Cherry Praises Work Of Democratic Party

State Chairman Lands Popular Govern- ment in Address to Young Democrats

By C. A. UPCHURCH, JR.
"The radicalism of one generation's government generally becomes the conservatism of the next," declared R. Gregg Cherry of Gastonia, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, last night in an address to the State College club of Young Democrats.

Extolling the principles of popular government as preached and practiced by Thomas Jefferson, Major Cherry said: "If Jefferson were to leave the spirit and return to the body today, I don't believe he would find any serious 'isms' in our government."

In every national crisis since 1800, he continued, the masses of the people have turned to the Democratic Party for their salvation. About every 30 years, Major Cherry declared, the nation has met emergency by choosing a leader with the interests of the common people at heart.

Cherry cited the selection of Presidents Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, Wilson and Roosevelt, and paid tribute to William Jennings Bryan as a leader at the turn of the century in pointing the way to better government. Many of the governmental policies advocated by Bryan have been adopted, Major Cherry stated, adding: "In some future day, historians must give William Jennings Bryan his just due."

Flight Convention Delegates Return

State College Flying Club Representatives Back After Conference in Washington, D. C.

Three students and one faculty member returned to the campus Wednesday after attending a three-day national convention of the National Intercollegiate Flying Club in Washington, D. C. The club was organized in Washington last Sunday night. Representing the State College chapter of the Flying Club, which was installed this year, the local students met with delegates from approximately 20 other large institutions from all parts of the United States. Duke University and State were the only Southern schools sending delegates to the conference.

During the conference, which was high lighted by a banquet and dance Tuesday night, plans were discussed for the National Flying Week which will be held at Lock Haven, Pa. The next conference of the club will be held in the Midwest.

State Alumnus To Talk In YMCA

Langford O. Johnson, Wilmington artist and World War veteran, will speak Thursday night, April 18, on "Highlights of My Life," with his talk culminating in a story of his painting "The Soldier," which he has presented to the college. The painting depicts a soldier caught in shellfire.

The address, which the public has been invited, will be presented in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium at 7:30 o'clock. R. L. McMillan, Raleigh attorney and prominent aviator, will speak on "Keeping America Out of War." The meeting is being sponsored by the Student Council and the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Johnson is an honor graduate of State College, Class of 1913.

Faculty Members Attend Meeting

Four members of the State College faculty will attend the annual meeting of the Southeastern section of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, meeting in Baton Rouge and New Orleans on May 3 and 4. Three of the faculty members will have prominent parts on the program. They will leave Raleigh April 30.

Dean Blake, J. H. Lee, of the School of Engineering, who is president of the section, will preside. Dr. Lodwick C. Hartley, acting chairman of the English Department, will participate in a discussion of "English for Engineers."

Prof. John W. Cell, of the Mathematics Department, will deliver a paper on "Correlation of Fundamental Courses for Engineers With Advanced Undergraduate Engineering Courses."

Prof. H. A. Fisher, head of the Mathematics Department, will also attend the meeting.

First Senior Joins Wolfpack Club As Drive Begins

Extensive Membership Campaign Underway With 100 Per Cent Cooperation as Goal

J. Tom Doyler, Jr., textile management student from Shelby, became the first member of the Senior Class to pay the one dollar membership in the Wolfpack Club and the Alumni Association under the plan unanimously adopted by the Class of 1940 at its meeting last Monday morning.

A concerted drive for membership from the graduating class was begun this week by the Alumni Committee of the Senior Class, who will contact every senior in an effort to secure 100 per cent membership.

Individual cards for each graduate were divided up at a meeting of the committee Tuesday, and 19 seniors were selected to carry on the campaign.

Under the plan adopted by the class at last week's meeting, each senior paying one dollar membership will be entitled to a year's membership in the Wolfpack Club and the Alumni Association, a year's subscription to the Alumni News, and other privileges to be offered by the Alumni Association and the Athletic Department.

The Alumni Committee, appointed by Senior President Charles Hunter, consists of "Buddy" Means, Tony DiYeso, and "Spud" Davidson. The drive who are assisting are Macon Dalton, P. G. Hill, E. Frazier, Ross Sigmon, Jim Mitchiner, Hal Randolph, Leslie Boney, Bill Gibbons, Sam Kaufman, Ben Pace, Pat Eberhard, Jones Phary, Herbert Woodley, Ernest Durham and C. I. Harris.

