

JACK HART URGES CLOSER RELATIONS AMONG FRAT MEN

Noted Author and Lecturer Culminates Stay Here With Talk At Frat Smoker

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL BRINGS HART TO CAMPUS

Stresses Importance of Cooperation Between Fraternities and Other Campus Organizations; Says Education May Come From Knowing Other People and Their Ideas; Harrelson, Brown, and Cloyd Also Speak at Fraternity Smoker

Dr. John R. Hart, author and well known lecturer, culminated his visit to State College when he addressed some 150 fraternity members and pledges at a smoker held in the west wing of the college dining hall last Wednesday night.

The meeting was presided over by Dean E. L. Cloyd who began by explaining that "the purpose of this meeting is to get better acquainted." He was followed by Walter Greenwood, president of the Interfraternity Council, who briefly welcomed those present in behalf of the Council, which group brought Dr. Hart here.

Dean B. F. Brown, chairman of the Faculty Committee on Fraternity Life, next made a short talk in which he urged that there be more cooperation between fraternities and his committee, and assured the fraternities that through a mutual understanding "much will be accomplished."

After refreshments were served, the speaker of the evening was introduced by Dean Cloyd.

In his address, Dr. Hart touched upon many phases of fraternity life, but he particularly stressed the importance of cooperation between fraternities and other campus organizations. "Fraternities and other organizations once took pride in their independence," he said, "but this condition does not exist today. Organizations are cooperating more because conditions demand it."

Discussing this subject further, Dr. Hart continued: "Fraternity or non-fraternity, we are all State College men. Learn to be really educated by knowing other men on the campus. Find out what they think... and become really educated and cultured."

In commenting upon the critics of fraternities, Dr. Hart said: "Fraternities are necessarily put under the spotlight, as are members of other organizations... but we have the kind of disciplinary training that a college boy needs. The college fraternity is doing its part and doing it well... (they) have the best machinery to coach the boys who are behind in their work of any organization on the campus... men are judged by their virtues, not their vices."

Cautioning fraternities not to "do just ordinary things," Dr. Hart declared in conclusion, that he "would like to see every fraternity do something distinctive... something we don't have to do."

Col. J. W. Harrelson, dean of administration, also spoke briefly during the evening. He emphasized the importance of cooperation between the fraternities and the administration.

The objective of fraternities, he said, "is the same as the objective of the college... and that is to produce cultured and educated gentlemen. If you do not make every effort toward this objective... then the administration will have to dissent."

Declaring that some fraternities on the campus were occupying "inadequate quarters," Col. Harrelson said that he would "like to find some place on college ground where fraternities could finance the building of their own houses."

In conclusion, he suggested that through cooperation a solution to all their problems could be found.

Dr. Hart, since coming here on Monday for his third visit to the State College campus, has conducted discussions with various fraternity groups and individual members.

On Tuesday evening, he addressed fraternity pledges at a dinner given for them in the Y. M. C. A. building. More than eighty pledges, representing every fraternity on the campus, were present to hear his advice on their problems and their obligations. He reminded them that they were a selected group, and, in that capacity, they were a group with responsibility and obligations.

Dr. Hart will remain in Raleigh the rest of this week, and during this time he will continue to hold discussions with fraternity groups.

Prof. Clark Shows Results Of Proficiency in English

Noted Speaker

DR. T. Z. KOO

The noted Chinese lecturer pictured above will give a discussion of the latest developments in the Far East, eastern countries during his stay here from January 27-29. He is being brought here under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

CHINESE SPEAKER COMING TO STATE

Noted Lecturer to Appear Here January 27-29 Under Auspices of Y. M. C. A.

Dr. T. Z. Koo, Chinese lecturer, will come to the State College campus on January 27-29, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

His lectures, which will be held in Pullen Hall, will cover a discussion of the latest developments in China, Manchukuo, and the Pacific Basin. He will also discuss the views of the Chinese on Christianity.

While here, Dr. Koo will visit Duke University, where he will preach in the Duke chapel on Sunday morning, January 27, and Chapel Hill, where he will conduct a union service that evening. On Monday noon, he will speak before the Durham Rotary Club in the Washington Duke Hotel, and, on Monday afternoon, he will address the International Relations Club at Duke University.

His lectures in Pullen Hall will be attended by students from Meredith, St. Mary's, and Peace. His schedule here will be announced later.

"Y" CABINET DISCUSSES PING-PONG TOURNAMENT

New Equipment for Tourney Placed in "Y" As Well As Two New Pool Tables

At the last regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, plans were discussed for the annual ping-pong tournament to be held early in February. The tournament will be an all-college affair and no entrance fee will be charged. Entrants will be paired off in elimination play, the two successful contestants receiving prizes. A committee was appointed to arrange for the tournament consisting of Bill Price, Tommy Jenkins, and Bill Chambers.

A committee was also appointed to arrange schedules for Dr. T. Z. Koo and James T. Hardwick, who will visit the campus this month under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Members of the committee are Bill Price, Horace Cotton, and Steven Ward.

After the meeting, it was announced that new ping-pong tables and equipment have been purchased for use in the tournament, this in addition to two new pool tables which have recently been placed in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. building.

"Broke"

The newly organized Flying Club seems to be on its last leg. Lack of money has caused the almost complete abandonment of the club. It was organized to promote an interest in flying among students here, and one of the primary purposes of the society was to raise money so that a plane might be secured and a flying instructor hired to give the members lessons.

Like good college students, most of the members were "broke" or did not have enough money to invest in the venture.

So there seems to be one less organization on the campus.

Discovers Poor English Scholars Have High Scholastic Mortality Rate

RECOMMENDATIONS MADE AS RESULT OF RESEARCH

Test Made On Freshman Classes Entering State College in 1930 and 1931

A lack of proficiency in English on entering college usually results in a high scholastic mortality rate, according to studies made at State College by Prof. J. D. Clark, chairman of the English department.

This observation was drawn from a survey of the English placement tests given students when they entered the institution, and indicated that those students who made the higher grades survived their scholastic encounters much longer than those who made lower grades.

The grades of more than 1,100 students who entered State College in September, 1930 and 1931, were studied by members of the English department with the assistance of FERA student aid under the direction of Professor Clark.

Consideration was also given to the records of resident and non-resident students at State College, and to the standards achieved by students who were educated in the various types of accredited high schools of North Carolina.

An analysis of 490 students entering in September, 1930 shows that 257, or 52.4 per cent of them dropped out by the end of their first year, and they attained only an average grade in English of 27.6 out of a possible 100.

A similar study of resident students who remained in college two years reveals that a smaller percentage of them dropped out of college but averaged a higher English grade than did those who were in college only one year. Thus 80 students, or 16.5 per cent of the 490 entering in 1930, remained two years and averaged 30.6 in English.

The study revealed that these students who were able to attend college three years show the least mortality. Of these entering in 1930, only 3.8 per cent dropped out at the end of three years and they had an average of 33.8. Stated briefly, the student who entered college in 1930 and was in college one year averaged only 27.6; whereas the student who was in attendance four years averaged 40.2 in English.

A like contrast is noted in the study of those who entered in 1931. The student who was in college one year had an average of 29.9 and the one who was in attendance four years had an average of 39.2. More than 50 per cent of the students entering in 1930 and 1931 and remaining only one year made grades of 25 or less, whereas about 40 per cent of those who remained four years made grades of 45.5 or more.

The following conclusions were derived by Professor Clark: The mortality of students by the end of the first year in college was parallel by more than 50 per cent of the English placement grades begin 25 or less; and the mortality of students by the end of the second year was about 60 per cent.

Students who remained in college four years achieved English grades more than 33 per cent higher than the grades made by students who remained in college one year. That the non-resident (out-of-State) student averaged a somewhat higher grade than did the resident student.

