Terrors Whip Carolina; V.P.I. Here Tonite Mat Squad Is Paced By Three Lettermen

Four Sophomores In Starting Line-up for Coach Jay's Terrors

Widely Publicized Freshmen "Stars" from Carolina Fold Up Against Competition

State's Red Terrors will be after their second straight conference victory tonight when they entertain the quint from Virginia Tech tonight in Frank Thompson gymnasium.

Resting in third place in the Southern conference standing at the moment with wins over Clemson and Carolina compared to a loss at the hands of the Davidson Wildcats, State's team will be tested tonight against a team that has shown that it can play outstanding ball this season. In their opening game the Gobblers from V.P.I. played close to perfection in downing one of the pre-season favorites, William and Mary. However, they lost their next two games to V.M.I. and the same Carolina team that Leroy Jay's squad trounced 47 to 36 last Wednesday night.

The game against the White Phantoms broke a three game losing streak for the Terrors, which was led by the flashy sophomore stars. Jumping into the lead early in the game the squad was not headed from then until the end except once. Jay started four of the soph in the tilt and before the publicized Phantoms knew what was happening they had run up a 10-4 lead. Carolina then slowly narrowed this and went in front one time during the half which ended with State holding a three point margin, 20-17.

During the entire last period the locals continued to increase their lead with the sharp-shooting of Joe Johns, Bernie Mock, and Eddie Morris leading the way. Johns was tied with Carolina's center, White, for high scoring honors with 11 points, with the other two Terrors close behind with 10 and 8 respectively.

The excellent guarding done by the Jaymen held the two regular point-getters from the Hill, Fritz Nagy, the sensational freshman, and Hartly, who are the leaders in the conference race, to almost naught. The freshman got only one field goal and three foul shots while his teammate didn't hit the basket all night. Leo Katkavech had the difficult job of guarding Nagy and his success can be judged from the result. Katkavech also led the floor game for the Terrors which was another highlight of the contest which was played before a capacity audience.

Opening Week of Basketball Results In Many High Scoring Games

By EARLE HOLLIDAY
The success of the winter term sports in intramurals thus far has been marred only by the apparent lack of interest of some of the handball teams. Both of the two opening matches were forfeits, while in the other sport, basketball, the student interest has run very high and all of the first thirteen games were played.

Although many of the students may not be good players in the handball or even know the first thing about it, now is an excellent time for them to learn the art of this activity, which, incidentally, is one of the most popular among athletes and sports authorities. Only five men are required for each match in the local tournament, and a lot of fun, as well as the exercise gained, is in store for every person that plays in a match.

The answer to the problem of team practice for the cage teams which are entered in the different leagues is the announcement from Johnnie Miller's office that the gym will be open every Sunday afternoon to the students. To prevent overcrowding at any one time, a permit to use the court must be obtained from the physical education office.

However, with or without practice, the teams that have already had their initial games have made a good opening of the season. Six fraternity tilts and seven dormitory tilts have been reeled off and practically every one has been a thriller. The first action in the frat competition saw a mild upset as Sigma Pi, led by its center Jim Parlow, took a close 14-13 decision over Pi Kappa, last year's final winner in this sport and the football champions this year. Peyton Holloman was the high scorer of the night with eight points, but it wasn't enough to down the fighting opposition.

The highest scoring records posted thus far came out of the AKPi-PiKappaPhi contest when the former opened up in the last halves to walk away with a 40 to

Lettermen, Freshmen To Lead Tank Squad; Have Tough Schedule

Team Conditioning Fast After Poor Start; Seven Meets on Schedule

After getting off to a bad start this season, State's swimming team is now beginning to show up extremely well reports Tom Hines, coach of the squad.

Because the local pool was drained when the term began, several days that could have been used for valuable practice was lost. In addition the discovery that the diving board was not of regulation height is preventing the candidates for this position on the team from rehearsing.

Despite these reversals Hines declares that the magnificent spirit of all of the boys has done much to get them in condition for the coming season. An example of this is the fact that not one of the 25 man squad has been absent for a single practice since the drills began.

Although the Tech swimmers are facing an extremely tough schedule this year, its roster has many experienced performers on hand to serve as its nucleus. All of the returning lettermen, including captains Emil Hilker and Bob Reynolds, J. W. Bally, Dick Dammann, Cecil Fry, A. M. McCabe, are taking up where they left off last year and therefore will lead the squad. However, seven freshmen, who are now eligible for varsity competition, and a senior have shown up very good thus far in drills and will see much action before the season is over. These are Boyce Brown, C. D. Gold, R. M. Heyward, J. C. Holland, W. L. Nufer, Bill Powell, B. W. Van Leer, and W. Loewensberg.

