Van Leer Accepts Job As Head of Engineers

Retirement of W. C. Riddick From Post of Engineering Dean Creates Vacancy; Major B. R. Van Leer Leaves Job of Dean of Engineering at University of Florida to Take Over Job Here.

This past June, Major Blake Ragsdale Van Leer, past dean of the engineering school of the University of Florida, accepted the position as dean of the engineering school at State, filling the vacancy made by the resignation of Dr. W. C. Riddick who has been connected with State College for the past forty-two years.

The new engineering dean is recognized as one of the leading engineers in the South. He went to the University of Florida five years ago from George Washington University where he had worked for four years there as a professor in the engineering school. A year ago he was made dean of the engineering school at that University.

During the five years that he was in Florida, Dean Van Leer secured and directed for the state eight projects totaling more than a million dollars, and assisted in seven other important projects for the state and University, in addition to serving as director of the Florida Mapping Project, technical advisor to the state planning board, and a member of the state board of engineering examiners.

Van Leer received his B.S. degree in electrical engineering from Purdue University in 1915, and his M.S. in mechanical engineering from the University of California in 1920. He did graduate work at Purdue, and studied at the University of Caen in France and in Munich, Germany. He has taught hydraulics and had charge of the hydraulic laboratory at the University of California for 13 years.

When the war broke out Van Leer became a First Lieutenant in the Engineer Corps of the U. S. Army in France, and remained in the government service until 1919. After the war he was awarded the French Croix de Guerre. Later he was made assistant engineer for the Southern Pacific Railroad, and then became hydraulic engineer for the Byron Jackson Pump Company. He has also been the assistant secretary for the American Engineering Council.

Dean Van Leer has already taken over his position here as dean of the engineering school, and is at work in his office at 123 Civil Engineering Building.

Foreign Affairs To Be Discussed in Talk By Dodd
Ambassador to Germany to Deliver Address in Pullen Hall Sunday Night

Dr. William Edward Dodd, United States Ambassador to Germany, will give a talk on the present trend in Germany and Europe on Sunday night, September 26, at 8:00 o'clock in the college YMCA, according to information released yesterday by E. S. King, general secretary of the college YMCA.

ROOM SHORTAGE AMONG STUDENTS HARD TO REMEDY

Inadequacy of Dormitories Is Becoming More Acute As Enrollment Continues To Increase; 1,907 Students Forced To Find Rooms in Homes or Fraternity Houses; Only 985 Boys Able To Live in Dormitories.

With a record breaking enrollment for the coming year and no additions to the dormitory facilities of the college since the erection of Seventh Dormitory 10 years ago, all available rooms within walking distance of the college have been filled and the housing problem of many boys is still not satisfactorily solved.

Twenty-four boys who, in the rush, were unable to find rooms here were crowded into the basement of the YMCA as an emergency measure.

According to T. T. Wellons, Superintendent of Dormitories, 468 freshmen have been assigned rooms in the dormitories, leaving 182 of the 650 freshmen registered so far to find rooms of the campus.

Waiting List
With a waiting list including 5 freshmen who have made deposits on their rooms and many others seeking to live in the dormitories, the Superintendent of Dormitories' office is doing its best to place as many freshmen as possible.

A New Technician
Since the last issue of the Technician in June, a complete change has taken place in the paper, not only in make-up and style, but in the type of print used.

Contract for printing the paper for this year went to Capital Printing Company and that organization has a wide variety of types from which to choose. News stories this year will be concise and to the point, and will not be stretched to the breaking point just to make a balanced page. The paper this year will be a newspaper, not a space where reporters can write and write just to prove their literary ability.

Welcome!

The Administration extends a cordial welcome to new and returning students.

You are college students at the close of one-hundred and fifty years of the operation of a representative form of government, under a Constitution, which has been amended from time to time to meet changing economic and social conditions.

You are in a position to take stock of one-hundred and fifty years of progress in the United States, and on the basis of your findings, to lay plans for your future service to the State and the Nation.

There is an increasing demand for the graduates of courses in technology. These graduates must, however, have a better understanding of social and economic affairs of the American people than have college graduates in the past.

The Administration wishes for you a most profitable year.

J. W. HARRELSON, Dean of Administration.

Massey Selected Regimental Head For Coming Year

Appointment of Senior Officers Announced by Military Department

The military department, with the approval of the dean of administration, has assigned promotions to second year advanced course ROT students and assignments to duty for this school year, according to information released from that department this week.

J. P. Massey, a senior in electrical engineering, was appointed Colonel of the entire regiment, and J. C. Frink, president of the Student Body and a senior in agriculture, was appointed Lieutenant Colonel and Executive Officer.

Richard "Dick" MacKenzie received the appointment of Lieutenant Colonel, Adjutant, and will have as his Major, Assistant Adjutant J. E. Grantham.

Other men receiving the rank of Major in the regimental staff are: P. C. Ragsdale, D. L. Ramsey, R. S. Blackwood and J. T. Catlin, III.

Cadet Captain R. S. Payne will be the officer in charge of athletics and recreation, while Cadet Captain C. R. Dunaagan will be officer in charge of publicity.

Basillion Officers
J. P. Moorefield will be Lieutenant Colonel in command of the 1st Battalion and Major C. B. Shimer has been named second in command and executive.

In the 2nd Battalion, G. E. Norman, Jr., will be Lieutenant Colonel and Major W. P. Crawley his second in command. The 3rd Battalion will be commanded by Lieutenant Colonel G. E. Baucom, and Major J. W. Pou will be second in command.

Lieutenant Colonel J. G. Bronson will command the music department, and Major R. S. Clark will be the executive officer. Captain C. H. Storey, Jr., will be in command of the band, and Captain M. C. Brennan will be in command of the drum and bugle corps.

Dan Paul Elected Alumni Secretary

Takes Over Office Left Vacant By Resignation of George Ross This Summer

Dan M. Paul, newly elected Alumni Secretary for this school, has taken over that position which was left vacant by the resignation of George Ross this past summer.

Paul, a native of Pantego and for six years county farm agent for Granville County, is the third person to hold the office of Alumni Secretary during the past year, Fred Ross and George Ross having held the post in the interim.

Along with his work in the Alumni office, Paul will continue in his regular position as director of agricultural short courses for the college.

Graduated from this college in 1931, he has been in close contact with the school ever since. While a student, he was president of the Student Body and a member of both the Blue Key and the Golden Chajin.

Sexton New Prexy Of General Alumni

Takes Office as Dave Clark of Charlotte Cries Election Not Fair

At the forty-fifth annual meeting of the State College General Alumni Association held during the past summer, John W. Sexton of Raleigh, an official of the Seaboard Railroad, was elected president to succeed retiring President Irvin B. Tucker of Whiteville.