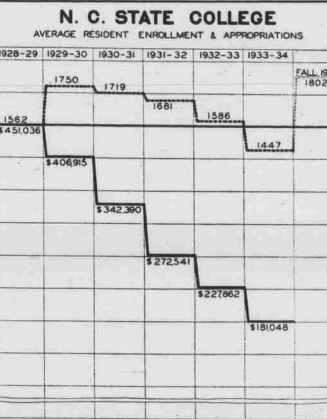

As the result of this investigation, Professor Clark has concluded that several definite functions must be undertaken, in which the leadership of North Carolina must participate, in order that public education can do its part in the demands of modern society.

These include a widespread interest among all the people in vitalized reading, as provided in a well-developed system of public libraries; a provision for sufficient economic advantages for all students who want to complete their education; and a realization that the standard maintained in the use of the language is a reflection of the general culture of the communities in which the students have received their training.

Peace Fell

Ballots from the Literary Digest on the question of war and peace have begun to pour into the State College campus. The questionnaire contains five questions, these bring on national defense, conscription of resources in times of war, bearing arms, and government control of munitions and armaments.

Enrollment and Appropriations

The above chart shows graphically the way in which appropriations have dropped steadily since 1929-30, and the corresponding drop in enrollment, although not in proportion until the fall registration of this year. Taking the college year 1928-29 as the base year or 100 per cent, it will be noted that while the enrollment in 1933-34 was about 93 per cent, the appropriations amounted to only 40 per cent. Thus the State appropriation, per student, for the last year was less than half of what it was six years ago.

Red Masquers to Present Two One Act Plays Soon

Revived Play Group to be Directed By Professors Hartley and Stanbury

DISSATISFACTION CAUSES MOVEMENT FOR REVIVAL

Hoped That Two Plays May Be Given Free of Charge to Student Body

The movement begun by a group of dissatisfied play actors last term for the revival of the old Red Masquers dramatic club has met with decided success, and the group will bring before the student body two one-act plays.

The group will be directed by two professors from the English Department, W. A. Stanbury, Jr. and L. C. Hartley. At first it was thought that there would only be one director, Professor Hartley but the services of Professor Stanbury were later added.

The movement for the restoration of the old dramatic club came after memorized plays were entirely dropped from the program of Prof. E. H. Paget, director of dramatics, and in their place extemporaneous and impromptu productions substituted. Although the latter type plays are entirely new and have found much favor over different parts of the country, they have never met with favor here.

Those connected with the new movement believe that they can bring before the student body memorized plays which will be appreciated. One of the purposes of the organization will be to secure enough money from some source to pay royalties on the productions, and permit the students to see the plays simply by showing their registration cards.

The two plays to be given in about six weeks are "The Lost Silk Hat" and "Magnolia's Man." The former concerns the romance of a young man, its sudden break-up, and the way in which he brings the two together. The latter tells the story of a young mountain girl who attempts to secure a husband through an agency. It is hoped that these plays can be given free of charge.

The cast for "The Lost Silk Hat" was selected at a meeting of the group last night in Pullen Hall. The cast includes H. D. Carpenter as the caller; W. H. Gray as the laborer; R. Cunningham as the clerk; F. G. Walsh as the poet; and James E. Thiem, Jr., as the policeman.

The cast for "Magnolia's Man" will be selected at a meeting of the group to-night in Pullen Hall. The directors have stated that they need several female characters in the play, and any co-ed or other woman is invited to try out for the cast.

MILD "FLU" EPIDEMIC STILL FILLS HOSPITAL

A total of thirty-eight "flu" patients have been confined to the infirmary at various times during this week, some of them running high temperatures.

Yesterday there were eleven students who were confined to bed with the malady. These students are: Ben Williams, Peter Hirle, Tom Wilson, G. T. Coore, V. Hareiva, George Pate, E. T. Rhodes, J. C. Frink, W. C. Andrews, H. C. Brown, and E. M. Brown.

The college seems to have been attacked by the mild "flu" epidemic which has been sweeping the country recently.

COMMITTEE ASKS LARGE INCREASE FOR THIS SCHOOL

Auditorium

The college newspaper was run a merry race in attempting to track down certain information on a student proposal to the Legislature for the construction of a $200,000 auditorium.

The information was first broadcast to the student body in Wednesday morning's local paper. Presidents of various societies were asked if their groups had passed the proposal, but all answered in the negative. Most of the college officials knew nothing of the plan.

When Col. J. W. Harrelson, dean of administration, was finally located he stated that the source was two students, C. W. and R. G. B. Bourne. The plan was originally brought up last summer at the Farm and Home meeting held here and at which the meeting went on record unanimously as favoring the building of an auditorium here which would seat at least 2,000 people, which is the size asked by the student resolution.

R. O. T. C. AWARDS TO BE PRESENTED

Col. Bruce Magruder Announces Prizes to be Given During Competitions

Announcement of four awards for R. O. T. C. competitions to be held among the various units of the State College regiment this year has been made by Colonel Bruce Magruder, head of the Military Department.

The awards offered are for the honor company, the best drilled platoon, the most military sophomore, and the most outstanding freshman.

The honorary company will be picked on the basis of achievements throughout the year and the prizes will be an inscribed saber for the cadet captain commanding the company, a guidon streamer indicating the award, and two theatre passes.

The best drilled platoon will be selected in active competition with other platoons and the prizes will be an inscribed saber for the senior cadet lieutenant commanding the platoon and eight theatre passes.

The most military sophomore will be awarded a theatre pass.

A prize, equal in amount to tuition for a college year, to be applied as a credit on the student's account, will be given the freshman chosen as the most outstanding R. O. T. C. freshman.

W. G. Enloe, manager of the North Carolina Theatres in Raleigh, is donating the theatre passes, good for one month, to the military department to be given to the winners.

The awards will be made next spring and the purpose of the competitions is to stimulate the upbuilding of team spirit and general efficiency of the units.

DEBATERS TO CLASH WITH CAMPBELL TEAM

The State College debate team met Wake Forest here in Pullen Hall Monday night in a program of non-decision debates consisting of one direct clash and one standard form debate.

State will debate at Campbell College tomorrow in non-decision practice debates. The first decision debate of the year is to be with Pennsylvania on February 15. The forensic men from this school will have the negative side of the question.

Wants Snapshots

The Agromock, State College yearbook, has issued a request to all students possessing cameras to turn in campus snapshots of unusual events and characteristic scenes about the campus during the year.

The types of snapshots needed are informal snaps of students, professors, athletic events, club initiations, campus scenes, room scenes, etc.

It is the desire of the editors to have a greater number of pictures in the annual than there have been in the past. The pictures should be given to any member of the Agromock staff, or turned in at the office in Price Hall.

Governor and Advisory Budget Committee Recommended $277,700 for 1935 and 1936

OTHER UNIVERSITY UNITS GET SIMILAR INCREASES

Chapel Hill Unit Recommended to Get $539,500; W. C. U. N. C., $251,000; Generally Felt Before Legislature Met That Appropriations Would be Increased; Legislative Action Comes Next; Three Units Suffer in Last Two Years From Lack of Funds

By GENE KNIGHT

Prospects for an increased appropriation for State College were considerably brightened Tuesday when Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and his Advisory Budget Committee recommended that this institution be given $277,700 for each of the next two years, or an increase of $96,000 per annum over this and last year. State had asked for $340,512.

The other two units of the Greater University also were recommended similar increases. The Chapel Hill unit under the committee's figures is allotted $539,500, or an increase of $153,000 over the past two years. That unit has requested $705,202 during the coming biennium. The Woman's College is recommended to receive $251,000, or an increase of $90,000 over the last two years. They are asked to be given over double the amount spent during 1933-34, or $331,944.

