No other institution in the South is offering the Doctor of Philosophy degree in agronomy. The men are: H. M. Reisenauer, G. F. Ireland, R. M. Evans, B. C. Nichols, T. L. Brown, E. D. Hargrove, A. J. Benton, D. F. Holler, E. F. Schultz, E. L. Whiteley, A. R. Knudsen, B. S. Chronister, N. C. Hall, L. C. Jones, J. M. O'Brien, L. F. Seatz, F. M. Milam, D. R. Merker, D. D. Mason, Fred Olive, and J. W. Lodwick.

City-wide Celebration To Feature Big Parade Tomorrow Afternoon

Pep Rally Tonight Will Be Broadcast

Event to Begin State-Raleigh Day Celebration; Recording to be Broadcast at Nine O'Clock

Officially heralding in the traditional State-Wake Forest game and new State-Raleigh Day, a huge pep rally featuring the entire Wolfpack squad, Mayor Graham Andrews, Wesley Williams, Colonel Harrelson, and Coach Doc Newton will be held tonight at 7 o'clock in Riddick Stadium.

Through the facilities of WRAL, the program will be heard in Raleigh and vicinity. A recording will be made at the same time in the WPTF studios and will be played back over the air at 9 o'clock during the broadcast of a similar rally at Wake Forest. This innovation will make it possible for the students to return to their rooms to hear their own performances compared to Wake Forest, a change from previous years when both cheering sections yelled back and forth at each other with neither knowing who was yelling the loudest. Music will be supplied by the State College Drum and Bugle Corps and the Red Coat Band.

Mayor Andrews will represent the city, Wesley Williams the Raleigh Merchants' Bureau, Colonel Harrelson the school, and Coach Newton the Wolfpack, in this effort for better cooperation between State College and the City of Raleigh.

In past years, these pep meetings have meant a great deal to the team's spirit and have acted as a stimulus to our cheering section on the following day in addition to setting the scene for the festivities. Bill Friday, chairman of the event, requests that everyone be in their seats by 7 o'clock tonight in order to have time to get organized by 7:15, the broadcast time.

Honorary Fraternity Names New Members

Xi Sigma Pi, Forestry Fraternity, To Hold Initiation of Pledges This Week

Four men have been selected by Xi Sigma Pi, national honorary forestry fraternity, as candidates for membership, it was announced Tuesday by Austin Pruitt, chief forester of the organization. The Xi Sigma Pi fraternity was founded at the University of Washington in 1924, to link together technically trained foresters of leadership and character. The North Carolina chapter was formed in 1938. At present there are 24 chapters in the United States. The pledges are: Frank Williams, Eldwin Leynath, Jim Martin and John Valentino.

High School Delegates To Visit State College For Annual Occasion

Full Day of Activities Being Planned for Representatives from Nearly 700 High Schools

On Saturday, October 25, delegates from nearly 700 high schools scattered throughout the state will descend upon State College for the third annual High School Day, sponsored by the senior class of the college. The delegates will register at the college Y.M.C.A. between 1 and 5 p.m., where they will be given complimentary tickets for the State-Newberry football game that night.

The game will be the culmination of a full day of activities for the high school seniors. Throughout the afternoon, there will be campus tours and other activities to entertain the future college students.

The agriculture, engineering, and textile buildings will all be open, and the guests will be guided to them by members of various campus organizations. Four members of each department will be selected to show the visitors through the respective buildings between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock. William H. Blue, president of this year's senior class, has announced that Governor Broughton will speak on the program between the halves of the game. The other members on the committee for High School Day are L. P. Zachary of Taylorsville, Carl D. Sickerott of Silver City, and Marvin Clay of Hester.

Athletic Tickets

Full student athletic tickets can be obtained at the Registrar's office this afternoon until 5 p.m., and tomorrow until 1 o'clock noon. These tickets will be required for admittance to Riddick Stadium tomorrow night.

Do Or Die For Wolfpack Against Wake Tomorrow

Newtonmen Determined to Beat Traditional Enemies; Eleven Lettermen Start

By BOB POMERANZ

When the whistle blows for kick-off in Riddick Stadium tomorrow night, it will be do or die for State's spirited Wolfpack. It will be the Wolfpack's thirty-third meeting with the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest, the series dating back to 1908. For many years, this battle for the Wake County championship has been the traditional encounter for both squads.

It's a determined State team that awaits the opening kick-off. The Wolfpack knows well that it is given little chance in pre-game estimates, but that generally means that State will come up with its best performance.

All week the Pack has been prepping hard for this encounter. Long practice sessions, with emphasis on offense, have been held all week. On Tuesday, the squad came up with the idea of holding two practices, so they worked out in the broiling noon sun from 11 to 1, and then donned their grid tugs again for a scrimmage against the freshmen at night.

Wake Has Potent Offense

Matching record against record holds no good for State. Wake opened its season with a 35-0 rout of Camp Davis, then succumbed to Duke, but not without first showing a potent offense. Two weeks ago they wallowed Furman, 52-13, and last week tied South Carolina.

Its the Furman game on which most estimates of State's downfall are based, because with offense not kicking at all the best the Pack could earn against the Hurricane was a 0-0 tie last week.

