Honorary Fraternity Initiates New Men

Thirteen Outstanding Juniors and Seniors Join Tau Beta Pi in Ceremonies Climaxed by Banquet at Carolina Pines

Thirteen outstanding juniors and seniors were initiated Tuesday night into Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, in ceremonies that were climaxed by a banquet at Carolina Pines.

Highlights of the program were a speech by Professor Ted Johnson on "What is a Cultured Person," and a talk by Dean E. L. Cloyd, master of ceremonies.

Among the alumni present were Col. John W. Harrison and Dean Blake R. Van Leer.

Tau Beta Pi, which is the equivalent in technical schools of Phi Beta Kappa in liberal arts colleges, has the highest standards of membership of any honorary society on the campus. It not only requires a very high scholastic average, but also picks men who have been outstanding in leadership and extracurricular activities during their college career.

The senior initiates were: J. W. Call, Chemical; M. R. Campbell, Mechanical; J. P. Furgerson, Chemical; E. G. Hollowell, Chemical; F. A. Jenkins, Electrical; H. B. Lefler, Architectural; S. R. Millhouse, Civil; J. W. Nelly, Ceramics; E. R. Todd, Ceramics; E. W. Price, Civil. The juniors were: W. E. Angelo, Chemical; E. C. Denton, Electrical; and K. L. Womack, Mechanical.

CHIEF SPEAKER on tomorrow's half-time program is Dr. Frank Porter Graham, president of the Greater University of North Carolina. Student body presidents of the three units will also talk briefly.

Seniors May Present Amplifying System For College Tower

Gift Committee Investigating Possibility of Installing Complete Public Address System in Campus Tower

The State College Memorial tower may soon be equipped with an elaborate amplifying system. The sound arrangement would be used for the presentation of appropriate chapel and choir music, special concerts, and for appropriate music on other occasions.

The system, it is planned, may be presented as a gift to the college from the senior class. The tradition of the departing seniors leaving some worthwhile contribution to the college is one that has been observed for many years. The Class of '39 presented the lighting system which is now in use on the tower, while the Class of '40 gave the brass standards which support the tower lights.

Love, Gail Patrick

To the State College man making the most outstanding showing in the first half of tomorrow's game with the Heels will go a football autographed by cinematress Gail Patrick and other stars of the picture, "Knut Rockne—All American."

The autographed ball is awarded by the Ambassador Theater to commemorate the best performance by any one player on the Wolfpack.

Carolina Grid Battle Headlines Program

RALLY TONIGHT

Students to Gather in Riddick Stadium On Eve of Big Battle; Will Roar Defiance to Chapel Hill "Brothers"

State College students and supporters will gather tonight in Riddick Stadium to roar defiance to the world in general and to their brothers at Chapel Hill in particular in a mammoth pep rally scheduled to get underway immediately after Stunt Night.

The rally, which will be aired by radio stations WPTF and WRAL, will feature talks by Head Coach Doc Newton, Colonel Harrelson, Co-Captains Felley and Stroup, Dean Lefort and Herman Hickman. In addition, the Red Coat Band, the Drum and Bugle Corps and other units will be on hand to lend music and color to the occasion.

Steve Saller, who will serve as master of ceremonies, announced yesterday that the loudspeaker system will also be connected in order that everyone in the stands can hear what is being said over the air. He also urged that students be in their seats shortly after 8 o'clock so that the broadcast could go off on schedule.

A portion of Carolina's pep rally will be broadcast to the roosters prior to the start of our own, so before we beat Carolina in football tomorrow let's beat them in cheering tonight.

PARADE at 10:30

Plans Completed for Celebration Which Promises to Bring Largest Crowd in History of College

By ANGUS RAY
Alumni and students from State, W. C., and Carolina are looking forward to one of the largest get-togethers ever held in North Carolina as State plays host tomorrow at a joint celebration of Greater University Day and Homecoming Day.

The festivities will get under way with Stunt Night tonight at 7:00 o'clock in Pullen Hall when various campus organizations put on acts in competition for the trophy which is given every year to the winner. After the program in Pullen Hall is concluded, the entire student body will move over to Riddick Stadium for a mammoth pep-rally in preparation for tomorrow's game with Carolina. The pep meeting will be broadcast by Stations WPTF and WRAL. At nine o'clock, the annual Fresh-Soph bonfire will be held on Red Field. The class having the most impressive blaze will have its numerals displayed at the game Saturday.

The calendar of events tomorrow will begin with the registration of State College alumni from 9:00 till 12:00 o'clock, which will be followed by a luncheon for alumni at 12:00 o'clock in the West Cafeteria.

