Students' Exhibits Featured At Fair

State Students Excel In Ag Projects; Demonstrations Bring Much Favorable Comment to College

A "fair within the fair" is one of the largest and most interesting exhibits at the current State Fair. Agricultural students at State College have 12 booths, covering 100 front feet of floor space, for an attractive demonstration of their initiative and ability in the practical side of farming. From a humble beginning in 1913, when Prof. C. L. Newman offered $5 in prizes for the finest exhibits in a small corn show, the Students' Agricultural Fair has grown to embrace a wide range of farm activity.

One of the booths at this year's fair is used by Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity. Information booths. Each of the other 11 booths is devoted to an important phase of agriculture.

Until 1928 the corn show and agricultural fair were held on the State College campus. Sponsors decided that year to hold the exposition in conjunction with the State Fair in order to reach a larger portion of the public. Their exhibits were housed in a tent until 1928, when the students were given space in the main exhibit hall, where the exhibit now occupies the east wing.

J. D. Patton is president and Prof. M. E. Gardner is faculty adviser of the Students' Agricultural Fair. Other officers are W. L. Franklin, vice president, and Charles A. Hunter, secretary.

State College Awards First place among the 12 exhibits composing the Students' Agricultural Fair staged by State College students at the State Fair was awarded yesterday to the horticulture exhibit, which stressed the advantages of marketing farm products in attractive packages.

Second place went to the botany exhibit, and third place was won by the animal husbandry display. Agricultural students in charge of the blue ribbon horticulture exhibit were Paul J. Gibson and H. W. Ledbetter. "Would you buy the package that you market?" was the question prominently displayed above the booth. Neat and slip shod methods of packing produce were compared.

The botany exhibit was in charge of Paul H. Wetmore and J. Lloyd Langdon. The theme was peanut disease control, and the display emphasized the advantage of good seed over bad. Methods of controlling crop diseases were shown.

In charge of the third place animal husbandry exhibit were R. —Continued on page 6.

Frosh Rank High In New English Placement Test

Results Show That Average Freshman Is Better In Vocabulary and Usage Than In Spelling

Confronted with a type of English placement test never before used at this college, this year's freshman class succeeded in making an excellent record while taking the annual English examination given in order to separate the class into A, B and C sections.

Six hundred and fifty two freshmen took the test this year, and their average grade was 48 points out of a possible 100. The average age of the freshmen is 18.3.

The highest score made by an individual this year was 77, and the lowest was 11. J. H. Bower of Lexington, made the highest score, 77, and was assigned a grade of 99. Other students making high grades were: R. M. Avery, Winston-Salem, 75.95; E. Bryant, Wilmington, 75.985; H. W. Derlin, Moorestown, N. J., 75.985; R. E. Frickey, Staunton, Va., 75.985; A. H. Pierce, Montreal, Canada, 75.985; E. G. Gibbs, Fort Royal, Va., 75.97; J. A. Bell, Morehead City, 70.955; J. J. Neuer, Wilmington, 69.95; M. K. Banks, Greensboro, 68.945; T. P. Caldwell, Charlotte, 68.945; Collins Horner, Merchantsville, N. J., 68.945; and G. H. Pratt, Arlington, Mass., 68.945.

In former years the English Department separated its students into the various schools in which they enrolled. This practice has been discontinued and therefore no figures are available on the grades —Continued on page 6.

Uniforms For Band Not Here In Time For Deacon Clash

Homecoming Set as Date of First Appearance of New Redcoat Band; Delay Caused In Shipment

It is very improbable that the State College Redcoat Band will sport their new uniforms tomorrow night when they put on an exhibition drill and parade between the halves of the State-Wake Forest football game.

Although some of the new uniforms are already here, a sufficient number to outfit the entire band has not arrived, and until they come the old uniforms will be worn. If they are not here for the game tomorrow, they are certain to be here for Homecoming Day the following Saturday, when Furman plays in Riddick Stadium.

The new uniforms follow the color scheme of those worn by members of the State football team. The coat is of a dark red color, trimmed with white, and the trousers are a neutral gray with a red military stripe down the side.

Tomorrow morning at 9:30 the Redcoat Band and the Drum and Bugle Corps, along with the Raleigh and Fayetteville high school bands, will parade through the business section of Raleigh to remind folks of the State-Wake Forest football game here tomorrow night.

Radio Broadcast Presenting News Of N. C. Colleges

Collegiate News Presented In Conjunction With Music Session Twice Weekly

News of North Carolina colleges is being brought regularly to listeners of the WPTF radio audience each Tuesday and Friday nights at 7:15, in conjunction with another program of college swing tunes.

The news program, sponsored through the cooperation of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association and WPTF, is composed of interesting happenings from the campuses of all North Carolina colleges. The program is compiled and edited by Ed Davidson, official commentator of the NCCPA and managing editor of The Technician, and the news is secured through press bulletins sent in by other colleges in the Press Association.

The program is following in the steps of a similar program inaugurated last year, but has been changed slightly to give the best times to the news presentations. Last year's broadcast was presented once each week for a fifteen-minute period, while this year's collection of college events is presented twice weekly for a five-minute period.

Tune in WPTF each Tuesday and Friday nights, and hear what is happening at the neighboring colleges.

Honor Societies Plan Gala Dance

As a fitting climax to State College's annual homecoming celebration, Blue Key and Golden Chain, honorary and leadership societies, will sponsor a dance in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium on Saturday night, October 22, following the State-Furman football game.

