Girls' Schools To Help In Style Show Thursday

Preparations Made For Eleventh Annual Textile Exposition; Huge Crowds Are Expected

Final arrangements for the eleventh annual Textile Exposition and Style Show have reached the stages of completion in anticipation of the huge crowds that are expected for the affair next Thursday, April 21.

The entire program is under the direction of students of the Textile School of State College in conjunction with the home economic departments of eleven women's colleges in the state of North Carolina.

Following the announcement of the winners of prizes in the Style Show, the Textile Exposition will get under way in Tompkins Hall, seat of the Textile School.

In this part of the program, visitors will see the actual production of textile fabrics from the raw cotton into the finished product. All machinery in the various departments will be in action, so that a complete picture of the processes may be gained.

The Style Show, since its inception in 1928 for the purpose of extending the popularity of cotton and rayon textile products, has developed into one of the high points of the college year on this campus. Not only are the students familiarized with the fabrics that appeal to the feminine buyers, but they are brought into contact with the leaders in the textile industry, many of whom are visitors at the exposition.

The program for the day will begin at two o'clock in the afternoon with the Style Show. This will include the presentation of the various types of fabrics that have been prepared by the students of the Textile School during the past year, and which have been fashioned by the students from the women's colleges. The entire display will be judged by authorities chosen for the occasion.

During the time required for the final decision of the judges, the audience will be entertained by the State College orchestra, and will hear an entertaining lecture by—Continued on page 4.

Mechanical Engineers Leave Sunday to Take in Southeastern Convention

Twenty-two juniors and seniors in mechanical engineering will leave Sunday morning to attend the Southeastern Convention of the ASME.

Sixteen student representatives from various Southern colleges and universities will present technical papers in competition for prizes.

M. C. Brennan, a senior in mechanical engineering, will present a paper entitled "Photocopying and Its Application to Engineering."

Textile Moguls To Witness Show

It was learned late yesterday that among those to be in attendance at the Eleventh Annual Textile Exposition and Style Show, that is to be held next Thursday, will be many eminent directors of American textile schools.

In order to see this event, which has come to be a widely publicized affair in the textile world, the directors of the organization will stop off for the day at State College. The group will be on their way to a semi-annual meeting at Southern Pines, accompanying them will be several officials of the Textile Foundation, an organization which sponsors an endeavor to improve textile education in America.

Senior Class Gift Donations

This week's honor roll: J. M. Willis, H. V. Washell, K. P. Gomo, A. C. Cameron, W. B. Small, H. L. Morgan, F. C. Zigar, G. R. Freeman, Paul Lyster, W. H. Burton, Jr., W. H. Fisher, I. William Thora, P. G. Bodwell, Jr.

The total amount paid in is $333.60.

Governor Hoey Dubbed Honorary Knight of "St. Pat"

Graduating Seniors Receive Their Shingles In Impressive Ceremony

In an atmosphere of pomp and ceremony, Governor Hoey knelt before the throne of St. Patrick and his council, and kissed the "blarney stone."

Robert Blackwood, president of the Engineers' Council, and representing "St. Pat," tapped the gubernatorial shoulder with his sabre and handed Governor Hoey a membership scroll, known as a "shingle."

At the annual Engineers' Grand Brawl, equal honor was bestowed on five members of the faculty when they were dubbed Knights of St. Patrick. "Summa Cum Laude" They are: Dan Bridger Wicker, James Donald Lindsay, Edwin Weems Winkler, Blake Ragsdale Van Leer, and Robert Barton Rice.

Approximately sixty of the outstanding members of the senior class were chosen and made Knights of St. Patrick. The knights are selected because of the interest they have manifested in their respective departments, and because they have conducted themselves while students here so as to be a credit to themselves and the School of Engineering. Among them were the following members of the Engineers' Council: John James Amero, Louis H. Ashbury, Jr., Robert Stuart Blackwood, William Baerthlein, James G. Bronson, John William Brown, William A. Edwards, Wilson Hunt Fisher, Kellman Pirie Gomo, George R. Killam, Addison Maupin, Harold S. Overman and Semian Brown Woolard.

Arthur Raymond was master of ceremonies.

Business Frat Hears Speech On Inflation

Banker Tells Delta Sigma Pi That Inflation Due to Rise in Prices Is Most Harmful

On Tuesday night Allan Langston, assistant trust officer of the Wachovia National Bank, spoke to a mixed group of students and faculty at an open meeting of Delta Sigma Pi on the subject "The Effects of Inflation on Investments."

"Inflation usually follows a long devastating war," said Langston. The best example of this occurred in Germany, following the World War, where the value of the Mark dropped to the point where it took forty trillion to make one dollar. The most common type of inflation is that inflation that is due to a rise in prices. This type of inflation is very harmful in that it destroys the advantages of saving by wiping out the income that accrues on those savings through interest.

Langston went on further to discuss the advantages and disadvantages of various types of stocks and bonds.

This was the first of a series of lectures to be given in Peelo Hall on banking activities. The next lecture will come April 29, at 8 p. m., with R. C. DeRosset as the speaker. His subject will be "Credits."

Howard Kester To Speak In 'Y'

Howard Kester, secretary of the Committee on Racial and Social Justice, will speak in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium Wednesday night, April 20th, at 7:30 p. m., on the subject "The Share Cropper in the South."

Kester is a Virginian by birth and a graduate of Lynchburg College. He has studied at Princeton and Vanderbilt Universities also. He has made a close first-hand study of the share-cropper problem and knows the situation in Arkansas and Mississippi from experience.

A number of State College men have heard Mr. Kester speak at the Blue Ridge Conference and also at the State Conference at Duke. He was one of the leaders at the National Student Assembly held at Oxford, Ohio, during the Christmas holidays.

