Blue Key Picks 15 Outstanding Upperclassman

National Honorary Society Selects Cam- pus Leaders; Initia- tion Scheduled for First of Next Term

Fifteen outstanding seniors and juniors were selected for membership in Blue Key, national honorary leadership fraternity, at a meeting of the society in the Y.M.C.A. last Friday night.

"In selecting these men for membership in Blue Key we have attempted to choose those who are outstanding in campus activities and who are recognized as campus leaders. With a student body of 2,000 men under consideration their selection proved to be a difficult assignment," said Russell Burcham, president of Blue Key.

Those elected are: Seniors, E. J. Angelo, of Winston-Salem, president of Tau Beta Pi; E. A. Dees, of Concord, captain of the basketball team; G. V. Hanna, Jr., of Mooresville, president of Phi Psi; C. L. Moseley, Jr., of Raleigh, head cheerleader; J. L. Murray, of Newton, vice president of Golden Chain; Stephen Saller, of East Orange, N. J., editor of THE TECHNICIAN; and A. H. Sallenger, of Florence, S. C., president of the Interfraternity Council.

Juniors: E. E. Durham, of Kernersville, member of the Student Government; C. A. Hunter, of Charlotte, captain of the wrestling team; Ernest Koella, of Rockford, Tenn., president of 80 and 8; H. D. Means, of Concord, vice president of Phi Eta Sigma; J. A. Mitchner, of Youngville, president of the junior class; J. Y. Pharr, Jr., of Concord, member of 30 and 3; F. P. Sabol, of Campbell, Ohio, member of Keramos; and Troy D. Williams, member of 30 and 3.

These men take part not only in the activities listed following their names, but in many others in addition to those mentioned. The initiation of new members will probably take place early in the second term, but the exact date has not been decided upon at this time.

Juniors Will Meet To Discuss Dance

Plans For Annual Junior-Senior Prom to be Made Monday; Juniors Will be Excused From Drill to Attend Meeting

The last meeting of the junior class for this term will be held Monday, December 5, in Pullen Hall at 12 o'clock. President Jim Mitchner announced that all juniors in military will be excused from drill at that time in order that a full attendance may be had. The forthcoming annual Junior-Senior Prom will be the principle topic of discussion at the meeting. Those present will vote on the type of dance to be given and whether or not the dance is to be given exclusively for juniors and seniors. Some suggestions that the class give their dance in conjunction with a fraternity have also been received. In this way the fraternity would give their dance on Friday night. Sunday class dance would be given on Saturday night with one band engaged to play for both occasions.

Mitchner also stated that a method of dues collection would also be discussed at that time.

Glee Club Series Opened On Sunday

Series of Programs Sponsored by Mu Beta Psi; Three Soloists Featured on Initial Program

The first in a series of programs was given by the State College Glee Club in Pullen Hall last Sunday the first full program of the Glee Club for the year. The group has appeared several times before in connection with campus and community affairs.

The Glee Club, under the direction of C. D. Kutachinski, sang several compositions, and presented to a Raleigh audience for the first time "Song of the Winds," a recent composition by Frederick S. Smith, now a Raleigh resident.

Soloists on the program were Roger Avery, Jr., C. D. Sickerott, and Curtis Craver, Jr.

The Glee Club quartet, composed of Douglas Allison, E. F. Smith, John Truitt, and Robert Loss gave two special numbers on the program.

Sunday's concert was the first in a series to be sponsored by Mu Beta Psi, honorary musical fraternity.

Board Approves Proposed Plans For Print Shop

Plant May be Established by Next September; to Make Final Plans at Once

Establishment of a printing plant here at State College moved nearer reality last Friday when the Publications Board adopted recommendations of a special committee appointed to study the feasibility of the plan.

The committee recommended that a print shop be established by next September 1, with equipment adequate to handle all of the college's printing, including publications other than the Agromech.

"The proposed plant will not accept work from outside the college nor is it interested in turning out finished printers," stated Frank H. Jeter, chairman of the Publications Board.

The committee also proposed that an 11-man board of control be set up to complete plans for the printing plant, and selection of these men is the next step.

The board will have three alumni elected by the Alumni Association, four student members from the Publications Board and four faculty members, including Colonel Harrelson, who was empowered to appoint the other three.

Dean C. R. Lefort, a member of the committee, estimated the total cost of college and publications printing at more than $20,000 annually. The cost of the printing plant will approximate $20,000.

Parkinson To Attend Engineering Congress

Assistant Professor L. R. Parkinson of the Aeronautical Engineering Department at State College, will go to New York City, Dec. 10 for the Fifth Congress on Mechanical Engineering of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education. He will deliver a paper on "Cooperation Between School and Industry."

Prof. Parkinson recently returned from Chicago, where he attended the air transport meeting of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences. En route to Raleigh, he called at the Army Air Corps Experiment Base at Wright Field in Dayton, Ohio, to discuss the use of Army equipment in the State College laboratories and to assist in the placing of State College aeronautical graduates.

Exams and Gifts Prove Big Worry To Students

Frosh Elections To Climax Campaign

Final Balloting to Feature Weekly Meeting On Next Thursday

Freshman politicians are laying plans for a week of hectic voting, before the final balloting next Thursday afternoon ends one of the most hotly contested freshman class elections held in recent years.

The campaign moved closer to a climax yesterday when all but two aspirants for each office were eliminated. Before the vote, taken during regular freshman assembly, each candidate was introduced and allowed to say a few words.

The polls will be open in Pullen Hall from 12 to 1 o'clock next Thursday, December 8, for the final voting. Each freshman should cast his ballot for the class leaders at that time.

The eight remaining candidates who moved into the finals are:

For president, Jack Huckabee, School of Engineering; W. F. Lovell, School of Agriculture.

For vice president, Norwood A. Johnson, School of Agriculture; Ralph Shimer, School of Engineering.

For secretary-treasurer, W. D. Robbins, School of Agriculture; T. W. Lambe, School of Engineering.

For representative on the Student Council, J. M. Barr, School of Textiles; Jimmy Walker, School of Engineering.

Debaters Entered In Winthrop Meet

State Forensic Squad Defending Past Honors; McSwain and Zekaria, Last-Year Champions, Missing From Team

Nine members of the State College forensic team left Wednesday for Rock Hill, S. C., where they will take part in the annual Dixie Championship Debate Tournament sponsored by Winthrop College.

The contests began yesterday at noon and will end tomorrow. Over 400 debaters, representing 60 colleges and universities, are attending the current tournament.

