of eight passes for gains of 60 yards, while State tried six passes but was unable to complete any.

Delta Sigma Pi

Members of Beta Delta Chapter, of the Delta Sigma Pi fraternity, entertained a number of prospective pledges last Friday evening.

The entertainment was held in Dr. R. O. Moen's home at 3202 Clark Avenue. The living room and dining room were thrown on suite for dancing and for serving of refreshments. The rooms were decorated with the fraternity colors.

The dancing was interrupted at various intervals during the evening while fruit punch and cake was served. Chaperones were: Dr. and Mrs. R. O. Moen and Professor C. B. Shulenberg.

Young ladies attending were: Misses Elizabeth Wade, Louise Kennedy, Muriel Blackwood, Ella Mae Noell, Suzanne Allen, Mildred Pittman, Elizabeth Layfield, Eleanor Layfield, Gwendolyn Crowder, Margaret Lester, Margaret Brewer, Dorothy Parker, and Elizabeth Stroud.

"Home-coming" Dance

The Frank Thompson gymnasium was the spot of gaiety last Saturday evening. The two State College honorary leadership organizations, Blue Key and Golden Chain, were sponsors of the 1933 Home-coming Dance given in honor of alumni, dads, and friends of the college.

The gymnasium was simply but attractively decorated. Jimmie Poyner and his State College Collegians furnished the music.

The dance terminated the week-end program of Home-coming and Dad's Day sponsored by the two fraternities and planned by a committee composed of W. P. Kanto, chairman, Bill New, Howard Stoney, Jimmy Barnhardt, Edgar Lowrance, Phil Stone, Romeo Lefort, and Rawlings Poole.

Chaperones for the dance was composed of former and honorary Golden Chain and Blue Key members.

PILOT MILLS MANAGER SPEAKS TO TEXTILE MEN

C. S. Tatum Addresses Semi-Monthly Meeting of Tompkins Textile Society

C. S. Tatum, manager of Pilot Mills, Raleigh, addressed the semi-monthly meeting of the Tompkins Textile Society at North Carolina State College last week.

Mr. Tatum spoke of the "New Deal" and its relation to the textile industry. He discussed the effect of the NRA, the cotton processing tax, and other recovery efforts upon the manufacturing and marketing of textile products.

Having just returned from an extended trip to Northern markets, Tatum described the trends which he had observed and stated that the President's radio address seemed to give the buyers more confidence in the ultimate success of the "New Deal."

The
CREAM OF THE CROP
IT'S Crowning Glory

INSURING FINE TOBACCO FOR future Lucky Strikes

Not many smokers have seen a fine tobacco plant in full bloom, so we show you this picture. Only a few of these fine plants are permitted to flower and to produce seed. These carefully selected seeds reproduce the following year the "Cream of the Crop" for your Lucky Strike, for tobacco must be grown from seed each year. This careful breeding of fine tobaccos explains why Luckies maintain the same fine, uniform quality from year to year—so round and firm and fully packed—free from loose ends.

ALWAYS the finest tobaccos
ALWAYS the finest workmanship
ALWAYS Luckies please!
