

Congresswoman Addresses Crowd On Foreign Views

TALK HUMOROUS Jeannette Rankin Tells of Situation in Foreign Countries; Discredits Stories That U. S. Will Ever Be Attacked By Other Nations; Open Forum is Conducted At End of Address To Enable Audience To Receive Answers To Questions of Interest

"The most important thing in democracy is the sovereign power, and the sovereign power is the people," said Miss Jeannette Rankin, first woman to be elected to the Congress of the United States in her address in the college YMCA auditorium last night.

Miss Rankin, a good-natured, grey-haired woman, delivered an informal address on the subject, "Can Congress Keep the U. S. Out of War?" to a crowd of over two hundred that gathered in the "Y" to listen to the noted congresswoman. Throughout her talk she was greeted by much applause from an attentive audience, and she cited several humorous instances which produced laughter from her listeners.

The speaker discredited all statements and questions that are constantly being brought up by daily newspapers throughout the world that the United States would some day be attacked by a foreign country. Miss Rankin brought out the fact that Japan attacked China because she was sure other nations would not go against her. However, she said that Japan would never attack the United States, for as soon as they did, other nations would launch an attack upon her.

In emphasizing a part of her address, Miss Rankin said: "It is no longer the national policy to go to war. There are two ways to enforce a treaty—one by force and violence—which means war—and the other by public opinion." As a humorous incident in her travels in which she has delivered many addresses on subjects of national interest, Miss Rankin said that she had been traveling in Georgia and on one occasion made an address in a prominent Georgia town. She received a much newspaper comment, about which she spoke thus: "They called me a communist in fancy language, so I sued them. They paid me a thousand dollars and called me a nice lady." This remark brought much laughter from her audience.

The speaker was introduced by Sam Moss, president of the YMCA, who gave a few introductory remarks about Miss Rankin giving brief account of important events in her life.

After her address, the congresswoman held an open forum for the audience in which she answered questions of current national interest and explained many puzzling situations.

Faculty Members To Be Canvassed By College YMCA Wheeler Launches YMCA Drive To Canvass Faculty At Luncheon This Week

No More Pictures Friday, October 29, will be the last day that the photographer will be on the campus to take pictures. Katherine Stinson Enrolled in Engineering School Brings Attention To State; Plans To Continue Flying After Graduation.

Katherine Stinson holds the title of being the first woman to become enrolled in the Mechanical Engineering Department of State College, and is one of the few women engineering students in the United States.

In the past few years there have only been two cases of a woman enrolling in an engineering school, one at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the other at New York University.

Not only Miss Stinson enrolled in the Mechanical Engineering Department at State, but she also holds a pilot's license which has been her property for the last three years. But she has been in the air a great part of her life, having made her first flight at the age of ten.

PRESS DELEGATES TO ARRIVE HERE FOR CONVENTION

Dunnagan Predicts Large Attendance At Collegiate Press Association Convention; Sir Walter Will Be Headquarters For Meeting

Next Thursday the annual press convention will swing into full away when representatives of colleges from all over North Carolina gather at Raleigh to be the guests of State College.

Plans have been completed to make this the biggest and best convention ever staged by the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association, and the program includes many events of great importance.

Hoey To Speak The feature speaker for the convention will be Governor Clyde R. Hoey, who will address the delegates on Saturday morning at a meeting in the Sir Walter Hotel.

Other speakers include D. H. Ramsey, editor of the Asheville Citizen, Frank Jeter, director of the State College News Bureau, Carl Gerch, editor of the State magazine, and many other important business men in North Carolina.

The delegates will also be the guests of the College at the Citadel-State football game Saturday afternoon, and they will be given a banquet at the Sir Walter on Friday night.

Opens Thursday The convention will officially open on Thursday afternoon with registration, and will close on Saturday following the football game on Riddick Field. During this period an elaborate program has been constructed, and many features have been planned for all of the delegates.

President Dunnagan predicted that this would be one of the largest attended conventions in the history of the convention, and he said that they have much important business to be discussed at this meeting.

Program

- THURSDAY 2:30-5:00 P.M. Registration—Mezzanine of Sir Walter Hotel. 6:00 P.M. Informal reception and tea—Sir Walter ballroom. FRIDAY 9:30 A.M. Quite a shock was received by the staff of THE TECHNICIAN Wednesday afternoon when they received the following phone call: "Is this the complaint department?" asked the feminine voice on the telephone. "Why, yes, lady; this is all of the departments," replied a prominent staff member. "Well, will you please come to street and pick up a dead cat that is out here on the corner?"

