Defense Curricula Chosen This Week By Dean Van Leer

List Includes Production
Supervision, Airplane
Power Plants, Airport Design

Twelve courses for inclusion in the new engineering training program for national defense at State College have been selected by Dean Blake R. Van Leer, head of the School of Engineering, and Director Edward W. Ruggles of the College Extension Division.

The list is subject to approval by the U. S. Office of Education, to which Congress has appropriated $9,000,000 to be expended through selected engineering schools to train men for government and industrial defense jobs.

Dean Van Leer announced that courses would get underway about January 1, with State College seeking permission to train 300 students. Over 125 applications already have been received, with more arriving daily at the office of Director Ruggles.

Men of any age are eligible to apply if they have finished high school. Preference will be given to men with some college training in engineering or its equivalent in practical experience. The courses will last from two to six months, depending upon the type of study selected, and will equip the students to take civil service examinations. Men who have studied at liberal arts schools are eligible.

Courses which State College is prepared to offer are production supervision, production engineering, material testing, inspection, airplane power plants, airport design, engineering drawing, machine design, Diesel engines, cryptography, spectroscopy, electronics and training for instrument men and topographers.

Dean Van Leer is one of the nation's 22 advisers to the Office of Education in connection with the new training program. He will go to Chicago for a conference of the advisers December 21. His region embraces the Carolinas and Virginia.

Baptist Organization To Serve As Agent To Unify Students

Over 400 Listed on Rolls of Baptist Student Union; Officers
List Weekly Program

No doubt many of the readers of this article are members of an organization which they do not realize exists. The name of this organization is "The Baptist Student Union," commonly known as the B.S.U.

Its membership is made up of all students on the campus who are enrolled in one of the Raleigh Baptist churches, Sunday schools, or Training Unions. Although there are approximately 700 Baptist students at State, only 400 are on the B.S.U. files. This means that about 300, by simple arithmetic, are members and don't know it.

Because there is no church in Raleigh which serves all of the State students and which could be called a college church, it is necessary to have some agent or organization whose purpose is to unify the Baptist students and the programs of their individual churches. The organization in this case is the B.S.U.

The Monday morning prayer group which meets in Room 212, B.S.U. dorm, at 7:00, and the Sunday afternoon Bible study group, which meets in the "Y," are fine character building programs for their leisure time.

In all Raleigh Baptist churches Sunday school begins at 9:30, and morning worship begins at 11:00. The B.T.U. begins at 6:15 at the First Church, and at all other churches at 8:30.

Six Are Initiated Into Gamma Sigma

Honorary Chemistry Fraternity
Selects Outstanding
Chemistry Students

Six new men were recently initiated into membership by the State College chapter of Gamma Sigma Epsilon, honorary chemistry fraternity.

The following were initiated: J. V. Parker, J. W. Young, J. R. Wood, A. B. Hume, H. F. Feale, and J. M. Sturkey. Requirements for admission to the organization include scholarship, leadership, and personal qualifications, while general purpose of the fraternity is to promote student interest in the study of chemistry.

As its top social function of the fall term, the society recently gave a picnic supper honoring the new members and their dates.

LEADING THE WOLVES

in their last game of the season tomorrow will be Co-piloted the State team through one of the most successful seasons in recent years.

New Cut Bill Passed By Student Assembly

Applies Only to Those Rated
Before Council Tuesday

A new and revised cut-system change bill passed both the House and Senate of the Student Assembly last night after a heated discussion in both divisions. It will be presented to the Faculty Tuesday by Ed Davidson, president of the joint session; Bill Friday, president of the Senate and Henry Rowe, originator of the bill.

The complete bill follows: WHEREAS, we, as students, realize the difficulty that would be encountered in changing the present system of recording class absences and deducting credit points for excessive class absences which are unexcused; and

WHEREAS, we believe that the present cut system of this institution should be more liberal, placing more of the responsibility on the students;

THEREFORE, we propose the following changes in our present system of penalizing students for excessive class absences:

Article 1. That the present system be retained in recording class cuts, and that a student shall suffer the loss of one credit point for each three unexcused class absences.

