COLLEGE ACTORS GIVE NEW PLAYS IN NEW ORLEANS

Experimental Theatre Players Appear at Teachers of Speech Convention

FOUR STUDENTS MAKE TRIP WITH DIRECTOR

Following Productions, Paget Makes Speech and Answers Questions On New Type of Production; Many Express Desire to Try Out Plays; Numerous High School Directors Attend Performance Before Algiers Little Theatre Group

The Experimental Theatre Players of North Carolina State College appeared before the nineteenth annual convention of the National Association of Teachers of Speech at the Hotel Roosevelt, New Orleans, Louisiana, on December 27. The players appeared on the program at the special invitation of the National Association, being chosen from all the dramatic groups in the country for this honor.

Although three other sectional meetings were being held at the same time, an audience of over 200 directors of dramatics, representing every state in the United States, was present. The players presented an impromptu play entitled "Spy," the basic situation being presented just before the play began by Prof. T. Earle Johnson, director of dramatics at the University of Alabama. The leading role in the play was taken by H. D. Carpenter. Following the performance Professor Paget lectured and answered questions for over an hour on the production of both the extemporaneous and the impromptu plays. Many of those present expressed a desire to try out these new types of plays during the coming year.

That evening, the players crossed the Mississippi River to give a full evening of plays before the Algiers Little Theatre. The extemporaneous melodrama "Mountain Rattlesnake" was presented, and two impromptu plays, "Bad Blood" and "Men Play Bridge Like Women." Numerous high school directors of dramatics from the state of Louisiana attended.

The Algiers performance was assisted by Professor Johnson of Alabama, John McGee, director of the Birmingham Little Theatre, and several members of the Algiers Little Theatre.

FIFTY-SEVEN FLUNK OUT DURING FIRST SEMESTER

Engineering School Leads With 19, Closely Followed By 17 in Business School

Fifty-seven students were refused admittance at the January registration because of their failure to pass the required amount of work the past term. Of this group twelve were in the Agricultural School, four in Education, nineteen in Engineering, five in Textiles, and seventeen in the School of Science and Business.

Dean E. L. Cloyd, in commenting on these failures, stated that it was the policy of the faculty committee judging such cases to allow students that had failed more than fifty per cent of their work to return on probation if in the past they had shown an earnest effort toward scholarship and had but few cuts during the term. They were particularly liberal on freshman cases. However, students who had failed a majority of their subjects and had a large number of cuts were given no consideration.

PINE BURR INAUGURATES WEEKLY RADIO PROGRAM

In order to better acquaint the public with the kind of work done at State College, Pine Burr, local honorary society, has planned a program of radio talks over station WPTF each Wednesday afternoon.

The program will last ten weeks, and during this time student representatives from each of the schools will give some idea of the type of work carried on in their respective schools. The talks will be of the interview or discussion type.

The first broadcast is scheduled for Wednesday, January 16, when the architectural engineering department will sponsor the program.

Appear in New Orleans

MOST STUDENTS COME FROM N. C.

Over Eighty Per Cent of Student Body Here Come From North Carolina Homes

More than 80 per cent of the 1,802 students who are attending North Carolina State College this year come from North Carolina homes, a recent survey of completed fall registration figures reveals.

Only a little less than 20 per cent of the total student body comes from homes outside of North Carolina, but 28 States, the District of Columbia, two territories, and four foreign countries constitute State's cosmopolitan population.

New Jersey leads in the number of out-of-state enrollments with 53 students, followed by Virginia with 39, Pennsylvania with 37, and Massachusetts with 35.

Other states represented are: South Carolina with 20 students, Ohio 19, Connecticut 14, New York 13, Illinois 8, West Virginia 7, Maine 6, Georgia 6, Tennessee 5, Alabama 4, District of Columbia 4, Kentucky 3, New Hampshire 2, Maryland 2, Colorado 2, Florida 2, Michigan 2, Texas 2, Mississippi 1, Arkansas 1, Idaho 1, New Mexico 1, Missouri 1, Delaware 1, and Montana 1.

The territories and foreign countries represented at State College are India, Canada, France, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and Turkey.

Suspended

The first student to feel the sharp teeth of the newly inaugurated trial Council was Louis Mark, sophomore in high school teaching, who was late yesterday afternoon convicted of the violation of Article IV of the Constitution and by-Laws and suspended from school one term.

Cecil Brownie, sophomore in high school teaching, was also found guilty of violating Article IV and given a failing grade in zoology for the fall term.

Mark is a star boxer and plays center on the football team.

REPORTER FINDS SMITH BOYS TOP REST OF SCHOOL

Smiths Lead State Student Body With Twenty-five Family Representatives

BROWNS AND JOHNSONS TIE FOR SECOND PLACE

Joneses and Davises Tied for Third Place With Twelve Representatives Each; Writer Finds Modern Southern Plantation Could Be Established From Among Various Names Listed; Plantation and Tenants Described in Great Detail

By J. W. LAMBERSON

The reply "present" is given more times to the name Smith than any other family name among the 1,800 students answering roll calls at N. C. State College this year.

The Smiths lead the student body with 25 family representatives. The Browns and Johnsons are tied for second place with 17 each, and the Joneses and Davises are next with 12 each.

State College could easily establish a modern Southern plantation from among the varied names listed among its student body.

A Fortune to buy Land in Franklin, Martin, Wilson, or Durham counties is available. The home, with a West facade, could be quickly built on top of a Hill by several Crews of Hardy Carpenters.

The house could be made of Flint, Stone, or if made of Wood, could be painted Brown, Gray, or White. If made of brick, Black mortar could be used between the bricks. It would be surrounded by a Stone Wall or a Ficket fence.

A Long or short Hall could be used on each floor. The Childs room would be next to the three Chambers and in which he could play Chase, Ball, or Robin Hood.

And of course every house will have a Bug and a Roach or two, and perhaps a few Bats in the wine cellar.

Visitors would walk over a Shell walk, bounded by Thorn bushes, when approaching the house. After ringing the door Bell, he would be ushered into the Hall where a Parrot, in a Silver cage, would talk continually. An aged Winchester rifle would hang in the Hall.

Just below the house, on the Edge of a Green Meadow, are the Barnes, carefully built to protect the cattle from winter Gales.

Also on the farm are smaller houses for the Coachman, Baker, Butler, Gardner, Carpenter, Porter, and a dog house for the Shepherd dog trained to find a lost Lamb.

The chief crop would be Cotton and it would be hauled to the gin in a Ford truck.

