Faculty Says No Name Bands Should Be Signed

Express Desire That Dance Expenditures Be Greatly Decreased

No Definite Action Taken At Meeting Yesterday of Dance Chairmen with Colonel Harrelson and Dean Cloyd

By GORDON WEST
The State College administration has expressed the wish that no name bands be signed to play on the State campus during the duration of the war.

At a meeting yesterday of the various dance committees chaired by Colonel J. W. Harrelson and Dean E. L. Cloyd, the present dance situation was discussed and the chairman explained the desires of their various organizations to secure top bands for their annual dances.

Although the administration expressed the wish to stop the booking of such bands, no definite action was taken and another meeting with the dance chairmen has been called for Monday night.

In the opinion of both Col. Harrelson and Dean Cloyd, the signing of all name bands for the college dances should be stopped if possible. This would save money badly needed for national defense, and decrease the expenditures of the individual students.

It is not the policy of the administration to decrease the number of social events on the campus, but it seems that the price charged by the larger name bands is entirely out of proportion to the enjoyment received, said Col. Harrelson.

Since some of the dues of various organizations have already been paid, two solutions to this problem were suggested. First, the money already paid would be refunded to the students and the future dues reduced, or second, a reserve would be set up to take care of the year when the organizations might not be able to make ends meet.

At the University of North Carolina this week, the Student Legislature set a limit of $750.00 on the price of bands that could be signed for dances there for the duration of the present national emergency. This is quite different from the present policy in effect at Chapel Hill where they are well known for their signing of the most noted bands in the nation for their larger sets of dances.

No such drastic action has been or probably will be proposed for State; however, some changes will be made that will limit the signing of large bands without some regulation by the administration.

Present at the meeting yesterday and the dance committee they represent were: Wally Sutton; Kenneth Shinn, Textile School; Lawson Ingram, PIKA ball; Mason Banks, Engineers' Brawl; Bob Dought-ridge, Interfraternity Council; Max Gardner, Sophomore Hop; Grover Cox, Officers' Club; Bob Dalrymple, Junior-Senior dance.

Ag Club Elects New Officers for Spring

David Harris of Newell, agricultural senior and recipient of many an honor as a member of the college debate team, has been elected president of the State College Ag Club, largest departmental organization on the campus.

Other new officers elected to serve for the spring term are J. B. Barnhill, Scotland Neck, vice president; Gerald James, Oakboro, secretary; and Walton Thompson, Black Creek, reporter.

The election was held Tuesday night at the club's winter term smoker in the cafeteria.

Self-Help Secretary Of 'Y' Called By Army

N. B. Watts Ordered To Report To Fort Benning Monday; C. D. Umberger, State College Senior, Accepts Position

Assistant Secretary N. B. Watts of the Y.M.C.A., self-help director at State College, has received orders to report to Fort Benning for active duty Monday, it was learned yesterday from "Y" Secretary E. S. King, who also disclosed the appointment of a successor to Mr. Watts.

C. D. Umberger of Mt. Ulla, State College senior in chemical engineering and this year's treasurer of the Y.M.C.A., was the Board of Director's choice as the new secretary to fill the position during Mr. Watts' leave of absence. Although Mr. Umberger has already begun his duties, he will be assisted with the work next term in order that he might complete his degree and receive his diploma May 8.

Watts assumed the position of assistant secretary to Mr. King January 1, 1939, having graduated the year before at State College with experience as a "Y" worker and a self-help student. He was vice president his senior year and chairman of the New Student Committee.

Dean Says Engineering Enrollment Must Grow

New Men Initiated By 4-H Supper Club

Seven new freshmen were initiated into the State College 4-H Supper Club, an organization composed of former 4-H Club members now in college, at the club's regular meeting in the Y.M.C.A. Wednesday night.

Lt. Col. Lancaster Transferred; Colonel Peake To Join Staff

Veteran of Campaigns in the Philippines, Mexico and France To Be Executive Officer

Col. Albert S. Peake, veteran of campaigns in the Philippines, Mexico and France, will join the State College military staff Monday as executive officer of the R.O.T.C., Col. Thomas W. Brown, commandant, announced yesterday.