He will appear under the joint sponsorship of the Y. M. C. A. and the Agricultural Club.

NCCPA To Meet In Charlotte

D. H. Ramsey of the Asheville Citizen to be Guest Speaker at Annual Conclave

Queens-Chicora and Davidson will be hosts to North Carolina College Press Association representatives from twenty colleges on May 5, 6, and 7 in Charlotte.

The meeting will start with registration Thursday, May 5, at 2 p. m., and the election of officers for the coming year will take place Thursday afternoon. D. H. Ramsey, managing editor of the Asheville Citizen, will be the outstanding speaker. Awards will be given to the best annual, newspaper, and magazine in both class A and class B, class A being all schools of one thousand students or over and class B all those having under one thousand students.

Friday and Saturday will be devoted to a business session with a luncheon Friday at Queens-Chicora, when several leaders of the press in North Carolina will speak. A banquet and a dance will top off the meeting on Friday.

State College will have approximately fifteen delegates to the meeting of the NCCPA at which there will be one hundred and fifty representatives from twenty colleges in North Carolina.

Sidewalk Week Results Seen

Students Wholeheartedly Cooperating In "Keep Off the Grass" Movement

"The Student Council feels that as a result of their recent 'Walk on the Sidewalk' campaign, a decided improvement has been made in keeping students off the grass," stated President J. C. Frink yesterday.

There are still a few students who don't appreciate the beauty of the grounds and continue to walk on the grass, but the majority are cooperating in the movement.

Last week the Student Council initiated a "keep off the grass" drive in an effort to help keep the campus beautiful. All students are asked to cooperate, and refrain from cutting directly across the grass, or from cutting corners.

Valuable Service Given By WPA, Says Harrelson

"WPA has given us some valuable service," said Colonel Harrelson when he was asked about the continuation of that work on the campus, "and we badly needed all the things they built for us and are building." He said that there were several projects underway on the campus now, and there is proposed project which it is hoped will go through.

The work being done on freshman field and the track are being done by WPA funds, and this work has and is being done under two projects. The present WPA project includes the building of the new track, the finishing of freshman field, and the construction of ten new tennis courts, and unless WPA funds are discontinued these projects will be completed.

Work was again resumed on the unfinished field house, and it is expected to be completed in the near future.

The next WPA project that the college is to apply for is the building of new entrances to the East stands of Riddick Stadium. Present plans call for two ramps, one at the north end of the stadium and one at the south end of the stadium.

Economic Recession Subject of Lecture

"Labor and the Present Economic Recession" will be the topic of a lecture by Dr. Joel Seldman in the Y. M. C. A. next Thursday night at seven o'clock.

Dr. Seldman is now field secretary and special lecturer for the League for Industrial Democracy. During the past eight years he has contributed to economic journals, and has been the author of a number of valuable studies in the field of labor and economics. He has lectured to a wide variety of groups, among which were college classes and organizations, church groups, forums, and trade unions.

N. Y. A. Seeks Student Aid In Big Program

Stallings Wants Volunteers For Summer Educational and Recreational Project

In an appeal for assistance in one of the most dramatic and far-reaching summer programs ever attempted in any State in the nation, R. L. Stallings, Self-Help secretary of the State College Y.M.C.A., is seeking the cooperation of all State College students in an effort to wipe out, in some degree, the high illiteracy rate of the State of North Carolina.

Acting under the NYA program of the State, and in conjunction with the WPA education program, Stallings is seeking any young men who are not being employed in any other manner during the summer months, might be willing to give a little of their free time for the benefit of their less-fortunate neighbors.

In presenting the appeal to the various organizations on the campus, he pointed out that according to the 1930 census, North Carolina stood sixth from the bottom in illiteracy, and while the average for the entire United States was only 4.6 per cent, this State suffered an average of 10 per cent illiteracy.

In an effort to lower this percentage, and at the same time bring a little light into the blighted lives of these unfortunate, the NYA-WPA program is to be developed during the summer. With the assistance of college students who are willing to give their time and talents, it is the belief of the directors of the enterprise that much progress can be made in the interest of the delinquents.

Not only is the program to involve those that are unable to read or write, but efforts will be made to aid those who are in school, but who are falling behind in their work. In addition to these projects, another will be undertaken in the field of recreation. While the recreation project has been in operation for several summers, under the direction of NYA, it will be taken up on a much larger scale during this vacation period.

The one drawback to the entire development is the lack of adequate help. This is the reason for the appeal to the college students. In answer to the call, over 350 students throughout the State have responded and have agreed to offer their services during the summer. The fostering of the NYA-WPA educational and recreational programs. Of this number, only one student is from N. C. State College.

In urging the cooperation of the State College students, Mr. Stallings wishes to emphasize the fact that the plea is made only to those who are not to be otherwise employed during the vacation months. The program will take only a few hours a week on the part of those participating.

Any students who are interested in taking part in the work of the organizations should leave their names and college addresses at the Self-Help office in the Y.M.C.A. not later than Saturday, April 16th.

Forestry Seniors To Return Home

Have Visited Five States On Inspection Trip of Forests, Game Reserves and Mills

The forestry seniors have already covered five states and are now in North Carolina again on their senior inspection trip which they started on March 23.

The forests, game preserves, and mills of Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Alabama and Tennessee, in which forestry products are utilized, have been visited by the forestry seniors.

Dr. J. V. Hoffman, head of the forestry department, accompanied the seniors as far as Tennessee, but returned to Raleigh April 12, while the seniors toured through western North Carolina.

The forestry seniors will return to Raleigh on April 19.

College Glee Club To Give Operetta

Rehearsals are well under way for "Cleopatra," which will be presented by the glee club about three weeks hence. All glee club members are urged to make every effort to be present at all the rehearsals from now on. Following is the schedule of rehearsals for next week:

Monday, 5:00, principals; 6:30, chorus and principals. Tuesday, 6:30, entire cast. Wednesday, 5:00, principals; 6:30, entire cast. Thursday, 5:00, principals; 6:30, chorus.