Running through the Meadow is a Brook where a Crane is often seen. The Brook flows into a River where there is plenty of Bass and an old Beaver dam. A Barefoot boy would enjoy a Hunt in the Greenwoods where he might snare a Fox, imagining it a Moose or even a Buffalo.

A Park with a large Pool, where travelers could rest after traveling the Dusty highways would be a welcome addition.

Although Miles from a city the plantation would probably be visited by a Mass of visitors, including a Saint, Bishop, and a Batchelor, who would all Love the place and its many Comforts.

HEAVY WATER DISCOVERER TO SPEAK AT CHAPEL HILL

State College Members of Research Society Invited to Attend Lecture

State College faculty members of Sigma Xi honorary research society, have been invited to attend a meeting in Chapel Hill tomorrow night at which Dr. H. C. Urey, professor of physical chemistry at Columbia University will address the University of North Carolina chapter of the society.

Dr. Urey is the discoverer of heavy hydrogen and was the Nobel Prize winner in chemistry in 1934. The subject of his address will be "The Separation of Isotopes."

The meeting will be followed by a smoker in the Graham Memorial Building. There will be a small charge for this.

Anyone interested in the lecture has been extended an invitation by the State College members to attend. Officers of the State College club are: Dr. J. L. Stuckey, president; Dr. H. B. Shaw, vice president; and Dr. D. B. Anderson, secretary-treasurer.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT SAYS FUTURE CASES TO BE TRIED BY FIVE SENIOR COUNCILMEN

SIX PROFESSORS RECEIVE HONORS

Appointment Considered As Distinction Among Engineering Faculty of Colleges

Six members of the engineering faculty of N. C. State College have been appointed to National committees in the Society for Promotion of Engineering Education.

The Society is a national organization engaged in sponsoring engineering education in the colleges and universities of the country.

Colonel J. W. Harrelson, administrative head of State College, said he was pleased with the appointment of so many of the State College faculty on the committees. Their appointment is considered as a mark of national recognition and distinction among the engineering faculty of colleges and universities of the United States.

The State College faculty men, appointed by C. C. Williams, president of the University of Iowa and president of the S.P.E.E., are as follows: Prof. Fred B. Wheeler, member of the technical institute committee; Prof. L. L. Vaughan, member of the sections and branches committee; Prof. H. A. Fisher, on the mathematics committee; Prof. W. H. Browne, on the committee of electrical engineering; Prof. J. M. Foster, a member of the membership committee; and Dr. E. E. Randolph, on the chemical engineering committee.

The object of the society is the promotion of the highest ideals in the conduct of engineering education with respect to administration, curriculum, and teaching work, and the maintenance of a high professional standard among its members.

Membership in the society today totals over two thousand engineering instructors. Membership from the State of North Carolina is listed at 31, of which number 15 are members of the engineering faculty at State College.

AG SCHOOL FROSH LIKE FACULTY ADVISER PLAN

Adviser Assigned Every Five Students to Discuss Studies and Personal Problems

A system of faculty advisers has been established in the School of Agriculture at N. C. State College this fall that is proving very successful in dealing with freshmen students of the school.

Dr. Z. P. Metcalf, director of instruction in the Agricultural School, is the originator of the plan, whereby each faculty member of the Agricultural School has four or five freshmen students who come to him at regular intervals to discuss their personal and scholastic problems.

Through this system of individual guidance a number of freshmen have been assisted in many of their minor difficulties this fall and the abolition of these difficulties has enabled them to do better work in their classes.

Several freshmen, when questioned concerning this system, commended it highly, giving personal instances where aid had been rendered them by their adviser.

The advisers were all heartily in favor of the system and expressed their pleasure in being of assistance to the new men.

Dr. Metcalf hopes that his system will become in general use among all the schools at State College.

Some of the schools at State hold scheduled meetings of their freshmen under a professor who is termed their adviser, but their discussions are general and mostly concern their college work and difficulties.

DR. KOO TO PRESENT SERIES OF LECTURES

Noted Chinese Lecturer Will Talk On Conditions in Far Eastern Countries

Dr. T. Z. Koo, well known Chinese lecturer, has been secured to deliver a series of lectures here January 27-29, according to E. S. King, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., the organization sponsoring his visit.

Dr. Koo will speak Sunday afternoon, January 27, in Pullen Hall on "The Situation and Problems of the Pacific Area." Other subjects will be announced later.

The lecture series by Dr. Koo is being scheduled this year with the cooperation and approval of the Public Lectures Committee.

Cadets' Queen

MISS ETHEL ROWLAND

Cadet Colonel John Stanko has chosen Miss Rowland, Raleigh, as "Queen" of the State College R. O. T. C. regiment. As "Queen of the Regiment," Miss Rowland will lead the eighth annual Military Ball when it is held at the college this spring.

House of Student Government Votes Overwhelmingly to Supplant Entire Council at Trials With Seniors

OTHER COUNCILMEN TO BE ALLOWED TO SIT IN ON ALL STUDENT CASES

Brought Out That Seniors Are More Capable of Handling Cases Than Are Underclassmen; Will Also Tend to Do Away With Wishy-Washy Decisions Due to Politically Ambitious Sophomores and Juniors; House Also Votes to Establish Proctor System Permanently; Knight Brings Up Proposal Concerning Senior Jury

For the second time this year, the State College student government has passed legislation which will have a permanent and far-reaching effect on the student body.

Meeting in session Monday night for the first time this year, the House of Student Government voted 22 to 5 to make a sweeping change in the system of trials conducted at this institution. Heretofore when a student was brought up before the Student Council, that entire body had a vote in saying whether or not the student was guilty and in passing sentence on him if he were found guilty. Under the plan adopted at the meeting, only seniors will have the privilege of voting, although the remainder of the councilmen will have a chance to voice their opinions in the case. As there is a senior from each of the five schools, there will be five votes cast, a simple majority being needed to convict. As Marshall Gardner is president of the Council and a senior, his duty will be solely to preside, and E. L. Johnson was named to take his place on the Council during trials. The idea of a five man jury was presented the group by Gene night, editor of THE TECHNICIAN, who stated that the system was in effect at Tulane University and that it had worked most successfully at that institution.

The reasons brought out at the meeting for the new system were that seniors were a more capable group of handling such cases, and that it would eliminate from trials the possibility of underclassmen voting a certain way due to political ambitions, they not wishing to have a record marred by the way they voted at a trial.