Other State supported schools and their budget figures were: East Carolina Teachers College: spent, 1933-34, $74,342; requested $159,385; recommended by committee, $89,180; Appalachian State College: spent, 1933-34, $37,190; requested, $75,000; room and board, $44,200; and W. C. T. C.: spent, 1933-34, $32,452; requested, $60,000; recommended, $53,070.

In view of the balancing of the budget during the past years, it was generally felt that the State would increase its appropriations to the higher institutions during 1935-36 by a sizable amount. The other public schools of the state have also been recommended to receive an increase of $2,500,000. This would enable the state to raise its teachers wages by 15 per cent. The recommendations are not yet accepted, as they will have to survive the vote of the Assembly.

The three units of the Greater University suffered greatly at the hands of the drastic curtailment policy of the last Legislature. Having to work with the funds allotted two years ago and with a huge jump in enrollment this year, caused professors to become greatly overworked.

The total amount of money appropriated by the 1933 Legislature for the entire Consolidated University was only $30,000 more than was given the Chapel Hill branch alone in 1929.

Other Recommendations

Concurrently with the recommendations for increased teachers' pay and increased appropriations for the Greater University, the Governor and his committee recommended that the Legislature reenact the three per cent general sales tax but eliminate the present tax exemption on cheap staple foods; that it leave franchise taxes on foreign and domestic corporations, public utilities, and other business at present level; that it reenact the present income and inheritance tax schedule; that it continue to divert $1,000,000 a year of highway revenue to the general fund but not to go beyond that figure. (This figure despite the Governor's statement that he continue to oppose such diversion); and that it increase highway maintenance and construction expenditures by more than $5,000,000 of State money a year, compared to a $2,000,000 increase of February 15. The forensic men from this school will have the negative side of the question.

BERNSTEIN WILL SPEAK TO BUSINESS STUDENTS

Dr. E. M. Bernstein will speak at an open meeting of Delta Sigma Pi, international commerce fraternity, on Tuesday night, January 22. The meeting will be held in Peele Hall at 7:30 p.m. His subject will be "Unemployment Insurance."

After Dr. Bernstein's talk, the meeting will be turned into an open forum at which time Dr. Bernstein will answer questions asked him on the subject. All students interested are cordially invited to attend.

Band to Play

The State College Band will play a concert in Rulien Memorial Auditorium as one of the features of the annual President's Birthday Party Ball on January 30.

MERCENARY FOOTBALL

Adding to all the other troubles of the boxing team has come the announcement from Head Coach Hunk Anderson that freshmen taking part in football will not be allowed to participate in any other sport which might interfere with the off season football drills.

The edict, while not specifically including juniors and sophomores, carries the inference that unless those in the two classes go out for spring football practice, they may find themselves taking part in the game from the bench next year. The faculty athletic committee will meet soon to decide whether or not boxing will be continued for the remainder of the season. If the committee so rules, the other matches scheduled will be dropped. So far the team has fought but one match.

At the expense of one of its lesser brothers the great god football has won another victory, a victory which it should not regard with a laughing, boastful arrogance but rather with a sense of deep humiliation for taking advantage of a weaker partner. Repeated attacks have been made on the commercialization of college football, but the evil seems to go unabated. The public, and especially the alumni of an institution, demand a strong football team at any expense. And the athletic directors, with an eye on the gate receipts, have catered to the whims of the public and in so doing have reduced the sport to the terms of dollars and cents. There was a time when football was played for the joy of the sport, as some of the graybeards may remember, and not for the wholesale clicking of the turnstiles. Yet there seems but little that can be done in remedying the situation, so firmly has the system become entrenched in a great number of our higher institutions of learning.

The sophomore or junior entering into another sport would almost immediately spell his doom so far as taking a future part in the grid sport were concerned. When the master speaks the servants are supposed to obey or else they will find someone else taking their places. The inference of the ruling is not only grossly unfair to the student wishing to participate in other sports, but it is unfair to the school in that probably the best talent is then not available for sports other than football.

It is agreed that the off-season drills are important and helpful for those who will play football in the fall, but at the same time it sadly depletes the ranks of some of the minor sports which should be just as important as football in the eyes of the college officials, even though the public does not think so.

Another point might be brought up in regards to spring football practice. Does not devoting so much time to this one sport tend to distract the student from his studies with the consequent result of poor scholarship? Despite the fact contended by some that football players come to college merely to engage in that sport and to bring gridiron glory to the college, the chief purpose of an institution of higher learning is to educate, or at least attempt to educate, those who pass through its portals. When a student devotes so much time to one outside activity, such as is the case of football, his scholarship is certain to suffer.

Many have expressed the view that football is gradually losing some of its old glamour. If this is true, it may be due to the factors which have entered and tended to commercialize the sport. Certain people feel that they are not watching a game between amateurs, but rather professionals, although this contention is untrue, there being rules against professionalism in college athletics.

If the faculty athletic committee would, when they meet, abrogate Coach Anderson's rule instead of discontinuing the sport of boxing, the entire result would be much more satisfactory. Boxing has always proven popular here, and it would be with a great deal of regret that the student body would see it go.

DUM SPIRO, SPERO

South Carolina, our sister state, is unique in the fact that it has more than one state motto. Perhaps the most famous is dum spiro, spero, which translated into English means "while I breathe, I hope."

Such a motto might be adopted by the Senior Class in its fight for exemptions from examinations all three terms. Last term the matter was brought before the general faculty assembled, and was killed by an overwhelming majority. While the class was not overly surprised by the decision, it was astonished at the large vote against the proposal. One of the chief objections raised against the plan was that it had been brought up too late in the term and that many of the professors were depending on the final examination for their students' grades.

This term there should be no such excuse offered, since the teachers have been given warning by the seniors that the proposal will again be brought before them for another consideration. When it is next presented before that group, many of the old objections should have been cleared up and at the same time, the faculty should take a more broadminded, liberal view of the question.

It would not be a very difficult task to spot those professors who voted against the proposal last time and those who voted for the plan. If the former group would realize that the students were placing before them an issue in the deepest sincerity and not as a means of evading work, they might change some of their old pet notions about the fallacies of youth. It is this same group of teachers who cry down any proposal which would tend to get away from the older method of doing things. Some of this clique are not old in years, but only old in their ideas, a typical set of reactionaries.

There is on the other hand that group of the faculty which realizes that education is breaking away from the status quo and that it is right now in a transition stage. They are the ones who agree with the seniors that the exemption plan is a step towards the advancement of this school, and that when placed in the balance its virtues will outweigh its defects. The plan has many advantages. It would tend to raise the scholarship due to the added incentive on the part of the student to work in order to have an average of "B" on all subjects which is required for exemption. This in turn would raise the general scholastic standing of the entire college. It would also create at least one senior privilege, since at the present there are none. This would establish a tradition, a thing practically unheard of at State College, and at which our reactionary faculty would have the heartiest kind of "belly" laugh, probably labelling it childish. There are a great many other advantages which would be derived if the plan were adopted.

If for no other reason, the faculty should use the Senior Class this year as an experiment. If exemption failed to carry out all the advantages advanced by the class, then they could do away with it. If, on the other hand, they refuse to ever consider the proposal, its latent possibilities will never be uncovered.

RED MASQUERS BREATHE NEW LIFE

The success of the revived Red Masquers Dramatic Club now seems assured as two professors in the English Department have volunteered their services as directors of the group.

It was only about two years ago that the Red Masquers was a flourishing dramatic organization and was popularly patronized by the student body. However, after the introduction of the Experimental Theatre under which only extemporaneous and impromptu plays were produced, the student body lost interest. The type of plays given by the Experimental Theatre represents a totally rough, unfinished product to which most people react unfavorably.

