TO HANG OR NOT TO HANG

The announcement has been made that the McLean murals will come up before a vote of the general faculty before they will find a final resting place in the rotunda of the D. H. Hill Library. If the professors find that the murals are not appropriate for the rotunda, they will be removed.

Since they were placed in the library a short time ago, the murals have come in for a great deal of criticism chiefly because many think that the decorations are highly inappropriate for the plain Colonial interior of the Hill Library. Being painted along modernistic lines, the murals do not blend with the rotunda. The actual design and execution of the decorations have been the object of some criticism, but that does not seem to be the main point in the case.

The murals were painted through OWA funds, and the only expense incurred by the college was $75 for materials. There seems to be quite a few people who now think that since the decorations were painted for this library they must be accepted and hung. One prominent Raleigh artist has stated that the Library Committee is guilty of "breaking faith" with James McLean, the artist. One of the purposes of the government relief funds was to provide work for unemployed artists, the object being to get money into circulation. Now that the murals have been painted and presented to the college, some would have it that the decorations should be permanently placed in the rotunda of the library. When an individual receives an article and is dissatisfied with it, he does not make use of it just because he bought it or had it presented to him. The principle of the McLean murals is the same. A majority of the faculty members, students, alumni, and friends of the college do not approve of the murals as suitable decorations for the interior of the library.

In the January, 1935, issue of Fortune there is shown a group of murals which have been painted for the Iowa State College. These murals are simple in design and yet they are highly more effective than the McLean murals. The figures are representative of their fields, and have none of the distortion and complicated effect of the State College paintings.

When the faculty votes on the murals about March 1, it is almost certain that the group will vote not to hang the murals permanently in view of the widespread adverse sentiment exhibited.

MORE RESEARCH

With prospects unusually bright for increased appropriations for all three units of the Greater University comes the realization that more research work may be carried on in the Engineering School than has been in the past four or five years.

It has been unusually difficult for the Engineering School here to carry on a great deal of research because of the drastic curtailments placed into effect by the last two legislatures, and as a result not only the students, but the school has suffered. One of the ways in which an institution builds up a name for itself is through the research work which it carries on. Unless there is a sufficient amount of money to carry on this important function, the reputation of the institution begins to wane. However, a school that is always alert to research usually finds itself in the limelight in the engineering profession, and its graduates regarded as valuable men by employers.

One of the most active departments in the Engineering School in the furthering of research work is the Ceramic Department, and in so doing, it has reached out and acquired an enviable place in its field. The graduates of this department have, as a whole, fared unusually well in the securing of positions even when there were but few jobs open to other graduates.

ENGINEERING—WHERE?

Just now while the Chapel Hill division and the Raleigh division of the Greater University are struggling for possession of the consolidated Engineering School, the public stands by and closely watches every move made by the two factions.

It is most doubtful that a decision will be made by the Legislature at this session, since there have been but too few recommendations offered to consider the ultimate location of the Engineering School. Both institutions are waging one of the most interesting sieges ever seen in educational circles.

Some impressive facts have been brought out that should arouse the attention and curiosity of the public, and at the same time show the advantages of the final location in Raleigh rather than at Chapel Hill. At Carolina there are 2,704 students enrolled, or an increase of only 11 per cent over last year's figures. State College's enrollment of 1932 is an increase of 21 per cent over last fall. Of the 2,704 students in school at Carolina, there are only 285 taking engineering, this being slightly less than ten per cent of the entire student body. At State College, however, of the 1802 enrolled, 670, or slightly more than 37 per cent of the student body, are in the Engineering School.

On the basis of graduates and the budget appropriations for the school, each engineering graduate at the Chapel Hill division cost the taxpayers of North Carolina last year $1,863, while the cost at State College per engineering graduate was only $891, or less than 50 per cent of the Carolina figure. The State College figure also includes graduates in mathematics. If this department were not included, the total cost per graduate would have been about $100 less.

