Borneo Brown Says War Is Necessary For Self Respect

Insists United States Must Collect Debts From "Damned Furriners"; Accuses Barrelson of Pacifism

"War is necessary to save our democracy," Dean Borneo F. Brown today shouted at his covering class in economics. "Are we men or mice," he sneered, "to let these damned furriners get away with paying the war debt? We give them every chance to pay, even provide boats to bring the money back in, and what answer do they give us? Tell us they'll swap us Hitler for the war debt."

The others suffered only minor bruises.

Students Get Week Holiday For Easter

Administration, Always Anxious To Grant Student Desires, Extends Holiday Period

In their usual display of generosity and love, the administration of the college has granted the students a week's vacation for observance of the Easter holidays, and has promised to disregard class cuts for one week before and one week after this vacation.

This is the 50th time this annual vacation or reprieve has been granted to the students, and the question under consideration before the administration this season was whether they would extend the period for another week, or just close the school at this date.

It is expected that all members of the Student Body will go home for the vacation, as the Faculty Council is guaranteeing free railroad passage for all students who desire to leave. The vacation, which will begin next Saturday and last until the following Saturday, will excite the greatest interest of the students, and they are looking forward with great anxiety to the beer and whiskey party which Professor William Hand Brown, dean of the school and electrical engineering, is planning for the boys.

This year the members of the Student Body have petitioned the Faculty Council to abolish the vacation period, as they always hate

Ragsdale and Pals Held for Formality of Questioning; Readily Admit Guilt But Contend It was for Benefit of College; Expect Authorities To Take No Further Action

Ten Stet Collich fraternity men were being held without bond last night pending an investigation into the mob slaying of Dean E. L. Clyde, whose death is believed to have been caused by fraternity men who were seeking revenge because the dean had railroaded a bill through the Faculty Council which will prevent the Interfraternity Council from giving the accustomed Monday night dance during Finals.

Clyde, often the victim of revengeful plots formulated by the students he worked against, was found dangling from the flag pole in front of Holiday Hall, the noose still tight around his neck. An anonymous note, pinned to his blouse and written in a forced hand, read: "This is what happens to traitors." This note has puzzled the police department and has proved to be the only clue the police have been able to get.

Tom Ragsdale, president of the Interfraternity Council, talked willingly to reporters who found him finishing a meal of cigars and Haig and Haig, paid for, of course, with council money. "All I wish," said Ragsdale, "is that we hadn't killed him off so suddenly. I forgot about the railroad track running past the school. We could have tied him to that if I had only thought of it in time. But we still have Romeo, and we have definite plans for him; that is, if we ever get out of incarceration."

Catgut Recovering

Prof. Edwin Catgut, silver-tongued State College football coach, is slowly recovering at his home from a long illness.

Doctors have diagnosed his case as acute diarrhea of words and a case of over-thought.

Dr. Tommy Has Accident Riding Co-Ed On His Back

Dr. Thomas Harrison sustained severe injuries Sunday morning when he had an accident while carrying a State College co-ed piggy-back up Hillsboro Street.

Returning from the Dutch Tavern at an early hour Sunday morning, Dr. Tommy noticed a State College co-ed standing at the corner of Hillsboro Street and Glenwood Avenue and looking anxiously up and down Hillsboro. Upon inquiring the reason for her seeming anxiety Dr. Tommy learned that Miss Everett was in search of a taxi to take her back to State College so that she might get a little sleep before dawn.

Dr. Tommy became quite perturbed at the mention of the word taxi and straight away told Miss Everett that from previous experience he could safely say that taxis were at best very dangerous means of transportation, but that if he really must get back to State College immediately, he would be glad to carry her piggy-back as far as College Court.

So it was agreed, and Dr. Tommy started out with Miss Everett but had not gone more than a hundred yards when he stubbed his toe on a protruding piece of pavement which was hardly visible in the dim light. The fall which ensued caused Dr. Tommy to sustain in-

Miss Simone Simone has accepted a $3,000 scholarship to State College, according to reliable information from the office of Administrative Dean J. Willie Harrel yesterday.

ALL FOOL'S DAY

FRIDAY doesn't come often enough for students, and April Fool's Day doesn't come often enough to suit the boys who work on this newspaper. Suffering from slights and affronts from their professors, students have no way to express their feelings except at this time of the year.

Every word in this issue is strictly in fun. To those offended in this paper, and there are bound to be many who are, we duly apologize. But take it in a spirit of fun and you will enjoy the paper as much as those who wrote it.

ONCE again the time of the year has come when we let down our hair, so to speak. Good old April Fool's Day is here in all its glory, thereby giving use the license to poke a wee bit of judicious fun at those around us.

This time we have attempted to hit a few angles which are not ordinarily worked out and we have attempted to let the obvious pass unnoticed. Whether we have succeeded in producing a paper which will please you is a question that we cannot yet answer. We can sincerely say, however, that in no sense of the word have we attempted to poke malicious fun at anyone. It is all done in the spirit of good, clean fun and it is our earnest wish that it be taken that way.

UNDER the strict militaristic regime of the Nutzi Starched Shirts, censorship has become a watchword on the State College campus.

With guards, spies and undercover men lurking in every corner, bypath and nook, freedom of the press has become a myth. Every editorial (with the possible exception of this one) every story, every headline has passed under the diligent eye of a starch-shirted Nutzi purist. It was only through bribing press controller Essolini, who will no doubt will be executed when this is read, that we were able to slip in this . . . our last free, uncensored editorial.

From now on, the old "Technician" regime which won your hearts by so fearlessly bringing you the truth and nothing but the truth is no more. Instead you are now a subscriber to a muzzled paper. A paper which serves merely as a mouthpiece for the great Furer.

With freedom of the press there is no alternative. We must either commit suicide or accept a job with the only publication gaining favor in the Nutzi eyes . . . "The Carolina Tar Heel."

OPENLY FORGEM..

Dear Editor:

WHY can't we have Communism, Fascism, Socialism, and other "isms" on the State College campus? Isn't this a free country full of free speech, free this, free that, free everything except beer and pretzels? Shall we let a few bald-headed officials keep us from enjoying the freedom and happiness of every man who belong to an "ism"? No; I say, a thousand times no, yea, verily a millian times no. Let the red banners wave over the picturesque and smelley cafeteria, let the black flags wave in the poultry yards, let freedom ring, let's take up the battle cry, "down with everything," aw, let's go talk this up over a mug of suds.

Yours for freedom of "isms,"

Z. Zablosky.

Our Dearest Editure:

IN response to a number of letters written to your scandal sheet, I would like to say that Dean Void and his stooge up there in Holiday Hall are trying to make this place over into an institute for grammar school children or Carolina seniors. Why doesn't the College faculty treat State College men like any other institute of higher learning would have there men treated? Certainly we are deserving of this treatment or we would not be in our present position.

As the highly exalted dean of students would have it, no student can have over two cuts per term without the loss of a credit point. Now I ask you how can State College romeo's keep up with Meredith, Peace, St. Mary's and all of Raleigh's prom-trotters when they have to catch silly little things like classes. Then there's the weekly benders pulled off at the local Dutch Tavern. I'm not enumerating the other necessities of a State College student's life.