Junior Class Elects New Vice President

Bob Dalton Selected To Fill Vacancy Left By Jack Wooten Who Entered Naval Academy

Bob Dalton was elected vice-president of the Junior class in an election held yesterday, and will replace Jack Wooten, who accepted an Annapolis appointment. Dalton won in a close runoff race against Irvine J. Hetherington. Other candidates were Branch Whitehair and Roger Taylor.

Dean Cloyd spoke briefly at the meeting which was the first regular monthly junior class assembly. He advised the class that the price of graduation rings would undoubtedly be increased this year, due to a shortage of materials. Also, the new 10 per cent defense tax on jewelry will apply to these purchases.

Botany Department Takes First Place In Ag Fair Exhibits

Agronomists Win Second Place With Demonstration of Agriculture and National Defense

Demonstrating a "blitzkrieg" on diseases of field crops, the Botany Department won first place in the exhibits of the Students' Ag Fair at the North Carolina State Fairgrounds Tuesday night.

The prize-winning exhibit featured the process of treating seed with chemical preparations to kill disease-producing fungi which annually cause losses of thousands of dollars in North Carolina alone. Samples of the most damaging fungi were shown with the treatments for their control.

The judges of the exhibits were L. R. Harrill, State 4-H Club Leader; Mrs. Stella Cussick, State Representative of Farm Security, and former Professor C. L. Newman.

Professor Newman originated the Ag Fair in 1913 under the name of an Annual Corn Show. At that time it was confined to the Agronomy department, but as it became popular, other departments joined in preparing exhibits until each of the 11 departments of the Agricultural School were represented. ### Language Fraternity To Sponsor Speakers

Sigma Pi Alpha Outlines Program of Year's Activity At Meeting Wednesday

Sigma Pi Alpha, National Language Fraternity, held its first meeting of the year on Wednesday, October 8, in the Y.M.C.A. President Roger Avery presided.

Committees for programs, publicity, and initiation were appointed. It was decided that the fraternity would sponsor several speakers during the year, these speakers having either been born in foreign countries or having lived there.

Plans were discussed for presenting in the near future a Travelog relative to the present war situation and covering the area between Paris and Ankara. This presentation should be of vital interest to the citizens of Raleigh as well as the students on the campus.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for an informal social to be held on Halloween at the home of Professor Stanley Ballenger in Forest Hills. The other officers for Sigma Pi Alpha this year are: vice president, David Weaver; secretary, Max Sayah; and treasurer, Professor Ballenger.

RADIO CLUB
All those interested in Ham Radio are invited to the regular meeting of the Radio Club tonight at 6:45 in room 107, Daniels Hall.

Harrelson and Schaub Visit War Maneuvers

State Director of Maneuvers and Director of Agricultural Extension Visit Camden Area

Col. John W. Harrelson and Dean I. O. Schaub, of State College, will personally visit the war maneuver area near Camden, S. C., from Sunday, October 20, until Thursday, and will observe the action taking place. They are making this inspection tour upon the invitation of Gen. Hugh H. Drum, Commander-in-Chief of the First Army.

General Drum, who's headquarters are at Governor's Island, N. Y., has established field headquarters at Hoffman, N. C., and each week, for the duration of the mock war, will invite groups of prominent civilians to observe the maneuvers.

Colonel Harrelson has had an important part in formulating plans for the conduct of the maneuvers, and has successfully completed his task. His official title is State Director of Maneuvers, and his job was to secure the complete cooperation of the eight counties being used by the troops. In these eight counties there are two and one-half million acres of land, which are owned by approximately 18,000 land-owners. Every one of these people accepted the Colonel's proposals and patriotically donated their property for the government's use. According to Colonel Harrelson, a board of claims has been set up in each county to estimate and award payments for any damages which may be caused by the troop movements.

The maneuvers are to continue until the last of November, and by that time there will be between four and five hundred thousand troops engaged. They are fighting in "free" style, that is, no definite "fronts" are set. Each side may advance as far as possible, as under actual combat conditions. This was done to make the mock warfare more realistic and thereby greatly increase the value of the maneuvers.

Life, Liberty, and Shorter Skirts Rumored for Mock Legislature

Urgent resolutions affecting life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness in North Carolina and the nation will be debated and voted on at the North Carolina Student Legislative Assembly, which State College is sponsoring in the State Capitol next Friday and Saturday.

A preview of bills scheduled to be presented shows a greater variety than in years past. Serious-minded members will bring forth for earnest discussion resolutions concerning matters of national defense and foreign policy, control of venereal diseases, motor vehicle control and others. But the assembly is not without its lighter side, and rumor hath it that the intrepid State delegation will make a motion that all unmarried women over 23 years of age will be required to shorten their skirts half an inch a year every year they remain unmarried.

Invitations to the state-wide student assembly, which is the fifth in the annual series sponsored by State, have been issued to every college in North Carolina. Eighteen schools have already signified their intention of sending official delegates.

Highlights of the assembly this year will be addresses planned by Governor Broughton, Secretary of State Thad Eure, and possibly National Republican Chairman, Representative Joe Martin.