Dancing will take place under a canopy of red and white, traditional State College colors, and both teams will be honored at the dance.

This year's Homecoming is expected to be the largest in the history of the college, and many gala celebrations have been planned.

Members of the dance committee have been hard at work on the final plans, and have issued a large number of advance sale tickets which may be secured from any member of Blue Key or Golden Chain.

Members of the dance committees are Jim Worrell, Walter Fanning, and Russell Burcham.

THEY RULE THE "FAIR WITHIN A FAIR"

Students in the School of Agriculture have one of the largest and most interesting exhibits at the State Fair. Officers of the Student's Agricultural Fair, which has been an annual feature since 1913, are pictured above. Practically every phase of agriculture is embraced in the dozen booths prepared by the college youths.

Jonas Criticizes New Deal Program

Plays Excessive Spending of Federal Funds; Says New Administration Necessary

Charles A. Jonas, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, told an audience last Tuesday night in the College YMCA that Jeffersonian Democrats can save the Constitution and the American form of government by switching their votes to the Republican banner.

"Men should not be cramped in their political activity by hidebound partisanship," declared Mr. Jonas, whose appearance was sponsored by the State College chapter of the International Relations Club, and a believe that the Senate can get along without my competitor. At least, it has had to a great deal of the time." What does matter, declared Jonas, is the abolition of the present administration.

The speaker was presented by Willis G. Briggs, Republican candidate for Congress in the Fourth District. Charles G. Hinkle, president of the International Relations Club, presided.

Final Plans Completed For Press Convention

Washington Duke Hotel Given as Location of Annual Pressmen Conference

An announcement late yesterday by C. R. Lefort, secretary of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association, set the place for the annual press convention as the Washington-Duke Hotel in Durham.

This convention, which will be held on November 3, 4, and 5, will bring together delegates from a majority of North Carolina colleges. Duke University will be host to the meeting.

Walter James, business manager of the Duke Chronicle, and president of the NCCPA, will head the delegation when they gather in Durham.

Final Plans Made For Opening Day Of Moot Assembly

State-Furman Clash Will Be Day's Feature; To Be Climaxed by Dance in Gym

Student Delegates to Mock Legislature Will Gather In State Capitol

Scheduled to be one of the great celebrations that State College has ever put on, the annual Homecoming Day and Dad's Day will get under way next Friday evening and continue through the following day.

As a suitable beginning for the great celebration, the entire student body will assemble in Riddick Stadium at 7 p. m. for a pre-game pep meeting, which will be broadcast over WPTF. Following the broadcast, the festivities will switch to Pullen Hall and the annual Blue Key Stunt Night. All campus organizations have been invited to compete, with prizes to be awarded to the winners.

Red Field will be the scene of the yearly Freshman-Sophomore bonfire competition. Each class will collect as much debris as possible during Friday afternoon from 2-6, and the two piles will be lighted that night. A war dance around the blazes will feature the contest. There has been keen rivalry between the two groups for many years. This year the winning class will be allowed to paint their numerals on the dairy barns. The administration requests that no material be taken from any construction projects on the campus.

Saturday at noon the alumni luncheon will be held in the college cafeteria. The Wake County Chapter will act as host to the other groups.

The dormitories and fraternity houses on the campus will be decorated for the occasion, with the winning decorations receiving awards. Open house will be observed in houses and dormitories after the State-Furman football game on Saturday afternoon.

The events of the day will be wound up at the Homecoming Dance in the gymnasium in the evening.

Program cards announcing the complete schedule for Homecoming Day are to be distributed to students this week. It is hoped that these will be mailed home so that all families will be fully informed of the splendid program that has been arranged for the celebration.

Final Plans Made For Opening Day Of Moot Assembly

Student Delegates to Mock Legislature Will Gather In State Capitol

Hundreds of North Carolina collegians are expected in Raleigh Nov. 4-5 for the second annual State Legislative Assembly sponsored by Pi Kappa Delta, State College debating fraternity, to stimulate interest in law-making and to prepare the participants for possible legislative careers.

Meeting in the legislative halls of the State Capitol, the Student Assembly will act on bills of the same nature as those which will be presented to the real legislature when it convenes here in January. Regular parliamentary procedure will be used.

Last year's Student Legislative Assembly drew to Raleigh 125 students from 17 North Carolina colleges. The meeting was the first of its kind ever held in the South.

C. K. Watkins, star member of the State College debate squad, is president of the Assembly. R. S. Smith is vice president in charge of membership and George Lippard is secretary.

Committeemen appointed to handle arrangements for the Assembly are L. M. Brown, Dick McPhail, J. F. Webb, Jr., B. G. Andrews, H. B. Huberman, J. T. Frye, C. S. Harris, H. R. McSwain and M. K. Berkut.

Military Frat Holds Smoker

Upsilon Sigma Alpha, national professional military fraternity, entertained 50 members of the junior and senior advanced ROTC course last night at a smoker held in the Y.M.C.A.

Major Kenneth G. Altough, the principal speaker of the evening, gave a resume of world conditions since the close of the Great War in 1918. Francis Johnson, past president of the State College chapter, spoke briefly on the value of the fraternity to both the undergraduate and the alumnus.

The smoker was part of the Rush Week plans and next week invitations will be extended to both juniors and seniors.