Forensic Team Wins High Honors

McSwain Wins Ohio Extemporaneous; Lippard Wins Florida Impromptu Contest

The State College further strengthened its claim to the Southern forensic championship by its record at the Grand Eastern Tournament which was held at Winthrop College in Rock Hill, South Carolina, April 7-9.

Horace McSwain won the Ohio Extemporaneous Speaking contests from a field of thirty-five speakers from twenty states, including one representative from Oregon. This extemporaneous speaking contest was probably the most severely contested of any held this year in the United States. McSwain was opposed by numerous sectional and regional champions, and by men who had ranked high in national tournaments.

E. A. Fitzmaurice was chosen to act as master of ceremonies for the contest Friday, April 8, and did so well that he has been requested to serve again next year.

The Forensic Squad left Thursday, April 14, for Topeka, Kansas, where they will participate in the twelfth bi-annual tournament and convention, April 18-22, of Phi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity. Harold Zekaria and H. R. McSwain will represent the school in debate, oratory, and extemporaneous speaking, and C. K. Watkins and E. A. Fitzmaurice will be members of the House of Representatives in the National Student Congress.

Survey Proves C. E. Curriculum One of Finest

Comparison of Course With Those of Other Schools Shows State To Be Third

In a survey completed recently by Professor C. L. Mann, head of the Department of Civil Engineering, it was found that N. C. State's curriculum in civil engineering ranked high among the leading engineering schools of the country.

Comparing the courses as offered by twelve universities, State stood fourth in the number of credit hours given in the basic subjects, fifth in hours of cultural subjects, sixth in special technical courses, and ninth in general technical subjects.

As to the total credit hours required for graduation, State's civil engineering department stands third. The total of 240 necessary credit hours was surpassed in Tennessee and Penn State, with 246 and 245 hours, respectively.

The schools included in the survey were State College, Duke, Georgia Tech, V. P. L. Tennessee, Maryland, Penn State, Ohio State, Purdue, N. Y. U., Lehigh, and Cornell.

'Character' Editor Claims College Systems Obsolete

Nationally Known Authority on Student Government Presents Strong Views Against Systems Being Used in Colleges Today; Says Faculty Often at Fault

Dr. J. M. Artman, nationally known editor of "Character," told members of the faculty and student government that he is neither in favor of the Proctor System nor of the student government system as the correct way to handle campus problems, but that he is in favor of a government which is composed jointly of students and faculty.

Dr. Artman brought out the fact that under the present system the students are governed, but the faculty are not. He then asked the question, "Why do the students need to be governed, but not the faculty?" He states that the honor system as it works at the University of Virginia attempts to develop honor among students while they are in college, but not in after life.

"Why do the students need to be governed, but not the faculty?" He states that the honor system as it works at the University of Virginia attempts to develop honor among students while they are in college, but not in after life.

In continuing his condemnation of the present system, he placed the blame on the faculty for a student's cheating, because "a great number of times the faculty tries to shift the entire burden of

Scholarship Day To Be Held Soon

Faculty Council Abolishes Saturday Night Exercise At Commencement; All Scholarship Awards To Be Made May 5, Instead

On Thursday, May 5, the thirtieth annual Scholarship Day will be held in Pullen Hall from eleven o'clock until one.

Scholarship Day is an annual event at State College, but this year it will be of unusually great importance. The Faculty Council has abolished the usual exercises at Commencement, and all of the awards which have heretofore been made at that time will be made on Scholarship Day. All of the major awards will be made; the winners of other individual honors will be announced; and the honor rolls for the year will be announced.

Besides the important awards, there will be an excellent program. There will be a speaker of repute, who will deliver an address appropriate for the occasion. The day will be under the auspices of the combined honorary societies at State College.

The awards which will be made on Scholarship Day are: Declaimer's and Orator's Medal, National Association of Textile Manufacturers Medal, Alumni Athletic Trophy, State College Woman's Club Awards for Public Speaking, Phi Kappa Phi Scholarship Medals.

Ceramic Department Scholarship Cups (two), Alpha Zeta Scholarship Cup, Sigma Tau Sigma Textile Award, Tau Beta Pi Awards in Engineering Department (two), Interfraternity Council Scholarship Cup, Elder P. Gold Citizenship Medal (if it can be prepared in time).

Band To Give Easter Concert

On Sunday afternoon at 3:30 the State College band will present an Easter concert at the memorial tower.

The program is as follows: Bach — Chorales; Awake My Heart, and Sing; O Sacred Head Now Wounded; Lord God, We Praise Thee; Sullivan — The Lost Chord; H. La Forest — Sabbath Chimes; Rossini-Infernamus, from Stabat Mater; Bach — Awake, My Painting Soul; Triumphs Today the Son of God; Keteleye — In a Monastery Garden; Bach — Now Thank We All Our God.

Dean Artman Claims Candidates for Student Government Obsolete

Dr. Fred J. Kelly, chief of the division of Higher Education in the United States Office of Education, will address an open faculty meeting this afternoon in Pullen Hall. Dean J. W. ### Dean Announces Fresh Lectures

The subjects of the remaining lectures that are to be presented before the freshmen in the School of Engineering during the remainder of their year has been announced by the dean of the school.

On April 26, Dean Van Leer will address the group on "The Organization of the Engineering Profession." Two weeks later Professor Vaughan, of the mechanical engineering department, will speak on "Achievements in Mechanical Engineering." Then on May 24, Dean Van Leer will close the series, using as topic, "The Responsibilities of the Engineering Profession."