Hunter Delegated By ASCE Chapter

Will Represent State College Branch of Civil Engineering Group at National Convention

Joe E. Hunter of Charlotte, a senior, will represent the State College student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers at the spring meeting of the national society in Kansas City, Mo., April 16-19.

Hunter will submit a proposal to amend the constitution of the society so students will be eligible for membership in the parent organization instead of being separated, as now, in student chapters affiliated with the society.

Adoption of the amendment would provide more active participation of students in professional activities of the society, the State College chapter has maintained.

Hunter, who was elected official delegate for the chapter, will leave Sunday for Kansas City.

A large delegation of civil engineering students will represent the State College chapter at the North and South Carolina council of student chapters at The Citadel, Charleston, S. C., April 19-20. The chapter will meet Tuesday night to select the best technical paper for presentation in competition there.

Cadet Regiment Parades At Noon

A formal review complimentary to Governor Hoey and Adjutant General J. Van B. Metts of the North Carolina National Guard will be staged in Riddick stadium today at noon by the State College R.O.T.C. regiment.

The public is invited to the coloral event.

Correction . . .

"Unavoidable" errors are, "The Technician" wishes to acknowledge and correct an error appearing in last week's edition of the Troop, which occurred at that time were to be initiated into Scabbard and Blade.

The name of Jimmy Wellons was mistakenly omitted from the list of names of another student given.

LATEST TONSORIAL CREATION

Even though it has been proven that there is nothing new under the sun, the picture below shows something new in the line of hair clippings. Matty Hannon of Manchester, Mass., State College freshman, illustrates a new style which he has named as the "Iroquois Clip."

State Host To 175 For AICHE Conclave

Fourteen Schools Send Delegates; Hoey to Welcome Visitors Today

Approximately 175 delegates from engineering schools throughout the South registered in Winston Hall yesterday afternoon for the annual regional conference of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. Fourteen colleges and universities from Maryland to Louisiana are represented at the convention, according to Troy D. Williams, convention committee chairman. Georgia Tech and V. P. I. have the largest delegations, with the exception of the local chapter, boasting approximately fifty men each.

The convention program officially began this morning, when a large group of delegates were taken to Durham on an inspection of the Chesterfield Cigarette plant.

Governor Clyde R. Hoey will make the principal welcoming address this afternoon in Withers Hall at three o'clock, and Dean B. Van Leer, Col. J. W. Harrelson, and Dr. E. E. Randolph will welcome the delegates on behalf of the college. After the welcoming and appointing of committees the delegations will adjourn to the YMCA where student research papers will be presented.

4-H Supper Club Elects Officers

Students active in 4-H Club work before entering college have formed a 4-H Supper Club, with Charles K. McAdams of Mebane, sophomore in agricultural education, as president.

Seventeen students became charter members of the club, which will meet in the college cafeteria each Monday night. Its purpose is to keep abreast of new developments in 4-H Club work, become acquainted with the Agriculture Extension Service, and promote fellowship among former and present 4-H Club members on the campus.

Serving as officers with President McAdams are Robert E. McDowell, Jr., of Charlotte, vice-president; Rowland G. Riddick of Corapeake, secretary-treasurer; and Harold Sharpe of Burlington, historian.

State College's Youngest Instructor Mixes Flying Career With Classwork

By ROBERT POMERANZ

Little time he has left for studying that is doing good.

Started in 1935

It all started in 1935, when 15-year-old Harold Lambert visited the Rochester, N. Y., airport and took a thrill ride in an airplane. A few days later he got a job with one of the companies there and became a combination ticket salesman and grease monkey. When Hal reached the age minimum at 16 he soled. Shortly after his 17th birthday he got his private flying certificate.

At 18, in Burlington, Vt., he passed the exams for his commercial ticket which permits him to operate airplanes commercially. At 19 Lambert got his instructor's rating, and last year he got a re-rating from the government which permits him to teach C.A.A. students.

All during his early flying days he flew while he went to high school. Then on graduation in 1938, while on a trip to Florida, Lambert stopped over in Lumberton. A good job was open there so he stayed and worked there until shortly before registration day.

Primary Voting Paves Way For Final Ballots

Interest Lags in Primary; Heavy Voting Forecast in Final Voting Wednesday

With primary elections a thing of the past, State College students will make their final annual trek to the polls next Wednesday to elect their candidates for various offices in what is predicted to be one of the hottest elections in campus history.

Entered into the political arena for president of the student body will be Paul Lehman and W. J. Reams, and topping the race for publications offices are Henry Rowe and Bruce Halsted, who will vie for the editorship of The Technician.