I think it's about time somebody told that motley crew at the head of this college a few of the bare facts in life. Let's see one of you fellows that is quite sure of flunking out this term go up there and tell them something. Look at all the fun you'd have.

CAUGHT IN DASTARDLY ACT

Kutschinski Will Swing For Finals

Negotiations have already been made with the Interfraternity Council to hire the Major's swing band and the contract has already been signed. After wasting many good two-for-nickel cigars and cash money in the form of bribes our reporter finally got Dean Cloyd to let him see the signed contract. What? and what a contract—it is almost unbelievable that we had so many swing artist professors on this campus.

MAJOR C. D. KUTSCHINSKI

Each musician esteemed his performance so highly that a separate contract had to be made for each individual. The price was held back for reasons not mentionable, but the type and amount of performance of each artist was given.

At the head of the list was C. D. "Gong" D. n. e. Kutschinski, batonist, who has played previous engagements at such spots as the Cotton Club, Savoy, and The Hickory House, a real product of Tin Pan Alley. Also from Tin Pan Alley hail the first saxman and the red-hot featured soloist Dr. J. M. "Jazz Mouth" Parker of the geology department. The rest of the sax section is a trio made up of Major Jones, J. F. Miller, and F. A. Lee, Jr. It is rumored around that this trio was run out of Harlem several years ago for turning out jazz so hot that the high step at the Cotton Club could not keep in time with their arrangements.

The trumpet section contract was of major interest because it reveals one of the hottest trumpet men in the business. And if R. B. Wynne's trumpet-tooting is as hot as some of those clothes he wears, it's going to take some high-class sprinter pushing to keep in step. A. F. Greaves, Walker and A. B. R. Shelley will handle the rest of the high C's.

R. W. "Pee-Wee" Greene has been placed in the number one trombone position because his A's slide out so easily. T. E. "Windy" Harf will throw the bull into the bull fiddle. F. B. "Sleepy" Meacham. (We have been wondering why he was so full of life) was once America's hottest drummer and we will be expecting some of that old-time jungle drum beating. Wm. Hand Brown has been selected to play the violin in order to save the Major money that would otherwise be spent on violin.

But Pap just snickered and craned the jar. And silently snacked his lips. Then filling his battered derby full He drank it in little sips.

strings, because it is said that he carries them around on his chin. The ivory pusher was not in the contract, but we have every reason to believe that Vocalist E. E. Randolph will peddle the self-player piano as a side line.

Students Get Week Holiday For Easter

To leave this beloved institution. However, the petition was disregarded, and the council told them that they would never consider such a move. In an interview with a member of the council on this action of the student petition, he stated, "Why such a thing is preposterous. If we did not make the students leave this Garden of Eden during this period, when would we have time to catch up on our drinking and gambling? Already we own half interest in the local ABC store, and after this vacation, boy, we'll just about have it all."

quizzes, for which he was so earnestly loved, said he came to class the morning of his disappearance and looked very prankish. However, the students said that as this was the look that he always had in the morning, they did not consider it seriously. During classes that day he is said to have played pinchy-winchy with a couple of seniors, and to have done the "Little Apple" with one of the co-eds.

The wife of the missing playboy told authorities that he might have shaved of his goatee, and grown burnside and a mustache instead. She said that he often played that he was a detective and practiced hiding his face, which was usually an all-night job. Police throughout the country have been warned to be on the lookout for the "Goat," and they were also told to be careful of the man if he is apprehended. When cornered he immediately assumes a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde role, and has fooled the world's best criminologists.

Students this week have been busy writing letters to all of the burlesque and stage shows in this section in hopes of finding some trace of the professor. Until his return the students have adjourned their classes in Electrical Engineering, and are busy studying the fine art of writing up six Mechanical Engineering laboratory reports a day, which is considered good relaxation for all students.

Last Week's Happenings

Ruby Milholland, staff photographer of THE TECHNICIAN, left school today following the announcement by the Registrar's Office that he had busted a course in simple photography. After disgracing both the staff and the profession, Milholland went back to Salisbury to take up his old work of sweeping mill floors.

Steve Sailer, veteran sports writer, left in disgrace after busting freshman gym for the third time, and Dick McPhail, editor of this rag, hoboed a freight to Hamlet after busting Red Wynn's course in journalism.

Forcibly evicted from the campus was Tom Ragsdale, prexy of the Interfraternity Council who made an A in Dean Brown's economics. Fraternity men said Ragsdale knew enough about economics without rubbing it in with an A.

Virgin Lane was run off the campus when he finally cornered a freshman and forcibly made him laugh at one of his old jokes. Said the freshman, "I'm not guilty, boy. Lane thought I was laughing with him, but I was laughing at him."

Bud Gettner is spending a week with friends in the eastern and most doubtful section of the city. The Kappa Sigmas entertained at a dice rolling Tuesday night, rolling this correspondent and Walter Fanning 'of some two frogskins. Such hospitality.

Sewing Circle No. 3 met Tuesday afternoon in the bar of the S.P.E. house. Knitting and hard liquor were enjoyed.

Textile Building

Dean Nelson, head of the textile school, stated today that due to the engineering difficulties involved in getting the six new looms into the textile building, a new building would be constructed. The looms would be where they stand on Hillsboro Street. The "old boys" will remember that this is how the present textile building came into being in 1883.

Light On Tower Will Guide Drunks Home

The Faculty Committee for the Utilization of Our Memorial Tower for Something Useful agreed in a close vote, 15-43 to 19, last night, that the tower be used as a beacon. The chairman of the committee, Beano Pain Getacall, said, "Why if there was a beacon mounted on that taxpayers' nightmare, every time one of the State College boys got drunk he would have no trouble in finding the campus. The beacon would have to be large," continued the Zeus of Zoology Building, "so that the boys who fell under the table at Logtown or the Dutch Tavern would have no difficulty in finding the campus. After they got there we would provide police dogs to take them to their rooms."

and the student government, is determined to make this issue of the Agromock second only to Paris Nights.

"Who the hell is running this shit yearly news?" shouted Catlin, "if the students don't like it they know what way they can. We have their money and we're going to spend it."

No difficulty in disposing of the issue is anticipated, for Rumore Reort, E. S. Klink, and the Bald Dean have already placed orders for a million copies each.

Dire consequences of the plan have already been felt, however, for Rubie Milholland and Sid Tager seriously wounded each other in a gun battle staged to decide who will take the pictures. Catlin has announced that he is taking a course in photography, and that he will snap the pictures himself. Enraged at such selfishness, the entire Watasagon staff is determined to chaperon Catlin while the sponsors are posing.

Night Court Disrupted By State Faculty

Collich Puts in Night Court for Its Wayward Sons and Studes (Stewed)

W. L. Madeher, director of registry, was brought before magistrate "Soppy" Bareis last night on charges of picking a poor crippled boy's pocket. "You ain't got nothing on me," sneered the suspect. "Besides, I got a swell mount."

