Felt by All . . .

Once again the cold hand of death has struck at the State College community and taken with it one of the most promising and brilliant young men ever to graduate from this institution.

It was with a heavy heart that we learned last week of the passing of A. McKinley Greaves-Walker, an alumnus and the only son of Dr. A. F. Greaves-Walker, head of the Ceramic Engineering Department. Mere words cannot express to the family our deep and heartfelt sympathy in this hour of gloom. We grieve with them in their loss.

Young Greaves-Walker made a brilliant record, both in his scholastic work and as a citizen, while at State College and was well on his way to even greater success in the industrial world when the end came in a disastrous train wreck. He was respected and liked by all who came in contact with him and the loss is felt by all.

War Versus Education . . .

It is rather ironic to realize that more is being spent weekly, almost daily, in fighting this present war than has been spent on the education of students at North Carolina State College during the 50 years of its existence.

Were it possible to place the material wealth of one battleship against the education of a thousand students for one year, what a difference it would make to those who seem to harbor the ambitions and desires to drag their country into such a conflict. The cost of the naval fleet of one nation would probably pay for the education of all college students in the universe.

Think that every time a huge shell falls, every time an airplane is shot down, the education of a large number is going up in smoke.

We know that it is folly to even think that these warring peoples are going to stop in the midst of their battles and say "convert all of this money into the education of our youth." But such a thought does give us some idea of the usefulness and wastefulness of war.

Think how much good State College would be able to do if we were rated as important as one battleship. If we had this miraculous power of transportation.

N. C. STATE

That Far-Away Glean . . .

Along about this time of the year students begin to acquire that far-away look in their eyes, a look which can be translated to mean that their minds are just as far away from school work as they can be. With the advent of spring, numerous other things besides academic accomplishments advance to the front.

However, we must also direct our thoughts to the fact that there are only 35 more days until school is out, and that there remains a lot of work to be done. To insure us of knowing just how we do stand, it might be well to say that mid-term reports will be out sometime in the next day or so. And it is not too late in the term to get down to real hard work and pass a course. The mere fact that you get a flunk slip at mid-term is only an indication that you are low on that course, and that it can be passed with a little extra effort. These flunk slips are merely warning signals that there is danger near.

But even if you are in that category of the students who fail to get flunk slips, don't become confident that you will pass a course because you were passing it at mid-term. Lots of things can happen in the course of a few weeks, even a few days.

So let's go here, fellows! Since we only have such a short time left, why not try to postpone for about four weeks some of those rushing social activities and get some real school work done. It won't be long until this year of labor is over and the three-month summer vacation presents itself.

The Old and New . . .

Last week, this week, and for the next several weeks newly elected officers will be coming in to fill various student jobs on the campus, replacing those who have given a year of their services to State College. On, by one presidents, vice presidents, editors, business managers, representatives, and a dozen other offices will be filled with new blood and new men, filled with ambition and determination.

It is with a thought of appreciation that we witness this change in student personnel, for we realize that the students this year have done an excellent job in their extracurricular activities. All phases of the student government have been

More Publicity . . .

Topping the inside news this week was the fact that National Geographic magazine had one of its ace photographers on the campus Wednesday through Friday snapping pictures of the annual Textile Style Show and Exposition for appearance in that world-famous publication.

What with all of the national syndication of pictures of Peter Pop and Matty Hannon, and with the addition of national coverage on the Style Show, State College is really coming into the public's eye when it comes to publicity. Add to that the fact that we have one of the best and most efficient news bureaus that can be found anywhere, and you will have the reason that State is getting famous far and wide.

Fraternity Housing . . .

All is not dead on this issue of fraternity housing, which was brought up and pushed so vigorously by the Interfraternity Council of last year. Recently the Board of Trustees appointed three of their number to form a committee to study this thing. And now the Council has selected a committee to work on the matter, and they held a meeting last week, their report to go to the Trustees' committee. And from all indications they have selected a site for the proposed fraternity house, whichever it might be.

