State's News Will Be Heard Through WPTF

News of North Carolina Colleges to be Presented Twice Weekly; State Student Commentator for Collegiate Press Association

A week from tonight the news of North Carolina colleges will again be presented over the air lanes of Radio Station WPTF, as the program of the "Collegiate Column of the Air" will resume duty again after recess for the summer vacation.

189 NYA Students Get Campus Work

Freshmen Get Largest Number of Jobs; Men Scattered Throughout College Departments

N.Y.A. labor allotments to the college departments total 189 at present, Bob Stallings, self-help secretary, reports, commenting that often the different departments want to know how many N.Y.A. students they have received in comparison to other departments.

State To Be Featured In Broadcast Tonight

Charlotte Station Will Present Information on Wolfpack; WPTF Also Arranges Program

N. C. State College will take the air tonight over Radio Station WSOB in Charlotte in an informal broadcast to be presented from ten to ten-thirty.

The program will be in charge of Bonar Lawrence, the original Big Five sportscaster, and will include first-hand information concerning the current Wolfpack and its prospects for a successful season on the gridiron.

Annual "Hello Week" Will Begin Monday

Get Your Ticket!

William "Doc" Newton, head football coach, has requested that all students that are going to attend the State-Davidson game in Charlotte tomorrow secure their tickets to the game at the athletic office before they leave. He said that all students could bring their registration cards to the gym and get their student tickets.

Students Begin University Day Preparations

500 Girls From WCUNC to Come on Special Train for Celebration

Next Saturday North Carolina State College will be host to members of both the University and the Woman's College in celebration of the first Greater University Day, which will feature the State-Carolina football game and will be climaxed by a dance in the gym Saturday night.

Planned with the idea of creating a stronger bond of friendship and unity among the three divisions of the Greater University, the celebration will bring many alumni and visiting students to our campus.

A special train will be run from Greensboro to bring 500 girls from the Woman's College to State, and a large percentage of the Carolina student body will attend.

Letters have been written to the administrative heads of each school, and they have heartily endorsed the program. Hank McKenzie, father of the idea, received a telegram from Frank Graham, president of the Greater University, in which he stated that the entire idea had his approval.

Besides these, letters were also written to the presidents of the student body of the other two units, and they have given their whole-hearted support to the plan.

Students of all three units have promised their complete support, and many of the alumni have written letters of approval.

In a letter from J. W. Sexton, president of the General Alumni Association of State College, to McKenzie, Sexton states, "Your present plan should lead to sure-fire permanency and your plan has my whole-hearted support. I shall be glad to assist in any manner possible."

Scabbard and Blade To Have Fall Dance

At their first meeting for this year members of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, discussed future plans for the organization which included the military dance to be given sometime during this term.

Dees will represent the State College chapter of Scabbard and Blade at the national convention of Scabbard and Blade to be held in Berkeley, California, November 9-12.

Sad, But True . . .

This week's issue of "The Technician" will be delivered through the dormitories and fraternity houses by hand, and students living off the campus should call at the "Technician" office for their copy.

Climax of "Hello Week" Will be Greater University Day and State-Carolina Football Tilt; First Button Will be Presented to Dean Harrelson

"Hello Week," an annual affair at State College to encourage friendliness and congeniality on the campus, will begin Monday at 12 o'clock.

The week will begin at noon when the entire regiment of the ROTC assemblies. They will hear a short talk by Col. J. W. Harrelson, Dean of Administration, after which he will be presented with the first "Hello Week" button.

After the talk by Harrelson the buttons will be distributed among the cadets by the captains. Students not taking military will also be given their buttons on Monday by members of the "Hello Week" committee.

The observance of "Hello Week" was begun on the State College campus several years ago in an effort to increase the friendship on the campus. During this week every student will pass a fellow student on the campus is asked to exchange greetings.

"Hello Week" will be climaxed by Greater University Day on Saturday and the State-Carolina football game.

Every student is asked to participate in this event, and cooperate with the committee in charge of it, by placing his name on the button and wearing it at all times during the week.

Since its organization on this campus, this method of increasing friendliness among students has gained much favorable praise, and this policy is now being adopted by many other schools.

Lack of Rooms Curtails Rise in Enrollment

Latest Registration Figures Show Only Slight Gain Over Last Year's Total; Half of Student Body Rooming in Residential Sections

As Saturday, the final day for registration, approaches, present figures indicate only a slight increase in the number of students enrolled over that of last year at the close of registration.

The reason for this relatively small gain in enrollment, according to W. L. Mayer, director of registration, is the lack of dormitory space available for new students. Practically every available room, including those in the freshman dormitories, had been filled by the second week in August.

Of the 2,000 students in the college 1,000 live in dormitories, 400 come from Wake County, and 600 live in fraternity houses and private homes.

"When the new dormitories are completed we can expect a substantial increase in enrollment," stated Mayer.

With only one day left for registration the present total enrollment stands at 2,112, against last year's 2,095. This does not include a large number of graduate students and professional men who have been out of college five years or more.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION

Shown above is the excavation which will form the foundation of the new dormitory building, planned to be completed at the opening of school next year. The construction of this building is a part of State's $1,400,000 building program.