Carolina's graduating class last year of engineering students was only 20. The enrollment in the same school last year was 224 students. In other words, the Chapel Hill division apparently has a high mortality rate among its engineers, since, judging from the figures, only about one out of every 11 matriculating in engineering were graduated, while at State College one out of every five and one-half received diplomas. Of the 600 enrolled here last year 112 were in the 1934 graduating class.

The number of graduates in the Engineering School at Carolina for the past five years also shows an interesting comparison. In 1930, 38 were graduated; in 1931, 36; in 1932, 34; in 1933, 27; and in 1934, 20. If the figure continues to decrease, the school there is apparently doomed to die a natural death.

This institution has practically every advantage over the Chapel Hill site for the location of the Engineering School. In the first place, there is more equipment and better facilities here; in the second place, this is recognized as one of the best technical colleges in the country; in the third place, the enrollment in the Engineering School here far surpasses that at Carolina; and in the fourth place, there is a great deal of engineering work carried on in the City of Raleigh, which is almost entirely absent in Chapel Hill, and which therefore provides a great deal of practical knowledge for students enrolled here.

Just why some wish to locate the consolidated school at Chapel Hill is not very clear, unless for sentimental reasons. Consolidation was inaugurated as a practical enterprise, and sentiment should have but little to do with the location. One of the more rabid Chapel Hill proponents has gone so far as to suggest that secret enemies are at work to undermine the Carolina division. The accuser, John Sprunt Hill, with such a small amount of apparent thinking on his part, should never make any further statements along this line if he wishes not to be held up to public ridicule. His accusation was the occasion for a great deal of amusement when it was published in state newspapers.

If the Chapel Hill division would take a look into the future, it might see that the best location for its law school would be in Raleigh, which is the best laboratory for law students in the entire state. In this city there is located practically every type of court from the magistrate's court to the State Supreme Court and the federal courts. In making their demands for the entire Engineering School, the Chapel Hill advocates might take the aforementioned proposal into consideration. Raleigh has many advantages which the town of Chapel Hill can never offer.

The State College delegation realizes that it has a tremendous task ahead of it, and is now working tirelessly towards the placing of the consolidated Engineering School here.

OUR RISING STAR

During the past several years, the intramural sports at State College have increased steadily in popularity, and today they play one of the most important parts in the campus life.

Much of this success has been due to the tireless effort of Mr. John Miller, director of physical education. It has been the desire of the director during his stay here to see intramural sports grow into an even larger place than they now occupy on the campus. He realizes that there are but a limited few who have the ability to take part in sports in which the college is represented, and in order to give every student a chance to participate in some sport or sports he has urged the organization of teams for each dormitory, fraternity, and club. In this way practically every student has a chance to take part in some sport.

The time may come when all intercollegiate engagements may be abolished and intramurals substituted in their stead. If this should become a reality, State College with its capable director would be ready for the change.

HERE and THERE

By G. W. FORD

The State College Grapplers seem to be picking up quite a number of followers this year. The size of the crowd at the wrestling match with Carolina last Saturday night proved that they go for a winning team and not for just one particular sport. It might be good for those making the appropriations for sports to keep this in mind.

Thad Yelton was standing around the State Drug store the other night smoking a cigar. I don't know whether or not he bought it himself. . . he may have just joined the Young Democrats or something. . . well, anyhow it was a niche cigar when he started on it. By the time that it got down to a quarter cigar Thad's system began to feel the effects of it. There he stood with the cigar in one hand and an ice cream cone in the other. And the moral of this story is, "If you ain't a-livin' right. . . watch out."

An article which is bound to cause much comment as soon as it is read is that one in the last issue of the Overland Digest entitled, "College Furians." In one part of his article the author as much as says that college professors are a bunch of quacks looking for a soft job and the prestige that goes with it.

Latest report on the Wataugan: Larry Martin, Business Editor, says that the Wataugan will be out as soon as wrestling season is over.