Article 2. That the probation limit be extended from its present limits to 10 unexcused cuts per term and 30 per year for each year of college residence after the sophomore year.

After various revisions and amendments, the bill was passed in the foregoing form by the Senate and sent to the House. In the House an amendment by E. E. Durham which would have made it optional for professors to turn in cuts was defeated and the bill was finally passed without revision.

A bill to tear up the entire length of the street in front of the cafeteria and to tear up the street that runs from the cafeteria around by the stadium was passed with amendments by the House, but was tabled in the Senate.

Upsilon Sigma Alpha Picks Seventeen Men

Honorary Military Fraternity
Selects Leading ROTC
Upperclassmen

Election of 17 leading military students to the State College chapter of Upsilon Sigma Alpha, national Army fraternity founded at Fort Meade, Md., in 1933, was announced today by President Roy H. Lane of Henderson.

New members are Harold G. Taylor, Garland; Grover C. Cox, Greensboro; Neal W. Seegars, Fairfield; S. Leigh Wilson, Arlington, Va.; Richard E. Brannon, Rockingham; Phil Avery, Morganton; Jimmy Gaskins, New Bern; Bill Martin, Raleigh; Hugh Cameron, Oxford; Ed Bryant, Wilmington; Dudley Robbins, Burgaw; William E. Leoudis, Rocky Mount; Quentin Surratt, Burlington; Frank M. Bennett, Jackson Springs; Richard D. House, Scotland Neck; Walter H. Haene, Concord; and Herbert M. Speas, Winston-Salem.

The Young Democratic Club is holding a smoker tonight Nov. 22, in the north end of the YMCA. Mr. Arch T. Allen, prominent Raleigh attorney will be present.

Scabbard and Blade Holds Annual Dance

Music of Van Keys to Be Featured at Dance on Eve
Before Thanksgiving

Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military society, will give its traditional dance Wednesday night, November 27, it was recently announced by John McIver, captain of the State College chapter.

Van Keys and his orchestra, a band which is gaining in popularity with every engagement for which it plays, will furnish the music for the dance, to be held in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium. The gym will be appropriately decorated for the occasion, with red, white and blue festooning, providing a military atmosphere.

All members of Scabbard and Blade will attend in full dress uniforms, while all others attending the affair may go either in full dress or in informal civilian attire. A military figure is to be presented after the intermission, with all members and their dates taking part.

Sponsors and their escorts are as follows: Miss Lillian Faulkes of Birmingham, Ala., with Fabe Clements, chairman of the Dance Committee; Miss Myrtle Saunders of Roanoke, Va., with Captain John McIver; Miss Mary White of Edenton, with Charles Wheatley; Miss Virginia Lee Wooten of Raleigh, with "Cutie" Carter; Miss Helen Jordan of Raleigh, with Legrand Johnson; and Miss Carolyn Kenyon of Raleigh, with Bill Rivers.

Presale tickets at 85 cents may be obtained from members of the organization, or by signing for the tickets during Monday's drill period, the money to be taken out of the military deposit. Tickets may also be purchased for $1.10 at the door.

To The Royal Order Of The Rail We Dedicate This Gruesome Tale

By A. N. ONYMOUS

Out of the roar of campus life at State College, there has been born a new and totally different honorary society. This society, "The Royal Order of the Rail," was formed for the benefit of the group of students who do a great part of their extracurricular activities in the vicinity of the railing in front of the College Court Drug Store.

Since its founding a few days ago, the organization has gained momentum until it now promises to be one of the largest clubs on the campus. One of the main features of the Rail is their constitution that states: "Whereas: The majority of honorary fraternities require a certain scholastic average for membership, and therefore exclude a great number of students who deserve special honors, the Order of the Rail will not only require no special average, but also will strive to select students who have had too much outside work to make averages of 'B' or better." This proviso was inserted to bear out the theory advanced by so many of our leading business men that "Students are always in their place, but there's no use interfering with any pleasure in order to try and find their place."