Prior to the adoption of the system, the House voted to adopt the Proctor System, which has been in effect on the campus now for two terms. The Honor System was discarded altogether, because, in the opinion of student government men, it was not practical. The vote by the House members for this system makes it a permanent fixture, unless it is abrogated by some succeeding legislative body.

Council Tries Students received its baptism yesterday when three cases were brought up for cheating. Up until then no student had been expelled from school for cheating.

It was brought out at the meeting and generally agreed that the system of allowing only seniors to pass judgment was a good one and that it would be more strict than the old system of allowing the entire Council to vote. One of the objections raised was that the seniors might be too strict on students on trial. Advocates of the system stated, however, that one of the duties of this jury will be to give a fair hearing but that if a student were found definitely guilty of willful and premeditated cheating, he would more than likely be expelled. This, they explained, would cause the school to have a much better name outside of the school.

"FLU" CONFINES MANY TO COLLEGE INFIRMARY

State College has had its share of victims during the past week of a statewide epidemic of what has been termed a mild form of "flu" a total of 40 students being confined to beds in the infirmary this week because of the epidemic.

At present there are twelve "flu" patients in the infirmary. These are J. W. Foster, Jr., L. W. Boney, E. B. Leavitt, Dan Holler, T. E. Spencer, R. L. Goldston, B. H. Biggs, H. M. Johnson, F. S. Martin, W. W. Lambrecht, C. J. Fleming, Jr., and Jesse Lites.

WOOTEN ACCEPTS POSITION IN AAA

Civil Professor Granted Leave of Absence to Go Into Government Work

Louis E. Wooten, associate professor of civil engineering, has been granted a leave of absence to accept a position as regional engineer for the land policy section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Professor Wooten will be associated with Dr. Carl C. Taylor, regional director of the land policy section, and will work in North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee. He will be in charge of engineering activities connected with the transferring of lands in the land planning section of the AAA.

The new AAA engineer, a native of Pitt County, is a graduate of State College in the class of 1917 and has been a member of the State College faculty since 1920.

Before coming to State he had engaged in engineering work in Pennsylvania and with the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey. Professor Wooten has also served as a member of the State Highway Commission and has taught at the Yale University summer surveying camps. He served 18 months in the World War as a Lieutenant of engineers.

In announcing Professor Wooten's leave, Colonel J. W. Harrelson, administrative head of State College, stated that he regretted the loss of one of the valuable members of the teaching staff, but the salary increase offered him made it unfair to withhold the leave he requested.

ENGINEERS TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR CELEBRATION

Annual Fair to Be Held First Week in April; Parade Abolished As Feature

A thorough discussion of the Engineers' Fair will be held at the next meeting of the Engineers' Council. The meeting is to be held at an early date.

As usual, the Fair will take place about the first of April, and keen competition among the various engineering departments for the various prizes is expected.

The chairmen of the several committees will present their budgets at the meeting.

At an earlier meeting the Council voted to abolish the parade as a part of the Fair this year. The money formerly used for this purpose will be devoted to staging a more elaborate fair on the campus.

Senior Rings

Mayer Behrman, representative of the Star Engraving Company, will be at State College on Monday, January 14, to deliver senior rings which were ordered during the fall term.

The rings may be secured at the Y. M. C. A. from 4 to 6 p.m., Claude Carrow, a member of the committee, announced.

THE SOLONS' PROBLEM

Before the 1935 North Carolina General Assembly leaves Raleigh this spring, they will have heard one of the strongest pleas ever made by the exponents of education for increased appropriations.

While there seems to be every indication that there will be some increase in the amount of appropriations, it will still fall far short of the needed and demanded amount. The Consolidated University is calling for an increase of 25 per cent. over the past two years and is offering an argument for the increase which cannot be cast lightly aside by the Legislature.

The sales tax was inaugurated during the 1933 session as a means of raising funds for education, yet less money than during the two years preceding that session was handed out to educate the young people of this state.

As a result of the drastic curtailment measures which were passed by the 1933 Legislature, not only schools but other State supported branches suffered. The once "good roads" program which caused North Carolina to stand among those in the front has declined until it is estimated that it will take an appropriation of at least $10,000,000 a year for the next two years to get the roads back in the splendid condition of five or six years ago.

They will likely go wanting, because the North Carolina solons will never agree to appropriate that much for the maintenance of the roads. There now exists a fight between those advocates of a better roads program and those of the public school system as to how certain types of money derived from the sale of automobile license plates and from the gasoline road tax should be apportioned.

Those in charge of the State's highway system do not wish to see the diversion of these funds which are secured directly from the automobile owners to any other branch, while the education advocates are clamouring for some of these funds.

Taking a long time view of the situation, there will be people to educate even when the highway system has entirely crumbled away, and there are but a few who would scorn education as one of the most important institutions in the world.

A state or a nation can build the most elaborate system of highways and public works in the world, and by neglecting its public schools, all of its efforts will go for naught and its people will lapse into a state of mental decay.

Probably one of the reasons why North Carolina has never had its share of national leaders is because of the comparatively poor educational facilities which it has provided for its children. The conditions have improved much since the time of Governor Aycock, but this state is still far down the list educationally, only a few of the other Southern states ranking below it.

If we are to forge ahead and be able to assume a place of leadership among the other states, we must pay more attention to our schools.

All three units of the Consolidated University have suffered in the past two years as a result of the curtailments. Professors have had overloaded classes and at the same time are receiving less money than ever before.

Yet they have carried on with a minimum amount of complaint on their part, and are doing a commendable job of their duties. It is to be hoped that when the matter of appropriations for the Greater University is brought up before the North Carolina solons, that group will grant a sizeable increase so that the three units may carry on their work with an unimpaired efficiency.

Unless there is a sizeable increase the work at the units will go on in much the same manner as it has in the past two years, overcrowded classrooms, curtailed research work, and a group of more or less discontented professors.

It is hoped that something can be done to continue boxing here, as it has always proved a popular sport.

MORE MATURE JUDGMENT PREDOMINATES

The old system of trying cases before the entire Student Council has gone the way of the now extinct Honor System.

Under a new plan adopted by the House of Student Government Monday night, hereafter students brought before the Council for the violation of college rules will be tried by the Senior members of that body only, although the undergrads will be allowed to sit in on the trial and give their opinions in the case. There will be just five votes cast, these by the five seniors of the Council.

The calm surface of this campus may remain untroubled by the decision of the House, but an eventful step has been taken and one which will be felt many times in coming years. It is, without a doubt, one of the most far-reaching and thorough moves that has ever been made at this institution.