The State College team, which has always managed to win a large share of first places at previous tournaments, will be seriously hampered this year through the loss of its two outstanding speakers, Horace McSwain and Harold Zekaria. Both men won numerous awards and medals in last year's contests.

Members of the team making the trip, accompanied by Debate Coach Edwin H. Paget, are: George Lippard, C. K. Watkins, H. B. Bell, H. B. Huberman, R. S. Smith, C. H. Kirkman, F. W. Woodruff and F. H. Price, Jr.

Dusty Books Come Off the Shelf and Dusty Pockets Get a Thorough Going-over

Football season is practically over; the year's football heroes have taken their places in the gridiron hall of fame; the Rose Bowl situation has been settled quite satisfactorily for our neighbors; the first snow of the winter has fallen; and November has come and gone; and this term is fastly approaching its limit. Yep! exams begin next week, and with them comes an avalanche of work upon us that we have been throwing aside all term for the "next week-end," but week-ends have come and gone and "that week-end" hasn't arrived yet.

Worral! Worral! Worral! What are we going to do? Take those nice, shiny, new books off the shelf, dust them off real good and take a few peeps into them? That would be much better than worrying over how much we have to study, because worrying over it is a much greater strain than studying and maybe our feeble, rusty mechanisms called minds can't stand that much strain.

Bitter and Sweet

Oh well, bitter usually precedes the sweet, and in this case the sweet happens to be in three weeks' holiday, and Christmas thrown in for our mental, moral and physical wrecked bodies to recuperate in. Maybe our worries aren't over yet though, 'cause with the coming of Christmas, one has to begin to think of the wherewithal to buy that "sweet little thing" an ever so small gift. If we take a census of the average State College boy's pockets, the situation is indeed serious. The contents: a bunch of keys, if he hasn't already lost them and depends upon his roommate to leave his keys over the door; a comb with half the teeth missing; a dirty handkerchief; a watch, if he is lucky, and that inevitable watch chain to twirl around his finger when he is standing in line at the cafeteria; two or three pennies—and reminders of the sales tax; a nickel or a dime, and maybe but very rarely, a quarter or half a dollar; and oh yes, of course, a pocketbook containing a registration card, a few scraps of paper with names, telephone numbers and addresses scribbled on them, a driver's license, a few membership cards, and possibly that liabilities picture, but the space labeled check and bills is usually quite empty. Ain't it awful? Whatcha gonna do? That is a problem that you will have to solve for yourself, 'cause us members of the staff are worrying like the deuce over the same thing.

Bill Says . . .

Santa Claus comes on the 25th, but that's three weeks off. Final exams are only one week off.

Bear down those last few days and fill that old brain with some real facts and formulas. Let's knock those exams silly. Do your part to help drive our rising scholastic average higher than ever before. . . But be sure it's your part!

A very merry Christmas and may your holidays be the happiest.

(Signed) Wm. McC. Bailey, President, Student Gov't.

State Judges Get Top Rating At Kansas City

Crop Judging Team Wins Second Place in Chicago Meet; Competed Against Nation-wide Men

Members of the State College crop judging team returned to the campus today with a huge gold cup won with first place honors at the national contest in Kansas City and with $100 and silver medals received as second place winners in the international contest at Chicago.

A Nebraska team barely kept the State College men from the first place at the Chicago meet, reported Dr. J. B. Cotner, coach of the North Carolina team. Nebraska placed second at the Kansas City meet, only 10 points below the State College team, which amassed a total of 4,128 points.

Representing North Carolina were J. F. Webb, Jr., H. F. Robinson and S. F. Dobson. C. L. James was alternate. All are studying field crops and plant breeding.

Webb was second high individual scorer at Chicago, his 1,387 points being only five points behind the top man's 1,392. Highest individual score ever made at the 14-year-old contest was set last year by Van Watson, Jr., who made 1,395 out of a possible 1,467 points for the State College team.

Robinson placed fifth and Dobson placed sixth in the Chicago contest. During the 14-year history of the competition, State College has won more first places for individuals and teams than any other college.

Bailey and Fanning To Join Conclave

Student Government Leaders Will Journey to Purdue University for National Convention

Bill Bailey and Walter Fanning, president and vice president of the student government, will represent N. C. State College at the annual convention of the National Student Federation of America, which is to be held during the Christmas holidays in Lafayette, Ind., at Purdue University.

The convention will bring together representatives from every college in the United States.

The conclave is for the purpose of discussing problems that face the various student governments throughout the nation. New ideas are brought to the attention of those in attendance, and efforts are made for the adoption of better methods of student government.

This year marks the first year that State has been represented by two students at the convention. Last year J. C. Frink, then president of the student government, made the trip alone.

In addition to Bailey and Fanning, Bill Aycock, president of N. C. State student government a few years back and now a resident of Greensboro, will attend the meeting.

The convention will extend from Wednesday, December 28, through Saturday, December 31.

Stallings Resigns Self-Help Duties

Secretary of NYA Employment to Take Graduate Work at Carolina; N. B. Watts, State Graduate, Will Fill Position

R. L. Stallings, self-help director of the State College since 1936, made public today his resignation from that office.

Mr. Stallings has held the post since his junior year at State, and has during that time assisted an average of over 300 students each year in finding part-time employment. He plans to take graduate work at Chapel Hill in Public Welfare Administration, and does not expect to return after finishing the course.

The resignation was accepted by the Y.M.C.A. Board to take effect January 1, 1939. At that time the post will be taken over by N. B. Watts, who is also a State graduate, and a resident of Raleigh. Mr. Watts was vice-president of the Y.M.C.A. during his senior year, and a self-help student during his entire college career. He will begin his duties tomorrow at the self-help office.

THE WINNER

A free trip to the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago this month has been won by Dan H. Purifoy, above, senior in animal production, for his winning essay on the marketing of meat, dairy and poultry products. Purifoy is an outstanding student in the School of Agriculture and is a member of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity.

The contest was sponsored by Swift & Company.

Fraternities Aid In Christmas Fund With $50 Donation

Interfraternity Council Guarantees $50 for Detention Home

In keeping with the spirit of Christmas, the State College Interfraternity Council is doing its part to bring a cheerful day to unfortunate children of Raleigh, who are members of a donation to the Wake County Detention Home.

Each member of all fraternities is contributing a dime toward a fund which will be given the Home, and the chapters will send their donations to the Interfraternity Council, which will supplement the amount raised to bring the total up to $50.00.