New Dormitory Will Feature Latest Modern Conveniences

Building Will Contain Numerous "Gadgets" as Aid to Students; Equipment Will be of Latest Type to Assist Occupants

An inside look into the plans for the new dormitories to be located next to Seventh shows many new improvements. The new dorms are to be built in the shape of a huge U and will be connected to one another by means of enclosed passageways. Ninth dorm will be the larger and will accommodate about 200 students, while Eighth will provide facilities for at least 100 more.

The interior of the dorms will be completely modern in design. The individual rooms will be larger than those in Seventh and there will not be any closets. Instead, each room will contain a wardrobe large enough to hold the contents of four trunks. The trunks will be equipped with both hot and cold water and will be separated from the remainder of the room by a projecting wall. In addition, medicine cabinets are to be recessed in the wall and an electric bracket for those addicted to the use of the electric razor is also planned.

The biggest surprise to those of you who know what a dorm looks like is that they are going to have single beds! Another new innovation is that each dorm will contain a huge store-room in which all trunks will be kept. No trunks will be allowed to remain in the rooms after the first week and an elevator is provided for their handling. There definitely will be telephones installed on each floor and their use will be unrestricted.

Eighth Dorm is going to have a Social Room. It will be equal in size to the Y auditorium and will contain easy chairs, ping-pong tables, and a radio, all of which will contribute to give the dorm a real home-like atmosphere. The entire quadrangle will be enclosed by a brick wall such as we have at the college court.

The plans call for completion by Sept. 1, 1939—but don't rush to make reservations boys—it's reserved for incoming freshmen.

Faculty Members Elected To Serve On Welfare Group

Joint Committee to Liberalize Student-Faculty Relations at State; Ready to Swing Into Action

With final preparations having been completed during the past week, the newly formed State College Welfare Committee is prepared to swing into action.

The faculty members who are to serve for the current year in collaboration with the eight students recently appointed, were elected at a meeting of the general college faculty. They are Dr. A. C. Campbell, college physician, Dr. R. Sermon, athletic trainer, Professor F. M. Haig, Dr. L. C. Hartley, Professor C. B. Shulenberger, Dr. L. F. Williams, Dr. J. R. Stuckey and E. S. King, secretary of the YMCA.

The formation of this welfare group is a broad step to liberalize student-faculty relations at State and will eliminate misunderstandings such as that which arose last year following the Monday night dance ban.

Under the new set-up, matters affecting the State College Community will originate in the joint committee, which will meet monthly for any hearings desired by students or faculty. The group will study any propositions or grievances arising and then make recommendations to the Administration, which has the authority to adopt or reject the proposal. All matters to be brought before the body are requested to be presented to the chairman at least one week in advance of the regularly scheduled meeting.

Professor Haig received the highest number of votes at the faculty election and for this reason will serve as temporary chairman of the committee.

Wolfpack Sendoff To Be Held At Six

State Musicians Will Be Featured At Davidson Tilt

Redcoat Band and Drum and Bugle Corps Will Participate in Charlotte Football Festival; Plan to Appear at all Home Gridiron Contests

Students attending the State-Davidson curtain-raiser to be played in Charlotte tomorrow night will also see the crack State College Redcoat Band and the drum and bugle corps in action for the first time this year.

Both state musical organizations will also participate in the Charlotte Football Festival, which will be one of the largest days that the Queen City has had in many years.

The band and the drum and bugle corps will participate in all of the State home games this year, and they have also planned to make some trips to games away from home.

The military band, under the leadership of R. L. Huffman, and the drum and bugle corps, captained by George Hanna, have been formed into a special battalion by the Military Department, and will work together during the entire year.

State's drum and bugle corps received wide recognition last year when they were reviewed by an officer from the Citadel. This year the organization consists of 60 men, and they will exhibit much new equipment, including new drums. They also have a possibility of securing new breeches to replace the present ones.

The Redcoat Band, a separate organization from the military band, will hold their practices at periods other than military drills. At a business meeting of the Redcoat Band held last Thursday a set of suggestions drawn up by students and faculty and approved by the administration was adopted by the band. The organization of the band is under the college and is a part of its musical department.

Under excellent supervision and control all three musical organizations of the college have planned an extensive program for this year, and will serve to gain wide recognition for State College.

IRC Holds Initial Meeting Tuesday

R. O. Everett to Deliver Address in YMCA Next Tuesday; Bob Reynolds Possibility for Future

Beginning the year with the largest and most important list of speakers ever brought to this campus by an organization, the State College chapter of the International Relations Club will hold their first meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 8 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A., at which time they will present R. O. Everett.

Everett, prominent Durham attorney and chairman of the American Citizens Committee of the North Carolina Bar Association, will address the club members and the general public on the subject of the constitution, and following his talk there will be a business meeting of the club members.

Senator Robert R. Reynolds, when invited to address the club, wired that commitments relative to his campaign for reelection would not allow him to speak on the campus prior to November 8, but indicated that he would speak here at a later date.

The initial step taken by the Raleigh Junior Chamber in spreading the fame of State College concerned itself with the appointment of a special State College Committee, whose main function it has been to assist Sports Publicist Wade Ison, also a Jaycee, in spreading news of football activities and obtaining the mercantile support of Raleigh business.

Merchants have been solicited and have purchased ads in State's 1938 football programs; letterheads carry the slogan "If it's good for State College it's good for you," and pep meetings as well as street games and window decoration contests are being planned. Hugh Murray and Dr. Harold Glascock, Jr. have been instrumental in directing this phase of the work.