Textile Men To Hear Address By Mill Head

There will be an important meeting of the Topping Textile Society on Tuesday night, October 18 in the Textile Building, President Ed Johnson has announced.

Entertainment at the informal meeting will be furnished by several State students who will offer musical selections. The speaker of the evening will be a prominent executive from one of the leading North Carolina mills.

Wolfpack Prepared For Deacon Clash

Military Men Plan Tapping Ceremony For New Members

Invitations To Be Extended To Six Cadets on Battalion Fields at Drill Today

Invitations to join Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military fraternity, will be extended to six outstanding seniors at the tapping ceremonies to be held on the battalion fields at drill today.

Two members of Scabbard and Blade will appear before each of the assembled battalions and read the orders containing the names of the newly selected cadets, who will then front and center to receive their formal invitation.

Initiation will begin on Monday, October 24 and continue until Sunday morning, October 30. During this period, the new men will be required to wear formal uniforms at all times, salute all members of Scabbard and Blade, cut all their corners square and eat square meals. J. A. Worrell is chairman of the initiation committee.

E. A. Dees, Captain of Scabbard and Blade, is planning to attend the national convention to be held in Berkeley, California from November 9 to 12. Dees will make the trip as representative of the State College chapter.

Greeks Set Dates For Fall Dances

Will Replace Former Pledge Dances; Named Black and White Formals

The dates for the Black and White Formals, fall presentations of the Interfraternity Council, were tentatively set for November 11 and 12 at a meeting of the council yesterday.

Black and White Formals, the name officially approved for the dances, will replace the pledge dances which were presented during the fall term of previous years. Due to the installation of deferred rushing, it became necessary to move the pledge dances to the second term.

The Formals will include two dances, Friday and Saturday nights. There will be no tea dance because of the State-Detroit football game which will be played here that afternoon. The members of both teams will be the guests of the council at the Saturday night dance.

In keeping with the name of the series, the gymnasium will be attractively decorated in black and white, while the girls who are to appear in the figure at the Saturday dance will be attired in white to contrast with the dress suits of their escorts and thus further the black and white scheme.

The orchestra for the dances has not yet been selected, but it is now under consideration of the committee, which is made up of Bill Hood, Phi Kappa Tau, Bill Griffin, Theta Kappa Nu, Al Hattaway, Sigma Pi, and Charlie Weber, Alpha Lambda Tau.

Jay Cees Plan Parade For Tech-Deacon Tilt

State Band Joins With Raleigh and Fayetteville High Bands to Remind Raleigh of Gridiron Clash

As a part of the Jay Cees' program to forward the interests of State College, the Raleigh Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a parade down Fayetteville Street tomorrow morning to remind Raleigh citizens of the State-Wake Forest football game tomorrow night.

The parade will feature three bands—the Redcoat Band of State, and the bands of the Raleigh and Fayetteville high schools—in the procession which will be something of an automobile show. Local dealers will have their 1939 models in the parade.

Plans of the Jay Cees for boosting the meeting of the Techs and Deacons also include playing of decorations on Fayetteville Street lamp standards. Merchants are cooperating by decorating many of their store windows with football as a theme.

State Rated As Underdog in Major Big Five Battle; Kickoff At 8 o'clock in Riddick Stadium

By ART RAYMOND

"Wake Forest is better this year than last and is getting better every game," Coaches Bob Warren, Herman Hickman, and Nig Waller reported to State supporters this week in referring to the coming clash between the Deacons and State's Wolfpack this Saturday night. The kick-off is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Invitations to join Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military fraternity, will be extended to six outstanding seniors at the tapping ceremonies to be held on the battalion fields at drill today.

Two members of Scabbard and Blade will appear before each of the assembled battalions and read the orders containing the names of the newly selected cadets, who will then front and center to receive their formal invitation.

Initiation will begin on Monday, October 24 and continue until Sunday morning, October 30. During this period, the new men will be required to wear formal uniforms at all times, salute all members of Scabbard and Blade, cut all their corners square and eat square meals. J. A. Worrell is chairman of the initiation committee.

Pep Up Tonight

A pep meeting in preparation for the Wake Forest game tomorrow will be held tonight at 7 o'clock in Pullen Hall. C. L. Mosley, chief cheerleader announced yesterday.

All students are urged to attend the pep meeting and boost the Wolfpack to victory over the Deacons tomorrow. After the Deacons' Wolfpack this Saturday night, the Deacons will go to Riddick Stadium for the State-Belmont Abbey freshman football game.

The Scintillant Sophs from nearby Wake Forest have racked up 114 points in four games, an average of 28 points per game, and these were against four of the toughest teams in the South. State has averaged six and one-third points per game, and has lost two-thirds defensively against even tougher teams.

The Sophs from Wake Forest were led in the line by Allen Powers, tackle; John Penegarast, and Louis Trunso, hard-hitting guards. At end the Deacons have in John Jett one of the biggest and hardest hitting men in the State. Because of his size, Jett is one of the toughest men for the offense to move.

The Deacons are led in the backfield by three sophes and a senior. Captain George Wintz, senior backfield ace, has been the spear-head of the Deacons all season. He has scored in all of the Deacon games. The others in the Wake backfield, a trio of hard-charging sophes, are Gary Galovick, Marshall Edwards, and Red Maberry.