R. E. "Rubberbottom" Sileo, known to the profession as the "235 Kid," was arrested last night on charges of vagrancy. According to Officer A. F. Fleastalker, who was wearing a ducky pair of blue coveralls with a bright red tie, the "Kid" was sniping cigar butts in front of the ladies' room in the library.

E. L. Boo, Wake Forest athletic director, was held with two companions on charges of fancy and dangerous dancing at the big B.S.U. blidig held in Primrose Hall last evening. Boo, when pressed by reporters, said, "Hell, 's a'gittin' so feller can't swing out nowhere these yere days. To think of all the trouble I had crashing this yere belly-rub, too." The other men, too drunk to stand, laid in the corner of their cell and mumbled something about "loans creating deposits," "take it off," and "wait me around again, J. W."

Found wandering the streets in East Raleigh early this A.M., a suspicious character was held without bail in the Dix Hill Jail. A search of his clothing revealed nothing but two 37-man, gun barrels, a live trench mortar shell, a copy of Ballyhoo, a lady's silk stocking, size 10 1/2, three reefer cigarettes and a yo-yo. Refusing to reveal his name, the culprit shouted, "Right, wrong, right, wrong, quote, clear as mud, and nod diggety damn!" There was a dishonorable discharge from the Cavalry School at Fort Apex, N. C., sewed in the lining of his bloomers.

A complaint was lodged by Miss Gusale Plays, nurse in the college infirmary, regarding the students in Watauga Hall undressing with their shades up. When investigated by Officer Thornyboy "Charley" Chase, he reported he could see nothing from Miss Plays' room. "Hell you can't," Miss Plays retorted. "Just climb up on this chair!"

Skyscraper Will House New Dairy

A new super-structure skyscraper of 100 stories will soon be built to house the new State College dairy, the most modern in the world.

On the first ten floors the bottling plant will be located with a vacuum tube outlet for sending milk to the canteen, according to an announcement by Loaded Cig Hartless, superintendent of the new dairy.

The next ten floors will house the recreation department. A swimming pool, four tennis courts, and a score of bridge tables will be provided for the benefit of juvenile bovines.

A maternity ward, where the little calves can come into the world under the supervision of Dr. Herman (Quintuplet) Hitchman, will fill twenty more floors.

A butchering department for the retired cows will come next. "Why should we buy ancient beef for the cafeteria when we've got plenty right here that's already orn?" commented Loaded Cig.

The only reason for the delay at present is the inability of Loaded Cig and the dairy committee to figure out what to do with the rest of the building. Besides, Hartless says the architect forgot to include elevators in the blueprints. "It just ain't in my mental ability to bring out a idea and put it across," admitted Hartless.

It is rumored that the administration wanted to put the Angel Farm in the building, but that Loaded Cig and the cows objected so strenuously that the plan was abandoned.

Shining Barroom In 'Y' Basement Promised Studes

Kivey and Iving to be Partners in New Venture; Floor Show to be Presented Each Night

State College is going to have a barroom on the campus, said Iving and Kivey, joint proprietors of this new attraction to the campus. The recreational room in the basement of the "Y" will be completely renovated, and an up-to-date saloon, with brass rail, shining bar and a smiling bartender, will be installed.

It seems, said Kivey and Iving, that the students need a little more "pepping up" than the billiard and ping pong facilities offer, so they are going to open one of the most modern tap rooms and night clubs in the State, or the United States, it doesn't matter. The entire basement of the "Y" (this was decided after the first was written) will be used for State's high spot, and the Mop-Up will go out of business as it is felt by Iving and Kivey that they have mopped up enough, and there will be no need for a soda fountain after the bar is opened, for students are educated fast at State.

Each night, at 11 o'clock, Sundays included, there will be a stupendous, astounding and breathtaking floor show consisting of fifty beautiful girls (fifty, just think, fifty!), and—oh, yes—of course, there will be a ten-piece orchestra or band (this makes no difference, either), but there will be music.

Kivey and Iving are no pikers; they are really taking a forward step and if they don't stumble they will truly put State College on the map, and it will cost the students only a few cents. Cover charge at

Bald Dean Lodged In Cooler

Jailed After Ungentlemanly Display of Drunkenness; Accuses Students to Protect Self

Late last night police announced that E. L. Void, dean of students at State College, had been arrested and convicted on charges occurring out of an affray at the Memorial Auditorium on March 17. During the Bob Crosby dance that was being held at the auditorium, the bald dean approached the doorkeeper, and sought to gain admission on his face value. The doorkeeper said the man was extremely intoxicated, and in spite of this condition, he did not consider the face value very much, and therefore denied admission to the college.

Enraged by this rebuttal, the dean promptly went to one of the windows in the building and broke out a glass, forcing his way into the interior of the building where he staggered and swayed all over the dance floor and engaged in the "Little Nip".

When the crime was discovered, the dean was quick to lay the blame on three State College students, against whom he testified. These fine gentlemen were detained temporarily, but were released when officers found out that the dean was not only drunk, but also partly on the way to Dix Hill.

Hours later police found him lying in a gutter in East Raleigh, attempting to sober up. Void became so enraged when he was arrested that he became violent. He is now stored for safe keeping under the county brig, where he is being fed from "Soppy" Harris, who has housed Void stated that he had got used to the rotten food, and could not survive without it.

When interviewed by reporters as to his sentiments on the case, Void stated, "I have no sympathy whatever for students, and I think that they are the scum of the earth. The only thing that troubles me is that we can't think all of them at the first of each term. Also, I am in favor of no more class cuts."

This is another of the numerous frays the dean has gotten into in the past several months. He is reported to pay regular visits each week to the Log Town Inn where he conducts samplings of fine brewings. A few months ago he was jailed in the Wake County brig after a fight with a Greek which occurred when Void refused to pay his bill of ten cents for a hamburger.

Clink Clank Collegiate Club—which is the name of the Iving and Kivey enterprise—will only be ten cents, a thin dime, the tenth of a dollar and $0.10. Drinks will be only five cents, so that everybody, and e-v-e-r-y-b-o-d-y can enjoy the Clink Clank Collegiate Club.

The club opens next week, and the first of everything will be held on the house. As an added inducement to get the students to patronize campus enterprises, Sally Rand, Gypsy Lee and Ann Corio will be the features of the floor show. Come one, come all!

W. C. Wenchies Will Be Dumped On State Campus

Combining of Male and Female Colleges Will Save Needless Week-end Treks To Greensboro

Coming as somewhat of a surprise to all, college officials announced yesterday that effective September, 1938, the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, at Greensboro, will be combined with the State College branch at Raleigh.

In announcing the change, officials declared that it was too expensive to run two marriage bureaus so close together. Complaints have also been received from the State Department of Highways to the effect that the regular week-end trek from Raleigh to Greensboro was causing excessive wear on the roads of the State.