With this thought in their alleged minds, the founders set up rules and regulations tending to produce a perfectly secret society. To bear out the fact that the club is altogether secret, we quote from the preamble: "For the purpose of insuring the condition that the Order shall be secret, the officers will be elected by secret ballot, and all the ballots shall be immediately destroyed. If, by any prank of fate, any of the members should find out who the officers are, they are pledged to withhold the information even from the other members, so that there will be no chance of anyone finding out who the officers are, even the officers themselves."

Membership in this new organization is limited to seniors, new members are immediately instructed in their duties by the Chairman of Initiations. Since no one knows just who the Chairman is, the new members are burdened with very little excess information as to the rules and regulations, but all of them learn (by some telepathic process that we do not completely understand) that the main projects in view consist of: (1) A movement to have the rail at the meeting place steam-heated for the extreme comfort of the members. (2) A pe-

Knife Wounds Fatal To Former Student

Bill Roberson, Well-known
State Man, Dies Sunday In Durham Hospital

Bill Roberson of Durham, former State College student, died in a Durham hospital Sunday from a knife wound inflicted by a Durham County Negro who is being held in jail in connection with the slaying.

Bill, who was well known and very popular among his classmates here at State, was a prominent member of the Red Coat Band, the orchestra, the concert band, and Mu Beta Psi, honorary musical society. Always interested in anything pertaining to the band, Bill, together with Tom Parks, conducted the successful campaign for uniforms for the band. A member of the R.O.T.C., he was responsible for the cap insignia now worn by bandmen to distinguish them from other R.O.T.C. students. As a member of the band, he was awarded the band key for outstanding service. Bill planned to return to school at the beginning of the Spring term in order to graduate in June.

The fatal stabbing occurred late Saturday night at a riding academy near Durham. J. E. Ray, the Negro who is being held by the police, claimed that he acted in self-defense.

Roberson, an employee of the Durham city engineering department, is survived by his mother, Mrs. C. B. Oliver of Durham, and three sisters.

Carmichael Addresses Chemical Engineers

A.I.C.H.E. Members Hear
Controller of Greater University at Tuesday Night
Meeting

The meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, Tuesday night, featured a talk by W. D. Carmichael, controller of the Greater University of North Carolina.

Carmichael stressed the fact that State College has not been receiving the per capita allotment of funds which it deserves but that he believes the people of the state are beginning to recognize the need for technically trained men. This was evidenced, he said, by the fact that the per capita allotment for State has been increasing each year.

His office and records at Chapel Hill are open to any citizen of the state and he issued an invitation for anyone interested in looking over the records to come to his office.

Carmichael, as well as Dr. Frank Porter Graham, spoke to the meeting of the Advisory Budget Commission on behalf of State College and the other units of the Greater University. As controller, it is his duty to supervise the accounts and determine the propriety of expenditures by the Greater University of North Carolina.

The meeting Mr. Carmichael addressed was the regular bi-weekly gathering of the society.

Revamped Wataugan Shows Improvement

Year's First Issue Largest Ever Published, Features
Homecoming Pictures

The Wataugan, as shown by the first 24 page issue, has been completely revised into a campus publication that every State College student will be proud to keep.

The first issue is the largest Wataugan ever published, and the number of copies has been increased to 2,500. The cover, instead of the usual insignificant cartoon, shows Watauga Hall as it was decorated for homecoming. Following this is the complete review of Homecoming Day portrayed by pictures of student activities on this occasion. The written article, supplementing the pictures, uniquely describes the undying efforts of the Wolfpack, and the remarkable spirit displayed by the student body.

The motto, "Sees all, knows all, tells all," especially the latter, was certainly fulfilled in snooping Smithwell's column "Strictly on the Q. T." We all like the inside story and hope that the author is not revealed so we can continue to read his scoops.

Alton Conrad, in "The Music Box," gives you an idea what to expect and look for from the dance bands. The excerpts from the letters actually received by the County Relief office might have some influence. They might receive applications from students for jobs this summer, or possibly before summer. It does sound like an interesting job.