Sexton, a graduate of this college in 1910, was also elected a member of the Athletic Council for a term of four years.

The auditorium was filled to overflowing with the largest attendance in the history of the organization, and a number of 1937 graduates were represented. Following the balloting for officers, Dave Clark, of Charlotte, went on record as saying that he did not think the election was being held fairly on the grounds that members of the 1937 Class had participated in the voting, but he was overruled by the president who authorized the tellers to proceed with the election.

In making his farewell speech, Tucker exclaimed: "It will always be a pleasure for me to render you any service of which I am capable, and I hope that every person will support our new officers in every effort they shall make to further the interest of a splendid institution to which we all owe so much."

NYA Allotment Cut This Year

There has been another reduction of NYA funds allotted by the government for this school year.

R. L. Stallings announced this week that there would be a decrease of $1,470 in the monthly quota of NYA funds allotted to State College for the coming year. Last year the quota was $3,690 and is reduced this year to $2,220 monthly, a decrease of approximately forty per cent.

This decrease represents a loss of 98 jobs at $15.00 a month, 30 jobs under a special drought allotment and 68 regular NYA jobs. With only $2,220 monthly at disposal, the self-help committee has reduced the monthly maximum which any individual student may earn to $12.00 a month. This is done so as to give employment to 180 students under the present allotment, whereas with a $15.00 maximum salary, only 148 students could be employed.

Forty-five jobs will be given to freshmen applicants under the NYA this year, and the remainder could be employed. There are approximately seven hundred applications on file at present from both freshmen and upperclassmen, and more are coming into the self-help office each day. Of these seven hundred applications, 199 are from freshmen applicants.

RUSHING BEGINS AS FRATERNITIES PLAN CAMPAIGNS

Largest Rushing Season in College's History Begins Tomorrow in Preparation for Round of Social Events Next Week - Fraternity Handbooks Distributed to Freshmen.

With the Greeks already planning their campaigns, the largest rushing season for State College fraternities will get under way tomorrow as the 15 social fraternities on the campus begin to entertain prospective pledges.

At the end of the period last year 134 men were pledged into the social groups and with the increased enrollment in the Freshman Class, the number of men pledged is expected to be more.

According to the rushing rules as published in the State College Fraternity Handbook for this year, the rushing period will officially begin at noon tomorrow and last until midnight next Wednesday. Then, a two-day "silent period" will follow during which no fraternity man is allowed to approach a freshman.

Reforms Enacted
The Interfraternity Council enacted reforms during the spring term of last year, but these measures will not go into effect until the rushing season of next year.

During rushing days, the freshmen are not allowed to forsake their college duties, as a college regulation reads: "Freshmen must attend all their regular college duties during the rushing period. If it can be shown that any fraternity is interfering with the attendance of a freshman upon the exercises of Freshman Week or his regular classes during the rushing period, the fraternity will be reprimanded."

Get Your Technician

Due to the fact that registration of upperclassmen has not been completed up to the present time, the mailing list of the Technician has not yet been completed. This issue of the paper will be delivered to the dormitories and fraternities, and to the other buildings on the campus. However, it will be difficult for the paper to be delivered to students who are living off the campus. Therefore, all such students should call by the office of the Technician anytime today and receive their copy. Those who do not receive their copies today will be able to secure them in the YMCA for several days.

Engineering and Textile Schools Show the Largest Increase

MORE STUDENTS EXPECTED STILL

Housing Facilities are Overrun by Enormous Number of Students; Hundreds are Forced to Room in Private Homes; Some Students Still Seeking Quarters.

State College opened its doors this year with the largest enrollment it has experienced since the college was founded in 1889, reaching a new high of 2,050 students with at least 150 more expected to register before the end of registration period, a final tabulation proved today.

W. L. Mayer, director of registration, said today that official figures for registration are not yet complete, but that final figures will prove this registration to be the greatest in the history of the school.

Approximately 650 freshmen registered last Friday, whereas only 562 freshmen were registered at the same time last year, showing an increase of nearly 90 students. Approximately 150 transfer students registered on Monday and Tuesday.

Upperclassmen Register

Thirteen hundred and ninety upperclassmen registered Wednesday at the Frank Thompson Gymnasium and began their class work Thursday. Some students were not able to complete their registration on Wednesday, but were granted permission to wait until yesterday. But students who registered after the offices had been officially closed Wednesday were fined the customary ten dollars if they did not have an acceptable excuse for being late.

The Textile School and the School of Engineering experienced the greatest increase in enrollment, with the Textile School in the lead. During the summer, at one time, the registration reported to have increased 100 per cent over the same period of last year.

'Y' Frosh Group Begins Working At First Meeting

Getting underway before the opening of school with a pre-college retreat, and continuing with the organization of a freshman "Y" cabinet Wednesday night, the freshman program of the YMCA here is progressing rapidly, according to E. S. King, general secretary of the "Y."

The retreat, which began Sept. 7 and lasted two days, was attended by 60 selected freshmen. The newcomers, in four sections, heard discussions on scholarship, religion, friendship, and campus activities. The group leaders were Professor J. D. Clark, Dr. Carl Herman Voss, Dr. Z. F. Metcalf, and Assistant Dean of Students Romeo Lefort. Sections were rotated so that each freshman heard each leader.

Future events tentatively scheduled by the "Y" here are: a speaker on sex education, Armistice Day program, Thanksgiving program, a Christmas project for needy children, a meeting of 10 delegates to National Student Assembly from Dec. 27 to Jan. 1, sending of delegates to fall, winter, and spring State Conferences at Nawaoka, and Religious Emphasis week.

Also scheduled on the YMCA program is the promotion of picnics and socials with Meredith and other girls' colleges if possible. "Other events will probably be arranged later," said King.

Welcome, Freshmen!

BY this time you should be thoroughly orientated with the campus and should be learning the intricacies of college algebra and other school work into which you have plunged.

And this is the year that you should devote more time to your studies than any other year of your college life, for with a good foundation in your freshman year, you will find that the work will become easier as you continue.

Too many freshmen are want to be lax in preparing their studies. Fraternity rushing, the freedom of college life that you have never before known, too much social life, and laziness are factors that will tend to keep you away from your lessons. But you must remember that your primary interest in coming to college is to gain knowledge from books. Then, if you have proved to yourself and your family that you are a student, there will be plenty of time for you to engage in the many outside activities offered by this school.

Only one of every three freshmen who enters this school completes his college education. Prepare yourself now to be one of that number.