Team Leaves at 6:30

Student Body Will Assemble in Front of Cafeteria to Bid Farewell to Doc's Boys; Davidson Game Marks the Opening of State Season

As a premier to the opening of State's gridiron contests in Charlotte tomorrow with Davidson College, a pep meeting of the entire student body will be held tonight at 6 o'clock in front of the college cafeteria to give a rousing sendoff to Doc Newton's Wolfpack.

C. L. Moseley, head cheerleader, has requested that every student attend the pep meeting, and said that they would give yeas and encouragement to the squad before their departure.

Traveling to the Queen City on Greyhound buses, the team will leave the campus at 6:30 o'clock, and will go directly to Concord, where they will spend the night. Saturday they will participate in what is predicted to be the biggest day that Charlotte has ever had, as the Charlotte Football Festival gets under way.

Meeting his former mates for the second time since he left Davidson to take the position as head coach at State, Doc will endeavor to repeat last year's performance, with a larger tally on the State end of the scoring. Last year the Wolfpack defeated the Wildcats by the score of 6-2.

It has been planned to have short talks by "Doleful Doc," Herman Hickman, and Bob Warren at the student gathering tonight, prior to the opening game of State College's toughest football schedule of many years.

Carrying with him many players who have attracted nationwide attention during this year, Doc will arrive in Charlotte tomorrow morning and complete preparations for the battle, which will begin in the American Legion Memorial Stadium at 8 o'clock.

Festival at Noon

The Charlotte Football Festival will open at noon tomorrow with a large parade, featuring three bands and a drum and bugle corps. The famous Redcoat Band of State will take part in the celebration and will remain in Charlotte as guests of the Chamber of Commerce. On the field tomorrow night they will bring forth strains of their Alma Mater, the band of State of the Wolfpack and the hundreds of State students expected to attend the game.

Jay Cees Continue Boosting Program

Raleigh Junior Chamber of Commerce Continues Efforts to Publicize College

With the opening of the new school year, the Raleigh Junior Chamber of Commerce is preparing its committees to assist in its drive in its program to boost State College.

New uniforms for the famous Redcoat band of the Wolfpack have been obtained through the combined aid of the Jaycees and the local post of the American Legion. Eddie Hough, prominent Jaycee and manager of the Wake Theatre, was the guiding light in the campaign to raise funds for new band uniforms and has reported a most gratifying response by Raleigh contributors.

The initial step taken by the Raleigh Junior Chamber in spreading the fame of State College concerned itself with the appointment of a special State College Committee, whose main function it has been to assist Sports Publicist Wade Ison, also a Jaycee, in spreading news of football activities and obtaining the mercantile support of Raleigh business.

Merchants have been solicited and have purchased ads in State's 1938 football programs; letterheads carry the slogan "If it's good for State College it's good for you," and pep meetings as well as street games and window decoration contests are being planned. Hugh Murray and Dr. Harold Glascock, Jr. have been instrumental in directing this phase of the work.

Radio Station WPTF, through its sports commentator, J. B. Clark, is pledged to State's support, in addition to the combined aid of the News & Observer and Raleigh Times. The response from Raleigh merchants and citizens has been gratifying, and with the continued rallying by the Jaycees, the Wolfpack will keep fighting along with greater strength than ever.

Students Arrive From Far and Near To Lend Our Professors a Willing Ear

by DUD KALEY

For years we have hearkened to the self-proclaim that numerous institutions of higher learning have hoped upon themselves for their cosmopolitan atmosphere.

Now N. C. State College can raise her voice in the chorus. We, too, have made the grade; we, too, have gone cosmopolitan, and in no small way. For, numbered among the student body at State are eight men from other countries, one from Puerto Rico, and one from the Canal Zone.

Not that the presence of these men is in itself something to be sought merely for the honor. Instead we should feel proud that they have chosen N. C. State rather than any other. There is honor in this alone. But there is no doubt that their presence here does add considerably to the cosmopolitan air of the campus.

Latest additions to the college family are two boys from Canada, D. B. F. Corbett of Toronto, and A. H. Pierce of Montreal. Corbett, a graduate of Queens University, is a junior in the textile school, while Pierce is a freshman in textiles. Arriving this summer for summer school were K. C. Li and F. S. Duan, who are continuing their graduate work in textile management. Both are graduates of Kwang Hwa University, Shanghai, China, and both have studied textiles and engineering at Lowell Textile Institute, Lowell, Mass.

It is interesting to note that one of the pair does most of the talking for the two, while the other does most of the writing.

Returning after previous experience at N. C. State are Ahmad Rafik, an agricultural senior from Sulaimani, Iraq, E. de la M. Arispe, textile senior from Monterrey, Mexico, Jose Medero, junior in textiles from Mexico, C. V. Rodriguez of Ponce, P. R., and Tom Stainback, of Vanessa, Ontario, Canada.

In order to clinch the argument, one might point out that we also have a resident of the Canal Zone among our number. Son of a State graduate of several years back, John Ferguson not only chose his father's school, but insisted on occupying the identical room that his father used while in college.

All of which goes to prove that it's a very small world after all!

What Ails You? . . .

We have been mistaken for many things, but never before were we accused of curing pains.

Wednesday night an innocent and unsuspecting freshman walked into the "Technician" office and inquired, "Is this the infirmary?" Upon being told that it was, he began a long explanation of his ailments. Being unable to control our emotions, we finally broke down, took him outside and pointed toward the infirmary. His parting words were, "Oh, you mean Holiday Hall."

