

David Clark Urges Seniors To Become Active State Alumni

Noted State College Alumnus from Charlotte Addressed Seniors Tuesday

David Clark, State College's noted alumnus from Charlotte, during his address to the seniors, urged the class to become active alumni after their graduation in order to help the college continue to advance toward a goal of steadily increasing appropriations that will keep pace with the ever increasing enrollment.

Emphasizing the need for active alumni to carry on the fight for increased appropriations, Clark cited examples and figures from the past and present to drive home his points.

Dave Clark, as he is known to thousands of people throughout the State of North Carolina, is a graduate of State College and holds three degrees from this institution. A member of the Athletic Council, the Wolfpack Club, and the Alumni Association, he has long been an active and loyal supporter of his alma mater. A large amount of the credit for the installation of the College Print Shop is due Mr. Clark.

Publicity for Seniors

Arrangements have been made by C. A. Upchurch, head of the State College News Bureau, to furnish pictures of the seniors to be sent in mat form to each man's local newspapers. The cost of the mats will be small, and Upchurch has agreed to send them out, accompanied by a sketch of each senior's college activities. All seniors who desire to have the mats made are asked to come by the office of the News Bureau in the basement of Ricks Hall as soon as possible.

Students Poisoned By Cafeteria Food

Twenty-one Students Suffer From Ptomaine Poisoning Friday Night

Twenty-one students became ill the night of February 21 from food served in the college cafeteria. Eleven of the sufferers were hospitalized and all were released the following afternoon.

Dr. Campbell, head of the college infirmary, and Mr. Harris, manager of the cafeteria, have traced the source of the poisoning to the meat gravy that was served at supper.

Prompt action on the part of the afflicted students reduced the danger to slightly upset stomachs and enabled the students to meet classes the next day.

There has been at least one case of measles on the campus since Christmas. The cases reported have in no way approached the proportions of an epidemic.

Three students are confined to the infirmary at the present time. The type of measles that has been prevalent has been a mild form of German Measles. All of the victims have been released from the infirmary four or five days after they were confined.

Pictures Are Shown To 4-H Supper Club

Technicolor Movies About 4-H Work Entertain Group At Meeting

A number of 4-H Supper Club members had the opportunity of seeing themselves in the "movies" Monday night at the first meeting of the club since its recent reorganization.

The largest crowd ever to attend a supper club meeting was on hand for the presentation of two 4-H movies in technicolor, one depicting life at the 4-H Club Short Courses held here each summer and the other, giving life at the annual State Wildlife Conservation Camp. These movies were presented by Franklin Teague and Robert Wood, who arranged the program for the evening.

Included on the program were an explanation of Livestock Day by Mark Goforth and a report by "Gene" Berryhill of the conference of the Tri-State Federation of Collegiate 4-H Clubs, held recently at State College.

Applicants

All applications for dormitory assignments must be in before March 19. Applicants must include college address, home address and reasons for desiring the position. Only those who will be full-dwelling juniors or seniors next fall term need apply.

Chief Dormitory Assistant.

MAKING PLANS for the annual Engineers' Fair to be held April 18 are the members of the Engineers' Council, pictured below, who are working under the able guidance of President Ralph Reeves, Miracles of modern science will be displayed to high school students and other visitors from all over the State, invited by the Engineering School to attend the one-day affair.

Alpha Sigma Ballots Flood Agromeck Polls

Ballotting Heaviest In Years As Over 2,000 Votes Are Cast for "Honor" Office

After four furious weeks of voting, the staff of The Agromeck is finally burrowing out from under the piles of ballots and are beginning to see who the top men may be in the race for the glory of belonging to the ancient society of Alpha Sigma Sigma.

Among the famous campus personalities who seem to be vying for top honors appears the name of one who is known to every student in school as State College's principal sponsor to the downtown newspapers. Running a close second to this gentleman is one of the more prominent E. E. seniors, while he is being closed in on by a well-known Ch. E. student. Also very much in the limelight is a prominent senior who was reported to have opposed the "conspiracy" tactics of a very prominent campus organization. Other candidates for the honor are running about even for the less prominent spots in the fraternity, but according to the trend it seems that a former class president and E. E. junior from Raleigh are definitely holding their own.

The voting this year has been very heavy, and a few who were supposed to have positions practically assured are beginning to fall into the ranks of the obscure. Among these notables is a member of The Technician staff who is reported considerably relieved at his good fortune.

It is reported that the alumni members of this famous organization are well pleased at the number and quality of the candidates. At a recent meeting of the alumni organization (held in the Apex Riding Academy stables) a past president is reputed to have remarked: "We are glad to see that such a fine group of young men is being added to our rolls. I am sure that they will uphold the traditions of the Society on the campus, and maybe some day may be permitted to attend the Supreme Convention, held every year on the campus of Flock University, where most of our members reside."

South American Movie Shown Ag Club Men

Picture Shows Rich Mineral Deposits of Neighboring Latin Countries

A. G. Floyd, vice president of the Wolfpack Club and a director of the Children's Nitrate Educational Bureau, entertained the Ag Club at its weekly picture, "Magic Desert," pertaining to Latin American relations and emphasizing hemispheric solidarity.

Demonstrating how the rich mineral deposits of South America can be used to supply nutrient deficiencies in plants in the United States, the film showed how trade between the United States and

Editorial Contest To Close This Week

Freshman Project Sponsored by English Department and Technician

The editorial contest that is being sponsored jointly by the Department of English and The Technician, is fast drawing to a close, with a majority of the editorials already turned in.