Our Gain Is Florida's Loss

"NORTH CAROLINA'S gain is Florida's loss," quotes a large Florida daily newspaper in an editorial concerning Major Blake R. Van Leer's acceptance of the position of dean of the engineering school offered him by N. C. State College.

Van Leer has had a vast amount of experience in the engineering field, and he is fully equipped to raise the standard of our engineering school to even greater heights. He resigned an excellent position as dean of the engineering school at the University of Florida to accept the position with this college.

Naturally, we hate to lose a good man like Dr. Wallace Carl Riddick who has for forty-five years been connected with our engineering school, but it is high time for the good Doctor to lay back and rest on the laurels he has gathered in his many years of service for this institute.

N. C. STATE

Where Will We Sleep and Study?

IN the past few years there has been a crying need for dormitory space in which to house boys who wish to live on the campus.

And this year the climax has been reached. State College must have more dormitories or else limit its number of students to a number that the college can handle. This year students are crammed into the YMCA, the gymnasium and any other place where they can find beds and a place to hang their hats.

Home owners near the campus are turning every available room they have over to students at a more than fair profit, and if students do not accept the rooms they are offered at those prices, they must necessarily go further and further from the campus to find suitable rooms at fair prices. That is unfair to the students.

State College is in line to get the next dormitories built for the Greater University, but when is this to be?

N. C. STATE

Faculty Interest In Students

AT last the faculty is trying to get into closer contact with the students. Professors and instructors throughout the campus are subscribing to publications to keep better informed on current news and happenings of the student body at large.

When students and faculty members have to be closely connected for a period of four years, they should know something about each other, and in the past there has not been a very great amount of amiable feeling between them.

In the future, this newspaper will always have a space in its pages for any thoughts and views members of the faculty wish to express to the students.

N. C. STATE

A Much Prettier Campus

THE buildings and grounds committee is to be complimented for the results it has obtained in its measures to protect the beauty of the campus.

The lawns of the campus are beautiful this year due mainly to the wire that has been strung alongside the paths, forcing students to follow the designated walkways rather than take a shorter course by cutting across the campus at any place they see fit.

With plenty of old shade trees surrounding our ivy-covered buildings that add age and grandeur to the school, we should all take extra precaution not to mar that beauty by cutting unsightly paths across our lawns and terraces.

Star Athlete Urges Spirit

By E. V. HELMS

To the Students: People acquainted with this generation of collegians will testify that the modern campus is becoming what we might call "ultra modern."

Cocktail hysteria, tuxedo sophistication, campus high hats and politicians all characterize the present undergraduate's attitude toward his school.

But old fashioned torch parades, pre-game rallies, and personal cheers are what we need. We need them badly, but they draw only aloof, indulgent smiles from some of the poised and base undergraduates of OUR SCHOOL.

Football games should not be looked upon as merely a means to a social end, but as something important added to the tradition and character of OUR SCHOOL.

That football squad that's representing you needs your support, whether it be public or private demonstration. There should be pep-rallies and torch-light parades before games, and when that old band plays we should all be happy and proud to be able to sing our college songs. We believe in our tradition and should feel an unspoken law to live up to it. We love our school, all of us, we're right behind the things it stands for, and we are darn proud to be able to fight for it.

An athlete's highest ambition is to become a member of his college team. We accomplish this feat and later to our aghast realization comes the fact that probably we will never play football again and that our accomplishments in so far as the team is concerned would be as useful to us in the world into which we are being flung as a dusty laurel wreath.

To all of us our days here will figure prominently into what our later life holds for us. And so, if we have any desire at all for the future to follow, we won't stand for defeat. Sometimes, we hear it is better to lose than it is to win. We've lost fairly in the past; we've lost, and our hearts have been broken at continuous defeat, but if we are stirred into the ardent, feverous Wolfpack that we should be, I think the result will speak for itself.

You may see a State team beaten this year but you'll never see it go down without fighting until that last whistle is heard by all of us.

And such spirit is contagious; it penetrates from the player to the smallest student in the stands. The very nature of us all and the men who comprise our student body make for a fighting team. All other things being equal during a game the team that is sired in this atmosphere cannot help out-fighting and out-spiriting its uninspired, though mechanically perfect, opponent.

I hope that we can be that fighting inspired, if not mechanically perfect, eleven.

HERE and THERE

by Dick Mackenzie

Time marches on and yours very truly returns to write the old column. . . . Just going through college on a five year plan. I call it the "Not Rushin' Plan."

A freshman wanted to know if "Admiral" Leary was an Admiral in the ROTC. Admiral only responded that he commanded the battleships on Red Field during those rainy day sessions.

The Japs have given us something else to start the conversation off with other than the weather. Maybe they are out trying to get a squint at "Shanghai Lil."

Three freshmen reported to Charlie Dunnagan's room for chemistry. They couldn't seem to find 102-W, and several others were reported strolling all over the gym looking for Professor Staff. . . . Maybe they'd better try Polk Hall.

What are we going to do without "Our Jimmy Poyner and His Band"? Jimmy and the boys will be missed by every State College student, and I am sure that everyone regrets to hear that they will disband.

A new use for the "Big Apple" has originated on the football field. Ren Hoek leads the big huskies in a round or two for limbering up purposes, or I wonder if they are trying to keep the "Doc" away.

Now that rush week has started, the freshman will get his first touch of college life, but he mustn't get a wrong idea about it. He'll soon find out the back-slapping, dancing, and "rah-rah" part does not last very long.

Those boys that come down from the North have the habit of adopting a brogue that might sound like a Georgia cracker, and it sounds awful. Maybe they'd better bring back to life the old song, "Pardon My Sudden Accent."

No rain on registration day for the first time in a number of years. . . . What's going to happen? And while we're talking about it, I'm in favor of changing registration day to "Bowel Day"; anyway, he is the only one that seems to profit by it.

Dear Uncle Watt: What is this terrible noise that keeps me awake every night? Seems to come from Watagus Hall. B. B. S.

Dear E. B. S.: Don't be alarmed—Dunnagan rides again.

The Technician is glad to join with the papers of the nation in commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Constitution of the United States of America.

GLEANINGS

BY THE STAFF

Editor's Note: This column will be conducted by members of the staff so long as it receives the sanction of the students. The column will be assigned each week to a different member; but if the readers have any one columnist they favor, the column will become permanent.

Leaving home last Tuesday with thoughts of nothing but long and continuous hours of study to prove to the folks back home they really have a smart lad. . . . and then a bid to the Debutante Ball which sent me dithering to the City Auditorium to trip the light fantastic with stiff-backed debs. And ending up by kicking my heels high as my head and stomping the floor like a revival Negro gone crazy; doing the Big Apple. Then to home with my roommate under my arm. . . . And awoke next morn to find a stranger quietly sleeping on the floor.

