WAR CLOUDS AGAIN

With disorders breaking out all over Europe now, the world is again brought face to face with the question of another war.

At no time since "The war to end war" was fought has the horizon been darker or war seemed more imminent. It is true that there have been periods in between now and then that looked threatening, but then there were not so many countries involved or so many issues at stake. While many rulers in Europe are employing machiavellian methods to keep their people in line, the rest of the world looks on with a growing fear of another great conflict. The disastrous effects of the last great war seem to have been forgotten as the leaders of the European powers pile up an array of propaganda before their people which instills in them a contempt and in many cases, a hatred for their neighbors in other countries. They spare no expense and efforts in their aim towards this end, and a majority of the people, following the mob rule, are gullible enough to believe the mass of distorted facts. Stentorian orators stand before them and playing on their emotions lead them to believe that the rest of the world is awaiting the first opportunity to declare war and completely wipe them out. It is not a pretty picture. War is more serious than some would believe it.

The college student today should be especially interested in the proceedings. If war comes any time soon, he will be among those who will have to answer the first call of his country. He will be among those who will have to go out on a battlefield and risk his life for some cause which might have been settled peacefully with words and not the cold steel of bayonets, and bullets, and deadly gasses. He who should have taken the lead in his community will lie on a battlefield of slaked hell and stare death in the face, the very cream of the country's citizens sacrificed because men still have not become civilized, because men are still barbarians in times of stress.

It is up to the youth of the country then to see that war does not come, to see that war with all its false glamour is not the way to settle disputes. He should learn to be diplomat and not politician. Probably one of the surest ways to end all wars would be to make those on both sides who declare war fight it out among themselves with the instruments of death. It is doubtful that there would ever be another war if this method were employed.

The question is still undecided whether the best way to avoid conflict is an arms limitations policy or the arming-to-the-teeth policy. That has long been a sore issue between the pacifists and the militarists. Both sides have sound arguments which would leave one undecided after hearing the two factions in debate. It is recognized then that to prevent war, all countries must go to either of the extremes. And in between policy would tend to prove unsound.

There are some who would welcome war, especially those mercenary souls engaged in the munitions business. The recent Senate investigation of America's largest manufacturer of munitions revealed quite a few startling facts. It showed the surreptitious dealings of this company, along with several other powerful munitions manufacturers, that should make the average citizen sit up and take notice. A great number of conflicts have been caused by the underhand dealings of these firms. The munitions manufacturers are not the only guilty ones. There are other manufacturers whose products are in great demand in time of war who would welcome another conflict. They are the ones who live on the fat of the land while the youth of the country is mired up to its knees in trenches slaughtering world neighbors against whom he has no grudge, and in turn being slaughtered by those who are fighting because it was patriotic to do so.

There will not be so much bloodshed in the next war. It will be a war of poisonous gases manufactured by the munitions makers to stifle out the lives of the adversaries. Fighting will not be limited to the battlefields, but on the wings of death, the enemy will fly to the cities of their enemy and lay down gas attacks from the air which will strike not soldiers, but the older men, the women and the children.

The expression of that grizzled old veteran of the War Between the States, General Sherman, that "war is hell" still holds true, and the sad situation is that war seems always so inevitable.

PRICE HALL

At the beginning of this school year, all publications and the student government were moved to First Dormitory so that the major student activities would be together. The building, as yet, has not been renamed, and is still known as First Dormitory.

The name seems most inappropriate for a student activities building, so THE TECHNICIAN is going on record this week as being in favor of the name Price Hall, in honor of the late P. W. "Daddy" Price, beloved band leader who died about a year and a half ago. Realizing, of course, that the name will be unofficial unless sanctioned by the Board of Trustees, THE TECHNICIAN will in the future refer to the building as Price Hall.

It seems most fitting that a building of this sort should be named for a man who was as close to the students as "Daddy" Price. During his long stay at State College he was ever a friend to the students, and his inspiration helped many along. Always cheerful, his smiling face became a sort of fixture at the athletic contests at which his "boys" played. His untimely death was a sad blow to State College that may in some measure never be amended. So close was he to the students, in fact, that the memory of "Daddy" Price has become a tradition at the college.

PROF. J. SUMMIE WHITENER

THE TECHNICIAN wishes to extend its sincere sympathy to the family of Professor J. Summie Whitener in this hour of their bereavement.

The passing of Professor Whitener removes from our midst one of the best known and well liked professors on the State College campus. Professor Whitener, known to his intimate friends as just "Summie," was a man of high resolves and purposes, and on his classes students were impressed with his sterling character. He was regarded as one of the outstanding and most promising engineers in his chosen field in the South today. It is regrettable that a man of such promising ability should be stricken in the prime of life. His passing leaves a gap in the State College faculty which will be hard to fill.