If We Have Fire At Dawn Get Bucket, Get Pants On

"1. Upon the alarm of fire, the senior mechanical students will proceed at once to the boiler-house, force the fire, prime and start the pump."—so begin the comprehensive instructions which told State College students in 1894 just what to do in case of a conflagration. These rules were discovered by a TECHNICIAN reporter, in searching through a dusty heap of time-worn books, ledgers, and papers, sandwiched among the physics notes of Professor Henderson, Lieutenant U. S. N., who 45 years ago was instructing State students in the mysteries of physics and military science and tactics.

Painters' Identities Remain Unknown; Probe Is Dropped

COUNCIL TO MAKE POSITION CLEARER ON FUTURE POLICY

Will Enforce Laws of Student Government; Action Taken On One Outstanding Violation; Frink Makes Council's Position Clear

Considerable controversy has arisen throughout the entire school during the past week over the question of legislation of the Student Council on a case that evolved from the Wake Forest "encounter" last Saturday night.

Due to the flexibility of the rules of the student government, the Council will meet tonight at 6:30 in a closed session to formulate plans to present to the students that will show the exact stand the Council will take in future legislation on student actions.

Wild Rumors Rumors spread through the campus like wildfire concerning the trial given a student by the Council for his actions at the Wake Forest—State College game last Saturday, and other rumors about the action of the Council in this case have greatly aggravated the situation.

The rumor of a trial was correct, and the defendant was brought to trial for his disorderly conduct at the game, not for tearing down the Wake Forest goal post or for fighting, as rumors have indicated.

At its meeting tonight, the Student Council will set the limits of its legislation on matters pertaining to students, and will present its stand to students at their regularly-scheduled class meetings next week.

Frink Comments J. C. Frink, president of the Student Body, said in a late statement that "we cannot deny the right of a State student to drink if he so desires, but when the student lets liquor influence him into bringing the college into disrepute in the public eye, then it is time that the Student Council exert its right and privilege to see that there will be no recurrence of the act."

Hill Forest Camp Chosen As Scene Of Annual Rollo

The sixth annual Rollo for the students in the Forestry Department will be held tomorrow at Camp Watts, Hill Forest, 16 miles north of Durham on the Roxboro road.

All members of the Forestry Department are expected to attend, and classes will be excused for forestry upperclassmen. The students will go to Hill Forest by bus which will leave Hicks Hall at 8, 9 and 12 o'clock.

The Forestry Department has sent invitations to State officials, the Duke University forestry faculty, and the State College faculty. During the Rollo many contests will be staged and much competition is predicted for them. Some of the events, which will be judged by the faculty of the Forestry Department, include wood chopping, tree felling, tobacco spitting for accuracy and distance, fire building, and flapjack flipping.

Midnight Painting of Library and Other State Buildings Leads To Investigation By Officials; Sentries Relate Conflicting Stories; State Men Refrain From Retaliation Before Game, But Run Wild After 20-0 Victory

The past week-end, literally packed with excitement and thrills beginning with the painting episode last Friday morning and closing with the wild-eyed demonstration which followed the victory over Wake Forest, will long be remembered by State College students and faculty members.

Despite numerous military-stud students who braved the chill dawn to patrol the campus last Friday morning in order to prevent a recurrence of the so-called "encounter" of last Saturday night. Due to the flexibility of the rules of the student government, the Council will meet tonight at 6:30 in a closed session to formulate plans to present to the students that will show the exact stand the Council will take in future legislation on student actions.

Identities Unknown

College officials, both here and at Wake Forest, endeavored to determine the identity of the freelance painters, but these efforts were greatly hampered by the conflicting stories related by the sentries. It was deemed advisable by both institutions that the matter might best be dropped.

The spirited feeling between the two bitter gridiron rivals broke out again Saturday night, however, when, following a madcap football game marred by frequent penalties, hundreds of frenzied spectators leaped from the stands and stormed upon the field. When the smoke of battle had cleared and the melee was finally broken up by the police, one Wake Forest student had to be rushed to the hospital, several participants were cooling their heels in the local jail, and a number of others nursed cuts and bruises.

