Golden Chain Men Plan Annual Visits To N. C. High Schools

Deputations Will Start
Next Week; Leading High
Schools To Be Visited

Next week, Golden Chain will inaugurate the first of its yearly deputations to high schools throughout the state.

These deputations are to be made by the members of Golden Chain, and the members will visit high schools in all parts of North Carolina. For several years Golden Chain, senior honor society, has sent representatives to some of the high schools of the state to foster an interest in higher education and to give an idea of college life. No special emphasis will be placed on life at State College, but merely on college education in general.

Golden Chain members that visit the high schools will carry with them, and show to schools having the facilities, a motion picture depicting life on the State campus. This picture, entitled "College Days," was originally made for the alumni, but Golden Chain has adapted it for their own use.

High schools to be visited this year by Golden Chain include: Burlington, Kannapolis, Rocky Mount, Charlotte, Winston-Salem, High Point, Lexington, Greensboro, Danville, Va., Roanoke Rapids, Asheville, Concord, Henderson, Raleigh, Goldsboro, and Fayetteville.

Parade Held By ROTC In Honor of Bill May

Entire Regiment Holds
Memorial Service for State
Student Who Met Death in Recent Accident

State College's ROTC regiment of 1,450 military students assembled in Riddick Stadium Wednesday at 12:15 o'clock for a memorial service in tribute to Cadet First Lieutenant William N. May, of Lenoir, killed in an automobile crash near Alexandria, Va., late Monday while on an inspection trip with other seniors in the Department of Aeronautical Engineering.

A general order giving Lieut. May's record in the ROTC, during his years at State College was read, and a musical arrangement of "Taps" was played by the entire band. Lieut. May was a member of the band.

The order set forth that on the day the student died, Col. Thomas W. Brown, State College's military commander, approved and signed Lieut. May's application for a commission in the Army's Reserve Corps. In charge of the memorial service was Lieut.-Col. Allan M. Hobbs of Charlotte, acting commander of the regiment.

Young May was killed when the car he was driving, his own automobile, and another car crashed while passing. He died instantly, his neck broken and his skull fractured.

In the car with him were Thomas E. Haynes of Burlington, E. B. Johnson of Paw Creek, P. W. Randall of Bristol, Pa., and F. O. Smith of McLeansville. Haynes and Johnson received minor injuries. They returned to the campus yesterday with other students on the trip.

Smith, who was in the front seat, and Randall, who was seated from the car while rear door flew open, suffered painful cuts about their heads and remained in an Alexandria hospital yesterday.

The funeral for Lieut. May was held in Lenoir Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Representing the college was Dean of Students E. L. Cloyd. The student body also sent representatives.

Civil Engineers Select Initiates

Final Initiations Will Be Held At Tuesday Night
Meeting

Students in the Civil Engineering Department who have submitted their applications for membership in A. S. C. E. were given instructions for initiation at the society meeting last Tuesday night. All initiates are to wear caps and ties for the next week and carry two brands of gum, cigarettes, mints, an A. S. C. E. placard, an engineer's rule, and a triangle. By the end of the week they must have obtained the signatures of 20 society members and of all the professors in the department.

Next Tuesday night's meeting will be in charge of the initiation committee. The final rites of the initiation will be carried out and the applicants will become certified members of the society.

PRESIDENTS!
All organization copy and all sponsors' pictures must be in the Agromech office by Tuesday night.

SPEAKING to State College during the past week have been the men pictured below. They are three of the speakers who were brought to the campus by the YMCA in connection with Religion and Life Week. Left to right: Mr. T. W. Lewis, Mr. T. B. "Scotty" Cowan, Rev. "Gene" Durham.

Speakers Prove Popular During Religious Week

Meetings Conducted by
YMCA Speakers Well
Attended As Religion and Life
Program Is Presented

"Scotty" Cowan, a brilliant and witty Scotchman, brought State College's annual week of religious emphasis to a successful close last night with a talk on "Religion, Form or Force," to a large audience in Pullen Hall.

Sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., "Religion and Life Week" began Sunday morning when the visiting speakers "invaded" the churches of Raleigh. That same afternoon they were honored at a luncheon in the Y. M. C. A., attended by the "Y" cabinet, campus leaders, and local ministers. Mr. T. W. Lewis, a former V. P. I. football player, now a business man and mechanical engineer in Memphis, Tenn., made the principal address, talking on "Christ, the Only Hope for the Individual and for the World."

On Sunday night at 7:00 p. m., Rev. "Gene" Durham opened a series of evening meetings by leading over 800 young people of this city, including Meredith and Peace City, in group singing and talking on "Counterfeit Money and Counterfeit Christians." Mr. Durham, who he graduated in 1920 and where he is now serving his 18th year as Methodist University pastor in the Wesley Foundation.

The leaders of "Religion and Life Week" were introduced at a convocation of students and faculty Monday morning, and Mr. Cowan talked on "Religion in Time of Crisis; Religion and the New Social Order." All classes were suspended during this program. Mr. Cowan also addressed the faculty, the college staff, and members of the Extension Service at a "Coca-Cola Hour" in the afternoon.