Several radio broadcasts are planned. Last year WPTF broadcast actual debate on the floor of the Senate on an important national defense measure. On the day before the session, WRAL broadcast a preview of the scheduled events.

Over 200 representatives from 19 colleges attended the assembly in 1940. Each college had a share in formulating, debating and voting on the more than 35 individual bills which came under consideration. Percy E. Collins, chairman of the State delegation, has announced that the Tech group will hold its caucus and arrangements meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 22, at 7:30 p.m., in room 109 Pullen Hall. All students desiring to become

Speakers Scheduled For Observance Of "Y" Religious Week

Dr. Outler and Rev. T. B. "Scotty" Cowan Among Speakers During Religious Emphasis Week

Plans were rapidly being completed here yesterday for what is expected to be one of the most successful Religion and Life Week's ever held at State College.

Sponsored by the YMCA, Religious Emphasis Week is an annual event at State College and one that brings prominent men to this campus to emphasize the importance of religion in student life. This year, the affair will start Oct. 26.

Dr. Albert Outler of Duke University, who will be one of the outstanding figures of this inspirational program, has stated that the real purpose of this program is to try to bring religion into the hot spot of consciousness long enough so that some people here who have not had the chance of or the interest in seeking satisfactory answers to life's problems may discover that religion has something (Continued on Page 4)

Glenn Miller To Salute State College on Radio

Technician Staff To Compile List of Important Events from Which One Will Be Chosen for Program

In a letter addressed to Jimmy Hobbs, business manager of the Technician, William Leonard of the Newell-Emmett Co. announced that Glenn Miller would dedicate one of his programs to North Carolina State College in the near future.

Glenn Miller and his orchestra are on the air every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday night. This fall or winter he hopes to have one or more programs dedicated to this college, Mr. Leonard announced. The program will not be pretentious, but will be in the nature of a salute to the school on the occasion of some outstanding event on the schedule for this year.

The Technician staff was asked in the letter to gather together a list of outstanding events for the coming school year, and to list them with their dates in the order of their importance to the college community, then to forward them to Mr. Leonard.

The type of events meant were important weekends, the combination of traditional games with fraternity dances, traditional athletic events, important college social or fraternity functions, traditional college ceremonies and similar material. The dedication to this college is one in a series of programs that will be dedicated to colleges and universities all over the nation.

Over Twenty-Five Hundred Fathers Invited For Dad's Day; Merchants Decorate For Event

An attractive program arranged for the first annual observance of State College-Raleigh Day Saturday was announced yesterday by Wesley Williams, secretary of the Raleigh Merchants Bureau, and William C. Friday, graduate student helping in arrangements.

The program, fostered to promote cordial relations between the campus and city, will begin Friday. Added attraction at the football game tomorrow night will be the Redcoat Band's rendition of the hit tune "Daddy" played in swing band style to honor all the dads present on Dad's Day.

Along with the judging of decorations on fraternity houses, the judging will be completed Saturday morning, and the winning fraternity will receive a handsome gold statuette.

At 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon a parade will begin at Memorial Auditorium, proceed up Fayetteville Street and thence to St. Mary's School on Hillsboro Street. In the procession will be floats representing student groups and merchants, the State College band and drum and bugle corps, the R.O.T.C. color guard, the R.O.T.C. officers' corps and other units, including floats and decorated automobiles entered by Wake Forest College students.

Merchants' windows will be decorated for the event, with pictures of State and Wake Forest football players featured. The game Saturday night between the Deacons and Wolfpack will climax the State-Raleigh Day observance which will be conducted in connection with annual Dad's Day at State College.

"Dad's Day" will be the theme of the activities about the campus, and the fathers of the students now at State College have been invited to visit the campus during the day. Invitations were mailed by the Chain, senior honorary fraternity, to about 2,500 men to be present for this event.

Visiting fathers will register at the College Y.M.C.A. Saturday between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. At 1 o'clock, sponsors of the State-Raleigh Day program will be the luncheon guests of the State College student government at the Y.M.C.A.

Festivities of the day will be climaxed by the Wake Forest-State football game in Riddick Stadium at 8:00. At the half, Reece Sedberry of Concord, president of Golden Chain, will welcome visiting fathers. Greetings will be extended by Williams, President T. D. Kitchin of Wake Forest, Dean J. W. Harrelson of State, and Friday who will serve as master of ceremonies for the half-time program. Governor Broughton will present the trophy to the president of the fraternity with the best-decorated house.

A pep meeting in Riddick Stadium Friday night from 7:15 o'clock to 7:35 will be broadcast by both local radio stations.

Theta Tau Fraternity Inducts New Members

Engineering Frat Takes In Men Carried Over From Last Year

The Theta Tau initiations are scheduled to be held Wednesday night, October 22, Jimmy Sturkey, regent, announced today.

Theta Tau is the national professional engineering fraternity here on the State College campus. Admission to Theta Tau is achieved through outstanding scholarship, leadership, and general engineering ability. The fraternity has a membership of over 200 men.

The purpose of Theta Tau is to foster friendship among the engineering students, to engage in engineering research, and to recognize scholarship, leadership, and ability. Theta Tau is very instrumental in making the annual Engineers Fair a great success.