On the other hand, the memorized play, such as is presented by the Red Masquers, will show a more finished product, and if the right kind of plays are selected, the audience will react favorably. As long as the Red Masquers is purely a student movement, it should be supported by the student body.

Many students have volunteered their aid in the movement, some in the actual play production and some in the making of scenery. The first two of these plays, which will be presented in about six weeks, will more than likely be given free of charge to the student body in order to show that there is an attempt being made to give to State College a type of play which can be enjoyed, and which is far different from the makeshift, loosely tied together, plotless variety which the Experimental Theatre now offers.

INCREASED APPROPRIATIONS

Exponents of education may consider that they have won at least a partial victory since the Governor and his Advisory Budget Committee have made public their recommendations for appropriations this year.

State College requested approximately $430,000 a year for the next two years, but the committee scaled this figure down to $277,700. For the past two years this institution has only received only $181,000 annually. Similar increase were made the other State supported institutions of higher learning.

Another encouraging note was struck when the committee recommended that an increased of $2,500,000 be given the public schools system. This will, if put into effect by the Legislature, increase the pay of school teachers about 15 per cent.

During the past two years, one of the severest blows which State College has received is the curtailment of research work, due to the adding of additional students to the already heavy teacher load. It is hoped with the increased appropriation which this school is almost certain to get, that a great deal more research work may be carried on.

HERE and THERE

By G. W. FORD

Hurray for minor sports. Our friend, Horace Cotton, did a bit of missionary work along that line last week when he went out to Meredith to demonstrate the gentle art of playing what is commonly called Ping-Pong. I expect that they'll repay us soon by sending a couple of girls out to State College to show the boys how to make button holes.

Mrs. Crumpler, Professor Vaughn's secretary, has a bit of an interest in aviation... at least she reads air stories in her spare time.

The fellow who said that he'd support his family by hook or by crook has failed as a fisherman... he has now turned to herding sheep.

J. D. Swain and Rufus Nims, two of our most recent alumni, dropped in to see us one day last week. They were on their way to Baltimore and from there... destination unknown. It seemed like old times again to see "J. D." and Rufus "putting on the feed bag" in the cafeteria.

Sipping tea seems to be the favorite indoor sport on Sunday afternoons in these parts. Running competition with Dean Harrellson's freshman team are the Phi Kappa Tau's and the pink team. They claim that they had the idea first.

The Aeronautical Engineering seniors visited the Raleigh Municipal Airport last Friday afternoon to look over Col. Roscoe Turner's famous London to Melbourne plane. By the way... his hand made cigars were real good.

And the latest rumor is that Norman York has become a member of the "Ball and Chain." Doesn't anyone ever announce a wedding before hand around here?

Pat Pastore and Charlie Parrott avoided the rush at the Guy Lombardo program the other night when they went in through the stage door... they knew Cross and Dunn.

We had quite a demonstration of hog calling at the Duke game on Tuesday... or was the gentleman imitating Tarzan?

"Zippy Mack" Fountain still tells off color stories to his Public Speaking classes. The New Dealers ought to put in a movement to reform some of the faculty as well as the students.

The Red Masquers are going right ahead. You can look forward to seeing "The Lost Silk Hat" and "Magna-Man" in a month or so... It might please you to know also that Professors Hartley and Stanbury are directing these plays.

Miss Nancy Peterson is wearing the fraternity pin of one of the boys over at Duke. Wonder how one of our Delta Sig's feel about this.

Is Charlie Gorman "that way" about co-ed Clara Poteat or does he just get red in the face when you mention girls to him?

STUDENT COUNCIL PLACES APPROVAL ON TRIAL PROFS

The Student Council in a meeting last night placed its official approval on the three professors who have been serving on student cases involving cheating.

The three faculty men are Romeo Lefort, Prof. H. E. Satterfield, and Prof. J. D. Clark.

The Council also voted to have the sixth senior member on the trial Council elected at a meeting of the seniors of the Business School. This sixth member will take the place of Marshall Gardner, who is from the Business School and a senior. Since Gardner is president of the Council, his sole duty is to preside at trials, and he will not have a vote unless there is a tie.

DUKE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE DURHAM, N. C.

Four terms of eleven weeks are given each year. These may be taken consecutively (graduation in three years) or three terms may be taken each year (graduation in four years). The entrance requirements are intelligence, character and at least two years of college work including the subjects specified for Grade A Medical Schools. Catalogue and application forms may be obtained from the Dean.

Suggested Readings

Books are the compasses and telescopes and sextants and charts which other men have prepared to help us navigate the dangerous seas of human life.
—Jessie Lee Bennett.

Blanco, Fierro, The Journey of the Flame.

The lore of old Spanish-California, at once cruel and colorful, is the background of this unusual book. In 1810, Don Juan O'Neil, known as Red John makes the long, dangerous journey from the extreme Southern end of California to San Francisco. The twelve year old boy absorbs all the wealth of Indian folk life and Spanish civilization, whose combination make an excellent story.

Eliot, Jared, Essay Upon Field Husbandry in New England.

Jared Eliot was "a minister, a physician and a farmer" who lived in New England between the years 1748-1762. The editors of this book have very wisely presented his writings to a present-day public who can gain much from them. Indeed, they furnish a feeling for the entire colonial rural background.

Pippin, Elmer O., First Principles of Cooperation in Buying and Selling in Agriculture.

The realization of the necessity for group action and cooperation has come more slowly to the man engaged in agriculture. In consequence he has suffered from an attitude of "rugged individualism" which has remained from frontier days. Mr. Pippin has set forth the facts and interpreted them in the light of present-day problems in a clear and concise manner.

Goodwin, Cardinal L., Trans-Mississippi West.

The ever fascinating panorama of the development of the great West is presented here in a readable and at the same time, accurate style. The stories of the settlement of Texas and Utah are only two of the interesting events dealt with.

MacLay, Edgar Stanton, A History of American Privateers.

Few people realize to what extent America is indebted to privateers for her independence. The story of the bold men who participated in naval battles in our two wars against England has all the excitement and breathless thrills of an old fashioned paperback "thriller." Numerous reproductions of old sea prints help to make this book a most attractive one.

Mason, Frances, The Great Design.

A collection of fourteen essays written by eminent scientists. Each man is a specialist in his own field and all reach the same unifying conclusion: That back of the pattern of nature is a controlling Mind. The ideas of these men lend dignity to man's existence and attempt to answer an age-old question. Overstreet, H. A., Guide to Civilized Leisure.

Everyone remembers the pathetic figure of Sinclair Lewis' "Babbitt," a man whose whole energies were focused upon his business and who was a pitiable figure when forced to fall back upon himself for richness of life. This book indicates some of the means of making one's leisure both pleasurable and profitable.

Wilcox, O. W., Reshaping Agriculture.

This extremely provocative book points out that agriculture stands at a revolutionary point in its history. New elements have come into play and agriculture finds itself forced to adopt radical changes which will have a far-reaching effect upon society.

N. C. STATE BESTS DAVIDSON 'CATS 29-21 WEDNESDAY

Ray Rex Stars As State Basketball Team Gets Victory at Davidson College

TEAM INVADERS FURMAN
LAST NIGHT IN S. C. TRIP

Coach Sermon's Proteges to Meet Clemson Tonight and U. of S. C. Tomorrow Night; Victory Over Davidson Puts State in Tie With Carolina for Lead in Big Five Race; Terrors Quickly Overcome Five Point Advantage of 'Cats at First of Game and Keep Lead

In a game played in the Davidson College gymnasium Wednesday night, the N. C. State Red Terrors' basketball team defeated the Davidson Wildcats 29-21. It was the first out of town game played by the Terrors, and their first engagement on a five day trip in which they play, in addition to Davidson, Clemson College and the University of South Carolina. State played Furman University last night.