"The Inescapable God," "Dust and Deity," "Malice in Wonderland," and "Religion, Form or Force," all by Mr. Cowan, suggest the trend of the evening meetings held in Pullen Hall, while the discussion groups in the dormitories and fraternities elaborated the various topics with an exchange of opinions contributed by the students, speakers, and leaders in charge. During the week, also, the speakers spoke in classrooms and at freshmen assemblies. They even found time to visit the girls' colleges of the city and Shaw University.

Among the distinguished men on the campus this week was the National Y. M. C. A. Secretary, Mr. Henry T. Ware of Mississippi State Teachers College.

Debate Team To Leave For Appalachian Meet

Five State Forensic Men
To Take Part In Mountain
Tournament at Boone

State's debate squad will leave the campus on Wednesday to take part in the Appalachian Mountain Debate Tournament held in Boone, N. C. from Feb. 6 to 8. This tourney, sponsored by Appalachian State Teachers College, is one of the more important sectional matches held in the state.

Brian Ratcliff, team captain, heads the group of five, which includes David Harris, Wilbur E. Bryant, W. E. Campbell, and E. A. Bowditch. Ratcliff holds two national rankings in direct clash debating. Harris holds a national and a sectional ranking.

The direct clash plan, which was originated by E. H. Paget, State coach, has been added to most major tournaments in recent years, and State College is considered the country's leading exponent of this revolutionary method of debate. The debate topic is "Resolved that the nations of the Western Hemisphere should form a permanent union."

Thirty and Three Selects Five Men

Outstanding Sophomores
Asked To Join Leadership
Society In Recent Selection

Five outstanding sophomores, selected from their class for their leadership abilities, have been chosen by the Order of 30 and 3 for membership.

The men that have been chosen will be inducted into the club at a future class assembly. The new members are: Ed Grosse, Jimmy Allen, Branch Whitehurst, Norman Pease, and Larry Hardin.

The Order of 30 and 3 limits its membership to 30 students. Each year 11 outstanding sophomores are chosen for membership in this organization. Six second year students are chosen in the fall, and five more are inducted in the spring term.

To become a member of this organization, one must have the following qualifications: good character, a high sense of honor, ability for leadership, satisfactory scholarship standing, the welfare of the school at heart, and any other qualities deemed necessary to accomplish the greatest good as determined by the active membership.

Ag Club Hears Plan For Livestock Day

Event Will Be Held At State Fair Grounds This Year; Banquet Planned

Cecil Jackson, chairman of Livestock Day, discussed plans for that event before the weekly meeting of the Ag Club Tuesday night.

Jackson said that Livestock Day would be held at the State Fair Grounds this year. Numerous awards will be presented to winning participants and the day will be climaxed with a banquet in the college cafeteria in the evening. Plans are being made to secure Dr. Frank P. Graham as the speaker at the banquet.

The next meeting of the club will be held at 7:00 p. m. Wednesday, in Withers Hall. Dr. Livingston of the du Pont Chemical Works will address the meeting. The public is cordially invited to attend.

WPA Appropriations Granted To College

General Campus Improvements Made Possible Through Funds from Federal Government

State College has received a grant of over $21,000 from the Federal Government to be used for various general improvements of the landscaping, roads, and other features of the campus.

The grant, which is an extension of a former grant, has provided funds for one improvement that is greatly needed here at State. For the past few terms several of the roads running through the campus have been doing very nicely at the job of covering everyone and everything with dirt and grime. The road running from the gymnasium to "A" and "C" dormitories will probably be surfaced during the coming summer vacation period.

This road has been one of the major offenders during the all too frequent rainy spells and the subsequent dusty periods. The road now under construction from back of Polk Hall to the Textile Building will also be graded during the summer months.

The new terrace and steps now being constructed around the Memorial Tower were also provided for in the WPA appropriations. The hill on which the college dairy barn formerly was located is also to be leveled off and graded. This hill has long been an eyesore to both students and visitors to the campus. Provision has also been made for the filling in of the valley east of "A" and "C" dormitories. An enlarged parking area north of 1911 dormitory, construction of walks and planting of trees, and grading of the plot behind the gymnasium are also scheduled for completion in the near future.

If present plans for the expansion of the campus are completed, the Basic Division of the college will eventually occupy only the western section of the campus. The WPA grant has also provided funds for the improvements of the drainage system of that particular part of the campus.

Pay Now

All students using the deferred payment plan in paying their tuition, fees, etc., are hereby notified that their next regular payment is due on Feb. 1, 1941. No individual notices will be sent. A late payment fine of $5.00 will be added to all bills not paid on or before Feb. 4, 1941.