It is the only publication office voted on in the general election for which there are two contestants.

Running neck and neck for the Alumni Athletic Trophy are Tony DiYeso and Ed Coon, both stellar athletes during their four years at State. Selection of candidates for the trophy is made through nomination by individual ballot at the primary elections.

Eight prospective candidates were eliminated in the primary voting Tuesday, which was exceptionally light. W. D. Lewis and Dudley Robbins nosed out Gregg Gibbs and Reese Seberby for secretary of the Student Council. Several will compete in the final balloting Wednesday.

Julian Culver was eliminated in the Y.M.C.A. secretary race, leaving Bruce Jackson and William LeGrant. P. M. Bonner, ably assisted by Latham, nosed out David Whitted for treasurer of the "Y."

Two high men in the poll for senior representative of the Athletic Council were "Cutie" Carter and "Ace" Krochmal, defeating Red Sevier, Ted Johnson and Ray Smith. Running as junior representative was John Barr, Jacob Tingo and Jack Huckabee, and of these three will be selected to sit on the council.

Paul Lehman this week declined the candidacy for editorship of The Wagoner, leaving only one candidate for that position.

Next Wednesday's voting will not be entered in the general election, but will be decided by the senior class and the business managers of the Agromech, Southern Engineer, Agriculturist and Pine-needle will not be entered in the general election, but will be decided by the senior class and the business managers of the publications represent.

Pressmen Release Convention Plans

Spring Conclave to be in Charlotte April 25-27; Davidson and Queens Co. Hosts

Plans for the annual Spring Convention of the North Carolina College Press Association were revealed this week by Steve Saller, executive secretary of the association, who announced that the convention will be held in Charlotte April 25, 26 and 27.

Charlotte, with the Hotel Charlotte serving as headquarters, was awarded the meeting at the fall convention held here in Raleigh. Davidson and Queens College will be host and hostesses to the delegates from colleges all over the state.

One of the high lights of the convention will be the awarding of attractive gold keys, duly engraved, to the editors and business managers of the publications judged to be the best in their respective classes.

The deadline for entering publications in this contest was extended from April 10, as originally set, to Monday, April 15, to insure the entry of all publications desirous of competing.

Newspaper editors send six copies of their paper issued during the school year 1939-40; magazine editors, three copies issued during the school year 1939-40, and annual editors the book issued by their predecessor during the school year 1938-39.

The speaker for the banquet, which will probably be held on Friday night, has not yet been announced. The Charlotte Chamber of Commerce is planning a theater party for the delegates during their stay in the city.

One of the important matters to come before the convention is the election of officers to head the association for the next year. The N.C.C.P.A. includes among its membership practically every college and university in North Carolina sponsoring publications.

Electrical Seniors On 1700 Mile Trip

Twenty-Six Men Will Return to Campus Sunday Night After Inspection Tour of South

Twenty-six seniors in electrical engineering are on a 1700-mile inspection trip this week to large industrial developments in the South, including projects of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The students, accompanied by Prof. R. Postarier, will return Sunday night.

After spending most of three days inspecting TVA dams and power plants more than the seniors will go to Mississippi State College at Starkville today for the annual student activities conference of the Southern district of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

The seniors will visit industrial plants in the Birmingham, Ala., area tomorrow and spend tomorrow night in Atlanta, Ga.

Wells Fargo . . .

"Wells Fargo," a story of transportation in the old West, starring Joel McCrea, Frances Dee, and Bob Burns, will be shown in Pullen Hall tonight at 8:30 under the auspices of the YMCA. Admission will be ten cents.

Plans Being Made To Install Phones In All Dormitories

Friday Attending Student Meeting In New Orleans

Announcement that private telephones will be installed in all of the campus dormitories and ready for use by September 1, was made yesterday by C. R. Letort, chairman of the Committee for Dormitory Telephones. The committee has been making an extensive study of the proposal for some time.

A total of 23 telephones will be placed in the college's 12 dormitories at the beginning of operation, with plans for the addition of other phones as soon as the proposed budget will permit. Wall telephones of modern design have been recommended by the committee for the dormitories.

Plans have also been made to install the switchboard in the college Y.M.C.A., and the committee has requested permission of the "Y" to install the exchange there. A private switchboard will be installed for the dormitory telephones.

Which will be added to the switchboard will be in operation around 12 hours per day, with a regular operator to handle calls during the busiest hours on the exchange. Her work will be supplemented by student operators. The dormitory telephones will be financed by a fee of 50 cents per term per student, which will be added to the room rent of all dormitory residents.