This aggregation are facing some of the toughest schedules in all against top-notch clubs. The season opener occurs here on February 6 when Virginia Tech invades the state. Other dual encounters are with Duke, V.M.I., and Carolina. Additional action takes place in the A. I. meet at Chapel Hill, the Southern conference events at Lexington, Va., and in a triangular meet with Duke and Carolina.

Boys on the roster that are not mentioned above include B. L. Armstrong, M. J. Brown, J. N. Fischer, H. Gardner, E. C. Goodridge, R. C. Laughlin, F. W. Miller, L. E. Powers, M. S. Siff, W. S. Throckmorton, and W. Vaughan.

Freshmen Lose Game To Carolina Quintet

Team Shows Promise, But Lack of Experience, Against Tough Tar Babies

Phil Dickens' freshman basketball team opened its season last Wednesday night against the Tar Babies from Carolina in a preliminary to the varsity encounter. The yearlings didn't fare as well as their big brothers, however, as the visitors secured a big lead in the opening minutes of the game and held it. The final score was 34 to 21.

During the first half of the game the local squad showed the lack of experience in their shooting and allowed the opposition to gain a lead that read 16 to 5 at the end of the period. However, in the closing part of the encounter the team found the basket and were closing the gap between the two teams when the game ended.

The main difference in the clubs was the ability at the basket as the State team continued to miss field goals and foul shots. It had twenty chances to score from the foul line but was able to obtain only one point this way. On the other hand it committed 16 misplays during the game and Carolina gained many of its points from gratis shots.

Anderson, playing forward for the Babies, was the outstanding point getter of the tilt as he hit the basket for 16 points. His teammate Donnan was second with eight, while the best any of the Techs could do was five, made by Gillis. Doolan, a guard who didn't see any action during the closing minutes was second for the team with four.

The only other game that the frosh have definitely on the schedule is with Duke. Dickens is trying to secure other competition in the section if he can find it.

AGAINST PRE-FLIGHT

Had it not been for flashy Gus Broberg and his 31 points, the Red Terrors would probably have tacked a fourth game on the Cloud-Gillis losing streak last Monday afternoon at Chapel Hill on February 27.

Ironically enough, it was Broberg's last appearance on the Pre-Flight squad.

Also among those transferred from Chapel Hill to other locations was Lt. Bob Warren, the man who coached last year's Red Terror

'Buckwheat'

Raul (Buckwheat) Carvalho, diminutive guard on Coach LeRoy Jay's basketball squad, has continued the brand of play this season from last year when he set conference tongues wagging with his ball handling.

FOOTBALL FEED

The members of last Fall's varsity football squad are invited to dinner Thursday evening, January 28, at the Town House. This dinner will take the place of the barbecue that was put on last year by Herman Hickman, and is a reward to the team for beating Carolina. The barbecue could not be put on this year because transportation difficulties make it impossible to carry the squad to the farm.

squad to the Southern Conference tournament finals. Warren has been serving as a physical instructor for the Carolina Pre-Flight school, and will hold a similar job at the new school in California.

Freshmen Eligible for Team Positions; A and B Squad System To Be Used

Coach Herman Hickman's varsity wrestling team makes its season's debut next Monday night when it encounters the grapplers of VPI at Blacksburg, Va. Three lettermen are returning to pace the team through its tough seven match schedule.

The first encounter for the mat men at home will come next Friday night when Carolina brings its defending Conference champions to Raleigh to test the mettle of Hickman's charges. Carolina is expected to rule a heavy favorite to repeat as champions of the Southern Conference since several of last year's outstanding team are back for another season. Add to that the fact that Carolina's frosh were undefeated last year, and it looks like a hard night. There will be no charge for the meet, and the public is invited to attend.

With the conference ruling on freshman eligibility for varsity competition now in effect, Hickman has offered team positions to any first year men who can make the grade. Several are showing up well in the daily work-outs, but G. T. Kerr from Durham, a contender in the 175-pound class, is the most outstanding of the group.

Returning lettermen are Morehead Jones, J. W. Stallings, and Teet Troxler. However, Stallings and Troxler, who both had team positions last year, are now in the 145-pound class, and probably will stay that way.