The various professors for whom the editorials are being written have expressed their approval of the contest because it is bringing to light some heretofore unknown talent. A good majority of the editorials have already been turned in, and the competition is very keen. All students who are taking the Freshman course in English were required to write editorials as a part of their regular course. These editorials are being graded by the professors teaching the course and each professor is to turn the best few from his section to The Technician office. The 10 best editorials will then be picked by the editorial staff of the newspaper, working in connection with the Department of English. The subjects for the editorials were chosen by the professors.

There will be an A. I. E. E. meeting at 6:45 Tuesday night, March 4, in Room 207, Daniels Hall.

'Gangster Governments' Lashed In Fiery Address By Williams

Describing some of the proposed limiting amendments to the lend-lease bill as "fantastic" and "deceptive," James T. Williams, Jr., of Washington, eminent journalist and student of international affairs, declared at State College Tuesday night that the American people made it clear in the November election that they do not intend to live in a world ruled by the "gangster governments of Berlin, Rome and Tokyo."

The national constitution, explained Mr. Williams, "makes the President the government in the conduct of foreign relations and in the command of the armed forces" and amendments to restrict the President in these executive powers are just so much "claptrap."

In an eloquent endorsement of the President's preparedness program, including material aid to Britain, Mr. Williams told the audience in Pullen Hall that every day of delay in passing the lend-lease bill increased the danger for Britain and, in his view, the United States.

The speaker, once an editor of The Army and Navy Journal, said Washington is still committing favorably on the "masterly" speech

Rank of Lt. Colonel Given Major Cochran

Popular State College Military Science Professor Gets Promotion

Major Walter B. Cochran of the State College military staff has been promoted by the War Department to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel, it was announced Saturday.

Colonel Cochran, whose home is at Derrita in Mecklenburg County, is a native North Carolinian. He was born on December 9, 1893, and later graduated from Churchland High School in Davidson County. The colonel received his higher education at the University of North Carolina and Clemson College.

Entering the Army in 1917 as a second lieutenant in the Third Infantry, Colonel Cochran was stationed at Eagle Pass, Texas, on the Mexican border. From there he was transferred successively to

State Forensic Team Goes To Tournament

Seek New Laurels At Savage Tourney, Most Important in the Southwest

Seeking new debate laurels in the Southwest, State's championship forensic squad left last Sunday for Durant, Okla., to take part in the Savage Forensic Tournament.

The Savage Tourney, most important in the Southwest, is inaugurating the direct clash plan at this meeting. This will be the ninth major tournament in the country which is using direct-clash this season.

Brice Ratchford, team captain; David Harris, and Wilbur Bryant are being accompanied by the team's mentor, Professor E. H. Paget, to Durant. State is considered the leading exponent of the revolutionary method of debate and has won every tournament it has entered this season.

Finals Saturday

Initial rounds in the debates took place yesterday, and semi-final and final rounds are scheduled for today and tomorrow. The finals are expected to be broadcast.

Approximately 20 colleges will take part in the tourney, and the country's two leading debate teams, Baylor University of Waco, Texas, and Redlands College of Redlands, Calif., will be there.

State's squad will take part in both the direct-clash and the standard plan debates. Brice Ratchford is entered in individual simultaneous contest and Wilbur Bryant will speak in the After-dinner Speech competition.

Gingham, Overalls In Style Tomorrow

Unique Organization Soon Will Discuss Military Information

Group To Delve Into Little-Known Fields of Technical Military Information

A revolutionary plan, new to any college campus, to form student discussion groups in little known fields of technical military information, has been heartily endorsed by Dean John W. Harrelson.

Twenty engineering students met last Monday to form a nucleus of the extra-curricula organization which intends to delve into military subjects that are known to only a few people in the country. In this way the students believe they will be more valuable to the Army and Navy when called for service, and at the same time secure for themselves advanced ranks.

A committee of three—Larry Hardin, William Womack, and Robert Pomerant—met with Dean Harrelson on Wednesday to get official sanction from the college authorities and also to have appointed a member of the faculty who will be general advisor for the group.

Col. Harrelson not only expressed complete endorsement for the idea but agreed to give the groups complete cooperation by the college.

Varied Subjects

Each student taking part in the program will be allowed to choose his subject from a varied list. Tentative subjects include: Camouflage methods, submarine detection and attack, intelligence service and propaganda methods, ordnance, trench and bridge construction in the field, and radio technique in war.

Interested persons in each subject will form small discussion groups to be headed by a student or faculty advisor. Weekly meetings lasting about an hour will be used to talk over material that has been read during the week.

The army and the navy are expected to furnish handbooks and other literature on each subject. They will probably be made available in the library.

The group will meet again next Monday at 5 p. m. in the Student Council office with other organization plans. Interested students may speak to any of the committee members or appear at the next meeting.

Reserve Officers To Receive Orders

Reserve Officers Appointed From Graduates To Be Given Opportunity To Request Deferment of Active Duty

The N. C. State College Military Department has received orders from the War Department concerning the ordering to active duty of graduates of Reserve Officers' Training Corps units who accept appointments as Reserve Officers.

The Reserve Officers appointed from graduates of Reserve Officers' Training Corps during 1941 will be given an opportunity to express their views on the same manner as heretofore has been accorded Reserve officers on the eligible list. The Corps Area Commanders have been ordered to invite Reserve Officers' Training

Officer To Examine Prospective Flyers

Officer of Army Air Corps To Visit Campus In Effort To Secure Flying Cadets

An officer of the U. S. Army Air Corps will visit colleges and universities in this area April 15-20 to interview seniors interested in applying for flying cadet training. Col. Thomas W. Brown, head of the State College military department, announced yesterday.