Throughout this issue there is a really beneficial distribution of humor. Along with the cracks that are "strictly on the cob"—corny, one can learn how to handle a blind date, why girls wear silk dresses, the general attitude of students toward the dormitory telephones, how to be an assistant football coach, and what to expect from an interview with Prof. Fisher, head of the Math Department.

John Laws, John Boger and their staffs are to be congratulated because they have given the students a campus publication enjoyable to read, and one well worth keeping.

Electrical Engineers Initiate Twenty-Two

American Institute of Electrical Engineers Entertains
New Men at Smoker

Twenty-two new members were initiated into the State College student chapter of the AIEE at a banquet held Tuesday night in Daniels Hall.

The initiation, as has been the custom in past years, was a highly entertaining affair, and contained many interesting assignments. Among the unusual pranks that the initiates had to perform for the benefit of the sixty old members present were: To find the kilowatt rating of a King Edward cigar; to determine the best method of shearing a hydraulic ram for steel wool; to determine the best method of making good without marring the boss's daughter.

Those initiated were: B. F. Spencer, W. G. Seyter, R. E. Payne, C. S. McArthur, A. L. Humphrey, B. F. McRae, L. W. Pelletier, Eugene Dawson, James Gray, H. V. Strand, E. W. Bame, Ed Wooten, L. H. Spargo, M. W. Cole, Z. Mosley, G. G. Young, C. E. Fisher, J. W. Willis, P. D. Page, P. C. Hunter.

Wolves Out for Blood As Newton Plans to Shoot the Works In Last Game of Season

By DON BARKSDALE

Coach Doc Newton's North Carolina State College Wolfpack rings down the curtain on the 1940 season tomorrow afternoon when the Country Boys meet the Blue Devils of Duke in the Duke Stadium.

The Dukes enter the game highly favored to win, but Doc Newton's proteges have long since become accustomed to be rated as underdogs and some of the more rabid State backers are even whispering of a Wolfpack victory.

Pointing to the 6-3 defeat the Blue Devils suffered last week at the hands of the Carolina and the heads-up ball game that the 'Pack displayed against the Tar Heels, State backers know that the two teams will be on more even terms than last year when the Blue Devils rode rough-shod over State 28 to 0.

A State victory over Duke will give the 'Pack a tie with Duke for third place in the Big Five, while the best the Blue Devils can get out of a win is a three-way split with Carolina and Wake Forest for first place.

Saturday the lads of Coach Williams (Doc) Newton will be up against one of the finest defensive teams in the nation—a team that has allowed only five and four-fifths points per game and a team that is known for developing air-tight defensive situations. While the Dukes were holding their opponents' scores down, State was hit from every angle with offensive pyrotechnics that piled up the combined opponents' average to 17 points per game.

Coach Newton's hipper-dipper attack that has been the talk of the Big Five this year is mastering several new maneuvers this week, while State's football doctor works his boys behind locked gates and everything being what it should be by Saturday the dopsters probably will figure State's chances of cracking the great Duke defense to be about even.

Duke can be beat—Tennessee and Carolina proved this—and the Wolfpack playing their last game will be in there shooting the works to hold the powerful, hard-hitting Dukes down and to do some scoring of their own. After their shake-

Frosh Politics Open With Heated Primary

Jack Moore and Dave Willis
Selected As Candidates for President of Class of '44 in Spirited Campaign

Aspirants for president of the freshman class were narrowed down to two yesterday in a hotly contested primary which resulted in the elimination of all except Jack Moore and Dave Willis.

Moore led Willis by 71 votes, and the defeated candidates, Jim Taylor and Jim Abrams, by about 250 votes. Candidates for vice-president were narrowed down to a two-man race between Eugene Dawson and Bill Creek, while that for secretary-treasurer is to be a contest between Robert Reynolds and Allen Ambers. Tom Morgan and Fred Wagner were selected to be candidates for freshman representative to the student council.

From the unusual amount of interest shown in this primary yesterday, the final election, which comes off December 5, promises to be a spirited contest, for it seems that this year's freshmen have already started a couple of political "machines," and competition for class officers posts is stronger than it has ever been before.