It is a well-known and generally accepted fact that seniors, having been here longer than the rest of the classes, are the ones most fitted and capable of trying cases. Their judgment should be more mature and, in addition, most of the senior Councilmen have served in that branch before and are well acquainted with the work. They have no further political ambitions, as might have some of the other members of the body, and they are more interested in the work of student government here than are most of the undergrads.

During trials, they will be the ones most disinterested in the outcome of the case, and as a result can give a fairer decision. It is true that the judgment meted out by this group will be more strict than if it had been meted out by the entire Council, but in so doing, they are upholding one of the primary purposes of student government. If a governing body such as this is to be a lax, wishy-washy group, it would be better for the school if the entire group would hand in their resignations and turn the reins back to the faculty. To be effective, student government must have some teeth in it.

The move will be criticized by many on the campus, and perhaps some of the criticism will be justified. However, if anyone who might wish to vent his wrath on that body will take his objections to the Council members instead of airing it around, some plan might be worked out between the parties involved which would make for a better set-up than now exists.

The student government here knows it, and a large number of the students know that there is a great deal of room for improvement in the governing body. The former have done their part in attempting improvements and are still in quest of a better system at State College, but there are bound to be ideas among some of the remainder of the student body which might work effectively if they were attempted.

There is no need in getting wrought up by any move which the student government might make without first considering the purpose for which they are supposed to serve.

This is not a defense of the Council here, but an appeal to every intelligent, thinking student, an appeal to use some of the common sense of which practically everyone is supposed to have at least a small amount.

OUR MODERNISTIC MURALS

Since the four modernistic murals were placed in the D. H. Hill library, there has arisen a flood of criticism concerning the appropriateness of these paintings in a building constructed along Colonial lines.

THE TECHNICIAN does not intend to pose as an art critic, but there are certain things which even the layman with an unpracticed eye may see and place a value on. It is almost generally agreed about this campus that the paintings are not in accord with the quiet, restful atmosphere of the library, and that even then, they do not represent the best of the more modernistic type of painting. A mural is generally supposed to blend in with the surroundings of the room, but it would be hard to find a more violent clash in colors and setting than is found in the McLean murals and the rotunda of the D. H. Hill library.

The job of painting the murals was completed in about six months, and consequently the work being done under the pressure of time does not represent the very best in the artist, and at the same time gives an impression of hastily done work.

Mr. McLean has followed out the idea of the modernistic painters, but in so doing he has given to State College a group of murals which would be more appropriate in the basement of some of our buildings.

PEACE POLL

Within a short time ballots will be mailed to State College students by the Literary Digest in determining their opinion on the question of peace.

This college along with 150 others was chosen to sense the trend of undergraduate opinion as to how they stand in regards to the next war, if any, in which this country might become involved.

The questions asked should draw out enough opinion from the American undergraduates as might be necessary in order to see just what the youth of the country thinks about the ancient and dishonorable practice of men bearing arms against each other over some grudge which might have been fought with nothing more than words.

Each student upon receiving his ballot is urged to give the questions a great deal of thought before he makes his answers.

It seems a pity that there was not included in the list a question asking the students what they think of compulsory military training in certain types of colleges and universities.

AERO MEN WORK ON WIND TUNNEL

Tunnel to Be Used in Experimental Work Required of Aeronautical Engineers

A student-built wind tunnel is nearing completion in the aeronautical laboratory of N. C. State College, and will be used in the experimental work required of aeronautical students. Lack of funds prevented the purchasing of this needed equipment, but with FERA and faculty assistance the department has been able to build its own experimental equipment.

Prof. J. M. Foster, head of the aeronautical department, stated that the student-built wind tunnel would be as serviceable as any that could be purchased.

The new tunnel is a modern return type with a throat that can be adjusted as an open throat, closed throat, or a semi-closed throat type of wind tunnel. Aeronautical students with this new piece of laboratory equipment will have the opportunity to make tests under three different wind conditions and can compare their results.

The same motor, propeller and wire balances that were first used with the original tunnel are now part of the new one. The original wind tunnel, also student-built, had been used to obtain experimental data since the establishment of the aeronautics department at State College in 1920.

The new tunnel, constructed of plywood and sheet metal, has a smooth inside surface which offers little friction to the air flow and tends to reduce the turbulence in the air stream. The use of the return type wind tunnel will result in an increase in the air speed and will assist in obtaining experimental data on high speed tests.

FERA students in the aeronautical engineering department are being used on this project whenever possible for the purpose of giving them beneficial experiences in aeronautic construction.

A reporter for a metropolitan daily asked a number of persons on the street, "What is the biggest buy for a nickel?" Two-thirds promptly replied, "A telephone call."

Americans throughout the country evidently agree with this judgment of value received from the telephone. For each day they hold more than 57,000,000 conversations over Bell System wires.

Year after year Bell System planning extends the telephone's reach —increases its speed— makes it more convenient, more valuable to everybody.

STATE QUINTETS PLAY W. FOREST TEAMS TONIGHT

Varsity and Freshman Teams of Two Schools Meet at Raleigh Auditorium Tonight

CONTEST IS HOME GAME FOR WAKE FOREST TEAM

Dr. Sermon Loses Only One of His Last Year's Basketball Regulars To Season's Play; Tonight's Game is First One for Terrorists in This Year's Big Five Competition; State Frosh and Varsity Teams Out for Victory After Losing to Wofford Last Week

The State College Red Terror basketball team will meet Wake Forest tonight at about 8:15 in the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium. The varsity contest will be preceded by a contest between the freshman quintets of the two schools at 7 o'clock. Tonight's game is counted as a home game for Wake Forest, but State students will be admitted for twenty-five cents if they carry their registration cards to identify them at the door.

The game tonight is State College's second game of the present season and it marks their entrance into this year's Big Five competition. The Red Terrorists lost their first game of the year to the Wofford Terriers by the close score of 34-37. The freshmen also lost their game with Raleigh High School last Saturday night.

Wake Forest has played two games in Big Five competition, with Duke and Carolina. They lost both of these games. The Baptist quintet has also played two other games with Y. M. C. A. basketball teams in this section.

The Red Terrorists have practically the same team they used in most of the games last year. The only regular lost to them this year is Bob McQuage, captain and guard on the team last year. Dr. Ray Sermon, basketball mentor, has three experienced forwards to rely upon in Charlie Aycock, Woody Lambeth, and Leroy Jay. Stuart Flythe holds down the center position, and Captain Rex plays his regular guard position. Coach Sermon used Hockfield and Dalrymple at the other guard position in the Wofford game last week. Dalrymple was a star on the freshman cage team of last year. Hockfield played basketball his freshman year and then left school for a year.

