

DARK HORSE OUT AS BROWN LEADS IN PRIMARY VOTE

Matthews and Brown to Battle for President of Student Body
in Final Voting

FRINK AND MACKENZIE IN SECRETARIAL RACE

Estes Automatically Out of Running, as He Was Defeated by Textile Councilman; Gore Was Only Rising Senior Council Member who Withdrew from Presidential Race; Brown, Ryther, Cooke, Matthews, and Gore Selected as Council Members by Juniors

Polling more than two and a half times as many votes as the second high man in the race for Student Body President, Lloyd Brown clearly led the field when the results of the primary elections were tabulated last Tuesday night.

Brown and Charles Matthews will run in the final elections for the president's office. J. C. Frink and Dick Mackenzie, the two high men in the race for secretary, will run for the remaining Student Government offices.

Final Count
Results of the primary election's final count were: for Student Body President: Brown, 409; George Estes, 152; Charles Matthews, 135; Henry Cooke, 89; and Ashley Ryther, 80. For Student Body Secretary: J. C. Frink, 325; Dick Mackenzie, 258; David Ramsay, 145; Jimmy Keating, 80; J. S. Fulghum, 31, and R. L. Pittman, 18. Steve Sabol, Stuart Flythe, and Connel Mack Berry were nominated by the students to receive the Alumni Athletic Trophy.

In the primary elections, George Estes of the Textile School ran as a "dark horse" candidate for Student Body President. In order to run in the final elections, it was necessary that Estes defeat the Student Council Representative of his school. As Lloyd Brown came out first in the primaries, Estes was automatically withdrawn from the race, even though he polled more votes than Matthews, the third high man.

Class Meeting
Brown was elected to the Student Council by junior class members of the Textile School at the class meeting held in Pullen Hall last Saturday. Other rising seniors elected to serve on the council by their class were: Fred Gore, School of Engineering, Henry Cooke, School of Education, Charles Matthews, School of Agriculture, and Ashley Ryther, School of Science and Business.

Fred Gore was the only man elected to the Student Council who later withdrew from the race for Student Body President. It is a council by-law that members elected to represent the rising Senior Class automatically become candidates for the president's office.

Other offices that will be decided in the final elections, but for which there were only one or two candidates are the publications offices, the editorships and business managerships of THE TECHNICIAN, Watauga, and Agro-mech, the presidency of the Y.M.C.A., and the position of head cheer leader. Several amendments to the constitution will be voted on in the final elections also.

JESSUP TELLS HISTORY OF ENGINEERING GROUP

Field Secretary Addresses Joint Meeting of Two Civil Engineering Societies

The field secretary of the American Society of Civil Engineers, W. E. Jessup, addressed the local chapters of the A.S.C.E. and the A.G.C. here last Tuesday night at 6:45 in the C.E. building.

Jessup acts as contact man between the sections and student chapters of the society, and national headquarters. At present, he is on a field trip which will end April 22:55 when he attends a meeting in Hot Springs, Arkansas. He came here from V.P.I.

Jessup traced the history of the A.S.C.E. from its beginning in 1852 in New York City, until it attained to its present status. He stated that at the present time there are 113 student chapters with 4,500 members. The speaker then told of the prospects for jobs for the graduating seniors and answered questions put to him by the students.

President Carl Stein announced that the student chapters of the A.S.C.E. would hold a state convention in Pinehurst on May 2. He stated that an interesting program has been prepared.

Raisin' The Rents

At a recent meeting of the board of trustees, the room rent on all dormitory rooms was raised $1 per occupant, according to an announcement concerning dormitory room assignments for next year that was sent out by Mr. T. T. Wellons, superintendent of buildings, recently.

Effective next year, prices on all first-floor rooms of 1911 dormitory will be $7 per student per month, with exception of rooms 101, 104, 108, 151, 152, and 157, which are $6. Second- and third-floor rooms are priced at $8, with the exception of rooms 236 and 238, which are $5 rooms.

Rooms in Watauga are priced at $8, with the exception of rooms 101, 102, 105, 106, 113, 117, 118, 205, 206, 305, and 306, which are $7 rooms.

First Seventh rooms will be $5 and Second Seventh will be $8, with the exceptions of 203, 204, 231, 232, which are $8, and 207, 208, 227, and 228, which are $5.

JACK GAW WINS PEACE CONTEST

Crawford Places Second; Gaw to Represent State at Guilford College, April 24

Jack Gaw, outstanding junior in forensics, added one more victory to his list Wednesday night when he won the State College Oratorical Contest on Peace by virtue of defeating H. R. Crawford.

Crawford was named as alternate. He was recently a member of the famous freshman team of Crawford and McSwain, which won five out of six debates at the South Atlantic Tournament, a new all-time Southern record for freshmen in competition with upper classmen.

State Contest
Jack Gaw, the winner, will represent State College in the State Peace Oratorical Contest at Guilford College, Friday, April 24, and will compete for money prizes of fifty, thirty, and twenty dollars. In the past five years State College speakers have not once failed to win a prize, having won a total of $140. The winner of the State Contest will have his manuscript entered in the national contest.

Professor Paget announced Wednesday that as a result of their record during the year, Jack Gaw and H. R. Crawford will represent State College in the Southern Championship Forensic Tournament at Gainesville, Florida, April 14-16. They will enter all contests in debate, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, and after-dinner speaking.

Southern Tournament
Gaw and Crawford will defend a brilliant record of State College in the Southern Championship tournament. In 1931, the first year of the tournament, State won in both extemporaneous speaking and oratory, and won the same titles in 1932. In 1933, State won in debate, extemporaneous speaking, and after-dinner speaking, and won in interpretative reading in 1934, and in extemporaneous speaking in 1935. Thus State College has won nine Southern titles in the last five years, over fifty percent of the championships won by Southern schools. The nearest ranking school, Wake Forest, has won four titles.

The State College squad of Gaw, Crawford and McSwain did only fairly well in the recent Houston tournament, falling far below the high standard set by the same squad earlier in the year at the Strawberry Leaf and the South Atlantic tournaments. H. R. McSwain, with his oration, "1946," made the best individual showing, ranking twenty-fifth in a field of eighty-five speakers. McSwain's record, however, was one of the best ever made by a freshman in a national tournament. Jack Gaw in extemporaneous speaking ranked thirtieth in a field of eighty-nine speakers, and the debate team of Gaw and Crawford won two debates and lost four. It is expected, however, that the experience gained at Houston will help prepare the squad to continue the brilliant record of State College at the Southern Tournament.

Style Show
Eleven North Carolina girls' colleges and preparatory schools will be represented in this year's annual Textile Style Show, which will take place in Pullen Hall on April 23. More than 170 girls, the largest number ever to attend, will be here for the show.