Intermural Flash

The SPE's went into the lead in the interfraternity football "round-robin" challenge, which yesterday by defeating the PIKA's 20-12. Boger, Paschal, and Peele scored for the victors, McDaniel and Welch for the losers.

Victors in the upperclass dormitory elimination race were the boys from 3rd "A," who nosed out 2nd "C" on first downs after the game had ended in a 6-6 deadlock. Luben-tal scored for 3rd "A," while Le-Vasseur scored for 2nd "C."

From This Angle

by Edwin Perry

All About Bob Cathey This Week . . .

Five years ago over in a wooded area near Durham in a little hamlet by the name of Chapel Hill, the home of the University of North Carolina, a mighty high school football team defeated another top-notch team for the state championship.

Charlotte had risen to realize the greatest of its high school football ambitions and had defeated Raleigh, representing the eastern half of the state, 7-0.

That was a memorable day in the minds of those two schools for it was an unusual game.

The stage was set for the game. Raleigh entered the game as defending champions and were favorites to retain the crown. Charlotte won the toss and elected to receive. The referee gave the signal and then the kickoff—a high end-over-end kick all the way into the Charlotte end some five yards behind the goal line.

A small but nimble lad raced back and took the ball on the run. Bill Wartman was the lad, better known as a track sprinter than as a football player. From midfield behind the goal he started toward the west stands at full speed ahead. The blocking was perfect. On the forty yard line he headed straight down the sidelines with all the speed of a Glenn Cunningham in the home stretch of the mile run. When Wartman crossed the Raleigh 30 he was in the clear and not a man had touched him all the way—105 yards. Charlotte converted for the extra point and that game ended 7-0.

That was probably the greatest football team ever to take the field under the colors of Charlotte High School.

But now our part of the story begins to take form.

Five years have passed since that memorable afternoon in the forests of Chapel Hill and today we find those same boys who won the State Championship in Kenan Stadium in quite a different situation.

Four members of Charlotte's state champs are junior football players at North Carolina State College and the little speedster who ran 105 yards for the touchdown in the championship game is a sophomore at Duke University.

Saturday those four Charlotte boys—Bob Cathey, Jack Huckabee, John Barr, and Frank Owens—at State and Charlotte's Wartman at Duke will be on opposite ends of the field at the kickoff (all except Owens who has an injured leg).

Those first four boys didn't get much of the glory for that 105 yard run that won the state title for Charlotte some five years ago. They were the boys who did the dirty work on that play—they did the blocking.

Now that I have gotten around to the matter of blocking I can tell you readers what I had in mind when I sat down to write this column. It's about the fine job one of those Charlotte boys, Bob Cathey, has done this season in the capacity of a blocker on State's Wolfpack football machine.

Bob played the blocking position with the high school team in his day. He came to State in 1937 to play the blocking back position on Nig Waller's freshman team. The next year he spent on the varsity B team and last year played his first year on the varsity as blocking back, alternating with Tony DiYeno.

Bob has played regular this year, so regular, in fact, that he has played at least 55 minutes in all except the Davidson game and in that game he played 45 minutes. His grand total for the season is 440 of the 480 minutes played by the Wolfpack this season.

Bob is more versatile than the average blocking back for not only does he take a beating in the backfield but he is a pass receiver and carries the ball on certain occasions. He backs up the line on defense in deluxe style. His pass receiving netted State a touchdown against Mississippi State.

Bob, christened Robert Herron Cathey 23 years ago, has two great ambitions—to win all of State's football games next year and to earn a million.

In the estimation of your scribe, the performance of Our Bob should be given careful consideration of all those concerned in awarding of the Adams-Millis and Jacobs blocking trophies this season.

In parting, we might say that the Technician sports department salutes Bob as the most valuable football player on the 1940 Wolfpack.

down at Chapel Hill, Wallace Wade's boys will be out to redeem themselves and finish their fight for Southern Conference and national recognition.