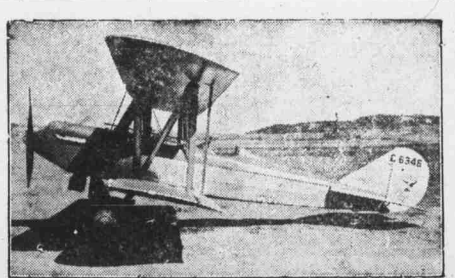

Consolidation of the two schools is expected to save the State at least $238 per year in road repairs. The State College Committee on Consolidation, composed of campus Romeos, also declared that the wear and tear on thumbs has been excessive in the past, and that the present move would save State College students from many Monday morning thumbaches.

State College Casanovas greeted the news with great rejoicing and hilarity—that is, all those who weren't pickled in the gutter. Those who were able to stagger about when the announcement was made immediately took another smell of the bottle and joined their I Tappa Kegga brothers in the gutter.

Statisticians state that the classroom equipment at State at the present time will be more than adequate, since they don't believe that the fair janes from W. C. can make the State College boys reform and attend more than their regular one class a week.

Two new dormitories are planned, however, and will be completed by September. One new dormitory, for upperclass girls, will be constructed on 1911 field, and another, for first-year girls, will be built in the freshman quadrangle. Special permission for boys and their skirts to room together cannot be obtained. Part of the present State College

SPEED PLANE WILL TRY FOR RECORD

In this speedy, super-streamlined plane, Professor Parksome will make an attempt to defeat the existing world's airplane speed record of 440,681 miles per hour set last year by an Elytalian flyer. In power dives, the above plane was reported to have reached the amazing speed of forty-five miles an hour. Parksome has an ace up his sleeve, however, because he intends to run his plane with good old South Carolina "stump likker" instead of gasoline. The only thing that has Parksome puzzled is how to get the trap off the ground.

The faculty will be transferred to the women's division. Coach H. Lightfoot Hickwoman will teach ballet and interpretive dancing, and Professor Clerk of the English department will teach "What Every Woman Should Know." Others who will be instructors in the women's division are Soupy Harris, teaching cooking; Smokey Joe, teaching the womanly art of hair-pulling.

Foresters to See Hot Spots On Inspection Trip

"We are going to show our forestry seniors a real inspection trip this spring," announced Dr. J. Valentine Orman last night in referring to the proposed "limb" inspecting tour which the foresters will take through the New York "hot spots" on March 32.

"For nearly four years we have had the boys studying the technical details of wood, as given in our courses in hortomology, endructure, etc. Now they will get an opportunity to see wood as it is used in industry.

"We will inspect in detail stage floors, mahogany bars, oaken beer

Treasurer Says Tuition Free For Next Year

Students at State College will be allowed to continue next year at no expense to themselves.

A short while ago the treasurer's office announced that the college had accumulated a huge surplus from the excess charges which the State students have had to pay. Yesterday the combined faculty councils of this college and the Greater University met to decide what to do with the surplus. After a lengthy discussion it was decided that the money be used to pay next year's expenses for the students of State College. This is in order to repay the students for the financial wrongs which they have suffered at the hands of the college.

The new ruling will not only abolish all tuition and college fees of any kind whatever, but it also provides that the college pay an allowance to each student. This allowance will be sufficient for liquor, dates, movies, dances, week-end trips, and MORE liquor. Furthermore, a staff of expert tailors is to be provided on the campus to make your clothes for you at your own specifications and no charge. However, there is a limitation to this in that no student is to receive more than four suits during the year.

If any expenses arise which are not directly provided for, students will be allowed to submit an account to the treasurer's office, whereby they will immediately receive checks for the full amount.

Spicy Books To Replace Dry Texts

Textbooks on Sheekespear and Milton Declared Obsolete; Students Need Change

In response to a crying need for some new texts to hold the students' interest, J. Clark Medwick, English head, announced the addition of three new books. These books which are to be placed in use next term, were selected with the utmost care and due consideration was given to the contents. Heading the list is Calumbe Mordeau's Paris Nights, an interesting account of what goes on in Paris after dark. (And in Raleigh, too, for that matter.) It is an understandable text written in monosyllabic words so as to be perfectly understandable by freshmen. Snappy Stories, the second book to be added, is a collection of real life stories. This text was selected because of its excellent description and fragmentary comments. It is certain to prove popular here at State as over 6,000,000 copies were sold since its publication. The last new book decided upon was How to Pull Legs and Other Things. It is felt that this text will have a decided effect on the leg-pulling which is currently the vogue here at college. In explaining the reasons for the latest additions, Professor Medwick said, "We might as well have the Mop-Up sell these books. The students buy them anyhow."

'Dopes' To Show New Methods of Hop Production

Van Leer's Stoogies Get Leg On Engineering Professors By Acting on Council; Bellyrub Saturday Night Will Climax Gala Brawl

The Student Engineers' Fair, to be held April 8 and 9, will feature the methods of dope production. The chemical engineering department, which has for several years displayed a large sign on the chemistry building which states that chemical engineers control industry, will have the main exhibit. This statement is particularly true of the dope industry. With such dope addicts as Pete Bronson and Hertz, headed by "Fish" Rowe, of Alabama, the chemical engineering department will have on display the modern methods used in dope production.

The exhibit will be a bit brief this year, due to the fact that the farmers have gone on a sitdown strike and have refused to grow poppies until they get a better price for their products than the chemical engineering department has been paying for said stuff. Therefore there will only be one shot of dope for each person who visits the exhibit.

Such methods as the oxidation and reduction division, the Horner method, the lead chamber process, the Hallettosis, melosis, and mitosis processes of manufacturing dope will be demonstrated by the chemical engineering students when they feel like giving the demonstration. The various exhibits will not be moved from their original places, the chemistry professors' offices. It was decided not to move this equipment from its original places, as everyone in the chemical engineering department is too lazy to do so.

The mechanical engineering department, which boasts that everything that moves is controlled by mechanical engineers, will also exhibit the construction of the various dopemaking machines. The ceramic engineering department will furnish the hip flask, chinaware, bed pans and chambers which the chemical engineering department will use in their dopemaking exhibit. The electrical engineering department will furnish the electricity for the process, their toll being one half of the product turned out by the chemical engineering department.

It is understood that the process of making dope is not very expensive, since poppies can be produced at home, and bed pans can be picked up around any college professor's house. No brains are required to make dope, because any engineering student can pick up the method in four years of loafing on the State College campus. The course, which consists of work taken in all engineering departments, consists of: shooting the bull for two terms each engineering department on the campus. This is not different from other engineering courses on the campus. At the end of four years of such bull shooting, if the student is lucky, he is awarded a B.S. degree. Additional study at such places as Carolina or Duke will obtain a M.S. degree (meaning . . .). If the student is then unable to get a job he goes to Hornell University, where he gets a Ph.D. degree. With B.S., M.S., and Ph.D., a person then becomes a college professor.

AS DOPE ADDICTS STORM FAIR

This remarkable photograph shows Pete Bronson and his cohorts as they stage a protest strike. The acts of violence here pictured were brought about by the farmers' refusal to grow poppies to assure an adequate supply of opium. The building above is the home of the chemical engineering department, where "Cue Ball" Lindsey has locked himself with the entire drug supply, and is peacefully dreaming away, unaware of the plots to assassinate him.