SHEPHERD LEAVES SELF-HELP WORK FOR NEW POSITION

R. L. Stallings, Jr., Appointed to Take Over Self-Help Duties in Shepherd's Place

SHEPHERD IS EMPLOYED BY EXTENSION SERVICE

Had Been Self-Help Secretary of College Since His Graduation From State in 1927; Received High Praise for His Work in National Youth Administration Here; Stallings Has Been Aiding Shepherd in Self-Help Work Since He Came Here Last Fall

Mr. M. L. Shepherd, Self-Help Secretary of the College Y.M.C.A. for the past five years will leave the organization April 16 to accept a position, with the College Extension Service. His resignation was approved by the Board of Directors of the "Y" at a luncheon meeting held in the building on April 3.

Mr. R. L. Stallings, Jr., who has been working on a part time basis under Shepherd's direction during the past year has been appointed to take over his duties.

From the time of his entrance to State College as a student in 1927 Mr. Shepherd has been an active member of the College "Y." During his freshman, sophomore, and junior years he served as a member of the "Y" Cabinet and during his senior year both as vice president and assistant office secretary. In the fall of 1931 he succeeded Mr. Joe E. Moore as Self-Help Secretary on a full time basis and has continued in that office till the present.

Headed NYA Work
The entire administration of the Federal student aid program of the Federal Government at this institution which was inaugurated in February 1934, has been handled through the Self-Help Office under his direction. The excellent and efficient manner in which this work was handled won for Mr. Shepherd the commendation of the College Administration and of the National Youth Administration officials. Members of the Board of Directors of the Y.M.C.A. and Mr. E. S. King, president of the unit expressed their appreciation for the splendid services rendered by Mr. Shepherd during his stay at State College.

Mr. Stallings in addition to his part time duties with the "Y" has been taking work since September in Industrial Management. He is a graduate of a business college in Washington, D. C. and was employed in the office of the Washington Gas Light Company of that city prior to coming to State. He will take over his new position on April 16.

GREAVES-WALKER TAKES SENIORS TO CONVENTION

Party Journeys to Columbus, Ohio, To Attend Meetings of Ceramic Societies

The inspection trip of the Ceramic Engineering seniors turned out to be a fight with the elements according to a statement made yesterday by Professor A. F. Greaves-Walker, ceramic department head.

The journey was to Columbus, O., the center of the ceramic industry in the United States, and was started Saturday, March 28, and lasted until Sunday, April 5. C. W. Owens, R. B. Knox, T. L. Hurst, W. C. Cole, and S. C. Davis were the students making the trip and they were accompanied by Professor Greaves-Walker.

The flooded condition of the Ohio River and the condition of the roads held up the progress of the party both ways, while a blizzard also hindered the return trip.

While at Columbus the entire party attended the annual meeting of the American Ceramic Society, and Hurst, Knox, and Owens, being members of Keramos, honorary ceramic society, attended that meeting also. The former pair were the official delegates of the State chapter.

Following the attendance at the meetings of the two societies, the party visited a number of plants and also the four outstanding ceramic laboratories of the country, all located in Columbus.

Scholarship Speaker

W. C. Jackson, dean of administration of the Woman's College of the Greater University, has accepted the invitation to speak at State College's eleventh annual observance of Scholarship Day, which will take place in Pullen Hall next Thursday at noon.

ELEAZER DECRIES MODERN WARFARE

Secretary of Inter-racial Committee Speaks at Meeting of "Y" Council Group

"Modern war is against the biological growth of mankind," said R. B. Eleazer, educational secretary of the Commission on Interracial Co-operation, in a speech on "The Survival of the Fit," before the "Y" councils last Tuesday night at 7:45.

Eleazer said that the selective draft in modern warfare says to the unfit: "You are not fit to go to war. Stay at home and be a father to the next generation." He went on to explain how this method of killing off the healthiest of a nation's young men, serves only to tear down the human race. The speaker read many quotations from the foremost military and civil leaders of all time which told of the futility of war.

Co-operation
Eleazer said that the nations of the world should make use of the knowledge that co-operation is the only way to achieve success. He stated that the larger industries have learned to make workers co-operate. Numbers of workers put their entire time to the assembly of one machine. It is only through this correct division of labor that the mass production of today is possible.

"War has never settled anything satisfactorily," said Eleazer. "I do not think that it would be worth the price if it did accomplish some good." He closed with the thought that those who survive are not those who fight, but those who are fit.

The speaker spoke before the same group on Monday night on the subject of race relations.

Plays Sponsored

As a part of its program on race relations the Y. M. C. A. sponsored two one-act plays presented by the Dramatic Society of St. Augustine College. The club, directed by Mrs. L. T. Delaney, teacher of dramatics and English literature at St. Augustine, presented two interesting plays to a small, but appreciative audience. The actors showed real skill in delivering their parts and their productions brought many favorable comments from the spectators.

NEW MEMBERS ELECTED TO ORDER OF 30 AND 3

Quintard, Dunnagan, Overman, Catlin, and Ramsay Receive Sophomore Honor

Election of new members and new officers took up most of the meeting of the Order of 30 and 3, honorary sophomore leadership organization, held in Holladay Hall last Wednesday night.

Five new members were elected to the Order. These five, together with the six taken in earlier in the year, round out the eleven men taken from the Sophomore Class each year. These five men were Ed Quintard, Charlie Dunnagan, Hal Overman, Jimmy Catlin, and David Ramsay. They will be initiated into the Order in the near future.

Following the selection of new members, elections for officers for the coming year were held. Dwight Durham was chosen as president, Clarence Gale as vice president, Dick McKennie as secretary, and Jesse Frink as treasurer.

Following a motion extending sympathy to the local chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon upon the loss of John Guzas, one of their members, the meeting was adjourned.

COLLEGE ACCEPTS MEMORIAL TABLET FROM FOUNDATION

J. Hampton Rich of Boone Foundation Presents College with Memorial Tablet to Pioneer

RICH DECLARES CITIZENS ARE PROUD OF HISTORY

Professor Wyman Receives Tablet for the College and for the State Forestry Department; Tablet is Made of Alloy, Part of Metal of Which Came from Battleship Maine; Rich Tells Story of Boone's Life and Explains How Pioneer Virtues Made Him Hero

A metal tablet memorializing Daniel Boone was presented to the Forestry department of the college by J. Hampton Rich, of the Boone Foundation, at the Freshman assembly yesterday.

Lenthall Wyman, professor of Forestry, received the tablet for the Forestry department. Col. J. W. Harrell, Dean of Administration, had previously decided that the Forestry department should receive the plaque for the school. It was announced that the tablet would be hung in the new Forestry building when it is built.