The Sunday moving pictures are causing quite a bit of comment, both favorable and unfavorable. Local preachers are kicking up sand because the city allowed these Sunday shows to go on. My idea is that a person who really wants to go to church will not let a motion picture keep him from going. Then again, a person deserves no credit for going to church if that's the only thing left for him to do.

Miss Smith, of the Ricks Hall Smiths, wants it to be known that she is not running around with "That Guy" any more. This, of course, means that she does not want to be asked, "What has become of So-and-So?"

A new sign appeared on the windows of the Fairmount Grill yesterday announcing that board would be so much per month for two meals a day. Under this it said, "Free toast and coffee in the morning." Unless there is some change made in this sign the Grill will have a number of guests who will just drop in for the morning hand-out.

And speaking of Grills and Cafes, have you ever said to yourself, "I wonder how had off a Cafe would have to be before it would get a rating lower than an 'A' Grade?" Two of the scariest things in the country today are foreigners who do not claim kinship to the Royalty back in their country and Cafes which are graded lower than A.

Another Smith breaks into print: W. W. Smith went off on a date last Tuesday night and didn't show up again until late Wednesday afternoon. Maybe he'll have a kidnap story ready for publication soon.

Still another. . . E. B. Smith even writes with an accent.

Down at the Capitol Restaurant the other night I saw a cat on the shelf labeled Ballyhoo Sardines. I suppose that when you open the can you'll find a lot of little mermaids with nothing but scales on them.

The state legislators ought to get home a good deal earlier this year since Josephus Daniels is down in Mexico.

The best poster out is that new safety poster. It pictures a driver holding an unconscious child in his arms and looking up saying, "What have I done?" If every driver would read this poster and think about it there would be no need for the legislature to pass a law compelling drivers to pass a test before they are allowed to drive. A motto which should be engraved on the dashboard of every automobile is, "THINK."

They tell me that one professor Lewis of the Textile School felt neglected last week when the TECHNICIAN missed him on the list of nicknames. The students have dubbed him "Globe Head."

If you prefer the rhythmic arrangements of shoeshine boy to your own cuts and slashes drop in to see that boy next door to the Palace. He'll shine the toes of your shoes and put rhythm in your soul.

TAU BETA PI MAY ERECT PLAQUES TO HONOR MEN

Members of Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity, discussed plans for the eventual installation of plaques in all engineering buildings containing the names of members in that department at a meeting of the society Thursday, January 24.

As a part of the program of the meeting Robert L. Stone, teaching fellow in the Ceramic Engineering School, talked on the relation of ceramics to other industries.

A Real N. C. State Booster

STATE

A palatial ocean liner, plying between New York and Europe and featuring an elaborate radio entertainment broadcast from the high seas, is the scene of "Transatlantic Merry-Go-Round," comedy-drama studded with melody, mirth and mystery, which will be shown at the State Theatre on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Jack Benny, as master of ceremonies of the radio troupe, Nancy Carroll as Sally Marsh, his star, and Gene Raymond, as a young Raffles with a penchant for diamond bracelets, head the great cast of screen and radio favorites, which includes Sydney Howard, England's leading comedian, Milti Green, in her first grownup role, Sid Silvers, Frank Parker, the Boswell Sisters, Sidney Blackmer, Ralph Morgan, Shirley Grey, Sam Hardy, Patry Kelly, William Boyd, Jean Sargent and Jimmy Grier and his orchestra.

A comedy, "Done in Oil," with Thelma Todd and Patry Kelly and a Travlogue complete the program.

PALACE

Perhaps the most stirring, thought-provoking and thoroughly satisfying mystery drama that has been produced in a long time, "The President Vanishes," will play at the Palace Theatre Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday.

The picture blends mystery, intrigue, and romance with shrewd political observation to make for unadulterated entertainment.

A Charlie Chase comedy and News complete the program.

CAPITOL

"Dames," newest and most spectacular musical comedy romance, comes to the Capitol Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with an all star cast headed by Joan Blondell, Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler.

