Forum Will Discuss Telephone Petition

Administration Requests Special Meeting; Interested Students Are Urged to Attend

A special meeting of the Student Welfare Committee will be held Monday afternoon in an effort to gather student opinion as to the opposition against installing telephones in all the dormitories at State College. Students both for and against the measure are requested to attend the session.

The meeting, which will be held in the form of an open forum discussion, came about by a special request from the administration and the Board of Trustees.

The committee's open forum will be held in the main auditorium of the college YMCA, beginning at 5 o'clock. The main purpose of the meeting will be to hear protests on the installation of the telephones.

Petition Signers

Recently a petition was circulated throughout all the dormitories by the Dormitory Assistants, requesting the college to install telephones in the dorms, for which the students agreed to pay a small sum at the beginning of each term.

Out of 1,492 students, total number of dormitory occupants, 1,341 signed the petition in favor of the telephone installation. This gave the telephone proposal the support of 89.9 per cent, the entire number of dormitory men. Of its number, 862 signers were upperclassmen and 479 were freshmen.

In spite of the fact that the petition showed great odds in favor of the measure, the administration desired to give the opposition a chance to express their opinions. The only views that have been obtained from those who oppose the measure up to the present time remains in the fact that they did not sign the petition, which had no place for those who opposed the plan to express an opinion.

Especially Desired

Speaking before the Student Welfare Committee Tuesday night, Col. J. W. Harrelson, dean of administration, expressed the point that the administration especially wanted the students who did not sign the petition to appear before the committee Monday afternoon.

The administrative dean added that the report made by the Student Welfare Committee after their open forum would go to the Faculty Council or to the general faculty. He stated that the administration wanted the entire student opinion on the measure before they decided definitely.

Seniors Select Gift For College

Bronze Name Plates For All Buildings to be Presented by Graduating Class

Bronze name plates to be placed on all of the buildings on the campus were approved as the gift of this year's senior class to the college at the last class meeting before the holidays.

The gift was chosen by the seniors from the recommendations of the committee, which is composed of Jim Mitchner, chairman, Mike Vann, Fred Webb, John Maney and Ross Sigmon. Standards for the tower lights and a bronze door for the tower were also under consideration.

Mitchner expressed disappointment that only 121 seniors had paid a total of $242 to be applied on the purchase of the gift. There are approximately four hundred candidates for graduation this year and all are urged to pay their dues as soon as possible either to a member of the committee or a class officer.

Col. J. W. Harrelson, dean of administration, has announced that he will pay dues for all deceased members of the class.

Each year the class presents some worthwhile gift to the college at their graduation. For the past few years the gifts have centered around the Memorial Tower. The most outstanding of these gifts are the clock, presented by the Class of 1938, and the lights, presented by last year's seniors.

Notice . . .

All students who have changed their college address since last term are requested to bring their new address by the office of The Technician. The office will be open every night next week from 8:30 to 11:30. The new mailing list is being completed, and if you are not getting your copy of the paper, please let us know. Jim Mitchner, Business Manager.

Book Exchange Meets Success In First Term

Will Close Tomorrow Until Final Week of Quarter; to Open Early Next Term

The State College Book Exchange, having completed its first term of operation with more than expected success, will close tomorrow until the last week of the term.

Operated by the Student Council on a non-profit basis, the Exchange enables students to buy and sell books at their own prices without loss of time on their part.

At the beginning of the spring quarter the exchange will remain open for two weeks. Students are urged by President Durham to cooperate with the Student Council in buying and selling their books through the student organization. To date the demand for books has far exceeded the available supply.

Students who have books that are no longer used at State College may bring their books to the exchange for sale. These books will be sent to New York for sale at best possible prices, but the Student Council wishes to make it clear that they can not guarantee the students any set price on books sold in this manner.

W. J. Reams and Jesse Levine have acted as managers of the Book Exchange and have been assisted in its operation by David Feldman and members of the Student Council.

President Durham stated that the Book Exchange had met with expected success and that it should have a bright future if the students will continue to give their cooperation. Operators of the exchange expressed the opinion that the new organization had definitely proven that it was a necessary service to the students and that it would prove even more successful in the future.

Blue Key Sponsors Drive For Funds

Society Will Canvass Campus for Funds to Aid Infantile Paralysis Sufferers

An extensive program for the remainder of the school year has been planned by Blue Key, national honor society, it was revealed yesterday by Frank Sabol, president of the organization. Prominent among its planned activities will be two projects which Blue Key will sponsor.