On Hello Week

The beginning of State College's fifth annual Hello Week Monday offers to students on the campus a chance to get into the swing of a time-honored tradition. State students have long prided themselves upon the fact that, although there are too many students here to know everyone's name, a State man always speaks to another one whenever he meets him.

Several years ago the fact was noticed that students were becoming lax in observing this custom and for this reason Hello Week was instituted as an annual event.

It was not the intention of the founders that students should greet each other merely for the duration of next week, but following the breaking of the ice, students will continue to greet each other when they meet on the campus, in town or anywhere else.

With the entire Student Body cooperating to make Hello Week a success, State College spirit will be given an added boost.

N. C. STATE

Meet Our Guests—500 Girls!

Next Saturday North Carolina State College, in collaboration with the University at Chapel Hill and the Woman's College in Greensboro, will celebrate the first Greater University Day, which promises to be a permanent addition to State history.

In conjunction with this celebration, a special train will be run from Greensboro, conveying 500 girls from the Woman's College to State College, where they will be our guests for the day. The train is scheduled to arrive in Raleigh at 2:05, and will stop behind the stadium to allow the girls to embark to their seats.

While on this campus these young ladies will be our guests, and should be treated with the gentlemanly conduct always present in State College students. The administration has arranged to set aside 500 seats in the stadium to accommodate the girls.

To assist the young ladies in finding their seats in the stadium, those in charge of the program have asked that the entire freshman class and all others who will be available on that date meet in front of the YMCA to escort the girls to their seats.

They will receive a red and white ribbon to distinguish them to the young ladies, and they will meet the train when it arrives at our campus.

If you are free next Saturday, do your part to help make the Greater University Day a success. Meet with the other students in front of the "Y," and show to the girls from Greensboro that State College contains as many fine gentlemen as can be found anywhere.

Watch Out for the Sneak Thief

We have two thousand good and true boys in school this year; but in this number we are cursed with a few common thieves who pilfer and steal anything of value they can lay their hands on.

Although school has been started only two weeks, reports have already started coming in by droves of the thefts of books, coats, hats, and other personal properties.

Students should be very careful not to leave their doors unlocked when they are on class or away from their rooms for any length of time, for this is an open invitation to the common sneak thief. Money should never be left in a room, nor should rings, watches and other small valuable articles which can easily be disposed of by the thief.

There are many persons with access to this campus who look enough like college students to be thought of as such; but these persons should be carefully observed and reported to college officials whenever their actions become shady or doubtful. Only with the full cooperation of the students in reporting and detecting these dastardly crimes can we hope to put an end to them.

The "Drug Store Cowboy"

State College students, especially as a group, can be unfair and not only never know it, but believe, in all sincerity, that they are themselves "the sinned against." No more glaring example of this unfairness exists than the student relation with an afflicted few of the Raleigh business concerns.

It is one thing to patronize a store, another thing to impose on it. When students hang around a popular place of business for hours at a time, purchasing only a few cents worth of merchandise, they are a real menace to business. Their very presence drives away prospective customers, and they clutter up a building so that those who do come find it much more difficult to secure service.

Certainly, students are not trying to kill the business of the store that they like so much. But this kind of popularity is just as deadly in its effect as a boycott, and a lot harder to "do something" about.

Should a proprietor calmly submit to student imposition? Or must he say, in so many words, "STUDENTS NOT WELCOME"? In reality, it's not up to the proprietor. It is up to the students.

If a college man feels like meeting a girl somewhere every afternoon, there's no reason why he should not do so. But it's only fair to make the date at a different soda shop each time.

A little thoughtfulness will make store owners, who are really accommodating persons, more appreciative of student patronage. And, after all, it's not much trouble to walk from one store to the next two or three times during an afternoon.

Help Advertise Your College

Have you noticed how many cars throughout the State are bearing the familiar red and white State College stickers?

Each car in this State which is adorned with one of our stickers is a travelling advertisement of our college, and the more people who see our stickers, the more people who will have our college foremost in their minds.

It is nearly impossible for the college to bear the expense of printing stickers and sending them out to car owners in the State, but it would be of very little expense to the students to purchase a few and send them back home to be put on the family car. Such good advertising is not only cheap, but very effective.

Announcements

Sophomore and Junior "Agromeck" pictures will be taken beginning Tuesday, Sept. 27 through Friday, September 30 on the second floor of the YMCA from 2:00 to 5:30.

An important meeting of all students in electrical engineering will be held Tuesday, September 27, at 7 p.m. in Room 207, E. E. Building. All E. E. students are urged to be present.

Tau Beta Pi will meet in Room 113, Page Hall, at 7 p.m. Wednesday, September 28. All members are asked to be present.

The State College Forum of Public Opinion will open its third year of activity on Monday, September 26, at 7 p.m. in the YMCA auditorium, discussing the question, "Shall the United States Fight if the Democratic Nations are Attacked by Germany and Italy?"

The State College Radio Club will hold a meeting on Friday, September 30, at 7 p.m. in Room 4, E. E. Building. All students interested in amateur radio are invited.

W. F. Latham is chairman of the Forum, George Lippard is secretary, and C. K. Watkins parliamentarian. The discussion group will meet in two sections. Following the prepared speeches, the discussion will be thrown open

YOUR ROVING REPORTER

ARNOLD KROCHMAL

The question: Do you prefer to date college girls or town girls, and why?