Three hundred beautiful girls dance and frolic in beautiful and complicated ensembles that are said to be the most novel and most sensational yet created by that master of special numbers, Busby Berkeley.

WAKE

Will Rogers, "whose soul is America," as someone has pointed out, "discovers" still another quarter of our land in the new Fox film, "Judge Priest," which opens at the Wake Theatre Sunday, and in so doing gives to the screen one of his greatest performances.

A sleepy Kentucky town of the early

A. I. E. E. MAKES PLANS FOR HOLDING BANQUET

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers is planning an initiation banquet to be held at Carolina Pines next Friday night, February 8, after which a dance will be held. Members of some of the other departments have been invited to attend.

The recently appointed committee to represent the society at the Engineers Fair consists of Aaron Epstein, chairman; A. W. Robinson, and J. E. Lennon.

Dr. Craig to Lecture

Dr. Hardin Craig, visiting professor in English for the winter term at the Chapel Hill unit of the University, will lecture at State College Wednesday, February 13, at 8 o'clock. The subject of Professor Craig's lecture will be "The Opinion of Plenty, a Lecture on the Function of Learning in a Community."

Dr. Craig is a member of the faculty at Stanford University.

College Band Plays

The State College Concert Band made an impressive showing when its sixty-six members, regaled in flashy red-coat uniforms, played a forty-five-minute concert program as a prelude to the annual President's Birthday Ball Wednesday night.

It was the band's first concert appearance since the holidays. The band will give occasional Sunday afternoon concerts in Pullen Hall, and in the spring will also play outdoor concerts on the campus.

TERRORS TO PLAY WAKE FOREST AND S. C. GAMECOCKS

Team is Greatly Handicapped by the Temporary Loss of Chub Womble at Guard

STATE MEETS DEACONS TUESDAY; S. C. THURSDAY

Both Games Will Be Played in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium at the College; Team Still in Good Spirits After a Continued List of Unfavorable Happenings; Last Bad Luck Was Loss of Womble for Three Weeks Because of His Fractured Wrist

The State College Red Terrors meet two Southern Conference foes in their basketball engagements of the next week. They are scheduled to meet Wake Forest on Tuesday night and the University of North Carolina Gamecocks next Thursday night. Both are home games and will be played in the Frank Thompson gymnasium.

The Red Terrors have met both of these foes previously this season. On January 11, they defeated the Wake Forest Deacons by the low score of 52-36. In turn the State quintet was defeated 42-25 by the South Carolina Rosters.

The State team has had a series of happenings during the present season that have seemed almost to have placed a jinx upon them. The first was the declaration by the faculty athletic committee that Leroy Jay, regular forward for the Terrors, was ineligible for further varsity competition because of a practice game he played while he was enrolled as a sophomore here.

Then on the South Carolina trip several members of the squad contracted cases of influenza. Charlie Aycock, varsity forward was confined to his home for some time by this malady.

The most recent announcement of unfavorable happenings is that Chub Womble who plays the running partner to Ray Rex in the guard position, will be out of the games for about three weeks. Womble suffered a fracture of one of the bones in his wrist while playing in the V. P. I. game here last Friday night. The extent of his injury was not learned until he was examined the next day, and he continued playing in the game for some time after he was injured.

The spirit of the team has held up admirably under this continued ill-fortune, as can be witnessed by the hard fight they gave the University of North Carolina White Phantoms in last Wednesday night's game. Although defeated, the Terrors did a fine grade of playing.

The play of the last few games has shown up two State players most favorably. "Local" Bob Harris did a neat brand of playing against V. P. I. last Friday, and in the game against Carolina Wednesday, Woody Lambeth was high scorer for State with 13 points.

In State's previous game with the Deacons this year, Goat Hatcher, Deacon guard, turned in a good brand of play for his team, but his teammates did not give him very much support. The South Carolina game will be a much harder game for State. The Birds have an excellent club which is paced by the great floor play of their captain, Dana Henderson.