J. G. VANN,
Asst. Controller.

Appropriations Committee To Study Revised Budget

Naval Reserve Unit To Be Started Here

Engineering Juniors and Seniors Eligible for Reserve
Ensign Commissions in
U. S. Navy

Over a hundred students crowded into a Tompkins Hall classroom Wednesday night to obtain information about the Naval Reserve unit being started at State.

Professor H. A. Fisher, head of the unit, told the assembled engineering juniors and seniors that the U. S. Navy was planning to give reserve commissions as Ensigns to thousands of engineering students, and that these men would receive their active commissions as soon as they graduate from college. The work to which these men will be assigned, according to Professor Fisher, will be along the line of inspecting the various materials used by the Navy, and that the present plans are that these men will not be sent to actual sea duty in time of war, but will probably be retained in their inspectors' posts.

The salaries of these men will be $133 a month, and they will be selected on a basis of their scholastic record, their general leadership capabilities, their physical condition, and their character.

Since this unit is being installed here as an emergency measure, there is no information available as to the length of time of an enlistment under the program, but those who are selected will have about the same chance for a permanent commission as reservists from other sources. Those who sign up, according to Professor Fisher, will be in the service as long as the President feels that an emergency exists.

Anyone who is interested in the Naval Reserve may obtain additional information and entrance blanks from Professor Fisher's office in Tompkins Hall.

Eight Jobs Open Under Co-op Plan

Excellent Opportunities Offered
Engineering Students;
Applications Wanted

Eight engineering jobs, many paying above $100 per month, are open to qualified upperclassmen interested in entering the State Co-op Engineering Plan.

Civil Engineering students may take any of three openings, all of which are with U. S. government offices, through non-civil service. Two jobs with public utilities, within a 200-mile radius of Raleigh, are available to Electrical Engineering students.

Three of the openings call for Mechanical Engineering students. These jobs are with two fabric mills, and a public utility. They are located in Raleigh, Gastonia, and Asheville.

Juniors and seniors in the mentioned schools may apply for these Co-op openings. Those chosen will report to work on Monday, March 24, and continue on to the start of the school year. Special curricula have been worked out.

Applicants and those desiring further information should contact David E. Henderson, acting Director of the Co-op Plan, in the Industrial Engineering Department, 1911 Dormitory, at once.

RETURNING to State College to lecture Tuesday night is Dr. H. N. Wieman, pictured below. This will be the famous philosopher's second visit to the campus this year.

Famous Philosopher To Lecture Here

Nationally Known Author
And Lecturer To Address
Students and Faculty

Next Tuesday night the students of North Carolina State College will have the privilege of hearing for the second time this year a nationally known author and lecturer.

Making his appearance here at that time will be Dr. Henry Nelson Wieman of the University of Chicago, recognized as one of the foremost philosophers in America. Dr. Wieman will talk on "Two Kinds of Democracy: Disintegrative and Creative." It has been announced by "Y" Secretary E. S. King, and the address will be given at 8 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium.

Previous to his address on Tuesday night, he will talk to the ministers of Raleigh on "What Is Most Important in Christianity?" This meeting will begin at 1:30 in the "Y," and students and faculty are also invited to attend.

A professor of philosophy of religion, Dr. Wieman has a pleasing personality and is a delightful and forceful speaker. He is lecturing and speaking constantly before groups of many kinds. His appearance at State College is certain to be most favorably received by students and faculty.

Blue Key Completes Campaign for Dimes

State College Responds to
"March of Dimes" Drive
For Infantile Paralysis
Relief

The dimes are marching. Against the scourge of infantile paralysis they are forming their lines and columns. From tenant cabins and country estates, policemen and shoplifters, dead-end street tenements and fifth avenue mansions, from governors and hoboes, fields and factories, from tuxedos and overalls they have come and are marching to meet the dreaded disease. And in their ranks march the dimes from State College.

The State College "March of Dimes" was sponsored by Blue Key, the drive beginning on the 25th and continuing through the 30th. Cups for contributions were placed at convenient places about the campus, and Blue Key members canvassed the dormitories for donations. The increasing success of previous years led to expectations of greater success this time. The State College drive was held in conjunction with the annual President's Ball, the proceeds of which will go to combat the menace of infantile paralysis. Half of the campus contributions will go to the national drive, and the remainder will be used locally for the prevention of infantile paralysis and for the relief of sufferers of the disease.

New Figures Will Be Presented At Wednesday Hearing; Requests Slightly Cut Down

State College's budget for the next two years will be discussed and voted on by the Appropriations Committee of the General Assembly next Wednesday, and the Committee will in turn make its final recommendation to the General Assembly.

The maintenance fund originally requested from the Budget Commission has been slightly revised by the college administration, which is now requesting $513,673 for the year 1941-42 and $524,137 for the year 1942-43. The original requests were $569,601 for each year. However, the Advisory Budget Commission which met last fall refused to grant the increases asked by the college and recommended that $861,393 be appropriated the first year and $372,078 the second.