Then feeling my way cautiously across Hillsboro, wincing at the thought of asking an old man standing beside me to help me across the street. . . . and stopped by to greet Romeo; wondering how I stood on credit points but afraid to ask. Into the Treasurer's office and pleading with hard-hearted Mrs. Harris to cash a slim check so I wouldn't starve before school started. Finally winding up in the office and sitting morosely dreaming of a gal I shouldn't have left.

Strolling by the "mop-up" and looking in to see freshmen gazing dazedly at a slip of paper showing how much their books had cost. And being highly insulted when two upperclassmen looked at me sympathetically and remarked, "Freshman." But nobody was near to hold my coat. . . . then in to buy my new professor a soda, wangling for a professional grip on his leg. And missed.

Fully appreciating the college laundry after having to spend seventy-five cents for having clothes cleaned during the summer. Strolling down to Riddick Field at sunset to watch the shadows creep mysteriously across the stadium. And trying vainly to overcome a longing to be home; then sending myself home without supper and to bed in an attempt to forget.

Downtown Wednesday, glancing timidly in windows displaying radios and secretly wishing for one of my own. So finding myself inside one of the better radio shops; and home that night and spent the full evening listening to my new radio. And will now have to face that installment collector the first of every month.

Back home that night and sitting down to prepare my budget for the year but gave up in a hurry when I saw it wouldn't work; but not forgetting to think at length that some kind of budget had to be sent home. Why worry with that now, 'cause I'm out of money and you can't overran that budget.

Off the cuff: Charlie Dunnagan happily telling of a sweet letter to him penned in red ink. . . . a red letter day, eh, Charlie? . . . J. C. Frink greeting everyone in sight. . . . and Rodney Graham firing away on a ten-cent stogie, dreamily visioning a new car he might buy sometime this year. . . . and talking to Bill Matthey on the new spirit found in the new football team guided by our Doc Newton. . . . wishing every student had the spirit E. V. Helms has shown. . . . Hoping that George Poyner will soon be covalencing. . . . and hating to see Jimmy Poyner disband his orchestra, one of the best. . . . Seeing Jimmy Thiem in white tie and tails looking so neat I dashed to the haberdashery to bicker with the salesman for a set of my own; and then had to lend my roommate the money for his set so that he would not be outdone. . . . Seeing to it that pretty Miss Nancy Steele of the Alumni Office gets her name in print against her will. . . . Add Jake Marsh. . . . Going by Colonel Harrelson's office for an appointment so I could shake hands with him. . . . Hearing that Fred Gore is now busy tearing his heart out over a girl who quit him when his college society days were through; but lucky Fred. . . . Thinking how clean-cut Pete Bronson is. . . .

Connie Mac Berry, one of the finest all-round athletes this college has seen in years. . . . Wishing I had the fortitude of Beesie Gaither in sending myself to college as he has so successfully done. . . . And glad to see Max Saunders with us for another year knowing that his heart is yearning for that girl who left him behind in Gastonia; not that he left behind. . . . Me too, Max. . . . Sarcastically remembering what the self-styled "natural born leader" Charlie Matthews said about ten thousand dollars salary in ten years. . . . Thinking what a swell fellow is Bob Warren. . . . Wondering what the fiery Charlie Stinette is now doing. . . . and ending this column before I get kicked out of school.—Dick McPhail.

Tribute to a Man

EXACTLY thirty-one years ago this fall, from out of the fields surrounding Asheboro, N. C., there came to this campus a ruddy-faced, stockily built young country lad, John Sexton by name, filled with wonder and excitement at the antics of the college students with whom he was thrown; inwardly proud of the large sum of sixty dollars which bulged from his hip pocket with which he had to pay for a four-year college education.

Working diligently at odd jobs in town and on the campus, this determined young man was able to make enough money with which to pay for his full four years, and found enough extra time to become an outstanding star of the varsity baseball team in his freshman year, president of his Sophomore Class, star of the varsity football team, and an outstanding scholar in Civil Engineering. During his Junior and Senior years he pitched not a single losing baseball game, thereby gaining the title, "The Mighty Sexton."

Upon leaving school after graduation, he accepted a position with the Virginia Baseball League, played good ball there for a while, and was swapped from league to league throughout the South, all the time building a great name for himself in baseball. Finally came a lucrative offer from the New York Yankees which he flatly declined, quit the baseball game while making a salary of three hundred dollars a month to go to work as a surveyor's helper for the Seaboard Railroad at sixty dollars a month.

Today that same young man is a high official of the Seaboard Railroad, risen through the ranks to a position where important men look to him for advice, seek his sanction on important business matters, and regard him as an intellectual gentleman of the highest order.

He has taken a keen interest in the growth of this college, was one of the main factors in promoting a clean-up campaign waged against certain individuals connected with the tangled athletic situation of last year who were working for their own personal interests rather than for the interests of the college, and he has fought an unrelenting battle for his Alma Mater which, he claims, owes him nothing, but to which he owes a great debt for his education.

He has recently been elected to the position of president of the General Alumni Association of this college, a responsible position which he will fill most admirably. All he asks from the students is that they cooperate with him in building a school spirit that has been sadly lacking in the past few years, and to do their part in bringing about a friendlier atmosphere throughout the campus that will be gradually absorbed by the freshmen of future years.

In John W. Sexton we have a great friend, and it is left entirely to the students to work with him in building a great school spirit that will go down through the years and make our campus a better place in which to live.

RIDDICK REMAINS ON FACULTY STAFF

Former Dean of Engineering School Will Remain Here To Teach Hydraulics

Dr. W. C. Riddick, who resigned this summer as dean of the engineering school of State College, will continue his work with the college as professor of hydraulics and will also conduct a class in mathematics.

as the "father of engineering at State College," for it was through his efforts that the engineering school was raised to its present high plane.

Riddick served as President of the college from 1916 until he retired in 1923 to become dean of the engineering school. He first became affiliated with the college when he came here in 1892 as the college's first football coach. He has since that time been active in athletic affairs and has served on the athletic council.

the State College faculty in 1892. Riddick Stadium, formerly Riddick Field, was named in his honor.

Riddick tendered his resignation to the college early in the spring of this year, and in his letter of resignation he expressed a desire to remain on the faculty of the college, though relieved of the duties as head of the engineering school. As a reason for his retirement he mentioned his 72 years of age.