Both games should prove of interest to State game fans, although the South Carolina game should be the much more closely contested.

WRESTLERS' BEST CAROLINA TEAM

Varsity Wins 18-6, But Frosh Drop Their Meet With Tar Babies By 23-13 Score

The State College varsity mat team started its Big Five title defense last Saturday night by defeating the University of North Carolina grapplers 15 to 6. The meet was staged before a large number of fight enthusiasts in the Frank Thompson gymnasium.

- Summary of varsity bouts:
- 115—Unlimited, State, defeated Bell Advantage, 7:00.
- 125—Kerr, State, defeated Douglas. Adv. Advantage, 8:30.
- 135—Kraich, State, defeated Ward. Adv. Advantage, 1:15 in extra.
- 145—Cannup, State, defeated Gholston. Advantage, 5:30.
- 155—Catala Bernhard, State, defeated Bonner Advantage, 2:55.
- 165—Catala Egan, Carolina, defeated Furr. Advantage, 6:00.
- 175—Crom, State, defeated Gwyn. Adv. Advantage, 4:02.
- Unlimited—Troeger, State, defeated Hanson. Advantage, 4:09.
- Summary of freshman bouts:
- 115—Mendrow, State, threw Patrick after 50 seconds of third period.
- 125—Buntinghaus, Carolina, defeated Willis. Advantage, 5:20.

RING TEAM GOES TO CHAPEL HILL

Boxing Teams of Two Sister Institutions to Stage Dual Meet Tomorrow Night

GRAPPLERS MEET V. P. I. THERE SATURDAY NIGHT

Freshman and Varsity Mat Teams Go to Blacksburg in Their Third Matches of Season

The boxing teams of State and Carolina have the North Carolina sport stage to themselves for their dual meet which will be fought in the Tin Can Saturday night. The first fight is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

The feature battle of the evening will bring together the captains of the two teams in the middleweight class. Captain Fahri of State got a decision over Captain Giddens of the Tar Heels last year, but Giddens will be out for revenge.

The strength of the Carolina team has been very much in doubt for the past week by virtue of the administration at Carolina declaring Tom O'Flarty and Jules Mydenki, lightweight and junior middleweight, ineligible. It was rumored that these two along with another varsity boxer were preparing to enter a school in Washington, D. C.

The remainder of the lineup will consist of the ringmen who fought against South Carolina in Washington, D. C. Fenland and Seaman Hudson, who both got technical knockouts against the Gamecocks, are slated for the lightweight and welterweight berths respectively. M. M. Tuttle will get the call against the veteran Butaler in the featherweight class. Nellis Johnson, appears as Coach Johnson's choice in the heavyweight.

Two won decisions State's 5-3 victory over South Carolina. As yet, no bantamweight has been found to handle that weight against Diehl, who incidentally gained a decision over the Southern Conference bantamweight champion. However there is a possibility that Henry Garlington, member of last year's freshman team will fight. Garlington dropped a decision to Diehl in the freshman fights last year.

There will be no freshman fight between the two schools.

Gobblers Lose
State College's undefeated varsity wrestling team will journey to Blacksburg, Va., tomorrow to meet V. P. I., there tomorrow night.

The State grapplers will be after their third victory in three years over V. P. I., also their third victory of the current season. The Techs have met V. M. I. and Carolina this season, and won over the former by a score of 15-14 and the latter by a score of 18-6. Carolina has met V. P. I. already this year and turned the Virginians back by a 23-9 score. This indicates that the State team should not find it hard to bring back a win. However, reports from V. P. I. show that the Blacksburg team has been working hard since the meet with Carolina and pointing for the match with State.

Coach Dave Morrah said recently that his team was in fairly good shape with the exception of Bell, 118 pound sophomore who was injured in the Carolina match of last week. Bell is expected to be back in shape again for this match.

