Widely Published Freshmen "Stars" from Carolina Fold Up Against Competitors

State's Red Terrors will be after the six points that they need for victory tonight when they entertain the quintet from Virginia Polytechnic Institute tonight in Frank Thompson gymnasium.

Resting in third place in the Southern Conference standing at the moment with wins over Clemson and Carolina compared to a loss at the hands of the Davidson Wildcats, State's team was tested tonight against a team that has shown that it can play outside the state. The Terrors went to Richmond last week and came home with a win over the Golden Tornadoes. Their chances of raising one of the pre-season favorites in the Southern Conference are none too bright as they take on V.P.I. in their second straight game this season.

Freshmen Lose Game To Carolina Quintet

Team Shows Promise, But Lack of Enough Experience Shows Tough Tar Thrones

Phil Dickinson, who heads the basketball team, opened its season last night but Wednesday night against the Virginia Tech quintet. With several of its stars in action before the crowd, the Terrors faced a difficult problem in converting the seasoned veterans of the Virginia Tech team.

As Dickinson announced the names of the eleven men who will play tonight, he explained the fact that several of his stars were out of action. The Blue and Gold men had been in action earlier in the week and were too tired to play another game.

One of Dickinson's first choices was Billie Jean Smith, who led the team in victory. She opened the game with a free throw and after the Virginia Tech team opened the scoring, she brought the Terrors back to a tie. However, the game was already won and the Blue and Gold men left the court with a victory.

The game against the Blue and Gold men was a close one with the Terrors leading most of the way. The Virginia Tech team battled back and forth, but in the end, the Terrors won by a score of 34 to 26. Students Cooperate Well In Clothes Drive

State College students give the best response yet to the YWCA's College Stores Campaign, so conducted just before Christmas. It was reported recently from Wakl-up that 14,000 students had promised their appreciation to O. C. Plummer. A clothes drive, for his good work and to in-crease the fund, was conducted.

The old clothes, Thompson said, are to be sold in a Yardley market, which will be held this Saturday afternoon, to help the YWCA's college fund.

Student barracks and the residence halls will have a number of items for sale to help in the collection.

Students making plans for the sale were in the residence halls, and the entire student body was called to the sale.