Light Standards . . .

Noticing that the lights had disappeared from the Memorial Tower, we figured that they must be making fast progress with the new standards that the senior class is donating to the college as their class gift. And so drifting over to the metal shop, we find that one of the standards is already complete, and that another is almost finished. Shouldn't be long before the Memorial Tower is sporting some shiny new standards. And then all that will remain highly active and a great deal of work has been accomplished. Other forms of organizations, publications, Y.M.C.A., athletic council, and numerous others will see a change in leaders, a change to which they are accustomed and which is to them an annual occurrence.

As these old officers leave the field gradually and are being crowded out by new and rising talent, we pause in our writings long enough to tell them that they have done well, that their work has not been wasted.

And to the incoming men, who are undoubtedly fired with the very spirit of "do or die" itself, it is useless to say we wish them lots of success. These men, whom you as students elected as your representatives, are capable without any doubt and will do a good job. The major thing that they will need next year, in fact any year, is your complete and wholehearted co-operation.

Their going will probably be tougher than it appears now, but with your help next year they can do it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

[Editor's Note: We are reprinting this letter received recently by Dean Cloyd from a former student. The letter was written in confidence and name and address of its author have been destroyed, but we feel it worth while to print it because of the circumstances which prompted it.]

Dear Dean Cloyd:

In my years at State College I liked a good time and after a friend of mine and myself helped each other on an exam so we could finish soon to go enjoy life; which now has turned into what you can call a hell of a life.

We were expelled, you know, for a term, but I wanted to finish so I could go to work for the railroad as I had planned and for whom I was working each summer, but when I finished State they would not give me a recommendation to the railroad.

After going back to finishing I thought I would stand a chance in life, but I find out in everything I try that the same old thing comes up and I don't stand a chance.

I thought I was doing the right thing by going back and finishing, but now everyone I ask for a job writes State and what kind of reference do I get? None.

I don't believe any convict has lived any worse life than I have, and I'm out of prison.

I know I did wrong but I can't pay a lifetime for mistakes made in my youth—maybe I'll have to.

I doubt if you can help me, but I do hope there will not be any more boys up there that will be as big a fool as I.

If it were just myself I would not care, but my family has my troubles, and I guess this letter is different from any you receive but I just had to write you and tell you what I have been going through since I finished State.

Team, Burton, who also played for 2nd A, got two home runs. First C won the game from 2nd A by narrow score of 19 to 17. Perry and Karlman were the outstanding stars for the winners. Basement South secured a 10-point lead in the first inning over West Watauga. The final score was 15 to 4.

The Pikas kept up their winning streak by defeating the Lambda Chis by score of 9 to 1. Hayward's pitching was the most outstanding feature of the game. Smart and Chambliss also played good ball. The Pi Kappa Phi defeated the Delta Sigma by score of 9 to 4. Towers, Pi Kap Phi, hit a home run while Matson, Santore and Lozier hit home runs for the losers.

In volleyball the ones that have reached the quarter-finals are the Pikas, Delta Sigma and 1911 in the dormitory bracket.

The teams that have reached the quarter-finals in tennis are the Pikas, ALT's and the SPE's.

S. A. M. Officers . . .

main is to get bells or chimes for the memorial.

Fun for All . . .

Still on deck as two of the outstanding campus attractions of the year are Student-Faculty Day and the Freshman-Sophomore pushball contest, both of which incite much interest in the student body.

The Interfraternity Council is rushing plans for the day when students and faculty members rub noses with each other, and plans call for several athletic events, a mock military parade, and dance following, and several other attractions. All who have ever seen a pushball contest know what to expect, and the freshmen will soon find out.

Still at Work . . .

In spite of opinions to the contrary, the Student Assembly is still working on the bill to modify the present out-system, and the committee appointed by that body held its first meeting this week. They will work in conjunction with a faculty committee, and are planning on making an extensive study of the system employed by other leading engineering institutions. The results of this study will be made known as soon as the work is finished, and that will give some foundation on which to work.