Coach Hickman is inaugurating a new system with the squad this year. Two teams, an A and a B team, will be set up, and intra-squad matches will be held between the two outfits. Other schools in this section are using the same system, and the match with Carolina will be on this basis, with two teams representing each school and 18 meets being staged.

Outstanding contenders for the 121-pound class are J. L. Ratts and S. M. Spears; for the 128-pound class, T. C. Blaylock and T. T. Timberlake; for the 145-pound class, J. M. Chandler; and for the 160-pound class, J. B. Edwards, Jr. Fred McGrath is freshman Kerr's chief opponent in the 175-pound group, and a host of heavyweights are training for the unlimited berth on the A team.

Track Squad Busy

About thirty members of the college track squad are working out now—some of them have been at it all Fall. Coach Hickman is planning to enter a team in the Southern Conference indoor track meet to be held at Chapel Hill on February 27.

Mike Andrews, a virtual one-man team last year, will be entered in the shot, and if his knee injury that he got playing football heals in time, he will also participate in the broad jump and the dashes. This will probably be Mike's last appearance for the red and white, because he is a junior and in military—all meaning that he will leave with the rest of the junior military students in March.

Following Up the Season

Even though the football season is over now, stories concerning it are still filtering into the sports pages of the nation—some of them telling of dramatic occurrences connected with the gridiron. Recently, we ran across such a story—a story about two football teams and a heart-breaking defeat that turned out to be Godsend for the defeated. If you haven't heard it, it's worth passing on. It goes something like this:

One team had everything to lose—a perfect undefeated season record, perhaps a bowl invitation and national recognition. The other team, a brace defeated squad, had nothing to lose.

TECH TALK

By Jimmy Richardson

The outcome of the battle was a small tragedy for the coaches and players of the team with everything to lose—because they lost! They were overwhelmingly handed an almost inhuman defeat by the underdog team that had nothing to lose.

That evening, the sports pages carried the story—Holy Cross topples Boston College from the ranks of undefeated, 55-12, 55-12! An almost unbelievable score against the mighty Boston team which was virtually conceded any one of the big bowl game invitations.

Boston Plans Celebration

So sure of the victory were the coaches of the Boston College team that they had planned a surprise celebration for their players at a Boston night club. The table reservations had already been made for every member of the team including the water boy. But after the game, not one of the members of the Boston College team felt like celebrating. They felt like crying instead. Lost! A perfect season crumbled in sixty wild minutes.

No, not even the coaches felt like celebrating; in fact, they completely forgot about the celebration and even failed to cancel the table reservations.

In the meantime, the Holy Cross team, quite elated over their surprise victory, felt like celebrating. Because after all they had knocked off the top-ranking team and raised their own ranking. So the coaches felt they were entitled to a celebration. The season was over, and most of the boys were going into the service, so the coaches decided to treat the victorious team. (Incidentally, Holy Cross, in the course of the season, defeated the State Wolfpack 28-0.)

By mere chance or perhaps a stroke of Fate, the Holy Cross team occupied the Boston College team's table reservations at the night club.

Yes, the team that was to go home in solemn defeat while their victors rejoiced and talked about the bowl trip did not go home. But instead, the underdog team that had nothing to lose went to the party, and the defeated Boston team with broken hearts went home.

Strangely enough, the next day not one member of the Boston College team regretted the defeat. It was a miracle. When the boys with the broken hearts read the papers the next morning, they read of 470 people who lost their lives in a Boston night club fire. Listed among the casualties were the entire Holy Cross football team. Not one had escaped!

Monograms Awarded By Athletic Council

Thirty-two Varsity Letters, Forty-one Freshman Numerals Given To Football Players

Monogram and numeral sweater awards for the football season just past have been announced by the Faculty Committee of the Athletic Council.

Twelve sophomores were approved to get their first letter. Ten seniors, nine juniors, and student manager A. T. Lassiter all come in for monogram awards, while Freshman Coach Woody Jones named forty-one first year men to receive numeral awards.

Seniors earning their third monogram will be awarded white coat sweaters with red monograms and three red arm stripes. Jimmy Allen and Bolo Stillwell will also have a red star on their sweaters to denote captaincy of the squad. Juniors and sophomores will get red sweaters with white monograms and one arm stripe for each previous monogram.