Marks Boone Trail
The tablet is an alloy of metals and contains some metal from the battleship Maine. At the top of the plaque are the words "Boone Trail Highway." The center is occupied by a picture of Daniel Boone with his rifle across his knees. At the bottom is Boone's scrawled signature. Several similar plaques have been presented to various other organizations in the United States. This is the first tablet to mark the eastern course of the trail.

Rich, in presenting the memorial, told some of the story of Daniel Boone. He explained how Boone's virtues have made him a hero of this generation. He said that Boone was a North Carolinian, and citizens of this state should be rightly proud of his influence on the history.

Accepts Tablet
Lenthall Wyman received the tablet with the following words: "On behalf of North Carolina State College and the Forestry department, I accept this tablet. We feel that it is highly appropriate that it should come to the students of this college since they are striving to be leaders as was Daniel Boone. They are studying to become pioneers in their respective fields. The Forestry students feel especially honored that they were selected by Col. Harrell to receive the tablet."

JOURNALISTS ASSEMBLE IN SEMI-ANNUAL MEET

Wake Forest To Be Host for Thirty-first N.C.C.P.A. Meeting Opening in Raleigh Thursday

Wake Forest will be the host to student journalists from all parts of the State next week-end when the thirty-first semi-annual convention of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association opens in Raleigh.

Registration for the spring convention will begin Thursday afternoon at two o'clock in the Sir Walter Hotel where all the convention sessions will be held. Representatives of fourteen colleges are expected to be present.

As has been the custom in the past, editors and business managers of all the member publications will be present at the sessions. At the sessions, various leaders in student publication fields speak to the delegates, and open discussions are held among those present.

Next Thursday evening, Dr. Thurman D. Kitchin, president of Wake Forest College will welcome the delegates, and a reception will be held following his speech. Business sessions will get underway Friday morning. The final and closing session of the convention will take place Saturday morning, officers will be elected, and publications cups will be awarded.

SECRETARY WILL SPEAK ON CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

Miss Wilmina Rowland, Traveling Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions, will speak in the Y.M.C.A. building Monday night at 6:45 on the subject "Students and Christian World Education."

Miss Rowland is just completing a speaking tour of the colleges which has taken her through the Middle West, the Rocky Mountain region, the Pacific Coast, and the South West. N. C. State College will be her final engagement before returning to the headquarters office in New York.

ELEVENTH ANNUAL SCHOLARSHIP DAY TO BE OBSERVED

Senior Meeting

Four major items will be taken up in the Senior Class meeting to be held next Tuesday at noon in Pullen Hall.

These items will include:
1. Caps and gowns.
2. Invitations.
3. Project for the Senior Class to leave the college.
4. Opinion on election of officers for the AGRO-MECK.
All of these items are of major importance and all seniors are urged to attend the meeting and take part in the discussion of these topics.

MENINGITIS FATAL TO STATE SENIOR

John V. Guzas Succumbs to Deadly Disease in Richmond Memorial Hospital

John V. Guzas, senior in education, who was stricken with spinal meningitis on February 12, died early last Tuesday morning in the Memorial Hospital at Richmond, Va., where he had been taken for an operation that was to have been the major effort towards saving his life.

Guzas was one of the most popular students on the State campus. He was a leader among the students, being vice president of his social fraternity, Beta Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon. He was also a member of the Tau Beta Pi Scholarship Club, the White Spades Social organization, member of Blue Key, national leadership organization, member of Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military fraternity, and had just received a bid from Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic fraternity.

John ranked as a captain in the advanced corps of the R.O.T.C. and was adjutant of the Third Battalion. In addition to his other extra-curricular activities, he was art editor of the Watauga, college humor magazine. During his first two years at State, he was a member of both the football and basketball squads and was also a member of the rifle team.

Guzas was to have graduated in education this spring, and was doing his practice teaching in Garner just before he was taken ill.

Funeral services will be held in Long Island, New York, Dean E. L. Cloyd, and two of Guzas' fraternity brothers, Charles Boger and Ralph Parker, are accompanying the body to New York. Guzas was an orphan and was the ward of his uncle, Paul Guzas, of New York City.

DISCUSSION CALLED FOR BY LEADER OF SENIORS

Perry Wilson, President of Class, Asks Seniors to Discuss Invitation Prices

Discussion from the seniors was called for by an announcement sent out by Perry Wilson, president of the class, recently.

A method of purchasing the caps and gowns and invitations proposed by Mr. Mayer, director of registration, at the beginning of the year was voted on early in the year and passed favorably by the class. This method was to increase the diploma fee from $5.25 to $7 in order to take care of the caps and gowns and invitations.

Investigation has revealed that the $7 fee will take care of the cap and gown, two leather-backed and four cardboard-backed invitations. A fee of $8 will entitle the seniors to four leather-backed and eight cardboard-backed invitations in addition to the caps and gowns.

Wilson has requested that the seniors consider the above prices and express a desire for one or the other within the next week to a member of the committee, which includes, besides himself, Joe Canady, Ken Krach, Bob Seitz, Carl Wynn, Bob Lewis, and Ed Landreth.

Delta Sigma Pi
Beta Delta Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, professional fraternity in commerce, entertained at a smoker in honor of prospective members in the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday evening. Micou F. Browne, headmaster of the chapter, explained the purpose of the fraternity and discussed briefly its history and work.

Dean W. C. Jackson to Make Principle Address in College's Observance on Thursday

SEVEN HONORARY GROUPS TO SPONSOR OBSERVANCE

Dean B. F. Brown to Speak on the Purposes for Which Scholarship Day was Established; Exercises are Held Annually to Reward Scholarship and Encourage it in Students; Reading of Honors List and Presentation of Awards to be Made by Dean E. L. Cloyd

Dean of Administration W. C. Jackson, of the Woman's College of the Greater University of North Carolina, will be the principle speaker at the eleventh annual Scholarship Day exercises which will be observed in Pullen Hall Thursday at noon.

For the past decade Scholarship Day has been jointly sponsored by the various honorary organizations and fraternities on the campus to recognize outstanding scholarship among the students and to encourage them to high scholastic endeavors.

Harrison to Preside
Colonel J. W. Harrison will officially preside over the exercises. B. F. Brown, Dean of the School of Science and Business, will deliver an address on the purposes of Scholarship Day.

E. L. Cloyd, Dean of Students, will read the list of high honor students and will have charge of presenting the various awards which are annually given on this day. The State College Orchestra, under the leadership of Major C. D. Kutschinski, will have charge of the musical selections which will be given on the program.

Arrangements for Scholarship Day were completed by the faculty committee on public occasions headed by its chairman, Dr. T. P. Harrison.

Cups and awards to be presented Thursday include: the Tau Beta Pi Scholarship Cup, the White Spades Scholarship Cup, the Sigma Pi Alpha awards, the Alpha Zeta Scholarship Cup, the Fraternity Scholarship Cup, the School of Science and Business Plaque, the Pi Kappa Phi Scholarship medals, the A. I. Ch. E. award, and the J. C. Steele and Moland-Drysdale cups which are awarded annually in the ceramic engineering department.