Van Leer New Dean
Major Blake Ragsdale Van Leer, formerly dean of the engineering school of the University of Florida, accepted the position as dean of the engineering school of State, and thus filled the vacancy made by Dean Riddick's retirement.

At the Theatres

CAPITOL

The Capitol Theatre has carefully selected as its first big stage show of the new season, the musical beauty, "Greenwich Village Gambols," which will be presented on the Capitol stage Thurs. at 8:30, 7:00, and 9:10. "Greenwich Village Gambols" is a fast moving unit with an unusual cast of 22 people, including eight variety acts and a flash swing band. Comedians, dancers, acrobats, beautiful girls and a popular "reel woman," the screen attraction features Claire Trevor and Michael Whalen.

STATE

Frank Capra's widely-heralded production, "Lost Horizon," fresh from its triumphant roadshow tour is scheduled to open its popular preed run at the State Theatre on Wednesday for four days. It is said to be the most ambitious film ever directed by Capra, whose last picture, "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," was termed the best of 1936 in many quarters.

Ronald Colman is starred in "Lost Horizon." Others in the cast include Edward Everett Horton, Jane Wyatt, Margo, Thomas Mitchell, John Howard, H. B. Warner, Sam Jaffe and Isabel Jewell.

Robert Riskin, noted scenario writer who has written all of Capra's recent successes, adapted James Hilton's novel to the screen. It is important to see the picture from the beginning. Feature starts at 12:45, 2:55, 5:05, 7:15 and 9:30. A news completes the program.

Attend Pep Meet Tonight At Seven

Students Rally Tonight In Freshman Quadrangle For Davidson Game

In preparation for the Davidson game which will be played tomorrow night in Greensboro, a pep meeting will be held tonight at seven o'clock in the freshman quadrangle under the direction of Charlie Dunnagan, head cheer leader, and his assistants.

State meets Davidson tomorrow night in the opening game of the season and as is usual of the Davidson game, it will be a tough one. But under the able direction of Doc Newton, the Wolfpack will lead a tough team for any opponent to meet.

But with the students' support and backing, State College will become known this year in the football ring. So be out for that Pep Meeting and lend your support to our Wolfpack.

Dooley's Program Heard On Airways Over CBS Network

It's a sure sign the football season is on again. Dartmouth's famous All American quarterback, Eddie Dooley, is back on the air over the Columbia Coast-to-Coast Network every Thursday and Saturday with his last-minute football news.

The makers of Chesterfield Cigarettes, sponsors of Eddie Dooley, are certainly making a bet to the wide interest in sports news. Their baseball series this year, with Paul Douglas, satisfied fans North, East, South and West, and the Dooley football programs will be on a larger scale than ever before, necessitating two complete talks on each broadcast date; one at 6:30 p.m. New York Time for the East and Middle West, and one at 8:30 p.m. New York Time to cover the games for the fans in the Rocky Mountain States and the Far West.

In addition to firing away each Thursday with his uncanny predictions of the week-end results and reviewing the highlights of the games each Saturday, Dooley plans to have leading football coaches and authorities as guests on his programs from time to time. And speaking of authorities, Dooley himself is considered by the football followers as one of America's outstanding experts on the game. Jack Sutherland, the well-known Pittsburgh mentor once remarked that Eddie Dooley had done more for the game of football than any former college star he knew of. At the present time, in addition to being constantly in demand for magazine articles on football, Eddie Dooley is holding down an important berth in the sports department of the New York Sun in association with well-known sports writers like Grantland Rice and George Trevor. His training and background as one of the outstanding field generals the East ever produced, has given him remarkable insight into the whys and wherefores of football plays and his judgment on football news makes his broadcasts far beyond ordinary interest.

The Eddie Dooley football programs bid fair to be top-notch sports programs in every respect, and the personality of the announcer, Paul Douglas, who is himself one of radio's best-known sports commentators and carried the baseball banner for Chesterfield on the Columbia network all through the 1937 season. The big kick-off of the week for football followers comes when the whistle blows for Eddie Dooley every Thursday, and the pay-off will come the following Saturdays when the fans tune in to see if Dooley's dope was right.

Technician Needs Men

There are a number of places to be filled on both the editorial and business staffs of the Technician left vacant by the graduation of several members last year. These vacancies will have to be filled, and students interested in this type of work are invited to join the staff at a meeting Monday night in the Publication's Building at 7 o'clock. Past experience in newspaper work is not essential. Regular, easy assignments will be made so as not to interfere with the student's school work.

Registering Routine Undergoes Changes

Official Bulletin, Issued By Mayer, Aids Faculty In Making Roster Change

Several changes have occurred in the registration procedure this year, according to a bulletin issued by W. L. Mayer, director of registration.

Through the change it has been made possible for a student to change from one section to another by the cooperation of both departments. Changes in hours may be made, provided that no conflict occurs, and hours scheduled for courses in the winter and spring term were given precedence over changes in the fall term schedule.

At the close of the change period each student must file a copy of his roster for the year with his dean which will include all changes that have been made. These steps are only necessary, however, after a student has been registered and desires to change his roster. In the case of a change the dean or instructor will check the changes made on the roster, and after it is signed, it will be forwarded to the Registration Office.

Honorary Societies Plan Homecoming

Blue Key and Golden Chain Lay Plans For Stunt Night Before Carolina Game

A joint meeting of the Blue Key and Golden Chain, honorary societies, was held yesterday at which time plans were made for a program to be held during the Homecoming game with Carolina on October 2.

On Friday night previous to the game, the group plans for a stunt night to be held in Pullen Hall, followed by a pep meeting and climaxed by a parade downtown. Charlie Dunnagan, head cheer leader, was placed in charge of the downtown parade.

After the game on Saturday afternoon, plans have been made for an elaborate Homecoming Dance which will be given in the Frank Thompson gymnasium. The names of the sponsors and the band for the dance will not be announced until later, it was learned.

Homecoming Day will be a climax to the "Hello Week," which will begin on the campus on Monday, Sept. 27.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The first meeting of the Agricultural Education Society will be held Monday night, September 20. All members and all freshmen registered in agricultural education are urged to attend. The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in room 201, Peele Hall.

Student Tickets

J. L. Von Glahn of the athletic business office announced yesterday that all students who expect to attend the State-Davidson game in Greensboro tomorrow must have their registration cards with them in order to buy the special student tickets which will be on sale at the ticket office on the east side of the field.

He stated that tickets for students would be 55 cents each.

The game will be held in the Memorial Stadium located on Summit Ave., and will begin at 8:00 p.m.