Unfortunately, the Detention Home, operated by Wake County, is used as a place where unfortunate children who have committed petty crimes are detained temporarily while waiting to be placed in a home or taken care of in some manner.

Two years ago the Council gave $50.00 to the Detention Home, and last year contributed to the Good-fellow's Club fund.

Fraternities are also conducting a drive to sell Christmas seals to members of their members, and different fraternities are preparing baskets to be sent to needy families.

The committee in charge of the donations consists of Art Raymond, chairman; Pierce Fleming, Curtis Todd and Ed Savarin. C. R. Lefort is chairman of the Junior League Committee.

"Y" Will Collect Discarded Clothes

Campaign to Secure Old Clothes for Needy Families Being Conducted by YMCA

Horace McSwain, president of the State College Y.M.C.A., announced yesterday that the "Y" will collect old clothes and money for the benefit of the Family Service program of the Raleigh Community Chest, as has been done in previous years.

Mr. King, secretary of the "Y," stated that last year the plan was enthusiastically received by the State College students and a considerable amount of wearable clothing and money was collected by the Y.M.C.A. and turned over to the Family Service.

King stated that all dormitories and fraternities will be visited by members of the Y.M.C.A. next Tuesday night, December 6, and that all contributions will be collected at that time.

This Week's Ho Hum!

In case there happens to be a few morose students interested, the second, and probably the last, issue of the "Watawgan" will be out next Tuesday, according to the fool order of garbage that has been accepted from the Publications Building.

Jake Swamp, campus Eeency No. 1, and business manager, when interviewed yesterday, apologized for the catastrophe, saying that if the students would call by the "Watawgan" office next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons, after 2 o'clock and relieve him of his miserable burden, he would not let it happen again.

Personally, we will stick to reading the "Woman's Home Companion."

Dodd Condemns Nazi Principles In Speech Here

Former German Ambassador Blasts Hitlerism in Stirring Address to Capacity Crowded Pullen Hall

Failure of the United States to enter the League of Nations immediately after the World War was blamed Wednesday night by Dr. William E. Dodd, former Ambassador to Germany, as one of the main reasons for Adolf Hitler's rise to supreme power in the Reich.

Speaking in Pullen Hall before an audience of 1,000 which listened attentively to a speech nearly two hours long, Dr. Dodd described how completely Hitler has mastered the German people and how he is carrying out his announced policy of eliminating persons of Jewish blood in the Fatherland.

The audience, including many Jews from Raleigh and other cities, laughed derisively when Dr. Dodd told how two life-size portraits of Hitler and Mussolini in the old Reichstag building bore the inscriptions, "Saviours of Modern Civilization." The speaker concluded a series of 500 paintings depicting Jews in every conceivable crime, Dr. Dodd related.

No Aid To Germany

Instead of a America holding aloof from the League after the World War, the former Ambassador declared, this country should have lent its influence wholeheartedly to international cooperation. The United States made no effort to aid Germany when it struggled under a democracy that collapsed with Hitler's rise to power, he stated.

"Why couldn't we have recognized the importance of the German people trying to govern themselves, from 1918 to 1933," Dr. Dodd asked. "Why couldn't we have made trade a little easier for them? Why couldn't we have made it easier for Germany to have paid her debts?"

The tense struggle against obstacles which seemed insurmountable set the stage for a dictator in Germany, Dr. Dodd declared.

Dr. Dodd also saw need for the revival of the Christian religion, which he said, "is in as much danger now as democracy is."

10 Bids Accepted To Phi Kappa Phi

The State College chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary fraternity, received notice of acceptance from eight seniors and two faculty members who were extended bids last week.

The new men are E. J. Smith, senior in chemical engineering; W. L. Carter, senior in textiles; Paul Thompson, senior in agriculture; David Colvin, senior in chemical engineering; R. B. Wood, senior in agriculture; E. J. Angelo, senior in electrical engineering, and L. C. Brooks, senior in electrical engineering. Faculty members accepting bids were Dr. A. A. Dixon and Dr. Ivan Shunk.

Christmas Seal Drive Underway

Students Selling Tuberculosis Stamps to Get 100 Per Cent Collection on Campus

Colleges and universities throughout the country are using their resources this month to help in the national fight against tuberculosis, and many students on this campus are volunteering their services to help. A student has been appointed in each dormitory to help sell the one-cent stamps, and each man is trying to get a hundred per cent collection from his dormitory. C. S. Harris is in charge of campus collections, and Mrs. E. H. Paget has charge of collections and sales in all the Raleigh colleges.

The money derived from the sale of stamps on this campus will go into a national fund for the fight against tuberculosis. Each student is urged to contribute as much as he can to help in the fight. The stamps which are sold are usually put on letters and packages sent during the holiday season.

If you wish to help in the sale of the stamps, send your donation to C. S. Harris, contact one of the students in the dormitories.

Our Best Wishes . . .

As the last issue of THE TECHNICIAN for this term goes to press, the staff wishes to take this opportunity to express its most sincere wishes for a Merry Christmas and a pleasant vacation to its readers and advertisers.

We have worked hard to present timely news to you in an interesting manner and hope that our efforts have met with your approval. Our staff is not composed of brilliant, finished writers, but of students who have scoured the campus for news and have done their best to compile it into a readable newspaper. We work with your interests uppermost in our minds.

So it is to you members of the growing State College Community and to you local merchants who have made the paper possible that we say, "May this holiday season be your happiest yet."

Hail, Wolfpack!

The entire student body extends its heartfelt appreciation to the 1938 Wolfpack—a fine football team and a splendid group of men.

True, they came out on the losing end of the scores in the majority of their games, but every opponent was met with a fighting spirit that does justice to the name, Wolfpack.

Playing a schedule of games as tough as that of any other school in the South, our boys gave their best. Who can ask more?

Week after week, they worked hard to achieve a goal, which seemed to elude them at every turn. Still they tried. Certainly that is the mark of a truly great team.

Bad luck and bad breaks haunted their footsteps, but they never gave up. Crippled in strategic points throughout the year, still the team gave out.

Therefore, to a great Red and White team—a team of real men—we say from the depths of our hearts, "Congratulations!"

HAIL, WOLFPACK! WE HONOR YOU!

Help Fight Tuberculosis

Students are being asked this week to buy tuberculosis stamps to help in the national fight against the dreaded disease. If every student on this campus would buy a dime's worth of the stamps, the money received would go a long way to help in the national campaign.

Tuberculosis is not a mysterious disease. Medical men know the cause and the cure for the disease, but they haven't the necessary funds with which to fight it.