College Budget Is Cut To Bone

Called together in special session last Tuesday, the Legislature of the State of North Carolina voted to reduce the appropriation for the development program at State College to a mere $16,500,000 for the coming year.

Coming like a bolt from the blue, the drastic cut in the allotment took the administration of the school by surprise. The only comment that was forthcoming from any of the officials was a statement made by Easy Clod, venerated dean of students (?). His only words were these: "It's all so sudden, boys, I haven't had time to gather my wits (it is understood that he refers to Kernel Barrelsone and Rumeo Retort, his sidekicks in crime) together since the awful news came. I don't see how we can ever manage this outfit on such a measly wad of dough. It's treason, boys, treason, that's what it is. I hate to think of all my brave laddies suffering from the lack that is bound to arise if we are allowed no more money than this to squander. Oh, dear! Oh, dear! It's all so sad, boys!"

Struck by the seriousness of the situation, the entire student body was sullen and morose during the day following the announcement. It has been reported that a mass demonstration was planned to wait upon the governor, in an effort to bring about some plan of reconsideration of the matter. The demonstration went for naught, however, when two of the instigators were caught thumbing their noses at the Blue Key bulletin board. Such a breach of etiquette has never been known before on the State campus, and was not to be tolerated for a moment.

While the outcome of the affair can not be ascertained at the time, it has been estimated that if but one-tenth of the amount that has been voted to the branch (the rotten limb) of the University at Tiddle Hole could be turned over to their needy brethren at Raleigh, perhaps we, too, could boast of two chickens in every bed and three pots under them.

AG. CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

At a meeting of the Ag Club last night attended by 30,000 students, Franklin Roosevelt was elected President for the third consecutive time. John N. Garner was elected Vice President and Henry Wallace, Secretary. Henry Morgenthau was unanimously elected Treasurer. Al Smith and H. Hoover were elected Bug Catchers. Roosevelt then appointed "Doc" Holland as Governor of the Philippines, "Red" Lively, U. S. Attorney-General, Joe Poo, Secretary of War, Hal Stroup, Secretary of Navy, Van Watson, Ambassador to Borneo, "Knee Britches" Boseman, Ambassador to England, and Albert Doub, Envoy to Meredith. Clarence Early became Speaker of the House, and Jim Mitchner, Ambassador-at-Large, Bill Hoyle became High Commissioner of Baseball. "Politician" Jim Watson became Administrator of the 1938 AAA by executive decree. There being no further business, President Roosevelt passed out 25 cent cigars and the meeting adjourned.

"School Boy" Rowe said he went to the State Theater to see Major Boles and his Armateurs, and was disappointed because Major Boles was not there.

Added To Faculty

The Faculty Council announced yesterday that I. Sawhim Hiter shown above, has been hired to replace Borneo F. Brown as Dean of the Business School. Brown had been discharged because of his meek, ineffective teaching methods and his war-like tendencies.

This is no fooling— WE POOL FOR STATE COLLEGE Leaf With Us COLLEGE COURT Billiard Parlor "CUTIE PIE" MOSELEY (chief racker)

Dixon, Hill, Cannon, and Bragaw make up the team from South. Hornum Hickman and Eddie Borinski will referee.

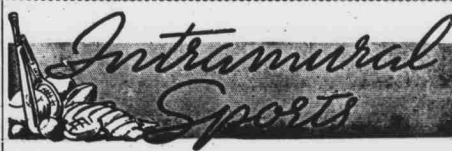

Johnny Miller said in an interview yesterday afternoon that the reason for inserting the Little Apple in his intramural set-up was because of the lack of Grace on the campus. Not knowing Grace, this is probably a good idea.

Another sport will be tiddie-winks under the direction of Virgil Lane. This was decided after Mr. Lane had sworn not to be bribed by promises of the competitors to read "The Watagan." The fourth sport will be chess. These matches will be refereed by Doc Newton. Doc has had experience as a chess player and coach at Davidson College, where he turned out championship teams.

The new set-up should provide a much-needed outlet for the athletic abilities of the dormitory and fraternity students not engaged in the variety sports.

Sleepy Lake, scholastic pride of the Pikas, says it will be a boom for fraternity competition, and is just what has been needed to get his boys interested enough to get out and work for the intramural cup which Johnny Miller has been forcing on the fraternities.

Steve Hawes, boss of the SPEs, says that with the new set-up the SPEs would quit forfeiting all their games, and predicts that he would win the tiddie-winks championship single-handed. Jack Bowen, AGR, and Gil Crowl, AIT, want a damng contest, but I am inclined to agree with the athletic department when they say this should come under the direction of Professor Shelley.

By BOB COLEMAN, JR.

Johnny Miller, Intramural Director, released the revised intramural schedule for the spring term yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Miller said, in part: "Softball is definitely out. I want to give the boys what they want. There ain't enough interest. The Pikas and Sigma Nu's couldn't get enough boys together to play 1911 and Watagan in a regular schedule game last week."

The new schedule lists pocket pool as the major sport for the term. This seems to be an excellent selection, as the sport has been very popular among the State students for years.

Newton Tired of Wonder Teams and Rose Bowl Trips

Grid Coach Says Winning Streak Must Be Broken

Students Tired of Endless Chain of Victories Over Pitt, Duke and Carolina

"Doc" Fignewton, brilliant football mentor at State College, in an exclusive interview with members of the press yesterday stated that spring football practice would be discontinued in an effort to put a stop to State's ten-year string of victories.

Fignewton, or "Smiley," as he is known to the newspaper world, said that the squad was tired of that continuous trek to the Rose Bowl year after year. Leading members of the team last year protested vigorously against having to fix dates with such stars as Carole Lombard, Ginger Rogers, Alice Faye and others. The players seemed to be listless and tired of so much glamor and entertainment.

The coach went on to say, "The Athletic Council has made so much money from football that it could not be spent in ten years. The surplus is tremendous. We have already invested over a million dollars in the best equipment and materials that money can buy. I am desperate in my efforts to remedy this situation."

"Detroit, Manhattan, Alabama and some of the other breatherers have been scheduled for next year have sent requests in to the National Football Association in an attempt to have something done about the manner in which the Wolfpack has mowed down its opponents. It was impossible for us to schedule Pittsburgh this year because of the drubbing we handed them last year."

The games in the past years have become nothing but track meets. In an effort to slow down the terrific pace that has been set, Fignewton is requesting all members of the debating and chess teams to join the squad. The victory parade has got to stop.

In all future games Art "Cyclone" Rooney will be required to play with one leg tied behind his back. Ed "Feet" Coon will be cut down to one meal a week and the entire team will be forced to take up smoking and drinking. Cigars, cigarettes and highballs will be furnished for the players between quarters. All skull practice will be discontinued as there is already an abundance of Phi Beta Kappa men on the squad.

Your inquiring reporter, attempting to get the sentiments of the Student Body on the matter, interviewed several prominent students on their way to 6 o'clock classes. Joshua Freak, president of the Student Body, said, "Touchdowns, touchdowns, touchdowns, that's all we ever see. Can't we lose just one game before I have to leave this institution?"