State-wide Politics . . .

The campus is even beginning to take on some aspect of a stonking ground for State politics, and some students can be seen putting on the pressure for some of the candidates for Governor. This is the first time in our recollection that any of the students have taken an interest in State-wide politics, and we believe it is a good idea. In spite of the outcome of their efforts, it shows that they are interested in these matters. And some day we may be able to get more than a very small minority of State College alumni sitting on the State Legislature.

Other Papers Say--

A College Vocabulary . . .

(Old Gold and Black, Wake Forest, April 20, 1940)

When William Shakespeare used about 10,000 different words in 37 plays he established a reputation as having a remarkable vocabulary. But last week this record was supposedly broken—and by the average college student, if we do not judge the number of words as proportional to the actual number in the English language now and then.

A test, which took seven years to complete by Psychologist Robert H. Seashore and Miss Lois D. Eckerston, was given to 600 college students as well as to many college-educated men. From this word test the individual had to choose from several possible words for the correct definition. And using this as a criterion of the person's vocabulary, it was found that the average college-educated modern man has at least a nodding acquaintance with four times as many words as Shakespeare used.

Probably the most surprising result was that which indicated that the average student recognized—or guessed—about 60,000 common words and 1,500 rare words. The largest individual vocabulary was 192,000 words—of a college student, too!

However, as Professor Seashore iterated, "It should be remembered that older writers had a much smaller English language to draw from, and that we know nothing about the number of additional words which they could have used if necessary. (There were about 50,000 English words then as compared with 600,000 now). In spite of this assertion such a revelation can hardly be believed by one who has corrected freshman vocabulary tests at the beginning of each school year.

Midterm—and the profits win again! Where do they think they are—Verdun? Can't say that we approve of these "They shall not pass" tactics.

Speaking of Verdun, war, 'n' such, it seems that in the little scrap across the way, Benito is having trouble finding out the score. Over here, however, the only thing that seems to worry the government is what Brother Dies and his gang decide about Red activities in our colleges. We hear that the Chapel Hill branch of State College is rather incensed over the broad insinuation being made about its alleged "un-American activities." It is our opinion that the most "un-American activities" going on in the "Playboy's Paradise" are eating Swiss cheese and playing Russian Bank.

Controversy No. 2 seems to concern Arlie Shaw's new band. The first time we heard his new record, "Frenesi," the comment was "Well," the next time, "Maybe," and ever since then, "Definitely." Backed by some real musicians, Shaw's clarinet rides hit a new high. His latest record, the much discussed "Gloomy Sunday," was still forthcoming the last time we went record-hunting, but it promises to be a killer. It features a new contralto Shaw discovered in California. The Textile School is really doing itself proud this week with a bang-up Style Show, featuring over a hundred of North Carolina's most beautiful college girls. If the pulchritude percentage is as high as the Lindy Bop Ball as it was in the show, State College dancers-gone are in for a real treat.

And while the subject of bands and dances is fresh in our minds, it seems that very few of the State College dancing clientele missed the Glenn Miller brawl down in Wilson last Monday night. Glenn did himself proud, and certainly in the minds of many there, established himself as the No. 1 dance band in the country today. His danceable renditions of today's popular ballads alternated with some real honest-to-goodness jam in the Miller manner, kept the dancers on their toes all night.

Another milestone in Frankie Sabo's conquest of Meredith has been safely passed. Frankie, who rates like the "guy by the name of Si" out at Meredith, has been asked to make a toast at a Meredith dinner function soon, and is hard at work preparing for the big event. Frankie's comment when he was expelled downtown the other day cultivating the friendship of a few Meredith freshmen was the noncommittal "Who knows? I may come back to school a few years from now."

Speaking of coming back, Keith Roby and his cohorts seemed to make quite a hit serenading the girls at S.C.T.C. recently on a Sigma Pi Alpha convention. A budding Caruso?