The Theta Tau pledges are: Bill Johnson, Tommy Briggs, and H. W. Humphries. These men were pledged last spring and were held over to be initiated this fall.

State-Raleigh Day

Tomorrow marks the completion of a forward move in establishing a better relationship between State College students and the people of Raleigh. Then, in a celebration which promises to be one of the largest ever held in Raleigh, North Carolina State College will be honored by the City of Raleigh.

Realizing the importance of Raleigh and State College to each other, the merchants of Raleigh conceived State-Raleigh Day to create a better understanding and cooperation between the City of Raleigh and the students of State College, and are doing their utmost to make the day a huge success. The sincerity of their efforts is shown by their success in obtaining permission to stage a parade at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, no small feat considering the ordinary conditions of congested traffic at that time of the week. They have also promised to furnish all the decorations that the students of State College will put up, and to award a trophy cup to the best decorated fraternity house. Their aim of attracting a capacity crowd to the State-Wake Forest football game tomorrow night apparently is to be realized in the largest crowd in the history of State College athletics.

State-Raleigh Day was conceived with the idea of making it a permanent institution in the alternate years that the Greater University Day is not held here. With such a start as made this year the affair should soon grow into an occasion such as the gala Duke-Durham Day or a Carolina Mardi Gras.

This is an opportunity for the students to show their colors for State College and the City of Raleigh. If the event is to become a permanent institution it can become so only through the combined efforts of the students of State College and the people of Raleigh. The people of Raleigh are doing their share now. It is up to us to meet their efforts with equally sincere cooperation and work.

Our Terrible Freshmen

Faculty members, both here and at the girls' colleges, have been heard to complain about the manner in which the State College freshmen conducted themselves at the city-wide freshman party put on last Saturday night in the Hugh Morson High School auditorium by the Raleigh Merchants' Bureau. The freshmen were not permitted to meet the girls from Meredith, Peace, and St. Mary's and to dance with them as they did last year. Instead, they were given the privilege of seeing and hearing the "Central Prison Varieties." And whenever one of the freshmen spoke, someone was certain to come down to the fellow and request him to be quiet.

Then, after the show was over, the State freshmen were asked not to leave their seats until all the young ladies had gone. All but a few of the girls had already taken their leave when the first-year men made a concerted rush on the exits. In the big push that followed, one faculty member from Peace and several members of the Merchants' Bureau were pushed around a little too severely.

But that wasn't the worst thing that the State freshmen did. Oh, no! They even went so far as to break still another rule of the party—and proceeded to speak to the young ladies as the girls sat in the buses that were waiting to take them back to their respective schools.

Of course, an incident like this does not add to the prestige and reputation of State. But the freshmen should not be censured too severely. After all, the purpose of such a party should be to get all the new students acquainted with each other—not just to make them listen to a show they can hear over the radio any time. Even though the show was good, most of the freshmen were bored by the whole affair. But little else can be expected, especially when most of the boys had gone to the party in the hope of meeting someone they could date in the next few years. If a party cannot be given that will appeal to the freshmen there—besides the faculty members present—why give any party at all?

Reserved Seats

State College received a black eye in the minds of the spectators of the State-Richmond grid battle several weeks ago when many of the reserved seats were taken by State students. It appears as though not enough seats are set aside at home games for the members of the student body.

When the student section is completely filled, the students naturally gravitate higher up in the stands. When the people pulling for State arrive, they find their seats already taken by a flock of students. Still, the students are supposed to be guaranteed their seats, since they pay for them as well as do other spectators. The only solution is to provide sufficient seats for the students. But, until this occurs, students, squeeze into the student section. Let's not give others the chance to talk about State College manners.

Comments

By JACOB TINGA

The amount of "turn-over" in our own school may not be as great as it is in some schools, however it is a great deal larger than some technical schools. That is to say, a lot of freshmen come here and flunk out after the first term. And many of the fellows who finish their first year do not come back to be a sophomore. Could this be because the courses are too hard?

Let us consult the psychology book for help. We find that persons differ in every conceivable trait of ability. Some fellows do not have the native ability to master animal physiology, of differential equations, or calculating fabric costs, or occupational counseling. But these same fellows ARE interested in a technical career. They like industry, and mechanics, and farming.

The query is, "What is State College doing for the in-between student?" We have quite a few on the campus right now. Mr. T. K. Mial seems to have struck the keynote in answering this question in his Anniversary Day address. He said, "If a man cannot make the grade to stay here for four years, do not send him home and disgrace him. Rather, build a course to fit him and make him a better citizen than just a high school graduate. Give him two years in practical technical work."

This system of sub-degree college education has been solved in California and in Oklahoma. In those states, a junior college is supported with the other state schools. In these institutions the fundamentals necessary for research and further study are not included in what they call apprenticeship. The students are acquainted with various methods and materials of industry. Even in Carolina Tech, we hear fellow students say, "I thought this was a practical course, or 'Theory is all wet, let's have some practical stuff.'" That is the cry for a two-year course.