The victory over Davidson, State's third win in Big Five circles, put State in a tie with Carolina for first place in the Big Five basketball standings. State has played one game of its Big Five opponents except Carolina, however, while Carolina has yet to play the Duke Blue Devils.

After the Terrors return to Raleigh Sunday from their trip, they will have a rest until next Friday night when they will meet V. P. I. in a game at the Frank Thompson gym.

Ray Rex, captain and star guard of the Terrors, also proved their case sharpshooter Wednesday night. Rex took top scoring honors of the game, scoring six field goals and one free shot for a total of thirteen points. Courtney Ross of Davidson was Rex's nearest rival in scoring, and he made three field goals for a total of six points.

The Davidson team drew the first blood in the battle, and during the first part of the game, they held a five point lead over the Terrors. But the State College team quickly overcame this lead, and at the half, they were ahead by four points to lead 14-10.

The Wildcats shooting seemed erratic, and they missed a deal of tries at the basket along with a lot of free shots that would have helped their score.

The State basketball team spent Wednesday night in Davidson, and yesterday morning, they left Davidson for Greenville, S. C., for their engagement with Furman University's Purple Hurricane. This morning, the Terrors will travel on to Clemson College, S. C., for a game with the Tigers tonight. Tomorrow night when they finish their game with the South Carolina Gamecocks, their trip will be at an end, and they will return to Raleigh Sunday.

STATE WRESTLERS MEET V. M. I. MATMEN TOMORROW

Keen Competition Expected Between Teams That Finished Near Front in S. C. Tournament

State College's wrestling team will open its season tomorrow when it meets the V. M. I. grapplers in Lexington, Virginia.

The match should be a close one with the Cadets having a slight edge. The State matmen beat the V. M. I. team 14-16 in the regular season last year, but were noosed out of second place in the Southern Conference Tournament by the same team. The Cadets have a Southern Conference Champion in Captain Ward Currence, 165-pound grappler, who will meet Craig Furr in one of the feature matches of the meet. Another feature match that is expected to attract much interest is the one between Croom and Burgess. Burgess was runner-up in the S. C. Tournament last year.

Men that are expected to wrestle are Bell, 118 pounds; Kerr, 126; Krach, 135; Canup or Hall, 145; Bernhardt, Captain, 155; Furr, 165; Croom, 175; and unlimbited, Thompson. McLaughlin was carried as a reserve.

PROSPECTS LOOK BRIGHT FOR FROSH TENNIS TEAM

Temporary Manager and Captain Planning Full Schedule for This Year's Team

According to Aaron Epstein, temporary manager of the freshman tennis team, the prospects for a strong team this year are bright.

Epstein and the temporary captain, Robert Spratt, are planning a full schedule for the team this year. Three of the brightest prospects played for last year's Charlotte high school team, champions of three states. These are: Robert Spratt, temporary captain; Jordan Dulin, and James Finlay. Other good prospects are Ivan Smith of Hendersonville, and Raymond Snooks, of Roselle, N. J. Besides these there are several who are working for places on the team.

The schedule will begin about March 1. Several schools have already asked for matches with the freshmen, and matches with the foremost colleges of North and South Carolina will probably be held this year.

State Defeated

The State College Red Terrors were defeated by the Furman University quintet in Greenville, S. C., last night in a game that ended with the score 27-26 in favor of Furman. The Terrors were never able to overcome the seven point lead piled up by the Purple Hurricane in the first half.

The State quintet outscored the Hurricane in the second half 14-8, but the score at the half had been 19-12 for Furman and this gave them the necessary margin of victory. Culeasura, Furman forward, led the scoring of the game, and helped his team mates win. Rex, Rockfield, and Lambeth each got six points to lead State scoring.

QUESTION RISES ON ELIGIBILITY

Eligibility of LeRoy Jay, Star Red Terror Forward, to be Investigated by Officials

State College athletic officials were in somewhat of a quandary yesterday as a result of an article published in the Durham Herald yesterday morning concerning the eligibility of LeRoy Jay, star forward on the 1935 Red Terrors basketball team. According to charges published in the Herald, Jay played on a State varsity basketball team in a game with Atlantic Christian College here in December, 1931.

Jay played freshman basketball in the spring of 1931. He dropped out of school after the fall term in 1931, and did not reenter until the next fall. Jay played varsity basketball in 1933 and 1934. If it should be ruled that Jay's participation in the game with Atlantic Christian was participation in basketball in 1931, then his three years eligibility under Southern Conference rules would have been used up at the end of last year, and he is not eligible for varsity basketball this year.

Dr. R. Sermon, State basketball coach, was in Greenville, South Carolina, last night, as the Red Terrors were playing Furman University, so he could not be reached for a statement. From the records, it does seem apparent that Jay played in the game against Atlantic Christian, but from other information, the game in December, 1931, was an off-season practice game.

What bearing the fact that the Atlantic Christian game was an off-season game, will have on the ruling the authorities make about Jay's case is not known, and late Thursday, the college officials did not have much of an idea what the final decision would be.

Probably the question of Jay's eligibility will not be definitely settled until early next week when Dr. Sermon and the basketball team return from their trip to South Carolina. Colonel Harrelson was quoted as saying that the matter could probably not be straightened out until the matter was referred to Southern Conference officials for their decision.

State lost Red McAdams to the football team this fall on a question of eligibility, but McAdams' question was purely one of scholarship, while Jay's is one of whether he has used up his three years of varsity basketball playing under the rules of the Southern Conference.

MASSA NUTTEN TO PLAY STATE FROSH TOMORROW

Warren's Team Has Shown Smooth Work and Polish in Games So Far This Season

N. C. State's freshman basketball team will play its fourth game of the current season when it meets the Massanutten Prep school team in Frank Thompson gym tomorrow night at 7:30.

The Techlets have an average of 33.3 for the season so far. This record includes a win over Wake Forest and a loss to both Raleigh High and Duke freshman. Although the season does not look good so good from this angle, the fact that Wake Forest recently defeated the Raleigh High team and the fact that the Duke yearlings won by a one point margin on a technical foul in the last few seconds of play show that the team is much better than the previous record indicates and that only tough breaks kept them from having a better record.

The Baby Deacons turned back the High School team 43-38 while the Warrentes in turned defeated them 61-21 showing that the Techlets were probably off in the High School game.

The game with the Blue Imps, on the other hand, was extremely close and was not decided until the final whistle. The Massanutten team will meet the Duke frosh tonight and the outcome of this game should prove an indication as to the final score of the Techlets' game with the Virginia prep school.

FRESHMAN QUINT WINS AND LOSES

Techlets Lose Closely Contested Fight to Duke Blue Imps Tuesday Night

FROSH OVERWHELMINGLY DEFEAT W. FOREST QUINT

Bob Warren's Basketball Team Turns Back Baby Deacs to Tune of 61-21 Score

State College's freshman basketball team broke even in its two games of last week. On last Friday night the Warrentes overwhelmingly turned back Wake Forest 61-21, and on Tuesday lost to Duke 42-41. The Techlets have shown fine form for such early games and have displayed a smoothness so often lacking in yearling teams.

Duke Game Duke's freshman basketball team scored on a technical foul in the last few seconds of play and thus defeated State's freshman team 42-41 in a preliminary game to the contest of the varsity quintets of the two schools in Frank Thompson gym last Tuesday night.

With the score 41-40 in favor of State, Edwards, Duke forward, shot a short shot from near the foul line. Connie Mack Berry jumped into the air to take the ball off the backboard, his hand accidentally touched the basket and the referee gave the goal to Duke on a penalty of interference by Berry.

The game was fast all the way through with the teams running from one goal to the other. Neither team had a very decided edge over the other and both teams showed fine form for the start of the season.