He will confer with prospective applicants at Duke, Wake Forest, Chapel Hill and State College.

An Air Corps examining board will follow the advance officer April 22-27. Col. Brown stated, to determine the qualifications of the applicants and give physical examinations.

The advance officer and the examining board will fly from the Army air base at Langley Field, Va. Col. Brown said he had not yet been provided with their names.

Similar examining boards last year attracted a good-sized contingent of applicants, most of them being State College students.

Brad Hunt's Orchestra To Be Featured At Ag Barnwarming; Informal Attire Required for Admission

The Ag Club's annual Barnwarming with its array of overalls and gingham dresses is almost here again. The widely known dance of the Agricultural School will begin in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium at 8 o'clock tomorrow night and last until 12 o'clock.

The popular orchestra of Brad Hunt has been secured to play for the dance. Brad Hunt's Orchestra is well known in the swing music circles of the East, but this will be his first appearance on the campus of State College. He features an unique arrangement of instrumental effects which have been enthusiastically received by his audiences in the past. Appearing here with him as vocalists are Jennie Regal and Billy Carmichael.

The Barnwarming is famous for its complete informality. It is one dance of the year where one can relax entirely, and this informality has resulted in a whole-hearted enjoyment of the occasion unequalled by any other event of the year. One of the requirements for admission is that boys must be dressed in overalls and the girls in gingham or print dresses. And as the time remaining before the dance is growing short, those who have not already obtained their overalls had better do so at once. Overalls will be hard to find during the last few hours just before the dance.

Plans have been made for a senior figure during the dance, and will be in the form of a Grand March. This will be a feature of the Barnwarming which has not been presented at previous dances of this kind.

The dance decorations will be of red, white and blue, and the orchestra platform will be decorated appropriately for the occasion.

The sponsors for the dance will be: Miss Sadie Lee Jarvis of Columbia with Jewel Davenport of Creswell, chairman of the Barnwarming committee; Miss Frances Norman of Dobson with Louis B. Trevelick of Raleigh with Sarah Adams of Willow Springs, president of the Students' Agricultural Fair; Miss Roy Carter of Warsaw with Lee Roy Barnes of Oxford, dance committeeman; Miss Hazel Hurt of Fayetteville with Woodley Warrick of Smithfield, dance committeeman; and Miss Sarah Peterson of Winthrop College with Brice Ratchford, president of the Ag Club.

Tickets may be secured in Room 106 Sixth Dormitory. This, however, is the last day that they will be available without charge to students in agriculture. Agriculture students can at present obtain them free upon presentation of their registration cards, but Chairman of the Barnwarming, Jewel Davenport has announced that Friday would be the deadline in giving out these tickets. Anyone who wishes to secure at the door for anyone for $1.00, tax included. Everyone is welcome.

U. S. Marine Corps Rejects ROTC Men

Commandant Says Conflict Might Occur With Army's Plans; Non-ROTC Graduates To Be Accepted

In a recent letter to Colonel John W. Harrelson, Dean of Administration, Major General Thomas Holcomb, Commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps, stated that R.O.T.C. graduates would not be offered commissions as heretofore.

This decision was made to prevent any conflict with the plans of the army for the utilization of the services of R.O.T.C. graduates.

This ruling, however, does not apply to prospective graduates of accredited colleges or universities who are not R.O.T.C. students. Candidates from these men will be selected according to their suitability for commissions. A class for the men selected will be formed July 1.

Part of Major General Holcomb's letter is as follows: "It may be that the number of qualified applicants from your institution will be greater than can be accepted because of the fact that the size of the class is necessarily limited. In that event, preference will be given to at least one of your candidates."

An officer will visit the campus in late February or early March to interview applicants and examine the situation as it applies to State College.

Appropriations

"Committee Passes Appropriations Increase" was the headlines of last week's Technician, and part of the recommended appropriations increase is on the way to becoming a reality for the Greater University and for State College. The increase, if it completes its hazardous way through the Legislature safely, will mean new life blood to State College with its fast growing student body and over-burdened faculty. The increase in appropriations means additional teachers and increased salaries for those already here.

But the appropriations increase must not stop here. The South has been called the No. 1 economic problem of the United States. Whether it deserves such ranking is a debatable question and is beside the point, but the fact that such an assertion was not made without a great deal of basis is a point that we cannot overlook. In the light of this fact how are we going to raise our economic status?

It is a well known fact that most southern colleges and universities do not pay their teachers well enough to prevent many of them from leaving to take better paid positions in the North. No one can blame them for heading the better inducements offered by northern schools. But how can the South expect to equal the progress of the rest of the nation while suffering from a constant drain of the best resources of its educational system? While we have many of the best men in their field in our southern schools, men who, because of loyalty, love, or other reasons, choose to remain with us, we do not have enough. In this field there is far more to be done than can be accomplished by the men already working on the problem. Yet even the best of teachers cannot teach properly without equipment, and men cannot be trained properly without facilities for training. But when we have these teachers with adequate equipment for teaching, we shall produce men educated and capable of performing the work before them; and, with an abundance of men trained for the work to be done, the South shall cease to be designated as the No. 1 economic problem of the United States. The status of the South shall be raised, not through direct legislation, but through higher education.