Mercer Addresses Freshman Class During Assembly

Lecturer Tells First Year Students of Experiences; Warns Them to be Careful

Students gathered at the freshman assembly last week heard the life experiences of Ted Mercer, a lecturer who has been travelling among the colleges of this nation for the past twenty years and who has addressed many thousands of college students.

Stating that, "What I don't know would fill more volumes than are in the Congressional Library in Washington," Mercer said that he was slightly older than the students whom he addressed, and that he thought he might give some warning message to thoughtless young men.

Mercer cautioned the class against the formation of wrong habits and stressed the power of habits formed while in college. He pointed out that there were three types of people, namely those who learned through personal experience, those who never did learn through experience or in any manner, and those who learned through the experiences of others.

For their own success and usefulness in the world Mercer advised the students to stay away from drinking, gambling, impurity of living, corrupt associations, and idleness.

Do You Have Yours? According to an announcement made yesterday by W. L. Mayer, director of registration, there are still about 150 registration cards remaining in his office to be called for by students.

Many Students Through Midway At State Fair

Numerous Thrills Keep College Boys Entertained; Exhibits Best in Years

Students turned their backs on college this week and began their annual visit to the State Fair for their fill of thrills, amusement, excitement, and educational exhibits. The Fair began last Tuesday and will end tomorrow.

While thrilling to daredevilry of speed-crazed "Lucky" Teter and his maniacal crew of "Hell Drivers," and to the breath-taking antics of trapeze artists cavorting about the sky, the students could find very little time for classes Wednesday afternoon, although no official holiday was declared by college officials.

Slap-stick comedy from the side shows, curious oddities gathered from all parts of the world, the thin man, the fat lady, loop-the-loop, ferris wheels, and whips all served to keep the State College students engaged and happy. Classes were forgotten, and the threat of the cuts bothered but few students.

Record crowds poured into the Fairgrounds Wednesday and Thursday, and Manager J. S. Dotson predicted that if the fair weather continues through Saturday, he will be able to report a new all-time record. This is the second year the Fair has been operated by the State of North Carolina. Prior to last year it was operated by private enterprises.

Harness races will be featured this afternoon, followed immediately by the revues. A brilliant fireworks display will be featured at 9:30 tonight. Today is "school day" and will probably attract more visitors than any other day.

The automobile races, always of extreme interest to the college students, will take place Saturday afternoon with some of the best drivers in the country participating.

Sammy Baugh Says College Ball Tougher

Slingin' Sammy Baugh, after a year among the pros, has found out that the professional game isn't as rough as he had imagined.

As a rule, the money men play a lot cleaner, Sammy contends. Because they're more match, they know that kind of play will only return them what they give.

Inspired by pep talks, the collegians are always trying for that extra few inches when lugging the ball. To do this, means that a second wave of tacklers will hit them and injuries will result. The professionals don't make that old college try for the few extra inches and in that way avoid many injuries.

Baugh feels that Cliff Battles was able to play through seven years of pro competition without injury because of a loping stride he perfected. Usually when hit, the impact was not so great as if he had been on the ground.

Bronko Nagurski was an opposite type. He ran with a high knee action with so much drive that tacklers directly in front of him had trouble stopping him.

Baugh does admit, however, that the money men occasionally do slip in a punch or two. The practice is not frequent, however, he contends.

Phi Psi Gives Picnic For Faculty Members

The State College chapter of Phi Psi, textile school fraternity, was host to the members of the Textile School faculty at a stag picnic held at Lake Granite last Saturday evening.

The refreshments were served before open camp fires and the entire group joined in a round of songs and jokes.

After the meal, a general discussion was held concerning the present condition of the fraternity and the plans for this coming year. The organization is planning for a banner year, with provisions being made for numerous social and scholastic affairs.

Those present other than the active members of Phi Psi were: Dean Thomas A. Nelson, Professor Hilton, Professor Hayes, Professor Shinn and instructors Bagley, Feiler and Malone.

Greaves-Walker To Attend Meet

Dr. A. F. Greaves-Walker, head of the Department of Ceramic Engineering, will leave Oct. 16 for Des Moines, Iowa, for a three-day meeting of the National Council of State Boards of Engineering Examiners.

Special efforts will be made, Dr. Greaves-Walker said, to persuade 10 states to install boards of examiners to license engineers for practice of their profession. North Carolina and 37 other states already have such boards.

State Records Show Very Few Defeats In Annual Classics

Records Show Twenty-two Victories, Six Losses and Two Ties; Rivalry Dates Back to 1908

Second only to the great rivalry between State and Carolina is the State-Wake Forest feud which is to be renewed here this Saturday.

This year's battle will be the 31st in the series which dates back to 1908 when the two schools played two games. The Pack has scored twenty-two victories against six losses and two ties.

State won every game up until 1918 when a strong Deacon took them into camp 21-0. Since then however the teams have become more evenly matched and the games are harder fought.

In 1932 and 1933 the two teams fought to a scoreless tie. Since then the Techs have won on the odd years and lost on the even.

Last year the Techs took a veteran Deacon team into camp to the tune of 20-0 and from all indications you can look for a little difference in the score this year.

Coon and Pate to Lead Two Of Hardest Charging Lines In State; Hickman Coached Both Players

Coach Herman Hickman, the former Wake Forest College line mentor who handles the same position at N. C. State College, is expecting one of the liveliest line duels of the year here Saturday night when State's Ed (Ty) Coon and Wake Forest's Rupert Pate lead their brothers against each other in a Southern Conference football game.