In commenting on the slight reduction in the college's request, Colonel Harrelson said, "In slightly reducing our requests from the original figures presented to the Advisory Budget Commission, we are not retreating from our former position. We are trying to fit our requests into the situation of the State's revenue which will be influenced by some changes in the sales tax and by the plan for retirement. We have not appreciably changed any of our requests dealing with major objectives and we have added some minor objectives to the new requests. It is imperative that all of the schools have more equipment, especially in the Division of Forestry. We have included equipment items for four of the five major divisions."

The originally requested million dollar permanent improvements program will probably be cut down, but college officials have not yet completed their revision of the figures. Some permanent improvements will be requested.

Whatever decision the Appropriations Committee reaches will be passed on in the form of a recommendation to the General Assembly. The Assembly has the final power to revise or change the budget as it comes to them, in any way they see fit.

Kavelin Final Choice For Mid-Winters Set

Author of "I Give You My Word" Will Furnish Music For IFC Dances

Contrary to a previous announcement, Teddy Powell will not play for Midwinter Dances scheduled for February 14 and 15.

Powell had been chosen to play for the dance set but there was a misunderstanding concerning the date and it was learned that the contract was valid for March 14 and 15 instead of February.

Al Kavelin has been chosen to play for the dances and although the contract has not yet been signed, George Weant, president of the IFC, announced that this is final.

Kavelin has gained distinct recognition for his unusual style of music which is known as "Cascading Chords." He and his band have played at many well-known resorts including Frank Dailley's Meadowbrook and the current World's Fair. After little deliberation, Kavelin was chosen from a small group of bands available on the date set for the dances. His popularity is widespread and he is very well known as the author of "I Give You My Word," a song which has been heard from coast to coast. This is the first appearance of Al Kavelin and his "Cascading Chords" in this part of the country, and it is expected that he will do more than justice to his reputation in other sections.

Romance of Mexico Will Be Presented

Music and Adventure
Stories To Be Highlights of Program In Pullen Hall

Music, color, drama, adventure, thrills, romance—these are ingredients of the unique blending of song, story and dance in "The Romance of Old Mexico" to be presented in Pullen Hall at 8:15 next Thursday night under auspices of Mrs. Betsa Psi, honorary music fraternity.

Principal stars are Senorita Greta Rubio, mezzo soprano, and Col. Ricardo de Escamilla. Senorita Rubio, a descendant of unusual charm, is a direct descendant of the Royal Inca who was born in romantic Old Monterrey, was tutored in London by Sir Clifton Cook.

You And Appropriations

With Wednesday, the fateful day on which State College's case will be heard by the Appropriations Committee, approaching rapidly, every effort should be made to acquaint the members of the General Assembly and particularly those who are on the Appropriations Committee with the true facts.

However, as a student, do not attempt to talk to the members of the Assembly without knowing the true facts of the case. The men who are members of the North Carolina General Assembly are there to represent the best interests of the State, and it is not only wise of them to ask us why we need the increased permanent improvement and maintenance funds, it is part of their obligation to the people.

Stress the fact that North Carolina State's appropriation per capita is lower than that of the technical schools in the great majority of other states. Explain how badly we need new buildings and equipment. Tell them the fact that we have no place where more than a third of our student body can meet for assemblies and lectures. Explain how a technical school must keep pace with advancing science by securing at least half-way modern equipment. It would also help to point out how North Carolina was unable to get a proper share of defense expenditures because State College does not have adequate facilities. Bring out the point that to do our best toward training men to take part in National Defense we should have adequate funds to do so.

Be careful not to mention equalization of appropriations among the three units of the Greater University. We have learned from experience that to a legislator it sounds like three kids arguing over who is to get the largest piece of pie.

Be sure of your ground. Our best argument is the economic development of North Carolina which will surely result when State College is able to turn out enough technical men who are adequately trained to develop the great natural resources of our State. If the State of North Carolina had workers with the right type of training, great industries would grow over night. And State College men are the only State-trained men North Carolina produces who are in a position to do technical work and train others to follow them.

When you talk with your legislators, be careful. Know what you are saying, and be able to give convincing arguments. Talk with the legislators you know, but unless you are absolutely sure of your ground, stay away from others. Remember that you can do much for State College, and it may be that you will have something to do with writing her history for the next two years.

Sportsmanship

Our student body has not been displaying the best of sportsmanship at basketball games this term. In fact, our conduct on the whole has been very poor.

When the students disagree with the referee they do not hesitate to let him know about it by booing as loud and long as they can, and it seems as if he has to wait until the crowd gets out of breath before continuing the game.

For many years State College had the reputation of being a group of ill-mannered hoodlums, and it is only in recent years that we have begun to gain the respect of North Carolina's citizens. Our basketball games are being broadcast over the local stations, and all boos and cheers are heard all over the State. If our conduct continues to be as bad as it has been, we will lose much of the reputation for good sportsmanship that we gained for ourselves last fall.