Each student is asked to donate only ten cents for stamps. Surely we can spare this little bit for so worthy a cause. All we have to do is leave off desserts for a couple of meals to make up the necessary amount.

Watch Out For Thieves

The thieves are loose on the campus again. Only this week eighteen dollars was stolen out of South Dormitory, twelve dollars out of Watauga, and six dollars out of Fourth, and besides money, many meal books and other valuables were taken.

It is getting to the point where a man can't step out of his room without finding half of his belongings gone when he returns. To go to the shower and leave your room open is a welcome invitation to the common thief, and it seems that we are blessed with more than our share of these.

With a student body of two thousand, it is natural that we get a few men whose honor is a little on the shady side. We must guard against these men, and when we catch them at their nefarious work, report them to the proper authorities and rid our campus of them immediately. Don't have any sympathy for the thief who is trying to loot your room and take away your possessions. If you catch one in your room, report him and let's get rid of him. Your room is your home while you are in college, and no one has the privilege to enter your room without your invitation or permission.

When you leave your room, regardless of how long you are to be gone, lock your door and take the keys with you. Many boys lock their rooms and put the key over the door, where it is easily accessible to the room thief. This is a bad policy, and often leads to looted rooms.—R. V. M.

Quiet Hour . . .

The time of year has arrived when most of the students here at State have to do some serious studying. Every night except two out of the week, the powerhouse whistle signals quiet hour, and when that whistle blows, the dormitories should be without any unnecessary noises. But they are not.

There are some students that seem to save their energy until just before exams to raise their particular kind of racket in the dormitories. There is no excuse for this noise, and those few students that are the creators of the racket should be more considerate of their fellow students than to hinder them in an already difficult job, and may be the cause of some of us failing out.

Let us all co-operate and make this the most quiet pre-exam and exam period in the history of the dormitories.P.G.

YOUR ROVING REPORTER

By ARNOLD KROCHMAL

The Question: What do you intend to do during the Christmas vacation?

The People: Residents of Seventh Dormitory.

T. E. Hendren, Ag. Education, '39, Hiddente, N. C.

"This year I expect to spend a good part of my time during the vacation preparing material with which to practice teaching next term. However, I hope to have plenty of time in which to eat some good food, catch up on my sleep, and to go hunting. I almost forgot to mention a few dates, but that's really unimportant."

Frank Sabol, Ceramic Engineering, '39, Youngstown, Ohio:

"I plan to spend at least five or six days of the vacation in Raleigh, doing work in the college library on my thesis. I hope to go home for at least a week and forget all about school and recapture some of my studying. I expect to go sleigh riding and ice-skating every day the weather permits. Then to Charlotte to spend a few days with my roommate, to recuperate."

A. H. Pierce, Textiles, '42, Montreal, Canada:

"I do not intend to return home during the Christmas recess. I shall probably remain in Raleigh until after Christmas, and then I intend to visit relatives in the North between Christmas and the beginning of the new term. I'm hoping awfully hard that the heat is left on in Seventh Dorm during the vacation."

F. Davidson, Engineer, '42, Bacon, New York:

"I expect to visit Oberlin, Ohio, to see my girl who goes to school at Oberlin College. Then on to New York, and eventually to New York City to visit some of the theatres and hit some of the high spots. I hope to catch up a little on my ice-skating. In my spare time I hope to catch up on my sleep, so that I can come back and make some good grades."

M. M. Karlman, Forestry, '40, Newark, New Jersey:

"First night, Hold hands with my girl; Second night, Hold hands with my girl; And so on till the end of the vacation."

Lester J. Skowronik, Engineer, '40, New York City:

"One of the things I intend doing is to renew old acquaintances, mostly with those of the opposite sex—I intend going to some hockey games to see some good slugging and free-for-alls, and intend seeing my former Alma Mater, NYU, play basketball. Maybe I'll marry the sweetest girl in New York."

LOOKING 'ROUND

By "8000"

Everybody worries about little Ebo Frink. He runs around so much that girls take turns worrying about him, three weeks at a time. By the time that all of his girls have finished worrying about him, he'll be an old man.

Could the story be true that "Willie" Linkhaw staged a one-man celebration, in view of the fact that Christmas is only a few days off? Not that this made any difference, but he did have to find some reason, didn't he?

Bill Welfare was going with some girl who lives in a neighboring town, and he had her up for the recent dances. After the dances were over, the girl's mother forbade Bill to come back visiting the little miss. What's wrong, Bill?

Last week-end Henry "School-boy" Rowe went home to spend a couple of days, and during that period he had a date with some girl from Meredith who lives near his home. Since he has returned to school he has spent all of his spare time in the library reading the book, "Casanova."

Ed "Ty" Coon may be a terror on the grid field, but when it comes to society, he is a real woman killer. One of the most graceful persons you have ever seen on a dance floor, Ed has to keep a bodyguard around to keep the girls off. More power to you, Coon.

Has Tom Rowland found a sudden interest in Peace College? No, you're wrong. He has found a sudden interest in a person that lives near the college, and attends the college, but I can assure you the interest is not for the college.

Jake Marsh is going to change his name to Jake Swamp. The reason: He floods The Watauga with cheap advertisement, you bog down trying to read the old jokes, you mire up in the polemical stories, and you have to trudge over to the wastebasket to throw the thing away. Not to mention the foul and stagnant odor which would make a dirty old swamp smell like a bunch of roses. Would you change your name, if you were he?

month in Pittsburgh as the singing sensation of the year. Many big time band leaders were stumbling over one another to get her autograph on the dotted line, but it looks like Jan Garber came out with the goods. . . . The above-mentioned torch-singers may be tops, but for a real number one pusher I would pin the blue ribbon on America's Jitterbug, Betty Hunt, who really gets off some hot ones with the Vincent Lopez aggregation. . . . Wonder what happened to the Andrews Sisters after the public had enough of their version of "Bei Mir Bist Du Schoen"? . . . Any of you who are lucky enough to own a phonograph pickup might be interested to know that some of the old records made by Dixie Bebeck and Louis Armstrong have been reissued.

NOTICE: There will be a meeting of the business staff of the "Technician" on Monday, December 5, at 7 o'clock in the Publications Building. All members are urged to attend. Mort Brown, Bus. Mgr.