He will succeed Lieut.-Col. J. L. Lancaster, who has been transferred to the War Department to new duties elsewhere. Col. Lancaster joined the staff in September of 1940 after a tour of duty in the Panama Canal Zone.

Veteran of many important assignments in the U. S. Army, Col. Peake is a native of San Bernardino, Calif., and was graduated in law from the University of California, where he was a cadet captain. He was called from a brief retirement, because of a physical disability, to duty on the State College military staff.

Col. Peake was graduated with a Bachelor of Laws degree in 1908 and soon after leaving school went to the Philippines, where he commanded a Moro constabulary on the Sulu archipelago for two years. In 1910 he took a highly competitive examination at Manila, winning his regular commission as second lieutenant and remaining with the Army in the Philippines for two more years.

He went into Mexico with the punitive expedition in 1916, ranking as a first lieutenant, and a year later got his captaincy. In 1918-19 he served overseas in France and Germany. Before the Armistice he was with the 77th Division, which contained the famed "Lost Battalion," and afterwards was with the Second Division of the Army of Occupation, ranking as major.

During the war, he went out with the first group to form organized reserves, and was stationed in (Continued on Page 4)

Enrollment in college engineering courses must be doubled or tripled in the next school year to meet the unprecedented demand for technically trained personnel in the nation's war effort, Dean Blake R. Van Leer, head of the State College School of Engineering, stated yesterday.

What We Want

(An Editorial)
Jim Morgan would have been correct, it seems, if he had said "Heil, Administration" in his "Gleanings" Column several weeks ago instead of "Heil, Graham." From all indications, the State College administration is really putting pressure on the various campus organizations giving dances this year in an effort to force them to cut down the budgets for the dances.

Could it be that the men on the college faculty begrudge the State College students the money that they spend in what may be the last big fling for many of them? In slightly over two months many of our seniors will get commissions in the naval reserve, army, air corps, or marines, or will be drafted for service in some branch of our armed forces. Still, it seems that some members of the faculty and administration, many of whom are too old to see any active service for their country, are trying to throw a damper on the spirits of State students.

The annual Military Ball, sponsored each year by the Officers' Club, is scheduled for March 28, just three weeks away. Because the cadet officers have had so much trouble trying to reach a budget that is agreeable to the administration, no band has been signed at the present moment. The Military Ball received the reputation of being one of the best dances ever held on this campus when the cadet officers signed Tommy Dorsey for last year's affair. But all big-name bands must be signed long in advance of the date they are to appear. Because the signing of any contracts has been postponed so many times, it now appears that the Officers' Club will have little if any chance of getting any band usually signed up for more than fifty dollars.

The question isn't so much "What ARE they doing?" as "What are they TRYING to do?" Everyone can see that the administration has successfully stopped the signing of any band so far. Could it be that they are purposely holding up the arrival of the contracts just so the cadets will not be able to obtain some really large band and will be forced to contract some smaller outfit? Or are they causing the delay just because pressure is being placed on them by members of some other institutions. Chapel Hill, you will remember, recently limited the budget for any dance to $750. They did this in spite of the fact that Carolina has always been noted for the bands that they have secured for their traditional dances. Are they trying to do the same thing on this campus? If they are, the students would certainly like to know about it.

When students go ahead and pay five dollars dues, expecting a dance to surpass all other dances, they get mighty hot under the collar if they have to listen to four saxes slightly off key, two trombones sliding around, three trumpets trying to outdo each other, and a piano player stumbling all over himself. When students pay a good price in anticipation of a good dance, they have a right to hear what they paid for, not some two-for-a-quarter outfit.

If the administration wants to cut down on the dance budgets of the various organizations, why don't they limit the money that these organizations can collect for the dances, rather than try to cut down expenditures after the money is already in the treasurer's hands?