Primary project of the society will be drive for funds to aid those suffering from infantile paralysis. This project is to be held in conjunction with the annual President's Ball, and the funds spread from the students are to go to the same fund as that obtained from the annual ball.

The second project of the organization was to furnish popular music at every home basketball game, an idea that was inaugurated last year and proved very popular with the student body.

In launching the drive for funds to help infantile paralysis, President Sabol said that Blue Key has taken its inspiration from the work of President Roosevelt. "In former years," Sabol stated, "State College has responded admirably to the worthy cause of aiding those suffering from the dreaded disease, infantile paralysis. It is hoped that the same response is obtained this year."

Fabe Clements has been placed as chairman of the committee to canvass the campus and collect funds. Assisting Clements will be Leroy Barnes, Nelson Strawbridge, Dad Kaley, John Beger, Bill Mor.

Musical Group Publishes Paper

In an effort to knit the musical organizations of State College into a closer fellowship, Mu Beta Psi has started publishing a monthly newspaper, The Soundoff.

The Soundoff contains news of all the musical organizations at N. C. State and also carries news of alumni of musical groups. This paper is distributed free to the musical students. The paper is mailed to the musical alumni of N. C. State and to various high schools in hopes that it will spread the fame of the N. C. State music department and thus attract many musicians to this college. Arthur E. Miller is editor of the paper.

RELIGIOUS WEEK LEADERS

Shown below are two of the three speakers who will be featured on the YMCA program for Religious Emphasis Week, which will begin on the campus Sunday and last until next Thursday.

On the left is Harry Philpott, secretary of the Christian Council of Washington and Lee University. The other gentleman is Wiley Critz, executive secretary of the Student YMCA for the South. The other feature speaker on the program will be Dr. S. Ralph Harlow, professor of Religion and Social Ethics at Smith College.

Noted Speakers Invited to Head Religious Week

Harlow, Philpott, and Critz Will Speak Here During Annual YMCA Event

Religious Emphasis Week, which begins Sunday and is sponsored annually by the State College YMCA, will be headlined this year by the appearance of three noted lecturers. Dr. S. Ralph Harlow of Smith College, Harry Philpott, secretary of the Christian Council of Washington and Lee, and Wiley Critz, executive secretary of the Student YMCA of the South.

A full schedule of public appearances and lectures has been arranged for these men. They will also appear to small groups in dormitories and fraternity houses. Subjects to be discussed will be along religious and social problem lines. Included among the tentatively chosen lectures are: "Man's Greatest Need: Science, Psychology or Religion?" "If a Man Dies Will He Live Again?" "Why the Church Fails to Meet the Spiritual Needs of Many College Students." "Can We Abolish War?" "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" and "What Do We Mean by Freedom?"

For ten years Dr. Harlow was chaplain and head of the department of sociology at the International College, Smyrna, Turkey. During the World War he was Regional Director of the YMCA with the American Expeditionary Forces in France. He acted as visiting professor to the Far East and Near East under the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace, 1938-39. He is now professor of religion and social ethics at Smith College.

He will be Dr. Harlow's fourth visit to State College. He gave the first series of lectures ever given. —Continued on page 4.

Southern Farming Discussed By Poe

Dr. Poe Speaks to Ag Club On Agricultural Progress in Southern States

On Tuesday Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of "The Progressive Farmer," addressed the State College Ag. Club concerning the ten-year program of agricultural progress started in the South, the purpose of which is to have balanced prosperity by 1950.

Opening his talk, Dr. Poe stated the "ten roads to balanced prosperity," namely, balance money crops, balance livestock, balance production progress with marketing, balance farms with factories, and land, water, and mineral resources with population needs.

Dr. Poe stated that it is absolutely necessary for us to get away from dependence on money crops. "We have reached the point where we must adopt a more effective policy."

Dr. Poe added that one of North Carolina's biggest weaknesses agriculturally is that our products lack uniform quality, grading, and standardization.

He cited three methods of developing this "campaign for balanced prosperity in the South." He stated that the agricultural departments in the Southern States are to help formulate the program, surveys are to be taken to determine the state of progress in each community, and progress of various individuals and farm groups are to be given recognition.

Hot Debate Predicted In Assembly Opening

Thomas Agrees To Speak Here

National Socialist Leader Accepts Invitation to Speak in Pullen Hall on January 29

In an announcement made late last night by the Student Council it was revealed that Norman Thomas, national Socialist leader and former candidate for the Presidency of the United States, has accepted the invitation of the Student Council to speak at State College on January 29. His appearance will mark the first in a series of planned political addresses, which is a project of the Student Council.

The address is scheduled to take place in Pullen Hall at 4:30 in the afternoon.