Last year the State quintet hung up a good record, the high point of their season being the defeat of the strong University of South Carolina team in the first round of competition in the Southern Conference basketball tournament in Raleigh. They stood high in the final accounting last year, and with four regulars back this year, they stand to repeat. A large crowd of Raleigh fans is expected to view them in their game with Wake Forest tonight.

The freshman team of this year, as are all teams at the beginning of the season, is a comparatively unknown quantity. They were beaten last week by three field goals which the local high school team ran up against them in the last minute and a half of the game, and the frosh will be trying hard for a win against the Wake frosh in their preliminary game tonight.

N. C. STATE WRESTLERS GET READY FOR MATCH

Dave Morrah to Coach Matmen This Year in Absence of Professor W. N. Hicks

With its first match on January 19, the State College wrestling team has started its regular afternoon drills under the guidance of Dave Morrah, 118-pound Southern Conference champion of last year.

Morrah and Carl Bernhardt were elected as co-captains of this year's team, but when Coach W. N. Hicks was forced to give up the tutoring of the grapplers due to his heavy scholastic schedule Morrah filled the gap. It was thought at first that Morrah might enter the Southern Conference Tournament, but he has recently decided not to do so.

Among the lettermen returning are Bernhardt, Kerr, Croon, and Furr. These will be the nucleus of the team for this year, while several promising candidates up from last year's freshman team are expected to fill in the other weights. E. W. Cooper, another letterman, will be out for about half the season with an injury.

The tentative schedule is as follows: January 19, V. M. I., there; January 26, U. N. C., here; February 2, V. P. I., there; February 8, W. and L., here; February 15, Duke, here; February 22, Davidson, there; March 1 and 2, Southern Conference Tournament, place not yet decided.

This year's team will have a hard job to come up to last year's team. On that team there were two Southern Conference champions and two runners-up. Three of these wrestlers will not participate this year.

Leads Basketball

Ray Rex, big guard from Decatur, Ill., is captain of the State basketball team this year. Rex is amazingly fast on the court for one who weighs 215 pounds and is an accurate long-distance shot.

WOFFORD DEFEATS NCS RED TERRORS

Highs Score Six Points in Last Ninety Seconds of Play to Beat State Frosh

Both the varsity and freshman quintets of State College were defeated in their opening games played here last Saturday night in the Frank Thompson gymnasium. The Red Terrorists were upset by the Wofford Terriers, 37-34, while Raleigh High defeated the freshmen 21-16. Both games were closely fought contests.

In the varsity game, the South Carolina team took the lead for most of the time. Nine minutes before the end of the play, the score was tied 31 all, but Wofford scored two field goals and a free throw before State again scored on a free toss.

The Wofford team was really a smoothly operating team during the first half of the game. Soon after the game was started, they had run the score up to 13-4 in their favor, and at the end of the half, the tally was 23-10 in favor of the Terriers.

Robertson Stars
Roy Robertson was the spark plug of the Wofford scoring scores. He played one of the forward positions for the visitors. When about the middle of the second half, he fell, hitting his head on the floor and had to leave the game, the loss was felt immediately. It was while he was out of the game that State knotted the count 31 all. But Robertson was rushed back into the game in time to help his teammates run up their final score and victory.

Leroy Jay and Charlie Aycock were the leading players for the Terrorists. Aycock was high scorer for State with eleven points, while Jay was next with eight. Robertson and Norrell, Wofford center, led their team in scoring with ten and fourteen points respectively.

This was the Terror's first game of the season. Tonight they play Wake Forest in the City Auditorium here. It was Wofford's first victory of the three games they played in this State during the past week-end. The Terriers lost to Davidson and Duke on preceding nights.

Frosh Game
The Raleigh High School quintet rang up three field goals in the last ninety seconds of the game to give them their victory over the State College freshman team last Saturday in a game which preceded the varsity game with Wofford.

Both teams had difficulty in scoring during the first half, each side trying frequent shots that came close to the basket, but missed. When the end of the first half came, the score was tied five all. However, all during the second period, the scoring was hot and heavy with first one team and then the other having a short lead.

State freshmen were leading 16-15 a minute and a half before the game ended. But Mangum, Fuller, and Page of the local high school team each scored a goal to put the team ahead and win the game for them.

Satterfield of the State Frosh and Mangum of the highs scored six points each to tie for individual high scoring in the game. Keating played a nice game at guard for the Frosh. Wood, high school guard, also did some good work at guard.

FARRAR TO PLAY IN LINE ON 1935 FOOTBALL TEAM

When Coach Hunk Anderson starts winter football drills Monday, he plans to shift Venice Farrar back to his former position in the line. Anderson thought that Farrar would make a good backfield player, and used him at full-back and halfback in State's past season. In that position, Farrar proved one of the Wolfpack's best players.

However, Anderson thinks Farrar will be more serviceable to the 1935 grid team playing at either a guard or a tackle position, and when drills start Monday, the 195 pound player will be back in the line again.

ALL CLUBS ENTER IN INTRAMURALS

Dean LeFort and Dr. Estes Plan To Enter Faculty Team in Independent League

PIKAS AND FIRST SOUTH LEAD POINT STANDING

Every Dormitory and Fraternity Signs Up to Enter Teams in Winter Sports

Every fraternity and every dormitory club has entered a team in both basketball and handball for the winter term intramurals. With this large number of entries the two intramural sports for the second term should be a success.

Mr. Miller has developed a new wrinkle for the Independent Club league in winter term intramurals. During the winter term basketball and handball are the intramural sports and Mr. Miller's plan is for any student or any group of students to get up a team; they will give themselves a name and enter the Independent Club league. The only qualification will be that the members of the team are regularly enrolled students of the college and do not play on the varsity and freshmen squads or on a Dormitory or Fraternity league team.

Two good examples of Independent Club league teams are the two squads which Dr. Estes and Dean Laforet, members of the faculty, expect to get up. These teams can be composed of not only the faculty members but of any members of the student body. This will give every student an opportunity to play basketball and handball.

Mr. Miller will make out a schedule for the Independent Club league games as soon as enough entries are given to him. Leave your entry with Mr. Miller so he can enter your team in the schedule.

Miller also announced recently that the High School Basketball Tournament which has been held by State College for the past ten years, will be discontinued for this year. It would be an impossibility to house the visiting teams in our dormitories due to the crowded conditions.