Next year's operation of the telephones will be somewhat on an experimental basis, according to Chairman Letort, who stated that many points and problems of the exchange would have to be worked out after it was installed and operating. In his discussion, Letort would seek suggestions from students for changes to be made at the end of the first term.

Separate Exchange to be Set Up For Sys- tem; 23 Phones to be Installed

The distribution of the telephone numbers according to the present plans of the committee, will be as follows: 7th, 3; 8th, 3; 9th, 1; 10th, 1, A, 3; C, 3; 1911, 1; Watauga, 2; 4; 5; 6; 7; 8; 9; 10; 11; 12; 13; 14; 15; 16; 17; 18; 19; 20; 21; 22; 23.

Letort added that additional telephones would be added as finances would permit.

Underground cables will be installed for the telephone exchange, which will be equipped with two trunk lines to the outside switchboards.

Lecture-Recital Features Ballads

Dr. and Mrs. Collins of Elon College Discuss American Folk Songs

The Committee of Public Lectures last night presented a lecture-recital in the State College Y.M.C.A. by Dr. and Mrs. Fletcher Collins of Elon College on "The American Ballad."

Dr. Collins, a Yale graduate and authority on the ballads of North Carolina, explained the origin and meaning of the ballads presented, while Mrs. Collins sang a number of them. In his discussion of the ballads, Dr. Collins pointed out the fact that most people seem to think of folk ballads as originated and sung by groups of romantics and ignorant people, while actually many of the ballad singers he had met in North Carolina were well educated and refined.

Dr. Collins remarked that the average North Carolinian knows very little of the ballads of his native state, and that many have no idea that so great a number of local folk songs exist. He stated that the ballads have never been featured on the radio," said Dr. Collins, "is that they exist for the enjoyment of the singers rather than for entertainment purposes."

Dr. Collins and Mrs. Collins sang several of the songs as duets, with Dr. Collins accompanying on the guitar.

They were introduced by Dr. Lodwick Hartley, head of the English Department at State College.

Jack Price Wins Forensic Title

A late report yesterday from the Grand Eastern Debate Tournament being held at Winthrop College in Rock Hill, S. C., stated that Jack Price, State College debate star, had topped the Eastern and Northern Radio Broadcasting championship.

Forty-five colleges are represented at the speech tournament. Price holds the Dixie championship in radio speaking, and is rated nationally in direct clash debating.

Sigma Xi Club Hears Engineer

Interesting problems in the construction of High Point's $1,500,000 grade crossing elimination project were discussed before the State College Sigma Xi Club Wednesday night by Frank T. Miller, Greensboro construction engineer who was in charge of the job of lowering 2,000 feet of Southern Railway's main line through the heart of High Point.

Miller told how engineering ingenuity solved the problem of carrying off underground water, adding that the sub-drainage system now carries off 40,000 gallons of water daily. He also described how 50 trains daily, one every 30 minutes, were routed by the project on trestles while construction was under way.

Nelson Improving . . .

Dean Thomas Nelson, head of the Textile School, who has been confined to his home by illness for the past three months, said yesterday that he was making rapid progress and expected to be up and around within two weeks. However, the dean will not be able to resume his duties at the college at that time.

Let's Investigate This Thing . . .

Since the action of the Student Assembly last week, tabling the bill on the new proposed cut system, numerous students have registered complaints that the Assembly is backing down, and is afraid of their own work. They contend that the faculty talked the Assembly down, and killed all its efforts with one blow. Such is definitely not the case.

It is certain that the bill on the new system had several good points, and might have been the best results that could be obtained from much extensive study. However, that is one point that the Student Assembly is not sure of, and one point they intend to clarify before going any further. We don't believe that you will find many students who are entirely satisfied with the present system, but then you will find various students who could complain about any and everything.

One thing is definite. The Student Assembly is not backing down, nor does the faculty desire that it do so. What the Assembly is attempting to do is to make a survey of the cut systems at approximately seventy-five institutions similar in nature to State College, and see just how our system compares to theirs. There is no doubt that the Assembly jumped into the cut bill without sufficient background, and that is the point that the faculty has been endeavoring to point out. The Assembly has appointed a committee to make this study from these institutions' catalogs, and after that is done, another bill will be drafted to be presented to the faculty. And, although it may be almost identical to the present one, the Assembly will at least have a little background on which to base their arguments.