State College again plays host to the South Carolina Gamecocks in their trek here to gain a football victory. May their visit be a pleasant one on the campus today and tomorrow.

HERE and THERE

By G. W. FORD

Of all people to be hurt in automobile accidents fate had to pick on Eugene Knight, our editor. Eugene, like a true editor, came by to give the final orders for the set-up of the paper before they took him out to the college infirmary. His head was completely covered with bandages, only his eyes and mouth were visible. Somewhere the sun was shining, but Thursday was some night for Knight.

Advice to the lovers: It's better to have loved and lost . . . much better.

The State Fair this week put the art of thumbing a ride on the competitive basis. There are so many masters of the thumb on Hillsboro Street in front of the college, the ordinary fellow doesn't even get a glance from the autoist.

They must have had a hot time out at the fair on Tuesday night. . . I mean when half of the exhibit hall burned down, or was it up. The news of this fire made me feel bad for I had painted a cow for one of the exhibits and I didn't even get to see it in the display. It was a huge cow too. . . it had all the things an ordinary cow has and then some improvements. It's tough on a cow to be burned like that before it had given its first quart of milk.

The mechanical man out there caused quite a bit of comment. He could stand up, sit down, move his arms, and answer questions. Marvelous. . . but think how many of the same specimen we have around here. . . and they pass unnoticed. Restudents, I call them. They go to class, answer questions, carry books, and go home again. . . never taking part in an outside activity. They're missing half of their college life and don't know it.

If anyone tells you that you can't get a decent steak dinner in this town, take him around to the Green Grill and prove to him that he's wrong. . . at his own expense. I've long searched for a place that could serve a steak and do it up right, and, "this is the joint, guys."

"The curse of liquor," says Joe College, "is payin' for it."

One of our good students took it upon himself to write a column and send it to us for printing, signing his name as "The Busy Bee." Now we can't accept any articles from students who refuse to sign their names. ANY one who does not have the courage of his own convictions does not rate space in THE TECHNICIAN.

The north end of 1911 is infected slightly with a flute player. He plays a little tin whistle. . . he's really harmless.

A bus is useful only as long as it performs the function for which it was put into use. When a bus driver makes a habit of driving on and only stopping when he feels like doing so he not only inconveniences many people but he also makes a bad name for himself. I have in mind one tubby little fellow who might be well named "Time and Tide" . . . he waits for no man. He's the same one who gave me change for five dollars all in nickles. If they don't start treating their customers better the boys are liable to bunch up and use taxi cabs to go to town.

Dave Morrah called Meredith the other night and asked to speak to a certain girl. After asking the girl who answered the phone to call his friend, Dave heard the receiver click. . . he was disconnected. He called again and the phone was once more hung up on him. With his nickles running low and his blood pressure running high, he finally exclaimed, "Will you please stop hanging up the receiver." "Well," replied the sweet young thing who had answered the phone, "I have to go and call her, don't I?"

"Come quick, waiter, there's a nasty word in my alphabet soup."

You have to be a football tackle and be able to break in there and smear the opposing backs in order to rate a pretty girl and a Chrysler on Sunday afternoons. . . ask Carl Isaacs.

DR. METCALF TO HELP IN SURVEY OF INSECTS

Dr. Z. P. Metcalf, head of the State College zoology department, has been requested to aid in a survey of Pacific insects by Dr. E. P. Mumford, director of the Pacific Entomological Survey.

The Pacific Entomological Survey plans to publish lists of the insects of all groups found on the numerous islands of the Pacific Ocean and adjacent countries, and Dr. Metcalf's part in this large project will consist of the preparation of a list of leaf hoppers of this region.

PALACE

"Beshrew me" and "What ho, varlet" merriment to the tune of two new musical numbers is featured in Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey's new funfilm, "Cockeyed Cavaliers," which will be shown at the Palace Theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Laid during the knighthood era of the early days, this filmical introduces "I Love to Dilly Dally" and "I Went Hunting" by Will Jason and Val Burton, composers of "Penthouse Serenade" and "Isn't This a Night for Love." These numbers serve as background for the pretentious comedy and song-and-dance featured in "Cockeyed Cavaliers."

A musical with Ruth Etting in "Torch Tango." Also a cartoon, "Buddy's Circus," and a news completes the program.

STATE THEATRE

Henry Santrey and his Soldiers of Fortune are booked for the State Theatre, Raleigh for Monday and Tuesday only. This unit is really a miniature revue presenting twenty-five people in a program of singing, dancing, comedy and music.