Intramurals for the fall term were very successful. In the Dormitory League Third Seventh won the intramural football with 235 points, First 1911 second with 185 points, and Fourth Dorm third with 140 points. In horse-shoes Fourth Dorm was first with 140 points, First South second with 110 points. In the swimming meet Third 1911 was first with 120 1/2 points, First South second with 91 1/2 points, and Second South third with 89 points.

In the Fraternity League the Pikas came out first in the intramural football with 240 points, S.P.E.'s second with 190 points, and Sigma Nus third with 150 points. In horse-shoes the Theta Phi's were first with 140 points, Pikas second with 110 points, and the Sigma Nus third with 85 points. In the swimming meet the S.P.E.'s won first place with 124 points, K.A.'s second with 105 points, and the Sigma Nus third with 93 points.

The total number of points scored by each fraternity and by each dormitory during the fall term intramurals was as follows:

Fraternities	Points
Pi Kappa Alpha	423
Sigma Phi Epsilon	374
Sigma Nu	329
Theta Phi	285
Kappa Alpha	265
Lambda Chi Alpha	244
Delta Sigma Phi	210
Pi Kappa Phi	180
Kappa Sigma	175
Alpha Kappa Phi	164
Phi Kappa Tau	155
Alpha Gamma Rho	135
Sigma Pi	130
Alpha Lambda Tau	125

Dormitory League	Points
First South	356 1/2
Third Seventh	302
Third 1911	285 1/2
Fourth Dorm	255
First 1911	245
Second South	209
Second 1911	173
First Watauga	165
Fifth Dorm	125
Sixth Dorm	115
Second Seventh	110
Y. M. C. A.	70
Third Watauga	25
Second Watauga	0

The 1935 edition of the State College freshman wrestling team will make its debut here today at 4:30 by meeting Durham High School in Frank Thompson gym.

Jim Fortune, a student who has been coaching the yearlings, lists the following men as outstanding and as probable starters: 115 pounds—J. A. Meadows; 125—Joe Willis; 135—R. N. Newsome; 145—M. C. Webber; 155—C. B. Shimer; 165—G. W. Weitauff; and unlimited, Sam Jones.

Sport Glimpses

By BILL GOAD

No material. And that is why boxing may be discontinued at State after the fight with South Carolina tomorrow night. It seems to me that in a school of over 1,900 students, there would be at least eight men who are good enough for intercollegiate boxing. All members of the football team have been instructed to report for winter football practice Monday leaving vacancies in the 165, 175, and unlimited classes. Why don't some of you fellows who have won intramurals or even sparred a little before, come on down and show Coach Johnson and Doc Sermon that we really can have a boxing team here.

The Basketball Club goes into action down at the City Auditorium tonight with the Wake Forest Demon Deacons. This will be State's first Big Five game although Wake Forest has already dropped two. And if Charlie Aycock and Leroy Jay start getting hot like they did last year, it looks as though the Deacs will drop another.

I'm looking for Captain Ray Rex to do some nice shooting tonight, and for the remainder of the season as well. Rex always has been a crack shot from out in the middle of the court. Rex was named on several second string All-Southern teams last year, and if he keeps up the good work, he'll probably land a first string job this season.

Mr. Johnnie Miller has a plenty good idea of the independent intramural league. Any five boys can place a team in the intramural league regardless of whether they are members of the same club or society. The only requirement is that he has not made a varsity letter, and he is a duly enrolled student of the college. The faculty is planning to enter a team in the league also.

And now for the shorts. . . . Leroy Jay came out and called Ray Rex Raymond in the game last Friday night. Well, I've heard Rex called lots of things but that's the first time I've heard him called Raymond. . . . Joe Ryneska is developing into a plenty good boxer, he fights Saturday night against South Carolina. . . . State's terror in the ring will not be in there though. Hal Region has been advised by the doctor to stay out of the ring this season. . . . Coach Johnson took several of his pups over to Duke last week to see the South Carolina team in action. . . . All came back with smiles on their faces. . . . Freshman wrestlers have a meet with Durham High down at the gym this afternoon. Let's all turn out and give the freshmen our support because Jim Fortune has a mighty good team this year.

BOXING SITUATION BECOMES SERIOUS

Anderson's Spring Football Drills Cause Severe Losses to Varsity Ring Team

DISCUSSION TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK BY COUNCIL

Faculty Athletic Council to Consider Advisability of Canceling Schedule

Coach Hunk Anderson's requirement that all football players come out for spring football drills Monday will handicap the varsity boxing team very seriously. This requirement means that the star boxers in the 165 pound, 175 pound, and unlimited class will be lost to the team. This loss will be such a great handicap to the ring team that discussion of the advisability of even trying to have the team is being carried on.

A discussion of the boxing situation will take place before the Faculty Athletic Council at a yet undetermined date next week. It seems that those on one side of the question think that if the team carries out the present schedule under such a serious handicap, the operation of the boxing team may entail a rather severe loss to the athletic funds, and under such conditions, it would probably be better to cancel the boxing schedule after the meet with the University of South Carolina Saturday night.

The boxers have had many things to dishearten them before the matches have even started, but the prevailing sentiment among those on the team seems to be that the schedule ought to be carried out even if it does prove a losing one for State College.

In addition to the losses of those out for football, there came an announcement yesterday that Louis Marks will not be able to box in the unlimited class against South Carolina tomorrow night.

Unless the students of State College prove very conclusively that they want boxing this year, the sport will more than likely be discontinued at the college for this year at least. The boxers are in serious need of material, and more men must come out before the season can be carried on.

If the varsity cancels their schedule, the freshman team will cancel theirs also, as they have practically the same schedule as the varsity. The loss of this sport to the school would be felt keenly. The matches at the school last year drew a large following of fight fans both from the school and from the city of Raleigh.

Most students of State College will await with keen interest the decision the Faculty Athletic Council makes on the boxing situation when they meet next week.

SWIMMERS' TIME TRIALS TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

First of Ten Match Schedule to Be Held on Saturday Afternoon of Next Week

State College's swimming team today wound up their first week of drill after the Christmas holidays. Time trials for the various positions on the team will be held on Tuesday of next week.

F. N. Thompson, a diver, has been elected captain of this year's team. He, Holoman, and Whitmarsh are the only lettermen that are back this year. Whitmarsh made his letter year before last, but wasn't out last year.

The team started their practice on November 1 and have been coming along steadily since that time. Time trials will be held Wednesday, January 16. The first meet will be here on Sunday afternoon, January 19, with Fort Monroe.