Organizations which annually sponsor Scholarship Day are: Pine Burr Society, Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Tau Sigma, Sigma Pi Alpha, Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Zeta, and Phi Kappa Phi. All classes regularly scheduled for noon Thursday will be suspended, according to the college authorities in order that all students may be enabled to attend the annual exercises.

R.O.T.C. PARADE TODAY TO HONOR LT. CRAWFORD

Parade and Review to Honor Departing Head of Raleigh Naval Recruiting Station

The State College R.O.T.C. regiment will parade this noon in Riddick Stadium in honor of Lieut. G. C. Crawford of the United States Navy.

For the past two years Lieutenant Crawford has been in charge of the Navy recruiting station here. Both as the head of the station and as a private citizen, Lieutenant Crawford has shown an active interest in regimental affairs here on the campus. He has placed his staff and equipment at the disposal of the college many times when physical examinations were being given the Cadets, and has been of great value in the giving of demonstrations, the taking of regimental pictures, and in many other ways.

In addition to that, Lieutenant Crawford has made repeated visits to the campus to discuss the ways and workings of submarines with the various classes of engineering students.

He is leaving next week for the Navy submarine base station at New London, Conn., where he will take charge of one of the government's latest and most modern submarines. Crawford has served a term here once before as head of the recruiting station.

The dress parade and review in his honor is the second to be held this year. This is the first year in which the annual spring military parades have been held in Riddick Stadium, as they were formerly all held on Red Field.

JOHN VINCENT GUZAS

The news of the death of John Guzas, senior and high honor student, was a shock to all his friends on the State College campus. He died just two months before he would have received his degree and his diploma. It is a sad thought that he should go with his future just opening before him.

To the members of his fraternity, to his professors, and to the multitude of students who knew him and called him their friend, the passing of Guzas marked the departure of a charming personality, an eager student, and a person of high character.

John Guzas lived a well-rounded life as a student, taking part successfully in sports, publications work, and other extra-curricular activities. He was a member of Blue Key, an honor accorded to very few students. In the State R. O. T. C. unit, Guzas was a captain and adjutant of the third battalion.

THE TECHNICIAN, speaking for the student body of State College, extends sympathy to the relatives of John Vincent Guzas, and to the members of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

THE USE OF VISUAL METHODS

The enlargement of application of the visual method as a means for presenting botany courses to the students appears to have demonstrated its worth at State College. In applying the method to the work of the department, instructors have set a new high in the number of lantern slides used to teach students the course.

A fact known universally by education authorities is that students learn and remember much better what they see than what they hear. As the principle is applied by the botany department here, microphotographs presented as lantern slides are replacing to a large degree student work with the microscope. The great advantage of this method of class study is that each student sees the same thing, and that the microphotograph is of a perfect specimen of whatever organism the class is studying. Then, too, the instructors are enabled to point out and hold discussions on various phases of the photograph.

In carrying out these visual methods of instruction, the department is developing in addition the conference method. The week's work is begun with a formal lecture covering each new section taken up. Certain new and striking aspects of the subject are presented to interest the student and point out the significant aspects of the work.

Weekly oral recitations are required, both to determine the student's knowledge of the subject, and to clear up certain points that do not appear to be clearly understood. Dr. B. W. Wells, Professor of Botany, states that the department has at present for class use about six hundred slides, and that all of them were made by his department.

It would appear from the records of the department that students taking the course under the new system have learned far more than they did under the old, and that they have covered far more ground.

The Botany Department is to be congratulated upon the development of this method of presenting the course, which appears to be the only one of its kind in the country, as regards the material presented and the number of slides used. It would perhaps be well if more college courses could be taught in this manner. At any rate, the fact seems definitely proved that students remember and assimilate far more work under this new system of study than they did under the old.

FUTURE WAR VETERANS

College editors the country over have been subjected during the past few weeks to reams of material concerning that fantastic organization, the Veterans of Future Wars. The founding of the organization as well as the exact purposes for which it was intended were masked in obscurity. But the name was seized by many colleges as a means to burlesque war, to laugh the R. O. T. C. off the campus, and to carry on satirically a program against preparedness and a so-called militaristic nationalism. Inevitably following the parent organization, the VFW, came reports of college coeds organizing the Future Gold Star Mothers, and of other students who had even gone so far as to band themselves together as Future War Profiteers.

In the publicity accorded to the Veterans of Future Wars, few stopped to inquire as to the reasons for the organization's founding or its purposes. Now comes the statement that the movement was started as sheer burlesque by Lewis Gorin, Jr., a junior at Princeton University. Founders of the group say that they were Democrats who were opposed to the passing of the Bonus Bill. They wished only to satirize the paying to the veterans of two million dollars, and by their ridicule to block the passage of the legislation.

It is claimed that only incidentally did the students think of the movement as anti-war propaganda. But from the moment of the inception of the name, the movement spread like wildfire from college to college as pacifist elements discovered the name as an apt means to ridicule preparedness.

The founders, we have no doubt, are a good deal worried by the proportions to which their satire has grown. The whole idea is fantastic and impossible, yet every day comes news of the spread of the VFW to some new region. However, unless the organization is seized upon by one of the many organizations which seek at present to reduce the United States' armed forces to a zero level, the furor over the Future War Veterans will gradually die down as a publicity seeking press finds new and more interesting items to spread over the front pages.

No rumor has been heard of the VFW on the State College campus, where the attitude of the students as a whole is favorable to military training. Our campus so far has been remarkably free of any organized propaganda of such a nature. It is certain that every student here detests the thoughts of war as much as do those elsewhere. However, he is not so foolish as to think that the abolishment of American military forces will help to bring about world brotherhood, especially in view of the unsettled condition of the world at present. So the State College students view sensibly and approves the safeguards which the American Government places about her citizens by having an army and navy which is prepared to deal with any power who casts acquisitive eyes in our direction.

CONVENTION MIX UP

On Thursday student journalists from fourteen North Carolina colleges will assemble at the Sir Walter Hotel for the Thirty-First Semi-annual Convention of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association.

It has been the custom at most of the colleges who are members of the association for the editor and business manager to attend the conventions as official representatives of their publication. This year at State College a bit of perplexity is in evidence concerning just who will go.

The reason for this is the holding of the spring convention this year about two weeks earlier than has been customary. The final elections for student body officers have not yet been held here, nor will they be held until a few days after the convention is over. Thus in the case of the three major publications on the campus, there are four positions for which two candidates are running.

The spring convention as a general thing is attended by the newly elected school publications officers, and the newcomers receive from the convention many helpful ideas towards the carrying on of their work for the next school year. For next week's session, it is to be hoped that the school authorities see fit to allow all the publications candidates to attend.