Thomas' acceptance to address the student body marks the beginning of a non-partisan program planned by the Student Council to bring representatives of all of the major political parties to the campus to speak before the student body.

Governmental officials and political leaders of the State have expressed a willingness to cooperate with State College in securing these speakers for appearance in the near future.

Honor Group Plans Broadcast Series

Golden Chain Plans Radio Program to Interest High School Students

Tentative plans for a series of five fifteen-minute radio programs designed to interest high school students in continuing their education at college were laid by Golden Chain at a meeting held last Tuesday night in the Y.

The meeting followed a supper held in the back cafeteria by the members of the organization. This radio series will begin the early part of February, will be aired over Radio Station WPTF.

Present plans call for a series of round-table plays, to be written by college students and enacted over the air with members of Golden Chain making up the cast. The plays, which will deal with college registration and the problems of the dramatic director of Radio Station WPTF. The fifth and last program of the series will be a round-table discussion by members of Golden Chain on the problems that confront prospective college students.

These radio programs are intended to pave the way for the annual Golden Chain deputations, trips taken to high schools in the State by members of the organization to publicize State College. This year the State College motion picture, "College Days," which has been brought up-to-date by Golden Chain, will be carried to the various high schools and shown. Pictures of the new buildings have been added to the show, and the entire picture has been made over for the particular use of Golden Chain.

Council Members Attend Conclave

Durham and Reams Back From Four-day Student Government Convention

Ernest Durham, president of the student body, and W. J. Reams, member of the student council, attended the four-day convention of the National Student Federation Association held in Minneapolis, Minn., during the Christmas holidays.

The delegates to the four-day convention were a large number of guests of the University of Minnesota.

Two resolutions concerning the international situation were passed by the convention. They were, first, that the United States should give no military aid to any country, and second, that all loans to foreign countries should be prohibited.

Other important business of the convention was the discussion of student cooperatives, such as our present student book exchange. The University of Minnesota has three such cooperatives on its campus.

TO SPEAK HERE

Norman Thomas, national Socialist leader and former candidate for the Presidency of the United States, has accepted the invitation of the Student Council to speak at State College on January 29. His appearance will mark the first in a series of planned political addresses, which is a project of the Student Council.

Strong Bills Up For Initial Session; All Students Are Invited to Attend

Last-minute plans were being rushed yesterday to have everything in readiness for the inaugural session of the North Carolina State College Student Assembly, which opens tonight in the State Capitol at 7 o'clock.

Sponsored by the Student Council of State College, the assembly will be conducted on the same basis as the state Legislature, and will consist of a Senate and a House of Representatives.

The initial session will be opened with a short address by Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, state superintendent of public instruction, and Colonel J. W. Harrelson, dean of administration at State College.

The opening addresses and a 15-minute debate from the floor of the Senate will be broadcast over station WRAL from 8 o'clock until 8:30.

The Senate will be composed of students who are present members of the Student Council, plus student and faculty members who belong to the Student Welfare Committee. The membership of the Senate will be approximately 30.

Making up the House of Representatives will be delegates from all of the dormitories and representatives of fraternities and off-campus students. The membership in the House will be around 120 students.

Heading the list of bills that have been submitted for consideration by the body, are proposals to abolish the Widener campus humor magazine, to change the present college "cut" system, and to allow the transfer of students from athletic departments.

Predicted heated discussions will be held on all of the bills both in the Senate and the House.

Election Tonight

President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives will be elected at the beginning of the session tonight, and the officers will serve in their capacity for the remainder of the school year. Present plans call for a regular meeting of the Student Assembly monthly, allowing special meetings to be called at the will of the officers of the Assembly.

Students and the public in general have been invited to attend all sessions of the body. It is predicted that the galleries of the Capitol will be crowded with students interested in the present issues before the body.

The meeting tonight will continue until all business before the Assembly has been disposed with. All bills passed by the Student Assembly will be forwarded directly to the Faculty Council of State College for final action.

Kellogg Addresses AICHE Gathering

State Laboratory Head Describes Water Supply System in London

J. W. Kellogg, director of research of the State Laboratory of Hygiene, made an interesting address to the student chapter of AICHE Tuesday night. He gave an interesting and concise water supply of the City of London which he recently visited.

In his address he gave a detailed outline of the source, treatment of the water, and methods of treatment that modern methods of treatment had eliminated epidemics of such diseases as typhoid fever, colitis, dysentery, and other diseases propagated by water-borne bacteria from that great city of over ten million people.

His comparison and contrast of their systems with our systems of water treatment were helpful and instructive.