Estelle Fratus, former Earl Carroll Vanities star on Broadway, is acclaimed as the world's greatest tap dancer. She is also a very clever comedienne.

Loretta Grey, star from George White's Scandals, presents singing and dancing in a style all her own. The Four Sensation Macks, European Skating Sensations, presents a clever act that has a reputation of being one of the fastest skating acts of modern days. There are two lovely girls and two young men who are known as the "Wonder Skaters." Edythe Rogers, the original "Cameo Cigarette Girl," sings and plays the violin. She adds class and distinction to the revue.

The Three Ritz Sisters, dancers supreme, are three lovely young girls who dance like the Ritz Brothers.

Guy Rocky and "His Trumpet" present an act that is entirely different in its uniqueness.

Ward and Van, two gentlemen from Alaska, are the last word in comedy, singing and dancing. The dance steps they execute are intricate and amusing.

The Holst Twins, Broadway Favorites, are cute twins that can dance and sing in their own way.

Music is furnished by the Soldiers of Fortune Band, all young college boys that really know how to play.

The stage shows will be presented at 3:30, 7:00 and 9:15 and the revue is in addition to the feature picture "Grand Canary" with Warner Baxter and Madge Evans.

A Screen Song, musical act and news completes the program.

Wolfpack Tackles Gamecocks Here

Techs Meet S. Carolina In State Fair Night Game

Techs Hold Last Practices Today Before Meeting Billy Laval's Delegation

CROWD EXPECTED TO SEE TECH'S SECOND HOME GAME

Venice Farrar Shifted From Fullback to Left Half Position in Practice; Mauney and Clary of Birds Expected to Give State Some Real Competition; Varsity's Pass Defense Looks Much Better in Scrimmage Against Freshmen

The State Wolfpack will stage a night football contest with the University of South Carolina Gamecocks on Riddick Field tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. It will be the second home game for the 'Pack, and their third game under the lights.

Billy Laval is expected to send in a strong Gamecock team against State. State has not defeated the South Carolinians since 1928, but the Techs would like very much to reverse the decision of the past few years. In Hal Mauney and Wilburn Clary of the Birds, however, the 'Pack will meet two of the finest backs they play this year, according to no less an authority than Coach "Hunk" Anderson, State mentor.

In scrimmages during the week, the play of the 'Pack seemed much improved, and the shifting of Venice Farrar from the fullback to the left halfback post seemed to add much to the team's effectiveness. There seems to be a slight chance, also, that Robert "Red" McAdams will be declared eligible in time for the conflict. Coach Anderson is not counting very strongly on this possibility, though, but the addition of McAdams would strengthen the Techs considerably.

In play against the freshmen, the varsity showed up considerably better in breaking up passes, something that has been stressed to them after Wake Forest beat them last week by the aerial route. The freshmen in the scrimmage Wednesday against the varsity, ran South Carolina plays, and the 'Pack seemed to stop them rather effectively, though stopping the freshmen and stopping South Carolina are two different things.

Ray Rex was playing fullback in the Wednesday scrimmage, and he cracked the line for some good gains, at one time getting away for 35 yards. In Wednesday's scrimmage, Howard Bardes played right halfback and Lawrence McCulley played in the quarterback position to complete the backfield with Rex and Farrar.

Roscoe Roy and Nick Hayden made good when they were sent in as relief backs. Hayden did some fine playing in the Wake Forest game last week until he was removed by injuries in the last quarter. Hayden has recovered now, however, and he is expected to be used in tomorrow night's game.

The whole varsity line made the South Carolina plays as run by the freshmen look bad. The line in Wednesday's scrimmage consisted of Kenneth Stephens and Ray Redding in the end positions; Carl Isaacs and Cliff Daugherty at tackle; Barnes Worth and Alex Regdon as guards; and Steve Sabol at center.

Members of the student body, who are interested in trying out for the team should report for at least one hour's work each week within the time allotted. Freshmen are especially urged to come out, as this is the only varsity sport in which they are eligible to compete. Only three members of last year's team are back. They are: Captain M. L. Andrews, J. S. Whitley and W. A. Corpening. Competitive firing for a place on the team and for marksmanship badges will be held the last of November.

FROSH USE S. C. PLAYS ON 'PACK

Techlets Run Gamecock Plays in Practice Game Against Varsity During Week

Although the State College freshmen football team will not play a game until October 26, when they meet the Carolina first year men in Greensboro, they are continuing their practice sessions under the watchful eye of Coach Bob Warren.