SCHOOL ETHICS

The foundation of school is confidence which springs from integrity and fair play.

The reward of school for the study put into it is success.

Knowledge, thorough and specific, and unceasing study of the facts and forces affecting a school are the essentials for success.

Permanency and continuity of success are the basic aims of school, that knowledge gained may be fully utilized.

Obligation to the student and to society prompts the school to strive toward perfection of the student, bettering the condition of the professors, and increasing the efficiency and opportunities of its charges.

Representation of knowledge by the student should be truthfully made.

Waste in any form—time, ability, or opportunity—is disastrous, and constant effort should be made towards the elimination of these things.

Unfair competition is a public wrong. The scholar should rely for his success on the excellence of his own work.

Arguments should, when possible, be adjusted by a voluntary agreement between the persons.

Responsibilities of the student should be performed and discharged as though he were acting for some employer.

Hearty co-operation among school organizations in support of the highest principle is necessary.—The Rotunda.

HERE and THERE

By DICK MACKENZIE

There is one man that is doing his part to improve the appearance of State College campus. Captain Damon is this man, and if you have noticed the gymnasium and its grounds lately, you have seen great improvement. . . . I suggest that a few others take a like interest.

On the south wall of the reception room in the infirmary is an advertisement of a prominent funeral home of Raleigh. Wonder if "Doc" Campbell is losing his confidence?

The Ceramic Engineering department was not the least bit superstitious. They even displayed two white elephants during the fair. Could that be the reason for not placing in the judges decision?

And speaking of white elephants, there's a coed that tried to steal one while viewing the fair.

If you ever find a back seat to a torn down Chevrolet, notify "Hal" Overman. He lost his on a recent date and can't find it anywhere.

Carl Plaster has been seen visiting a Five and Ten very frequently. . . . It could be another case of a Million Dollar Baby.

I have been informed that the field back of Patterson Hall has the name of Cedar court. . . . The only thing that seems to be lacking is the cedars.

A very pious air has reigned on the campus for the passed few days as the bell tolled the end of the hour and rendered the effect of a monastery or village church. One professor absent-mindedly began the class, "The service will begin with . . ." Every one went around with a reverent attitude and a bowed head, but were all smiles when the old familiar whistle sounded its cheery blast once more, and the air of a happy mill village returned.

An "Ag" student, disbelieving the possibility of the mechanical coe presented by the chemical engineers, obtained a sample of its milk and was somewhat surprised when a test proved that it contained 13 cc butyric fat. Some people won't believe even what they see.

The forestry seniors departed on their inspection trip today. Here's wishing them all the luck in the world and may they return some six weeks hence much healthier, wealthier, and wiser.

There are some few here on the campus who apparently lack honor. The candy table in the Y.M.C.A. has averaged a shortage of fifty cents daily for the past several months as the results of some seemingly hungry vandals. It's a pity that some people can't be trusted.

Clarence Gale, one of the juniors who received a typhoid shot in his arm, has acted rather wisely in attaching a small sign to his arm which reads, "Please Keep Off." There are other juniors on the campus who are quite touchy, so be careful.

Baloney
"Baloney" declares Smedley Darlington Butler, is what anti-war strikes amount to.

"The only way," he declares, "to prevent war is to put the fear of God into the hearts of your bloody congressmen. Organize, sure," he admitted, "but you have to do more than talk. Get out petitions and frighten your senators and your president to death with them. The only thing they fear is public opinion."

LISTENING IN

By JOHNNY BING

DICK ("HOTCHA") GARNER has been selected to play for the Pika Ball next Monday, and the lucky ones who have gotten bids are in for a real treat, believe you me. Dick was once with maestro George Olsen as saxophonist and vocalist. A purveyor of "hotcha" melody, he can make a sax rear up on its hind legs and holler for mercy, and get none. With him as torch-singer is Josephine Larkin, once of musical comedy. When that young lady sings, the microphone suffers from heat-prostration. Dick has just completed an extended engagement at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore, where he broadcast weekly over a coast-to-coast network.

This fellow, JOHNNY HAMP, President and Chairman of the Board of Hamp Densipations, Unlimited, sure is one lucky man. Johnny's hand was born of all places, in a girls' dormitory at Ferry Hall in the Windy City. Three girls were discussing their summer vacations, to be spent in Atlantic City. One was secretly engaged to a drummer in the Kentucky Sereaders orchestra. Her name was Peg. Her two friends were Jean and Ruth. All summer the girls danced to the music of the Kentuckians, Peg in a covey fog. The drummer fell for Ruth, though, and asked Jean what to do. She told him if he really loved Ruth, to go to it. Mama put her feet down on drummers, however, and it wasn't until two months later in Chi that they mustered nerve enough to go to Minneapolis to get married. They did but found Mama hot on the trail. They wired Jean, who was in Hollywood to take them in, and bailed the jack to the far west. Jean and her hubby were going to New York via Panama Canal and insisted that the two young lovers come also, giving Mama a 23-day cooling off period. For the whole period, Jean was a partner of the honeymoon of Ruth and Johnny. Mama cooled off, Johnny organized the band he had dreamed of, and they were off! The outfit played so well in the key of C that for five years they have played in only the top-notch places like Los Angeles' Coconut Grove, the Congress, Drake, and Edgewater Beach Hotels in Chi, London's Kit-Kat, Miami's Biltmore, and The Westchester Country Club, at Rye, N. Y. Are they happy? I'll say they are. Every Christmas, the Hamps spend the holidays with Jean or she with them. Oh, by the way, Jean is Jean Harlow. And this story is just out, too!

Add radio brunettes that make me stand on an ear: GALE PAGE, lovely contralto of the Cimalene Carnival. She has her own program from Chi, also. She first sang with Ted Weems' at the Palmer House. Thanks, Ted. Jumpin' catfish, is she a honey? A dark brunette with one of those complexionous, big brown eyes that make your heart flop over. Gosh!

Doakmen Take Rutgers, 4-2; Will Play Duke There Tomorrow

TECHS GET WIN IN WET CONTEST

State Shows Up Well in Thursday's Game With Rutgers in Spite of Bad Weather

SHOWERS STOP CONTEST LATE IN SEVENTH INNING

Umpire Doc Smith Calls Game Because of Rain in State's Half of Seventh Inning

By BILL GOAD
The weatherman served up plenty of bad weather here yesterday but there wasn't enough of it to keep the State College team from taking a 4-2 win from Rutgers in a baseball game halted after one man was out in State's half of the seventh inning.

It was a dismal afternoon, both for the players and for the handful of fans that braved the rain which lasted almost throughout the game.

Tech's Score First
State got off to a fast start in the first inning when Captain D. C. Williams hit the first ball pitched to him into left field for a two-base hit. He went to third on an infield out, and scored when Catcher Pennington dropped a throw after Bugg's infield out.