A mammoth parade down Fayetteville street is scheduled at 10:30 in honor of the sponsors for Greater University Day. The parade will consist of floats sponsored by the various organizations, musical units from all three colleges, the State College Senior Platoon, and will feature the sponsors. The parade will be followed by a luncheon in the YMCA for the sponsors, their dates, and the deans of the three branches of the University.

Sometime during the morning, the judges of the decorations will make the rounds of all the fraternity houses and dormitories to decide the winners of the cups, which are awarded annually for the best decorated fraternity house and dormitory. The committee of judges for the fraternities are: Dean B. R. (Continued on Page 8)

Student Legislature To Open October 24 In Capitol Building

Plans Complete For First Meeting of Year For State College Student Governing Body

Final plans were being made this week for the opening session of the State College Student Assembly, scheduled to begin in the State Capitol on Thursday, October 24, at 7:30 o'clock. Preparations for the novel type of student government were being handled by the Student Council and an organization committee consisting of Bill Friday, W. J. Reams and E. F. Davidson.

Political aspirations will be in order at the first meeting, as the Assembly in joint session will elect a president and secretary of that body, and both the House and Senate will select presiding officers for their group in individual meetings.

Opening speaker for the initial meeting of the current school year will be Dean of Administration J. W. Harrelson, who was instrumental in the inauguration of the Assembly last January. Other State officials have been invited to participate in the opening program.

Something New
This unique system of government is considered to be one of the newest developments in student governments, as it affords a voice in the affairs of the campus to a greater portion of students. Similar forms of campus organizations are rapidly being adopted by leading schools and universities throughout the country.

A large majority of dormitories and fraternities have already elected their representatives to the Assembly, and many students will be those who gained experience in last year's sessions.

Greater University Day Originated Here in '38

Proposed by Dick Mackenzie, State Alumnus; Planned to Bring Better Relationship Among Three Units

By SID TAGER
Proposed by Richard Mackenzie while a junior here at State College two years ago, Greater University Day promises this year to exceed all expectations.

It all started when Dick realized that although State, Carolina, and the Woman's College were all one great university, they had practically nothing whatever in common. The purpose of Greater University Day, said Dick, "is to promote greater friendship and spirit of unity and better sportsmanship among the three units of the Greater University."

The first G U Day was held here on the day of the State-Carolina Game and drew one of the few capacity crowds of the 1938 season. Representatives of all three units and their sponsors provided a colorful sight for the cheering students of the three schools. During the hall, Governor Hoey, President Graham, Colonel Harrelson, Dean House, and Deane Jackson gave short talks on the new and greater cooperation which lay ahead.

Carolina played hosts to the three schools last year, and with their characteristic thoroughness, they planned a gala day which was even better than the previous celebration. Parades, contests, speakers all flocked to Chapel Hill to be in on the festivities which started early Saturday morning and continued unabated throughout the day. As in the previous year, the heads of the three units gave short talks to the capacity game crowd and the students in general. (Continued on Page 8)

Van Leer Will Speak At Chicago Meeting

State's Dean of Engineering Will Address Convention of Land-Grant Colleges on National Defense

Dean Blake R. Van Leer of the State College School of Engineering will participate in a discussion of "The Place of Engineering Colleges in the National Defense Program" at the annual meeting of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities in Chicago Nov. 11-13.

The discussion will be led by Dean A. A. Potter of Purdue University. Dean Van Leer, as chairman of the important national Committee on Instruction in Engineering, will report for his group Nov. 10 at a meeting of the Engineering Section of the Association.

Dean I. M. Schaub of the State College School of Agriculture is scheduled to participate in a discussion on rural youth. Also representing State College at the meeting will be Col. J. W. Harrelson, dean of administration; Dr. E. F. Metcalf, director of instruction in the School of Agriculture; and possibly others.

Student Lawmakers To Meet In Capitol

North Carolina Student Legislative Assembly to Open Session Next Friday.

The fourth annual North Carolina Student Legislative Assembly will be held Friday and Saturday, October 25 and 26, at the State Capitol.

At least fifteen North Carolina colleges are expected to send delegates to this important meeting which is sponsored by the forensic club of State College. The assembly will be addressed by Governor Hoey, Governor-Nominatee Broughton, Secretary of State Thad Eure, and if Congress is not in session at that time, Senator Josiah Bailey will speak.

Brian Ratchford of State College will act as president of the assembly and Roland Carey as secretary. The committee chairmen are David Harris, R. E. Pomeroy, C. A. Merrill, and F. B. Everett. Professor Edwin H. Paget, founder of the assembly, will be faculty director.