With the return of the scouts and the news that the South Carolina Gamecocks have an aerial attack deadlier than the one displayed by the Wake Forest Deacons, the Warrentes have been kept busy. Using South Carolina formations, three frosh eleven's threw passes to all corners of the field, some going for good gains, others falling into the waiting arms of varsity backs.

Wednesday night both the proteges of Warren and the stalwarts of Anderson lined up for the kickoff. In the ensuing struggle under the arcs, the Wolfpack showed results of the first part of the week's work, knocking down or intercepting most of the aerial thrusts attempted by the green shirts.

This experience under the arcs will stand the yearlings in good stead, as the contest with the baby Tar Heels, reported to be the strongest first year eleven to ever represent the "Hill", will take place at night in the Gate City.

In the game with Elon which the Techlets won 7-0, the following men looked good, according to Warren: Backfield—Berlinski, Gadd, Hashell, Hoek, Entwistle, Schwartz, Farfalla, Cofara, Graham, Lawler, Mahoney, Katreiva. Linesmen—Marks, Brownie, Ploosen, Helms, Matheny, Berry, Futerensky, Acel, Benson, Fringle, Hines, Bowers, Giles, Richman, Espey, Meosinger, Bollendorf.

Gadd and Entwistle have been getting off some exceptionally good kicks for the freshmen, and have been showing up very well in backfield play.

Rifle Instructions Begin in Gym Today

Preliminary Instructions to Be Given Before Try-outs for Team Take Place

Captain Venable, coach of the rifle team, announced that preliminary rifle instruction would start today in the armory with two sessions. The first to be from ten to twelve in the morning and the second from two-thirty to five-thirty in the afternoon. Another practice will be held Saturday morning from nine to twelve.

Members of the student body, who are interested in trying out for the team should report for at least one hour's work each week within the time allotted. Freshmen are especially urged to come out, as this is the only varsity sport in which they are eligible to compete. Only three members of last year's team are back. They are: Captain M. L. Andrews, J. S. Whitley and W. A. Corpening. Competitive firing for a place on the team and for marksmanship badges will be held the last of November.

Changes Position

Venice Farrar has been showing that he can make a fine halfback as well as fullback. His playing in the former position has been something to talk about since Coach Hunk Anderson shifted him in the week's scrimmage. Farrar is expected to play this position against South Carolina tomorrow.

PLANS NEAR-COMPLETION FOR INDEPENDENT LEAGUE

Six Independent Leagues to Take Part in Intramurals, Announces Miller

Plans for the building up of an independent intramural league are rapidly nearing completion according to John Miller, Interamural director. Romeo Lefort, who is assisting Mr. Miller in this work, held a meeting recently which was enthusiastically attended. It is hoped that the actual playing of the schedule will start on Monday, October 22.

The first plan called for a league of eight teams but this has been reduced to six as no textile representative was present at the meeting and the Freshmen are living in their own dormitories this year and have a chance to play for their dormitory team. The teams that are now being considered as probable members of this league are the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes, the Ag and Forestry clubs, and the Engineering School. However, the Engineering School has been considering splitting up into two or more teams. This split will be all right with Mr. Miller if the two clubs have enough men to finish the season. A team that enters the league should plan to carry on the whole year.

DEACON PASSES BEAT WOLFPACK

Last Minute Attack Puzzles Techs and Turns Defeat to Victory for W. F.

EDENS KICKS WINNING POINT FOR BAPTISTS

Intercepted Pass on Wake Forest 15 Yard Line Marks Beginning of Drive

The N. C. State Wolfpack lost a heart-breaking decision to the Wake Forest Deacons in a game under the lights here last Saturday night. The Deacons pulled a last-minute rally and filled the air with passes to take the 'Pack's first home game away from them to the tune of 13-12.

The Wolfpack seemed practically assured of the victory with the score 12-6 in the final minutes of the game. State had the ball deep in Wake Forest territory. Then Reinhardt of the Deacons intercepted a State pass on his own 15 yard line. After several reverses, Walton Kitchin, Deacon back, threw a pass to Swing for a 26 yard gain. From there, Wake Forest passed down the field until Bert Shore caught a pass from Kitchin to make a touchdown for the Deacons. Tex Edens made good his placement for the winning point, and the game was over on the next play.

The play was in State's section of the field most of the first quarter. Wake Forest taking the ball to State's five yard line, at one time, but the threatened score did not materialize. Several other times during the quarter the 'Pack was on dangerous ground, but they always managed to pull out.

In the beginning of the second quarter, Rex and Stephens of State went in for Farrar and Cara. Shortly after the beginning of the quarter, Nick Hayden threw a long pass to Lawrence McCulley, Tech quarterback, and the ball was State's on Wake Forest's eight yard line. After two tries through the line, Hayden passed to Bardes for a State touchdown. McCulley's try for the extra point was blocked. Later in the same quarter, Wake Forest started a march on their 20 yard line that ploughed deep in State territory. They lost the ball, but blocked a State kick and made a touchdown as a result.