While Coon was gaining national recognition for his great play against the vaunted University of Alabama team in Tuscaloosa, Ala., Coach Hickman put his expert scouting eye on Pate and the other Deacons at Columbia, S. C., where they engaged and defeated the University of South Carolina.

Big Ty was called "the best tackle I have seen this year," by Coach Frank Thomas of Alabama. Thomas is a nationally known figure, who annually assists with selecting all-America material. And Coon really played himself a ball game down there in Alabama. It was the third week that he has starred. First it was against Davidson, in State's opener; then against North Carolina, and then against the powerful Tide.

"Pate and Louis Trusso are two of the best college linemen I ever saw," Hickman declared, adding, "and while Coon and Pate play on opposite sides of the line, it will be interesting to see them in action in the same game."

Coon is a 202-pound junior from Watertown, Conn., who prepped at White Plains, N. Y., and who attracted the State coaches last year with his fast game. Handicapped by afternoon labs that prevented his giving much time to football, Coon excelled on defense, but this year, with more time to practice, he has polished his offensive play and is equally adept in that department of the game.

Pate is a junior weighing 190 pounds. He comes from Goldsboro and was on the Wake freshman team when Hickman coached there. Like Coon, he is six feet one inch tall. Pate is 20 years of age; Coon, 23.

lina's dark horses will entertain the Davidson Wildcats.

Furman opens its campaign with The Citadel and Clemson will attempt to topple Richmond from its first rung position.

Geo. Wirtz, of Wake Forest, Al Miller, V. P. L., and Buddy Lawless are leading the scoring loop with 24 points apiece with Ed Clary, South Carolina triple-threat, second with 21 points.

The present loop line-up:

Funds Solicited For Outfitting Drum-Bugle Corp

New Uniforms for Military Musicians Will be Distinctive in Style, But in Traditional State Colors

Inspired by the splendid cooperation offered by the students in the drive for band uniforms last year, the Military Department is sponsoring a drive for funds with which to purchase 40 new uniforms for the crack State College Drum and Bugle Corps.

According to Major Kenneth Althaus the movement has met with a gratifying response so far. A large percentage of the senior cadets have already contributed a dollar from their last check and many of the other students have pledged a contribution to be taken out of their military deposit.

The drive is being made in an effort to improve the appearance of the military musical units. Several selected members of the Band and Drum and Bugle Corps will assist the Military Department in the selection of uniforms. It is planned to have the uniforms conform more directly to the college colors. They will not be the same as those worn by the Redcoat Band.

Gus Tebell, former coach at N. C. State and now an athletic official at the University of Virginia, will umpire Saturday night's N. C. State-Wake Forest football game in Raleigh. Other officials will be Dutch Eberts of Washington, D. C., referee; Fats Heath of Raleigh, headman, and Hap Perry of Reidsville, field judge.

This Week's Wolf...

Ed Coon

Seen here is Edward Howard Coon, tackle on this year's Wolfpack and recently called by the Crimson Tide coach the best tackle of the year.

Coon is a 202-pound junior from Watertown, Conn., who attended school at White Plains, N. Y. While at White Plains he earned monograms in football and track. He is six feet tall.

Handicapped the first year by afternoon college work, he first attracted the coaches' attention by his fine defensive play. Since then he has been groomed to be one of the most potent tackles in the South. Ed has won a great amount of national recognition in the last three games.

Ed's hobbies are athletics and pipes and he thinks calculus is easy. He is known as Ed to most of his friends and thinks there's nothing better than a large T-bone steak.

Fry To Face Deacs For Last Time In Saturday's Clash

Five Seniors From State and a Handful From Wake Forest to Play Their Last Collegiate Game Against Each Other

One of five seniors on N. C. State's varsity football squad, George (Buddy) Fry is looking forward to Saturday night when he will face the Wake Forest Demon Deacons for the last time.

In a way it will be a rubber game for the Raleigh boy, who won his first football spurs while playing prep ball in West Virginia and who came here to star as a freshman and then perform three years on the varsity.

In 1936 Wake won 9-0 and a year ago, George and his mates topped Wake over on the Deacon campus by the score of 20-0. It was a bruising battle marred by rough play and many penalties. But Buddy Fry wasn't involved in any tactics that might be called unnecessarily rough. He isn't that kind of a player, yet he gives no quarter and asks none. He plays hard, clean football and has no time or thought for underhanded play.

Fry is one of four star tackles who are slated to start the game. The others are Ed (Ty) Coon, George's running mate, and Rupert Pate and Allen Powers, powerful Deacons.

All four are in the race for all-star honors and while Coon and Pate hold the spotlight at this writing, Fry and Powers are expected to have their say Saturday night.

Also playing against the Deacons their third and last time will be Guards Warren Wooden, Steve Acai, Freddy Mastrolia and Bill Matheny. Wake Forest has only a handful of seniors, too. They are Guard Roy Evans, End John Weaver, and Backs Rink and Dink Pittman and Captain George Wirtz.

Badminton and Archery Added As New Sports

J. F. Miller Announces Addition of Two New Sports For Student Recreation

J. F. Miller, director of athletics at State College, announced last week that he was initiating a new recreational program to include archery and badminton.