Quite pleasantly surprised to see an old press convention friend yesterday afternoon at the textile show in the form of pretty Polly Goforth from Flora MacDonald . . . surrounded by a circle of admiring boy friends as usual.

Reports to the effect that Bill Knight got up at 3 o'clock one Sunday morning in the not-too-distant past and headed for Burgaw are circulating the campus. . . . Bill must have gone "Batty" about someone down there.

Why is it that Billy Welfare wants to organize a Bachelor's Club after last week-end? . . . Charlie Cook is walking around on air these days singing "I Dream of Jeanette with the Light Brown Hair." . . . And then there's Moe, who has been playing the gals over at the W.C. dances.

Jim Stanton must be full of bull to have had such a convenient date for the Sig Bop ball last week-end. . . . Pat Feiley was under the wheel of a 1940 Oldsmobile Sunday afternoon, and the car was packed to the gills with gals. . . . that's unfair to the rest of us, Pat.

P. D. Glass gets our nomination for one of the biggest talkers we've met . . . and to avoid a reputation like that, we'll sign off by saying that most likely State College will be seeing some of Eddie Duchin and his orchestra, come this year's Finals.—BRUCE HALSTED

And, and the council's advising officers for the school year 1940-41 will be held.

The newly formed Camera Club will hold its second meeting of the term this Friday night at 7 p.m. in room 118 Daniels Hall. All those interested in photography are invited to attend.

...by BILL FRIDAY

State College-Raleigh Day ...

During this school year there has been a lot of discussion going on around the campus in regard to the relationship between the students and the citizens of Raleigh, our piece being spoken about athletics.

Year before last, during the football season, there were numerous parades and programs staged by the civic organizations of the city and various student groups to promote interest in the games that were played at Riddick Stadium. This year the situation reversed itself. Several rallies were held to create interest, but there were times during the season when the student body needed a stimulus.

We are anxious to see this new plan for mutual co-operation materialize next fall. It will bring the students and city folk closer together and, through this relationship, promote better athletic programs at State.

Coming Events ...

There are two more programs on the sports calendar that are to be reeled off in the near future—the annual Push Ball contest and Student-Faculty Day.

The date for the sophomore-freshman battle has not been set as yet but a committee is at work ironing out the details for the program and the date should be announced by next week.

The Interfraternity Council is running into some trouble trying to get a date for the Student-Faculty program. The event was very colorful last year and we hope that it doesn't fall through this spring.

Nice Going ...

Tony DiYeso and the Monogram Club have done a good piece of work in organizing the boys that win their freshman numerals and getting them to work with varsity boys on their programs.

This week they climaxed their year's work with a big dance at the Tar Heel Club. During the program they presented Mr. Charlie Doak, former baseball coach, with an engraved cigarette case.

Trackmen Enter AAU Meet At Hill

"Seabiscuit" Doesn't Like Ladies—Much

Mickey Tells Us He Has Never Had a Date—Says He

By EDWIN PERRY

His teammates call him "Seabiscuit" but to Sheriff Lee Thompson of Pasquotank County his son Mickey, the elongated track and grid star at North Carolina State, is still a big bashful boy.

When Mickey enrolled in agriculture teacher training at State four years ago he had never played a game of football or broad jumped in his life. It was in his freshman year, so he relates, that he first took an interest in jumping. It was here that Coach Ray Serron found the bashful Pasquotank youth who was in a few years to become a track star.

While a freshman Mickey didn't try his luck at football but it struck his fancy and the following spring he reported for practice at the spring drills. His 6-foot, 2-inch and 150 pounds make him a natural at end.

The most interesting thing about Wallace F. (that's his full name) is his modesty which borders heavily on shyness. During a recent conversation someone asked him if he ever got nervous and he readily answered "Sure, but I thought after playing football last fall I wouldn't be nervous any more. Last Saturday I was so nervous I couldn't eat. I ate one egg all day." Incidentally, Mickey turned in what is probably his most brilliant performance last Saturday. Against the University of Richmond he won first place in all three events which he entered. He did the 100-yard dash in 9.7 seconds, the 220 in 21.9, and then finished the afternoon by leaping 22 feet, 2-1/8 inches in the broad jump.