Students Smash Enrollment Record For Winter Term

Final Figures Reveal 2,245 Registered; Total Is Over 200 More Than Last Year

Registration figures for the winter term continue to soar above the record set last year, a total of 2,211 students having completed registration and an additional thirty-four who are in school but who have not as yet completed registration.

This record-breaking enrollment of 2,245 students represents an increase of 216 over last year's high of 2,029 registered for the winter quarter. Partly responsible for this increased enrollment is the return of ninety former students who were not in school last term. Seven new freshmen and twelve transfer students augmented the total.

Current figures show the school of engineering leading all others in the total number of undergraduates registered with 1,998. The school of agriculture follows in second place with 650 students registered, with the textile school third and the education school fourth, with 294 and 233 students registered, respectively.

The freshmen class numbers 334, the largest of the four classes. Following the freshman class is the sophomore class with 543 members, the junior class with 391 members, and the senior class with 355 members. Ninety-six graduate students, nine special students, and three professional students, are in school.

Enrollment between the fall and winter terms showed a net decrease of 140 students who left school for various reasons. The enrollment for the fall term was 2,385.

Musical Society Drafts Petition

Continuing its efforts to obtain a light song for State College, Mu Beta Psi this week began the circulation of a petition among the student body.

It is expected that a petition requesting Fred Waring to compose a light song, signed by a large majority of the students, will hasten the procurement of the song.

In addition to the petition, many campus organizations are writing letters to Waring and his Pennsylvaniaans urging him to write a song.

Staff Meeting

There will be a short meeting of the editorial staff of "The Technician" on Tuesday night at 6:30. All members are asked to be on time, and the meeting will be through by 7 o'clock.

Voice of the Students . . .

Recently a petition was circulated throughout all of the dormitories requesting the faculty and Board of Trustees to consider the installation of telephones in the dorms. And the signers were many, in fact to be exact 89.9 per cent of the students signed the paper.

This in itself is enough to indicate that a large majority of the students are willing and desire to have telephones in their dormitories, for which they will pay a small sum each term.

However, there may be some on the opposition who have good cause for not wanting the telephones or who can put forth good reasons for not having them. In the circulation of the petition there was no place for the opponents of the plan to voice an opinion or to express their opposition, and so it has been deemed undemocratic to proceed further without giving them a chance to speak.

Monday the Student Welfare Committee will be in session in the college Y.M.C.A. from 5 until 6 o'clock, and their meeting will be open to all students. In fact, it will be conducted more on the order of an open forum. All students opposed to the plan are being asked to appear before the committee and voice their opposition, so that the trustees may know just where they stand on the matter.

This is truly an expression of democracy in the affairs of the government, and the interested students should take advantage of this chance to express themselves. After the telephones are installed it will be too late to kick.

N. C. STATE

Another Step . . .

Democratic government at State College took another step forward this week in the announcement that the initial session of the Student Assembly would be held in the State Capitol tonight.

No doubt exists that the assembly will be truly representative of the student body, since there will be 120 students in the House and around thirty in the Senate. And at the same time the organization is such that business can be transacted in an orderly and regular manner.

Several bills have already been proposed which no doubt will bring forth much discussion and argument, and some of them touch on subjects which are of vital interest to the entire student body. As the assembly progresses undoubtedly bills will pour in. It is not the purpose of the assembly to take a bill which will grant to the students every thing they have been wanting for the past year, grin slightly, and put its seal of approval on the paper. Instead the bills will be torn apart on the floor, argued from every angle, and in this way some intelligent conclusions can be reached which can be forwarded to the faculty council and which without a doubt will carry much weight with that body.

In our opinion this is one of the finest movements that has been begun by the students in many years, and if it can just get the cooperation of the student body, it will mean something to State College.

Close cooperation, joined with serious and intelligent thought, will in this case be profitable to all of us.

N. C. STATE

Dies Committee . . .

Training national focus on our colleges and universities of late is none other than Congressman Martin Dies, the government's one-man crusade against any and all things un-American. And from all indications collegians are getting prepared to give him a warm welcome.

We have nothing to fear in a complete investigation by the Dies Committee or any other committee, and it is doubtful if his investigation will penetrate very far into the South. But whenever his prying eyes turn toward American colleges and universities, he is destined to injure all of the nation's institutions of higher learning. Certainly any kind of investigation causes unfavorable publicity not only for one college but for every one in the country.

While Congressman Dies busies himself with hampering the real accomplishment of our college programs and the fulfillment of collegiate duties, he will be dealing a severe blow to us all. Perhaps it is true that he is interested in his publicity more than he is in the welfare of our universities and colleges, but whatever the reason you cannot help realize the harm that will be done.