Another campus figure said, "What are we paying our athletes for? I have rooted for Duke and Carolina for the past five years and all in vain. It's getting so I can't show my face at home any more." Something must be done about this situation. We are all tired of State's race-track tactics. If the surge of victories is not stopped we will be unable to schedule a game for next year. Let's all get behind that movement to help our Alma Mater lose a football game. Remember fellows, our motto is "Boost Carolina."

Pocket-Pool

J. F. Miller, head of the athletic department, announced today that pocket pool will be included in the new spring inter-mural sports program. Miller stated that the sport has become increasingly popular with State students and many of the boys have become quite expert at this ancient pastime. He also urged all teams to put in their entries early as competition is expected to be stiff.

Swim Mentor Ends Career By Drowning

Authorities Suspect Foul Play In Death Of Rummeo Retort

At a beer party held at Frank Thompson Gymnasium last night, Coach Rummeo Retort ended his brilliant career as State's mermaid coach, by drowning.

An investigation is being held by the "Technician" sleuths headed by "Ace" Crackermeal, to determine whether Coach Rummeo's death was accidental or whether he was the victim of a plot.

Retort, standing by the pool's edge with a stein of brew in each hand surrounded by his inebriated mermaids, suddenly toppled into the pool. It is reported that Coach Rummeo was remarking about the tankmen's bender.

"Thiss iss the best bender I have ever been on," said the slightly inebriated assistant dean of students as he fell over into the pool.

Crackermeal, ace-sleuth, is investigating rumors that Captain "Ducky" Payne and "Four Roses" Reynolds were at the bottom of a plot to rid the campus of such a menace to Duke and Carolina tank teams. "Tarzan" Wood and "Fishface" Bailey were also rumored to be on the inside of this dastardly plot.

As Rummeo staggered to the edge of the pool to give his farewell toast he was surrounded by members of the team he led throughout the season. "Ducky" Payne and "Four Roses" Reynolds, present leaders in class cuts at the dean's office, were at the front of the crowd and in an excellent position to fulfill their plan. Due to the enormous weight in Coach Rummeo's body it was necessary to drag the pool for hours. At the present time, "Smoko" Joe is attempting to clear the head from the pool, which at one time last night threatened those working to spear Coach Rummeo's body.

Retort's passing was felt all over the campus last night as was signified by the stillness (noise and cheers) of the student body. Coach Rummeo was indeed a martyr to the class cut system.

Funeral services will be held from "Pop" Riddick's Log Town at 12:00 Saturday evening (or sooner if Rummeo catches me).

Boxing Discontinued

A special news bulletin released this morning by White Icing, State College athletic publicity director, states that in line with the reorganization of sports at State College, the Athletic Council has disbanded the boxing team.

Coach Beulah Redding, coach of the team, will teach a class in knitting and crocheting next fall. When approached for a statement, the shy coach at first refused to talk, but after prompting from the "Technician" reporter, and the promise of a bottle of Paul Jones, Beulah said that there was talk of scheduling Vassar, Smith, Mount Holyoke for matches, in addition to the Sweet Five of Meredith, St. Mary's, Peace, Greensboro and Woman's College.

Randolph Gets Coach's Post At Alabama

Quits Chemical Engineering Job Here Because of Lack Of Excitement; To Get Head Football Job at Famed Institution; Reporter Finds Doctor Wrecking Office With Sledge Hammer

Dr. E. E. Randolph, head of the chemical engineering department here, announced yesterday that he planned to resign from his present position to accept the head coach position at the University of Alabama football team.

When a reporter, sent to interview Dr. Randolph, entered his office, the professor was pacing violently about the room bellowing at Miss Unjiner, his plump secretary.

"Yes, I'm going to leave this place," he shouted at the reporter. "What I need is EXERCISE! I want action! You're fired, Miss Unjiner; get the h— out before I kick you out. . . . Yes, I'm going to show those Alabama football heroes how to smash a line." With this last remark Randolph picked up a sledge hammer and smashed in his desk. Then he smashed a hole in the floor.

Amid a cloud of dust from the plastering he was knocking down, the erstwhile head of the chemical engineers continued, "This eternal round of lectures and labs—smash—is getting—smash—too—smash—smash—dull. Chemical engineering is not the sport it once was. (At this point the ceiling fell.) Why, when I was new at this game, we used to blow up whole buildings with our machines. Now we are lucky if one of our boys loses a finger in a pulverizer. I want to get out among MEN," he concluded as the floor fell in.

Grid Warriors To Continue Strike

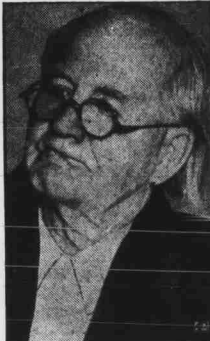

"Goldberg" Rooney and Others Echo Sentiments of Team on Sit-Down Strike

The Technician succeeded early this morning in getting an interview with the leaders of the football team strike. The following seems to be indicative of their mood.

Tony Di Nono, "I sincerely regret the whole incident. However I feel that an injustice has been done and we are trying to remedy it as best we may. Justice will triumph. Omne ignotum pro magnifico."

Buzzard Gherinski, "To quote Shamus, 'Parting is such sorrow, but we may meet tomorrow.' I know 'blankety-blank' well that I won't get my pay check tomorrow if those furrin games are started here. Besides, I never got the gym they promised me."

CHILD PRODIGY

Ben Sharkolovitch, Alcatraz '01 and recent addition to the Wolfpack, is shown above in an old family portrait. Ben was brought down here by J. Bon-Bon, graduate manager of athletics, in an effort to remove the stigma of amateurism which has so long tainted State's fair name.

Rifle Team Attack Jones From Rear

Rifle Team Coach Ends Career With Lead Poisoning In Seat of Pants; Victim Of Plot

Major "Little Poison" Jones was shot in the southern exposure (seat of the pants) to Yataugan gully) while bending over to pick a daisy at the rifle range last week and at the present time is pushing up daisies in a nearby six-foot hole.

"Dead Eye" Whitley, "Trigger" Clapp, and "Barrel-Face" Hayworth are being held for questioning by the authorities (Col. "Tenshun" Sasse and his stooges). It is reported that Major Jones was slightly irked due to the failure of his men to hit the targets. Whitley, Clapp and Hayworth have been missing consistently for weeks and Jones's terrible tongue lashings were making the men nervous. Recently the rifle team has taken to Coca-Cola to calm their nerves before a match.

At a meeting of the monogram members of the State hockey team Dougface Ivey, mainstay on last year's brilliant team, was elected captain to lead the cafeteria wolves through one of the toughest schedules ever arranged by Soupy Harris.

Barrelson Hires Irate Reds In Drastic Reform

Present Sports To Go As Anus Trusspuss And Other Notorious Terrors Invade Campus

Col. John W. Barrelson, revered head of this great institution of higher learning, announced yesterday to members of the press that, in an effort to show his admiration for the Soviet Union, he would institute certain drastic reforms in the athletic set-up at State immediately.