Berry was the high scorer of the game ringing up eight action shots and five free shots for a total of 21 points. Tommy Swann, forward for the Techlets, and Edwards and Scott of Duke were next with 10 points each.

According to Section 13 of Rule 14, "Interference with the ball or the basket while the ball is on the edge of or within the basket is prohibited."

Wake Forest Game With Connie Mack Berry alone scoring more points than the opposing team State College's freshman basketball team trounced the Wake Forest Baby Deacons 61-21 in the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium last Friday night in a game that was the preliminary to the meeting of the varsity clubs of the two schools.

Berry made 11 field goals and 3 foul shots to garner 25 points. Although he counted many points, Berry tried too many shots. On two occasions especially he tried shots and missed when he might have passed to forwards breaking in under the basket.

Tommy Swann counted 5 field goals and 2 foul shots to rank next to Berry in the Techlets' lineup. Johnson and Byrd with 5 points each led the Baby Deacs.

After the first two minutes of play when the Deacons scored two points on free shots, the Techlets held them scoreless for 12 minutes while running up.

With the score tied 2-2 after the first two minutes of play, the State Frosh got underway and held Wake Forest scoreless for the next ten minutes while piling up 15 points. The Techlets led at the half by a score of 35-3.

The State frosh showed a fair bit of smoothness and polish that was not expected in so early a game.

STATE SWIMMERS MEET ARMY TEAM TOMORROW

Coach LeFort Announces That State Will Have Meet With Fortress Monroe Team

Romeo LeFort, coach of the State College swimming team, announced Wednesday that the local tankers would open their schedule Saturday afternoon when they meet Fort Monroe in Frank Thompson Gymnasium pool at State.

Coach LeFort will send an inexperienced team against the veteran army swimmers as graduation last spring left him with but two monogram men for the 1935 team. They are Captain Nat Thompson, diver and S. B. Holoman who competes in the dashes.

Several sophomores, members of the 1934 yearling team, will compete for State Saturday. Most promising of the sophomores are H. F. Amadon, dashes; Richard Rettew, back stroke, and Heath Washam, breast stroke.

Coach LeFort said if it would be agreeable with the Monroe team, he would use several freshmen Saturday. There are a number of top notch swimmers on the freshman team, the most promising being Dick Payne and Erwin Lenkowsky, dashes and Arthur Dammann, breast stroke.

Eligible?

LEROY JAY

The eligibility of Leroy Jay, first string forward on Coach R. R. Sermon's Red Terrors basketball team, was questioned in an article appearing in yesterday's Durham papers. It was claimed that Jay has already participated in three years of varsity basketball because he played in a game against Atlantic Christian College in December 1931. The situation is now being investigated by State College officials.

Sport Glimpses

By BILL GOAD

Some well meaning so and so from the Durham Herald put out a story yesterday trying to show that Leroy Jay, veteran forward for Doc Sermon's Red Terrors is ineligible. That paper said that Jay played in a game in 1931 with Atlantic Christian College. It is not disputing the fact that Jay played in this game, but the fact is that A. C. C. was played on December 18, 1931, the night after the fall term at State closed. This was a non-conference game, and not a regularly scheduled game. Jay got into a game and made four points. He was not back in school for the winter term. Jay is an A-1 basketball player and it seems that someone who has nothing at all to do with it is trying to bar him from basketball.

Will boxing be discontinued here? That question has been the topic of conversation around the gym for the past several weeks. The team itself gave a good reason why it shouldn't be when it defeated South Carolina at Columbia last week 5-3. Everyone seems to favor keeping a boxing team, especially members of the team. Last week I said that some of you fellows should come down and try out even though you haven't had much experience. A few men came down this week and began working out. Let's see some more of you down next week.

All of you who saw the Duke game the other night couldn't have missed paying special attention to Chub Womble, diminutive guard. Chub is a junior this year and has been trying for the past three years to find a place on State College athletic teams. He has had trouble on account of his feet. This year, Doc Sermon has fitted him up with a pair of specially made shoes, and he's been going places. Incidentally, he is the shortest man on the team, standing a little over five feet seven inches. Just watch his smoke for the remainder of the season. Chub is a good football and baseball player too.

In looking back at the State-South Carolina fight last week, we see that the Columbia paper, The State, gives Capt. Jack Fabri two rounds, and called the other one a draw in his scrap with Hilton, junior middleweight of the Gamecocks. This fight was the only one lost by State and caused considerable argument at the ringside after the fight. However, the referee gave the fight to South Carolina, and that's what counts on the scoreboard.

The freshman basketball team lost a pretty tough game to Duke Tuesday night. After staying ahead during most of the game, a (Please turn to page four)

PIKA TEAM WINS IN FRAT LEAGUE

K. Scales Stars for Victors As They Trounce Alpha Gamma Rho Team, 16-10

SECOND 1911 SCORES WIN OVER FOURTH DORMITORY

All Fraternities and Dormitories Enter Teams in Winter Sports Program

In the intramural basketball of the fraternity league the Pikas defeated the Alpha Gamma Rho 16-10. K. Scales was the outstanding player for the victors. The game was played Tuesday afternoon in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

In a dormitory league contest played Monday night the Second 1911 team scored a 16-11 win over the Fourth dormitory team.

Every fraternity and dormitory have entered teams in the winter sports program. Three sections have been formed in both the fraternity and dormitory basketball leagues, and will be run off on the Round Robin Plan. Every team will be entered in the fraternity and dormitory handball leagues which will be run off on the elimination plan with teams losing their first games entered in the consolation league.

This winter the same desire held last year to practice and develop team work toward winning the league championship is seen. During the winter term the Frank Thompson Gymnasium is a beehive of activity. However, every means will be taken to encourage teams wanting practice periods. Arrangements will be made for a limited number of teams to practice on Sunday afternoons. This practice must be authorized.

Intramural boxing preliminaries will be held on February 13, the semi-finals on February 20, and the finals on March 7. Every student who enters will be required to see Dr. A. C. Campbell, college physician, and get an examination made of his heart. Two one minute rounds will be fought in the preliminaries in the usual weights. A small admission fee will be charged in the finals in order to get the winners in each weight a trophy.

The most noticeable thing during the fall term was the increased practices of the teams. They not only played their schedules out but they often got together between games. The natural outcome was that a much higher brand of games was played. Another noticeable thing was that even though there is intense rivalry between the teams in their race for the years championship, an unusual brand of sportsmanship exists between the organizations. This has seemingly always been true with intramurals at State.

Selections Team Mr. Johnny Miller recently released the selections of the Physical Education department of the All-Dormitory and All-Fraternity intramural football teams. Miller and his assistants pick these teams every year on the basis of the type of playing done by the men on the intramural football teams.

Miller's selection's are as follows:
ALL FRATERNITY TEAM
Ends—Bernhardt, S. P. E.; Guas, S. P. E.
Tackles—Hawerton, S. P. E.; C. Furr, Delta Sig.
Guards—Sawyer, Pi Kappa Alpha; Hodge (Please turn to page four)

Red Terrors Defeat Duke And Wake Forest Quintets

BOXERS GET WIN OVER S. C. TEAM

State College Forfeits Two Bouts But Wins All Other Fights Except One

After forfeiting two bouts, the State College boxing team went on to defeat the University of South Carolina ringmen 5-3 in Columbia last Saturday. Contests in the bantamweight and middleweight divisions were forfeited to South Carolina who forfeited in the light heavyweight.

Two knockouts and two decisions gave the Wolfpack their margin of victory. Glenn Penland and Seaman Hudson got knockouts in the light-weight and the welterweight class. Hudson's K. O. was at the expense of Bill Humphlett, captain of the South Carolina team and regarded as one of the best welterweight boxers in the conference. Hudson knocked Humphlett down several times before the towel came into the ring, however Humphlett gamely fought back. Hudson showed a powerful right.