Now it would be foolish to imagine that even a trace of Communism, Fascism, or some other ism would be found on the State College campus, and undoubtedly the collegiate investigation will not venture near our institution. But at the same time we will be able to feel an effect from brother Dies' activities. Do you believe that parents will be as anxious to send their boys and girls to college if they are under the impression that their offsprings are being taught

by
"Spud" Davidson

Arguments . . .

Providing a floor topic of conversation on the campus this week is the activity of the newly-formed Student Assembly, which will hold its inaugural session in the State Capitol tonight. Adding acute interest and argument to the first meeting are several bills which have been presented for discussion on the floor of the assembly. One bill advocates the abolition of the Watasuga, while another proposes a new and modified "cut" system. Those sponsoring the assembly are predicting a large attendance of students tonight, and all members of the student body have been invited to attend and hear the discussions.

And if you are under the impression that this assembly won't be democratic and representative, bear in mind that the House will consist of 120 members and the Senate will have around 30 members. That seems like good representation to me.

More Trouble . . .

Jumping from our campus for a moment, another topic has monopolized the conversation at our brother institution this week. We are speaking of the widely publicized incident of footballer "Sweet" Lalaune being suspended from the University for an infraction of the honor rules. It is certainly a pity that whenever a person achieves as much national recognition as Jim has, every movement and action is always under public eyes and always draws too much comment.

Telephones . . .

Dormitory telephones came up again Tuesday night at the meeting of the Student Welfare Committee, and it seems at last that some definite action is being taken on the matter. Somewhat of a comparative viewpoint on the situation was taken in a petition circulated through the dormitories, and it was found that 89.9 per cent of the dormitory students favor the installation of the instrument.

However, the administration felt that the students who did not favor the petition had no means of expressing their opposition, and so the administration has requested the Student Welfare Committee to hold an open forum Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock and give these students a chance to speak. This is an illustration that democracy among the students still exists, and at the same time we are getting action on things we have been asking for for a long time.

Religion . . .

One of the highlights in the program of the College Y.M.C.A. will be enacted next week with the opening of Religious Emphasis Week, which is an annual feature of the "Y" program. Three outstanding speakers have been chosen for it appears that a series of radio programs which they are planning on presenting over WPTF next month.

Odds and Ends . . .

Winter term registration set an all-time record for State College, and if the college keeps growing as it has during the past four years, we will soon be pushing our buildings out to Cary (not speaking of the dormitory) . . . the operation of the student book exchange is also hitting a good pace, for it appears that the books are being sold just about as fast as they can be taken into the exchange. . . . Golden Chain really has a good project in a series of radio programs which they are planning on presenting over WPTF next month.

Communism or un-American doctrines? That such teachings are in our colleges is virtually unfounded. At the same time such ideas could easily be left in the minds of many of the citizens who follow the activities of the Dies committee more closely than they follow the activities of our institutions of higher learning.

The problem only recently was brought closer home. A student at the University of North Carolina was elected as president of a national student organization which has been termed by the Dies group as being un-American and dominated by Communist. With these implications brewing, it is highly probable that a small tracer of the investigation will land on the Carolina campus.

We definitely disapprove of on other grounds than that there is a possibility that Mr. Dies may place a block in the cultural progress of our universities and colleges.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

State men are again making a very progressive move by starting State College Clubs in some of the leading towns and cities of the state. There used to be clubs in some of the towns and cities but the depression happened along—grin. Some of the fellows have already got a jump on us and started organizing. Congratulations to Charlotte and "Little" Washington for their quick initiative. How many more are going to fall in with them?

OPEN FORUM

The purpose of these clubs will be to sponsor a dance, say at Christmas, and to have some kind of giving in the summer. They will also serve to create more interest in our college by prospective students and at the same time provide some very wholesome fellowship. Alumni chapters in your home town will be willing to help you all they can. They are easy to organize and quick to show benefit. Come on, State, let's go, go, go.

CHARLES A. HUNTER.

State College Students:

Last term the International Relations Club joined the YMCA in bringing a number of speakers on international affairs to the campus. Many of the students attending told me they considered these programs to be unusually good.

This term the International Relations Club is going to have a series of student discussions on world problems. I feel certain that there are many students on our campus who would be interested in these discussions. The International Relations Club extends an invitation to attend to anyone interested.

The Club has summaries of foreign affairs, prepared by leading authorities, which are available. We have other opportunities of interest to those interested in International Affairs.

The next meeting is on Thursday evening, January 18, at 7 o'clock in Room 1, Peele Hall. Be there!