Morrha's team will go into the meet without the services of their captain, Carl Bernhardt, who is off doing practice teaching work. Bernhardt has not been defeated this season. McLaughlin will wrestle in the State leader's place, meeting Captain Brownies of V. P. I. in a match that is expected to be one of the best of the meet.

Other matches that will probably be outstanding are in the 126 lb. class and the 165 lb. class. The former will pit Colin Kerr against Russell Minter, V. P. I. star, and the latter will pit Craig Furr against Priddle.

Krach and Croom have wrestled in both meets this season and are undefeated as yet. These two are expected to come back with wins from the tomorrow night. Red Trozier will handle the heavy weight class against V. P. I. Although he only weighs 165 lbs., Trozier came through with a win in the meet with Carolina last week in this class.

It was learned late yesterday that State's freshman grapplers would make the trip to Blacksburg with the varsity. The Techlets will meet the varsity of V. P. I.

Jinx Continues

CHUB WOMBLE

The jinx that has been dogging the trail of the State College Red Terrors seems to be continuing. The latest item in the bad news column is that Chub Womble, Raleigh regular at guard, on the State basketball squad will be lost to the team for about three weeks. Womble fractured his left wrist in the game with V. P. I. last Friday night. Womble kept playing after he was injured, and it was not until the next day that the fracture was discovered after medical examination.

Sport Glimpses

By BILL GOAD

If there is any such thing as a jinx, Doc Sermon sure must have one around his neck. With prospects of a championship basketball team, Leroy Jay was declared ineligible. On the same trip, Charlie Aycock, the other starting forward, went down with the flu. On top of all that, Chub Womble, one of the best guards in the state, broke his wrist in the V. P. I. game last week. The Red Terrors haven't given up though. They dropped a plenty close game to the Carolina quint in the Tin Can Wednesday night.

The wrestlers bring their quest for another State wrestling title last Saturday night, getting an 18-6 victory over the Carolina grapplers. All of the matches went by decision, in contrast to the freshman match which preceded in which nearly all the matches went by falls. The Tar Babies defeated the Wolflets in the freshman tilt.

The boxing team takes on the Carolina boxers in the Tin Can tomorrow night. Coach Johnson has built a scrappy little team out of practically no material. Only one letterman is out for the team this year. However, that is no reason to think that State will not be well represented. Coach Johnson won't say it, but he's bound to think that his team will give the Tar Heels a close scrap.

The man who made the State College winter sport schedule certainly must have had Carolina week in mind when he planned the past week's schedule. The wrestling team met the University of North Carolina at the University square in a postal match, the victors having a total score of 1834 points to the Wolfpack's 1808.

Captain Venable has scheduled a number of shoulder to shoulder matches which are to be held in following weeks.

We haven't heard much about the golf team these days. I guess it may be a little ahead of time to start talking about them but the team has been out several times each week touring the course. There is a good team back from last year and several good newcomers. Ex-Captain Pastore and Captain Baerthein will probably land regular positions and Freddie Newnam will play part of the time. Newnam is about the best college golfer in the conference. Bruce Canthen and Key "Buck" Seales are two who will probably play a lot before the season is over. Captain Ben Venable, coach of the links team, has several good trips arranged. There are about twenty matches in all.

It seems that Carolina is having about the same trouble with their boxing team as we have had, a good team on paper at the beginning of the season and then wrecked before the first match. However, the Tar Heels wrecked just a little too late to groom other men to step in and replace the lost ones. If Carolina loses O'Flarty, Mydenki and Novich, they will lose some of the best boxers I've seen perform in college circles in a long time.

YEARLING CAGERS TAKE TWO GAMES

Frosh Basketball Team Defeats Campbell College and Carolina Freshman Quintets

The State freshman game team kept its games during the past week in the victory column by defeating Campbell College in a game played here before the Terrors played V. P. I., and the Carolina frosh in a preliminary to the varsity games between those two schools. The scores were State Frosh 53, Campbell, 26, and State Frosh, 29, Carolina Frosh, 23.