The sixth annual Rollo for the students in the Forestry Department will be held tomorrow at Camp Watts, Hill Forest, 16 miles north of Durham on the Roxboro road. All members of the Forestry Department are expected to attend, and classes will be excused for forestry upperclassmen. The students will go to Hill Forest by bus which will leave Hicks Hall at 8, 9 and 12 o'clock.

The Forestry Department has sent invitations to State officials, the Duke University forestry faculty, and the State College faculty. During the Rollo many contests will be staged and much competition is predicted for them. Some of the events, which will be judged by the faculty of the Forestry Department, include wood chopping, tree felling, tobacco spitting for accuracy and distance, fire building, and flapjack flipping.

The winning class in these contests will have their names carved on the Forestry Club plaque, which was completed last year by George Smith. The events will start in the afternoon and continue throughout the evening. The Forestry Club will be the host at the evening meal, and officials of the club predicted that there would be about two hundred students attending this annual affair.

Pack Gallops Into New England To Attack Boston College

Tomorrow's Battle Expected To Extend Wolfpack To Limit

Newtonmen Expected to Have Tough Going With Gil Doble's Eagles; Techs Will Have Complete Strength for the Game.

"They are the toughest team, next to Carolina, that we've been called upon to play thus far. They are the same team as last year, and are three deep with reserves. They have a fine offense, mix their plays well, and ran them well."

This did Bob Warren, State's backfield coach, give his opinion of Boston College, the Wolfpack's next opponent. Warren saw Boston play against Detroit University.

State and Boston met last year, with Boston coming out on top 7-3. Charlie Gadd kicked the field goal for State.

Outstanding on Boston's team are Leo Logan, soph. center; Tony Di Natali, outstanding Eastern back and kicker; Horsfall, blocking back; and Bismark and Guinot, running backs.

Although Boston lost to Detroit University last week, they outplayed the winning team. Detroit scored once on an intercepted pass, and the second time by virtue of two passes, the only two they completed during the game.

Boston completely outtraded their opponents, and the game closed with them on Detroit's four-yard line.

Gil Doble's boys use the single wing-back formation with an unbalanced line.

State's team has been constantly improving as the season has progressed, as its increasingly high scores will testify. Most of the week's scrimmage was spent with the varsity practicing against the B team which used Boston plays.

The team will leave Durham Thursday evening at nine, and will arrive in Boston Friday afternoon at three. In the evening they will go through a light workout on Alumni Field, Boston College's stadium.

State's starting line-up will probably consist of: Sullivan and Tutum, ends; Hines and Helms, tackles; Brownie and Robinson, guards; Mark, center; and Rooney, Bertinaki, Sands and Lester in the backfield.

Gil Doble, Boston coach, and Doc Newton are trying to outman each other, while Doc says Boston is a powerful team and should bounce back after losing to Detroit. Doble says State is one of the outstanding teams in the South, as its defeats of Davidson, V.P.I., and Wake Forest show.

Expert opinion is divided among football forecasters as to the outcome of the game, but State has a slight edge because of the showing it has made in the last few weeks.

The Eagles' line and backfield slightly overweighs the Wolves. Consequently, State is expected to resort to the air-ways in an effort to counter-balance this advantage held by Boston College.

A win over Boston College will place State in the ranks of the leading colleges in the country.

Sports Glimpses

by Bob Blackwood

Thank the stars that we don't play Wake Forest every week-end. . . . It isn't so much the game itself but more the pregame and aftergame activity between the students of both institutions. . . . The battle between the two teams was as rough as any viewed around these parts in recent years, as could be seen by the frequent penalties. . . . In fact, the nervous activities at the hands of the officials ruined the game for both elevens. . . . State's first quarter play was disappointing to me; they just couldn't get their act back working. . . . The Deacon system quite puzzling. . . . The big Wolves started galloping in the second period and after that, the game was never in doubt. . . . The most outstanding feature of the Newtonmen last Saturday was Rooney's kicking. He has improved 100% since the beginning of the season and really got off some nice boots against the Deacs. . . . The Wolfpack had definite orders to use only a handful of plays in the game, as there were four Boston College accounts in the stands covering the game. . . . The scouts sure got an eyeful watching Bertinaki do his stuff. . . . The Pack will meet one of the strongest teams in the East tomorrow when they tangle with the Eagles from Boston College. . . . The pre-season dope in Boston was to the effect that Gil Doble was the proved possessor of the best material in New England and the scribes were predicting great things for the team. . . . They started out well, winning their first two, but then they tied one with Pop Warner's Temple outfit, and last Saturday found them going down to defeat before a powerful Detroit U. eleven. . . . The Eagles will have it hard to predict. . . . Davidson will give Furman the battle of their lives, and watch out for a Wildcat victory. One break and the Cats will end up on the long end of the score. . . . Wake Forest will be a soft touch for the revamped Clemson Tigers which clawed the South Carolina Gamecocks to shreds last week. . . . I predict a 25-0 Clemson win. . . . Coach Walker's freshman