The girls' colleges of Raleigh will assist State College in furnishing entertainment and lodging. A large number of girls will be entertained at Meredith College under the supervision of Miss Mildred Bailey, faculty director of forensics there.

Students at State College who wish to participate in the assembly should report to Professor Paget between 4:00 and 5:30 p. m. in room 109, Pullen Hall. Each year between 40 and 50 students receive training and experience in the assembly.

Plans Are Complete For Downtown Parade On Homecoming Day

Senior Officers, Floats, Cheering Sections, Sponsors, to Be Included; Planned by Merchants.

Sponsored by the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce and the Raleigh Merchants Bureau, the final plans for the Homecoming Day Parade Saturday are being completed.

The parade will be led by Governor Hoey. Guests will be: Dr. Frank Graham, president of the Greater University of North Carolina; Dean Harrelson, of State College; Dean House, of Chapel Hill; and Dean Jackson of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

The parade will be of four divisions, each led by a R.O.T.C. captain and two lieutenants. Senior officers of State College will form a saber platoon. The State College Redcoat Band, the Drum and Bugle Corps, and the color bearers will march in the parade. The military affairs are being arranged by Colonel T. W. Brown.

Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, and 4-H Club units will be present in the parade. (Continued on Page 8)

Plans Progressing As Date Draws Near For High School Day

Second Annual Entertainment For High School Seniors Will Be Held on Date of Furman Game

State College will play host to the seniors of North Carolina High Schools, November 2, when the second annual High School Day will be held under the joint sponsorship of Golden Chain and members of the senior class.

The senior class members of all accredited high schools in North Carolina have been invited to visit State College on the day of the Furman-State game, and to participate in the day's program, which includes admittance to the game at night. Approximately 3,000 to 5,000 high school seniors are expected to attend the affair.

Committees, consisting of members of Golden Chain and the senior class have been appointed to conduct tours of the campus and the buildings.

Registration of the visiting high school seniors will begin at 1:00 p. m. in Price Hall, the old Public Building. (Continued on Page 8)

Grimshaw Attending Meeting of Chemists

Textile Professor at Annual Convention of Textile Chemists and Colorists.

Professor Albert H. Grimshaw of the Textile School left Wednesday night to attend the annual meeting and convention of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists which is to be held in New York City Thursday through Sunday.

The Association is made up of men who are interested in the manufacturing, selling and application of dyes, chemicals and compounds used in all parts of the textile industry. There is a student section here at North Carolina State College. The members from the Carolinas belong to the Piedmont section which also includes Virginia.

The guest of honor at the night informal dinner will be Mayor LaGuardia of New York City.

On Thursday evening the various sub-committees are to meet and prepare for the meeting of the National Research Committee on Friday morning. This will make the one hundred and twenty-second meeting of this committee which meets frequently to discuss the many problems which arise concerning textile research. Prof. Grimshaw is a member of the National Research Committee, also of sub-committees: Standard Methods of Chemical Analysis and Testing; Methods of Analysis and Standardization of Sulfonated Oils. He has served as an officer of the Piedmont Section, and is now Chairman of the Committee of the Piedmont Section to try to arrange accredited courses in textile chemistry, dyeing and finishing for men and boys taking courses in some of our southern mills.

No Classes

By action of the Faculty Council, all classes will be suspended at 10:00 A.M. tomorrow in observance of Greater University Day.

As a result of this suspension of classes, mid-term reports will be issued Tuesday, October 22, instead of Monday, October 21, as the schedule previously called for. This in turn will delay the close of the fall term until Thursday, December 12th, instead of Wednesday, December 11th.

NEW PRESIDENT Clark H. Kirkman, Jr., left, has been elected president of the YMCA to succeed Hubert M. Willis, right, now at the State sanatorium at Black Mountain taking a rest cure for a slight lung infection. Willis re-entered State College last September after eleven years out of school. He renewed his activity in the "Y" and was elected president. However, his illness prevented his return to school this term.

Air Corps Graduates Basic Flight Trainees

Claude W. Allen, State College Graduate, Among 265 To Complete Course at Randolph Field.

Claude W. Allen, former N. C. State College man and now a Flying Cadet, is among the 265 embryo pilots of the Air Corps who were scheduled to complete the basic flight training at Randolph Field, Texas, "West Point of the Air," about October 5.

This is the eighth class to be trained under the expansion program of the Air Corps that envisions 7,000 additional pilots annually.