Mr. Miller stated that the two new sports would be primarily for recreation and that there would be no teams formed unless there was enough interest shown. However, Mr. Miller said the archery team may get matches with the Raleigh Archery Club or the Raleigh Athletic Association.

Mr. Miller has secured two targets for practice and all those interested may report to Riddick Stadium at 4:30 every afternoon. There has been no practice this week because of football.

Most of the students already interested in the sports have secured their own bows and arrows. Another recreational sport Mr. Miller is attempting to establish for the students is badminton. This, too, will be primarily for recreation.

The athletic department has secured the necessary equipment and expects to use it as an outside and inside sport.

If enough interest is shown in the two sports they may be added to the intramural program.

[We have as guest writer this week John Marshall, of the Raleigh Times. John accompanied the team to Alabama and wrote an excellent account of it. We are reprinting it in this column. Take it John]

By JOHN MARSHALL

The Wolfpack Returns

There is nothing but praise for the N. C. State football squad, which returned to Raleigh early Monday from Tuscaloosa, after 14 to 0 defeat at the hands of Alabama's Crimson Tide, ranking No. 1 team in America.

The score tells little. It is true the Tech boys went down before a murderous attack of the Rose Bowlers, but that tells practically nothing of the heroic efforts of the Wolfpack.

The Game A Masterpiece

The homecoming crowd of 15,000 which had gathered to see the Tide run rough-shod over the Wolfpack, received the surprise of its life. It witnessed one of the greatest exhibitions of courage ever exhibited on a Southern gridiron.

First, the Alabamians—players, coaches and fans—had taken the game with the West Raleigh team lightly. They were cocky from the start. After 15 minutes of the game had been played and State had shoved Alabama's shock troops around, the fans and players awoke to the fact the Tide was in for a real afternoon of football.

'Bama's Passing Attack Pays Dividends

It wasn't a letdown that lost the game. It was a superior passing game of Alabama. In the third and fourth quarters Coach Newton's boys really showed their gameness. With the odds hopelessly against them they refused to quit or let up the least bit.

On three occasions the West Raleigh team was backed up in the very shadows of the goal posts. Twice the line threw back the best efforts of the Alabama first string backs. The third time Andy Pavlovsky intercepted a pass on the one-yard line to stave off a score.

There was not a competent football man in the stadium who would not confirm the judgment that the State line, from end to end, outplayed the two Alabama lines most of the time.

The Highlights

Out of the game came many interesting highlights. The play of the State line, including every man who played during the game, was sensational. The linemen sliced through the heavy Alabama line to smear runners for losses. They piled up the interference. They stopped the hard-charging backs at the line of scrimmage. They blocked one punt and came dangerously close to blocking another.

The passer had to throw in a hurry as they rushed back at him all afternoon. On the offense the callous Tech linemen tried time and again to open a path for the ball carriers but without much success. But they kept trying.

The backfield play was equally as brilliant on the defense. State plugged up holes, whenever Alabama players succeeded in getting an opening, and grounded many passes. Art Rooney, Pat Fehley, Andy Pavlovsky and Kon Sands all contributed brilliant performances.

Twice Art Rooney came up with a sensational play. Once Fehley had broken off tackle and had three men leading him goalward at full speed. Only Rooney remained between him and the last stripe. Rooney weaved his way into the interference, and brought down the speedy back on the 11-yard line. At this point the line staged one of those great stands and held the Tide for two yards' gain in four plays.

Ed Coon Goes To Town

While every player on the State squad played a big part in the great stand and played an excellent game, it was Ed Coon who really stole the show. In saying this I do not mean to take credit from any of the others, and I realize the support of his teammates made his excellent showing possible. However, after riding on a train about 700 miles with them I believe they are of the same opinion.

The game was in its closing minutes when a substitute, Bill Windley, went into the game for Coon. As Ed Coon trotted off the field at Denny Stadium a crowd rose to its feet and paid tribute to that great football player. As a man the homecoming's trust, quiet for a few moments, and then as he neared the players' bench a great ovation went up. The press box joined in and the radio commentators began spreading the news of his playing.

Fans Pay Tribute To A Great Tackle

For nearly 44 minutes, Ed Coon gave everything he had—his heart, his body and his spirit. He charged like a mad man. At times he took a lot of punishment and many times he appeared groggy, but he would not let up. On defense he sliced through to smear plays and jam the works. It was a blocked punt that first brought him to the eyes of the sports writers. Early in the first quarter he blocked a kick. The third time one had been blocked on an Alabama team in five years. When the game was over, Alabama players looked up the State tackle and congratulated him for his fine play.

Alabama coaches looked up Coon and paid tribute. Later Thomas told the press Coon was the greatest tackle he had seen perform this season.

Coon's great play was a bright light, but State had the fightingest team I ever saw. It was great.

State left the field Saturday afternoon on the short end of the score. Naturally, they were so tired they could hardly drag one foot after the other. But they walked off the field with heads high—they had given their best. A great team lost to a more superior one.

Big Five Teams Face Tough Week-End

State and Duke Will Be Hosts To Old Rivals

Devils to Entertain Georgia Tech; State-Wake Forest Battle Saturday Night; Carolina and Davidson Away

Saturday's game between Duke and Georgia Tech will be the 13th meeting between teams coached by Wallace Wade and Bill Alexander. The meeting started when Wade was at Alabama and this year's game shows promise of little let-down in the feud.