In spite of its being the most exploited section of the United States, the South's vast possibilities for becoming the most progressive area in the country, in agriculture and in almost every phase of industry, makes it especially deserving of educational facilities for its development. In front of all such educational enterprises stands State College, rich in materials but inadequate for their transformation into the best possible products. Like an army without arms in a precise position for victory, we were unable to take full advantage of the situation resulting from the defense training program, because we lacked the necessary equipment and facilities.

But the appropriations increase already recommended by the appropriations committee is a step toward alleviating these difficulties. With higher salaries the teaching body of State College will retain its good men, and the addition of new members will lighten the work of the present instructors, and result in more and better work. A good step in the right direction!

The next step is the permanent improvements appropriations. Should that request be granted we would indeed be prepared to assume the leadership in the development and progress of the South. If our requests for even more appropriations seem selfish to those unfamiliar with the situation, they should remember that such appropriations will be of little benefit to most of us who are in school now. It is the youth of future years who will profit directly from the expenditures, and from them the state and the South.

Good Work

The Pine Burr Society and the Public Lectures Committee are to be congratulated for bringing to State College the internationally known correspondent and lecturer, Mr. James T. Williams. Mr. Williams spoke on a subject of vital importance to students, upon which hinges the hopes and fears of nations all over the world, and upon which the future of the United States may rest. We hope that the efforts to bring such speakers to the campus will not end here.

Let's We Forget

"Eat, drink, and be merry," but remember before tossing that roll at a friend that besides taking a chance of injuring someone, you are creating an atmosphere that is neither very humorous nor desirable.

While conduct in the cafeteria is definitely improving, there is much room for further advancement. As citizens of State College we should make sure that we continue to make that improvement.

It is very seldom that during some part of the day the cafeteria is not visited by strangers to the campus, who carry away with them the impression of State College students that they gain there. And whether that impression is one that will tend to raise State College in the estimation of those visitors depends entirely upon us. And upon the impressions of the college that some of those people gain may rest the advance of the college in the future.

So when that good friend is sitting with his back so temptingly toward you, try turning your back to the temptation, and help maintain a commendable atmosphere in the cafeteria.

Misplaced Sculpture

There are those in this college who do not seem to realize that scratching or otherwise marring desks and classroom equipment is equivalent in principle to denting the fenders of an automobile borrowed from a friend. The fact that a small recompense for its use is made to the owner does not give the user the right to willfully misuse property that does not belong to him. And yet one would feel obligated to repair the damage done to a friend's automobile, while damage done to classroom equipment, deliberate even if thoughtless, seems to assume another aspect.

All of us have been inconvenienced by having to write on desks which were so scarred that our pencils tended to follow the designs on the desks instead of the lines which we intended. In our new buildings, however, we face no such handicap, and our aim should be to make certain that the advantage is not lost.

The masterful designs carved by the whittlers on the bench in front of the old country store may have added quaintness to the scene, but such achievements in the classroom add no charm to the atmosphere there. While some of our old desks do resemble the meeting place of the rustic statesmen, we must make sure that our new ones do not become so distinguished.

During our efforts to obtain the needed greater appropriations for State College, remember that we can contribute towards decreasing the amounts of appropriations needed in the future by taking care of the equipment that we already have.

A Guide

In accordance with a program to allow each of the prospective editors of The Technician to try his hand at getting out an edition, this week's paper was edited by Quentin W. Patterson. In the next three issues Mickey May, Carl Sickerott, and Edwin Perry will each have a chance to show the students what he can do with The Technician. The fact that each of these boys is putting out an issue does not necessarily mean that all of them will run for editor. Their work will also be a test of their ability and be a guide to the Publications Board in selecting candidates.

OPEN FORUM

To the Student Body:

The underhand methods of a foreign group in a country will more nearly disrupt the government than any other thing. We all just recently saw how France fell because of foreign agents. In this country the F. B. I. has done a good job of preventing the fifth columnists from getting an upper hand.

It seems that we will be forced to establish such an organization to break up the stealing "campaign" being carried on here at State College—unless the student body does something. These thieves—and "thief" is flattering to these persons—are not only breaking the law but they are defying God and the trust of mankind. No common thief would go into the room of a trusting friend and steal while the occupant sleeps. This crime would not be classed by the court as stealing, but as burglary, which carries the penalty of a life sentence or even death.

If these men are so intent on living off other people like common parasites, why not let them live off the state for a while? I am sure the warden out at the penitentiary would keep them in return for a little work such as making little rocks from big ones.

This stealing has gone unheeded, and is becoming worse because the guilty person or persons has found that he can get away with it. And it will continue to go on until we show them that we mean to stop it. When one or two are exposed to the student body and general public, the crime wave will stop. This seems like a very drastic measure to take for a college boy, but if he steals from his fellow students he is no better than the lowest thief at the State Prison.

These persons must be and will be stopped by the students. We have been fighting for the things that make a good school—spirit, morale, high morals, and a good reputation. Are we going to let a few low, contemptible, unscrupulous boys who claim to be State College men take away the name we have been striving to build? Imagine the effect the knowledge of their acts would have on a high school boy. He would probably change his mind and go to Duke, Carolina, or Wake Forest, thus making a mess of his whole life.

Let's go to work on them with the zeal and determination that we have on other projects on the campus and stop these demoralizing crimes being carried on in our midst. We cannot appeal to the honesty and college pride of these men for that would be like speaking Hindu to an Eskimo. You must protect your own property and keep on the watch for these criminals at work. When you see one, and we will eventually, turn his name in to the Student Council. That is all we ask you to do. You must catch a skunk before you can skin it. If some of you probably have set traps for skunks. We will get together and catch those skunks who are polluting the campus with their crooked "smell."