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor:

I want to express my opinions, and I believe the opinions of the students, concerning the Book Exchange. The Student Council is to be congratulated for its initiative in starting the Book Exchange. This agency is one which has long been needed on the campus and which, I believe, should be expanded until a Student Co-operative has been formed on the campus.

Those boys who have given unsatisfactory of their time are to be praised for the excellent school spirit they have shown.

May the Book Exchange continue to be as helpful to the student body in the future as it is up to the present, since its existence is truly justified.

Frats and Co-eds . . .

First public announcement of a campaign which has been in progress since early last fall appeared yesterday morning in the Daily Tar Heel. We refer to the plan proposing that the Interfraternity Council be allowed to assume full responsibility for the entertainment of coeds in local fraternity houses.

The present setup in operation for the past five years demands that signed agreements be made by Greekmen with the administration giving assurance that while coeds are present, there be no intoxicating drinks served, that the atmosphere be that of any well-regulated home, and that the above items be discussed and subscribed to in good faith by all members of the fraternities.

The committee's hesitancy in admitting the failure of the present plan seems foolish indeed. It is hard to understand how that group could desire to continue under setup which it refuses to alter because of a fear of failure.

We like to feel that students are capable of solving their own problems here at the University. We hope the student committee appointed yesterday to study the situation will look at the issue with this in mind. The Daily Tar Heel, Jan. 10, 1940.

GLEANINGS

by THE STAFF

Maybe our sources of conversation are becoming limited, but it seems that about all we have been hearing this week is talk on the new Student Assembly which holds forth tonight for the first and initial time in its history. The establishment of the assembly itself is not such a matter as to attract this widespread comment, although it can seem to me at this point of the game that it can do a lot of harm if not guided properly. The thing that is drawing the comment goes a little deeper, and can be found in the form of several bills which have been proposed for discussion in the assembly. Certainly the ones on the Watasuga, cut system, and athletic books should arouse some strong arguments.

We can't help expressing sentiment again over the activities of the Dies Committee in its hampering investigation of colleges and universities for un-American activities. It may be true that only about one student in one hundred is interested in the Dies Committee or the effect that it would have on our institutions of higher learning, but it seems to me at this point of the game that it can do a lot of harm if not guided properly. We are not worrying about the committee's finding un-American activities on our campus—what we should be worrying about is the ultimate effect such an investigation may have on colleges and universities as a whole, should Congress or one of its committees express the opinion that collegiate institutions are fostering Communism, Fascism or similar beliefs.

One of the best little features that I have come in contact with in quite a while was put on by Ed King of the "Y" this week during a luncheon for the Interfraternity Council. He had a student who could almost make a harmonica talk, and a colored man adding the drumming effects with the aid of a cardboard box and a couple of kitchen utensils. All in all, it was an excellent act, and proved the point that it is talent, not instruments, that is necessary.

Golden Chain will soon begin their high school visits, and it will be interesting to note that this year they will take with them the motion picture, "State College Days." The film has been brought up to date with some recent shots, and will be shown to the high school seniors during the members' visit. Undoubtedly this is one of the best promotion ideas that has sprung from the students in many a day.

A new and unique organization was recently formed at the University of Cincinnati. Students have formed a Scotch-American Band, and when members meet, they raise their hands and say, "Hell, Adolph, what's the use?" Maybe that will draw some comment from Mr. Dies.

A fraternity at the University of Richmond also had a unique idea, which was expressed in a telegram sent to Sally Rand, the once-scandalous fan dancer. The wire read:

"Sorry to hear of your financial bust. But come on down and live with us. We have to get a new house mother. And we'd rather have you than any other."

And it wouldn't be truthful to say that we don't agree with them in the choice of a house mother, but if Sally couldn't come, how about Hedy Lamarr?

CAMPUS TIDBITS: The pondering question is just exactly what all went on when the lights went off . . . and we are speaking of two incidents. No doubt you know that the lights in the gym vanished suddenly last Thursday night during the basketball game . . . nothing like that ever happened to me while I was at a basketball game with a date, as I understand quite a few of the students were. And then, Tuesday night the lights suddenly failed at Meredith College, necessitating the dating by candlelight for a time. The funny part is that it took an awful long time to find matches with which to light the candles.

Charlie Hunter is sporting the prettiest black eye you ever did see and he claims it came from wrestling . . . and the word is also read that "Cutie" Carter is having trouble with all those six girls he keeps on the string . . . what I would like to know is where Tony DiYeso and Mickey Sullivan were off to Wednesday night.