All of us, when we were freshmen, were told that North Carolina needs more men with technical training. This year, with the acute shortage of skilled workers due to emergency production in national defense, this call for men skilled in more than high-school courses was doubly emphasized. The defense courses approach an answer, but they are only a start. There is a difference in what one can learn in 10 weeks and two years!

School makes for social adaptability; it gives opportunity for one to broaden his horizons. Schools equip youths with the tools necessary for entering into and enjoying the accumulated insight and knowledge of his group. Frequently it fails to inspire its brightest pupils to do their best, while many of the duller ones are injured by being required to study subjects beyond their capacity or foreign to their interests. A two-year course would solve this chronic problem.

OPEN FORUM

Mr. E. L. Cloyd
 Dean of Students
 N. C. State College
 Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Mr. Cloyd:

I am writing you with the request that you call attention to the students of the habit and practice they have of standing in the streets to thumb rides. This is a violation of the City Ordinance and, of course, makes a tremendous hazard to the motoring public.

I will appreciate it very much if you will advise them that they must remain on the sidewalk and also advise them that we are going to enforce this ordinance.

Your cooperation with us will be greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,

J. WINDER BRYAN,
 Chief of Police.

To the Students:

Due to increased cost of materials and manufacturing, an advance of 66c per ring became effective July 1, 1941.

A tax of 10 per cent on all rings was levied by Congress effective October 1, 1941. This tax must be paid even though the ring was ordered prior to October 1.

This makes the total cost of State College rings as follows:

Light weight (12 penny weight)
 $19.95 plus tax $2.00 = $21.95

Medium weight (14 penny weight)
 $22.95 plus tax $2.30 = $25.75

A deposit of $3.00 is required at the time the order is placed. Rings for the Class of 1942 must be ordered immediately if the purchaser desires his ring before Christmas, 1941.

E. L. CLOYD,
 Dean of Students.

Joe College and Betty Co-ed spend more time playing than anything else except sleeping.

A midwestern survey shows that the average college student spends 41.1 hours a week in leisure moments. The greatest part of this time is occupied by relatively aimless loafing, bull sessions, radio listening, drinking and driving.

Organized student activities are hardly a threat to academic interest, only 36 per cent of the student body and only 3.5 per cent of the total leisure time.—Appalachian.

Can you stand another survey? This one shows that about one-fourth of the men at the University of Toledo provided cigarettes for the rest.

The Campus Collegian, student weekly, took an inventory of the pockets of men students. The investigation showed that only one-fourth of them carried cigarettes while half had matches. The rest, presumably, borrowed both matches and cigarettes.—Appalachian.

Freshmen coeds at Massachusetts State College have been advised to "wear a girdle unless you are a veritable sylph—the day of the hip-swinging siren coed is gone."—Chronicle.

QUIZ and QUOTE

By DON BARKSDALE

Page Esquire—we're off! For the time being, great matters of state and diplomacy are cast aside; the BMO's are forgotten; the Tech versus State argument is quieted; and in their stead things of the flesh hold sway. The question of the week concerns everyone—freshmen to seniors, co-eds and males—truly a question that gives vent to one's inner-most feelings and ambitions, not to mention idle dreams.

Which do you prefer, Varga or Petty drawings, and, most important, why???

Wenele Covington certainly isn't finicky—she said either would do in a clinch—I mean pinch. Perhaps he had his mind on a squeeze play and wasn't listening . . . or was he?

William A. Brown (the A is for Albert) really got in the groove and gave the question two seconds thought. Petty was his choice; he thought it was more like the real thing. Wonder what he meant by that?

Petty just "appealed" to Gordon Pratt. Why, he wasn't quite sure, but it had something to do with his being a better artist and his girls being better proportioned. Oh, yes, we see exactly what you mean . . .

Ray Boyette couldn't make up his mind which he preferred; either of them suits him. Sam Gray stumped us again for a minute—he likes Varga faces but quote, "Petty's drawings are much better from the waist up," unquote.

Naturally things such as that don't interest me, but if one had to choose between the two, I think that Varga has a little more—shall we say—oomph. Of course both of them are rather appealing," so says Ed Grosse who either had his fingers crossed or his eyes shut.

What do we think? Personally, Petty draws the best . . . um-m-m . . . I mean, his is—the day, well, anyway, we like the way he paints . . . well, now . . . heck, you get the idea, but who are we to shun one for the other? Either of them would look nice in a Christmas stocking.

 At the things in my little book.

So I sit me down before this ancient and honorable Underwood, and like the musing organist beginning doubtfully and far away, allow my straying fingers to wander as they list o'er these fly-specked keys. But like that other prophet, Moses, who was commanded by the Voice that spake to him from the bush that burned with fire but was not consumed, I too must gird up my loins and do my duty as I see it—a knock here, a boost there, and a bit of one, two, before the esteemed ed. blows a valve.

KERNELS OF KORN: Middlemeas, meandering men muttering morose mouthings—torture is too good for a student heard telling any joke, anywhere, concerning any moron. Incidentally, if the Siamese twins had the seven-year itch would they have to scratch 14 years or three and a half years? Korn is okay if it is kept in the proper jug, but from the advance reports of the humor in the Watagan it may fall into this class if the trend of its jokes (?) follows that of former years . . . maybe they are following the theory that all corn is good if it is properly aged . . . maybe Kentuck isn't the only home of kernels. Would a chocolate nut sundae taste the same without chopped walnuts as it would without chopped peanuts?