And we are inclined to believe that delay of this bill, plus a more thorough study and analysis of the situation, will boost the stock of the Student Assembly rather than lower it as some have inferred. The Assembly is not backing down or backing water—right now it is using its head and "looking before it leaps."

N. C. STATE

For the Seniors . . .

In recent years complaints have been loud and long about everything connected with State College, particularly its athletic teams. And who have been the ones that yelled the loudest—the alumni of this institution. And what has been one of the major causes of this shortcoming—lack of interest and support from these very alumni who are kicking.

What the college needs is stronger alumni support, and this is an acknowledged factor by all who are connected with this institution. The main thing to do is to weld the State College graduates into a strong and efficient organization, and this is exactly what was begun last week by the Senior Class.

A movement to secure one hundred per cent membership in the alumni association from the graduating class was begun by last year's class, and we are endeavoring to continue where they left off, hoping that such a movement will be prevalent on down through the years.

By pledging full support to the alumni association, you, the seniors, assured the association that you will keep in contact with State College in after years, and will also enable the association to keep in contact with you.

After all, we believe they had rather you kick about joining the association now than kick about the college after you leave it. Let's adopt the slogan, "Every Senior's a Supporter."

Welcome, Visitors . . .

Yesterday, a large number of delegates from engineering schools throughout the South registered at State College for the annual regional conference of student chapters in the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, and last night the number of visitors was predicted to rise to around 175.

State College is exceedingly glad to play host to such a delegation, and we wish for the visitors as well as the local chapter a most successful convention. During their three-day stay here we hope that they will find everything satisfactory, and we desire sincerely to make them feel at home.

We only hope that their visit to State College will make them desire to return again, as strongly as the college is desirous of having them as our visitors. And so we say to our chemical visitors, "Welcome to State College."

Wednesday at primary elections the response from the student body fell below what was expected, meaning that students are not taking the interest they should be in their student government and other branches of student activities. NEWS HIGHLIGHTS

Going Strong . . .

Plans are rapidly falling into shape for the Student-Faculty Day, begun last year by the Interfraternity Council, who plan to make it an annual event. The Council has selected a committee to prepare for the day, and soon they will be reaching into the faculty for their committeemen.

If you saw the softball game that was a part of Student-Faculty Day last year, it's two-to-one that you will not miss this year's show. Although no date has been set, the day will probably be held around the middle of May.

Finally a Decision . . .

After months and months of wrangling, it seems that the Junior Class has finally decided to make the annual Junior-Senior Prom a formal dance. From all indications, the final decision was reached on the day of third-term registration, when all the juniors who paid their class dues voted. Seems that the majority of those paying up voted for a formal, so formal it shall be.

A Busy Time . . .

Any man that says that this isn't going to be a busy term is entirely wrong. Not strictly from a standpoint of scholastic endeavors, but more from a social standpoint, it might be interesting to note that the gymnasium is booked for practically every Friday and Saturday night for the remainder of the term.

Add to that conventions, elections, graduation (for some), meetings, and a thousand other things, and you can easily see that this is going to be one term when school work is going to intertweave with outside activities.

Campus Telephones . . .

Definite action was revealed this week on the proposal to install telephones in all of the dormitories, with a private exchange to handle the load. The Committee on Dormitory Telephones investigated the matter thoroughly, and after a conference with local telephone company executives approved a plan which would permit the installation of 25 phones. Naturally, this first year of operation would be experimental, but a real start has been made in the right direction.

Stepping Out . . .

These Young Democrats on the campus are really stepping out, in view of the fact that they entertained R. Gregg Cherry, State chairman of the Democratic Party and former Speaker in the Legislature on the campus last night.

Other prominent political leaders, including Paul V. McNutt, have been mentioned as possible speakers here. Not that the fact that any one party is coming out in the fore is such excellent news to the entire campus, but it is evident that the students as a whole are taking more interest in State politics. And believe-you-me, until we can plant some State College alumni in this North Carolina Legislature, Carolina will continue to receive a greater appropriation than does State College.

outweigh the number of this week, since there were so few candidates entered into the primary.

Naturally going along with next week's campaign will be an extensive amount of back-slapping, hand-shaking, and possibly undermining of opponents, which are hoped to produce the desirable votes for some certain candidates. Here is where the student's own brain should function, and where he should decide for himself which will be the most capable candidates. He should always and at all times remember that these persons for whom he is voting will be his representatives, both on the campus and off, and he should choose wisely.

Above all things, let's have a record number voting in the final elections to be held in the YMCA next Wednesday.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

April 10, 1940.