Allen will transfer to the Advanced Flying School at Kelly Field, Texas, for a final ten weeks serial training in formation flying and day and night navigation before getting his "wings" and commission as a Second Lieutenant.

This eighth class of Flying Cadets started their aeronautical career last May when they began their primary flight training. Eighteen flying schools located at strategic centers of the country are utilized by the Air Corps for this phase.

There they spent ten weeks learning the fundamentals of piloting on rugged 200 horse-power army biplanes. Each Flying Cadet logged about 65 hours of flying time, about half of it solo. All aerial maneuvers from landings and take offs to loops and snap rolls were mastered.

In August all were assembled at Randolph Field, the Air Corps' giant flight training school in south Texas, for their basic flight training. The Flying Cadets stepped from their low powered primary training plane into a 450-horse-power low wing basic trainer, cruising speed about 150 miles an hour. Seventy-five additional flying hours have been acquired on this

Dean Nelson Meets With Textile Leaders

Head of Textiles Attending Meeting of Deans and Directors of U. S. Textile Schools.

Dr. Thomas Nelson, Head of the Textile School at State College, left the campus early this week to attend the semi-annual meeting of the Deans and Directors of the Textile Schools in the United States. The convention is being held in New York.

These meetings are sponsored by the Textile Foundation of America who brings the various leaders of the textile industry to these gatherings to discuss current topics with the heads of the departments of the schools represented. Discussions are held within the group to find new ways of presenting textile courses to the students so that they will receive the maximum from their work.

Representatives from over ten of the leading textile schools in the United States will be present for the program.

type craft, which embodies many of the features of a 1940 combat plane. They got their first taste of night flying, making take offs and landings in the darkness, aided by the glare of huge flood lights. Instrument flying, commonly termed "blind flying," has been in their course of training at Randolph Field.

Ahead of them lies the final step in the transformation of a young college man into a full-fledged military pilot. At Kelly Field they will fly even speedier planes on navigation flights several hundred miles in extent.

At graduation, scheduled for some time early in December, they will get their coveted "wings," emblem of military pilots, and will be ready for service on combat squadrons of the rapidly expanding Air Corps.

PARADE

(Continued from Page 1) parade. A cheering group of sixty members will compose a special unit. They will have megaphones given by T. H. Briggs, a leading citizen of Raleigh and an alumnus of State College. Bill Friday is in charge of State College's participation in the parade.

Sponsors from the Chapel Hill and Woman's College units of the Greater University of North Carolina will comprise a part of the parade. The Raleigh High School, and Carolina bands will contribute music for the occasion.

Floats will occupy a prominent place in the parade, and one of the parade's features will be a comic football team.

The merchants of Raleigh are working for the success of the parade. Their windows are decorated with photos of football players and pictures of the three schools of the University of North Carolina, and a number of them are putting on sales for the benefit of out-of-town visitors.

The parade will form at 9:45 on South Street at the Memorial Auditorium, and at 10:00 the parade will begin. It will march up Fayetteville Street, turn right and circle the capitol. Then it will follow Hillsboro Street to St. Mary's.

GREATER UNIVERSITY

Plans were made well in advance and through the complete cooperation of the heads of all three schools, Greater University Day for 1940 should be one of the most exciting events of the school year. Each year so far has seen a progressive growth in the spirit and enthusiasm behind the affair, and apparently the occasion will take on a greater meaning culminating in an official declaration making the day of the annual football game between State and Carolina one of the official school holidays of the year.

Forestry Fraternity Elects New Members

Five Outstanding Forestry Students to be Formally Initiated at Ceremony Thursday Night

The eighth annual Forestry Club Rolloc was held Saturday, October 12, at Hill Forest in Durham County with sixty State College forestry students present.

Upper-classmen in the Forestry school were excused from Saturday classes in order to participate in the Rolloc which is an annual affair for Forestry students. Many sports were engaged in during the day and much competition was shown among the different classes present.

This year for the first time the seniors walked off with first place for the final score in all events which included such sports as axe throwing, tree felling, tug o' war, horse shoes and many others. After the sports events were completed, everyone relaxed around the campfire for supper.

Late in the evening new members were initiated under the direction of Frank Sana-Polo who is chairman of the initiating committee.

HIGH SCHOOL DAY

From this point the guided tours will start. Classrooms and laboratories will be held open for inspection by the visitors.

Several high school bands have been invited to participate in the activities, and an elaborate program is being arranged for the half time during the football game.

Bill Friday, president of the senior class, and Wayland Reams, president of Golden Chain, are co-chairmen of the Senior High School Day Committee.