I ONLY HEARD: Jimmy Branscom should be glad to hear that the illustrious George Nash—Lochinvar he was known as in those days—has tiffed with his o.a.o., the lovable June Bourne. . . . George loves to dance, but quote "Variety is the spice of life" unquote. We hate to say that Francis Duncan is henpecked, but rumor hath it that he does something only with the consent of his beloved . . . since last week-end it seems that his girl chum has placed him in the protective custody of his roomie, "Mamma" Fry. . . . If the reports that are sifting out about summer school are anywhere near correct, Cecil is well qualified to hold the position. At last someone has suggested a career for L. P. (Barnum Was Right) Zachary. . . . Elmer, the Worthless Character, in a W. C. T. U. lecture. . . . (Any resemblance of any person mentioned in this column to any person living or dead is purely intentional) . . . The Forestry boys who took the Ecology trip last week failed to stir up the usual amount of talk following one of these trips . . .

ON BORROWED TIME: The Publications smoker last week had all the aspects of a political rally . . . here's a hand to the committee in charge of arranging a good evening . . . cigarettes were plentiful, the cigars weren't bad, and the speeches were worth listening to. . . . A bouquet to Wesley Williams and the Merchants' Bureau for backing a swell event like the State-Raleigh Day. . . . Just one question, what did Scott Ferebee promise all of those budding journalists to get them on his staff—and all of them have titles . . . two more and he would have a bucket brigade.

STRICTLY STOLEN: Who takes care of the caretaker's daughter while the caretaker is out taking care?

But as all good things must wither and pass away, so must this, too. Be of good cheer, my friends, and have stout hearts, for all things come to those who wait. Ah, Nevermore.

DON BARKSDALE.

PLATTER PATTER

By JACK THURNER
 The College "N" Orchestra which played for the Blue Key-Golden Chain dance is the most unique organization of its kind in the country.

About two years ago the registrar at Newberry College sent out a call through Downbeat and Metronome for student musicians to attend Newberry and play in a dance orchestra.

For this they would receive a four-year scholarship and all the money that they would make off the dances they played for. The band would not get paid for the dances they played at the college and would be required to play at all school functions.

After trying out about a hundred musicians, the present band was gotten together, coming from St. Louis, Memphis, and New York. Several of the boys came from bands that have sent such names as Wolf Tayne to the big time.

The band stays in a house reserved especially for them, and must practice at least three hours a day. This was shown by the smooth performance the band gave. When they go on the road each week-end, the band is excused from all classes provided they make them up the following week.

Pledge Dances
 November 3 is the date announced by the Interfraternity Council for this year's Pledge Dances. No band has yet been chosen, but the rumors have been flying thick and fast, with both Dorseys, Clinton, Spivak and Johnny Long rumored to play. Of course, most of these are automatically ruled out because of the price. In all probability Johnny Long will show up, since he was scheduled to come last year for the Finals but couldn't make it.

A Report on Wolfpack at Furman

Last week I traveled with our football team to Greenville, S. C., as official student representative with the Wolfpack. It was the first time in recent campus history that the Technician Sports Editor was carried with the team, and if it sets a precedent here, the student body will be assured of a first hand report by a student reporter.

Wolfpack's Last Stand Magnificent

The final tally was 0-0, but that last desperate stand on the 2-foot line by State's forward wall was worth the price of admission all by itself. Dewey Proctor had been effective for Furman through most of the second half. The Wolfpack's supporters were praying for a fumble during those last two plays, but the line held magnificently.

Co-Captains Talk Turkey

Early Saturday morning after a hearty breakfast, the Wolfpack got together at the hotel for some friendly banter and then a few serious words from their captains. Bob and Cutie talked the team's desires over and if you could have been present you would have realized how badly the boys wanted to win that night.

Team Feels Low After Battle

The sight that greeted my eyes after the game in the arcade to the hotel lobby won't be forgotten for a while. The boys were really tired. Woody Jones, who played an admirable full 60 minutes, was so tired that he couldn't sit down to take off his shoes. Dick Watts looked like a "Dead-End Kid" with half his jersey ripped from his back.

Odds and Ends

Dick Watts returns to his last year jersey number, 29, after having his 1941 number, 60, ripped from his back by Furman. Dick promises that the change is the good luck charm the Wolfpack will need tomorrow night. . . . Bill Andrews is the new senior manager for the football squad. Bill's first assignment was the Furman game and he did a topnotch job. . . . The Red Terrors have begun light practice sessions and reports indicate plenty of good material for our basketball team this year. . . . Renfrow "Peanut" Doak sounded off the Wolfpack keynote in Greenville last week when he got up and said,

"I'm not here to preach a sermon, Let's just go out and beat Furman."