STATE HAMMERS DEMON DEACONS DOWN TO DEFEAT

Wolfpack Starts Slowly But Gains Momentum in Second Quarter, Scoring First of Three Touchdowns; Bertinaki and Coon Star.

The Wolves of State bowled last Saturday night, after beating Wake Forest for the first time in two years. The game was all State's, Wake Forest having a pitiful defense, and very little offense. In scoring 20 points, while holding the Deacs scoreless, Coach Newton's boys revenged themselves for their previous setbacks at the hands of Wake Forest.

The Pack dominated the game in every field, gaining 295 yards on the ground to the Deacons' 175, averaging 40 yards in punting as compared with 20 for Wake Forest, and completing about 40 per cent more passes.

The game was featured by numerous penalties, the referee gaining more yards than either team. There was a grand total of 225 yards lost thru broken regulations. State losing 135 and Wake Forest 90.

An usual Ed Bertinaki dominated play, scoring two touchdowns and throwing a pass for the third one. He scored the first touchdown on a 20 yard run in the second period with Cecil Brownie, ace linebacker, converting; the second tally resulted from a 37 yard run in the fourth quarter.

The Deacons were within scoring distance only once, and that in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter when they reached State's five-yard marker. However, an intercepted pass by Rooney spelt fish to their scoring hopes.

In the first period, the ball remained in State's possession most of the time, but the Pack was unable to score. However, in the second quarter State began to click. Rooney kicked and Tutum recovered. Murphy picked up two yards, and on the next play Bertinaki slipped through for 20 yards and a touchdown. Cecil Brownie converted.

In the third period Bertinaki tossed a 14-yard pass to Rooney, who ran 10 yards for the score, and crossed the line standing up. The fourth quarter saw Lester recover a fumble on the Deacs own 37. On a splinter, Rooney to Bertinaki, Ed scored State's third and last touchdown of the game. Rooney converted.

STATE HARRIERS LOSE CLOSE MEET

The State harriers traveled to Duke last Saturday and met the Blue Devils on their own course, losing the meet by a 23-32 count. Paced by Hunter who finished first, Buddy was born in Oak Hill, West Virginia, 21 years ago. He grew up there and later moved to Princeton, West Virginia, where he attended high school. He played two years of football there before he graduated. George's brother, D. K. Fry, graduated from State in '33, and he saw to it that "Buddy" picked his own alma mater for a place to get his final step toward an education. George enrolled here in the Tuttle School in 1934. He played freshman football his first year, but was inactive during the fall of his second year. Last season Fry played regular tackle position and was second only to Mac Carr in the total time played for the season, accumulating 425 minutes of game time. This year he is still playing a fine brand of ball on the varsity. He is a member of the Phi Psi, honorary textile fraternity, a member of the Monogram Club, and on the Athletic Council. Fry is also captain of Company D.

'MURAL MUSINGS

by BOB COLEMAN, JR.

Looking over the intramural sport events of the past week we find the wrestling preliminaries taking the front. Plenty of excitement, fan falls, and good wrestling was provided by both the dormitory and the fraternity grapplers. Complete results can be found at the end of this column. The dormitory semi-finals will be held Wednesday night at seven in the gym, and the fraternity semi-finals come off at the same place and time Thursday night.

Looking over the football results we find 1st and Basecamp South, led by Murray and Davidson, staying in the win column by defeating 4th dormitory 13-0, and getting a forfeit from 6th dormitory. Third 1911 sewed up their game with 1st Watauga in the first quarter by virtue of a pass from Calton to Snelick.