The place: The upperclass dorms. The people: The upperclassmen. Joe Aquilino, '41

"I prefer to date town girls because when I date them I don't have to worry about bringing them in at 10. Then there's the chance that I'll get an invitation to supper."

Jimmy Hubbard
"College girls haven't any sense. They are entirely too young and adolescent and their 'Holler Than Thou' attitude irks me. I'm definitely in favor of town girls for dates."

Russell Burcham, '39
"My preference is to town girls because of intellectual reasons. Their education makes them good conversationalists. They are poised and usually have good social backgrounds. All of which, makes them charming companions."

Art Raymond, '39
"I'll take the town girls. You don't have to worry about a bunch of rules and regulations and you'll find an occasional town girl who isn't a prom-trotter."

Wally Thompson, '40
"I'd rather date a town girl because I can see her more often. When a fellow dates a college girl he has to bring her in too early. Consequently there is a serious curtailment of social activities."

C. Wally Kirkland, '39
"Girls are girls, wherever you find them. There are swell girls living in town and swell girls out at the colleges. However, because of the restrictions imposed on the college girls, I'd want one who I'd date to be exceptionally pretty and intelligent."

Harold Hull, '41
"All girls are alike whether they go to school or live in town. It's just a matter of their home upbringing and family."

All students who have not as yet done so are urged to leave their address at the Dean of Students office as soon as possible as the students' directory is going to press at the close of this month.—C. K. Lefort, Ass't. Dean of Students.

There will be an important meeting of the business and editorial staffs of The Agromeck at 7 o'clock Monday night. All freshmen interested in working on these staffs please attend this meeting.

There will be an important meeting of the Society for the Advancement of Management in Room 223, C. E. Building, at 7 o'clock on Tuesday, Sept. 27.—Roger James, President.

The makers of Chesterfield cigarettes have announced the sponsorship of several interesting, entertaining, and amusing radio programs during the fall season.

Included on their program will be George Burns and Gracie Allen, who will broadcast their first three programs from the Columbia Playhouse in New York City, and will be heard thereafter from Hollywood.

GLEANINGS

By THE STAFF

There is a good fable that goes on to say, "The pen is mightier than the sword" . . . but to me a sock in the jaw is stronger than any pen could possibly be . . . not that this has any connection with any information in this column, but it's food for thought.

Seems as though we are getting some place at last . . . saw in the paper where State, the University, and the Woman's College are going to have a holiday on October 1, at which time we will celebrate what has been set aside as "Greater University Day." There are also rumors that they are going to run a special train from Greensboro to Raleigh for the leaves from the angel farm there who are desirous to see the Wolfpack in action.

Some strong predictions seem to be prevailing about the special train that is going to Charlotte for the Davidson tilt . . . someone said that they had chartered a special representative from the alphabet store to accompany. Of course, there are fantastic and misleading statements.

Things seem to be going well on the student proposed welfare committee, many from all angles it looks like it is one of the most practical and workable organizations coming from the minds of students in many days . . . the faculty have chosen their representatives on the committee, and there should exist a strong bond of cooperation from all indications.

When an irresistible force meets an immovable object, something is bound to happen . . . when State College boys date Meredith girls (better known as Angels), something also is bound to happen . . . maybe we shouldn't connect this law of physics with the advancement of social relations . . . after all, can you see any connection?

The staff of the "Technician" started their year of work off fine last Thursday, the day when the paper goes to press . . . the energetic lads were not satisfied with having worked like Trojans all week and late into the night, Thursday, but they stayed at the printing company until five in the morning . . . that's the work that goes into putting together a college publication . . . maybe somebody appreciates all that work, after all.

It seems that a member of the staff, called the "Roving Reporter" is having difficulties with his telephoning to the "Angel Farm." . . . he has been having words with the business manager of the paper and on account of the fact that the phone has not been available recently . . . I have insisted on a private line for our boys all the time . . . maybe we will have a willing ear to our arguments now.

With pledge dances postponed until the second term on account of deferred rushing, it seems that we are going to have the Fall Frolics as the major dance of the fall this year . . . and I have been wondering what we are going to have at the end of school this year.

From through, around, under, and over the keyhole, there has been a little "unorthodox" news floating around . . . and to top it all off, when did State College students start using the park at the Capitol as their new place to hold dates? . . . maybe we are behind the times with the news, but I happened to walk through there last Sunday afternoon, and there was a well-known Raleigh boy and one of our students holding conference with some sweet little miss . . . seems like the boy has a girl's name, too . . . something like Frances . . .

The funniest thing that I have heard in some time was a definition that a junior in the Textile School wrote on an economics paper . . . the question asked for a definition of "land," . . . and the answer on the paper was something like this: "Land is the solid or liquid matter on which we live." . . . maybe he was living in a liquid world after all . . . and I would like to ask a question, something like this: "Do you think that the vice-prexy of our immortal student body should have a Meredith gal crying all day Sunday because he had just forgotten what the phone number at the institution was?"

A boy by the name of Brown, who works on some publication, maybe a newspaper on the campus, received quite a shock the other night when one of his fellow stooges came to the rescue of a fair maiden he was talking to . . . not knowing what to say, the girl cried: "Oh, Mamma, what do I do now?" . . . and the stooge standing nearby said: "Try a .38 gun" . . . and so the memorable personage is now called by the moniker of, "Fifi Gun" Brown.