The State freshman basketball team defeated the Carolina frosh in an overtime game played as a preliminary to the varsity game between the two schools at the Carolina gymnasium. The final score was 29-26 in favor of the Techlets.

The varsity game was exciting from start to finish. State Frosh guard, made good on a free throw ten seconds before the end of the game to tie the score 23 all. In the extra period, the Tar Babies made good three foul shots, but the Techlets quickly followed with as many field goals to win the game.

Individual scoring honors of the game went to Connie Mack Berry, lanky State center who scored seventeen points for over half of the total scoring for his team. Earl Ruth was high scorer for the Tar Babies with nine points.

The game was Carolina's first loss in the eight games they have played so far this season, and the State frog visibly marred their otherwise perfect record.

Campbell Defeated
State College's Freshman basketball team decisively defeated Campbell College 53-26 in a game that was the preliminary to the meeting of the varsity quintets of State and V. P. I. in the Frank Thompson gym last Friday night.

The State Frosh held a 10-0 lead in the first five and one-half minutes of the game before Campbell, center of the visitors, sank a short shot. The Warrenites had scored on two baskets by Berry, and a basket and free shot by both Satterfield and Swann.

The Techlets continued to add to their score with ease, the count in the end of the first half being 30-13 in their favor.

In the second half Warren's team garnered 25 points while the visitors were again getting 13.

Coach Bob Warren used three different teams in the second half and two in the first half. A total of fourteen different men were in the game for the Techlets.
Connie Mack Berry and Tommy Swann were the high scorers for the game, the former with 15 points and the latter with 13. Keating and Renalis, regular guards, also played nice games to rank with the State leaders as usual. Boone, substitute forward made four successive baskets to start the Techlets scoring for the second half and to rank third in the total scoring with eight points.
Gaylord and Hackett, forward and guard respectively, led Campbell's count with six points.

U. N. C. TAKES BIG FIVE LEAD BY BESTING STATE

Woody Lambeth Plays Brilliant Game Against Carolina for Individual Scoring Honors

The N. C. State Red Terrors lost their Big Five lead by a six point margin last Wednesday night. The six points was the margin of victory for the University of North Carolina White Phantoms when they played the State quintet at the Tin Can in Chapel Hill.

The White Phantoms lost the lead after seven minutes of the second half had been played, but a rally later on gave them ten points and the final victory. The final score was 33-27 in favor of the Chapel Hill team.

At the end of the first half, the Phantoms had exactly the same lead that they did at the end of the game, six points. The score at the end of the first half was 16-10, with Carolina on the long end of the score.

Woody Lambeth proved the leading player for State's quint, and he proved the spark plug in the Red Terrors' rally in the second half of the game. When the State drive started, Carolina led 21-14. Aycock started the Terrors to moving with a field goal, and then Lambeth made six points on three successive field goals. This put the Terrors in the lead 22-21.

The Terrors unfortunately lost the services of Stuart Flythe, regular center, right after they took the lead. He was put out of the game when he made his fourth personal foul. Snooks Allen and Jim McCachren then made things hot for State. They proved to be Carolina's star players all through the night. After Flythe left for the bench, the Phantoms got loose to push their score up to its final figures. In the meanwhile, Lambeth made a free throw and Charlie Aycock a field goal. Ray Rex made good two free chances to end the scoring of both sides for the night.

Lambeth was high scorer for the game and he paced his team's play throughout the night. He tallied thirteen points on six field goals and one free throw. Jim McCachren of the Phantoms was his rival for real playing. McCachren ran up a total of ten points and played an outstanding floor game for his team from his position as guard.

The result of this game gave Carolina the leadership in Big Five basketball and added to their already fine record for the season. At present, they have won twelve out of the fourteen games they have played this season.

V. P. I. Defeated
State College's Red Terrors played a splendid defensive game to defeat V. P. I. 23-17 in the Frank Thompson gym last Friday night.