Mr. Brownlow Jackson, Secretary, Republican State Executive Committee, Selwyn Hotel, Charlotte, N. C.

My dear Mr. Jackson:

We have your letter of April 8, inviting the students of State College to attend your State Convention, to be held in Raleigh on April 17.

We do not have any way of determining the number of students who will be interested in attending the convention. We recommend that you direct the ushers to reserve a section in the balcony for students. We will post your letter on the main college bulletin board.

We thank you for the opportunity which you have offered to State College students to witness the operations of your convention.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

J. W. HARRELLSON, Dean of Administration.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

There will be a meeting of all students from Sampson County tonight, in room 6 Peete Hall, at 7 o'clock. We are going to organize a "Sampson County Club." Support your county.—Zeb McDaniel.

The Mecklenburg Club will meet Thursday night, April 18, in 102 Page Hall at 7 o'clock.

All members are urged to attend.—Ed Morrison, Pres.

All students registered in field crops or soils or planning to register in this course, are asked to be present at a meeting Monday, April 15, at 8 p.m. in Withers Hall for the purpose of organizing a student chapter of the American Society of Agronomy.

CLARK OR CRITICISM

Regardless of the merit or lack of it in the most recent charges of David Clark of Charlotte, publisher of The Southern Textile Bulletin, against President Frank Graham of the University of North Carolina, it may be set down as a fact that one of Frank Graham's greatest assets is the enmity of Mr. Clark. Clark has such a well-fixed reputation for violent denunciation in terms of reaction that what he says is discounted at the outset.

Such an institution as the University of North Carolina, which now includes the three greatest educational institutions of the state, needs and its president needs inclusive and productive criticism. But Mr. Clark as the sharpest critic of Dr. Graham has so acted as to make all critics fear to be included in an attitude and class which seem to take their character from an almost personal vindictiveness. Men who differ as to policies and practices in higher education from those pursued by Dr. Graham do not wish even to seem to join Clark in what appears often to be less an effort to improve the University than an effort to get the hide of Frank Graham who is honored and beloved even by most of those who disagree with him.

The result is that the sound and necessary criticism of the University and its president has been degraded and delivered to David Clark. The state gets Clark's blasts which it has learned to disregard and nothing else. And that is unfortunate for Dr. Graham, Mr. Clark, the University and the people of the state.

GLEANINGS

by THE STAFF

Finding that we can't even take a week's vacation, Thursday finds us again hammering like mad on the typewriter keys, with thoughts still straying toward the beach or, in fact, any place that is rather distant from homework and hard work.

Starting us in the face this coming week will be final campus elections with emphasis on "pull," lantern and cheap cigars—plus a lot of campaign promises that probably won't mean much. . . . Although things were rather quiet last Wednesday at the primary voting, watch out this Wednesday if you stroll near the polls, or you may come out minus a shirt. . . . They really go in for that "pull 'em in" business, for after all a vote is a vote. . . . According to all indications, there should be two issues of The Technician out this term. . . . that is, in April and May, and so it looks like the campus will have to begin preparing itself for this detriment to the finer things in life. . . . Seems that it would be a good idea to devote one issue this year to humor, so that we could have something different.

Two freshmen really got the surprise of their lives last week when they decided to go swimming in the college pool. . . . They walked into the locker room, undressed, and then decided to race for the pool—and so they did. . . . They raced down the hall toward the pool, pushed open the door, and dashed in—only to find the pool surrounded by women and men watching a swimming meet. . . . They were so embarrassed that they jumped into the water and were finally rescued with a couple of towels. . . .

Still going strong is Charlie Santoro's Bachelors Club, while another group has joined the ranks. . . . Headed by Tom Rowland, the club is to be known as the "We Give Up and Throw in the Towel Club," which will be affiliated with the national "Women and Us Are Through" organization. . . . For further details consult Tom Rowland or Bill Hawfield immediately, for membership is being limited to 2,000. . . .

Seems that tomorrow should be some sort of a holiday, what with all the athletic high jinks scheduled. Conveniently enough, the track meet and baseball game will not conflict.

Writing about baseball reminds me that in the future all week-day games will be played at 4 o'clock instead of 3, as they have been played. This later hour will give boys who have a lab an opportunity to see the whole game.

The narrow margin which gave Richmond the track meet last year, 12 points, foretells a State victory. Our boys have improved 100 per cent since last year, and with the week's practice since the Duke meet, should be in fine fettle. The baseball game is a toss-up. Carolina has beaten Washington and Lee, and so have we. Cornell beat both schools.