In his sophomore year Mickey played on the B squad in football and participated in State's only track meet, which was against the University of Richmond. The next year, in 1938, he earned a starting berth on the Wolfpack football team and also represented State in the A.A.U. track meet at Chapel Hill. In that meet he took first place in the broad jump by clearing 22 feet, 4 inches. He won first place in the same event the next year with a jump of 22 feet, 6 inches.

It was in 1939 that Mickey came up with his best leap in the broad jump. Again against the University of Richmond, the elongated chap jumped 22 feet, 11-1/2 inches, which stands today as his record. Mickey doesn't go in for social life at all. He is not a fraternity man but belongs to the Ag Club and the Monogram Club. And here's one for the girls—he has never had a date. Mickey blushed a crimson red when we asked him about the girls.

Four hits were all Coach Doc Newton's Techs could muster Wednesday afternoon against Duke University's mighty nine as State emerged on the short end of a 5-2 score.

Bob Vickers, right hander, bested Curtis Ramsey in the pitching duel. Ramsey yielded nine hits and six walks in his first defeat in three starts. Vickers fanned eight.

Duke scored three runs in the first inning before Ramsey tightened up. The Blue Devils broke loose again in the seventh for two more runs.

Capt. Cader Harris led State at bat with two hits—a double and a single. Len Constant, singled to center in the fourth and scored on Wade Brown's triple. Brown scored on Harris' fly to left.

Baby Deacs Whip Teachlets, 4-2

Fresh Play Dunn High School Friday; Dunn Won the First Game

Coach Nig Waller's State freshman baseball team bowed to the Wake Forest yearlings by a score of 4-2 last Wednesday on freshman field.

The contest was marked by the brilliant pitching of State's Dave Wood and the Deaclets' Johnny Falkenburg. Chief factor in Wake's victory was Hank Lougee, spectacular third baseman, who played a flawless game at third and drove in the run that proved the margin of victory.

Coach Nig Waller's new keystone combination of the Mills twins executed a double play neatly. In fact, the Wolflets had two twin killings to their credit, the other coming from Gilbert to Mills to Ball.

The freshmen play Dunn High School today. They are out to get revenge for a defeat this nine handed them earlier in the season. The Dunn team is one of the best high school squads in the state this year.

'MURALMUSINGS

Two teams, the ALT's and Basement 8th, were removed from the undefeated column this week. The Pi Kappa Phi won over the ALT's by score of 11 to 9. H. S. Gibbs was the outstanding ball player for the winners. Out of four times at the plate, he knocked one home run and scored two runs. First 8th, led by Idings with two for three, took a 10 to 6 win over Basement 8th.

Basement of South won over 5th by score of 8 to 2. Griffin and Michaels were the leading batsmen for the winners. 1911 came out at the big end of their game with 1st Watauga, by defeating them by score of 23 to 7. Cooper scored three runs from three times at the plate. First A scored a 16 to 11 victory over 3rd C. Williams, who played for 1st A, not only got a hit every time at bat but knocked out two home runs. Caton led the Lambda Chi to a 12 to 6 victory over the Kappa Sig by scoring three runs from three times at bat.

"My man Friday," as Robinson Crusoe would say, knocked a homer and batted out four runs out of five times at bat. The only trouble was that he was on the losing side. —Continued on page 2.

Terrors Drill Under Warren

Although baseball and track are in the limelight at the present, the candidates for the 1940-41 edition of the Red Terrors basketball team are working out daily in Frank Thompson gym.

Coach Bob Warren has been handicapped by the fact that a number of the men who will be mainstays of the team next year are participating in spring sports. However, he has managed to assemble the members of the crack freshman squad who should develop into good varsity men next year.