Rutgers came back and tied the score in their half of the second. Leping got to first base on Keating's error, was sacrificed to second, and scored on Markantas' hit into left field.

State went back into the lead in their half of the second when Charlie Gadd drew a walk, advanced to second on a wild pitch, took third on Rabb's bunt, and scored on another wild pitch. Rutgers tied the count again in the fourth frame. Girard doubled to right field and scored on Rooney's hit through second base.

Charlie Gadd worked Lens for his second walk of the game to open the Tech half of the fourth inning. He took second when Rooney errored Scales' grounder, went to third on a wild pitch, and scored on an infield out.

Williams put the game on ice in the fifth. He walked, stole second base, and scored on Bugg's long three-base hit into right-center field.

Rain Halts Game
Umpire Doc Smith called the game because of rain after one man was out in the State half of the seventh inning. Mason Bugg was batting when the game was called.

Lens allowed the Techs only two hits, both good for extra bases, while his mates were gathering nine off the combined efforts of James Keating and Dave Rodwell. Williams' double and Bugg's triple were the State hits. Markantas with a double and single, and Bender with three singles led Rutgers at the plate.

Although Lens allowed State only two hits, his wildness accounted for his downfall. Three of State's runs were placed on base by walks, and his three wild pitches all came with men on the sacks. Ten Rutgers men were left on base and six of the Techs were left stranded.

Mr. Charlie's "boys" got hot yesterday afternoon to take Rutgers, 4-2. They've had a hard time getting started this year, mostly because old man Jue Pluvius hasn't even given them a smile, much less fair weather. . . . Michigan State, and the Baltimore Orioles hit hard to pile up a large score in the first two games, but the Techs have already made up their minds that it won't happen again.

They've got several tough games coming up this week though, beginning when the Doakmen meet Duke over here. Monday brings up the traditional Easter Monday game with Wake Forest. And Wednesday, the Blue Devils come here for a return contest with the Techs. Don't let anyone try to kid you into thinking that either Duke or Wake Forest have a weak team. Duke has a record of five wins and no losses. The Deacons have played a couple of games against professional opponents. The Albany International League club defeated them by one run last week, and the Boston Bees, National League team, went twelve innings before defeating the Deacs, 2-0.

And speaking of baseball, we had an anonymous news story placed in the TECHNICIAN box the other day. Don't ask who wrote it, or anything regarding the facts—we don't know. But it runs something like this: The team composed of freshman foresters defeated the CCC team from Camp Hoffman, 7-5 at Lawrenceville last Friday. Eddie Entwistle did the pitching for the foresters, and led them in hitting, too. (Eddie was a sophomore the last time I heard.) The story goes on to say that the prize boner was pulled by Woden, when he stole second base, but couldn't stop running until he got to centerfield. And our reporter winds up his story by saying that if either Mr. Charlie Doak, or Bob Warren need any material, they'd better come out and watch the forestry boys in action.

That story wasn't meant as a joke, either. We'd appreciate it if the man who wrote it would send us some more. Next time sign your name, though. And if anyone else has any stories such as these, send them in to the office.

You know, usually the men nominated for the alumni athletic trophy are seniors, a junior is hardly ever nominated. This year went one better. Connie Mack Berry ranked among the top three in the balloting the other day. Steve Sabol and Stuart Flythe were the other men nominated. Berry starred in three sports as a freshman last year, and has looked good in football and basketball this year. Berry was high-score man in the Southern Conference basketball race this past season. Flythe plays baseball and basketball. Sabol ranked high in football circles both in the state and South this past season.

I've never seen such raw days for spectators at baseball games as we've had this season. Yesterday's game was just about right for ducks, and cold weather ducks at that. The game last Friday wasn't right for ducks, but the Rainmakers wouldn't have felt a bit out of place. That weather just agreed with those Michigan State boys, though. They whipped that ball around like it was midsummer.

I really wanted to see Jack McDowell's Rollins College team in action Monday. But when game time came, Deak Field looked like a lake. Folks around this section were waiting to see Jack bring one of his teams back, after a remarkable record at Rollins. And incidentally, Clarence Gale went over and talked to Jack for quite a while Monday. His story is just to the right in case you haven't already read it.

THREE HIGH MEN RUN FOR TROPHY

Sabol, Flythe, and Berry Win Out in Primary Elections for Alumni Athletic Trophy

Results of the primary ballot for the selection of the State College athlete who will receive the Alumni Athletic trophy narrowed the field down to three candidates, Steve Sabol, Stuart Flythe, and Mac Berry. The trophy is awarded yearly by the alumni group to the athlete who, in the opinion of the students, is the most outstanding athlete in the college.

No tabulation of the number of votes received by these three men has been issued. Sabol, Flythe, and Berry will have their names on the ballots for the final election to be held at the college April 20, and the winner of that election will be the recipient of the trophy.

Steve Sabol played center on the varsity football team and has been mentioned on several All-American lists in the past two years.

Stuart Flythe has proved a consistently good basketball player for State College during his court career. He played in the forward position this year and made a fine running mate for Captain Aycock. On the baseball field Flythe is a hurler and turns in a good brand of pitching.

Mac Berry holds the center position on State's basketball team and was high score man in Southern Conference basketball for the past season. Berry also plays end on the football team.

The alumni trophy is the most coveted athletic award given by the college and the athlete who achieves it is indeed honored. The award was first made by the alumni of State College in 1931. Since that time, the winners of the award have been Mac Stout in 1931, Red Esquey in 1932, Bud Rose in 1933, Bob McQuinn in 1934, and Ray Rex in 1935.

TECH GOLF TEAM LOSES SOUTH CAROLINA MATCH

Bad Playing Conditions Featured in Gamecock's 10-8 Defeat of the State Team

Playing the fourth game of their 1936 schedule yesterday on the Carolina Country Club golf course, the State College varsity golf team was defeated by South Carolina 10-8. The playing conditions during the match were unusually bad. Through out the contest intermittent showers hampered the players. However, both teams played good games considering the bad weather conditions.

Low score for the day's play was made by Baerthein, of State, with a total of 79 strokes for eighteen holes. All of the other players finished in the low eighties.

Summary: Baerthein 3 points over Tobias; Palmer and Deloach split even with 1 1/2 points each; Baerthein and Palmer defeated Tobias and Deloach, 2 1/2 to 1/2; Scales lost to White, 2 1/2 to 1/2; Cauten was beaten by Brunner, 2 1/2 to 1/2; Scales and Cauten were downed by White and Brunner, 3-0.

The State Links team opened its season by defeating Catawba 12-6. In the two matches following this the Techs tasted defeat at the hands of the Carolina Country Club team and the Duke golf squad.