All But Two Candidates for Each Office Eliminated; Date of Final Voting Moved Up One Day; Frink to Give Students Opportunity to Express Opinion on Examination Systems

With a record vote and a close contest for most of the major offices in last Wednesday's campus primaries, the political campaigns of the surviving candidates went into the final stages this week in preparation for the general election Tuesday.

The activities of the office seekers became somewhat accelerated with the announcement last night from the office of the Dean of Students that the election date had been moved up a day so as not to conflict with the Military Inspection of State's ROTC unit, which will take place all day Wednesday.

The record showed a vote of over 1,000 ballots this year, as compared with the 1937 final election returns of 710 votes.

In the race for student government president, Bill Bailey is leading Walter Fanning by only 58 votes, while the secretarial contest shows an even smaller difference between the two remaining candidates, as Buddy Means holds a slim margin over E. E. Durham of 23 votes.

Following is a summary of the primary returns, showing the votes received by the two leading candidates:

Student Government President	—
Bill Bailey	498
Walter Fanning	440
Student Government Secretary	—
Buddy Means	377
E. E. Durham	354
Sr. Rep. Athletic Council	—
Sally Jones	361
Dick Payne	183
Jr. Rep. Athletic Council	—
Art Rooney	377
C. P. Herpin	228
Harold Starnes	117
Business Mgr. Technician	—
Pierce Fleming	333
Mort Brown	282
YMCA President	—
Horace McSwain	478
W. L. Fann	217
YMCA Treasurer	—
Robert Coleman	347
Robert Marsh	322
Alumni Athletic Trophy	—
1. Eddie Bertinaki	317
2. Connie Mae Berry	217

In addition to the names of the candidates the ballot will contain a space in which students may indicate their preference in regard to the honor and proctor systems of conducting examinations, according to Student Body President J. C. Frink. There will also be a place where the student can indicate his preference of some plan other than either of the two systems now being debated.

No Problem-Solver

During the past week a nationally known and recognized authority on student government visited this campus and spoke before students and faculty in an effort to help them find a solution to an age-old campus problem.

Although Mr. Artman left the students with many excellent ideas for their future happiness and advancement through life, he did not in any sense of the word help them decide what to do with the Proctor System or the Honor System. He firmly advocated the abolition of both, however, but did not substitute any other system to take the place of the present Proctor System. According to Mr. Artman, we should not have any such system to control students in classrooms on quizzes and examinations. He would like to do away with both. Although his plans are idealistic, they are, we think, far from practical and are certainly not applicable.

Mr. Artman was vehement in his denunciation of a cheater, and said that a man that would cheat on an examination cheated no one but himself. In a certain sense, this is true, but he lost sight of the fact that if there were no system to govern students on examinations, there would be some students who would use every known device to cheat. They only hurt themselves? Not so you can tell it. The smart student whose honor means more to him than his grade on the course would not think of cheating. The man next to him cheats to pass the course, and he gets the good grade because he has answered all the examination questions correctly. Therefore, the dishonest one gets the good grade while the honest student just skins by. There are a thousand faults with the Proctor System, but there is one thing certain: If it is perfectly applied, the good grades will go to those they are supposed to go to.

Mr. Artman gave some interesting lectures that will greatly benefit us throughout life, but as far as solving our pertinent campus problem, he missed a mile.

A Beautiful Campus

Be there any State College student who is not bursting with pride at the beauty of our campus this spring? Freshmen possibly only realize they are living in beautiful surroundings; upperclassmen realized they are living on a far prettier campus than they have ever known before; one that has had thousands of hours of human toil and thousands of dollars spent to improve it and make it a better place in which to live.

And students are beginning to take a greater interest in keeping the campus beautiful, and they hesitate not a minute to call down those who find it more convenient to their purpose to cut across the lawns, and a man once called down for such an infraction would do his part to keep other people from doing the same thing he has done.

A great deal of credit goes to the students for preserving the campus. More credit goes to Mr. Peterson, who was called in by the college to beautify the campus and who has done even a better job than was expected of him. Even now, cameramen realize the beauty that lies within our gates and are preserving this beauty in hundreds of feet of film, which will be shown to State College alumni and friends to arouse in them an interest in the college and a desire to help us with our program for beautification. Let's do our part in helping to beautify our school. Then we will be proud to show it off to our families, alumni and friends, and we will come back ten or twenty years hence and view with pride the campus we helped to make possible.

Make Them Feel At Home

When the girls from different North Carolina Colleges come here for the annual Textile Style Show, they will be the guests of State College, and we should show them every little courtesy we possibly can.

would attend the Style Show and "boo" and "catcall" any girl who was not quite pleasing to their eye. That is the type of student State College would do well not to have and he is the type who leaves his culture and good breeding at home, if at all he ever possessed any.

The girls who participate in the show can only do their best. They are frightened, naturally, and to be scorned by a handful of cruel students cuts them to the heart.

If you have a sister, just put her in the place of the girl you are boozing. Then you might stop to think how she would feel, and how you would feel for her.

Vote Tuesday

Every student of this college should go to the polls Tuesday and cast his vote for the men he thinks best fitted to serve.

OPEN ★ FORUM

April 12, 1938.

DEAR EDITOR:

This is a letter representing the feelings of a great number of State College students, disapproving of the action taken by Dean Cloyd and the faculty council with reference to the question of abolishing the Monday dances of Finals.

Last year this same question was put before the Interfraternity Council. They voted the following: If the school should change its policy of having commencement on Monday evening, then the Monday dances would be cut out; but as long as the diplomas were to be given out on Monday evening at the twilight service, then the Monday dances would continue. This would give the seniors a final social gathering that they would never forget. They would have a chance to bid all their friends goodbye, and the dance would serve "top off" their four years of work.