May 4 will see another two-bareled athletic day... the track team meets V.P.I. at 1 o'clock and the baseball team will meet Wake Forest at 3:30.

Track Meet, Baseball Game Here Tomorrow

Trackmen Seek Revenge Win Over Richmond

State Cindermen Out to Even Score With Spiders for Last Year's Defeat; Starts at 1:30 o'clock

Tomorrow's athletic festivities will start at 1:30, when State's track team plays host to the strong University of Richmond cinder group in the new track stadium. The early starting time was arranged specifically so that State students can see the Carolina baseball game which will begin at 3:30.

than 12 feet, 4 inches. Hanf did 13 feet, 3 inches against Duke last Saturday.

Injury Jinx
State will continue without the services of Sprinters Dick Watta and Dick East, Pole Vaulter "Chuck" Bledsoe and Sprinter Sam Welch, all of whom are recovering from illnesses and injuries.

Standout on the Spider team is Harold McVay, who shot-puttied 45 feet, 8 inches against Hampden-Sydney, more than a foot and a half better than State's best man, Art Rooney, did against Duke when he placed third.

Mickey Thompson is going to come up against tough competition in the broad jump when he encounters Bill Reikine, who is aiming at 23 feet. Thompson took first against Duke in that event with a jump of 21 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

Other Spider stars are Captain Ed Sinar, a javelin thrower, as in Ed Bragg, John Griffin in the discus and Owen Griffith, a leading Virginia miler.

Star Gridders Compete For Alumni Trophy

Tony DiYesso and Ed Coon, High School Teammates, Run For Athletic Award

It's a far cry from White Plains, N. Y., to Raleigh, but next Wednesday when State students go to the polls to vote for the athlete whom they think has been the most valuable for State College this year, they will have to choose between two boys who played football together in high school for three years in White Plains and have been teammates at State for three years.

The two men are Tony DiYesso and Ed Coon. Both boys played at White Plains high, as teammates for three years, and both were picked as members of the all-Westchester County team for two years.

Coon was selected as first-string All-American this year by the N.E.A. He is a senior in civil engineering and plans to enter some phase of engineering after graduation. He is a member of the Monogram Club, the American Society of Civil Engineers, and a representative in the Student Assembly.

DiYesso is a senior in industrial arts, and plans to teach and coach after graduation. He is a member of Kappa Phi Kappa, honorary educational fraternity, the Industrial Arts Society, president of the Monogram Club, secretary of Golden Chain, a senator in the Student Assembly, a member of the Athletic Council and a member of the Student Welfare Committee.

Techs Lose To Demon Deacons

Home-run in Last of Ninth Clinches 7-6 Win For Wake Forest

The Demon Deacons of Wake Forest overcame a four-run first inning lead taken by State last Tuesday in Deacontown, and then edged ahead in their last chance at bat to win, 7 to 6. Deacon John Fletcher stretched a long triple to right field into Wake Forest's winning marker, when Centerfielder Len Constant's cut-off throw home went wild.

State scored quickly in its first chance at the plate, with two men out. A W.P. error and wild pitch mingled with four hits to produce four Tech runs. The Deacs then counted once each in the first and fourth frames and three times in the fifth. Another Wake Forest run in the eighth put the score at 4 to 6 when the Techs came up for their last chance at bat. With two out, Pitcher Sam Kaufman singled and went home on Len Constant's triple.

A new W.P. pitcher came in but gave up a walk and a wild pitch which brought Constant home, before State was retired. The first Deacon batter then proceeded to put the game in the win column for Wake Forest.

Captain Cader Harris and Sam Kaufman each had a perfect day at the plate, with two for two. Curt Ramsey started in the box and gave up nine hits and three walks for a total of five runs before retiring in the sixth. Lefty Sam Kaufman went the rest of the route and allowed three hits and two walks for the other two Deacon markers.

Thrills In Store As Techs-Heels Meet Here Today

Sister Schools of the Greater University Clash on Freshman Field; Game Will be Toss-up

The nightcap of tomorrow's gala day of athletics will be the baseball game between State College's rapidly improving baseball team and the University of North Carolina's in-and-out nine.

The Techs showed vast improvement over their previous games when they lost to Wake Forest last Tuesday by the score of 7-6, and will be rated a 50-50 chance of whipping the Tar Heels. To date, State has won one, over Washington and Lee, and lost three, to Cornell, Richmond and Wake Forest. The Chapel Hill boys have wins over Washington and Lee, Maryland and Michigan, and have lost to Cornell, Pennsylvania and Harvard.