Varsity members to receive monogram awards are: George Allen, Jimmy Allen, Carl Ballard, Ray Benbenek, Felix Boltrek, John Bratton, Rene Burtner, Dick Callaway, Dink Caton, Foy Clark, Peanut Doak, Art Faircloth, Cecil Fry, Hoot Gibson, Ed Gibson, Jim Johnson, Joe Kwiatkoski, Fred McGrath, Fred Miller, Taylor Moser, Bill Moser, Lloyd Ott, Joe Piasno, Charlie Riddle, Tommy Riddle, Buck Senter, Bolo Stillwell, Joe Suniewick, Eddie Teague, Fred Wagoner, and John Wagoner.

Those receiving numeral awards for freshman football are: Calvin Atwood, Burt Barringer, Marion Benson, C. C. Brown, Elmer Burt, Hal Burr, Bruce Callis, John Campbell, Don Cathy, Billy Charlton, Rufus Dalton, Ralph Farrell, R. W. Frondren, Paul Gabriel, B. H. Goldblatt, Bob Hairston, G. C. Henson, R. B. Joliff, Bob Lipson, Tom McCall, Frank McManus, Ted Morris, Paul Peterson, Bob Pearce, Dick Price, C. C. Raines, L. H. Rickenbaker, Henry Rivenbark, Ken Ryman, Braxton Schell, Ray Seberry, Don Seltzer, Bryant Stuart, Allen Vick, Eddie Watson, Blount Whitesides, E. H. Wiggins, Tom Winston, R. W. Ivey (manager), and W. E. Crumley (manager).

Eight midwestern colleges ruled this week that men and women in the armed services may receive college credits for some of the work they are doing in the course of their military training. Colleges taking part in the program are: The University of Iowa, Iowa State College, University of Illinois, University of Indiana, Michigan State College, University of Minnesota, Ohio State University, and the University of Chicago.

Students Cooperate Well In Clothes Drive

State College students gave the best response yet to the YMCA's annual Old Clothes Round-up, conducted just before Christmas, it was learned recently from Walton Thompson, "Y" president, as he expressed his appreciation to O. Max Gardner, Jr., chairman of the drive, for his good work and to 30 and 3 for helping sponsor the drive.

The old clothes, Thompson said, went to the Raleigh Family Service, which reconditioned and repaired the garments for distribution to Raleigh's needy. All dormitories and fraternities were canvassed in the round-up, and the faculty also made donations. The quality of clothing, as well as the general response, was definitely better than in previous years.

Miss Leah James, Executive Secretary of the Raleigh Family Service, and Miss Josephine Kirk, Superintendent of the Wake County Board of Charities and Public Welfare, sends the following message to the students of State College:

"We extend to the boys of State College our sincere thanks for the clothing you collected on your recent drive. Quite a lot of it was distributed before Christmas and we know that many families were more warmly clad during the holidays because of your efforts."

Working with Max Gardner on the drive were Thorne Reynolds and Stanley Rehder.

State College Alumni Get Wings in Texas; To Meet Foes Soon

Randolph Field, Texas.—Trained to razor-edge and ranging in age from 18 to 27 years, the greatest number of war birds in the history of the Army Air Forces Gulf Coast Training Center received their silver wings at eight advanced schools recently and are ready and anxious to join their comrades in dealing aerial death and destruction to the enemies of democracy.

Augmented by classes from two new fields, Blackland two-engine at Waco, Texas, and Eagle Pass, Texas, single-engine fighter schools, class 43-A is the beginning of the 1943 output of pilots.

Among the new pilots were these alumni of North Carolina State: Lieut. Matthew B. Liles, Jr., Zebulon, N. C. (Foster Field); Lieut. Roderick R. McSwain, Shelby, N. C. 1940-41 (Eagle Pass); Lieut. Roger K. Rhodamer, Canton, N. C., 1940-41 (Ellington Field).

The tremendous expansion program, which was launched even before Pearl Harbor, saw 11 classes graduated last year. Forecast that the 1943 production will far outnumber that of 1942 is based on the fact that many new schools in the Training Center are now nearing completion and will contribute flying graduates.

In addition to Blackland and Eagle Pass, new pilots received their wings at Foster and Moore Fields, Texas, and Lake Charles, La., single-engine advanced schools; and Brooks, Ellington and Lubbock, Texas, twin-engine advanced schools. They have been recipients of the finest instruction in the best planes in the world, and are part of the Army Air Forces answer to those who would destroy the American way. Of the graduates, some will be commissioned second lieutenants, while others will be appointed to the newly created rank of flight officer.