Students To Drill In Winter Months

The military department has been unable to carry through a plan to eliminate the winter term of drilling by substituting a two-hour drill period in the afternoons during the spring term, due to the impossibility of changing laboratory schedules.

But there will be a make-up drill period on one Saturday afternoon of each month for those students who have been absent from regular drill without an excuse. Students who have excused absences will not be required to attend the afternoon drill classes.

The Revolutionary Pen That Won't Run Dry
In a New and Superlative Model—the Speedline

It's not how much a person has in his pocket that determines whether or not he selects the new 1938 Parker Speedline Vacuumatic—it's how much he has above his shoulder!

Some other pens cost as much as this revolutionary invention, yet no one having the "low down" on pens wants to pay these prices without getting these new-day advantages. For example: A new all-time high in ink capacity, hence a Pen that never starts anything it cannot finish. A Pen that shows the ENTIRE ink supply—shows when to refill—hence one that never runs dry in classes or exams.

An utterly exclusive Style—laminated Pearl and Jet—now with slender Speedline shepp—the most restful ever conceived.

And not merely modern in Style, but wholly modern in mechanism, too. Its SACLASS and patented Diaphragm Filler radically departs from all earlier types, regardless of whether they have a rubber ink sac or not.

Be sure to see and try this pedigreed Beauty today at any good pen counter. The Parker Pen Co., Janesville, Wisconsin.

Entire Country Honors Men Who Drew Up Constitution of United States

Tonight, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President of the United States, will officially open the Sesquicentennial Celebration of the formation of the Constitution of the United States with an address over a nation-wide radio hook-up. The celebration begins today because 150 years ago, the constitutional convention finished its four months of work and adjourned. During the early part of the summer, State College received a request from the United States Constitutional Sesquicentennial Commission asking that the college cooperate in the program during the years 1937-39. Dr. David A. Lockmiller, professor of history, has been placed in charge of the activities on the campus and a program will be arranged during this year.

According to word received from Sol Bloom, director general of the United States Constitutional Sesquicentennial Commission and Member of the House from New York State, "the Sesquicentennial Commission proposes to educate as well as to celebrate."

Winters Quits Here To Accept Position In Government Work

Leaves Experiment Station Here For Job With U. S. Dept. of Agriculture

Dr. R. Y. Winters, Director of the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station, will be released from that duty about October 15, after which time he will be connected with the office of the Experiment Station of the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington.

Winters has been connected with the experiment station here since 1913, and has conducted extensive research in that field. In his new position he will be associated with the department which has charge of agricultural research in the states under Federal Land Grants.

Clemson Graduate
The agricultural expert received his education at Clemson College where he graduated in Agriculture, after which he took graduate work at the University of Florida to receive his M.S. degree, and then studied at Cornell for his Ph.D. degree.

In regard to his departure for Washington, Winters said: "Having been here as long as I have, it is very hard to leave my friends

Associate professor of Chemical Engineering, comes from the University of Idaho.

New Members Added To Staff

Many New Members Added To Personnel Staff of This College During Summer

An addition of twenty-two names has been made in the personnel of State College since last spring, it was revealed yesterday by the dean of administration's office. These new names include professors, instructors, stenographers, and many others.

Although several of these new personnel members filled entirely new positions, many filled vacancies made by the resignation of previous faculty members. Several of these changes were made known last spring when some changes in the faculty were presented. Dean E. R. Van Lear replaced Dr. W. C. Riddick as Dean of the Engineering School. Dr. Riddick tendered his resignation to the college last spring as head of the engineering department, but expressed the desire to remain on the faculty. This year he will conduct several courses in hydraulics and a class in mathematics.

Athletic Positions
In the athletic set-up, "Doc" Newton filled the vacancy left by "Hunk" Anderson, and brought with him Herman Hickman, of Wake Forest, and Bob Warren, State's former football coach. E. M. Waller is to be the new freshman coach for this year. In the military department Major Arthur E. Burnap took over the work carried on last year by Major Ben Venable.

Other professors and instructors who were added to the personnel list are: F. W. Cook, instructor in poultry science; Associate Professor Ross D. Stevens, department of zoology; Associate Professor J. Warren Smith, department of education; J. D. Lindsey, associate professor of chemical engineering; Dr. D. B. Wicker, associate professor of chemical engineering; E. W. Winkler, instructor in electrical engineering; Assistant Professor N. W. Connor, department of engineering mechanics; P. E. Moose, instructor in department of mechanical engineering; T. C. Brown, instructor in department of mechanical engineering; R. J. Madison, foreman of foundry and forge; and Frank H. Lyell, instructor in the English department.

New Alumni Secretary
Dan M. Paul assumed his duties as acting Alumni Secretary, taking over the work carried on last year by George Ross. He has retained his office in Holladay Hall. Clyde H. Cantrell was made assistant librarian. William E. Lindau became reporter for the news bureau, and W. A. Reid filled a position as instructor in the chemistry department. Reid had previously been an instructor in this department, but last year was on a leave of absence. Miss Elizabeth Young, stenographer in the mathematics department in the department of education, and Miss Linda Maddry, stenographer, have also been added to the personnel list.

Agromeck Pictures

Jim Catlin, chief of the 1938 Agromeck, announced today that photographers would be on the campus beginning Monday to take individual pictures for the yearbook. On Monday and Tuesday all freshmen who have not already had their pictures made must report, for this is the only time scheduled for their pictures. Starting Wednesday, the pictures of upperclassmen will be made. All pictures will be made in the Agromeck editorial office in the Publications Building. The editorial board requests that coats be worn during the taking of the pictures.

Had To Be Good
A young man entered the offices of Messrs. Smith, Smith, Smith and Brown, attorneys, and demanded to see the latter partner in the firm.
"Sorry," said the office boy, "Mr. Brown is out, but you can see any of the Mr. Smiths."
"No, thanks," came the retort. "I want a smart lawyer, and any man who can break into an army of Smiths like this chap Brown has done must be clever."

Newton's Pack To Meet Davidson's Cats Tomorrow

N.C. STATE VISITS GATE CITY PARK TO GET REVENGE

State Starting As An Unknown Quantity; Both Teams To Use Same Plays.

by Bill Ford

At Memorial Stadium in Greensboro Saturday night will be staged a football fracas the like of which should gladden the hearts of all true fans when our Wolfpack meets the Davidson Wildcats in a night game, the kickoff being called for eight o'clock.

This football fiesta will be viewed with interest not only by spectators who watch for the pure love of the sport and who enjoy the thrill of keen competition, but also by more technical observers. Big Five coaches are expected to be seen on the sidelines Saturday night taking notes on the manner in which Dr. Newton's State team copes with the same Newton system he taught while at Davidson last year.