The faculty council, without changing the date of commencement, has voted to cut out the Monday dances. No students were consulted on the question, and it seems to me that the council has taken the attitude of "Well, we don't go to the dances, and if it will save a little work to cut out the Monday dances, then let's cut them out."

The seniors will have to sit around here in Raleigh all day Sunday and Monday just doing nothing, but waiting to get their diplomas. I, as a senior, don't like the idea, nor do most of the seniors. The Monday dances keep approximately four or five hundred of our students and their dates for Finals here, and they comprise a large part of the spectators at commencement. We should like to have all our students view this ceremony if it were possible. If the Monday dances were abolished, then there will be no one at commencement but the seniors and their families and some of the alumni. The opinion of many of those who stay for commencement is that immediately afterward is mistaken for the exercises are not over until about nine o'clock, and most people have to spend the night in Raleigh, anyway.

I think the reasons for abolishing the dances are poor ones, and the consensus of all the students that I have talked to is of the same nature. Why shouldn't the student body have a final party at commencement in matters which concern them so much? A little diversion on Monday, especially for the seniors and their dates, is certainly not asking too much. What about it, fellow students?

Sincerely,
F. M. S.

— OPEN FORUM —

Dear Editor:

In view of the numerous comments I have heard by both fraternity and non-fraternity members of the student body concerning the action of the Faculty Council in mutilating our set of dances at Finals, it seems to me that the Council should be informed of the feeling of the student body, which they have apparently not taken into consideration.

The reasons for this action seem, to me, to be very weak and evasive of any real issue. The Faculty Council opines that the awarding of diplomas should be the culmination of one's college career. For years Finals and graduation have come to be associated one with the other, and Finals has come to be as much a part of graduation to a majority of the students as the awarding of diplomas. How many people other than the graduating seniors and their parents would stay here until Monday afternoon to attend the awarding of diplomas if the Monday dances were done away with? Does graduation belong primarily to the student or to the Faculty? Should the opinion of the student not be taken into consideration?

The Faculty Council deems the Monday dance unnecessary because of the many dances during the spring term. May we call to their attention the fact that there is no set of dances during the spring term or during the year that can compare with Finals. In no way does this set of dances interfere with the other graduation exercises. That is the one set of dances during the year when the student can relax and enjoy himself without the shadow of impending classes and piled-up work. If cutting down the number of dances in the spring term is the object of the action, it seems that operations are being started at the most illogical point possible.

Another aspect of the situation is the right of the students involved. Are we a group of helpless puppets who are incapable of making any decisions for ourselves? Must our actions be governed by the dictates of a small group which has no consideration for our opinions and feelings in matters concerning us? The students voiced their disapproval in a joint meeting of the Social Functions Committee and the Interfraternity Council last spring. The proposal to cut out the Monday night dance had only one proponent.

Who finances the dances at Finals? Do the men who spend their money for the dances merit no consideration in saying how that money will be spent? Is the Interfraternity Council a mere figurehead? If the opinion of the students is given no consideration in matters of this sort, what is the good in expending our time and efforts in the meaningless formalities of the organizations which are supposed to represent us?

The fraternities have given the administration hearty cooperation in their effort to raise the scholastic average of the fraternities and of the student body, and we have obtained results. We have curtailed our social activities during the year and have applied ourselves to our work with earnest effort. What is our reward for this cooperation? We get a knife thrust in our backs. We were not even given the consideration of being informed of the action of the Faculty Council until time arrived for making our plans for Finals. Is this square dealing? If the Faculty Council will present one good, sound, logical reason for abandoning the Monday night dance, the fraternities will be the first to give their cooperation; but until we are convinced it is not merely an idea influenced by personal bias, we fall to see where we are being given a square deal.

GLEANINGS

By THE STAFF

We have been greatly interested of late in perusing idly through the many college newspapers which wend their way into the office via the exchange route. . . . One has but to turn to the multitude of surveys being conducted by the various papers in order to form a pretty solid picture of what we collegians think. . . . witness some of the results we found:

Eighty per cent of the Villanova College students stated that they would not fight for the United States in a foreign war. . . . Students at Dartmouth College are in favor of more sermons and lectures on moral standards and personality. . . . Cornell undergraduates are in search of more time for ball seasons mostly because "we learn facts in them that professors are either unwilling or afraid to give out." . . . A survey taken at the University of California revealed that the average cost for a date is three dollars.

College boys, if they are unsuccessful in kissing a girl the first time, are willing to try and try again, and again. . . . The campus weekly at the University of Minnesota conducted a poll which revealed that 81 per cent of the college brethren are willing to try "kiss four dates with a good if she refuses a kiss the first time. The rest say the first time or never."

Also brought to light in the same survey were these statistics. . . . Over twenty per cent of the co-eds will not turn down a "persistent male". . . . Both the men and the women prefer double dates. . . . The men for economy and the women for protection.

But enough of the news of other campuses. . . . The time has rolled around once again for us to stir up the old dirt pot and wallow around in its drab sediments in search of some choice bits of idle gossip. . . . and might we add that after the Engineers' Brawl week-end there is plenty of it to be disclosed.

Intra-mural Director Johnnie Miller apparently doesn't have much faith in Herman Hickman's ability to consume barbecue in wholesale quantities. . . . He has been trying to cut-out our diminutive grid coach and has come out on the losing end each time. . . . From the looks of Buddy Fry's latest heart attack, he has stepped out of the five and ten class at last. . . . Teddy Simpson is trying to set some sort of a consecutive dating record, even to the extent of having two in one night.

That Phi Psi initiation downtown Saturday had the town in an uproar, what with Ernie Koella standing armed guard over a pair of mouse traps in front of Boon-Isley's and Ted Strampler salting down stray cigarette duds and picking them up with a pair of tweezers. . . . Bill Mann is beginning to think that perhaps an appendicitis operation isn't so bad after all. . . . he's still talking about that cute nurse at the Rex Hospital.