Detroit, Mich.—(ACP)—Acceptance of a $1,000 fund to be used in air cargo research is announced by Dr. David D. Henry, executive vice president of Wayne university. Dr. Henry stated that, in recognition of its founder, Col. E. S. Evans, noted Detroit industrialist and aircraft authority, the project will be known as the "Evans Grant for Air Cargo Research."

The project will be directed by Dr. Spencer A. Larsen, associate professor of business administration and principal economist in the wholesale and retail policy section of the war production board. Allen Dean, transportation expert of the Detroit Board of Commerce, will serve as traffic consultant.

Pointing to the huge fleet of heavy load-carrying planes now being constructed for the fighting forces and their transportation services, Colonel Evans said: "Much has been written about the commercial use these aircraft will be put to when peace comes. Our purpose will be to determine as nearly as possible the exact cargo that will be feasible for transportation by air."

tem, based on free enterprise and the exercise of individual initiative, is the keystone in the arch of our American success. The foundation stones of that arch are research and development."

Mr. White pointed to the large construction in the pulp and paper industry which has taken place in the South as an illustration of the benefits derived from industrial research. Nineteen new pulp and paper mills, involving investments in excess of $125,000,000 have been built in this area in the past seven years, and every present factor points to additional developments in the wood cellulose field.

For the first time Washington State College has opened its police work classes to women. The head of the college's Police Science Division reports that women are showing a lot of interest in the work, and that he foresees no difficulty in placing women graduates in jobs.

Registration in British universities has fallen from the 1939 figure of 50,000 students to 37,000 at the present time.

Students will then be able to continue regularly in the spring term. Whenever time permits, a student should write to the registration office for a regular application blank in order to file his application in advance. When time does not permit, the student should bring an official copy of his scholastic record, together with the necessary qualifying information from his high school principal.

Students desiring to enter the college by taking the special examination January 26 were requested by Registrar Mayer to arrive on the campus January 25. Others should arrive on the 26th in order to begin registration the morning of the 27th.

Total tuition and fees for the special winter term and the spring term, combined, will be $80 for residents of North Carolina and $175 for non-residents. If necessary, the sum may be paid in three installments, with the first due at the time of registration, the second March 1 and the last installment April 1.

Mu Beta Psi, honorary music fraternity, will sponsor a series of concerts by the various State College musical organizations, to be presented on Sunday afternoons in Pullen Hall, at two-week intervals. It was announced by Webster Lineback, president.

Three concerts are already scheduled, and others may be announced later. The Band will play the first concert in the present series on Sunday, January 31st. Two weeks later, on February 14, the Orchestra will present a concert. On February 28th the Glee Club, which presented a full program just before the holidays, will be heard in an entirely new program.

In addition to the concerts, plans are being considered for the promotion of an experimental Campus Sing on one of the intervening Sunday afternoons, and if this proves popular with the students similar sing sessions will be held at more frequent intervals.

With increasing transportation difficulties it is likely that fewer students will leave town on weekends, and it is believed that these Sunday afternoon concerts and sings will provide profitable and enjoyable diversion, not only for the students and faculty, but the general public also, who are always welcome to enjoy any of these performances.

Kidd and Lieut. (j.g.) Jackson. Ensign Gresho and Ensign D'Andeist are the two attractive Navy nurses. The nine men office force consists of six yeomen, two pharmacists, and a store keeper. There are also three Civil Service girls who do secretarial work. Most of the applicants interviewed here for the WAVES are women from North Carolina.

We asked Ensign Ivey if any amusing incidents ever occurred. She told us that quite a few amusing letters have been received, but they were more or less of a personal nature. Her most exciting experiences are when the women are sworn into the WAVES. The ceremony takes place right here in the office. "I get a new thrill every time a WAVE is sworn into the service," said Ensign Ivey. "We have a big flag and the women face it while they take the oath from the officer in charge."

We left the office armed with pamphlets about the WAVES and SPARS feeling very much enlightened about what Ensign Ivey was doing here. We were stopped on the way out by "Sonny Boy" and the store keeper. They gave us a new slant on things. When asked whether they liked having women superior officers, one of them stated frankly that he didn't like women in either private or military life, but that didn't mean that he disliked Ensign Ivey! Both of them said that she was one of the most attractive WAVES that they have seen. They agreed that their work had been more interesting since prospective WAVES have started coming in.

The next time you see our women Ensigns on the campus take a look at them. It is our own personal opinion that they have added quite a bit to the scenery. Not only that, but they are just as efficient as they are attractive.