GLEANINGS

By THE STAFF

Thinking Out Loud: The gent that made the remark about "Time Flies," must have really known what he was talking about. A glance at that calendar on your wall will convince you of the fact that there are only five more cramming days left until exams. . . . Worried seniors realizing that they are that much closer to facing the cold, cruel world. . . . All of us looking forward to a well-earned vacation. . . . With the thermometer climbing back up to its normal levels, the few patches of snow on the ground are all that keep last week's storm from seeming like a dream. . . . The usual last-minute cramming that accompanies exam time. . . . If we did half as much work all term as we do in the last week or two, there wouldn't be enough A's to go around.

Our best congratulations to Duke on their long-awaited bid to the New Years Day classic. . . . With the Blue Devils going to the Rose Bowl and Carnegie Tech to the Sugar Bowl, it seems as though State would be in line for some sort of an honor, having given both teams a mighty busy afternoon. . . . Speaking of the Rose Bowl, we hear that the Chesterfield cigarette people are going to run a special train to the coast for Duke students and alumni, charging only $18 for the round-trip (Maybe there is some advantage in going to Duke after all).

Dick (Oorkrew) East will middle-able it with one of the local pretties during the holidays. . . . Our best birthday wishes to Nancy Steele, one of the sweller campus personalities. . . . Frank Gabol, squiring a Meredith charmer on a window-shopping tour the other afternoon. . . . That letter George Boswell got from his hometown heartbeat telling him not to let studying interfere with his college education. . . . Handsome John Sevin walking into the California Fruit Store sporting a pair of white flannels. . . . Add interesting conversationalists, Charlie Begg.

The Wolfpack is really taking to the air during the holidays, what with Art Rooney, Mickey Sullivan, Bobbie Sabolyk, Tony De Yesso and several others planning to charter an Eastern Airliner for the trip home. . . . George (Chick) Chacona wandering around the St. Mary's campus and serenading the eager listeners with a not-bad rendition of "All Ashore". . . . Our best wishes to Larry (Pretty Boy) Smith who will soon be traveling Hollywood way to see his one and only, an actress whose name he won't divulge. . . . Thinking what a great big-time lawyer Frank Shields would make. . . . "Ebo" Frink in the "Agroneco" office ordering pictures by the dozen to make the girls happy.

Jim (Say It Isn't So) Murray trying to patch up a lover's quarrel via the telephone and getting in deeper by the minute. . . . The power house must be short of steam according to the abbreviated blasts from the college whistle we've been getting lately. . . . Wonder if the cute little blond working in the Dean of Students' office could have anything to do with its recent popularity. . . . My vote for the Mid-winters' band goes to versatile Larry Clinton and his scintillating folk.

Bill Aldridge, the "Technician's" super salesman. . . . The foul odor arising from the Publications Building these days can mean only one thing. . . . another "Watauga" is on its way (don't say we didn't warn you). . . . Bunny Hines and a Greensboro lovely are at the hand-holding stage. . . . ditto Russell Burcham. . . . Mort (Howard) Brown has been receiving fan mail from a little country girl who saw his picture in a local paper.

Already worrying about having to be back here for registration on January 2. . . . Sounds like a rather quiet New Years Eve for some of us. . . . It would probably be a good thing for people like Jake Marsh and Ed Britz, though. . . . STEVE SAILER.

All senior military pictures for the current Agromeck will be taken this afternoon in the Agromeck office from 2 until 6 o'clock, according to Editor J. Abner Worrell. He also asked that all cadets wear white shirts along with the regulation uniform.

"All class copy must be in by Christmas," Worrell stated, "and in order to make this possible every proof must be checked. To date, there are more than 400 proofs that have not been checked."

The office of the business manager will be open every afternoon except Saturday for this purpose.

Four scholarship awards by the United Air Lines are being offered by the Boeing School of Aeronautics, Oakland, California, to undergraduates in U. S. and Canadian colleges.

Electrical Society To Initiate Eight

Eta Kappa Nu, National Honor Fraternity, to Hold Final Initiation Tonight

The State College chapter of Eta Kappa Nu, national honorary fraternity for electrical engineers, will initiate eight outstanding upperclassmen tomorrow night.

Following the initiation, the fraternity will hold a banquet at which Paul Vecker of the Carolina Power and Light Co., will speak on "The Industrial Development of the South with Specific Reference to the Carolinas." Andy Monroe, State College alumnus with the utility firm, also will be a guest.

Two of the initiates, A. H. Salinger of Florence, S. C., and J. R. Shearson of Bunn, are seniors. Juniors in the group are T. R. Frazier, Jr., of Warrenton; R. V. Lamb, of Elizabeth City; G. C. Mahler, of Wilmington; I. M. Vann, Jr., of Clinton; J. W. Wilkinson, of Burnside, Ky., and G. L. Yingling, Jr., of Salisbury.

Eta Kappa Nu is 15 years old. Membership in the fraternity is one of the highest honors that students in electrical engineering can attain. Purposes of the organization are to promote the interests of the electrical engineering department and the college, and to give recognition to juniors and seniors who have shown themselves to be outstanding members of their classes.

THEY'RE ALL DRESSED UP

As a result of voluntary donations by cadets in the State College ROTC regiment, the drum and bugle corps is now attired in snappy new uniforms.

The colorful suits are modeled above by Lieut. S. C. Holmes and Sgt. Ed Young.

The new dress includes a bright-red coat with white trimmings, white overseas cap with State College insignia in red, white leggings and light gray trousers. College classes of individual members are indicated by white sleeve stripes.

Bids For New Barns To Be Let Tuesday

Bids for the construction of a new dairy house for State College will be opened on December 6. It was announced this week by Professor Ross Shumaker of the Department of Architecture.

Of semi-fire proof construction, the building will be located on the western edge of the Camp Folk prison site recently acquired by the college. The estimated cost of the building is $10,000. Two dairy barns and a manager's residence will also be constructed on the site under terms of a PWA grant to the college.

Civils See Pictures

Pictures of the State-Alabama football game were shown at a joint meeting of the A.G.C. and the A.S.C.E. last Tuesday night in the C.E. building.

The pictures were secured through the efforts of Dick Payne, and a large audience was present to see the movies.

This was the last meeting that the A.G.C. will have this term, but plans are already under way to begin work on the Engineer's Fair just as soon as the next term gets under way.

NEW-COMER

A newcomer to the State College faculty this fall is C. Dalton Swaffler, above, instructor in the animal husbandry department and specialist in charge of meats. He succeeded R. E. Nance.

Prof. Swaffler was graduated last June from Oklahoma A. and M. College with the Bachelor of Science degree in animal husbandry. He was a member of the livestock judging team. On the Swaffler farm at Warner, Okla., where the new instructor grew up, a well-balanced program of grain and livestock farming is featured. In addition to his teaching duties at State College, Prof. Swaffler also will engage in research.