The engineers have to pay three dollars a year as a fee. Naturally, they expect a good band at their "Brawl." If, however, they had to pay only one dollar a year, would they expect as much? Of course they wouldn't. The same reasoning can be applied to all the other organizations. If the students are not permitted to spend THEIR money in the manner THEY see fit, why not cut down the dues paid? There seems to be little sense in building up large reserve funds that the students are not permitted to touch.

If the students want to cut down on the amount they pay and have smaller dances, fine and dandy. But the STUDENTS should have the final word in what is to be done with their money, not the administration offices. How about it?

Life Of Australians Shown By Films At 'Y'

Motion Pictures and Exhibits Provide Interesting Insight Into Life on Island Continent

An "Australian Night" program, featuring sound films on various phases of Australian life, was presented in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium last night.

Two of the films depicted unusual fauna in Australia. One, "Bushland Revels," was a natural description of an unusual bird mimic, the Lyre Bird. Another showed the Australian teddy bear in his native haunts. The main film, "Australia Marches with Britain," depicted the rapid rise of the country—which averages only two persons per square mile—from a primarily agricultural status to a position of prominence as the arsenal of the British Empire and a reservoir for fighting manpower.

By special arrangement, a March of Time film featuring The Netherlands East Indies was shown. Following the seven o'clock showing, the films were repeated at 8:30.

Heavy Vote Climaxes Spirited Campaigns

Student Council Announces That Vote Will Not Be Told Until After Final Election Is Held

Climaxing one of the most spirited primary campaigns recent years, students at State College selected campus candidates for positions on student publications, athletic council, student council, and Y.M.C.A. offices. Final selections of officers will be made in the run-off election on March 26.

Marines To Select 44 Future Officers From Student Body

Candidates Accepted Will Include Eight Each From Lower Classes and Twenty From Senior Class

Lieutenant Donald C. Baker visited the campus Wednesday afternoon to interview applicants for reserve commissions in the United States Marine Corps. Forty-four candidates will be selected from the student body of State College. Those accepted will include eight freshman, eight sophomores, eight juniors, and twenty seniors. Openings still exist for all but senior applicants. The selections will be made from the applicants having the best scholastic record, who participate most actively in extra-curricular activities, and who successfully pass the rigid physical examinations.

No Summer Camp for Juniors In R.O.T.C.

Army Substitutes Short Intensive Training Period Immediately After Graduation For Summer Training

According to information recently released by the college Military Department, juniors in the advanced R.O.T.C. course will not go to summer camp this year. They will undergo, instead, a short period of intensive training immediately after graduation at one of the Officer's Training Schools of the army.

While it is no longer possible for a commissioned officer to transfer from one branch of the service to another, it is still possible, according to Lt. Col. Lancaster, for a cadet in the advanced corps to make application for a commission in any branch of the service for which he is qualified or prefers. The colonel added, however, that he did not know how long that privilege would remain a regulation.

The military department is planning to offer R.O.T.C. training in summer school in the event that enough students indicate that they are able and willing to take the course. The necessary arrangements have been made, however, Col. Lancaster concluded.

McKinley Plays For Annual Barnwarming

Overalls and Gingham Dresses Will Predominate As Barry McKinley Furnishes Music for Annual Ag Club Dance

Overalls and gingham dresses will form the predominant campus costume tomorrow night at the Barnwarming dance, sponsored annually by the Ag Club, as the dance gets under way in the Frank Thompson gymnasium at 9 o'clock to the music of Barry McKinley and his orchestra.

The Barnwarming is directed by Melvin Hearn, Chairman of the dance committee. Serving with him on the committee are Charles Kearns, and Eugene Berryhill. Sponsors for the dance and their escorts are: Miss Jean Thomas of Charlotte with Melvin Hearn, chairman of the Dance Committee; Miss Agnes Perkins of Charlotte with Eugene Berryhill, dance committeeman; Miss Lillie Belle Pryor of Miami, Texas, with Charles Kearns, dance committeeman; Miss Ena Vautier of Raleigh with John Church, president of the Ag Club; Miss Mary Emma Graham of (Continued on Page 4)

CIO Public Relations Woman Speaks Here

Miss Lucy Mason Says Organized Labor Is the Most Productive and Creative Labor in War Effort

Miss Lucy Randolph Mason of Atlanta, Ga., public relations representative of the Congress of Industrial Organizations in the South, told State College students Monday that "organized labor is the most productive and creative labor."