Cross Country Squad Meets Carolina Today

Coach Ike Hanff Has 7-Man Squad Ready for Action

After an absence of the sport on the campus for six years, State's recently formed cross-country squad opens their season this afternoon at 4:30 against Carolina at Chapel Hill. U. N. C. is the defending Southern Conference champion.

Coach Ike Hanff has seven regulars on his squad. C. B. Coble, Tom Grey and Ray Small are backed up by H. W. Cobe, H. P. Bell, W. L. Fleming, and Marvin Young. Carolina will be paced by Capt. Mike Wise and Jim Vaughtner, defending two mile champion.

As a track team adjunct, the cross country run is being used this year to develop distance aces for the regular squad as well as to provide a fall practice period for others. Coach Hanff reports that considerable work can still be done this year, and several places on the team are still open.

Freshmen Will Elect Two Cheerleaders

At the next meeting of the freshman class in Pullen Auditorium, two freshmen will be chosen to complete the Wolfpack cheerleading squad.

The two new men will be elected from the three men chosen by the present cheerleaders following try-outs during practice sessions. These three aspirants are Edgar Rabey, Frank Pugh and D. F. Lefler.

Head Cheerleaders Jack Rose and Earl Light have announced the election and hope to have the new boys in the cheering line-up before the Newberry game.

The present cheerleaders, in addition to Rose and Light, are Edward Grosse, Joe Buice, and Frankie Masters.

Mural Wrestling Prelims Held; Touch Football Nears Midpoint

SENIOR WINGBACK John Daniel Huckabee tallied 31 points last season to lead State's scorers. Jack pushed across five T.D.'s and earned one point after touchdown. Most of the Pack's tricky reverse plays are built around him, and Jack's a fancy pass catcher to boot.

Sigma Nu and 2nd "C" Top First Round Grappling; Tennis Tourney Underway

By JIM MARTIN

Wrestlers sweated, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, to lead off the year's intramural wrestling program. Fraternity and dormitory matches packed plenty of action with strange and mystic holds, as well as fighting spirits, revealed every minute. Sigma Nu led with five wins in the fraternity clashes and 2nd "C" topped the dorm prelims with three victories. Semifinals in both groups come off Wednesday, Nov. 22, at 7:30 p.m.

Intramurals can use plenty of the brand of spirit displayed by "Shorty" Lawrence of 1st Eighth. Wrestling unlimited for his dormitory was completely out of size for the job he was trying to do.

On the Football Circuit A win for 2nd Eighth came out of protesting a game with 3rd Eighth although the latter scored 6 points. Edwards proved to be a bullet passer for the 3rd floor while 2nd floor revealed two good linemen, Strause and Miles.

Tenth and 2nd Seventh battled to a tie and will fight the game over soon. Two fraternities—AKPI and ALT—went an extra period of hard playing that resulted in a 4-3 first-down win for ALT. A passing combination, Patterson to Armstrong, looked good for AKPI and Lassiter starred for ALT.

Ferre to McDougall aerials aided PIKA in another win, this time 12-0 over the Pi Kappas. Morgan, a hard charging tackle, looked good for Pi Kappa Alpha.

Unusual Spirit A game, 3rd "A" vs. 3rd "C", in which unusual spirit was shown on both sides, ended with a 6-0 win for 3rd "C". The best spirit and sportsmanship of the season was exhibited in this contest. 3rd Seventh doubled 1st Seventh's first-downs to win 4-2. Another first-down victory took place between Lower Wat, and Upper Wat, with the former victorious 3-1.

Constan's ball carriers of Lower South rolled over 5th dorm 33-0. Another forfeit by 1st "A" gave a win to 2nd "A." Hannon of Sig Pi, supported by a good line, sparked a win over a hard battling AGR team, 6-0. Nash and Santapolo were outstanding for the losers. A safety and touchdown gave KA a victory over Lambda Chi. McAulay made the touchdown.

Football teams must be ready to start playing at 4:30 every afternoon. The days are becoming shorter and it is necessary that your team starts promptly in order to finish the game.

Tennis Tourney Tennis tournament players, ATTENTION! Your opponent's name and address is posted on the gym's front bulletin board. By Oct. 29 the first round must be played off. Contact your opponent immediately and arrange your first match. Round two must be completed by Nov. 12.

Wolfcubs Win, 19-13, In Freshman Thriller

Herb Breslow Plays Bang-Up Game; Teague and Bundy Gain Yardage

Indications of things to come were sounded out last week when Coach Bob Warren's freshman football squad took the measure of Carolina's first year club, 19-13.

Appearing sluggish only in the second quarter, the State frosh looked tops otherwise in scoring a win over their brother school. Appearing especially bright in the freshman picture was Herb Breslow.

Breslow, all-New York City half-back while playing high school ball, made a circus catch of a pass in the third quarter that was almost unbelievable—a one-handed juggling catch.

Eddie Teague, the red-headed tailback, also shone brightly during the evening's tilt. Babe Ehrlich, first-string center, probably was the best looking lineman of the evening, doing a good job at snapping the ball and also doing yeoman's work in blocking.

The game was filled with thrilling runs and plays. Breslow intercepted a Carolina pass on his own 17 in the third period and raced 88 yards to score. Tilton Bundy, a tall fellow, also looked good at running the ball. He tossed a pass that was good for 20 yards and a touchdown to Breslow a bit later.