Jim Neely tells us that he has quite a romantic affair on tap in Greensboro. . . . every time he goes over to visit the sweet little thing, she makes a point to come to Raleigh that week-end. . . . "Jeep" Worrell has taken a sudden interest in golf since he began dating the Meredith links champ. . . . And now that Tommy Ragsdale has purchased a new car on "very easy terms" they say that he carefully wipes it dry every morning because there is so much "dime" on it.

This week's ho-hum: I think, you think. . . . He think, all think. . . . I copy, you copy. . . . He copy, all funk. . . . Memories of the Engineers' Brawl: Stags, stags and more stags. . . . "Kayo" Mullins trying in vain to find the orchestra; he still doesn't believe there was one down there. . . . Everybody trying to pluck Jimmie Burnham out of their hair. . . . Wishing that the lights would have stayed out just a little while longer. . . . Art Raymond doing himself proud a la Graham McNamee. . . . "Catie" Carter stomping out a hot broken field run with one of the coter prom trotters. . . . Pacing the politicians was Jake Marsh and his high-pressure hand shaking, but still no cigars. . . . Dick (Pretty Boy) Watts trying to get around to giving all the girls a break. . . . George Norman dividing his time between trying to get that photographer to take his picture and keeping count of how many times he played Good Samaritan to would-be wall flowers.

We have had a pretty wide variety of pots on this campus in the years gone by but Bunny Hines gets our vote for originality. . . . He is now the proud owner or father of a pair of undersized ducks. . . . Oh well, perhaps the responsibility of a family will keep him away from Boon Isley's and out of trouble for a while. . . . With heated discussions of State's 1938 gridiron schedule in away throughout the campus, holds our King Football again color the limelight despite the rather inappropriate weather prevailing in these parts.

The chief topic of conversation for followers of State's football fortunes seems to be our latest bid for big time grid recognition. . . the game with Carnegie Tech slated to be played here on Thanksgiving Day. Although the contest is practically a certainty, there are several wrinkles to be ironed out in the negotiations. At the present time officials are dickering with the Citadel athletic moguls in an effort to advance the date of the Citadel-State clash to December 3. Should these negotiations prove successful, a two-year contract will be signed with the Carnegie Tech team with both games to be played in Raleigh. This gives the Wolfpack an eleven game roster for next year with such stellar opponents as Duke, Alabama, Manhattan, Detroit, Carolina and Carnegie Tech included.

Speaking of football, word was released yesterday that Louie Mark, Jess Tatum and Connie Mac Berry will all try their hand at the professional game next fall. Tatum and Berry will be remembered by grid fans as Doc Newton's stellar flankmen who proved to be large factors in the success of the 1937 Wolfpack. They will report to the Chicago Cardinals for their professional debut. Mark, a bruising center who spent most of his time in the opponents backfield, will enlist with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League.

Random Sports Flashes: Milan Zori, gigantic track star and a recent graduate student at State will compete in the annual A.U. games to be held at Chapel Hill next month. . . Zori is the holder of the Penn Relays, Southern Conference and Carolina's records in the discus throw. . . Doc Sermon is attempting to arrange a Northern swing for next year's basketball quint. . . St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia, one of the Eastern leaders, Rutgers and several other crack college teams will in all probability be included on the trip. . . Al Sandross, hard hitting second basemen on last year's nine, has signed with the New Bern Bees for the current diamond campaign.

'MURAL MUSINGS

After what has been in most cases warm-up games for the stronger teams, the softball leaders met their first test during the past week.

The Pikas pulled the most interesting play of the week with a triple play against the Kappa Sigs. With the bases loaded and no outs, a high ball was pitched to the field. Bethell juggled the ball to Waldin, who juggled it back to Bethell, who finally caught it, and threw it to Smart, to Remmey, to Folbeck, to Scriber. The Kappa Sigs had left the bases after Bethell juggled the ball the first time. The Pikas won 13-5.

- 1st 1911 continued on its drive for softball honors by defeating 1st Watauga 7-0. The victors were paced by Smith, Payne, and Whitmire; 1st Watauga was led by Hudgbert, Boney, and Reynolds.

A strong 3rd 7th team was hard pressed to edge out 4th dormitory 5-3. 2nd 7th, which is highly favored to win the dormitory championship, defeated a strong 3rd 1911 team 12-9. The Pi Kappa Phis, although favored to win, pulled somewhat of an upset in defeating the Sigma Nus by the large score of 15-3.

Volleyball has gotten into full swing, with most of the preliminary games already played. Teams having already won their first game are: A. K. II, Pi Kappa Phi, Pika, Sigma Nu, Lambda Chi, 2nd 7th, 1st 1911, 2nd 1911, and 5th.

Track is only a few weeks off. All track men should be getting in shape. Doc Sermon will probably be eyeing the intramural meet for prospective track material for next year's varsity.

Result: Delta Sig, 22 - Sigma Pi, 13; Pika, 13 - Kappa Sig, 5; 3rd 7th, 5 - 4th, 3; 2nd 7th, 12 - 3rd 1911, 9; Pi Kappa Phi, 15 - Sigma Nu, 3; Lambda Chi, 20 - ALT, 17; Lambda Chi, 25 - Phi Kappa Tau, 7; Delta Sig, 31 - K.A., 2; 1st 1911, 7 - 1st Watauga, 0.

SCHEDULE: Today - 2nd Watauga vs 2nd 1911, 1st and Basement South vs 6th. Tuesday - Kappa Sig vs ALT; Pi Kappa Phi vs Sigma Pi. Thursday - 3rd 1911 vs 1st Watauga; 5th vs 4th.