Early indications show that the Terrors will offer a fast-breaking, speedy attack. With the crew of sophomores coming up that are better than average they should be the dark horse in the Big Five. For the past few years the Terrors have been hampered by the lack of capable reserves, but next year's outfit shapes up rather well in surplus manpower. Red Sevier will be the only letterman missing when the Red Terrors hit the floor next winter.

Mickey Thompson Is Entered in Five Events; Welch Out

An even dozen varsity and 23 frosh trackmen will carry the colors of North Carolina State Friday and Saturday in the fifth district A. A. U. track meet at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

The junior division opens Friday afternoon and is followed Saturday by the varsity meet. State's frosh ranked third in team competition last season with 27 points.

First place honors last year went to the University of North Carolina. Duke ranked second and North Carolina State was third. The Tar Heels are heavy favorites to defend their title this year.

Mickey Thompson, State's bashful track star, will put on a real iron man act in the senior division Saturday. The Pasquotank Panther is defending champ in the hop, skip and jump in addition to being entered in the 100-yard dash, the 220, the broad jump, and the 440 relay. Thompson was second in the broad jump last year with a leap of 22 feet, 6 1/2 inches. Against the University of Richmond recently, Mickey ran the 100 in 9.7 seconds.

Coach Ray Serron will be expecting big things of Ike Hanft, pole vaulter, in the senior division. Hanft cleared 13 feet in the Duke meet this season for a new track record, but has been arranging a strained muscle lately.

Also entered in the pole vault is Ed Singen, New England intercollegiate champion of a few years past, who has been coaching State's Hanft for the past two years. Singen is unattached.

Coach Serron plans to enter a 440 relay team this season. The team is composed of Thompson, H. S. Gibbs, Jimmy McDougall and Billy Lamb.

Missing from State's line-up are Vann Johnson, miler, who ran fourth in the A. A. U. mile last season, and Sam Welch, hurler. Welch underwent an operation recently and will not be able to participate in track this season.

Lint-Dodgers Ball To Climax Show

Music for Textile Dance to be Furnished by Jimmy Livingston and Band

The annual Lint Dodgers Ball, climax of the Style Show and Exposition week for the textile students, will be held in Frank Thompson gym Saturday night from 9 until 12.

The dance committee has engaged Jimmy Livingston and his band to play for the event. This organization played a winter engagement in the Hotel Charlotte several seasons ago and since that time they have been playing successful engagements on the road. Livingston features the smooth style of rhythm.

Jimmy Tillman, chairman of the dance committee, announced today that textile students that haven't gotten their bids may do so by presenting their athletic books to the member of the committee on the desk in the textile building.

Tickets may be purchased in advance from a member of the committee for 85 cents. At the door the price will be one dollar.

Adams Selected Head of Ag Fair

At a joint meeting in the West Cafeteria last Tuesday night, the Ag Club and the Forestry Club elected Roderick Adams president of next year's Ag Fair.

Elected to serve with him are Lee Roy Barnes, vice president, and James Rollins, secretary-treasurer. Stump speeches were numerous, and the results were close.

Annual Ring Dance Formal This Year

Music for Colorful Junior-Senior to be Furnished by Vincent Burns

Vincent Burns and his orchestra will furnish the music for this year's colorful junior-senior dance, scheduled for May 4 in the gym. Burns, who recently finished an engagement at the Ritz-Carlton, will play for the Lambda Chi dance here on Friday night, May 3.

The junior-senior this year will be formal for the first time in its history. Members of the junior class who paid dues voted about 2 to 1 for a formal dance, each man indicating his choice as he paid dues.

The junior class rings will definitely be here in time for the colorful ring ceremony, high light of the dance. The girl places the ring on the boy's finger, steps through a giant ring and kisses him.

Bids for the junior-senior will be given out Friday and Saturday afternoons, May 3 and 4, in the Y.M.C.A. Members of both classes must present their registration cards, and juniors must bring their receipts for class dues in addition.

Setzer Elected AIEE Chairman

The State College student branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers elected J. D. Setzer as chairman for the next school year.