SENIOR OF THE WEEK

By REECE SEDBERRY

WAYLAND J. REAMS

Wayland Julius Reams, president of Golden Chain and vice-president of the Student Government, was born in Roxboro, N. C. Wayland attended high school in Apex, N. C., where he participated in varsity football, baseball, basketball, and track. He graduated from high school in the spring of 1931, and a year later joined the United States Navy. During his four years in the Navy, he advanced to the rank of Gunners' Mate Third Class.

In the fall of 1937, Wayland entered State College in the curriculum of Agricultural Education. During his freshman year he maintained an average of 92, and was selected as the best military cadet in the freshman class, for which he was awarded an $80.00 scholarship. He continued his outstanding scholastic work during his sophomore year, and was awarded the Kappa Phi Kappa medal for being the best sophomore in the Education School. Again he was selected by the military department as the best military cadet, this time from the sophomore class, and he was awarded the military department medal.

During his junior year, Wayland began work on the N. C. State Agriculturalist, and was desk editor during that year. That same year he was selected for membership into Blue Key, Golden Chain, Pine Burr, Alpha Zeta, and Kappa Phi Kappa. He was again elected to represent his department on the Student Council, and for the third consecutive time was selected by the military department as the best military cadet, this time from the junior class. He was also selected to serve as a dormitory assistant during his junior year.

This year Wayland is serving as vice-president of the Student Government, President of Golden Chain, and associate editor of the N. C. State Agriculturalist. Because of his outstanding military ability as an officer in military, he was selected as cadet colonel of the N. C. State R.O.T.C. regiment. He is a member of the Student Welfare Committee, the Dormitory Telephone Committee, the Y.M.C.A. cabinet, and is again serving as a dormitory assistant.

Wayland, during his stay in the United States Navy, saved enough money to pay his high college expenses. He has not only taken an active part in extra-curricula activities, but he has applied himself to the study of his profession and maintained a scholastic average of 91 during his stay at State College.

Quadrangle Quibblings

By WARD BUSHEE

Dirty, everywhere dirt! What keeps a bull session going? What is the salt of every freshman's life? Dirt is news and it is the unholy purpose of this column to supply it, so get out your brooms.

3rd floor 7th is beginning to get the reputation of being a convict's haven. Ask Watt McKeinnon, J. W. Abernathy and Jake Price about their soiree in the jug. Sing Sing, here we come. And incidentally, Bernstein and Kilpatrick (the Valentine boy) might be added to this list, and a certain girl, too. Not because of the aforementioned, but for something else, involving statuesque, busts, frogs, etc. Gosh, what is all this?

There has been some framework going on about this Alpha Sigma Sigma ballot business. A sophomore came through the other night collecting ballots. The object of his affections is a freshman electrical engineer, day student and has the initials E. W. B. (sorry, no names permitted).

It is understood among those who know the hiboy Bill Creech is running for chief cow washer at the dairy barn.

"This is the sign of the secret two."

You better watch out or it'll get you.

Several boys have reported finding this little ditty in their schoolbooks, under their pillows at night or in their hair. It seems that the warning is always accompanied by the case of something. For instance, in the case of the note in the notebook, two pages of the book were missing; in the case of the pillow, two cockroaches were found; and of the hair, two hairs were missing. Also it seems that only unbehaving fresh get them. If this is the case, Johnny Plummer, Mr. Piscitello, Johnny Pharr and H. K. Eagle had better watch out.

It has been suggested that 3rd floor seventh take up a collection and buy Gettsinger a carton of cigarettes—or at least a package.

GLEANINGS

Weather permitting, the Order of the Rail should have a record spring season—Tom Rowland, with his 1941 haircut and shoes, is in good shape to assume his presidential duties.

Paul Lehman promised an attractive young lady a supply of cough medicine during the flu epidemic but has failed to deliver it. The ingredients were to have been ROCK and EYE—if you haven't found the rock yet, Paul, see Ray Smith. He always carries a pocketful.

Watching the final practice of winter football from 308 South Dormitory, Pat Fehey saw two of his former teammates, Howell Stroup and Mickey Thompson, called from the sidelines to hold dummies. Pat says the way those boys held is proof enough that they haven't spent all of the past six weeks practicing teaching. It is my guess that the Stroup, Thompson and Fehey trio are adept at the pastime preferred by 88.2% of the student body, according to the Watauga's Galloping Poll.

Speaking of the Watauga, Laws, Boger and staffs reached a new high with the January issue. Congratulations, boys. I hope I can remember which jokes to tell in polite society and which to tell elsewhere—faculty functions and alumni meetings.

From usually reliable sources comes the report that Bob Cathey was seen reading the Marriage Ceremony during church services last Sunday—for further information see Bob. The same source reports that a friend of Phil Avery's is helping him OUT with a pal at W.C.U.N.C. Avery must have the inside track because he's headed for Greensboro this week-end.

Have you ridden in J. D. Jones' "Begonia"? If not, you have something to look forward to. . . . George Strayhorn gets my vote for the most faithful jalopy lover and Louis Chaffee for the most persistent Model A mechanic.

Knowing Cutie Carter and Dick Watts as men of many interests, I was not surprised to hear about a "Dog House" experience they had sometime ago. You can trust these clever lads to have all the answers, however, so I am sure that their stay in the famed dwelling was brief.

Monte Crawford and Bones McKinney must have turned in their basketball equipment promptly. They were working out in their Huneycutt trunks Monday. So were the Mills twins, but the twins took their workout in Apex.