Doakmen Meet Duke Saturday and Demon Deacons On Monday

Visiting Diamond Squads Are Slated to Offer Rigid Test for State Nine in Annual Classics

There'll be big baseball doings at State College this week-end.

The Techs play Duke's defending State Champions on Saturday and make another home appearance on Monday in the annual Easter Monday game with Wake Forest's Demon Deacons.

The Easter Monday game is heralded as one of the season's classic games. The Deacons and Techs have met annually on Easter Monday since time immemorial and a record crowd is expected this year, officials announced Thursday.

The Deacons have made one of the strongest bids for championship honors in the Big Five this season. They defeated the Carolina Tar Heels 4-3 last Tuesday, but hit a snag Wednesday when they dropped a 3-1 decision to the defending champs of Duke. State lost to the Deacons by a heavy score last year.

Coach Chick Doak's boys have gotten off to a bad start this season and may find the Duke Blue Devils rather troublesome on Saturday. The Blue Devils are leading the Big Five to date. The Techs dropped a close 6-5 decision to Carolina last week for their best showing of the season.

Saturday's game will find a new face on first base for State's nine. Regular first-sacker Bill Mann will be out for the remainder of the season due to an appendectomy. Coach Doak has two of his proteges performing at the first corner at present and has not as yet made any selection as to Mann's successor. Two candidates—Cader Harris and Big Peatross—are very promising prospects. Harris hails from Elizabeth City and came up from the frosh ranks of last season. He played the entire freshman schedule at first base last year without an error. Peatross is a Raleigh boy and is playing his first year in college baseball. He played for Raleigh's high school team a couple of years ago. Coach Doak speaks very highly of Peatross' possibilities.

Gridders Practice In Gym Shorts

Wily Doc Newton, Wolfpack mentor, again demonstrated his ingenuity and foresight by inaugurating something novel in the way of spring footsore practice when he had all end and backfield candidates report in shorts.

Approached for a statement, Doc said that he didn't want to miss any opportunities for turning out a winning team. "We're playing a tough schedule next year," he said, "and we've got to know our plays letter-perfect."

The sight of the big fellows cavorting around in red shorts caused many a spectator to grin, but the boys took the matter seriously, and put all they had into the workouts. There was no contact work—just running through plays with games of passing. Art Rooney put on some fine exhibitions of broken-field running, as did Sabolyk, Fehley and Traylor. Lanky "Tommy" Thompson, sophomore end who never played football in high school and who never went out for State's frosh team, shows great promise as a pass catcher.

Wallermen Open With Tar Babies

Techlets Cross Bats With Carolina in Season Opener At Chapel Hill

The State frosh will open their regular schedule on Friday, April 15, when they meet the Carolina freshmen at Chapel Hill.

Coach Nig Waller has been putting his proteges through the mill in the past three weeks in an effort to produce a winning combination. The Techlets have scrimmaged several times this week with the league leading Raleigh nine.

Waller has made up a tentative line-up for tomorrow's tilt but stated that it was subject to change any time before the game tomorrow. Phipps, in all probability, will get the call to hurl the game against the Tar Babies with Wood or Jordan on the receiving end. Tilley will get the call at first base with Retter or Dixon at second base. At third, Waller will start Davidson, one of the more promising members of the squad, and Watts or Griffith at short stop. Jones, Winstead and Brown will make up the outfield.

Neither of the teams have as yet had any competition and this game will test their strength. Waller stated that he was uncertain about his pitching staff, but that the rest of the team was shaping up very nicely.

The Techs' first home game will be with Campbell College on April 19.

State Netters Meet Palmetto Teams

State's varsity tennis team left Wednesday for a trip through South Carolina, during which they will play matches with Furman, Wofford and Davidson.

The first game, with Furman in Greenville, should prove fairly tough sledding for the wearers of the Red, as they beat the Purple Hurricanes earlier in the week by the narrow margin of 4-3.

From Greenville the team will head for Spartanburg where they will clash with the Wofford aggregation. The Terriers present a fairly strong outfit, but the State-men are favored to take them into camp.

The last game of the trip will be with Davidson College, where the State boys will meet the strongest team of their tour.

Earlier in the week Coach Green's boys eked out a 4-3 victory over the Furman team. The star for State was Captain Jordan Dulin, number one man, who took a hard fought match from Alken by the scores of 7-9, 6-1, 6-0, and then teamed up with Jim Murray to win easily from Alken and Bagby 6-0, 6-4.

The summaries: Dulin of State defeated Alken, 7-9, 6-1, 6-0; Murray of State defeated Anders, 7-5, 6-4; Smith of Furman defeated Speer, 6-4, 6-1; Boney of State defeated Bagby, 6-4, 6-3; and Clinkscales of Furman defeated Reeves 6-2, 4-6, 6-4. In double plays, Dulin and Murray of State defeated Alken and Bagby, 6-0, 6-4; and Anders and Smith of Furman defeated Boney and Cline, 6-4, 12-10.

IN THE HEAT OF BATTLE

Throwing precaution to the four winds, members of the freshman and sophomore classes are shown at the height of last year's rush. An equal amount of enthusiasm is expected this year as the two classes make preparations for the annual battle.

Cindermen Open Against Richmond

Sermon to Enter Untried Team in Season's Opening Clash Tomorrow

The State College track team will make its first appearance in intercollegiate track circles in six years when it meets the University of Richmond spike artists tomorrow at Richmond.

The Techs have been hard at work during the past three weeks under the able guidance of Coach Ray Sermon and should come through with a creditable performance in their initial clash. They have been somewhat handicapped by having to hold their practice sessions in the stadium, but the Sermonmen have been improving daily.