"Jitterbug" Furman is really taking an interest in CAA, 'cause he's out at the airport every afternoon . . . Jack Bling certainly believes in extending the celebration of New Year's . . . Joe Michael is certainly taking a profound interest in Hicks' Marriage course . . . and that is our nomination for one of the best and most interesting courses we have run into in a long time . . . Frank Sabol is at odds out at Meredith again, for the sixth time . . . but Julian Bunn still seems to profess a strong interest in the mechanical engineering department . . . I ask Dean O'Leary about the dream he had the other night . . . and I had better want to see some of these textbooks piled up in front of me, so I'll be seeing you—"SPUD" DAVIDSON.

Lock of height seems to be the most glaring weakness of this year's basketball team.

I think that the boys will be able to take South Carolina's game in the first game, but the tiff with Clemson tomorrow night will be an entirely different story.

Now that the boxing schedule has been issued, it appears that only one home match has been scheduled for the varsity, as compared to three away.

Standout defense man for State was Captain Rollins Sevier, who garnered seven points while holding Davidson high scoring forward, Hogz, to two points.

State and Miami are dickering now for a basketball game to be played here this winter. Mac Cars, former State football player who has been playing pro ball for the Pittsburgh Pirates will coach Steubenville High, of Ohio.

DAVIDSON BEATS RED TERRORS IN CONFERENCE TILT

Cromartie Leads His Teammates in Free-Scoring Battle; Cowan is High Scorer of Game

State College's basketball team played its first Conference game of the season last night against Davidson College, at Davidson, and bowed to the score of 53 to 41 in a spine-tingling free-scoring game.

State's star was Roy Cromartie, junior forward, who tallied a total of 15 points as the result of five field goals and five free throws.

High scorer of the game was Davidson's star center, Jim Cowan, who rang up 19 points on seven field goals and five free shots.

State plays the University of South Carolina tonight, and Clemson tomorrow night, both games away. Clemson will play State here a week from tonight.

Line-ups STATE (41) Strayhorn, F 4 1 9 Cromartie, F 5 5 15 Crawford, C 2 2 6 Watters, C 2 2 6 Sevier, G 3 1 7 Smith, G 0 1 1 Andrews, G 0 0 0 Totals 15 11 41

Basketeers Make Southern Trip

Red Terrors Head for South Carolina to Play USC Tonight and Clemson Tomorrow Night

The Red Terrors basketball squad left the campus at 12 noon yesterday on their first swing around the country meeting conference foes.

Last night the Terrors met the fast-moving Davidson Wildcats, paced by "Footie" Cowan, high-scoring center.

Tonight the club moves on to Columbia, S. C., to meet the University of South Carolina Gamecocks, the Palmetto King is not as strong this season as they have been in the past, but they always give their opposition plenty of trouble.

The Clemson Tigers, tournament champions of last season, will be the last foe encountered by the Terrors on this trip. With the return of their all-Southern center, Banks McFadden, the Tigers ended a four-game losing streak by defeating Wake Forest.

The Terrors will return to their own courts for action next week, meeting the Clemson Tigers in a return engagement in the Frank Thompson Gym on the 19th.

'MURALSUSINGS

The all campus touch-football team, selected by Mr. Miller, Mr. Doak, and the intramural officials, was released by Mr. Miller during the past week.

Next on the intramural calendar is basketball. Four games have already been played this term, and it looks as though there will be some keen competition.

Soccer, a well-liked intramural sport, has been unable to get started because of the bad weather in the past week or so.

Intramural organizations should be setting their boxing teams lined up. I noticed that some of the different managers have already gotten their men together and started working out.

Truck Operators From All Over State Will Gather for Safety Instruction

Methods for increasing safety on the highways will be emphasized at State College January 17-18 when truck operators from every section of the State gather for a short course in safety. Details of the program were announced today by Director Edward W. Ruggles of the College Extension Division. The course is open to operators, drivers, safety supervisors, dispatchers and anyone else interested in highway transportation.

Registration will occur between 8:30 and 11 a. m. Wednesday, January 17, and the safety school will begin immediately after a short welcoming address by Dean of Administration J. W. Harrelson.

Experts in various phases of highway transportation will lead discussions designed to acquaint truck operators with the latest developments and accepted practices in safety. Harry Tucker of State College, professor of highway engineering and nationally known authority on highway safety, will preside over the discussions.

Cooperating with the college in presenting the course are the North Carolina Truck Owners Association, the State Industrial Commission and the State Highway Safety Division.

Truck line officials, college technicians and safety experts will appear on the program. Following the presentation of each topic, a discussion period will be held to allow anyone to make suggestions or bring up specific points for further discussion.