Seniors Will Discuss Gift At Next Meeting

The senior class will hold its last meeting of the term on Thursday, December 8, in Fulton Hall at 12 o'clock. President Joe Frye announced early this week.

The purpose of this meeting will be to discuss the various suggestions for the class gift and select the one meeting the approval of the group. The gift committee decided at its meeting last week, that the seniors present to the college either a set of lights for the base of the Memorial Tower, an archway over the entrance to the college grounds or a steel door for the tower.

Plans for the method of collection for the gift will also be taken up at this meeting.

Unbeaten Duke Accepts Bid To Rose Bowl

Blue Devils Get Coveted Invitation After Defeating Pittsburg;

In the old days they used to just pick 'em and play 'em when it came of Rose Bowl, Sugar Bowl and any other Bowl game you can think of. Now they pick them and the sports writers, coaches, and cigar store quarterbacks pick 'em apart.

Selection of Duke University as the opponent of the University of Southern California in the annual Tournament of Roses drew caustic criticism from sports writers all over the West Coast.

The general theme was that while Duke boasted a better record, particularly as a defensive club, the general public clamor was for the heralded attack of the Texas Christian team to show its might in the Rose Bowl. This fact the writers claimed the U.S.C. officials overlooked in their selection.

One sports writer stated that Southern California was letting itself in for dirty cracks about picking someone who is pretty sure not to run up a big score on them.

Coch Wallace Wade is adept at pointing his team for a single game and all these unkind remarks and caustic criticism won't hurt the Devils at all. The crafty mentor will probably seize all these things to whip his team into a lather of revenge against the Trojans.

The Blue Devils this year, it is true, have not set the world on fire with touchdowns, but they have just pushed across enough points to sew up the ball game and let it go at that. Records show that in only one instance did the Dukes run up a big score against opponents in the eight years that Wade has been at Duke. This again proves the caliber of the Duke coaching staff.

The Blue Devils will be the first team to go west to represent a North Carolina team in the Rose Bowl and the status of North Carolina football will be at stake when the two teams tee off on New Year's Day. Win or lose, the Blue Devils are sure to make the best of the opportunity the U.S.C. officials have given them—to put North Carolina football up where it belongs, on the top.

A PERFECT BLOCK

Seen here is Captain Bunny Hines executing a perfect block in the Homecoming game played on Riddick Stadium. This is the kind of a play the average spectator fails to see and most of the time they are the best pieces of action in the game. This is a perfect block, executed with one foot on the ground and the arms in the proper position. Play such as this is indicative of the way the State line played this year.

Techlets Round Into Form Rapidly

Under the able coaching of Bob Warren, frosh coach, P. G. Hill, captain of the varsity basketball team and "Red" Severe, varsity player, the 1938 Techlet basketball team is rapidly rounding into shape.

Some twenty-five first year men are out for the team at present, with the following showing the most promise: Norman Wiggin, one of the freshmen halfbacks; "Pud-in-head" Jones; Hiram Jenny, Jim Carney and George Strayhorn.

The yearlings will play their first game the first week after the Christmas vacation when they meet Lenoir College here. Last year's team defeated the junior college quintet and this year's frosh hope to repeat the victory.

In addition to this game, the frosh will meet the frosh of Duke, Carolina, Wake Forest, Davidson and several high schools.

Matmen Preparing For Hard Schedule

The team which built up the best win and loss record last year, State's wrestling team, is hard at work seeking to form a team just as good or better than the one which lost but one match last year.

The able coach of the grunt and growlers, Herman Hickman, has been busy with his football duties, so Captain Charley Hunter and Ted Johnson have taken over the job of preparing the boys for a tough season.

Captain Hunter emphasized the fact that he and Johnson were the only two varsity men back, and that all candidates for the team would be welcomed.

Freshmen are also invited to come out for the yearling mat squad. Last year's frosh team won the State and Big Five championships.

The first match of the season will take place December 10 when the Winston-Salem Y. M. C. A. invades Thompson gymnasium for a match.

After the Christmas holidays the collegiate schedule will commence, when Washington and Lee, V. M. I., V. P. L., Tennessee and Maryville are met, in addition to the Big Five teams representing Duke, Carolina and Davidson.

Limelight Shifts To Basketball

Nation's Crack Quintets Polishing Up Their Game For Busy Season

Another football season has come and gone, and now the great collegiate indoor sport, basketball, occupies the limelight of the fans' enthusiasm.

From coast to coast, in large well-lighted gymnasiums quintets are busily polishing up their game in anticipation of a busy season.

In the Southern Conference Duke should extend its domination to basketball, and should come out on top of the heap. The dark horses in the race for the championship will be N. C. State, Washington and Lee, Maryland and Wake Forest. Last year's conference leaders, the University of North Carolina will be faced with the loss of their first five men, Captain Ruth, Boone, Ber-shak, Mullis and Dilworth, and not much will be heard from them.

Basketball supremacy has moved from the East to the Mid West and West. The leader in the Mid West should be Notre Dame, although the Fighting Irish have lost their two All-American players, Paul Nowak and Johnny Moir. Northwestern, Ohio State and Minnesota will again be heard from up among the leaders.

Clipper Smith Returns In Role Of Enemy Coach

Former Wolfpack Coach To Bring Duquesne Here Next Year for Intersectional Battle With State; Holds Edge On Wallace Wade

Duquesne University will play State's football team here on November 11, 1938—with is another way of saying that Johnny (Little Clipper) Smith will make a return to the State campus in the role of coach of the enemy.

Clipper coached the Wolfpack in 1931, 1932, and 1933. Let out in order that Hank Anderson might be let in, Smith coached a prep school team in Newark for one year and then went to Duquesne as assistant coach. He was made head coach in 1936, and his Dukes had a fine season—featured by a 6-0 victory over Pitt. That is the last defeat on "the Panther's" record.

Prospects Bright For Rifle Team

Approximately 100 men, the largest turnout on record, reported for the first practice of the N. C. State rifle team at the armory this week. Major R. E. Jones, who has piloted the sharpshooters through two successful seasons, will coach the team.

The team lost by graduation three of the best shots on last year's crack team, Myers, Wilson and Johnson. However, the team will list such veterans as Hayworth, Clapp, Shallington, Smith, and Harly.

Taking a casual look at the prospects, Major Jones said he thought the team as a whole this year would be better than last year. Last year there were some high individual shots, with the remainder of the team shooting mediocre, whereas this year the team will be better balanced.