If you don't like the referee's decisions, what good does it do to try to tell him about it? He could not afford to make unfair decisions, because if he did he would soon find that his services were no longer in demand. Occasionally a referee is bound to make an error, but he would be a fool to make mistakes on purpose. So after all, where does poor sportsmanship get you in the end?

No Cuts

One of the marks we still retain from the Dark Ages at State College is our cut system. In other respects we are progressing, but our cut system has not changed in the slightest.

The changes which were passed by the student legislature last term are not radical; in fact, they are as nothing compared with those which were defeated last year. Under the proposed system each man will be allowed to cut ten classes per term for each term he is in school after his sophomore year; that is, the year he is listed in the student directory as a sophomore.

It seems to us that by the time a man is classified as a junior he should be old enough to know whether he needs to go to class or not and whether he can afford to miss a class or not. It is true that when a man gets out of school and gets a job he will not be allowed any unexcused "cuts," but we would like to point out that there is a tremendous difference between paying to go to classes and getting paid to go to work. One of the requirements in engineering is that a man spend six weeks of summer employment during his college career. In addition, we believe that we are safe in saying that almost every State College student has held down a job at some time or other and that most State students are paying at least part of their expenses in school. We know that to hold down a job one must be there every day and we believe that in this respect we don't need to be taught.

It is also true that we pay to go to classes and should want to go, but we should also have the right to refuse to go to a small percentage of our classes if we so desire. It is not true that the State of North Carolina pays for a large percentage of our education in college. The students pay more in tuition and fees alone than the State appropriates. The student also pays board and room rent, from which the college makes a profit. Besides, where does the money that the State appropriates come from? We will pay enough taxes in later life to more than take care of what the State has appropriated to us while we are in college.

The whole trouble seems to lie in the fact that some members of the faculty can not see why we might like to miss a class once in a while without being called foolish children and penalized severely as a consequence. From all indications, the students have about half as much intelligence as they think they have and about twice as much intelligence as the Faculty Council thinks they have.

"For They Know What They Do"

(Reprinted from The Daily Tar Heel)

"As a last resort should the United States go to war to save Britain?" The Carolina Political Union asks the question and 1,003 students answer yes, with only 572 voting no. This is a reasonably accurate cross-section view of student opinion at the University. Young America is ready to march.

It has read in its history books that war solves nothing, that war is ghastly, that war only leaves bitterness in the hearts of its living participants, that the issues fought over only rise again—unsolved—to confront the next generation.

But this is not a time of rationality. Men forget what they have been taught; men who have taught the truth of war turn their backs on their beliefs and bark with the dogs of war. With their honeyed phrases they paint war as glorious and beautiful; the man who murders a half dozen of his fellow men is a hero, even though he stand on a wooden leg as he receives his medal of honor.

Yes, the snowball of war fever is rolling. Calm reasoning has been tossed under the landslide. Old and Young America is declaring its willingness to forget all it ever learned in order that it might throw itself onto the down-hurling bobsled.

The majority are declaring their acquiescence to a war to fight for England and her dominion beyond the seas. They are deluding themselves with talk of making the world safe for democracy (this phrase courtesy of Woodrow Wilson) while all the time they cannot help but realize that first and foremost it is a war of the British to save their wealth, their position in the world, their dominions beyond the seas; and a war of the Germans to get what the British have.

Yet, by vote of 1,003 to 572 we announce our readiness to throw our democracy, our lives, and our wealth into the maelstrom. By vote of 1,191 to 393 we say that "labor employed in vital defense industries" should not be allowed to strike. The rationalization is generally made that labor must be sacrificed in favor of national security—it's fascism, yes, but we must do it in order to stop fascism. Thus reason men in the frenzy of war.

This is the minority voice we are sounding. We plead the case of American democracy, of education, of truth. We would hold to the teachings our professors have given us in less insane times. The idea that democracy can best be protected by being democratic, not by patterning after its antithesis, fascism, is an appealing one. At the moment it appeals only to a minority, but the time will come after the war when men will say that this war, like the last, was wrong, and never should have been, and that the United States sacrificed much of its democracy and manhood for nothing.

No particular claim to clairvoyance is here made, but it is easy to see that the 1,003 who voted yes will say ten years after the war, "Why?" Their fathers did. Those who are living, those whose tortured bodies will let them speak, will say, "Why?" And from the graves of the dead of 1917 and the burial holes of the more recent dead will come an echo, "Yes, why?"

SENIOR OF THE WEEK

By RENEE SICKBERRY

E. P. "SPUD" DAVIDSON

Edward Pruden (Spud) Davidson, senior in Industrial Engineering, was born in Murphy, N. C., August 12, 1918.

"Spud" attended the Murphy High School, and it was there that he really began his prolific career. He took an active part in extra-curricular activities and maintained an average of 94 during his four years of high school work, which resulted in his being valedictorian of his graduating class.

"Spud" entered State College in the fall of 1936, and since that time he has continuously been recognized as an outstanding student. He is a member of 30 and 3, Golden Chain, Theta Tau, and the Society for Advancement of Management. He is now chairman of the Senior Class Alumni Committee, and president of the State College Assembly.

