NEWS HIGHLIGHTS by "Spud" Davidson

Most Dislikeful... Maybe these are the words that they should have used to describe the latest issue of the Carolina "Broccoli" for word reaches us that they burned 4,000 issues of the magazine... The reason seems to have been that it was not the type of publication that would appeal to the higher type of student.

Thanksgiving... We notice yesterday an official proclamation arrived from the Governor's office of the State of North Carolina, telling the citizens of this great State that the Day of Thanksgiving has been officially set for this State on the 30th day of November.

Less Drinking... President William P. Few of Duke University laid the law down to the students Tuesday.

Lost! The Wataugan... It seems that the sole cause for the delay in the initial publication of our Wataugan can be traced to a national advertising campaign and an error. According to the editor, these arrived in a package at the State College warehouse almost ten days ago, then days behind schedule.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR Editor's Note: THE TECHNICIAN welcomes letters to this column, provided they are signed and dated. However, we reserve the right to edit or cut them as we see fit.

Dear Mr. Davidson: The administration wishes to commend the student body and the team for the very fine day which we had. The students' support of the team, the playing of the members of the team, and the interest of the students in our visiting high school students were all very inspiring and gratifying to the administration.

Dear Editor: Just a short note to congratulate the State College student body for the fine spirit manifested at the State-Duquesne game on last Saturday.

Dear Editor: An excellent article was handed to me this week by one who is a loyal supporter of State College, and I want to pass it on to you. It appears to be the following form: "The State College family and friends have taken a lot of friendly ribbing since their defeat at the hands of the Chapel Hill unit of the University system."

Dear Editor: There is something that should be said from my pen this week that is by far more important at the present time than my quest for an auditorium. However, I still think that an auditorium is the last word around here, but at present we must lay it aside for something that needs immediate attention.

All schools and colleges in North Carolina closed for one day last week for Kay Kyser's homecoming. This would have been welcomed by students all over the State and perhaps such a vacation would be justified.

Phil Baker makes about $1,000 per six minutes of broadcasting time, Jack Benny a thousand dollars a week for his radio show and Edward G. Robinson makes about $200 per minute.

A certain girl was teaching Tommy Haynes a few things after the dance last Saturday night in front of Pease Hall... about 12:30 a.m. Next time, Tommy, don't pick so public a place.

Who was the girl at St. Mary's who asked if a lieutenant leads a spittoon?... Frosh Hines, Pika flash, was placed in an embarrassing position a few nights ago... minus some very important parts of his clothing, he was locked out on the front porch.

Ox! Cox, Pika heart breaker, is raving about his new girl with the French name... Who is this mystery brunette, Ox?... The Pi Kapp's own Casanova, Thurston McNeely, is having a lasso down from Winston-Salem for the dances.

Other Papers Say... We've read a lot of cold print about Duke-Carolina friendship; we've gotten much too excited about pushing past the burning bonfires.

Action on every new-front of the world fades into insignificance and semi-oblivion for the student bodies of North Carolina's two universities and for a greater part of all the State population.

Barclay To Talk On Soviet Russia The seventh address on the European conflict sponsored by the International Relations Club and the YMCA will be given by Mr. John Barclay of Wilson, on Thursday night, November 23.

A Revival...

This past Saturday saw the greatest revival of student spirit in the history of this institution—a spirit that had sunk low but rose rapidly to tell North Carolina and the world that the student body was still backing State College, "win or lose." The formation of the line of students to cheer the players as they came on the field brought favorable comment from several corners.

Congratulations... Congratulations are in order for Charles Hunter and "Buddy" Means for their excellent work in making the first annual observance of High School Day a complete success.

Again We Urge You... Once again we would like to remind every campus organization, large and small, to maintain close contact with the State College News Bureau.

STATE MEN TAKE THE FIELD Shown here are part of the State College ROTC regiment which participated in the Armistice Day parade held in Raleigh last Saturday. Marching down Fayetteville Street, this group presented a striking appearance, and the local unit was termed as one of the best in the parade. Added to the large ROTC regiment were State's crack Drum and Bugle Corps and the Redcoat Band. The students marched downtown from the college and returned in the same manner.—(Courtesy, News and Observer)

Van Leer Delivers Armistice Day Address Before Student Body of Girls

Declaring that the most valuable and priceless thing in the world is human life, Dean Blake E. Van Leer of the School of Engineering at State College told Peace Junior College students Friday afternoon that a great responsibility lies upon them as America's future mothers. Dean Van Leer spoke as a participant in the American Legion's city-wide Armistice anniversary observance. After stating that the American Legion is interested in college girls because they will be among the mothers of the next generation of Americans, Dean Van Leer declared: "That is a grave and important responsibility. You young ladies represent the best of American life. Most girls do not have either the ability or the opportunity to get a college education. You represent the nobility, the intelligence of American womanhood. You are the kind of young women who should become the mothers of our next generation of Americans. "You may be great artists, great actresses, great writers, great teachers, great doctors, great lawyers, even, great engineers, but if you do not become good mothers—God help the United States of America."

democracy did not rest upon soldiers who fought in that war but upon statesmen and politicians who contrived ill-advised treaties and paved the way for the economic collapse or stagnation of nations. "But we must not be discouraged," he said. "The idea of democracy is right and eventually it will prevail."