Burcham Will Attend Blue Key Convention

Russell Burcham, president of Blue Key, national honorary leadership fraternity, will attend a convention of that society to be held in Indianapolis, Indiana, from December 28 to December 30, at the Lincoln Hotel.

The purpose of the convention, the Third National Blue Key gathering, is to transact such business as may pertain to the general welfare of the fraternity, to make such changes in the method of government as may seem necessary, to hear reports of the Executive Officer and of committees, and to introduce whatever topics of discussion will lead to enlargement of vision for the future.

Burcham expects to leave North Carolina immediately after Christmas. While attending the convention, delegates will be the guests of the Blue Key chapter at Butler University, which has charge of all local arrangements.

Band To Wilmington

The State College Redcoat Band, and the ROTC Dives and Bugle Corps, both units 120 strong, now outfitted in bright new uniforms, will accompany the Wolfpack to Wilmington this week-end for the State-Citadel football game.

Both groups of musicians will participate in a street parade in Wilmington Saturday, which will include the entire student body of Citadel, the Citadel band, and the Wilmington High School Band.

The Band and the Drum and Bugle Corps will march in the stadium before the game and during the half.

A mistake was made last week in announcing the final teams for football, so here is the correct dope. If you can't follow it, please see Zodiac and maybe he can straighten you out.

In the dormitory league, 2nd 1911 came in and made a triple tie out of the upperclassmen bracket. To settle the bracket, 3rd 1911, 2nd 1911 and 2nd 7th had to fight it out to see who should play 3rd 7th for top honors.

Second 1911 gained the tie by defeating 2nd Watauga on a forfeit. They went on to defeat 2nd 7th by a score of 13-0, thus putting 2nd 7th out. The way it stands now, 2nd 1911 has to play 3rd 1911, and the winner of that game will meet 3rd 7th for the championship in Riddick Stadium on Tuesday afternoon. The loser of the game between 2nd 1911 and 3rd 1911 will meet 2nd-3rd South to settle third and fourth places, on Monday afternoon.

Here are the dormitory scores for the past week: 2nd 1911 won on forfeit over 1st Watauga; 2nd 1911 beat 2nd 7th, 13-0, on some swell passing by Pope and Jones to Sugg and Medford. Second 7th fell apart when Kaufman had to leave the game due to injuries.

Second South defeated 4th, 6-0, on a pass from Perre to McArthur. In the final game of the intramural program the Kappa Sigs will meet the Alpha Gamma Rhos and the Delta Sigs will meet the Lambda Chis for the two final games of the season.

The Kappa Sigs went into the final playoff by beating the Kappa Alpha in their final game by a score of 6-0. Frasier threw a touchdown pass to Koella on the first play of the game, and the game was on ice for the rest of the period. Riddick returned to action for the K.A.'s for the first time since he received an injury in a game played earlier in the season. He played an exceptionally good game at center for the losers.

The Phi Kappa Phi's won over the Phi Kappa Tau's on a forfeit to close the season for both of these teams.

Yesterday afternoon the Kappa Sig team outplayed a favored Lambda Chi team to win, four first downs to two. Twice the Kappa Sigs came within scoring distance, only to be stopped on the one-yard line as the half ended, and a second time failing to score after gaining a first down in a game played earlier in the season. He played an exceptionally good game at center for the losers.

Acai Is Selected Most Valuable Man On Football Squad

Stellar Guard Chosen On Basis of Excellent Performance In Games Throughout Year.

Steve Acai, senior guard on the N. C. State eleven, has been awarded the trophy this year for the most valuable player on the team for the 1938 season.

The State squad paid tribute to the great little guard last week when they voted him the most valuable teammate and later in the week W. G. Enloe, manager of the Ambassador Theater, awarded the trophy.

The trophy, 18 inches tall, bears the inscription, "Most Valuable N. C. State Player, 1938." Acai follows in the footsteps of Carl Isaacs, who was the first to receive the award in 1934; Ray Rex in 1935; Joe Bryneska in 1936, and Eddie Berlinski in 1937.

All this Bowl talk has practically swamped the coming battle between the Pack and the Citadel Bulldogs at Wilmington this Saturday afternoon.

I think by this time many football fans have found out that the State team is a lot better than the 1938 record shows. . . . It's true, all season they have been lacking in offensive polish, but they have more than made a record for themselves in holding some of the leading teams of the country to their lowest scores.

Joe Schwerdt, N. C. State quarterback in 1936-37, collaborated with Humpy Wheeler at Belmont Abbey this year to turn in another undefeated record. . . . This time it was undefeated, unscored on and untied. . . . This marks the second time the Abbey boys have come through unbeaten. . . . The last time they were defeated was when the State freshmen took them into camp back in 1936.

There's been a lot of talk about Duke's Bowl bid and the Pitt game last Saturday. . . . It may have been a different story had the field been dry, but it's over now and Duke is on its way to represent North Carolina in the Rose Bowl, so let's all back those Devils like good North Carolinians. . . . North Carolina football is really moving in on the national leaders. . . . A report from New York shows that Coon is leading the nationwide All-America football contest sponsored by the Edward Ried, Ltd. of the City. . . . Coon already has landed on two all-star picks. . . . The first time for a State man since Steve Sabol. . . . The Pro footballers set some kind of a record last Sunday. . . . The Chicago Cardinals completed the season with 114 passes completed out of 240 attempted for percentage of 47.5. . . . Louis Marks teamed up with his old enemy, Ace Parker, at Brooklyn this year and has been one of the team standouts. . . . Several of State's alumni are helping Portsmouth stay on top in the Virginia League this year. State over the Citadel and Duke to take U.S.C. See ya. . . . It's only natural that Bobby Saboly's hobby is golf. The N. C. State halfback's father is a golf goods salesman at Yonkers, N. Y.

"Salt Bowl" Clash Ends '38 Season

Wolves To Meet Tricky Bulldogs In Final Battle

Tough Scrap Expected From Citadel; Pack Favored to Win Last Encounter

Down comes the curtain on the 1938 edition of the State meets The Citadel in the season's finale at Wilmington.

The Tech's are hoping to reach pay-dirt, after the dearth of scores they have suffered in their last five games. To do this, the Pack has been polishing up on its aerial attack, which worked so successfully last year and by which they downed the Cadets 26-14.

The contest will dedicate Wilmington's new stadium, which has just been recently completed. Incidentally, this is the first collegiate game scheduled for the Port City within recent years.