State's next golf match is on April 17, in Raleigh. The Techs will meet Duke on this date in a return engagement. The State golfers will be out to avenge their defeat earlier in the season.

JACK MCDOWELL VISITS COLLEGE

Former Tech Athlete, Coach at Rollins College, Returns to State With His Team

By CLARENCE GALE
"What do I know about the Graham Plan? Not one thing. Down at Rollins we use the McDowell Plan and it works just fine for us."

The speaker was Jack McDowell, coach of the Rollins College baseball team and former star athlete at State, who gave his answer to one of the most argued queries of the year as he lunched with your correspondent last Monday. "However, I would like to see all college athletics on an amateur basis. It would be better for all concerned, the players, the schools, and the coaches. Over-emphasis on the competitive side is the cause for the subsidization that goes on. One institution can't stop subsidizing athletes without hurting its athletic standing and no institution wants to do that."

Was Star At State
McDowell graduated from State in 1928. While here he was all-state and all-southern halfback and in 1927 went to the West Coast with the eastern all-stars for the New Year's Day game as second string quarterback.

In addition to his football ability, Jack also set a Southern Conference high jump record that lasted over quite a period of time, and rounded out his athletic career by playing first base on the baseball team and guard on the basketball team.

He won the Alumni Athletic trophy twice, in his junior and senior years, and was awarded it at both the 1927 and 1928 commencements.

In the fall of 1928 he coached football at Asheville High School, and since that time has coached both football and baseball at Rollins. The records of McDowell's teams at Rollins have ranked high among the smaller colleges. For the past several years the (Please turn to page four)

State Baseball Team to Play Traditional Easter Monday Game With Wake Forest

TECH TEAM MEETS DUKE IN FIRST BIG FIVE GAME

Doakmen to Play Blue Devils in Durham Tomorrow in Important Big Five Battle

Seeking revenge for three defeats last year, The State College varsity diamond squad will meet Duke in Durham at 3:45 on Saturday to play their first Big Five game of the 1936 season.

State's baseball team has one win and two losses chalked up so far this season. The Techs defeated Rutgers College and lost to Michigan State and to the Baltimore Orioles. The game scheduled for last Monday afternoon with Rollins College was canceled on account of rain.

In spite of the two defeats recorded against them State's diamond team has prospects of turning in a good brand of baseball for the remainder of the season. The squad is rapidly rounding into shape and should give the Blue Devils a hard fight in Saturday's game.

Duke's baseball squad has a perfect record up to the present time, having won all their scheduled games. The Blue Devils have been aided in their victories by consistently fine pitching on the part of Claude Caskey, Dave Smith, Pete Naktien, and George Barley. These men will give the State sluggers plenty of trouble in tomorrow's contest.

Uriah Norwood, whose batting furnished the Blue Devils with a lot of worry in last season's games, will not be in the contest as his ankle is still in bad shape. Norwood led the hitting against Duke in the games played in 1935.

According to Coach Charlie Doak, Stuart Flythe and Davidson will have a part in the pitching activities of tomorrow's game. Some of the probable starters are Williams, Scales, Gadd, Berlinsky, Dalrymple, Bugg, Rodwell, Rabb, and Richardson.

The Techs will meet the Blue Devils again on Wednesday in a home game. Playing on their home diamond should be an advantage for the State team and they should make a good showing. A crowd is expected because the rivalry between the two schools in the diamond sport has always been strong. Last year the Duke team defeated State in both of the two games played.

On Monday afternoon the State team will meet Wake Forest in their second Big Five contest of the season. Last season the Deacons came out ahead of the Techs in the Big Five rating by securing second place honors.

The game on Easter Monday with Wake Forest has grown to be a tradition between the two schools. The Wake Forest baseball team has defeated the Techs in the past two seasons' holiday engagements. The usual Easter holiday crowd of fans is expected to be on hand for the session Monday.

Business Manager

J. L. Von Glahn, Spartanburg, S. C., contractor, was elected yesterday by the athletic council to fill the newly created post of business manager of athletics at State College.

Von Glahn will have charge of handling all ticket sales for games here, purchasing athletic supplies, arranging for State teams on trips and visiting teams here, and all other matters coming under the business end of the athletic department. He will report here April 15.

The duties of business manager will not be new to Von Glahn. He was undergraduate manager of athletics here in 1908. The position of business manager was created by the athletic council at a meeting last December. No one was selected for the job at that time, although Von Glahn's name was prominently mentioned.

The duties of the graduate manager will in no way interfere with those of any member of the present athletic staff.

TECHLETS OPEN SEASON IN LOSS TO BLUE IMPs

Opening their 1936 baseball season, the State College Freshmen dropped their game to the Duke Blue Imps here last Saturday 5-2.

Darwood Harper started as pitcher for State, but was driven from the box in the fourth inning. He was followed by Green and Bruinnoze. Charlie Beum played a fine game for the Techlets at right field.

The game was featured by the pitching of Walter Kerr and Johnnie Cahill, both of Duke. Kerr allowed two hits in the four innings he pitched, and Cahill allowed only one safe hit in his five innings.

The game had been played with Burlington High last Tuesday was postponed until the coming Tuesday. The game scheduled with Wake Forest for this afternoon has been indefinitely postponed.

MEDALS AWARDED IN INTRAMURALS

Awards Made to Members of All-campus Basketball Team and to Boxing Losers

In keeping with Johnny Miller's program of increasing the interest in intramural sports on the campus, a greater number of awards than usual have been given out to the outstanding athletes participating in winter sports.

The awards were made yesterday at freshman chapel. These medals were given to members of the all-campus basketball team and to the losers in the all-campus boxing finals. The winners in the boxing finals received their intramural keys some time ago.

Those receiving basketball awards were: Scott, Alpha Gamma Rho, Muecke, 6th Dorm, Bounous, Faculty, Conrad, Faculty, Mahoney, Ohio Valley, and K. Scales, Pika.

The men winning silver boxing gloves were: Stuart, 3rd 7th, Leoney, 2nd Watauga, Hamilton, 2nd 1911, Barringer, 6th Dorm, Arnot, 4th Dorm, Elliott, 1st South, and Sears, Alpha Gamma Rho.

Rain Delays Play
Johnny Miller is bemoaning the fact that the heavy rains have held up the baseball schedule. In the only three games played this week, the victors slipped and slid to win by top-heavy scores.

Only one game was played in the Fraternity League. The Sigma Nu's defeated the Sigma Pi's by a score of 30 to 8. Ashcraft, Edmonson, and Henry were the big guns for the Nu's, and Saunders played well for the Pi's.

First Watauga sank 4th Dorm, 44 to 1. Plaster and Johnson each got 7 hits to lead the winners. 2nd 1911 and 2nd 7th played the only other game, the former team winning easily by the score of 37 to 5. Osborne, Marks, and Watson were outstanding for 1911.