Miss Mason, who is now on a tour of Southern universities and colleges, delivered her address in the Y.M.C.A. under auspices of the Economics Department, whose students were at the time studying trade unionism and labor legislation.

English Prof. Wynne Inducted Into Army

R. Baker Wynne, for six year instructor in English and public speaking at State College, has been inducted into the Army and is stationed at Fort Bragg, Dr. Lodwig Hartley, head of the English department, reported yesterday.

Wynne is the second member of the department to enter the arm forces within the past month. J. Atkins Shackford, who served for two years as instructor in English, is now with the 118th Infantry at Fort Jackson, S. C.

MUSIC MAKERS

By JACK THURNER

The music of Barry McKinley of Richmond is no stranger to State College dances since he played last year for the PIKA Easter Ball and the Homecoming dance. Barry has played at Tantilla Gardens and has the house band at station WRVA. In the summer you can find him down at Virginia Beach.

McKinley is an old Brunswick recording artist and still does some recording for Brunswick. He features himself on the vocals and the band style is woven around him. If he still has his style of last year, there will be a lot of sweet music in the Gym.

All Star
Each year the winners of the Metronome contest get together for a recording session to wax a jazz masterwork, on Columbia this year. The record this year was divided up with one side having nothing but leaders in a kind of dixieland style. The number is "I Got Rhythm" with Gene Williams starting things out with some muted trumpet work, then John Kirby, Charlie Barnet, Alvino Ray, J. C. Higgenbotham, Benny Carter, Gene Krupa and Benny Goodman following up with some hot solos.

TOMMY DORSEY

Basic original graces the back "Royal Flush," with the winners of the contests on the ones nearest first place. For the jazz enthusiasts the solos that take place are in this order: Basic, Vido Musso, Harry Connie Haines does a very good vocal on the first one, a good swing tune. Tommy and Ziggy take some good getoffs and the band has a strong beat. Ken Curtis and the Pied Pipers handle their other oldie in fine style. There is a lot of sub-tone clarinets and soft open Dorsey horn. This record is the most impressive that he has put out in some time.

"Fire Dance" "Let's Say Good-night with a Kiss" "The band without the brass, Shep Fields, cuts its theme which by now has become well known. The other is a sweet tune, with Ken Curtis handling the lyrics.

"Papa Nicolini," "As We Walk into the Sunset"—Johnny Long has some unusual versions of these. The first has Bob Houston, Helen Young and the whole band joining in with a rather chorus in swing time. The other is on the glee club type with the band again singing along with Bob Houston.

"Night and Day" "The Night We Called it a Day"—Frank Sinatra makes his debut on wax this week. Alex Stordahl conducts the band which has violin and with Frank's vocals these are first rate for Moon River and other such romantic stuff.

"Skylark," "Story of a Starry Night"—Ray Eberle does the vocals on both which are straight Miller material. A lot of saxes and muted brass are featured.

James, Benny Carter, Lou McGarity, Roy Eldridge, and Benny Goodman.

The Turntable
"What is This Thing Called Love," "Love Sends A Little Gift of Roses"—These waxings sound like the old great Tommy Dorsey band. Somebody must have gagged Buddy Rich because there isn't a bit of overdrumming on either.

GLEANINGS

All the back slapping, hand shaking, and loud talk that has been associated with the campus elections returned in full strength last Wednesday when the campus primaries were run off. Only one thing was conspicuously absent from the usual set up... very little cigar smoke drifted about the campus, although we will admit that the candidates made up for this deficiency by putting out a lot more campaign propaganda than has been the custom in the past few years. . . . Looks as though Lehman started something several years ago when he hung one of the first banners ever seen on this campus when he was in the midst of his race for president of the student body. . . . Just look at 'em now!