Probably the most outstanding of "Spud's" many extra-curricular activities is the work he has done and is doing on campus publications. He was managing editor of The Technician for the years 1937-39, and editor for the year 1939-40. The 50-page paper he edited last year was the largest school newspaper ever printed in the South. The Technician was also judged as the best school newspaper in the State that year. He was also assistant editor of the State College Hand Book, a member of the Publications Board, and a member of the Printing Plant Committee during the year 1939-40. He is at present assistant to Mr. C. A. Upchurch, Jr., in the State College News Bureau.

"Spud" is taking an active part in the activities of the Delta Sigma Phi Social Fraternity. He was a member of the Interfraternity Council during the years 1938-40, and he is serving his second year as president of the fraternity.

Good work, "Spud"! It is easy for one to see why you were selected by Who's Who in American Colleges for the year 1939-40.

-AND THE GATE POST

From amidst the confusion and tumult about us each day we hear a few significant and characteristic phrases which we design to recall at times. Meditation and imagination often result in a strange if not amusing combination. So it is we bring you excerpts pilfered from happenings hither, thither, and yon.

To Pinky Glass: The browsing room of the library is no place for courtin' activities, young man! Dr. Lodwick Hartley: "Gather ye rosebuds while ye may" . . . "My love is like a red, red rose."

Announcement: College men are now being accepted in the U. S. army and marine corps.

Bill Keener: My darling Tony, x x x etc. Iche Liebe Dich x x x etc. I have a date for Midwinters but how about coming to the T. Dorsey dance?

Rumored: Hoosier Hot Shots to play for midwinters.

Angus Ray seems to be getting somewhat spry in his old age. Mr. Ray decided to sponsor a beauty contest and his first move to forward his plans was a letter to Peggy Dean, who is editor of "The Carolinian" of W. C. U. N. C. In his letter Angus asked that if of the most beautiful girls on their campus be selected and that pictures be sent to The Technician for selection of the winner. Alas, it seems that Angus is prostrate with anguish resulting from the ominous silence which has ensued. No mail from Peggy! Every day the same old thing, no mail! The contest is a good idea, though.

Bill Crowder: Now you wouldn't expect me to buy a car without first trying it out, would you?

A certain professor: Why buy a cow when milk is free?

Suggestion: Somebody stop the war!

Capitalism: If you have two cows, sell one and buy a bull.

Ed Hines: She's an apple in my orchard.

Prayer of the week: That Rome may fall again.

Our girl: Has a figure like an hour glass and makes every minute of it count.

Once upon a time there were three hermits living together in a cave. In 1937 the first hermit said, "It's getting cold in here." In 1939 the second hermit said, "It sure is." In 1941 the third hermit arose in vexation and said, "If you fellows are going to be so d—n talkative, I'm going to move somewhere else."

GLEANINGS

This corner seems to be a favorite of late for ex-editors and the like, so to please Henry I guess I'll have to string along with the rest. Even though, after an absence from this column of eight months the job is far from simple. Probably what is missing is an atmosphere of printer's ink, late hours, sleepy students, and what have you . . . although I understand that these too are things of the past.

A bouquet of compliments from the Military Department for a most impressive memorial service in memory of a cadet corps member, Bill May. The entire College undoubtedly mourns the loss of an excellent student and a good classmate.

For those who have deferred homework stacked high on the desk, we offer a word of warning. For, believe it or not, next week at this time we will either be in the middle of or at the end of mid-terms. To avoid creating the wrong impression on your professor, you better use a dust cloth on the books, a vacuum cleaner for the cobwebs in your head, and really dig in.

Perhaps the pass-word at present should read something like this . . . "now is the time for all good students to come to the aid of their college." State College is really digging its first line trenches on the steps of the State Capitol, and is recruiting reserves from all over the state . . . reserves in the form of taxpayers and voters, those who should have and want some voice in how their money is spent. No co-operation appears to be lacking between the administration, students, and supporters, and maybe brighter days are ahead. At any rate, it is comforting to know that State College has so many friends who realize the value of a technological institution.

News Flash! Social days are just around the corner . . . newcomer steals the limelight. Presently we will begin a long series of annual social affairs, which will include some of the most strenuous week-ends in the history of these dance-goers. A new-comer has topped them all, however . . . and we are speaking of the Officers Club and Tommy Dorsey . . . but nevertheless, in line are Mid-winters, the Engineers' Brawl, the Lint-Dodgers Ball, Junior-Senior, the Sophomore Hop, various fraternity dances, and many others. So shine your dancing shoes, brother, and make way for the gym.

Question of the Week: When can we expect another issue of The Watauga? It used to be that you could count on getting the two issues of each term during final exam week, but rumor has it that such procedure has gone the way of all flesh. It will probably take a while to become accustomed to a new schedule, so let's have it, dirt hounds!