Van Leer, Professor J. T. Hilton, and Professor Frank F. Groseclose. The judges for the dormitories are: Colonel Lancaster, Professor Haig, and Dr. Kreigel.

Proceeding the game tomorrow afternoon, the bands from all three of the schools will parade in the stadium in honor of the visitors to the campus.

Between 1:00 o'clock and 1:30, the entire student body of State will assemble in front of the gymnasium to welcome the visitors from W. C., who will arrive at that time on a special train. About six hundred W. C. girls are expected to attend the celebration.

During half-time of the game, there will be a program on the field which will feature short talks by Dr. Frank Graham, president of the Greater University, Miss Elizabeth Patton, President of the Student Body at W. C., Dave Morrison, President of the Student Body at Carolina, and Paul Lehman, State's Student Body President.

Climaxing the week-end's program will be the annual Homecoming Dance in Frank Thompson Gymnasium tomorrow night from 9:00 to 12:00 o'clock. The dance is sponsored jointly by the Blue Key and Golden Chain honorary societies and will feature the music of Barry McKinley and his orchestra.

Each of the three branches of the Greater University will have eight sponsors. The sponsors for W. C. are: Miss Elizabeth Patton, Student Body President; Miss Annie Braswell, Vice President; Miss Catherine Hilderman, Secretary; Miss Phillis Crooks, Treasurer; Miss Doris Shaffer, Town Student's Association President; Miss Elizabeth Falls, Senior Class President; Miss Polly Sattler, Junior Class President; Miss Gladys Sessions, Sophomore Class President.

The sponsors for State are: Miss Janie Parker with Paul Lehman, president of the student body; Miss Dorothy McCracken with Wayland Reams, vice president of the student body; Miss Ida Howell with Bill Friday, president of the senior class; Miss Margaret Martin with Bruce Halsted, president of Blue Key; Miss Mary Frances Webb with Henry Rowe, editor of The Technician; Miss Martha Ellen with Howell Stroup, co-captain of the Wolfpack; Miss Jerry Bell with Pat Fahley, co-captain of the team.

Carolina students who will sponsor are: Dave Morrison, Dub Martin, Dan Bishop, Ferebee Taylor, Bill Dees, Lewis Gaylord, Hobart McKeever, Charlie Barrett.

Foresters Assemble At Annual Rolloc

Seniors Win Top Honors At Eighth Annual Get-Together; New Members Are Inducted As Climax to Celebration

Five students in forestry at State College have been elected for initiation into the local chapter of Xi Sigma Pi, national forestry honor fraternity, Forester Fred J. Hartman of Merchantville, N. J., announced today.

The initiates are W. Quentin Surratt, Burlington, S. Leigh, Wilson, Arlington, Va., and John E. Wiggins, Jr., of Sunbury, seniors; Austin A. Pruitt, Carteret, N. J., and H. S. Miller, Jr., Aberdeen, Md., juniors.

They will be initiated formally Thursday night.

Clemson Game Shown At Ag Club Meeting

Coach Waller Comments On Game

Coach Nig Waller presented a moving picture of the State-Clemson football game to the Ag Club audience Tuesday night. Though Coach Waller said that he did not intend to try to give sound effects to the picture, he did comment on the game as it progressed, often interpreting particularly striking plays.

T. E. Browne, Director of the Division of Teacher Training, spoke of the industrial expansion of North Carolina, especially as influenced by recent government legislation. Appropriations have been made to aid in training skilled workers for specific industrial positions, such as ones important in strengthening our national defense.

Textile Fraternity Announces New Bids

Sigma Tau Sigma Bids Several High Standing Seniors in the Textile School

Sigma Tau Sigma, honorary textile fraternity at N. C. State College announced last night the list of members of the present senior textile class eligible for membership, including June Dickson, John Boger, T. R. Brown, R. S. Denberger, R. S. Handley, and P. D. Kaley.

Membership is limited to those students who have completed three years work in the textile school and who have an average of 80 or above for the period.

Miss June Dickson is the first girl ever to receive a bid from Sigma Tau Sigma, thus joining the exclusive ranks of the very few coeds who have attained honor recognition on the State College campus.

It is an "exploring amplifier," developed by Bell System engineers to identify pairs of wires in telephone cables—some of which contain as many as 4242 wires. The cable man explores this mass of wires with the pencil-like probe. A tone sounding in the headphone tells him when he has found the right pair. Ingenuity—special equipment—attention to details—play an important part in making your telephone service the clearest and fastest in the world. Why not report "All's well" to the folks at home? Rates to most points are lowest any night after 7 P.M. and all day Sunday.'