"Chub" Womble opened the scoring in the game by making good two foul shots in the first minute of play. The score remained 2-0 in favor of State for six and one-half minutes until Rex sank a long shot to add two more points and put the Terrors ahead by (Please turn to page four)

Sport Glimpses

(Continued from page three) play the other day missed the treat of your life. The funny part about the whole thing to me was that they won. The first man I spotted on the floor was Red Williams, math professor. Peele Johnson and "Doc" Estes showed up good too. Another red was Kistler. He looked good during his time on the floor. The next time you hear of the faculty having a year, come on down to the gym. Your time will be well spent.

How about some shorts? . . . Glenn Penland, varsity lightweight, thinks he is a social elite because he caught a ride to practice last Saturday in the Governor's car. . . Ask Glenn the rest cause I can't tell you who was with him. . . Joe Ryaska and Ed Berlinsky are leading the Wolfpack scorers in winter football practice. Both have scored two touchdowns. One of Ed's was a fifty yard return of a punt. . . Berlinsky looks to be a good basketball player too in scrub games in the gym. . . The Red Terrors lost a tough one to the White Phantoms Wednesday night 33-27. That gives Carolina the top in the State race. . . Connie Mack Berry, star basketball player on Bob Warren's freshman team, has been doing the doubling act between football and basketball this winter.

Speaking of puns and we weren't willingly, this one was forced on us by Ahman: There is Croom for Morrish good men on the wrestling team if you Kerr enough Furr your school to be an applicant.

I guess at the next Carolina-Virginia fight, the boxers will be given lilies to fight with. Over at the Hill last Saturday night, all ushers, officials, seconds and other men on the bench wore tuxedos. It was so formal I guess they called it the art of self defense, and when they came to the corner between rounds said, "If you please I'll have a drink of water, and my appendages massaged."

Varsity Quintet Defeats V. P. I.; Loses to U. N. C.

(Continued from page three) four points. Ray added another two points on the same kind of shot approximately one minute later. The Terrors kept adding to this lead and were never behind, while the closest V. P. I. came to the lead was a few minutes later when they came within three points of the State score. V. P. I. was held scoreless for 13 minutes of the first half, when Mottola sank a short shot under the basket. With three minutes to go Pittro made good a free try and the visitor's scoring for the first half was over. State, however, added still more to their lead and the half ended with the Terrors in the lead 10-3.

Again in the second half State outscored V. P. I., but by a slightly smaller margin. Woody Lambeth opened the scoring for this period when he made a free shot after one and one-half minutes of play. Sneed soon evened the second half count by making a free shot, but then Flythe shot from the corner and the Terrors were away to put the game on ice.

"Local Bob" Harris, starting his first game at home, played a good floor game to be one of the leaders of the State team. Ray Rex and "Chub" Womble also came through with nice games and Rex led the scoring for the night with nine points.

Herman Haga, substitute forward, and Mottola, regular guard, were best for V. P. I. Haga, although playing but a part of the last period, led the visitors in scoring with a total of six points.

—so far as we know tobacco was first used about 400 years ago—
—throughout the years what one thing has given so much pleasure..so much satisfaction—
They came looking for gold . . . but they found tobacco
... and tobacco has been like gold ever since!
The tobacco raised in Virginia and exchanged for goods helped the struggling colonists to get a foothold when they came to America.
Later on, it was tobacco that helped to clothe and feed Washington's brave army at Valley Forge.
Today it is tobacco that helps—more than any other commodity raised in this country—to pay the expense of running our Government.
In the fiscal year 1933-34 the Federal Government collected $425,000,000 from the tax on tobacco. Most of this came from cigarettes—six cents tax on every package of twenty.
Yes, the cigarette helps a lot—and it certainly gives men and women a lot of pleasure.
Smokers have several reasons for liking Chesterfields. For one thing, Chesterfields are milder. For another thing, they taste better. They Satisfy.