The Colonel gave as his reason for this reform program the fact that our present system of athletics was not in keeping with the worker's traditions. "Football, basketball and baseball are mere relics of that rotten capitalist system prevalent before the revolution. We must have a tractor relay team second to none. I am bringing to State College the noted Russian tractor expert Hubert Stojparvitch. For the bomb throw event we shall have the famous figure Anus Trusspuss, the Terror of Tchinsk, We consider ourselves extremely fortunate in securing Anus as he is a veteran of seven revolutions."

"In direct line with our new athletic policy, Barrelson went on, we are going to encourage an increase in the birth rate in order that we may raise our own athletes. We have found it impossible to compete with Duke, Elon, Shaw and Carolina in the purchase of athletes, so we will raise our own."

"We," blushingly continued the "Little Caesar of Holladay Hall," are suggesting these mottoes to help the campaign. "Every State College boy a father—don't be a slacker." And for the girls of St. Mary's, Peace and Meredith—"Let Nature take its course."

When questioned about rumors of a strike of all the members of the football team, the Colonel at first refused to make a statement, but finally consented. "It seems that the leaders of the uprising, Buzzard Gherinski, Tony Di Nono, and Goldberg Rooney are dissatisfied with the change in our athletic program. To tell the truth I didn't know that was a strike going on until last week. We are so accustomed to seeing our gridders squatting on their families. But when they didn't show up for their pay checks I immediately suspected that there was something wrong."

And finally the Colonel said that in an effort to show his devotion to the Cause he would tender his resignation in favor of Hockey Barbecue who rose from a humble street cleaner to a position high in the ranks of the party.

The Colonel went on to state, "Why Stinky, as your new dean is called, is a real hard worker. Many is the time that he's gotten a kick in the teeth from some horse when he was a street cleaner. He's zealous."

Hickman Quits Wrestling Post To Teach Ballet

Rotound Mentor Says Interpretive Dancing Is Here To Stay

Coach "Hermey" Hickman, rolly-polly grunt and groan specialist, announced yesterday that his heart had given way to the years of yearning to teach rustic ballet dancing. Hickman stated that he had been interested for some time in the intricacy, gracefulness and expressiveness of the ballet movements.

In a violent statement to the press, "Hermey" declared that a swing must go; and that he was tired of all this jamming and slush-pumping. Hermey freely gave vent to his 300 pounds of emotion in his brilliant stab at the classical, and more beautiful form of entertainment.

The movement to include ballet dancing in the winter sports program has already gained much momentum on the campus. "Twinkletoes" Marks, "Feet" Coon, and "Baby Face" Rooney have already announced their intentions of joining the class. "Hermey" is expecting to have several hundred girls from Meredith, St. Mary's and Peace to assist him in tutoring the class. Classes will be held in Riddick Stadium between 8 and 12 p.m.

While interviewing the chubby little mentor at Frank Thompson Gymnasium, your reporter was given an exhibition of rustic ballet dancing accompanied by Major Swinginski and his Red Coats. "Hermey" showed such grace, finesse, and beauty of movement that the gym fairly shook under the ponderous weight of all those people. There has never been such a show of harmony of motion, ease, and agility on the campus as was shown by "Chubby Hermey."

Hickman stated that he expected to have trouble with Major Swinginski, but that he would put his foot down immediately.

Graduate Manager Says Amateurism Must Be Banned

J. Bon Bon Takes Firm Stand On Question of Importing Foreign Talent

No. 135789, or Mr. J. Bon Bon, as he is known in private life, also erstwhile director of inter-prison athletics at this institution, stated today in an exclusive interview that he was all for keeping amateurism out of here.

"Did this betterment in conditions in this sport, we expect to attract a better class of jail-balls. For instance, there's Ben Sharkolovitch. He's down here right now looking over de educational facilities. Ben's a fine boy. He prepped at Atlanta, and went to Junior colitch at Alcatraz. He's a born campus leader. And de boy's got a fine sense of humor. We expect he'll edit the 'Rautagaun.' Benly is going Pittsboile. He was raised in de steel mills. And is de strongest! He doesn't look a day over 50. And not only dat, but he says he can read and write a little English. Ben, ain't dat something?"

"Well, Benjy," your reporter asked, "and how do you like the place?" "Shmoz ka pop," he returned quickly.

"That's Ukomachslavokian for 'I think it's a swell dump and de profs are swell. And dey don't lock you in,'" interrupted Toots. "And how do you like the cafeteria, the bookstore and the laundry down here?" we concluded. "Shmoz ka pop," he laughed, licking his chops and rubbing his hands together.

Faculty Defeats Shaw In Thrilling Baseball Classic

Chase, Hilton, Smelly Star For Local Fly Snaggers In Clash With Snowballs

The State College Faculty Hotshots combined 270 hits, a couple of ringers and some brass knuckles yesterday to run roughshod over the Shaw Snowballs, 137 to 0.

Trench-mouth Chase and Smoko Joe were the opposing twirlers. The Tigers' lone score came in the last half of the ninth when "Shorty" Boshart cracked out a roundhouse double that would make Lou Gehrig look like a rank amateur. "Sleepy" Jones, who was asleep on third at the time, was aroused in time to cross home plate with ease. It seems that the revered "Sleepy" mistook the crack of the bat for the pop of a cork and thus the sudden awakening.

Some of the outstanding performers for the State faculty were Short Doc Hilton, Slap-me-on-the-wrist Smelley, Hot Win and Pig Walker. The Hotshots next diamond clash is scheduled for next New Year's Eve at which time they will meet the highly touted aggregation representing the Home for the Blind. "Ducky" Shulenberg, formerly of the Boston Red Socks, is scheduled to do the twirling for the home nine. The game is to start at twelve midnight and spectators are urged to arrive early as a record crowd is expected.

Boxing Discontinued
A special news bulletin released this morning by White Icing, State College athletic publicity director, states that in line with the reorganization of sports at State College, the Athletic Council has disbanded the boxing team.
Coach Beulah Redding, coach of the team, will teach a class in knitting and crocheting next fall. When approached for a statement, the shy coach at first refused to talk, but after prompting from the "Technician" reporter, and the promise of a bottle of Paul Jones, Beulah said that there was talk of scheduling Vassar, Smith, Mount Holyoke for matches, in addition to the Sweet Five of Meredith, St. Mary's, Peace, Greensboro and Woman's College.

Grid Warriors To Continue Strike
"Goldberg" Rooney and Others Echo Sentiments of Team on Sit-Down Strike
The Technician succeeded early this morning in getting an interview with the leaders of the football team strike. The following seems to be indicative of their mood.
Tony Di Nono, "I sincerely regret the whole incident. However I feel that an injustice has been done and we are trying to remedy it as best we may. Justice will triumph. Omne ignotum pro magnifico."
Buzzard Gherinski, "To quote Shamus, 'Parting is such sorrow, but we may meet tomorrow.' I know 'blankety-blank' well that I won't get my pay check tomorrow if those furrin games are started here. Besides, I never got the gym they promised me."
Goldberg Rooney, "Well, I'm telling you, it's lika dis. Ven I was a boy back home in Brooklyn, mine femly vas always using to tell me dat I should also always be helping mine friends. So vat could I do?"
Bloeyor Barks, "Begorra, and did yorr mother come from Ireland? If it's co-ed, I'm agin it. Be you a revernor?"
All in all the strikers seemed to be very happy about the whole thing. Of course they were temporarily shocked by the realization that their weekly pay checks were no longer coming in, but many of the boys have rather substantial bank balances and seem quite capable of carrying on the strike for many weeks to come.