Coming Theatre Attractions

At the Wake
Who was The Man in the Iron Mask? Historians, for nearly a century and a half, have battled over this question, but still there is no definite solution. That a man in a mask did exist and that he was incarcerated in the dread Bastille on personal order of King Louis XIV of France cannot be doubted. The possibility of doubt that there was such a person. But who he was and why he was locked up in such palatial circumstances is, even in this enlightened day, one of the most weird stories of history.

The whole question—and it is one which has at times fared to stinging heights the famed literary dilemmas—was revived with announcement that the story penned by Alexandre Dumas had been brought to the screen by Edward Small as "The Man in the Iron Mask" and is set for its initial showing at the Wake Theatre on Sunday. Once before it was made, with Douglas Fairbanks, it was so successful that time, also, the Dumas story was used as the basis for the screen plot.

After all Dumas' story, even with its flamboyant disregard of history in favor of romance, seems to be as close to the real story as any. That is that the Man in the Iron Mask was a brother, either a twin or one born at the same time and locked in prison, to keep his identity a secret, thus thwarting anyone who would seek to remove him from the throne in favor of his relative.

In all 25 books have been written and published on the Man in the Iron Mask, but by far the most popular of all was the one by that title written by Alexandre Dumas and on which the current production by Edward Small is based. It co-stars Louis Hayward and Joan Bennett.

Surveyors Plan Annual Meeting
Registration of Surveyors To Mark Beginning of Annual Engineers' Week

The annual meeting of the North Carolina Society of Surveyors will be held at State College on January 24, with registration scheduled to start at 10 o'clock in the Civil Engineering Building. It was announced this week by Director Edward W. Ruggles of the College Extension Division. All surveyors in the State are invited to attend this meeting.

The meeting of the surveyors will mark the beginning of State College's observance of Engineers' Week. An Institute for Engineers, with transportation as the theme, will be held the day following the surveyor's meeting. Prominent experts in every phase of modern transportation are on the program.

The North Carolina Society of Engineers will hold its winter convention January 26-27, and the North Carolina Board of Registration for Engineers and Land Surveyors will meet at the college Saturday afternoon, January 27.

Blue Key Sponsors Drive For Funds
(Continued from page 1) ris, "Cutie" Carter and "Buck" Branson. Leslie Mayton, chief dormitory assistant, has expressed his willingness to allow dormitory assistants to collect donations from students living in the dormitories. The interfraternity Council has assured the committee that the Council will co-operate in the Blue Key drive.

The drive will end on the 30th of January, and the funds obtained will be turned over to the Raleigh Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Jaycees will send most of it to Warm Springs, Ga., and the rest of it to local unfortunates suffering from infantile paralysis.

The University of Minnesota college of agriculture places 83 per cent of its men graduates in the government service.

At the Ambassador
"Gulliver," the giant-sized hero of Jonathan Swift's classic fantasy, is now the central figure in a picture that towers as much over ordinary screen fare as it did above the "Lilliputians" in "Gulliver's Travels." The picture is the most sensational feature in Technicolor, which will be shown at the Ambassador beginning Wednesday.

"Gulliver's travels," as it appears on the screen, takes us to the start of the earth story. It takes up "Gulliver's" adventures in his spectacular conquest after another: his shipwreck, his imprisonment by the tiny "Lilliputians" while asleep, his moralizing feast of strength, his promotion to a romance between a beautiful little princess and a handsome prince and his bottom-wise solution of an international controversy that threatens to bring on a war. The possibilities in a story of a life-sized man dropped into a land where the tallest citizen is no higher than his foot are obvious, and Fletcher has made the most of them. He has made the most of the peculiar characters in the history of movie cartoons. All are masterpieces, but especially worthy of "delicious" rank are "Gaby," the impudent, noisy, gipsy party cracker, and the three shy, ridiculous, hilarious "Spook," "Snitch" and "Snoppy." The picture is a real treat from the bustling ground and write a review of the screen version of the classic. He's probably so into particular raptures over the color and the music. "Technicolor has made the difference between a let and a 'Gulliver's Travels' shows what a master artist can do with a story that has had brilliant hues in striking combinations to achieve an unforgettable effect. As for the music, if you aren't humming the tunes already, you certainly will after seeing the picture. Especially catchy are "It's a Happy-Map-Happy Day," "Faithful Forever" and "The Song of the Sea." In an act, novelty and news will be on the list of added attractions.

Honorary Group Inducts Six Men

30 and 3, Sophomore Leadership Group, Takes in Six Outstanding Men