This week the Dukes have been putting most of their time on pass defense. Duke coaches rate the Techs aerial game very high.

The coaches continued all week to change the No. 1 club about. Davis has been pushing up to the blocking post for his fine play in the Colgate game. At tackles Maloney, Ribar, and Eaves are likely to get the starting call. At end William Penne and Bill Bailey are playing excellent head-up ball and no change was made. Wes McAttee continued to hold Tipton's post in the backfield.

Tipton who suffered a knee and head injury at Colgate, is not expected to see service Saturday.

The Duke-Tech game may be decided by two great lines. The Techs forward wall completely outplayed two Notre Dame lines while Duke's line strength was indicated when it held Colgate to a net yardage of zero.

State-Wake Forest

Doc Newton continued secret drills all through this week in preparation for the wanted attack of Wake Forest Sophs.

The Wakes, riding on the wake of a three game winning spurge, in which they have averaged 28 points per game, may be on the way down this week.

Lead by the galloping trio in the backfield they will be a hard team for the Techs to stop, but the improved spirit as shown at Alabama last week makes the tilt even more of a toss up.

This game too will be a test for two superb lines. The Techs held the vaunted Alabama attack to two touchdowns one by an aerial, while the Deacons have been scored on but once through the line.

Carolina Away

The Tar Heels leave the State this week for a N. Y. U. in their second inter-sectional match. Stinging from a 17-14 set back at the hands of Tulane, they'll be plenty tough for the Violets of N. Y. U.

N. Y. U. indicated their one worry from the Tar Heels would be their overhead attacks. In a last two hour scrimmage the Violets had little trouble with Carolina ground plays, but had difficulty solving the aerial attack.

Coach Ray Wolf will be without the services of Bob Adam, ace pivotman, who was injured in the State game.

Davidson

The Davidson Cats travel to South Carolina this week to take on the Gamecocks.

The Gamecocks lost a tough one last week and will be tough to stop on the rebound.

Pika's To Honor Wolfpack Tuesday

Local Fraternity to Honor Football Team and Coaches; Banquet to be Broadcast

The members of Alpha Epsilon chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity will entertain members of the football team and the coaching staff at a banquet next Tuesday night at 6 o'clock.

This will be the third annual football banquet put on by the chapter in an effort to draw the team and student body closer together.

The banquet will be broadcast from the chapter house between 7:30 and 7:45 Tuesday evening. Toastmaster for the banquet will be John Miholland, president of the chapter.

Guests of Pi Kappa Alpha, besides the team will be Wade Leon, N. C. State publicity manager, J. Von Glahn, N. C. State athletic business manager, John Marshall, sports editor of Raleigh Times, Anthony McKeelin, sports editor of the News and Observer, and J. B. Clark, WPTF radio commentator.

Guest speakers for the occasion are Coach Williams "Doc" Newton, Geo. Fry, Art Rooney and Charlie Smart.

The banquet will be an informal affair.

Basketball

Coach R. R. Serrmon, able mentor of the State College basketball team, issued a call yesterday for all basketball men to report to the gymnasium to start practice at 4:30 Monday afternoon.

Dr. Serrmon also stated that there would be no cross-country team this year unless more interest was shown.

DARK HORSE

Seen here is Pat Fehley, sophomore dark horse on Doc Newton's new edition of the Wolfpack. Fehley has been performing as understudy for Art Rooney, but his fine all-round play on offense and defense in the Carolina game served notice that he was of first string caliber. Newton is now using his two leading attackers, Rooney and Fehley, in the same backfield.

Professor Johnny Miller's latest brain-child, the Military League, made its formal bow to the public last Tuesday when Company F, substituted Company E, as they turned in a splendid performance. Both teams gained three first downs, but F company's passing was hot and they reached pay dirt three times.

The best performance of the day was turned in by Captain Irby, who played brilliant ball at the end position, making two of Company F's scores.

Charley "Sweet" Kalaf threw all of the F's passes and made two runs of 20 yards apiece.

The first quarter saw Company F score twice, and convert once, on a pass from Kalaf to Hill.

F took to the air-ways again in the third quarter and scored on a twenty-five yard pass, which closed scoring for the day.

Mike Goral and Captain Carroway led the E company offense, while Riley played well at end.

On other fronts teams went up in the league ratings, while others went down in defeat.

The most thrilling game of the week was played between 3rd Seventh and 1st and 2nd South. The Sevenths managed to eke out a 13-12 victory by virtue of Wally Kirkland's accurate passing and running and Frankie Sabo's running and pass receiving. Scoring was started when Frisby ran 70 yards for a score for South.

In another neck and neck game Lambda Chi nosed out AKPI 6-0 after Marlin intercepted a pass and scored with it.

2nd 1911 took 1st 1911 to the tune of 6-0 in a slow game, in which neither side showed anything.

AGR kept in the win column by the details of the swimming and wrestling matches, so all you pretzel-twisters and fish better start rounding out into shape.

Wallermen Ready For Opening Tilt, To Use Twin Teams

Frosh Open Season In Riddick Stadium Tonight; Play Tough Belmont Abbey Team

The two-team idea Coach Williams (Doc) Newton has used with the N. C. State varsity will be followed by Coach Nig Waller in Friday night's game between his freshmen and Belmont Abbey, according to present plans.