Oddities

We hate Duke, and we don't mean maybe. Ever since the time we tried to pick up two of their co-eds, and got the cold shoulder we've been plotting ways and means to vindicate our honor. We felt jubilant after our basketers beat them, but we were quickly cast down after the conference tournament. So the only thing left for us is a loud shout of "To hell with Duke!"

While out for a spin in our friend's limousine, vintage 1929 Chevrolet, we came within the city limits of Durham and saw a sign to the effect that Durham was the home of Dook University and some purty big industry. Which, to our way of thinking, leaves it pretty much up to the "big industries."

We're firm believers in the good old-fashioned school spirit, so when those damn Yankees from Cornell come down here to wield rackets with our tennis team, we want you all out there and singing this song, which has the same tune as Carolina's alma mater:

Far above Cayuga's waters
There's a awful smell,
Phew (very, very loud).
Far above Cayuga's waters,
There stands old Cornell.
Phew (very, very loud).

After Duke beat us in basketball, the first time, one of the local papers described Ed Swindell as being flat-chested. Listen, buddy, we were playing Duke, not Meredith.

FILM FEATURES

Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife."

Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper form a brilliant new comedy team, while the direction of Ernst Lubitsch brings out the punch of the French background in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," the picture of life among Europe's smart set, which will be shown at the Ambassador on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The story, adapted from the famous play of Alfred Savoir, tells about a much-married American multimillionaire who is subdued and put into a strait-jacket by his eighth wife, whom he marries for a new thrill. Miss Colbert is the same flip, ingenious girl who made screen history in last year's "I Met Him in Paris." Cooper, as the phlegmatic American, plays opposite her in a role that fits him down to the last stripe on his last pajama.

After becoming the bride of the much-married financier, Miss Colbert, a penniless French aristocrat, starts out on a campaign to bring him to his knees and humble his pride for the first time. A score of Europe's gay spots, including the Riviera, the Tyrol, Venice, Vienna, and Paris, form the battleground, while the bride's weapons are coolness, indifference and stubbornness. No general in history used his tactics to greater advantage, and before the honeymoon is over, Cooper is her obedient servant.

There is here a lightness of touch and spontaneity of humor which puts the picture out in front of other screen comedies of the season.

Another Disney cartoon, act and news complete this program.

Cary Grant and Katharine Hepburn in "Bringing Up Baby"—Ambassador, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

"Bringing Up Baby," which will be shown at the Ambassador Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, will present the audience with one hectic surprise after another and follow each startling climax with a new set of circumstances more hilarious than the last.

Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant in this film get in and out of more trouble than an average pair of screen lovers encounter in a dozen pictures, and the adventures are genuinely amusing.

Those who view the offering with no preconceived idea as to what it is all about, get their first surprise when they learn that the "Baby" of the title is no human infant, but a full-grown leopard, used by the resourceful Miss Hepburn to aid her in capturing Grant, a zoology professor who, until she comes into his life, is lost in his work and his coming marriage to Virginia Walker, a secretary.

Barry Fitzgerald, Walter Catlett, Fritz Feld, Leona Roberts, and George Irving also add considerably to the merriment of "Bringing Up Baby."

TYRONE AND LORETTA PROVE LOVE IS NEWS AGAIN

Tyrone Power and Loretta Young are teamed together in a romantic comedy, Twentieth Century-Fox's "Second Honeymoon," opening Sunday at the Wake Theatre. Their smart, modern, gay and witty manner has made them the most exciting sweethearts of the screen. All the world loves a lover, and all the world has followed these two lovers as they show new ways to romance.

When Tyrone and Loretta meet under the Miami moon for an impulsive kiss, their love is news once more, but this time they mean it with all their hearts. Love at first sight is romantic enough, but love at second sight—mmm! "Second Honeymoon" is their perfect picture together as their "Re-rod" honeymoon is renewed in the merriest, "marry-est" romance of the year.

Tyrone, so ardent, and Loretta, so gay, were exciting in "Love Is

VIRGIN PANE IN CUSTODY

After embezzling $3.00 from the cash account of "The Rawtaugan," Virgin Pane, half-witted editor of the foul smelling sheet, shown at right in the photo, was taken in custody by police. Accompanying Pane is Beef Dawes, held as a material witness. The shortage was discovered last week in the annual audit by Countem and Weep, auditors. Pane, now held in solitary confinement, is a notorious criminal with a checkered career and a long police record.

News" and "Cafe Metropole," but this time they really have their hearts in it! Stuart Erwin, Claire Trevor, Marjorie Weaver, Lyle Talbot and J. Edward Bromberg are included in the cast of the film, for which Kathryn Scola and Darrell Ware wrote the screen play from the Red Book Magazine story of Philip Wylie.

Darryl F. Zanuck, Twentieth Century-Fox production chief, selected Walter Long to direct, with Raymond Griffith associate producer.

Virgin Pane Is Held For Embezzlement

In the annual audit of the State College Publications Board, Countem & Weep, Inc., Auditors, discovered a shortage of $3 from the cash account of the Rawtaugan. Police immediately took into custody Virgin Pane, half-witted editor of the scandal sheet. Upon questioning, all Pane could say was, "She was worth it!"

Fearing reprisals from the remaining members of the staff who didn't get their cut, Pane was placed in solitary confinement and held without bail. The police meanwhile are making every effort to find the woman in the case, as it is generally conceded that she was the brains behind the embezzlement. Detective Tryan Findum, ace sleuth of the Raleigh police, was given full charge of the case.

"Beef" Dawes, business manager of the obscene annual and ringleader of the notorious Rawtaugan Protective Association, was arrested as a material witness. At the Wake County Clinic, he refused to talk and kept insisting that they call his "mouthpiece." Findum left last night on a trip to Lakestreet, West Virginia, in response to a telegram from the chief of police there, and it is rumored that the case may break at any minute now. If Pane is found guilty, it may mean life imprisonment, as this is his fourth offense against nature.

Pane started his life of crime immediately after he became affiliated with the Rawtaugan in 1928. Since that time he has been arrested for peddling dope, slander, drunkenness, disorderly conduct, and vagrancy. Last fall he was hailed before Judge Belch and given thirty days on a charge of corrupting the morals of college boys (if that's possible!). One incredible fact concerning Pane's career is that after ten years of service to State College, he is the only student to be elected to Alpha Sigma Sigma six times in a row and hold the office of H.H.A. four out of the six.

Maj. C. D. Kuessel, who has written another alma mater swing song for the college. The title, "State College, Get the Lead Out of Your Britches and Fight," suggests the true State spirit. It should be a real jim dandy soon as the major works out a figure to go with it.