Speaking of dirt and the like, we are reminded that "Frosh" Hines is about to become the pappy of a shiny new Diesel engine, four cylinders and all . . . here's where the fuel oil supply of the Pika house begins to diminish . . . and the news is going around that one of our fine students has been receiving a lot of mail from the Keeley Institute . . . seems like that is awful early, with finals not even here yet . . . then there's the story of Eugene Gaskins, a married man of some months, who received a C in Marriage course . . . "Squeaks" Jordan is planning on pasting a Silver Star over his desk with adhesive tape, in memory of better days when he wore the tape on his chin . . . because of this Silver thing . . .

We also hear that the Johnson clan . . . Ted, Abie, J. G. and L. K. . . are planning on building a farm with land from the Farm Security . . . at least, it seems that they are making their contacts now so that when the time comes no trouble will ensue . . . and Kenny Leer is having his share of trouble . . . three girls beckoning, and he doesn't know which way to run . . . and though it's hard to believe, "Yokel Boy" Stroup was expressing thoughts of Greensboro recently . . .

Nomination for the two Glamour boys of the week . . . Don Brown and George May, better known as Julius and Howard . . . Pat Fahley is becoming known as "Pappy" to his little school children . . . and the latest news is that "Cutie the Shyboy" Carter has become a woman-killer, after only two lessons from the Madame.

Puzzle of the week: What is it that State College has that no other school has . . . or wants? No answer necessary.

"Spud" Davidson.

What kind of Math do you call this?

It sounds crazy—but let's see how it would be perfectly possible in the telephone business.

Suppose an improved method is devised that clips just one second from the time required to handle one toll ticket in the accounting department. Apply this method throughout the Bell System—handling an average of some 55,000,000 toll tickets each month—and it would effect a monthly saving of nearly 1 1/2 years!

A second saved here, an unnecessary step cut out there—on such close attention to "little" things rests the Bell System's ability to provide the finest, fastest, cheapest telephone service in the world.

Why not telephone home often?
Long Distance rates to most points are lowest any night after 7 P. M. and all day Sunday.

Reminiscing In The Archives

Another milestone will be passed by THE TECHNICIAN come Saturday, February 1, which is tomorrow, for on that day twenty-one years ago appeared the first edition of THE TECHNICIAN.

That first issue, although measuring only 9 x 12, was a rather unique affair in that it had a sports page which makes this first issue of some importance to us. Spread across the columns of that page was an account of a basketball game that State lost to Trinity, which has since been changed to Duke ere the Duke fortress settled in Durham.

The first sports editor was Sammy Homeewood, but in those days he was not a sports editor but Athletic Editor. M. F. Trice edited the first copies.

Just to prove that times haven't changed much since those post-war days we'll turn to the October 6, 1922 issue of the Technician in which there appeared an article that read like this:

WHAT ABOUT A GYMNASIUM?

"On every hand one hears the question of why we cannot have a gymnasium and invariably the answer is, we must have it. As conditions now are, there is no opportunity given those students who are not members of some team for recreation, and there is of course no responsibility of having a regular gym team, etc."

"That same howl is rising from the students and alumni alike today, so we need not worry for it's an old story. And believe it or not two years later, in 1924, that new gymnasium was being completed. Before that time the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium was used for athletics."

It was in 1922 that A. G. Floyd, prominent alumnus today, and vice-president of the Wolfpack Club, was captain of the football team, which, strange as it may seem, was called in those days, as traditionally today, the Wolfpack.

There is an account in those early issues of Captain Floyd making a talk in conjunction with Freshman Coach Sammy Homeewood on "True Sportsmanship."

That same year Tarzan Leeper, now of Belmont and Gastonia, captained the Red Terror basketball team. And strange as it may seem Red Terror is a traditional name of the basketball team. And some people have suggested changing it. Phooey.

The year 1924 came to our attention next for it was in that year that the freshmen and sophomores were first required to schedule physical education and it was in the new gymnasium, which was just being finished, now Frank Thompson Gymnasium, that these first classes were held.

That same year 84 freshmen reported for football practice and the first sports column was written in THE TECHNICIAN. It was written by L. A. Brothers, now an assistant professor of civil engineering at Drexel Institute in Philadelphia, Pa.

A paragraph from his column read: "Whoever is responsible for the Wilmington (N. C.) Managers thinking they were to play the Freshmen until the Scrubs trotted out on the field last Saturday in our opinion, should be a trifle more attentive to business in hand. The game was advertised as a game with the Wolf Cubs and naturally when men who had played against Wilmington Light Infantry last year showed up, the Wilmington people thought State was breaking faith with them. The Wilmington papers carried articles saying State was playing varsity men on the Freshman team. So did our friends the News and Observer. Such a mistake should be corrected. It hurts the school. Such mistakes should never be made possible."

Incidentally the game ended 0-0 and the head on the story read: "State Scrubs Outplay Wilmington L. I. 0-0."