We were sorry to hear of one of the first instances in recent years of good, old, dirty "mud slinging" . . . Most of you know that the elections have been fairly clean lately. . . . But one of the better-known candidates for the Technician post (with a "2" in his name) actually told students that one of his opponents had authorized his henchmen to tear down all signs except his own. . . . How some people will drag the names of others through the fifth for a few votes is beyond us. . . . Especially when the rumor was strictly a lie, pure and simple. . . . I know. . . . I live in the Quadrangle.

We were glad to note that the number of students voting was "way up" over this time . . . over twelve hundred cast their ballots for the men they believed best suited for the different positions. . . . With a quick get away like this, it should be possible to set another record at the final elections the first week we are back from the holidays. . . . Since there will be no more issues of The Technician before the final count is taken, let us urge you right now to get out there and vote for your man next time. . . .

A very subtle note was called to our attention the other day. . . . It's supposed to be a communication from the United States forces on duty in the far East. . . . This is pretty rough for The Technician, we'll admit, but all of us thought that it was pretty good. . . . So, here it is. . . .

It has been announced that the Japs have taken Castoria. The U. S. admits this, but doubts their ability to hold it. The latest bulletins state that the strain on the Japs' rear is tremendous, and that they are evacuating all over the lines.

The Japanese were trying to suppress the reports, but it slipped out and the U. S. got wind of it. The Japs now realize the value of a scrap of paper. The U. S. reports that the whole of the enemy will soon be wiped out!

Could it be that the lovers Tom Gould and Art Faircloth are slipping? Another communique has it that they journeyed to Durham recently for a couple of HEAVY dates. . . . They certainly must have had them (heavy spenders, we'll bet) because they returned minus six dollars apiece. . . . and they didn't even hold their hands, they claim. . . . Maybe so. . . .

Some of those fellows walking about the campus heavily bandaged are not soldiers on leave of absence. . . . Nope, they're just the finalists in the "All Campus" scraps held in the gymnasium last Monday night. . . . Just to show you how the blows flew thick and fast. . . . Cecil Fry swore that the first time he hit Sloop, he almost broke his wrist. . . .

Bill Loudous wasn't in on the boxing matches the other night, but something must have hit him. . . . Bill's the chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the annual Publications Board's shindig. . . . Seems that Loudous was down at the College Print Shop ordering programs for the supper dance and had WOOLEN GYMNASIUM on the order. . . . We wonder if he ever heard that this well-known place is on the campus of another branch of the Greater University. . . . Chapel College, or something like that is the name of the place. . . .

And then we hear that a couple of KA's, Foster and Kitchen, to be exact, are having trouble with their women again. . . . they were double dating the other night and went to get the lucky girls. . . . But, alas, the reputation of these two lady killers had preceded the gentlemen, because the girls absolutely refused to go outside of the house with them. . . . But instead of giving the girls a treat by staying to spend the evening, the two gallants picked up their hats and walked out. . . . and they didn't even slam the door behind them. . . .

From all late reports we gather that Windy Winstead is still showing Louise Morton the way about the campus. . . . As I write this, they are in the business office next door, each murmuring into the ear of the other. . . . Ah, well. . . . spring is just about here anyway. . . . And that is the kind of goings on taking place in the business office all the time. . . .

Well, the demise of many a college student is about on us. . . . exams are all set to knock a few of us for a loop. . . . Since this is the first set that I am to experience here, I don't know what to expect. . . . I'm one of those eleven new freshmen. . . . But I hope I can still chatter at you from this column next term. . . . Be seeing you.
SANDY McKEEL.

Candidates Note!

Here's a word of warning for the candidates. Quite often "mud slinging" can lose a lot more votes than can be gained by this despicable means. Don't go around telling the other students that so and so is pulling your signs down and posting his in the same place unless you have positive proof. And make certain that he hasn't had more pulled down than you have. Enough said!

Let's Vote

Over 1,500 students voted in the final elections last year. Considering the size of the student body, this number is not very great. Let's try to break all previous records and show that the winners are placed in office by the majority of students. Get out there and vote.