Elaborate plans are under way and from all indications Wilmington will literally go collegiate for the day. The Citadel's entire cadet corps will make the trip from Charleston to the game site by special train. State's crack drum and bugle corps will also move into Wilmington.

State's aerial circus will find Rooney, Di Yesso and Pehley pitching them, with Mickey Sullivan, Thompson, Way Stuart, John Tatum, and Charley Smart on the receiving end.

The Cadets have lost their star of last year, diminutive 135-pound Cookie Robinson, who got in State's hair all during the game last year, but have an able replacement in Graham Edwards, a clever passer and a brilliant runner, who will be playing in his home town.

The game will present another opportunity for All-Southern Ed Coon to clinch his position on other mythical elevens. During the week the big tackle made Duke's All-Opponent team with 19 out of a possible 20 votes. His teammates include such stellar performers of the gridiron as Cassiano and Goldberg of Pittsburgh, Wood of Georgia Tech and Strawweis of Carolina.

Although this is not a post-season game, it has been humorously dubbed the Salt Bowl game because of its proximity to the Atlantic Ocean.

The seniors who will play their last game for State are Freddie Mastrolia, Steve Acal, Bunny Hines, captain, and Bill Matheny, guards;

State Has Played Many Bowl Teams In Tough Season

State Took on Two Teams Who Are to Play in Climaxers on New Years Day

N. C. State seems to have made a habit of playing some kind of bowl team this year and in the past years and the Wolfpack has made it tough for all of them.

In the early part of the season the Pack went south to take on the mighty Crimson Tide. They played almost the same team that Coach Thomas took to the Rose Bowl last year and threw a scare into them for the most part of the game. The best the Tide could come out with in the game was a two-touchdown victory and they were mighty lucky at that. This did not do the Crimson any good for the next week when they went down to defeat before their arch rival, Tennessee.

The Pack proceeded later on in the season to hang up what was considered an outstanding football performance of the season—holding Duke to 7-0 and five days later holding the Skiboos of Carnegie Tech to 14-0. Since then both of these teams have been invited to play in two of the outstanding Bowl games on New Year's Day. Both of these teams are ranked in the first ten of the nation's football teams.

The Carnegie Tech team is one of the best teams to have played in this section this year, with the exception of the Blue Devils. They definitely showed a lot more power than Pitt and for the State team to hold Duke and the Skiboos to these low scores is really an accomplishment the Pack can be proud of.

and Buddy Fry, tackle, and alternate captain.

Warren Wooden, stellar guard, who will not play Saturday because of injuries completed his last year of football this year.

State's entire backfield will remain intact for next year, and the whole line, with the exception of the guard posts will return. Therefore a good season is expected of the 'Pack next year.

Gridders To Be Feted At Durham Barbecue

The State College football team will be entertained at a barbecue to be given by Herman Hickman and a few of the alumni in Durham this Monday night.

The jovial line coach will pit his seven stalwarts of the Wolfpack line against the toughest competition they have faced this season—trying to eat more barbecue than the backfield and Coach Hickman. The rotund mentor, from all reports, could do the job himself, but to save considerable embarrassment and riding Herman has decided to call in the backfield to help him.

No doubt Coon, Acal and the other State linemen have absorbed more than football from Hickman this fall, as their size indicates, and they will more than do justice to the barbecue.

The banquet is being staged by Hickman as a finale to the grueling suicide schedule the Pack will complete this Saturday against The Citadel.

FOOTBALL MENTORS

Coaches of the Wolfpack this year are Line Coach Herman Hickman, Head Coach Williams Newton, and Backfield Coach Bob Warren. These three men piloted the Wolves through the toughest season in the history of the school. Although not having such an impressive record, the coaches are to be praised for the way they brought the Pack through.

Coon and Rooney Get Much Praise

Both Men Placed on All-State Team by Winston-Salem Paper; Coon Makes All-Opponent Team

Two members of the Wolfpack were honored this week by football fans of the State in the All-State selections of the (Winston-Salem) Journal and Sentinel.

Big Ed Coon and Little Art Rooney were placed on the first team in the pole held annually by the Winston-Salem paper. Coon was placed at right tackle and Rooney was placed in the backfield.

Coon and Acal were named by the Rose Bowl Dukes as some of the toughest opponents they have played against in choosing their all-opponents team. Coon received 19 out of 20 votes to rank among the leaders. He was selected at right tackle on the first team. So far this season, Coon has been placed on the NEA All-Dixie team and the UP All-Southern team. Rooney has been placed on several of these teams.

This is the first season that a State man has been placed on any of these teams since Steve Sabol was selected on several All-American teams.

Citadel Game Marks Finale For Six Wolves

Pack to Lose Five Good Guards and One Good Tackle by Graduation

When the Wolfpack reports to Coach Williams (Doc) Newton for the first workout of the 1939 team, the Pack coaches will be seeking to fill the shoes of six of the best linemen ever to place a foot in Riddick Stadium.

This year the Pack is fortunate to lose only a few men by graduation, but the quality of the men the Pack will lose overshadows by far the quantity.

In the line Steve Acal, Bunny Hines, Fred Mastrolia, George Fry, Warren Wooden and Bill Matheny, as gallant a sextet of men ever to play for State, will be singing their swan song when the Wolves square off at Wilmington tomorrow.

When the team reported back for early season practice this fall the five men around which Coach Newton decided to build his team were the guards, and all five of them will leave school this June. In George (Buddy) Fry the team will lose a reliable tackle who has been a variety man for the past three years. Fry, although he did not receive the recognition he deserved all through his career, played the kind of football that makes a coach smile.

The remarkable thing about the five guards is that there is no size to any of them, but they play the kind of football you would expect of a big man. Never has a State team had men with a fighting heart and the desire to play such a clean, hard and brilliant game as these men.

The coaching staff has already started to look to the freshman team in an effort to map plans to fill these gaping holes left by these six men.

Legging An Art Says Oregon Dean

Claims Ancient Art Important Part of a College Education

At least one college professor believes in—in fact, encourages "legging," if it is of the intelligent variety.

Here are the exact words of Oregon State's Dean of Men, Dr. U. G. Dubach, taken from a recent speech on the subject: "Legging plays an important part in a college man's education and it must be followed by diligence in class work if it is to be useful and effective."

"Anyone who isn't wise enough to do intelligent legging, isn't wise enough to be in college. Legging, properly defined, is making oneself known to his professors in a favorable light. More and more we are realizing that education, aside from technical knowledge, must teach one how to properly sell himself. How can one sell himself to his professors unless he makes himself and his work known to them in an intelligent and agreeable manner?"