Hickman the Terrible

Just a word of advice about this fellow Herman Hickman. Should you ever desire to publicly comment on the amount of food consumed by Coach Hickman or should you care to enumerate the beauties of his figure in his presence, then 't'would be a wise idea to first take out a policy with some hospital insurance company. Take it from one who knows. Hickman is a terrible one.

I'll be angling at you unless Coach Hickman gets hold of me.

Terrors vs. Citadel—Tomorrow—8:30

Citadel Team Built Around Two Veterans

State Is Third Big Five Team To Meet Bulldogs In A Row

The Red Terrors tangle with the Bulldogs of the Citadel tomorrow night for the South Carolinians' third conference game within as many nights against Big Five opposition. The game is scheduled for the Frank Thompson Gymnasium at 8:30.

Renewing an old rivalry on the hardwood, the game should be one with plenty of thrills as the two teams are pretty evenly matched. Coach Bennie Parker has built his 1941 edition of the Bulldogs around two starters of last season, Johnny Howard, center, and Eddie Lockwood, guard.

Flu forced Howard out of three games—against South Carolina, Furman, and Wofford. He rejoined the squad last week and he will be ready to go against the Terrors tomorrow night.

Lockwood's play this season has been up to the standard he set last year. During their encounter with Wofford he dropped in seven field goals and two free throws to be second high man in the scoring against the Indians.

Small and Fast

To this pair Coach Parker has added three of a kind to round out a squad five medium-height, medium-weight players who are fast. The trio consists of Hank Foster, guard, and Bill Jones and Hugo Pearce, forwards. Pearce sets the pace for the cadets with a good floor game and his shooting ability has made him high scorer in their Wofford and South Carolina games. Foster starred on the gridiron last fall and he is the defensive ace for the Bulldogs on the basketball court. Jones is the other point getter for the Bulldogs leading the squad at the present in tallies. He stepped into the shoes of Jake Burrows, captain of last year's quintet and tournament star for the Bulldogs last season.

The Citadel team is well remembered in these parts for its fine play in the Southern Conference Tournament last year. They drew the Big Blue of Duke in the opening round of the meet and they led the Devils until the last minutes of the game when a hurricane blew Duke onto the long end of a 40 to 38 final score.

Probable line-ups:

State	Citadel
Cromartie	F
Tabscott	F
Crawford	C
Levin	G
Smith	G
	Foster

Wake Wins Again

The grid season is three months past, so these forward passes don't exactly count, but State bowed to Wake Forest in a pigskin tossing contest Wednesday night at the opening of the Golden Gloves boxing tourney in Raleigh.

Pat Fehley and Dick Watts lined up against Deacon J. V. Pruitt in throwing a football through a tire at a distance of 25 yards. Pat made two strikes, which represented a hit on the tire, for a total of six points. Dick nailed one strike for three points, and both were surpassed by Pruitt who tossed a bulls-eye and a strike to wind up with eight points.

State Tankers Meet V. M. I. Saturday

Conference Honors to Go To Team Winning Most Meets Instead of Tourney

State's varsity swimmers tackle the V. M. I. tank squad in Frank Thompson pool this Saturday, February 1, at 4 p. m. This is the first Southern Conference encounter for State's tankmen this year.

Conference honors this season will go to the holder of the greatest number of wins in dual meets. In previous years, the Conference champion was selected at the annual Conference meet.

Strong men in the varsity line-up will be Captain Don Cox, Joe Bower, A. W. Katterman, Joe Peele, and Bill Meredith in free-style events; Ralph Donnell and Aldine Thomason in diving; Southern Conference Champion Sid Ingram in backstroke; and Walt Haene, May and Parker in breaststroke.

J. B. CLARK

College something of an unwanted "stepchild" institution. Facts didn't deter Dr. Graham in the least. When he observed the muddled athletic situation at State, as everyone by then was beginning to do, and when he had investigated in his official capacity the situation, he acted—as best he knew. He cleared the way for the entrance at State of one of the finest men the sports world has yet developed—Williams "Doc" Newton.

Fighting Spirit

Doc was then at Davidson. He wasn't putting out a football team that was a world beater. He wasn't winning any championships. In fact, his Wildcats were lucky if they could break even in the course of a ten-game schedule. But the Davidson alumni weren't complaining. Doc was doing the job they wanted done. He was helping men find themselves, young men, men just facing life, men who were brash with the youthful impulse who needed the strength of a guiding hand to help them build character. Doc was the ideal tutor. He developed the fighting spirit of the Wildcats that had long been a tradition at the institution.

The Wolfpack may be born again—greater than ever, more respected than ever. Doc Newton is the man—quiet, modest, understanding, respected and not ridiculed by his men. State may never have a Big Five champion, she may never amount to a hill of beans as far as great football teams go, but State will never, as long as Doc Newton and his assistants stay there, be the target of abuse and criticism it has been in the past. After all, then, what price football glory? Championships or real men?

There will be a meeting of the 4-H Supper Club in the north end of the back cafeteria Monday at 6:30 p. m. After supper the group will meet in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium.