Teague and Bundy gained 112 of the total yardage of 126 which the Techlets garnered during the evening. Leader for the Tar Babies was Billy Myers, who looked better than Jim Lalanne—said it was Jim's old Number 93 jersey he was wearing.

Next game for State's Techlet powerhouse will be with the Duke University yearlings on Oct. 31, at Riddick Stadium. The victory over Carolina moved the Little Wolves into the Big Five leadership for the freshman title. Wake Forest is second and Duke's Little Blues are third.

BEAT WAKE FOREST!!

DO OR DIE FOR WOLFPACK!

Bolo Stilwell and Dink Caton were in the first string combination in 1940.

Backs Starred in '39 State's four senior backs won their varsity spurs back in 1939, when as sophomores, they provided the only bright spot in the 'Pack's 32-0 beating at the Demon's hands.

In that encounter NewFon sent in the then inexperienced backfield of Cathey, Watts, Huckabee, and Stewart, and they proceeded to drive from the State 15 to the Wake 3-yard stripe before losing the ball.

Last fall the same backfield got the starting assignment against the Deacons and turned in a splendid performance which almost brought victory. However, with only four minutes of play remaining, Wake Forest blocked a punt for a touchdown and then tossed a long pass for another to eke out a 21-14 win.

State's chances rest on offense almost entirely. After the Furman game last week, the coaches pronounced themselves satisfied with the defensive play. Several sessions acquainted the squad with the Wake offense, but most work was done on scoring plays.

Passing has been the Pack's forte in its games this season. With its aerial attack clicking State's Wolfpack has the heart and spirit necessary to turn in a victory over Wake Forest tomorrow.

Honorary Fraternity Begins Initiation of New Members Next Week

At a smoker last Tuesday night 16 textile students were elected for membership in the Phi Psi fraternity, national honorary fraternity for textile students.

Initiation will begin next Wednesday and last through Saturday night. The boys are expected to set some new styles in college dress. Phi Psi Fraternity is the largest and most highly respected textile fraternity in the world. The members of the State College chapter have been prominent, not only in the textile school, but also in State College as a whole. They have also been outstanding in the textile industry after graduation.

The boys who are going to be initiated into the fraternity next week are: Dink Caton, George Barrier, Claude Dawson, Jack Huckabee, Gene Foley, Austin Lane, Gene McGarity, Burton Sides, Rupert Riley, Waldo Tresscott, Branch Whitehurst, Mort Lamport, Joe Hardin, Ed Grosse, and Bill Williams.

Ceramics Department Gives Defense Course

Pyrometry Added to List of Courses Offered to Non-College Men

A new engineering defense training course, Pyrometry, Temperature Measurement and Control, has been added to the list of courses offered by State College to non-college men this fall. The course, open to high school graduates, will train young men for positions in defense industries in which temperature measurement and control are important. These include the metallurgical, chemical and ceramics industries. The course will be given in the Department of Ceramic Engineering, headed by Dr. A. F. Greaves-Walker, and will include physics, combustion of fuels, metallurgical furnaces, alloys and heat treating of metals, and the theory, construction and use of pyrometers and other temperature measuring instruments. Practically all metals and metal products used in the Army, Navy and air corps, as well as the machines and machine tools for producing them, are made under close temperature control. Very few men trained in the manufacture and use of temperature control instruments have been available, Dr. Greaves-Walker said, adding that the demand for them is great and will become greater.

Prospective students should send their applications to Director Edward W. Ruggles of the College Extension Division.

The Rev. T. B. "Scotty" especially wins the hearts of those who sit in on his discussions and "bull" sessions. Mr. George Campbell, formerly director of music at the George Williams College in Chicago, now a national known leader of song and an inspirational humorist, is the latest man to accept an invitation to participate in the program and is expected to make a vital contribution.

Later, it was moved out to the State Fairgrounds and presented in conjunction with the North Carolina State Fair, a course which has continued since then.

The Agronomy exhibit was judged second best, and consisted of a detailed contrast between poor and good agricultural practices, illustrating the redoubled importance of the better methods of farming in the present emergency. Their presentation of the vital role forestry plays in national defense in construction and industrial use won third place for the forestry department. Fourth place was won by the Agricultural Engineers.

L. M. Dilday and Archie Sink directed the preparation of the prize-winning exhibit. The Agronomy exhibit was directed by Van Johnson and H. M. Spens; the Forestry exhibit by Harry Muller and Austin Pruitt, and the Agricultural Engineering exhibit by C. K. Beeman and L. H. Cannon.

The entire Ag Fair was under the direction of President Albert Banadya. Serving with him were Melvin Hearn, vice president, and Julian Hoffman, secretary.

The Ag Fair was held in the east wing of the Floral Hall, and was distinguished from the rest of the exhibits by special decorations.

MEETINGS

All former 4-H Club members are urged to attend the first meeting of the 4-H Super Club, to be held next Wednesday night at 7 o'clock in the YMCA Auditorium. The members will not meet for supper Wednesday night, but will assemble in the "Y" for a program.