Arriving at a scene of action involving Sammy Kaufman, the minute men—Tabecott and Levin—were just in time to furnish the needed assistance. Sammy will explain.

I'm wondering if Babe Clements has announced specifications for dates for the Tommy Dorsey dances. Babe, you'll have to be pretty strict to uphold the precedent set at Mid-Winters. You might do well to consult Jack Huckabee for some judo advice and Jimmie MacDougall or "B" Clark for civilian ideas. Solo Stilwell's Hula act at intermission might be a means of selling the surplus tickets.

After explaining to an inquiring freshman the many virtues of our honor system to both the faculty and students, the inquirer said he would still like to know who had the honor and who had the system. I then referred him to the campus brain trusters, Lehman, Reams, Friday, Rowe, Kaley, Davidson, Ray, Kirkman, Galstead, etc. He is still interviewing them but it is a safe bet that he will be convinced that the students have the honor. He will not doubt decide, too, that the honor system has all the virtues and the cut system all the vices.

Pardon me for getting serious but do you realize that exams begin soon? I hope you will not have to write "damned if I know" for any of the answers. This answer was given on a one question quiz recently and instead of zero the professor wrote "Damned if you hadn't better find out." . . . Here's hoping you'll "find out" all you don't know before the fatal day.

Ted Johnson says he hopes the Maryland trip will not cause any of his expected A's to be recorded as B's. . . . Sonny Gilbert seems a bit worried about REVERSES. . . . I understand his girl is to be married soon. . . . Does Sonny look like a prospective bridegroom to you?

Wonder if the rush at the Dean of Students' office is all anxiety about cuts—or could it be—or is it?

Joe Buice, Arthur Powell, Bill Snapp, Tot Ariel, and Bob Jackson will think several times before they go serenading again on the Woman's College campus at 3 in the morning. Before they had gotten started they were surrounded by the Greensboro riot squad and marched off to the calaboose. After being informed that they must appear for trial they were released, but a letter has informed them that all charges have been dropped. Maybe the squad was called because the noise worried the girls who were sneaking in late.

Barnwarming plans sound interesting. Davenport, Trevathan, Uzzell, Adams, Barnes, Warrick and Ratchford are not doing bad in the choice of sponsors. See you there. Somebody please tell Vann Latham and Neil Seagers that I am not going home this week-end.

DAN PAUL.

COVERING SPORTS

By BILL FRIDAY

A Just Way . . .

We want to take this opportunity to congratulate Coach Bob Warren and the Red Terrors on the fine play they have shown this season. We didn't wind up with a tournament berth and we weren't up at the top of the ladder in the standings, but we did show a great competitive spirit in all of our games.

We have been looking around the past several days trying to find out how all of these South Carolina and Virginia teams got into the annual play-offs. Clubs from these two states have, in the past, played the Big Five clubs during the season and their records were well known to local basketball fans. They had shown the fans of this vicinity and all through the conference that they had ball clubs worthy of competing in the tournament.

Out of the eight clubs that are participating in the meet this year, only three—Carolina, Duke and Wake Forest—have played schedules that have really been adequate tests for the calibre of the club. The remaining five have played clubs that didn't push them to the limit very often and the result is a season's record that really doesn't show the true merits of the ball team.

Bids to the annual tournament are based on the individual records of each club in the conference regardless of the competition they have met. We don't believe that this is a fair method of selection and we would like to see the powers that be try to find a more just basis.

The Red Terrors met the toughest opposition that the conference could offer this year. We played clubs that fought to win every minute of the game. Now, we are not apologizing for the record our club made this season. We are proud of the showing they made. What we want to put across is that we sincerely believe State would have been in the tourney had they played "crips" like some of the clubs in the meet this year.

In other words, our ball club didn't play enough weak teams, teams that didn't have capable reserves to push the fight through 40 minutes, to end up with a high number of games won. That is one of the big reasons we are not in the tournament today. We would like to see some change made so that the teams invited to play for the championship in the tournament would be the true cream of the conference and not a bunch of ball clubs that got there by playing the set-ups of the conference.

Tournament Dots and Dashes

None of the paired teams that met yesterday had played each other during the season except Duke and Carolina. . . . George Glamaek was the leading conference scorer this year with 306 points. . . . Six of the top 18 scorers in the conference will not play in the tournament.

State's Jack Tabscott ranked eighth with 136 points. . . . Since 1935 the White Phantoms have won the tourney three times. . . . The Generals of W. and L. are second with two wins—one in '37 and one in '34. . . . State hasn't put a man on the all-tournament team since Gil Clark made it in 1935. . . . Centers usually play superior ball during the annual meet. . . . Spessard, Washington and Lee star of former years, made the mythical team for three years. . . . So did Banks MacFadden, Clemson's immortal All-American. . . . Both of these players made the All-American team during their senior years. . . . George Glamaek, Carolina's ace, made the team last year and he should be a cinch to repeat during this meet. . . . Both radio stations are covering the event. . . . Add Penfield and Phil Ellis for WPTF and J. B. Clark with Ray Reeve for WRAL. . . . Some outstanding players to watch during the meet are: Glamaek, UNC; Westmoreland, USC; Cline, Wake Forest; Spuhler, Duke; Knox of William and Mary; Pink, Wash. and Lee; Foster, VMI; Bonds of Wake Forest; Howard, Carolina; Holley, Duke; and Convery of Wake Forest.

We will go out on the limb with the prediction that the winner of the Duke-Carolina game will go on to the finals and win the tournament. . .