Observers at the cinder drills have been impressed by the abundance of spirit and cooperation which has been shown by the candidates. Led by Captain in Bill Davis, veteran miler and nucleus of the State team, the hopefuls should give the Richmond aggregation a busy afternoon. The Tech chances were bolstered considerably when Art Rooney, Roy Cromartie and "Butch" Lozier joined the squad. Rooney will participate in the shot put and broad jump and Cromartie is slated for action in the high and broad jumps. Lozier has shown promise in the discus and shot and will be in the line-up against the Spiders.

The probable line-up: 100-yard dash, Gibbs, Burcham and Roberts. 220-yard dash, Gibbs, Burcham and Roberts. 440-yard run, Tyren, Davis and Matson.

880-yard run, Matson, Ingraham and Robertson. One-mile run, Davis, Johnson and Knott. Two-mile run, Ross, Burgess and Hunter. 120-yard high hurdles, Thompson. 220-yard low hurdles, McClurd, Yingling and Gibbs. Shot put, Rooney, Helms and Hoek. Discus, Hoek, Lozier and Helms. Javelin, Peters, Rooney and Retter. High Jump, Cromartie and Thompson. Broad Jump, Cromartie, Rooney and Thompson. Pole Vault, Hoek and Banks. Byrd, promising sprint candidate, will accompany the team as a utility man.

Frosh-Sophs Lay Plans For Annual Spring Class Rush

Traditional Push Ball Contest to be Held in Stadium Late in May

The group of freshmen and sophomores comprising the committees from each class on the annual Freshman-Sophomore Rush has decided to hold the yearly scrap late in May. The annual rush is being sponsored by a number of campus organizations headed by Blue Key.

The ball to be used this year is of the initiated rubber type and weighs seventy-five pounds. Riddick Field will be the scene of this year's battle and the field of action will be the size of the regulation football field. The contest will be conducted in much the same manner as last year's rush, although several minor rulings yet remain to be settled. The joint committee plans to take action on these at their next meeting.

The ball will be put into play in the center of the field and at the beginning of the rush, each team will line up fifty yards from the ball. After each goal, the ball will be put into play again at the center of the field. If the ball goes out of bounds, it will be put into play twenty yards in from the sidelines and opposite the point where it went out of bounds. Each team will then line up ten yards from the ball. Only one hundred men from each side will be allowed to participate at one time. Substitutions can be made at the quarter time.

None of the players will be permitted to wear cleated shoes and much of the horseplay occurring before and after the contest will be abolished.

A great amount of enthusiasm has been witnessed in the past prior to these contests and, it is hoped the same amount of good spirit and sportsmanship will be maintained this year. The rush in the past few years has been staged mainly to create a spirit of friendliness and good sportsmanship between the two classes and not to promote any methods of hazing.

The first two men on each team meet, as do the third and fourth. The State golfers have had some hard knocks this year, losing rangy Bill Ford last week via the ineligibility rule and dropping another ace linkman yesterday because of the five-year playing rule.

State Riflemen Successful In Tourney Meets

Sharpshooters Garner Third In Hearst Match, Second in Corps Area Competition.

The State College rifle team again proved its excellence and all-around ability last week in Washington when it came through with some high-pressure marksmanship to place high among the country's leading teams in the Hearst Trophy matches and the Corps Area competition.

Firing twenty matches in the Hearst match, the Tech riflemen garnered a third place, winning fifteen and missing a higher berth by a narrow margin of points. The team was awarded a trophy which will be presented to the college in the near future along with individual medals to the following men: P. J. Wilson, M. S. Hayworth, R. W. Brake, B. L. Johnson and Captain Herb Whittier.

In the latter Corps Area competition, the Statemen turned on the heat to place second, thus qualifying for the National matches. The results of these two matches places them near the top of the ladder along with the best sharpshooters in the country.

With the season rapidly drawing to a close, a review of the fine "big-league" shooting produced by the State team reveals the excellent work done by Advisor R. E. Jones and Coach Knight.

Credit is due these men along with the following 16 members of the 1938 rifle team: P. J. Wilson, M. S. Hayworth, Captain Whittier, B. S. Clapp, R. Myers, E. L. Johnson, R. W. Brake, T. W. Shaltington, J. M. Morrison, N. R. Harley, W. S. McLaughlin, G. M. Sheets, F. H. Wyman, F. H. Wetmore, Whittson and J. S. Smith.

Pikas Celebrate At Annual Ball Monday Night

Social Fraternity to Give 32nd Annual Easter Ball in Frank Thompson Gymnasium

The 32nd anniversary of the Pika Ball, a dance attended annually by hundreds of dancers from the Carolinas and Virginia, will be celebrated on Easter Monday night.

The Pika Ball is an outstanding social event on North Carolina's spring social calendar.

The ball, given by the Alpha Epsilon chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity of State College, will be held Monday evening, April 18, in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

The gymnasium will be elaborately decorated in the fraternity colors of garnet and gold. A large, electrically lighted fraternity pin will feature the decorations.

The figure will be led by N. C. Davis, president, with Miss Frances Pappendick of Raleigh; W. W. Scholtz, vice president, with Miss Anne Pease of Charlotte; W. A. Schreiber, treasurer, with Miss Dorothy Baker of Charlotte; C. J. Dulin, with Miss Johnny Walker of Charlotte; F. M. Southerland, with Miss Carter McKinnon of Hartsville, S. C.; F. M. Davidson, with Miss Nancy Young of Newton; D. M. Pollock, with Miss Frances Mann of High Point.

The fraternity will give a house party over the week-end for its guests at its home on Hillsboro St., beginning on Saturday morning. Saturday evening the members will entertain their guests at a buffet supper. A theatre party will be given on Sunday afternoon, followed by a banquet given in the main ball room of the Sir Walter Raleigh Hotel, honoring the alumni of the fraternity. Monday afternoon golf, tennis, and horseback parties have been planned. Some of the guests will attend the State-Wake Forest baseball game. This year the ball will be formal.