The count remained knotted until the beginning of the fourth quarter when Ray Redding recovered a Wake Forest fumble on the Deacon's eight yard line. Farrar took the ball over for the touchdown.

State seemed well on the way to another touchdown and after long gains by Howard Bardes and Venice

Farrar, had the ball on the Deacon's 20 yard line when the Deacons took over a State pass and started their victory march.

The Deacons were fighting hard for their coach, Jim Weaver, who was at the hospital here at the side of his wife who was critically ill. Weaver's wife died later in the night.

Nick Hayden, left halfback for State, played bang-up football until injuries forced him from the game early in the fourth quarter. Roscoe Roy, Venice Farrar and Howard Bardes also showed up well in the backfield. In the line, the play of Stephens, Powers, Stanko and Sabol was very good.

The line-up for the game:

Stanko	LG	J. Swan
Sabol	C	Bullard

STATE HARRIERS MEET CAROLINA OCTOBER 27

The State College harriers are now in training for their first meet which will be with Carolina at Chapel Hill on Saturday, October 27.

The meet will be a hard one for the Techs as Carolina has one of the best squads in the history of that school. Besides having seven lettermen back from last year the Heels have Southern Conference champions at the quarter, half, mile and two mile on the squad.

Red Lewis, coach of the cross-country team, announced Wednesday that seven men will make the trip to Chapel Hill. The final trek before the meet will be Friday, October 19. Candidates for the team this year are Fallon, Hines, Burnous, Lloyd, Curry, Davis, Bishop, Smith, Estes, Hellman, and Murray.

Pledge Dances

Ted Black and His Black Magic Orchestra have been secured by the N. C. State College Interfraternity Council to play for the pledge dances this fall.

Several nationally known orchestras were considered along with Ted Black's before definite action was taken at a call meeting of the Council Wednesday. The Interfraternity Council was unanimous in deciding on Black's orchestra, and are of the opinion that he will make a pleasing hit with the collegiate dance set.

Black's orchestra is well known over the radio and is heard weekly over the CBS network. Black will come here directly from New York where he recently concluded a successful engagement with a prominent night club.

This will be the first trip south for Black's orchestra, and will probably be the only engagement down here this fall. His orchestra is widely known for its smooth syncopation and his unique saxophone arrangements.

The dances will be held in the Frank Thompson gymnasium. The Council has already begun plans to lavishly decorate the gymnasium for the event.

The Pledge Dances will consist of a set of three dances beginning with a Friday afternoon tea and a night dance on Saturday, October 27.

The Pledge Dance committee is composed of W. L. Smith, Kappa Alpha; J. H. Barnhardt, Sigma Phi Epsilon; and Larry Martin, Delta Sigma Phi. The Interfraternity Council will select and announce the pledge dance leaders early next week.

Church Reception

The First Presbyterian Church is sponsoring a reception in honor of Presbyterian members of Peace and State colleges. On Monday night, October 15 at 8:00.

The reception will be held in the Sunday School building and a cordial invitation is extended to all interested.

The S. P. E.'s defeated the A. K. P. 26-8, in the first intramural football game of the year Tuesday, October 9 on Red Field.

The game turned out to be a hard fought one with the losers scoring first. Berthelein, of the A. K. P. is, made a touchdown in the first quarter to break the scoring tie.

In the second quarter L. Summie made a touchdown and added the point for the victors' first score of the game. The S. P. E.'s scored again in the third quarter when Guzas made a touchdown and Barnhardt added the point.

The A. K. P. scored two more points in the fourth quarter when they caught Findlay behind his goal for a safety. The winners scored again when, with three minutes to play, L. Summie intercepted a pass and ran forty-five yards for a touchdown. The try for the point failed.

SCHOLASTIC FRAT EXTENDS 18 BIDS

Six Seniors and Twelve Juniors Invited to Join Pine Burr, Local Honor Frat

SHAW PREPARES PAPER ON HIGHWAY ECONOMY

A paper by H. B. Shaw, professor of industrial engineering at N. C. State College on "The Economy of Highway Improvements" is included in the recent publication of "Report of Committee on Transportation Economics."

According to Professor Shaw estimates on the economy of contemplated road improvements can be made by comparing the additional investment with the saving in cost which it effects. The larger the annual traffic, the greater is the justification for changing to a higher type of road service, irrespective of the investment, and to a considerable extent irrespective of the annual road cost, he stated.