Tennessee is the only team that has been able to hold the Devils scoreless, beating them 13-0 in their second game. State, scoring at least once in every game thus far has compiled a record that hasn't been made for the past 23 years. If the 'Pack can score against the Dukes, they will run up a scoring string never before made in State football history.

If State plays the same brand of ball that they showed against Carolina and later against Wake Forest, the Wade outfit will have their hands full throttling a fighting ball club. Coach Newton has been sending his boys through lengthy drills at Riddick Stadium, working hard to iron out the defects shown in State's 20-14 win over Citadel last week, and to perfect a defense that will bottle up Duke's ace ground gainers, McAfee, Swiger, and Lach.

The long range aerial guns of State that picked up 169 yards on 10 passes against Duke last year, are primed for the Bite Devils, and if the Dukes are expecting a walk-away, they will find that they picked the wrong day and the wrong team.

The injury jinx that has been plaguing the 'Pack since their opening game against William and Mary, took another crack at the Newton aggregation last week when Dick Watts, fancy stepping, swivel-hipped ball carrier, was hurt while State was subduing Citadel. Dick has been working out with the squad this week, however, and will be in shape to carry the brunt of the Wolfpack's running attack tomorrow.

The Wade team didn't come out of their attempted blitzkrieg against Carolina unscathed, and although none of the Blue Devils were hurt severely, they have spent the week in getting rid of their bruises. Leonard Darnell, star end, has been nursing an injured leg and will be the only Blue Devil who may not see action.

Duke has won the nod over the 'Pack in every game since 1932, when the State boys won 6-0. The series, started in 1924, has seen Duke trounce the Wolves in 10 games, State taking the other six.

SPE Defeats Pi Kappa Phi To Keep Record Clean

Sigma Phi Epsilon, known in the sports world as SPE, have lost their unscored-on status but have retained their undefeated record.

Pi Kappa Phi threw a scare into the league leaders Tuesday when Clarence McNeely covered John Boger's fumble in the end zone in the second period, sending Kappa Phi ahead 6-0. The try for point failed.

To prove that a ball game is not over 'til the final whistle, the SPE's rallied in the final period to score on a pass from John Boger to Joe Peele, tying the ball game up at 6-6. The try for the point was successful and the SPE boys were still undefeated but had been scored on.

Warren's Red Terrors May Play Doubleheader; Football Keeping Crawford Out At Start

By ROBERT POMERANZ
The first of two pre-season games will be played Monday night in Frank Thompson Gymnasium by Coach Bob Warren's basketball team. The Red Terrors may tangle with two different teams on Monday, although only the first game against a local crew representing the Lynn Service Station is definite. Eight members of the 1940 varsity form the nucleus of the present 19-man squad. Nine men have come up from last season's yearling team and two boys have transferred from junior colleges.

Monte Crawford and Ray Smith are co-captains of the Red Terrors. Crawford has not taken part in practice as yet and may not play in the early part of the season, because of his football activity. These two plus George Strayhorn are the only lettermen on the squad. Here's the 1941 Red Terror squad: Forwards — George Strayhorn, R. L. Baker, Jim Mills, Bill Ball, Raul Carvalho, Mac Stephenson, Jack Tabscott.

Centers — Bernard Mock, Marshall Henson, Sid Tager, P. H. Taylor, C. C. McCormick, Monte Crawford.

Guards — Phil Oransky, James Jones, Earl Auman, Ray Smith, Joe Mills, Jack Gell, Evert Levin.

Baby Deacons Are Unfated In State; Game Is Scheduled for 2 O'clock

Dr. Bob Warren's North Carolina State Freshmen will go out to win for Coach Bob his third co-championship in Big Five Freshman football competition today at 2 o'clock in Riddick Stadium.

Adversary for the Wolfcubs will be the Baby Deacons of Wake Forest, undefeated to date and favorite to lick the locals. Hanging in balance will be the frosh championship of Wake County, which, like the varsity edition, has become a matter of serious proportions here of late.

Coach Warren's Freshies never have won the Big Five title, although twice during his seven previous years as State Freshmen Coach his Wolfcubs twice tied for the diadem. However, let it be said that this year Coach Warren has brought the Freshies back to their former place in the sun and with a few breaks Friday, State supporters believe the personable mentor will win his third co-championship.