Newton vs. Newton

As we all know, this is "Doleful Doc's" first team to take the field for State College and as fate would have it, the first opponent will be one which Doc himself personally coached last season; none other than the Davidson Wildcats. When we add to this the fact that State was beaten by Davidson last year it amounts to just another manner of pouring oil on the flame of enthusiasm, which is blazing over Saturday's game, for the Wolves will be out seeking revenge for that defeat.

It will be interesting to watch Doc Newton's method of attack against the very system which he instituted himself at Davidson. Doc is a football strategist all the way through and delights in solving problems of this sort. If anyone should know the loopholes and points of least resistance in Davidson's setup it ought to be the person who built the system, and State College has that man on their side in the personage of Coach Doc Newton.

McEver Plenty Tricky

Coach Gene McEver of Davidson has points in his favor that should make for keen competition. McEver has a team of seasoned players well versed in the shifty tactics employed by the Newton system. These Davidson boys have played under McEver, who was assistant coach at Davidson last year. The Wildcats know what to do, and what to expect under heavy fire.

Coach McEver will very likely have something of interest to show the State players Saturday, and it will probably be more potent than just a "Big Apple." The shelves in the Davidson football locker are not bare of tricks of the trade.

Spirit Improved

Business has been picking up and the football depression in the State camp seems to be over. A different atmosphere than previously felt has been spreading over the campus. It was especially noticeable on the practice field last week. Doc Newton has instilled into his men an attitude that should make them unbeatable if they continue in their present frame of mind.

Two daily practices have given way to shorter and more lenient workouts under the lights of Riddick Field in order that the boys may become familiar with the lighting arrangement under which the game will be played Saturday night.

State Has Hopes

State's hopes for a powerful eleven were given a jump in the summer when several varsity men were lost due to their leaving school. It seemed at first that Doc Newton would not have a very good supply of material from which to choose his number one combination. In recent practices this idea was proved to be false, and at present the prospects are very bright.

Arthur Rooney is expected to perform in the capacity of "chief ball-toter" for the Wolves with Eddie Berlinski as his running mate. Rooney and Berlinski are very fast and adept at broken field running and can be guaranteed to put on a fine show.

Several recent changes have been made in the State line-up which should prove that Doc Newton serves from which to draw. A night practice Wednesday evening found Tatum and Conrad at end positions; George Fry and E. V. Helms at tackle; Woodson and Hines at guards; Ritter at center; and Murphy, Berlinski, Rooney and Lozier composing the backfield.

McEver Has Worries

Injuries in the Davidson camp have been a source of worry to Coach Gene McEver and several of his varsity men are definitely out of the line-up. The line was mostly affected by the casualties, but the backfield is expected to carry its full strength. Lafferty, Davidson's ace ball carrier, is the man who the Wolfpack must stem Saturday night if they are to taste the sweetmeats of victory.

Sports Glimpses

by Bob Blackwood

Welcome back to State. If you are an upperclassman or if you are a Frosh—well, we are glad to have you with us as fellow students and State men. I'm trying my hand at writing this column and in my writing I will try to give you straight dope mixed in with my personal opinions, which might not agree with yours. I am open any time for criticism. Just drop in and tell me where I am wrong and I'll appreciate it. . . . Hurrah! football season is here again, with all its splendor and heartbreaks. There's no doubt about football being the greatest sport of all from the spectators' viewpoint as well as that of the players. . . . State will be opening its first season since I have been here minus a terrific amount of ballyhoo and build up. Thank the gods for that. Ballyhoo is all right as a means of filling the stadium but it puts a burden on the members of the team, for they try to live up to the build-up pictured on the sport sheets. The result is that they try too hard, and their ragged efforts can't be coordinated into good team work. . . . Saturday will mark the opening of the Big Five season when Doc Newton takes his Wolfpack over to Greensboro to meet his old players from Davidson. It should be a whale of a game with both teams sticking to conservative football and uncorking only a few tricky plays. Watch out for "Teeny" Lafferty in the Wildcat backfield. If the Tech forwards can keep the elusive "Teeny" bottled up, then they will have stopped the whole Davidson offense. . . . Doc Newton will be starting a much better team than most people give him credit for having. Rooney and Berlinski are two of the greatest backs ever to have carried the mail for a State team, and the line is studied with better than average players. . . . My hat goes off to Louis Marks, number one center on the squad. Louis suffered a broken jaw during spring practice and then had it broken again at ROTC camp while boxing. Two painful breaks would stop most fellows, but not Marks. He is out playing just as hard as ever, not giving a thought to a possible third break. . . . I haven't had the pleasure of meeting "Nig" Waller yet, but the word around is to the effect that the Vanderbilt graduate is very popular with all, having a keen sense of humor. His freshman team opens its season on the first of October against Belmont Abbey, here. . . . Going back to the Davidson game, "Teeny" Lafferty told me last summer that Davidson planned to use the same system and plays that Newton taught them last year. It will be rather amusing to see both teams going through exactly the same antics on the offense. State's greater power will give about a two touchdown margin over the "Cats. . . . Heard a good old football story last summer that tickled me. It seems as if Dartmouth College

Frosh Team Opens Drill

N. C. State College's freshman football team under the direction of its new chief mentor, E. M. "Nig" Waller, opened its 1937 drills last Friday and since that time some eighty-six candidates have reported for duty. Coach Waller has as his assistant A. J. Potter, who played three years under varsity coach Doc Newton at Davidson. Potter played guard and was rated as one of the State's best. At present he is connected with the Resettlement Administration and attends to his coaching duties after working hours. Coach Waller, former Vanderbilt backfield star, has found that he will have quite a job building a grid machine out of the candidates on hand at present. Waller remarked in reference to the squad, "they look mighty green in spots and will need a lot of work to do anything this year. Some of the boys have never played ball before." Candidates who have reported for duty to date are: Willard Parker, Bill Smith, Everett (Cutie) Carter, Mac Williams, Earl McCary, J. D. Jones, Julian White and Marvin Sandy of Raleigh; John L. Wood, Denton; Roy H. Lane, Henderson; Lafayette Brackin, Troy; Thomas Langston, Winterville; Ralph Gewehr, —Continued on page 6.

had a professor who was nuts about the game, so all entrance exams to prospective football stars were given by him and he always saw to it that they were mighty easy. He only flunked one man in ten years and he explained it in this way: "I gave him two questions, the first one asking him to name four phosphates found in the mountains of New England. I gave him half credit when he named lemon, lime, orange and grape phosphates. I asked him to write out the Lord's prayer as a second question and I had to flunk him when he misspelled the Lord's name. What else could I do?"