Drop by and see me sometime late Saturday night or early Sunday morning and I will predict the score of the State-Carolina game . . . we are all waiting to see the outcome of the Davidson match, and also the Carolina-Wake Forest battle . . . Here's hoping for the best success to the first "Carolina Day" and also to Doc's Wolfpack. All punches in the eye are taken the first Wednesday of the thirteenth month . . . Don't forget to come to see us . . . E. P. D.

by ART RAYMOND

Approximately fifteen thousand persons will get a glimpse of Doc Newton's 1938 edition of the Wolfpack and the already famous Newton Bootleg Play when the Wolves and Davidson's 'Cats square off in the feature attraction of the Charlotte Football Festival this coming Saturday night.

This year's game is the second renewal of the Doc Newton-Genie McEver rivalry. For five years these two fine coaches worked side by side at Davidson, but a year ago Doc heeded the Wolves' call to take over at State. From all reports, I'm predicting plenty of action and fireworks from this traditional battle.

Davidson will have no star like Tony Lafferty of last year, or the others before him, but there will be a team welded together into intensive team work, and with the determination to win. Captain Dave Warden will lead the Wildcats from his position at tackle. In the backfield there will be such fast backs as Bill Davis, Bill Boivin, Fred Stair and Steve. Well, tall Ned Iverson snag those passes! One thing you can count on, out there Saturday night, is plenty of scrap and spirit. Davidson teams always have plenty of it, and I hear this one tops them all.

The Wolfpack of this year will be better than last year's, for it is better founded and experienced in the colorful Newton attack. Such brilliant stars as Art Rooney, Bill Ketter, and Ed Coon will open their bid for mythical gridiron honors. New stars, such as Pat Fehey, Walt Novick, Mickey Sullivan are due to blossom out ere the final whistle blows.

Doc Newton's gadget went on the shelf when the mastermind discovered the now famous Bootleg Play. Asked what the play is like: "Remember Ray Morrison's play of last year? No? Well, in Ray's play the center snapped the ball to a back, who moved forward and placed the ball on the ground. A guard backed over the ball on his all fours. Nobody on the opposing team was to touch the ball, and all the Vanderbilt players had scattered over the field and the guard was left all huddled up on the ground. Suddenly the guard jumped up with the ball in his arm and ran across the goal line, see? Well, our play ain't like that," Newton chuckled. "If it works it will gain us plenty of ground," added Doc. "I'm not going to tell you what will happen if it doesn't work."

The feature of the game will be the individual battle between the two brilliant triple-threat backs, Art Rooney and Bill Davis. Rooney was the outstanding sophomore find in 1937 and Davis was the shining light in Davidson's opening victory over The Citadel.

The second in a series of campus sports events is reported ready to swing into motion with a three-game series between the B team and the Frosh. The first-year men have issued the challenge and are anxiously awaiting a reply from the B team, which is being handled by Willie Dusty, former varsity quarterback.

Well, I guess it's time to stick my neck out again, so here goes. . . Carolina over Wake Forest. . . Duke over V. P. I. . . Alabama over Southern California. . . Bucknell over Furman. . . Tulane over Clemson, close. . . Navy over William and Mary. . . State over Davidson, two touchdowns. . . See you next week.

Hoisting Wolfpack Off To Invade Wildcats' Lair

Newton's Gridders Given Slight Edge In Opening Battle

Raleigh-Greensboro

Raleigh High School gridirers will clash with the Greensboro High School team tonight at 8 o'clock in Riddick Stadium. Both schools boast of strong clubs, and sports editors throughout the State have predicted a very close game with plenty of action. There will be a special-low gate fee for college students.

State Yearlings Challenge 'B' Team

Waller Proud of Powerful Techlets; Seven Men Report From Championship Charlotte Team

Doc Newton and Nig Waller, from all reports, are certainly proud of the 86 candidates turning out regularly for freshman drills. The first-year men already have issued a challenge for a best-two-out-of-three-game series with the varsity B team. They are anxiously awaiting a reply from the B squad, which is being handled again this year by Willie Dusty, former varsity quarterback.

The series was started informally last year by Waller, former Vanderbilt player and Wake Forest coach. He hopes to build it into the major fall campus sports event.

The first-year men are big, strong and powerful, and from all indications will make the B squad look to its laurels ere the series is over. So far the frosh have been content to run through the fundamentals of the game. Waller indicated, however, that they were rapidly taking shape.

This week the frosh spent most of the time giving the varsity a look at Davidson plays and defenses. The team roster is headed by seven gridirers from Charlotte's championship high school team of last year.

The regular season for the Techlets will open October 14 with Belmont Abbey.

This Week's Wolf . . .

Seen here is Warren Woodens, a scrappy Tech who is being honored this week for his fine play throughout the last season and his steady show of improvement this year. Woodens was born in Baltimore, Md., December 30, 1914, and attended Calvert High School there. He was a three-letter man, participating in football, wrestling and track. He was especially good on the gridiron, making all-State in his junior and senior years.

Warren enrolled here in 1934 in the Forestry School, and has made a fine record scholastically as well as athletically. He played football his freshman year and has made two monograms since then. He is a member of the Monogram Club and Forestry Club, and is a second lieutenant in the R. O. T. C.