The tentative schedule for the team is as follows: January 19, Fort Monroe, here; February 14, Presbyterian College, there; February 15, Clemson, there; February 16, Furman, there; February 21, Richmond "Y," there; February 22, Fort Monroe, there; February 23, William and Mary, there; March 1 and 2, Southern Conference Tournament at Duke; March 8, Duke, here; March 9, Clemson, here.

TECH PUGS MEET S. C. IN COLUMBIA

Meet in Columbia Probably The Only Meet of Season for State Boxers

Hopes for the already dimmed outlook for the State College varsity boxing team were further dimmed yesterday with the announcement of the suspension of Louis Mark, star heavyweight, from school for one term.

Mark was scheduled to fight tomorrow night when the State College ringmen open their season with the University of South Carolina pugs in Columbia. This in all probabilities will be their last fight of the season.

Captain Jack Fabri in the 155-pound class, will probably lead the weakest team in the history of boxing at this school. Fabri is the only letter man on the team, and the only fighter who has had any previous experience in the ring as a varsity scrapper. The team will have a strong football flavor. Joe Ryneska, 175, and Louis Mark, heavy-heavyweight. Penland and Ryneska were members of last year's freshman team, Hudson fought as a freshman two years ago, while Tuttle, a senior, and Johnson, a sophomore, will be taking their first fling at the game.

Injuries and sickness have hurt State's chances. Garlington, best bet for the 115, is out with the flu, and Allen Nease and Alex Regdon have doctor's orders to stay out of the ring this year. Turner Billooly and Harry Beddos, members of last year's team, are not in action this year, although both are eligible. Coach Johnson, Ajax Regdon and student manager Bill Goad will accompany the team.

is as follows: January 19, Fort Monroe, here; February 14, Presbyterian College, there; February 15, Clemson, there; February 16, Furman, there; February 21, Richmond "Y," there; February 22, Fort Monroe, there; February 23, William and Mary, there; March 1 and 2, Southern Conference Tournament at Duke; March 8, Duke, here; March 9, Clemson, here.

CAPTAIN VENABLE ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR RIFLE TEAM

College Rifle Enthusiasts Turn Out for Team in Competitive Firing for Places

PLANS CALL FOR TEAM TO GO ON TWO TRIPS

Matches Are Probable at Davidson, Clemson, Wofford, and With V. P. I. and V. M. I.; Team May Meet Louisiana State University Shooters If Latter Come Through Raleigh; Sharpshooters Will Also Engage in Series of Matches By Mail As They Did Last Year

Captain B. W. Venable, coach of the State College rifle team has gotten well started on the team's schedule for this year. The schedule lists several shoulder to shoulder matches, and probably two trips for the State marksmen. Of course in addition to this, the team will fire a series of matches by mail with other schools having R.O.T.C. units.

According to Captain Venable, although the State team is getting new men on the team rather slowly, those who are coming out have turned out to be of more than average proficiency. Another great help to the rifle team is that it happens to be the one college varsity sport for which freshmen are eligible.

Captain Venable has tentatively planned two trips for the team. One of these will be to Davidson for a match with the Davidson rifle team. On this trip, there is a possibility that the team may go on to South Carolina for matches with the teams of Clemson and Wofford. The other trip would be to Virginia for matches with V. P. I. and V. M. I.

Men interested in the rifle team have been engaged in a series of trouts for competitive scores for some time. The team will be selected on the basis of these scores.

The matches by mail are carried out by the members of the team firing on the range for scores which are mailed to the school with which the competition is carried on. Neither team knows who won until they receive the reports of the scores of the other team.

These postal matches will begin this month, and they will continue until about the last of March. Although probably not as exciting as shoulder to shoulder matches, they provide competition when actual meets cannot be arranged.

Captain Venable says that it is rather definite that the college rifle team will fire a return match here with Davidson. There is also a strong possibility that a match may be arranged between State and the Louisiana State University team. The Louisiana team is planning to make a trip through this section during their season, and if they do, the match with State will probably take place.

This is a better schedule in point of arranged matches than the rifle team has had in the past few years, and all the signs point to a successful season for the State College sharpshooters.

Mid-Winter Dances

W. F. Greenwood, president of the Interfraternity Council, announced yesterday that the Council had secured Gene Kardos and his Victor Recording Orchestra to play for the Mid-winter dances to be held Friday and Saturday, February 1 and 2.

The Kardos orchestra is well-known in the midwest and north. Last summer his orchestra played at Hotel Stevens in Chicago. Only recently his orchestra concluded successful engagements on the Harvard and Yale campuses.

The Mid-winters will consist of three dances, a Friday night dance, Saturday afternoon tea dance, and a Saturday night dance. The dance committees and sponsors for the Mid-winters will be announced later.

Freshman Teas

The social committee of the State College Woman's Club will assist Colonel J. W. Harrelson in giving a series of teas to freshmen of the college. The first of the series of teas will be held Sunday afternoon January 13 from four to five-thirty in the college Y. M. C. A.

Invitations have been extended to several groups of freshmen and young ladies. Each Sunday afternoon a different group of freshmen and their guests will gather at the Y. M. C. A. for a social hour. It is Colonel Harrelson's hope to establish thereby a tradition which will be a happy memory in the life of each freshman.

Dean and Mrs. E. L. Cloyd will be host and hostess for the first tea on Sunday afternoon. They will be assisted by Assistant Dean and Mrs. Romeo LeFort, and Carter Williams, president of Golden Chain.

A trio under the direction of Major Kutschinski will provide music throughout the afternoon on Sunday.

DeMolay Dance

One of the most enjoyable dances of the New Year was the annual mid-winter dance given by the Raleigh Chapter Order of DeMolay last Friday evening in the ballroom of the Woman's Club. The dance was given in honor of the collegiate social contingent of Raleigh.

The dance was formal and music was furnished by Jimmy Poyner and his State Collegians.

Sponsors for the affair were: Miss Lida Duke Blue of Aberdeen with Carl Buchan, Jr.; Miss Katherine Metcalf of Raleigh with Micon Brown; Miss Katherine Harris of Raleigh with Willis Holding, Jr.; Miss Elizabeth Wade of Raleigh with Arthur Brown; Miss Mary Poyner of Raleigh with Jimmie Rann; and Miss Beverly Fullenwider with Frank Castlebury.

The chapter entertains at four dances each year, the dates of those to follow to be announced later by Jack Bing, chairman of the social committee and Carl Buchan, Jr., business manager.

Phi Kappa Tau

Members of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity entertained at its annual New Year's dance Saturday evening at the fraternity home on Clarke Avenue.