Touchdown Makers

The furthest picture to the left is that of Eddie Berlinski, star halfback on the Wolfpack for three seasons. This year Eddie will be winding up his football career in what should be his greatest season. Directly to the left is Teeny Lafferty, Davidson's outstanding back. Teeny may be small in stature but he is a giant in the estimation of rival coaches. He will be the man to stop tomorrow.

There will be a meeting of all students interested in editorial and staff work on the SOUTHERN ENGINEER at seven o'clock Monday night in the Publications Building. Geo. R. Killam, editor.

Faculty Club Holds Meet

Professors Joke and Play As They Forget Worries of Registration Day

The N. C. State College Faculty Club met last night in the Game Room of the YMCA to acquaint the new faculty members with the old.

The club meets often to give the faculty a chance to become better acquainted with one another, and games of all types are enjoyed. Bridge, pinocle, ping-pong, checkers, and billiards are played as intensely as if the professors were teaching classes.

"Some students have the idea that the faculty sit around a large room marked 'Silence' with their heads buried deep in books," one member of the faculty remarked today, "but if they could see the professors shoot pool, play checkers or 'shoot' a fast game of bridge, some minds would be changed."

For the more serious professors, chess is a medium for their emotional outlet, but the club members do not stress this game since most of the members who play the game have classes the next day and would not, in all probability, get home that night.

Many new members have been invited into the club which meets every Thursday night at eight o'clock.

Faculty of College Entertain Freshmen

The State College Administration entertained in honor of the incoming Freshman Class last Monday night from 8 to 10 o'clock in the State College YMCA.

The lobbies and parlors of the "Y" were attractively decorated with banks of ferns, ivy, and with seasonal cut flowers. The punch table located in the north end of the building, was well set-up by silver candelabra and vases of flowers.

Approximately 600 members of the Class of 1941 and members of the faculty passed through the receiving line during the evening. The guests were greeted by Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the Greater University Administration Dean J. W. Harrison, and the deans of the various schools on the campus.

The main lobby of the "Y" was set aside in departmental alcoves so that the freshmen were able to meet and talk with the faculty and wives of their special departments.

Members of the State College Women's Club, under the direction of Mrs. A. I. Ladu, presided at the punch table and served the guests.

"Grid Ball" To Be Sponsored By Junior Club September 25

The Junior Woman's Club will sponsor one of the first dances of the fall season on Saturday evening September 25, at the Memorial Auditorium, in the form of a "Grid Ball." During the evening, the Big Apple, currently the most popular of all Southern dances, will be featured several times.

Music for the ball, which will be one of the first following the opening of the colleges in and around Raleigh, will be furnished by Dean Hudson and the Florida Clubmen. This band has filled a number of engagements this summer with much success, among them being a two-week's engagement at Virginia Beach, Va., which was followed later in the season by a return engagement there. After playing the leading spots throughout New England and returning South by way of New York City, where they had a successful run, the Clubmen finished the season at Wrightsville Beach. The band was well-received at every point during the summer and will be remembered in Raleigh by many beach vacationists. Members of the orchestra are former University of Florida students. Featured with Dean Hudson is Miss Frances Colwell, vocalist.

NEW MENTOR

"NIG" WALLER

Sabol and Davis Coach Football

At least two of N. C. State's star football athletes of recent years are making their football knowledge help them make their daily bread, according to letters received from Steve Sabol, center, and Phil Davis, half-back.

Steve Sabol is in San Diego, California, coaching football at the Marine Base where he is stationed. He is bearing the rank of Second Lieutenant he made while at State College.

Phil Davis, half-back on last year's team, is now physical director for the army YMCA at Fort Monroe, Virginia. Davis graduated from this school last Christmas. Says Phil, "I would like to be able to come down for most of the games this year, but I have to provide recreation for more than a thousand men."

"Nig" Waller Frosh Coach

Former Vanderbilt Star Here at State to Coach After Interesting Career

A new addition to State College's coaching staff is "Nig" Waller who is taking over the job as freshman football coach. The vacancy was left last spring when Bob Warren was moved up as varsity backfield coach.

Pleasant and likeable, "Nig" is extremely popular with all of his players. During the dull moments of practice he comes through with jokes that keep the men in an uproar and in good spirits.

He was born in the year of 1904 at Bessemer, Alabama. Football came easily to him and he soon became the star of the Bessemer High School team. After graduating there, he went to Vanderbilt and took up his college life as a serious way, being elected president of the Freshman class and of his law class.

Waller was again outstanding as an athlete, playing on the backfield on the football team and in the infield of the university baseball club. During his Senior year, he was elected president of the Student Union.

After graduation he went back to Bessemer and took up the coaching duties at his old high school. Six years later he took over the duties of the football team of the State Teachers' College at Murfreesboro, Tennessee.

After two seasons with the Teachers he accepted a position with the Tennessee Valley Project as director of recreation. The old yearning for the gridiron was still in his blood though, so when the position of freshman coach was offered him last spring, he decided to accept it and came to Raleigh.

that there had been no increase in the percentage over last year.

The 48th session of the College began last Thursday week when the freshmen arrived on the campus to begin activities of Freshman Week.

Freshman Week was originated here by Dean E. L. Cloyd to help orientate the new men to campus life before the arrival of upperclassmen.

After the exercises of orientation week, the freshmen registered and attended classes one day before the arrival of the upperclassmen who registered on Wednesday. Yesterday, both upperclassmen and freshmen began to attend classes regularly.

ported to the Faculty Council for disciplinary action. Neither upperclassmen nor freshmen will be excused from their regular college activities because of fraternity activities.

Fourth Volume

The Fraternity Handbook is the fourth volume of the publication which has been distributed to the freshmen by the Interfraternity Council. The book was given to all interested freshmen yesterday. The book contains information about fraternities in general and has a page devoted to each fraternity. There are specially prepared articles by Rev. Jack Hart, Dean E. L. Cloyd, and Professor T. S. Johnson.

Publishing of the book was undertaken by the Interfraternity Council in an attempt to present unbiased information about the campus fraternities to the rushes. The book was published by the council's handbook committee with the supervision of Dean Cloyd.

Remodeled Infirmary Nearing Completion

The extensive remodeling of the infirmary building, started early this summer, will soon be completed.

It will comprise several improvements on the old building and equipment. There will be six new rooms, two offices, one room for waiting and first-aid room, two nurses' sleeping rooms, and one patients' room.

The halls and old rooms will be repainted, and new equipment will replace the old. A complete set of four-foot concrete walks will encircle the building, rendering easy access to all entrances.