At . . . Fine's Men's Shop We are now showing a smart selection of All-Wool TROUSERS for $3.95 Corner Fayetteville and Hargett Streets

Traditional Battle Is Expected to Extend Techs to Limit; 'Cats Have Small But Very Scrappy Club

The 1938 version of State's Wolfpack will make its bow to the public tomorrow night at Charlotte in the American Legion Memorial Stadium when they tangle with the Davidson Wildcats.

The Techs will enter the game as slight favorites because of their last year's showing. However, Davidson's 12-6 victory over The Citadel indicates that the fur will fly tomorrow.

All through the past week, State's mentor, Doc Newton, has had his boys working out, regardless of the weather. Monday and Tuesday saw the varsity run through their plays in a hard rainstorm.

Doleful Doc has reverted to the two-team plan he used for part of the season last year. Under this system of playing two teams alternate playing—that is, there are no substitutions except for a whole team.

The chief smelt getter on the Raleigh campus has been Art Rooney, kicker, passer and runner de luxe. Little Art has been showing his heels in practice and indications point to him as being the successor to Buzzer Berliniski.

Andy Pavlovski, who did not play last year because of ineligibility, is going to prove a headache to the enemy this year. Andy hits the line like a ton of bricks and is usually good for a gain.

Bobby Sabolyk proved his worth last year, and scrimmages this fall show that the little man has lost none of his skill.

It is expected that State will rely mainly on straight power plays and razzle-dazzle, with little, if any, pass work because of the greenness of all the ends except Mickey Sullivan.

A good part of last week's practice for the Red Team was spent on the goal line. The Tech yearlings would make goal line stands, and then they would use Davidson plays in an effort to score.

At Davidson Coach McEver has a full strength squad for the tilt. He placed plenty of emphasis on pass work during the week, with Ed Ned Iverson occupying the limelight on this field.

The star of the Cat backfield is Bill Davis, a triple threat performer who will compete with Art Rooney for the crown's plaudits. The only casualties at State are John Savini, guard, and J. B. Thompson, tackle.

The probable starting line-up for State will be: Fred Gardner and Mickey Sullivan, ends; Ed Coon and Buddy Fry, tackles; Warren Woodens and Fred Mastrolia, full backs; Ken Sands and Andy Pavlovski, guards; Bill Retter, center; and Art Rooney, Bobby Sabolyk, halfbacks.

Immediately before the game there will be a monster demonstration featuring the entire student body of Davidson and the bands from the competing schools. A feature of the game which sports writers will watch with interest will be Doc Newton's bootleg play, of which much has been heard, but whose workings are a deep dark mystery.

The 1938-39 intramural season will commence next Friday at four o'clock simultaneously on the three intramural fields, Red Field, 1911 Field and Freshmen Field.

One more step in expansion was taken when Professor Johnny Miller announced at an intramural meeting last Wednesday night that in addition to the Dormitory League and the Fraternity League, a Military Department League had been formed with Cadet Captain Bill Matheny heading the new outfit.

The purpose of the new league is to make the intramural program more inclusive and to permit students living off-campus, but not in fraternity houses, to participate in the activities. The only limitation imposed on the students is the one prohibiting them from playing for more than one team in the same sport at the same time. Thus a man who plays for a dormitory team or a fraternity team may not play for the Military team.

The Military Science department has pledged its fullest support to help make the new member of the intramural family a success. It will be up to the company commander to pick an athletic manager who will arrange the schedule and see to it that his team turns out for its scheduled games. As there are approximately 70 men to a company, not including officers, there should be an ample number left for the company team. The meeting which was held last Wednesday night in the gymnasium was called by Johnny Miller for the purpose of setting schedules lined up and to acquaint the team managers with the new set-up.

Attendance at this meeting was 100 per cent for the dormitories and all the fraternities were there except Phi Kappa Tau.

Before I close, I want to apologize to Manager Sol Felt and 2nd 7th for not giving them credit last week for having been dormitory champions last year.

Hickman-McEver Feud Boils Anew In Coming Battle

State Line Coach Will Attempt to Even Score; Both All-American While at University of Tennessee

There's a new angle to the N. C. State-Davidson College football feud, which will be renewed for the thirty-first time in Charlotte Saturday night. Already the Doc Newton-Genie McEver angle has been having its inning, and the new part of the rivalry deals with Herman Hickman, the ponderous State line coach, and McEver, head mentor of the Davidson Wildcats.

Hickman and McEver were born within twenty miles of each other. They attended the University of Tennessee, both were named on all-American teams and lived together while they played on the all-East team in San Francisco. They married girls from the same town. Then McEver took to coaching and Hickman to professional football and wrestling. Later Hickman entered the coaching field and they became professional enemies.

As assistant coach at Wake Forest, Hickman saw McEver twice ride to victory over Wake Forest teams as an assistant to Coach Newton, then at Davidson. Newton came to State and Hickman joined him here. Then, in their first start against Davidson, Newton and Hickman were victorious by a 6-2 count.

Now Hickman is out to even the score for a victory Saturday night in Charlotte, for the State Wolfpack will tie the McEver-Hickman feud at two games apiece. Hickman was born in Johnson City, Tenn.; McEver in Bristol, Tenn. Hickman entered Tennessee when McEver was a sophomore, but Gene laid out his senior year, due to an injury, and they finished school together. Hickman married Miss Helen Smith and Gene married Miss Joyce Bennett, both of Knoxville, within a month. Neither has any children.