Penland knocked out Cardwell in the second round. The knockout punch was a straight left to the jaw. Penland had the South Carolina boy out-clasped throughout the fight.

M. M. Tuttle, State lightweight fighting his first varsity fight, started things off when he punched out a clean decision over Jenkins. Tuttle fought a beautiful fight piling up points in every round. The final bout of the evening decided the match. In this fight, big N. J. Johnson got a decision over Brown of South Carolina. Johnson was particularly effective in the clinches.

The only fight which State lost was in the junior-middleweight class. Hilton of South Carolina got a three round decision over Captain Jack Fabri of State. Although losing the decision, Fabri gave Hilton much punishment.

There has been much talk here of discontinuing boxing, but the team showed in their first appearance that they are not as weak as they are slated to be.

The summary:
Bantamweight: Forfeited to Taylor of South Carolina.

Featherweight: Tuttle, State, won over Jenkins, decision.

Lightweight: Penland, State, won over Cardwell, technical knockout, second round.

Welterweight: Hudson, won over (Please turn to page four)

State Basketball Team Defeats Blue Devils 28-25 and Overruns Deacons 52-26

CLOSE CONTEST PLAYED AGAINST DUKE TUESDAY

Woody Lambeth and Charlie Aycock Put Terrors Ahead of Duke in Last of Game

The State College Red Terrors took their two games played in Raleigh during the past week in fine style. In a game played at the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium last Friday night, they trounced the Wake Forest basketball team 52-26, after the State freshmen had also won their game by a large margin. Then on last Tuesday night, the Terrors won from the Duke University quintet in a close contest. The final score of that game was 28-25.

This week-end, the Terrors are off on a trip in which they played Davidson Wednesday night, and won 29-21. They continued into South Carolina yesterday and played Furman University. Tonight the Terrors meet Clemson, and tomorrow night their game with the University of South Carolina at Columbia will conclude their tour.

Blue Devils Defeated The Frank Thompson Gymnasium was filled almost to capacity Tuesday night to see the Red Terrors and the Duke Blue Devils meet on the hardwood floor. The State fans had been aroused exceedingly in the preliminary game between the frosh teams of the two schools when the Duke freshmen won their game by two points on a decision by the referee that left some doubt in the minds of the spectators.

When the varsity quintets took the floor, it was seen that Duke's first string team was on the bench. They remained on the bench throughout the first half of the match, and at the end of the half, the score was 15-9 in favor of the Red Terrors. During the whole game, neither team seemed able to find the basket consistently. Duke did not sink a field goal until Riley made one after ten and one-half minutes of the half had elapsed. Big Ray Rex sunk one of his long tries at the basket to make the first two-point score for the Terrors. The State offense did not seem to be clicking so smoothly, however, and the forwards missed many shots at the basket. The Duke second team was having even more trouble finding the basket.

The Blue Devil first team went in after three minutes of the second half had elapsed. The Duke team gradually cut short the Terrors' lead, until with three and a half minutes of the (Please turn to page four)

Midwinter Dances

The annual Midwinter Dances at North Carolina State College, which are eagerly looked forward to by the collegiate dancing contingent of the state, will be held the week-end of February 1 and 2. The dances are sponsored by the fourteen social fraternities at the college.

Gene Kardos and his Victor Recording Orchestra has been secured to furnish the music for this colorful series of dances. Kardos' orchestra, which broadcasts frequently over the Columbia Radio network, features a number of original musical arrangements.

Sponsors for the dance will be Miss Elizabeth Park of Raleigh, with Walter F. Greenwood, of Rocky Mount, member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity, and president of the State College Interfraternity Council; Miss Nancy Mann, of Raleigh, with Bill Shaw, of Winton, Theta Kappa Nu, vice president of the Interfraternity Council; and Miss Betty Allardice, of Mountain Lakes, New Jersey, a senior at the Woman's College in Greensboro, with Larry Martin, Nyack, N. Y., Delta Sigma Phi, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The Frank Thompson gymnasium, scene of all college dances, will be decorated with an abundance of evergreens, snow, an Aurora Borealis and a crystal ball, all lighted up by spot lights to present a most attractive and natural looking winter scene.

This series, the fifth annual affair under the present Interfraternity Council's sponsorship, will begin Friday night with a formal dance followed by an informal tea d'ansat Saturday afternoon and another formal affair Saturday night.

A feature of the Midwinters will be the inaugurating of several no-break dances. Heretofore, no-break dances have not been permitted except the one no-break dance which is given members of the figure.

On Saturday night, the dance figure will be led by the sponsors and their dance partners.

Arrangements are being made to broadcast a short program of the Gene Kardos dance music from the ballroom floor Friday and Saturday nights over radio station WPTF of Raleigh.

A number of fraternities are planning to have house parties during the week-end of the dances and invitations to these social activities have been extended friends not only throughout North Carolina, but throughout the South.

The series will be chaperoned by members named on the 1934-35 official chaperone list which is as follows: Colonel J. W. Harrelson, Dr. and Mrs. Z. P. Metcalf, Dr. and Mrs. A. I. Ladu, Colonel Bruce Magruder, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Miller, Professor and Mrs. F. B. Wheeler, Dean and Mrs. Thomas Nelson, Dean and Mrs. C. R. LeFort, Dean and Mrs. E. L. Cloyd, Professor and Mrs. A. F. Greaves-Walker, and Dr. and Mrs. J. V. Hoffmann.

Announcements

The Glee Club is making plans for a concert tour in the near future. All members are urged to make a special effort to attend every rehearsal from now on. Owing to the afternoon conflicts of many of the members, the rehearsal schedule has been changed back to the 6:30 hour on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesday.

The Tompkins Textile Society will hold a meeting in the Textile Building Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

E. L. Spence, President.

Mu Beta Psi fraternity will hold a very important meeting next Tuesday night at 6:30 in the Y. M. C. A. All members and alumni on the campus are urged to be present.

The presidents of all organizations desiring representation in the 1935 Agromock will please call by the Agromock office in Price Hall from 4:30 to 6 p.m. any afternoon except Saturday.

Jim Barnhardt, Business Manager.

There will be a meeting of the Order of 30 and 3 in Holiday Hall Tuesday at 7 o'clock. It is very urgent that every member be present.

Claude Carrow, President.

The A. S. C. E. will hold its bi-monthly meeting on Tuesday, January 22, in the Civil Engineering Building. There will be a short business meeting and a discussion of the proposed dance to be held shortly. J. B. Whitman, consulting engineer, will address the meeting.

Orchestra rehearsals will hereafter be held regularly on Tuesday afternoons at 4:30 o'clock in Pullen Hall instead of on Thursdays. Any prospective new members please get in touch with Major C. D. Kutschinski before Tuesday.

Mu Beta Psi, honorary music fraternity, furnished ushers for the Raleigh concert of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra Tuesday night.

W. C. Huband, who was graduated from State College in 1933, is one of the business managers of the orchestra.

While a student at State, Huband took an active part in the musical organizations.

Sigma Pi

Members of the Sigma Pi fraternity entertained at an enjoyable New Year's dance last Friday evening at their home on Clarke Avenue. The dance was given in honor of the alumni of the fraternity and friends on the college campus. The fraternity home was attractively decorated. Punch and cakes were served throughout the evening.

Young ladies who were guests of the fraternity were: Miss Nancy Mann, Miss Jeannette Bagwell, Miss Mary Louise Parker, Miss Emily Hunt, Miss Katherine Williams, Miss Barbara Harris, Miss Virginia Weathers, Miss Mary Lily Cromartie, Miss Joan McIntyre, Miss Caroline Tucker, Miss Lillian Corington, Miss Adelaide Goodwin, Miss Louise Warren, Miss Dorothy Danieles, Miss Ola Day Uzzle, Miss Melba Byouk, Miss Margaret Underwood, Miss Nancy Dalton, and Miss Deta Craige of Glen Falls, Tenn.