The ALT's came from behind a 6-0 lead in the last minute of their game with the Kappa Sigs to win 3-6. Camel had blocked an ALT punt in the first quarter and covered it behind the goal line for the Kappa Sig score. Late in the last quarter the ALT's had punted to deep Kappa Sig territory. The Kappa Sigs had failed to gain on three tries. Koolha went back to the kicking position but the ball was centered over his head and before he could recover the ball and run, he was caught on the seven-yard line where it became the ALT's ball. Then, with less than a minute to play Kugler took the ball over for the score. The extra point came on a pass from Kugler to Warren. The ALT's kicked off. The Kappa Sigs tried a pass, which was knocked down. On the next play Means was caught behind his own goal for the final two points of the game.

The football schedule for the coming week shows two games

Big Five Elevens Meet Tough Foes

State's Game With Boston College and Carolina's Game With Fordham Rams Top Tomorrow's Card.

Swinging into mid-season form, the Big Five elevens will be busy tomorrow playing out-of-State teams.

State's Wolfpack takes to the trails and meets Boston College in the Bean City in what promises to be a great battle. The Eagles have won the two previous games of the series and are being picked as favorites over the ram-paging Wolves in the third.

Fordham will invade Chapel Hill to meet Ray Wolf's strong eleven. Fordham will bring down a veteran team and one which has already faced some of the toughest teams in the country. Carolina, on the other hand has defeated New York U. and Tulane and has shown a strong offense in every game excepting its first.

Duke University has a breather after its series of hard-fought wins when they meet Washington and Lee's weak eleven in Richmond.

Davidson will be out to revenge a one point Furman loss from last year when they meet the Bull Dogs at Davidson tomorrow. The Wildcats have discovered a new back in Red Miller, 206-pound fullback and should have a much stronger team on the field than they have had all year.

Wake Forest's Demon Deacons travel to Clemson to engage the Tigers. The Deacons will be minus the services of Eastler who injured his eye in the State game last Saturday.

which will probably decide the bracket championships. The first of these games is Monday when the SPE's play the Delta Sigs. Both teams show two wins and no losses. The SPE's have a slight edge when scores are compared, but I believe the Delta Sigs are fast enough to break up the SPE attack. The nod goes to the Delta Sigs.

The other undefeated, untied teams engaging each other are the Pi Kappa Phi's and the Sigma Nu's. The Sigma Nu's have 26 points to their opponents 0, while the Pi Kappa Phi's have only 6 points to the opponents 0, and one forfeit.

Frosh Pay Visit To Chapel Hill; Meet Tar Babies

Nig Waller Takes Vastly Improved Yearling Team To the Hill This Afternoon In An Attempt To Repeat Last Year's Win

With its three game series with the B Team completed, the N. C. State Freshman football team will return to its regularly scheduled games this afternoon and are guests of the Carolina Frosh in Chapel Hill.

The Techlets have lost the only game they have played on this season's schedule 24-7 to Belmont Abbey. The Abbey boys, with a much improved outfit over that of last year, had considerable trouble with the Frosh—proving that the Wolflets aren't going to be easy meat for any team this year.

Coach Nig Waller has taken the pessimists' side on this question—he predicts that his boys will play their toughest game today when they meet the Tar Babies. He also says that the score will be "slight-ly" in favor of the lads from the Hill.

There will be a lot of confidence put in Quarterback Will Smith and Halfback Charlie Lannon tomorrow. Smith and Lannon have been the pace setters among the Techlets' backs. Joe Cathy and Everette Carter will be the mainstays in the line.

Probable starters for the Techlets are: Ends—Cathy and Parker; tackles—McCary and Williams; guards—McIver and Polley; center—Carter; backs—Smith, Lannon, Frye, Shaopou.

COLLEGE FORUM DEBATES BLACK TUESDAY NIGHT

The State College Forum of Public Opinion will discuss the question, "Resolved that Justice Black of the U. S. Supreme Court should resign immediately," at seven o'clock, Tuesday night, November 2, in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium.

Because of the unusual interest in the Justice Black situation the question of a boycott against Japanese goods, originally scheduled for next Tuesday, has been postponed until the third week in November.

Following the presentation of the prepared speeches, there will be a thirty-minute rebuttal and discussion period in which any member of the student body or faculty may participate.

The affirmative side in the prepared speeches will be represented by H. R. McSwain and W. F. Latham, the team captains, and by R. D. Shumate, M. E. Taylor, W. J. Perry, H. E. Jennings, E. W. Byrd, W. D. Linkhaw, S. R. Williams, and C. K. Watkins.

The negative side, captained by Harold Zekaria and W. H. Retter, will be represented by J. T. Frye, R. B. Reeves, T. R. Triplett, B. L. Overby, W. L. Jones, M. H. Lee, E. H. Cawthorn, and E. A. Fitzmaurice.