To date the boys have won three games and dropped one, that to Duke, which was beaten by Wake. In his previous years as Frosh coach, Warren's teams scored 23 victories, suffered eight losses and tied four games. His record up to now is 26 wins, nine losses, four ties.

With his switch to the Freshman football job this year came Warren's elevation to varsity basketball coach. He has coached State Frosh cage teams for 10 years, piling up 102 victories and 36 losses. Those wins gave him four Big Five championships.

In two years spent at Virginia Tech, Warren's freshman team won 18 cage victories, suffered but one setback, and his Gobler varsity won seven games and dropped seven.

Coach Warren, only full-time member of the Wolfpack coaches who is an alumnus of this institution, also coached freshman baseball here for seven years, winning two championships. Fifty-one games went on the victory side of the ledger, 33 on the loss side.

Eta Kappa Nu Picks Outstanding EE Men

Honorary Electrical Engineering Fraternity Initiates Eight Students

The members of Eta Kappa Nu, honorary electrical engineering fraternity, will meet at the Tally-Ho Inn tonight at 7:30 for a banquet in honor of eight active initiates and two associate members. The formal initiation will be held at 6:30 and the banquet honoring the newly inducted men will take place immediately afterward. The men honored by membership are E. C. Denton, G. S. Duncan, R. D. Cole, J. F. Calfee, J. D. Setzer, J. R. Holshouser, W. H. Blue, and H. E. Church. Two members of the faculty, Professor J. E. Lear and Associate Professor R. E. Brown are to be initiated as associate members in the fraternity. Beta Eta chapter of Eta Kappa Nu is one of three chapters of the fraternity located in the south. The other chapters are located at the universities of Alabama and Texas.

Jones boys led the attack. One of the most spirited games of the year was played last Friday when a previously unbeaten 2nd "A" team went down in defeat to a strong 3rd "A" team 6 to 0. "Goldie" Goldstein intercepted one of "Hoot" Martin's passes and ran 20 yards for the winning score. This run also enabled 3rd "A" to go into the championship play-offs. This week brought to a close the regular scheduled football games. The finals for the winning teams are to be played this week-end and next. Here are the teams and the pairings:
P. K. A. vs. S. P. E., Thursday, November 21, 1921 field. P. K. A. vs. Delta Sigma, Tuesday, November 26, Riddick Stadium. S. P. E. vs. Delta Sigma, Friday, November 29, Riddick Field. 3rd "A" vs. 2nd "C" Thursday, November 21, Fresh Field. 8th Dorm. vs. 1st 7th or 3rd 8th (date pending). Fresh Champ vs. Upper Class Champ, Tuesday, December 3, Riddick Stadium for dorm. title.
The finals for the All-Campus wrestling were held Wednesday. There were many excellent matches, some of them featuring former undefeated high school and prep school stars. Coach Ted Johnson would do well to have some of these boys on his varsity. The Sigma Nus led the fraternities by placing three men on the all-campus. They produced a well-rounded team and deserve a lot of credit. Their star 145 pounder, Fred Miller, was taken sick at the last minute and had to forfeit. No one dormitory took more than one place since the finals were split up between four dorms.

The American Association of University Women has cabled $6,050 abroad to help European women scholars in distress because of the war.

FIRE AND FORD

Members of the Raleigh Fire Department were surprised last Tuesday afternoon after racing madly to the scene of a fire at the Freshman quadrangle to find a model T Ford a blazing mass. It was found later that three freshmen had bought the car for $1.66. The irony of the situation was that it cost the city more to send the fire truck than the car was worth. That night the car was again in running condition.

NUMBER ELEVEN

This issue of The Technician is the eleventh to be put out by the College Print Shop. The shop, which is located in the basement of Tompkins Hall, has been in operation for more than four months. In addition to the Technician, two issues of the Alumni News, one Watauga, one Southern Engineer, and an Agriculturist have been among the student publications printed there.