Pika Ball

Again this year, Easter Monday will bring to the younger and collegiate sets of North Carolina, the Pika Ball, which for many years has been one of the outstanding dances of the spring social calendar at State College. This will be the thirtieth anniversary of the Pika Ball, an affair attended annually by hundreds of dancers from all sections of the state.

The Ball, which is given by the Alpha Epsilon chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, will be held this year on the night of April 13 in Frank Thompson gym.

Music for the thirtieth anniversary of the Pika Ball will be furnished by Dick Gardner and his orchestra, featuring Josephine Larkin, torch singer and musical comedy star. This orchestra has recently completed an engagement at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore, Md., where it broadcast weekly over a coast-to-coast network. During the evening, the orchestra will broadcast over WPTF from ten thirty to eleven o'clock.

For the dance, the gymnasium will be elaborately decorated in the fraternity colors of garnet and gold, following the usual custom of the host chapter. A large electrically lighted fraternity pin will feature the decorations which will consist of streamers in the two colors draped from the ceiling to the side walls to form a colorful canopy. The highlight of the evening will be the dance figure to be led this year by Clara Margaret Grantham of Washington, D. C., formerly of Raleigh, with Charles Hayworth, Betsy Wright of Elizabeth City with T. C. Sawyer, and Elizabeth Wade of Raleigh with James Smitherman.

During Easter week-end, the Pikas will entertain at a house party at their fraternity home on Hillsboro Street. Chaperones for the house party will be Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Averette of Dunn. Chaperones for the Ball will include many prominent citizens of Raleigh and vicinity.

Demolay Dance

Featuring the earlier part of the Easter week-end will be a dance given by the Raleigh Chapter of the Order of Demolay from nine until twelve in the Virginia Dare Ballroom of the Sir Walter Hotel on Saturday night.

Jimmy Poyner's orchestra will furnish the music for the dance. Sponsors will include Betty Farrar, Sara Brown, Helen Elighme, and Jean McCarthy.

Script for the dance will be one dollar.

Alpha Gamma Rho

Seventy members and guests of the Nu chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity were present at the Seventeenth Annual Founders Day banquet held last night from 7:30 to 12 in the Carolina Pines Club house.

Dr. G. W. Foster, alumni member and head of the Agricultural Economics Department at the college, served as toastmaster for the occasion. Dr. R. Y. Winters in a short talk congratulated the members of the fraternity on the fine record that the organization has made during the past year and commented on the remarkable development of the fraternity during recent times. In addition short talks were given by Mr. Fred Miller of the State Department of Agriculture, "Shorty" Lawrence, Mr. Frank Jeter, Mr. Charles Sheffield, Kenneth Stevens, Ken Krach, and Charles Turlington.

The clubhouse was attractively decorated in a spring motif of dogwood sprays and tulips. Following the banquet a program-card dance was held.

To Lead Thirtieth Pika Ball

Sponsoring this year's Pika Ball, the thirtieth in the series, are the young women pictured above. Elizabeth Wade, of Raleigh, will be with James Smitherman, Clara Margaret Grantham, formerly of Raleigh and now of Washington, D. C., with Charles Hayworth, and Betsy Wright, of Elizabeth City, with T. C. Sawyer. These sponsors, with their dates, will lead the figure that will feature the ball. This figure will be based upon the forming of the Greek letters from which the fraternity derives its name. Music for the affair will be furnished by Dick Gardner and his orchestra.

INSPECTION TRIP TO START SOON

Senior Civil Engineers to Visit Washington, D. C., On Annual Inspection Trip

Points of interest in and around Washington, D. C., will feature the annual inspection trip of the Civil Engineers which will start next Wednesday.

The entire senior section of the department will be taken on the trip. The Bureau of Weights and Standards, the Bureau of Public Roads, and the Coast Geodetic Survey will be among the government departments that will be visited.

In the Bureau of Weights and Standards, the seniors will witness strength tests on various building materials, while in the Bureau of Public Roads, the construction and maintenance of the roads will be studied. In the department of the Coast Geodetic Survey records of previous surveys and reports on proposed surveys will be seen.

The construction of government buildings which is now taking place in Washington will furnish the engineers with other items of interest. All buildings in the process of construction and those recently completed will be visited. Professors C. L. Mann and W. G. Gelle will be in charge of the trip. Seniors making the trip are H. J. Brown, J. M. Brown, F. Comelli, H. D. Dorsey,

CHEMICAL GROUP RETURNS TONIGHT

Senior Chemical Engineering Students Visit Many Plants in 1000 Mile Jaunt

Thirty-seven seniors in Chemical Engineering will return tonight from a 1,000 mile inspection trip covering principle chemical industries plants in North Carolina, eastern Tennessee, and southwestern Virginia.

The seniors left Monday morning, and their trip enabled them to study every type of chemical manufacturing machinery and almost every type of industrial processing methods. Among this group of chemical industries, some are among the largest of their kinds in the country; for example, a refinery which converts cotton seed oil into artificial lard and oleomargarine to the extent of one-half million pounds per day, and one of the world's largest paper making machines which has a capacity of twenty thousand square feet per minute.

Seniors composing the inspection group are: W. A. Bala, P. L. Barnes, S. M. Campbell, J. L. Canady, Jr., J. G. Copeland, H. O. Dixon, N. Y. Edmonson, Bruce Ellen, J. D. Fallon, G. N. Fortney, W. H. Franklin, W. C. Gardner, W. A. Grigaby, J. L. Hamrick, R. P. Harris, A. L. Johnson, J. D. Johnson, C. L. Jones, R. E. Lewis, Jr., C. E. Loughlin, C. E. Lynch, H. T.

Michael, F. D. Newcomb, J. T. Nicholson, C. D. Norlander, D. E. Parham, R. M. Pittman, J. E. Porter, F. H. Ramseur, R. W. Seitz, E. G. Spader, J. C. Stansel, Harry Stokely, E. O. Thomas, S. M. Thompson, C. A. Wallace, and F. P. Wilson.

Boosts Minor Sports One of the most important changes made at State since he was here was the better outlook for minor sports, Jack said.

"When I was here there wasn't one tennis court," he stated, "yet enough money to build several courts was spent on the football team each year. Minor

Luckies — a light smoke

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO
— "IT'S TOASTED"

MOISTURE CONTROL

The most important single attribute of cigarettes, other than the tobacco itself, is moisture content. To its influence we owe the ability to make uniform cigarettes, to control combustion, and to govern quality of smoke. Excessive moisture interferes with proper combustion, and makes cigarette smoke unpalatable. Insufficient moisture permits dry, dusty cigarette smoke to impinge upon the delicate mucous membrane of the smoker.

Luckies are less acid

LUCKIES ARE LESS ACID!

Recent chemical tests show* that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.