Alpha Zeta Picks Eight

Initiation of the eight new members elected last Tuesday to Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, will begin Monday with an informal initiation, and be climaxed the following Sunday with the formal ceremonies, according to L. N. Hall, president of the fraternity.

Membership in Alpha Zeta is one of the highest honors that an Ag student may attain, members being chosen on a basis of their scholastic average from the upper two-fifths of the Junior and Senior classes. Other deciding factors in the selection of members are character, leadership, ability, and participation in extracurricular activities.

Beginning Monday each candidate will wear a farm costume which will consist of overalls, straw hat and red bandanna handkerchief, and each will carry some agricultural implement.

The new members are as follows—Seniors: J. H. Enloe, H. G. Snipes, W. W. McPherson, F. A. Hobbs and J. W. Jarrior. Juniors: F. J. Gibson, J. C. Pierce and J. F. Webb.

Grid-o-Graph

The State College Grid-o-Graph, which was operated for the Farm game, will be run again tomorrow, so that students who are unable to make the trip to Boston may see the State-Boston College game reenacted play by play.

The kickoff will be shown on the Grid-o-Graph at 2:30. Students will be admitted upon presentation of their registration cards, but there will be a charge of twenty-five cents for outsiders.

Faculty Club Plans Farce

Dr. E. E. Randolph, head of the Chemical Engineering Department here, will become the blushing bride of R. Baker Wynne, of the English Department tonight in the gymnasium, an affair which promises to be one of the most colorful ceremonies of the season.

The wedding, which is sponsored by the Faculty Club here, will be attended by the families of the club's members.

The officiating pastor tonight will be Professor Stanley Ballenger, and the part of the groom's jilted lover will be taken by a Miss Jones, reported to be one of the Jones sisters. Blushing Romeo Lefort will be little sister to the bride. A frolic will precede the comedy skit.

Last night the Faculty Club met in its regular weekly meeting and elected officers for the coming year. Johnnie Miller will succeed Professor A. H. Grimshaw as president of the organization, D. B. Thomas was elected vice president succeeding Professor James Fontaine, and Dr. R. C. Bullock was voted the job of secretary and treasurer succeeding Professor C. B. "Bridgroom" Schulerberger.

Attempts were made to elect old officers but Professor Grimshaw remarked in the words of C. Coolidge, "I do not choose to run."

EDITOR LANE SAYS WAIT; WATAUGAN WILL BE OUT

Reporter Attempts Interview With Wataugan King But Is Greeted With Silence

Virgil Lane won't talk. The first issue of the Wataugan must certainly have possibilities of being a humdinger, for a review of the forth-coming issue is closed to this press.

This reporter was sent to interview Lane about the coming issue of his smile-manufacturing magazine, and was met with a flat "No, you can't see the dummy copy of Wataugan. No, we won't tell you anything about the style or formation of the football issue."

So I guess we are going to have to wait until the "Wataugan" is out to see what it's all about, for the only information that we obtained was to the effect that we are sure to have a Wataugan, and it will quite likely be only a week or two late.

After having secured this scoop, this reporter departed, having noticed that "I want to be alone" look on Editor Lane's radiant face.

The Forestry Department at State was organized by Dr. Hoffmann, present director of the school here, upon his arrival here from Pennsylvania State College in 1929, where he had been assistant director of the forestry school for five years.

The next meeting of the class is scheduled for November 23.

team will tackle the Tar Babies this afternoon at Chapel Hill.

The first year men have come a long way since the beginning of the season and should give their Carolina rivals a tough scrap.

Another feature on the sports card of the week will be the high school game between Raleigh and Steubenville, Ohio, to be played tonight in Riddick Stadium.

The Steubenville team is coached by John Stanko, State, '35, who was an outstanding guard on several Tech elevens.

Here's one vote against night football. . . . It seems reasonable to play early season games under the arcs because of the intense heat, but not so with later battles.

The small attendance at the last three night games in which the Pack has engaged is proof enough to me that fans don't appreciate them. . . . We may have to buck Carolina and Duke games to play ours in the afternoon but I'll wager that we will draw more fans than if we wait to play them at night. . . . The night affairs haven't the glamor or the color of an afternoon tilt and they are frequented by more "drunks" — due perhaps to the cold night winds, plus a desire to keep warm.