Conference Swimming

State's tank squad will be represented by five of its top men at a Southern Conference swimming meet this week-end. This meet is different than in former years since only individual honors will be sought. No conference championship will be at stake, since this year the championship will go to the team with the best win record in dual meets against Conference competition. We're looking to see what Sid Ingram does at this meet, because on his performance may depend whether or not Coach Romeo Lefort will take him to Lansing, Mich., for the National Intercollegiate.

Campus Boxing Tourney Comes To Final Round

Dormitory and Fraternity Champions Will Vie for All-Campus Honors; Brinkley and Starnes Give Good Show

By JOE LeVASSEUR

Dormitory and fraternity finals in the intramural boxing tournament were run off last Tuesday night in the Gym. State's own Golden-glovers put on a show that was the best intramural event staged this term.

In the 145-lb. division, Starnes, Upper South, and Brinkley, 2nd "C," gave the best exhibition of straight boxing during the night. Starnes, a member of last year's freshman boxing team and also a former Golden-glover, was pressed to the end by Brinkley but finally won the decision of the judges. Searcy, K. A., and Shoub, 2nd "C," winners in the 135-lb. division, will clash in what promises to be the most interesting fight of the finals. Both boys are sophomores in the Forestry School and both live on the second floor in "C" dormitory.

The summaries:

- Dormitory
 - 115 lb.—Lathan, 1st Eighth, defeated Terry, 2nd "C."
 - 125 lb.—Urah, 1st Seventh, over Tharrington, 3rd Eighth.
 - 135 lb.—Shoub, 2nd "C," beat Gray, 3rd "A."
 - 145 lb.—Starnes, Upper South, over Brinkley, 2nd "C."
 - 155 lb.—Sloop, 2nd "C," defeated Parrior, 3rd Eighth.
 - 165 lb.—Strickland, 1st Eighth, topped Sechrest, Upper South.
 - 175 lb.—Hardeson, 2nd Seventh, beat Green, 3rd "C."
- Fraternity
 - Unlimited—Wagoner, 3rd Eighth, over Gill, 2nd Seventh.

115 lb.—Armstrong, AKPI, over Welfare, S.P.E.

125 lb.—Hilker, Sigma Nu, beat Morgan, P.K.A.

135 lb.—Searcy, Kap. Alpha, defeated Kellay, P.K.A.

145 lb.—Messersmith, Sigma Nu, over Andrews, P.K.A.

155 lb.—Nicholsen, Delta Sig, defeated Carter, Sigma Nu.

165 lb.—Marriott, Sigma Nu, beat Winn, P.K.A.

175 lb.—Siefert, Phi Kap. Tau, over McDougal, P.K.A.

Unlimited—Joslin, Sigma Nu, over Proctor, S.P.E., forfeit.

Winners in the dormitory finals will meet the winners in the fraternity finals next Wednesday night, March 6, at 7:30 in the Gym. An admission charge of 10c will continue with all proceeds going to pay for Intramural All-Campus awards.

Basketball is drawing to a close with only a few more games to be played before the finals in the basketball tournament will be run off.

In Section 2 of the freshmen division, 1st Seventh is undisputed champion. Ninth and 2nd Eighth dormitories are tied in Section 1 with one more game to be played. 2nd "A" is winner in Section 1 of the Upper-class league with 3rd "A" and Upper Wat. tied for first place in Section 2. Sigma Nu is winner in Section 2 of the fraternity division, with Delta Sig and A.L.T. fighting it out for first place in Section 1. 2nd "C" had four men representing it in the dormitory boxing finals. PiKA and Sigma Nu had the most men battling in the fraternity finals. These three teams will be taking a leading part in all intramural sports this year.

Grays Top Reds In 'Pack Scrimmage

Hickman Coaches' Second Team To 13-5 Win Over First Stringers

Coach Doc Newton sat on the sidelines Tuesday afternoon and saw his 1941 edition of the Wolfpack scrimmage that ended with the Grays victorious 13-5.

Between the sideline comments of Gray Coach Horman Hickman and the antics of his Gray boys, the gathered alumni and students enjoyed a good afternoon of football that wasn't at all dull.

The Gray team, trailing 5-0 at halftime, scored touchdowns in the third and fourth periods to get a 13-5 victory. They celebrated their hard-earned triumph by carrying Coach Hickman off the field on their shoulders—as far as they could carry his 280 pounds.

The Reds scored first when Dud Robbins was nailed behind the goal for a safety and two points.

The play that proved an eye-opener for everyone and three points for the Red team occurred just after the safety. Art Faircloth, freshman star last season, placed-kicked a field goal from the 35-yard line, the ball traveling 45 yards between the cross bars—and a sigh of relief ensued.

Sonny Gilbert intercepted a pass and ran 29 yards to the Red's 4 to set up the Gray's first score. From there Jack Singer tossed a pass to Foy Clark (the lad who scored the touchdown against Duke last season) who went over unscathed. The old Sally Rand play made famous by Coach Newton netted the second touchdown of the Grays.

Robbins handed the ball to Dick Callahan, who pulled away from Bob Cathey to score.

Dick Watts did a bit of nice running on a punt return when he ran 82 yards for a touchdown only to have the ball brought back for off-sides.

Jack Singer's nifty running took the individual honors along with the defensive work of Jimmy Allen and Cutie Carter, rival centers.

Tabscott and Mills Lead Terror Scoring At Season's Close

Sid Tager and Ruggles Baker To Get Sweaters for Three Years Varsity Service

By ROBERT POMERANZ

Smilin' Jack Tabscott chalked up a total of 154 points during the Red Terrors' 19-game schedule to lead the season's scoring. Jim Mills tallied 111 points for second spot, and was four points ahead of Roy Cromartie.