Gull Takes Post In Hill Library

Duke Gull, newly appointed as periodical librarian, took over his duties Monday at the D. H. Hill Library. He is also in charge of the Browning Room. Gull graduated from Allegheny College in 1936, and took a position at the University of Michigan Library while he continued in graduate work at that institution.

Announcements . . .

All rifles left in the library cloak room will be reported to the military department. Students are requested to return keys to the coat hangers when leaving the library. H. C. Brown, Librarian.

Because of lack of interest of the freshman class, there will be no freshman cake race.

There will be a meeting of the business staff of "The Technician" on Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in the Publications Building. All students interested in joining the staff are invited.

The E. S. U. meets here on the campus each Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Much progress has been made this year at State in both social and spiritual activities. Anyone interested is cordially invited to attend these meetings. This is a real chance to do something for your campus.

Don't forget the Radio Club meeting this Friday at 6:45 in room 4, E. E. Building. Also code practices are being held each evening at 6:45 in the same place. Anyone interested in learning the code is cordially invited.

CAA Air Training May Start Monday

(Continued from page 1) passed by Dr. A. C. Campbell, college physician, in the initial examinations were turned down by the CAA physicians in Raleigh, Drs. F. G. Fox and V. M. Hicks. About 70 students originally applied for the course, which will give the youths sufficient training to qualify for private flying certificates. The government will pay all expenses except $40 in miscellaneous fees. Between $270 and $290 will be allowed for each student's flight training. Facilities of the Raleigh Airport will be used for the flight training, while ground work will be given in State College's modern aeronautics laboratory and in the classroom by Professor Parkinson. Other Schools Professor Parkinson also is teaching ground school at Wake Forest College and the University unit in Chapel Hill. State College was the only institution in the three to be included in the CAA's demonstrational training program last spring.

New Government Proposed For Use At State College

Revised Campus Government Would be Patterned After General Assembly

A completely revised system of campus government, similar to that of the State of North Carolina has been proposed for State College by Col. J. W. Hartsell, and was presented to a meeting of the dormitory government representatives by Professor Edwin H. Padgett last night.

Under the proposed system the dormitory representatives would act as the House of Representatives and the present Student Council or a body of similar nature would act as the Senate. Advocates of the plan contend that this form of campus government would enable more students to take an active part in the government and thus enable the students to present their views and opinions to the college administration in a more representative manner.

Purpose. Authors of the plan believe that it would give the administration a better opportunity to transmit their actions to the students and also give the students a better opportunity to place measures before the faculty council for the consideration of that body. Many details of the plan have not been worked out as yet. Among these is the question of fraternity representation. Fraternities would have an equal chance at representation in the Senate, and fraternity men living in the dormitories would have representation through their dormitory representatives. A suggestion has been made that the Interfraternity Council be offered a number of seats in the House. A study committee has been appointed to interview various faculty members and get their views on the plan. The committee, appointed by Ernest Durham, is composed of Bill Friday, chairman; Raymond Payne and David Sutton. Another meeting of the dormitory representatives will be held next Thursday night to hear the report of the committee and to compare notes on the opinions of the students.

All students in industrial engineering are invited to attend a meeting of the Society for the Advancement of Management on Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in room 225 C. E. Building.

There's
No Great Mystery
about Cigarette Tobaccos

THERE ARE FOUR TYPES of tobaccos found in the more popular cigarettes, namely... Bright, Maryland, Burley and Turkish.

ALL THESE TOBACCOS except Turkish (which is bought direct from the planters in Turkey and Greece) and Maryland (which is bought through sealed bids under government supervision) are bought at public auction, just like any other auction where you might have bought in a table or a chair.

AT THE AUCTION SALE the tobacco is piled in baskets weighing from about 100 to 500 pounds and each purchaser buys all of his tobaccos by competitive bidding for the particular piles he wants.

THE CHESTERFIELD BUYERS buy the best of these mild ripe tobaccos for the Chesterfield blend. And it is Chesterfield's Combination . . . the right amounts of Burley and Bright . . . just enough Maryland . . . and just enough Turkish—that makes the big difference between Chesterfield and other cigarettes.

IT IS BECAUSE of this combination that Chesterfields are COOLER, have a BETTER TASTE and are DEFINITELY MILDER. They are made of the world's best cigarette tobaccos. You can't buy a better cigarette.