Decorations of the house consisted of the fraternity colors, old gold and Harvard red, and other decorations in keeping with the spirit of the New Year. During the evening, delicious refreshments were served.

Guests of fraternity members were: Miss Margaret Waddell with Elliott Anderson, Miss Katherine Mason with George Linehan, Miss Louise Warren with William Ryan, Miss Jean Edgerton with Malcolm Stewart, Miss Marcella Coats with Jack Aycocke, Miss Virginia Weathers with K. W. Clark, Miss Virginia Holt with Milton Sewell, Miss Margaret Honeycutt with William Smith, Miss Virginia Tatum with W. C. Bowen, Miss Ella Mae Noel with H. E. Stevens, Miss Katherine Williams with Billy Aycocke, Miss Emily Hunt with William Aiken, and Mr. and Mrs. John Bassler.

Chaperones for the occasion were Professor and Mrs. R. W. Green.

State Men Marry

Announcement has been received on the campus of the marriage of David L. Bohannon of Muskeget, Michigan, and Miss Anne McDermott of Battle Creek, Michigan. They were married on Christmas Day, 1934, and are now making their home in Muskeget, Mich., where Mr. Bohannon is connected with the Norge Refrigerator Co. Mr. Bohannon, a member of the 1934 graduating class of N. C. State, was well-known and popular on the campus. He was cadet-colonel of the R.O.T.C. regiment, an honor student, a varsity halfback on the football team and a member of the Sigma Pi fraternity. Mrs. Bohannon will be remembered as the sponsor for the Military Ball held last year.

Another wedding of interest was the marriage of John A. Bassler of Long Island, N. Y., and Miss Mary Capera Beddoes, of Raleigh. They were married January 3 at Bennettsville, S. C., and came as a complete surprise to their friends. Mr. Bassler is a popular member of the junior class at State and is a member of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity. The couple is now on an extended trip to the home of Mr. Bassler at Long Island, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stevenson of Raleigh, recently announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary Louise, to Hal F. Daniels of Manteo at Bennettsville, S. C., June 3, 1934. Mr. Daniels is a senior at State, and is a member of the Theta Kappa Nu fraternity.

Sigma Pi Dance

Members of the Sigma Pi fraternity will entertain at an informal dance tonight from 9 until 12 o'clock at their home on Clarke Avenue. Guests of the fraternity will be the alumni and friends of the fraternity.

STUDENT TUTORS GET FERA FUNDS

Hundreds of State Students Being Instructed Outside of Regular Classes

Hundreds of students at N. C. State College are being assisted in their regular class work by a tutorial system recently begun through the use of FERA funds to hire advanced student tutors.

Nineteen tutors, selected on the basis of their ability from among the students awarded FERA assistance, are conducting tutorial classes at night for delinquent students. These classes are now being attended voluntarily by over 740 students.

By this method financial assistance is being given to a few students and a needed service is being rendered many. These classes are now being held in the departments of chemistry, English, physics, and mathematics, and are attended mostly by freshmen whose high school training apparently is not firm enough as a foundation for college work.

Classes on each subject are held from 6 to 8 times weekly with an average attendance of 12 students on each class.

FERA tutors are paid fifty cents an hour for tutoring, and are not allowed to earn over twenty dollars a month.

The tutorial committee in charge of the activities is composed of the following faculty members: Colonel J. W. Harrelson, dean of administration; Dr. A. J. Wilson, head of the chemistry department; Dr. J. B. Derieux of the physics department; Prof. J. D. Clark, head of the English department; Prof. H. A. Fisher, head of the mathematics department; and M. L. Shepherd, head of the State College Self-Help Bureau.

Faculty members and students alike commend this system which has already grown in popularity on the State College campus.

Announcements

The State College chapter of the A. S. M. E., will hold its first meeting of this term Tuesday at 6:45 p.m.

Sigma Pi Alpha will have an important meeting tonight at 7:30 in Peele Hall.

I. O. Garodnick, President.

Regular swimming practice has started again. All students interested report at the pool at 5 o'clock on any afternoon. There will be a meet soon.

STATE

The famous Guy Lombardo-Esco Marketers Revue has been booked for the State Theatre for two performances only, Monday night, January 14. The Revue features Guy Lombardo, in person, and his Royal Canadians, who come direct from the Waldorf-Astoria and are featured on the Plough Company Lombardo-Land Radio Program; Cross and Dunn, Popular Radio and Stage Stars who set styles in Songs, and Joan Abbott, a George White's Scandals Beauty and Radio Songbird, who is billed as "An Earthy and an Eye-fall."

This is a gay stage show of Melody, Dance and Comedy and will be shown in addition to a feature photoplay "Big Hearted Herbert" with Guy Kibbee, Aline MacMahon, Patricia Ellis and Phillip Reed. The picture is a fast moving clean laugh-laden domestic farce comedy, dealing with a situation graphically familiar to almost every American family.

PALACE

"A musical world cruise as seen through the eyes of hilarious youth!" That's a popular definition of the sensational new laughaganza, "Student Tour," which plays at the Palace Theatre Monday-Tuesday.

For in addition to comedy—supplied by Jimmy Durante and Charles Butterworth—and half a dozen new musical hits including the sensational new "Carlo," the picture bubbles with youth.

The producers raided the colleges and universities of the nation, picking the loveliest co-eds and the hand-somest athletes to introduce to the public. Most of them never before have appeared before the cameras.

A Comedy and a News complete the program.

CAPITOL

"Belle of the Nineties" which plays at the Capitol Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, the third of the Mae West starring pictures, shows the blonde siren again in a setting of the gay '90's, which was the period of her first picture, "She Done Him Wrong." Surrounded by three screen-sweet-so it is essential that those interested report immediately.

The International Relations Club will meet Tuesday night, January 15, at 7:30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. All old members are urged to be present. Students from foreign countries are invited. E. L. Johnston, President.

hearts, Roger Pryor, John Mack Brown and John Miljan, together with Duke Ellington and his orchestra, Katherine DeMille, Warren Hymers and Stuart Holmes, Mae West essays the role of the country's most, sensational burlesque queen of the period. As "American Beauty," Mae West becomes involved with an ambitious young prize fighter, Roger Pryor of St. Louis, but through the plotting of the prize fighter's manager, the romance is broken up, and Mae West accepts an opportunity to leave St. Louis to become queen of a popular gambling palace in New Orleans. Completing this program is a Hal Leroy Act "Private Lessons" and a Pictorial.