Professor and Mrs. A. F. Greaves-Walker were the chaperones for the occasion.

Freshman Tea

The second of a series of teas in honor of freshmen of State College will be held Sunday afternoon from four to five-thirty o'clock in the reception rooms of the college Y. M. C. A.

The first of the series of teas which was held last Sunday afternoon was a marked success. About one hundred students and guests called during the social hour. Among those present was a group of young ladies who are freshmen at Meredith College.

Each Sunday afternoon invitations will be extended to a different group of freshmen and young ladies.

Guest at the tea last Sunday were greeted at the door by Dr. and Mrs. Karl Garrison, and Dean and Mrs. E. L. Cloyd, who were host and hostess for the afternoon. They were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Lefort, Professor and Mrs. W. N. Hicks, Carter Williams, and Dr. E. M. Bernatkin. Receiving in the dining room were Mrs. James Fontaine and Mrs. J. W. Goodman.

Attractive arrangement of palms, ferns and cut flowers was the setting for the gathering. Russian tea, sandwiches and bon-bons were served to the freshmen and their guests during the afternoon.

A sub-committee of the social functions committee of the college, of which Mr. John F. Miller is chairman, and the social committee of the college Woman's Club, of which Mrs. John R. Eden and Mrs. D. B. Anderson are chairmen, in conjunction with Col. J. W. Harrelson, arranged the tea. Those assisting were Messrs. R. H. Ruffner, Robert Seitz and Marshall Gardner, president of the student government.

A trio under the direction of Major C. D. Kutschinski rendered musical selections throughout the afternoon.

LOCAL CHURCH PRESENTS

MOTION PICTURE SUNDAY

A new and unusual motion picture with effective recorded musical accompaniment, portraying the "Life of Christ," and the "Passion Play," was given at Edenton Street Methodist Church on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Laurence A. Lambert of New York, who is in charge of the picture, added to the picture rendition with a brief and appropriate address and a fitting sacred solo.

RED TERRORS DEFEAT DUKE AND WAKE FOREST QUINTETS

game to play, Sammy Bell, Duke guard, made a lous shot good to put the Blue Devils at the short end of a 24-23 score. The Kunkle sank a shot from the corner to put Duke ahead 25-24.

At this time Woody Lambeth went in for LeRoy Jay at the left forward post. With one and a half minutes left to play, Lambeth arched a long, high shot through the basket. Then Charlie Aycock sank a shot one from under the basket to end the game and make the final score 28-25 in favor of the Terrors.

Ray Rex made four field goals and three free tries good to lead individual scoring for the game with 11 points. Chub Womble played a bang-up game for the Terrors in his guard position and caused the Blue Devils a deal of trouble.

Sammy Bell, first string guard for Duke was a leading player for his team and though he was the smallest man on the floor for either team, he played really good basketball. Kunkle was high scorer for Duke.

Wake Forest Snowed Under

When the Terrors saw the way the State yearlings waded through the Wake Forest opposition in the preliminary basketball games, it evidently set them off to a fine start. The Deacons never came very close to the State score at any time in the game. At the half, State led 35-7.

The State offense and defense was working with almost machine-like precision, as they rolled up point after point. Charlie Aycock, Terror forward led the scoring with 20 points made on nine goals and two free throws. LeRoy Jay, other forward for the Terrors, was right in the game also when it came to getting points for State. Flythe played a good game at center also.

"Goat" Hatcher played a good guard position for the Deacons, while his team mates, Brent and Chapell did about the best playing seen on the Wake Forest side. The Deacons seemed to be outclassed in most of the play.

When the Deacons got the ball, they seemed to have no very definite offensive plans, or if they did, the plans did not work very well against State's defensive players.

Sport Glimpses

freak ruling in the last few seconds gave the Duke fresh two points and the game 42-41. Referee Taylor ruled that Connie Mack Berry interfered with the basket when a Duke player shot. The ball did not go through the hoop, but Duke was awarded two points because Berry tipped the net with his fingers. You would hardly see that rule called once in a thousand times, but that once was enough to cost the freshmen the game. Berry played a nice game, though, scoring twenty-one points. He's going to be hard to keep off the varsity next year.

We had a lot of so called celebrities down at the gym Tuesday night for the basketball game. Lath Morris, champion noisemaker of this section, was there. Sitting somewhere near him was Bob Gresson, our own champion noisemaker, but Gresson didn't stand a show to Morris. I also saw Carl Goersch in the audience. He is one of North Carolina's most prominent newswriters. Wallace Wade, who took three Alabama teams to the Rose Bowl, was there also.

Here's just a few shorts. . . . The freshman basketball team has a game with Massanutten Academy here Saturday night. . . . Region and Ryneka made a good pair of seconds down at Columbia last week. . . . Rex has been high score for the first two games played this week. . . . He got hot on a couple of long ones in succession against Duke. . . . Duke tried some strategy by playing their second team most of the game. . . . they got their first stringers in a little too late. . . . Charlie Garner is proving a plenty good boxing coach; he's coaching the freshmen and is working them. . . . John Stanko, president of the Monogram Club was in a bind when the sweaters and other awards didn't arrive in time for the Monogram Club smoker. . . . that's okay though, all those boys are supposed to be in training anyway.

Faculty Forms Club

A representative group of the State College faculty, the experiment station staff, and the extension service staff voted unanimously recently to create a faculty club.

Fred B. Wheeler, professor in the Engineering School, was elected chairman of the organization committee.

The group also voted to accept an offer of a club room which had been extended them by the Y. M. C. A., and which is located on the second floor of the "Y."

STATE THEATRE

In a screen play admirably suited to their talent, Ann Harding and Robert Montgomery are again seen together in "Biography of a Bachelor Girl," which will be shown at the State Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Completing this program is another delightful, all color, Silly Symphony "Peculiar Penguins"; an Oddity "Strikes and Spares" and a News.

PALACE THEATRE

"Happiness Ahead," Palace "Happiness Week" will play Thursday, Friday and Saturday with Dick Powell in the stellar role.

The story by Harry Sauber is a glamorous romance that combines hilarious situations with melodramatic thrills, to which several catchy musical numbers are added.

Dick Powell sings "Pop Goes My Heart" and "Beauty Must Be Love," and joins with Frank McHugh in a humorous duet entitled "Massaging Window Panes." A fourth song is rendered by Dorothy Dare, the famous Broadway musical comedy star, who comes to the screen for the first time in this picture. Her song is "All on Account of a Strawberry Sundae."

CAPITOL THEATRE

A grand acting combination, a thrilling fast-paced and imaginatively directed story, and a human and appealing theme are the elements that were put in to the making of "Now and Forever," which plays at the Capitol Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, and that make that picture one of the most thoroughly delightful and entertaining hours of film fare that have been offered in a long time.

Romantic Gary Cooper, Carole Lombard and lovable Shirley Temple are the three who play out this tale of a reckless young international crook, his light of love, and the child who changes the whole course of their gay lives.

Did you ever notice..in a roomful of people..the difference between one cigarette and another..and wonder why Chesterfields have such a pleasing aroma

Many things have to do with the aroma of a cigarette... the kind of tobaccos they are made of... the way the tobaccos are blended... the quality of the cigarette paper.

IT takes good things to make good things.

Someone said that to get the right aroma in a cigarette, you must have the right quantity of Turkish tobacco —and that's right.

But it is also true that you get a pleasing aroma from the home-grown tobaccos... tobaccos filled with Southern Sunshine, sweet and ripe.

When these tobaccos are all blended and cross-blended the Chesterfield way, balanced one against the other, you get a flavor and fragrance that's different from other cigarettes.