Coach Waller said he is undecided as to which of the following teams he will start against the Crusaders:

Team A—Alvin Phillips and Frank Owens, ends; Woodrow Jones and Curtis Ramsey, tackles; John Barr and Bill Cooper, guards; Charley Jones, center; and Gerald McHugh, Earl Stewart, Hoot Gibson and Jumbo Czerniewski, backs.

Team B—Val Morgan and either Ed Allen or Marion Stillwell, ends; Francis Farrell and Henry Boltrek, tackles; Chick Doak, Jr., and John Waters, guards; Bill Parker, center, and Peanut Doak, Norman Wiggin, Don Gillespie and Jack Huckabee, backs.

The frosh will be making their debut and also will be opening the big football week-end in Central North Carolina. The next afternoon, Duke plays Georgia Tech in Durham and immediately after that contest thousands of football lovers will drive over here for the classic Wake Forest-N. C. State varsity engagement.

One of the Belmont Abbey coaches is a former State player, Joe Schwerdt, who graduated last June after three years of varsity football. He joined the Abbey staff this fall as general assistant to the veteran Humpy Wheeler, who in previous years has lost one game and won one game from the Whelps.

Newton Finds 'Pack Weakest At End Posts

Only One Letter End Left Over From Last Year; Gardner Out for Rest of This Season

The weakness Coach Williams (Doc) Newton knew his N. C. State Wolfpack had before the season started still is glaring.

The 1937 Newton Pack graduated four letter ends—men the likes of Connie Mack Berry, Carroll Conrad, Jess Tatum and Dick Thompson.

Scholastic difficulties trapped a couple of sophomore wingmen, Bob Wagenfeld and Conway Yost, both of whom weighed over 200 pounds and were being counted on to play a lot of end this year.

With those six men gone, Coach Newton set to work to mould a flanking squadron that would hold its own against the toughest foes in Wolfpack history. The second game cost State end No. 7, Fred Gardner being forced to the sidelines with a shoulder injury. He bounded back for the next game, the one with Alabama, and before it was ten minutes old a knee injury put the Smithfield boy on the bench probably for the rest of the season.

Meanwhile Newton tried innumerable other squadmen at the terminals and with Wake Forest coming here Saturday night boasting the strongest eleven in a dozen years, Newton will have to call on a couple of fellows named Mickey to help hold the talented Wakes at bay.

They are Mickey Sullivan, only letter end in camp, and Mickey Thompson, who never saw a game of football until matriculating at State two years ago.

Sullivan already has proven his ability and Thompson, as big Fred Gardner's substitute, has done creditable work, despite his lack of experience.

Unless further injury overtakes the Pa during the week, Gardner will be the only Wolf missing when the kickoff comes at 8 o'clock Saturday night in Riddick Stadium here.

The Wolf coaches are pushing their charges hard for they are anxious to return to the win column after having lost hard-fought games to the Universities of North Carolina and Alabama.

ELECTRICAL TROUBLE SHOOTER

TWO men are carefully examining a large x-ray photograph in a darkened room. One of them points to some dark spots, some wavy lines. "There's the trouble."

This might well be taking place in a large medical laboratory. Instead, factory production lines and machinery are only a few feet away—it is a testing room in which x-ray photographs of steel castings are examined. In many such rooms, in all parts of the country, other engineers are making like tests—tests that ferret out defects in castings before they can cause trouble.

Knowing in detail the symptoms of every defect, these engineers, guided by the x-ray, detect gas pockets, shrinkage areas, and internal cracks. They eliminate all but "smooth" castings.

Such applications, of which many persons are not aware, are typical results of the constant search by G-E engineers for new uses of the x-ray. And not all of these engineers are veterans—some only a few years ago completed their studies in engineering schools and came on Test with General Electric.

The new tests, published by the Cooperative Test Service, of New York, consists of three parts: usage of words, spelling, and vocabulary. Results of the tests show that the average freshman is at least 10 per cent better in usage and vocabulary than in spelling. Since this is the first time the new test has been used here, it is impossible to present a fair comparison of the work of this year's freshmen with that of preceding freshman classes.

Exam Insurance

Becoming Popular

Recently a story came out of Providence College stating that six undergraduates had proposed a novel plan of insuring fellow students against the danger of flunking their examinations. The story was printed in scores of newspapers all over the country, and the president of the Student's Protective Insurance Company received thousands of letters from students wanting to find out how the system was run.

Fraternity Rushing Progresses Rapidly

As practically one month of fraternity rushing under the deferred system has passed, prospective freshmen have been highly entertained in many manners.

Fraternities, in their bi-monthly Sunday programs, have included hay rides, weller roasts, parties, games, and all manner of amusements.

According to the deferred rushing system, each fraternity is allotted two Sundays out of each month in which to entertain the rushes either at their chapter houses or in some different nature. During the rest of the week upperclassmen are not allowed to enter the dormitories to talk to freshmen concerning fraternities, and no bids will be extended until the beginning of the second term in January.

By having a period of two weeks between each day of entertainment the fraternities are afforded plenty of time to make their preparations and to extend their invitations. Upperclassmen and transfer students may be pledged to a fraternity at any time during the year.

More smokers everywhere are turning to Chesterfield's refreshing mildness and better taste.

It takes good things to make a good product. That's why we use the best ingredients a cigarette can have—mild ripe tobaccos and pure cigarette paper—to make Chesterfield the cigarette that smokers say is milder and better-tasting.