Two other Tennessee all-American players came from the same twenty-mile radius—Quarterback Bobby Dodd and Halfback Beatty Feathers. About McEver, Hickman says: "He is the greatest ball carrier I ever saw, college or professional." That is some compliment, for Hickman has seen many of the collegiate greats and all of the professionals.

Unpredictable Big Five Teams Roll Into Action

State, Carolina and Duke Open Big Five Loop Race; All Are Labeled "Unknown Quantities"

A week ago it would have been generally conceded that Carolina's Tar Heels would wipe up the field with Wake Forest's Demon Deacons when the two clubs clash this Saturday afternoon in Chapel Hill.

All the Deacons did last Saturday was to score nine touchdowns against a team that met but one reverse last year and was looked upon as a tough one. Coach Walker started seven sophomores and used every member of his squad. Now they call them the amazing sophomores.

The 1938 Tar Heel model which goes on display for the first time will have only five of last year's regulars in the lineup. The others will probably be four of last year's reserves and a couple of sophomores.

The Deacons have one advantage over the Heels. They got the first feel of competition when they played Randolph Macon. The might shown by the Deacons on this occasion boomed the Wake Forest-Carolina game into the feature spot on the week's loop card.

The Duke Blue Devils are still in the experimental stage. There are still plenty of worries about the quarterback assignment, although the line and tackle problems seem to be pretty well settled. The Devils will be heavier than the V. P. I. Gobblers, but undoubtedly will be much slower.

The Gobblers have already earned the name of being heavy enough to hold their own and fast enough to be exceedingly dangerous. Using only straight football, they gave notice to this effect by running over Emory and Henry 33-0.

Coach Doc Newton gave his team a general overhauling and said the Wolfpack, "is a long way from what I hope will be our best." The crafty mentor showed he was anticipating a battle royal with daily workouts despite steady showers. The Wildcats, fresh from a 12-6 triumph over The Citadel, are looking for a tough State team.

Fall Frolics Will Replace Pledge Sets

Deferred Rushing Places Pledge Dances in February; Frolics Set For Second Week in November

Due to the new deferred rushing rules which go into effect for the first time this fall, the Pledge Dances regularly held in the middle of the fall term will be postponed until February, A. S. Salinger, President of the Interfraternity Council has announced. This set of Pledge Dances will take the place of the Mid-winters, which will be moved up to the second week in November and called the Fall Frolics.

ed to have freshmen visit their houses on September 25, the first Sunday visiting is allowed under the new deferred rushing rules, are Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Kappa Pi, Delta Sigma Phi, Phi Kappa Tau, Pi Kappa Alpha, Pi Kappa Phi, and Theta Kappa Nu. The new rushing rules do not apply to upperclassmen or to transfer students who have attended some other college for one year, even though they may be classified as a freshman at State. They can be pledged any time after thirty days.

Lettermen Plan For Banner Year

The State College Monogram Club, under the able direction of President Bunny Hines, is looking forward to one of the best years in the history of the organization.

Next week initiation will begin for those who received monograms in baseball and tennis last spring, while two more initiations will be held later on in the year, one following the football season and the other after the basketball season.

During the winter term the college will see a revival of the Monogram Club's annual "Stupendathon" or "State College Folies." This show is presented entirely by members of the club, and if previous performances are any indication, it should be well worth seeing.

A movement is also under way to organize and establish an alumni chapter of the club in Wake County. This proposal was presented by Joe Rynecka, State's famous all-conference fullback of two years ago.

Officers of the club other than Hines are P. G. Hill, vice president; Bill Matheny, secretary, and Fred Mastrolia, treasurer.

Frosh Instructed On How To Study

The State College YMCA inaugurated the first of a series of weekly discussion programs for freshmen last Wednesday night with the topic, "How To Study," the primary interest of the first-year according to a survey conducted by the "Y" on registration day.

The freshmen were divided into four groups, with a professor to lead the discussion in each individual group. Professors Winton, Jordan, Wynn, and Whitford each took charge of a group and led the discussion in that group, using typical homework assignments to illustrate and stress their points. Dean B. F. Brown will talk next Wednesday on "What is an Education" in the second of the series of discussions.

Pine Burr Sponsors Celebration Dance

As a fitting climax to Greater University Day, and following the State-Carolina football game, the Pine Burr, honorary society, will give a dance in the college gym from 9 until 12 o'clock.

The music for the occasion will be furnished by Key Scales and his orchestra, which contains many members of Jimmy Poyner's band. Poyner's band won fame far and wide for their rhythm, and Key Scales is working along the same line.

On the dance committee of Pine Burr are R. L. Huffman, R. C. Looe, J. P. Sawyer, L. C. Brooks, Bill Scholes, and Jim Worrell.

Ison Pushes Program Of Wolfpack Publicity

State College is really letting North Carolina gridiron addicts know about its highly impressive football schedule by going in for advertising in a big way.

According to Wade Ison, popular young sports publicity director, more than 20,000 windshield stickers, vest pocket schedule cards and large posters have been distributed in addition to 14 large highway signboards erected between High Point and Raleigh.

Ison also stated that more pictures have been taken of this year's Wolfpack than ever before. From-ment newspaper photographers from Atlanta to Richmond have visited the local training field to snap pictures of the gridder going through their paces.

There will be an AIChe meeting Tuesday night, Sept. 27, at 8:45. All members are urged to be present.