The ACP Says Citizenship Questions No. VIII

(Associated Collegiate Press) (Answers will be found on page 4)

New York, N. Y.—(ACP)—Entries for the first nationwide intercollegiate radio debate number 184 universities and colleges, it is announced by Dr. William Peirce, chairman of the board of trustees of the American Economic foundation, which is conducting the educational experiment.

Debating the question, "Does Youth Have a Fair Opportunity Under Our American System of Competitive Enterprise?" are representatives from 44 states and the District of Columbia, including most of the nation's institutions of higher learning. The contest is to end May 10, when four finalists will be brought to New York for appearance on the "Wake Up, America!" forum broadcast over the Blue network. Judges representing both the studio and listening audiences will select the two best speakers who will receive prizes of $1,000 and $500, provided by the foundation.

Austin, Texas.—(ACP)—Modern America no longer considers "food, shelter, and clothing" the three basic necessities, but revises the list to read "food, shelter and automobile."

That, at least, is the conclusion to be drawn from statistics on family expenditures in nine Texas communities surveyed by the University of Texas bureau of business research. The average Texas family spends 25 per cent of its income for food, 14 per cent for rent, and 12 per cent for car expenses. Clothing comes in fourth with nine per cent. Average expenditure for education in Texas families is approximately $100 a year. The report shows that education costs the family with an annual income of $500 or less $20 a year, but jumps to an average of $222 for families whose incomes top the $5,000 mark.

A. I. Ch. E. NOMINATES

At its regular meeting Tuesday night A. I. Ch. E. nominated officers for the coming year. Those nominated for various offices were: Tommy Hughes and Charles King for president; Glenn Frady and Jack Goodrum for vice president; Bill Hecht and Stanley Teiser for secretary; William Womack for member at large to the Engineers' Council.

Tommy Hughes was elected to represent the State College chapter, together with L. P. Zachery, president, at the Southern Regional Convention of A. I. Ch. E. at Auburn, Alabama, March 24, 25, and 26.

Barksdale Elected To Head Industrial Group

New officers were elected by the Society of Advancement of Management at a meeting Tuesday night in 1911 Building.

Don Barksdale was chosen as president for the coming year. Other officers elected were: Joe Hagler, vice president; Robert Newsome, secretary; Bill Noyes, representative of the Engineers' Council.

The offices of treasurer and alternate representative to the Council were combined and this position was filled by Bob Chatham.

It was decided by the society to compile a file of recent graduates of the Industrial Engineering Department so that the place of their employment and their positions could be kept.

Dr. Shaw read to the society a pamphlet recently published by the National Society instructing the officers in their duties. A copy of this was given to each of the new officers.

Maria Lily Dasso, daughter of Senator Andres D. Dasso of Peru, is enrolled at Cornell.

Having received his commission as a reserve officer in college, Watts had expected to receive his orders soon, but was not expecting them until the end of the year.

The new secretary was chosen on the basis of his experience both in religious activities and self-help work. He earned all his expenses at Fieffer Junior College, which he attended two years, and is making most of his expenses at State.

American Aid Needed For Foreign Students

Gordon C. Mahy Tells State Students That Students Must Band Together For World Reconstruction

"Students around the world depend on the United States," Gordon C. Mahy, Jr., American Educator just back from China, told State College students Monday night in an address which opened the World Student Service Fund drive at the college.

Telling the group that China's students are the United States' best potential ally, Mahy declared that he had never seen students anywhere fight for their studies like the students in China are doing.

"China is saving her students for the future," he continued, "because she realizes that with only one college student per 10,000 population she must depend on her 45,000 students for the future leadership of the country."

Declaring that the majority of students in Europe and China can not carry on without our help, Mahy urged that students become "coke-conscious" and "movie-conscious" and sacrifice if necessary to make a contribution to the W.S.S.F.

The speaker was brought to the campus by Pine Burr Society, sponsoring organization for the W.S.S.F. drive at State College, immediately following the address, members of the Society and the Y. M. C. A. solicited contributions in the dormitories and fraternities.

As a reserve officer in college, Watts had expected to receive his orders soon, but was not expecting them until the end of the year.