Big Curt Ramsey will probably get the call to start on the mound for State, and "Red" Benton, former Wilson High star, will hurl for the Tar Heels.

Sluggers should be the standout high jump and a third in the high hurdles.

Other State men to score were Van Johnson, who placed second in the mile and did some clever running to escape being boxed in by two Blue Devils; Lamb, third in the 440; Fleming, second in the 880; Ross, third in the two-mile; Rooney, third in the shot-put; McKay, third in the discus; Peters, third in the javelin, and Waldin, third in the broad jump.

for both teams. State has Outfielders Wade Brown and Len Constant, and Captain and First Baseman Cader Harris, who started the season slow but is gradually rounding out into shape.

Gridders Star
A trio of grid stars head the list of Carolina batters—Co-captain George Strunweis, who is batting fourth with .450, George Radman, third with an average of .467, and Jim Mallory with .420. Carolina's other captain, Matty Topkins, is second with a better-than-average average of .474.

The combination of Topkins at shortstop and Strunweis at second is considered one of the best infield combinations in the Southern Conference.

Probable lineups:
State—Capt. Harris, 1b; Pehley, 2b; Morrison, 3b; Ritter, ss; Asher, rf; Constant, cf; Brown, lf; Ramsey, p; C. Doak, c.
Carolina—Reynolds, 1b; C.-C. Strunweis, 2b; Rich, 3b; C.-C. Topkins, ss; Jennings, rf; Mallory, cf; Radman, lf; Beaton, p, and Myers, c.

LEAD RIFLEMEN

State's rifle team brought a successful season to a close last Saturday by downing the crack Clemson group. The Techmen lost but one match during the entire season.

In the picture are Major Robert Jones, coach, and Sergeant Knight, assistant coach. Prone are Bruce Hildebrand, treasurer of the team; B. R. Harley, secretary; Ralph Brake, president and captain, and R. K. Lee, vice president.

Dunn Defeats State Frosh

Although displaying a powerful hitting attack, State's freshman baseball team bowed to Dunn High last Tuesday by the score of 12-8.

Trailing by seven runs, the Wolflets rallied in the fourth and fifth frames to make the game a little closer, but the visitors managed to keep their lead. Webb Grouten started on the mound for the frosh and was relieved by Ray Hardee. Jim Barber caught. Holding led the State batters with a home run and a triple.

In an earlier game, played here Saturday, the frosh were defeated by the Carolina frosh, 12-6, as the result of 10 State errors. Gilbert paced State with two singles.

Thompson Tops In Track Meet

State Man Gets 11 Points; McDougall Tallies Seven

Although State's varsity track team bowed to Duke, it was a State man, Mickey Thompson, who was individual high scorer for the day. Thompson scored first in the broad jump and in the 100-yard dash, and third in the 220.

While Thompson was scoring his points, State's key Hanf was busy setting a new track record for the pole vault at 13-3, to take first place in that event. Jimmy McDougall, a sophomore, was second high scorer for State with seven points garnered as the result of seconds in the low hurdles and the

Duke Professor to Lecture On Relation of Chemistry and Criminology

Dr. Haywood M. Taylor, professor of toxicology and biochemistry of the Duke University Medical School, will give a lecture on chemistry and its relation to criminology in the new chemistry building at 8 o'clock on Thursday, April 18.

Dr. Taylor, a native North Carolinian, is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and has served as professor of toxicology at that institution. He has received national recognition on his work in toxicology and biochemistry and has written several papers on these subjects.

He was appointed toxicologist for the State of North Carolina by the governor and has appeared as an expert witness in some of the most publicized murder trials in the state.

Dr. Taylor's lecture is being sponsored by the agricultural chemistry students, who extend an invitation to every student and faculty member to hear this lecture.

There will be a meeting of the business staff of "The Technician" Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in Publications Building. All staff members, particularly freshmen, are requested to be present.—Jim Mitchell, Bus. Mgr.

SPEAKER R. O. Johnson, below, Wilmington artist, recently presented the college with a painting, "Zero," and will speak at the YMCA next Thursday night, at which time he will present a story of the painting.

Althaus Reviews High School Unit

Major Kenneth G. Althaus, executive officer of the Military Department at State College, left yesterday to conduct the War Department's annual proficiency inspection of the Wilmington High School R.O.T.C. to be held today.