State's opponents scored a total of 324 points to the Terrors' 766 during the 19 games. This makes a pretty fair proportion to State's record of eight won and 11 lost.

Tabscott not only led in actual points scored but also was most effective man on the team based on percentage of points scored to baskets attempted. Tabscott completed better than 32 per cent of his field goal attempts. Ray Smith scored 23 per cent of his basket tries, and was followed in effectiveness by George Strayhorn, 23 per cent; Jim Mills, 21 per cent; Monte Crawford, 20 per cent; Joe Mills and Roy Cromartie, 19 per cent. Bill Hall, though not playing regularly, was 34 per cent effective in field goal tries.

Nine Get Sweaters

Nine men saw enough service during the season to earn their block "S" letter and sweater. A total of 160 minutes service was needed to get the sweater award. Bill Ball sneaked in under the wire with 169 minutes. Ray Smith, with 652 minutes out of 760 possible minutes, saw the most action.

Sid Tager and Ruggles Baker will be awarded sweaters and letters for three complete years on the varsity squad, though neither saw enough play in any one season. Team Manager Harrison Fox also rates a sweater award for his activity. Ray Smith, Monte Crawford, and Roy Cromartie will get their choice of red or white sweaters, for more than one year's action.

During the season's play, the Terrors seemed considerably less successful than their opponents with free throws. Actually, State completed 155 out of 343 tries for 45 per cent, while the 19 opponents together completed 172 out of 334 foul attempts, for 51 per cent. In several games this difference meant a loss instead of a victory.

Five Swimmers Go To Conference Meet

Five State swimmers are entered in the Southern Conference individual swimming meet held today and tomorrow in Blacksburg, Va.

Coach Romeo Lefort has taken a squad made up of Sid Ingram, Luke Thomason, John Park, Joe Bower, and Arnold Katterman to the meet for which Virginia Tech is playing host.

Ingram, undefeated in dual meets this season, will be out gunning for a new Conference mark in the 150-yard backstroke. A medley relay team, composed of Ingram, Park, and Bower, has been beaten only once this year, and should therefore place third or better in this event.

William and Mary Quint Wallops Wake Forest; South Carolina Tramples Richmond in First Round

Afternoon games of yesterday's Southern Conference basketball tournament found the dope bucket upset in one instance and running true to form in another. South Carolina's Gamecocks ran true to form in defeating the University of Richmond 41-32 but William and Mary offered a real upset—and an upset it was when they defeated the Wake Forest Demon Deacons 52-34, thus eliminating one of North Carolina's three entries in the tourney.

Paced by Sammy Lofdahl and Fred Lytle with 10 points apiece, the South Carolina Gamecocks, who are undoubtedly a bunch of expert sharpshooters, found it easy going over Richmond.

South Carolina led Richmond 26-13 at halftime.

The account of the William and Mary-Wake Forest game should have led this story had we not decided to use chronological order of playing, for it was by far the better game.

It was evident from the start that the Sovereigns could not miss. The score see-sawed back and forth during the first half until it reached a deadlock of 19-19 when the Virginians took charge. From then on they led, holding a 25-19 lead at half-time.

It came from an unconfirmed source that the William and Mary boys missed but six attempts at the basket in the last half, made evident by the fact that the Sovereigns scored 39 of their 52 points in that last half.

Cindermen Practice For Meet Next Term

A track-meet with Catawba, on March 29th, will open the outdoor schedule for State's cinder-men. James McDougal, who placed third in the high-jumping event at the Southern Conference indoor-meet last week, and Ike Hanf who tied for third in the pole-vauling event, are expected to lead their teammates to victory.

The loss of Mickey Thompson, who averaged 13 points a meet last year, will be felt keenly by the track team.

Co-captain Vann Johnson, outstanding miler of the track team, will lead the runners this year. Vann was unable to get in shape for the indoor-meet, but by the time the dual-meet with Catawba rolls around, he should be running the mile in less than 4:40.

G. P. Clee, pole-vaulter; Joe Pearson, dash-man, and E. H. Wright, dash-man and hurdler-jumper, are among the most promising sophomores who are competing for a place on the varsity team.

The track-meet with Catawba probably will start early in the afternoon so as not to interfere with the dance to be given by the Military Club that afternoon.

All prospective track-men are advised to draw their equipment and report to Coach Herman Hickman as soon as possible.

BEHIND THE MIKES

By Jack Thurner and Albert Johnson

The Latin American dance craze has hit this country through the capable help of orchestra leaders Xavier Cugat and Enric Madriguera. Cugat, whose band has been associated with high society, has jumped into the national spotlight through the help of the new tobacco commercial.

The different types of Latin music are distinguished by the instrument featured and the tempo. The Conga, which at the present is the most popular, has the fourth beat emphasized along with the drums and trumpet. A dance which was not proper in the past—the rumba—has eight beats to a phrase which is carried throughout the song.

The Danyon was the first dance music brought to Cuba and came from Normandie. It has a very slow intro of eight beats and then the clarinet plays the lead in 10-16th time. Another dance rarely heard of is the Son, which is slower than the rumba and has eight beats written in two-fourth time.

Gene Krupa, the boy who learned to play the drums by beating his mother's pots and pans, will visit the Bandwagon over WPTF Sunday night. Krupa's first band job was as a substitute in a resort orchestra. From here he jumped into Benny Goodman's band and became the jitterbug's favorite. He records for Okeh.
