Eight Men Chosen By Engineering Frat

Theta Tau Announces Names of Newly-Selected Outstanding Engineers

Eight new members have recently been initiated into Theta Tau, national professional engineering fraternity, announces A. Cliff Spruill of Goldsboro, president of the college chapter of Theta Tau.

New members are: Donald B. Weaver, Raleigh; Marion C. Sasser, Selma; James S. Hepler, Greensboro; Robert N. M. Urash, Woodside, N. Y.; J. Herman Berrier, Lexington; Chester A. Frisler, Ivanhoe; Richard W. Kennison, Raleigh; and C. A. Dillon, Jr., Raleigh.

Theta Tau chooses members from the sophomore and junior engineering classes only, and elections are held twice each year. Main requirement for selection is potential future success in the chosen engineering field, but personality and character are also of prime importance. The fraternity does not aim to be an honor or scholarship group, but combines an interest in engineering with social and scholastic activities.

Tau Beta Pi Honors For Nine Engineers

Initiation of nine outstanding juniors and seniors in engineering into Tau Beta Pi, leading honorary engineering fraternity, took place at a secret ceremony on the campus Wednesday night, according to Benjamin W. Greene of Elizabethtown, president of the group.

Scholarship plays an important part in selection for Tau Beta Pi, which is the equivalent to Phi Beta Kappa in liberal arts colleges; other requirements are character, personal appearance, and social qualities.

Following is a list of the initiates: J. Reese Bailey, Rocky Mount; LeRoy Briggs, High Point; John M. Simmons, Greensboro; Beverly L. Rose, Wadesboro; C. Henry Steele, Charlotte; John K. Beasley, Louisville; Edgar R. Cole, Norfolk, Va.; William M. Nicholson, Winston-Salem; and R. M. Weatherly, Greensboro.

The State College alumnus was stationed at Hickman Field on December 7, 1941, "the day of infamy." Here is his story of that tragic event:

"A couple of my buddies and I were playing golf near Wheeler Field when the Japs attacked," he related. "We noticed a strange plane coming toward us but didn't think much of it as war wasn't in our minds. We figured the plane was on a routine flight, and we continued our golf. Later the plane attacked us with machine guns and fatally wounded one of the men in our party."

The alert officer said that he was having "a fine time visiting State College professors and other friends in the city." He reported for service at Miami Beach the latter part of November.

AGROMECK

Proofs of the fraternity pictures may be checked at the Agromeck office any afternoon this term, beginning today, from 2:00 until 6:00.

Also, any upperclassmen who have not already filled out their class record cards are requested to do so immediately.

Names of Graduating Seniors Announced

Engineering School Leads With Seventeen; Graduates Will Receive Statements of Completion Now, Diplomas In June

With the completion on December 16 of the fall term's work, 26 members of the present senior class will have fulfilled the requirements of their regular college curricula and will present themselves as candidates for degrees, providing, of course, that they hurdle the difficulties of final exams with their usual ease.

Seventeen of the 26 will graduate from the School of Engineering, four from the School of Education, three from the Agriculture School, and two from the Textile School.

The majority of this group are graduating now as a result of having attended both of the regular college terms offered during the past two summers as part of the accelerated program.

These students will receive statements to the effect that they have completed their degree requirements as temporary substitutes for their diplomas, which will be awarded in June at the time of the regular commencement exercises.

Those who expect to pass soon from the ranks of the students to those of the alumni are as follows, according to their respective schools and departments:

Aeronautical Engineering: Kenneth Wayland Goodson, Mount Olive; George Nevitt Jones, Jr., Raleigh; and Samuel Gordon West, Jr., Greensboro.

Chemical Engineering: John Knox Beasley, Louisville; Richard Edward Gross, Asheville; Joseph Henry Jones, Jr., Jersey City, N. J.; Harold Lee Trentham, Mars Hill, N. C.; and Robert Edward Weaver, Asheville.

Electrical Engineering: E. Litchfield Carty, Durham; Archibald Bernard Goodson, Mount Olive; L. E. Paysour, Jr., Mooresville; and George Richard Steele, Charlotte.

Mechanical Engineering: Ray Lentz Lyerly, Thomasville; Jack Louis Singer, New York City; Charles Henry Steele, Charlotte; and Richard Miller Weatherly, Greensboro.

Agriculture: Bruce Bernard Blackmon, Buies Creek, N. C.; Bernard Fishbein, New York City; and George Travis Wiggins, Mount Olive.

Agriculture Education: Clifford Taylor Dean, Louisville; Arnold Warren Lingle, Salisbury; William Angus McLeod, Jr., Sanford; and Sam Arthur Tuten, Edward, N. C.

Textiles: Charles Urquhart Hill, Jr., Charlotte; and Rebecca Emily Joyce Shelden, Camp Forrest, Tenn.

Red Coats Lauded For Season's Performance

Band Climaxes Term's Work with Banquet Friday Night; Program Arranged By Mu Beta Psi

It is the general and well-founded opinion on the campus and elsewhere that plaudits are in order for the State College Redcoat Band for the excellent spirit and achievement which has characterized their performance this term.

Major Kutschinski has had to build this year's edition of the "Redcoats" about a nucleus of only 21 of the last year's group, but in doing so has, by the recruiting of new freshmen, swelled this number to a unit of 65.

Culminating their activities for the present school term, the entire band organization enjoyed a banquet at the S & W Cafeteria Friday night. Special guests were Dean E. L. Cloyd, Major A. O. Alford, and Major M. L. Shepherd, faculty members of Mu Beta Psi, and members of the band during their student days. The night's program was sponsored by Mu Beta Psi, honorary music fraternity; Christian Kutschinski, director of the band, presided as master of ceremonies.

The 65 members of the band, 60 of whom are North Carolinians, are as follows:

W. R. Allen, Badin; M. T. Ankers, Falls Church, Va.; J. C. Ballard, Asheville; W. L. Barnes, Wilmington; C. R. Blackwelder, Jr., Concord; A. G. Brady, Henderson; S. B. Burwell, Henderson; J. H. Bynum, Farmville; J. G. Camp, Jr., Ahoskie; J. W. Chadwick, Rocky Mount; George W. Coble, Burlington; W. J. Daniel, Henderson; W. H. Denton, Morganton; R. C. Derby, Fayetteville; G. D. Duncan, Raleigh; R. N. Evans, Greensboro; H. B. Friday, Salisbury; A. L. Furr, Concord; R. B. Gant, Burlington; N. G. Gooding, New Bern; H. W. Grant, Selma; S. G. Griffin, Oxford; J. E. Greene, Jamaica, N. Y.; R. J. Gurney, Gastonia; C. A. Harris, Roxboro; W. R. Harmon, Siler City; E. D. Hartsell, Pittsboro; E. A. Hatcher, High Point; F. R. Hedrick, High Point; and F. W. Jarvis, Spindale.

Capt. Ingram Returns With Enviably Record

Former State College Swimming Star and Graduate of 1940 Visits Campus

Returning to the State College campus in a blaze of glory recently to greet friends was Capt. Sidney O. Ingram, Jr., who after almost two years' service in the South Pacific war theatre has a number of medals and other coveted honors to his credit for participation in several death-dealing campaigns against the Japs.

For gallantry in action during the Battle of Midway the young captain was presented the Silver Star Award, the third highest honor given by the U. S. Army. He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for heroic action in the battles over Kahili Airfield in the Solomons, and the Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon with three stars signifies that he has been in the battles of Hickman Field, T. H., Midway, and the Solomons Islands. Capt. Ingram also has an Air Medal and three Oak Leaf Clusters for accuracy in hitting his targets as a bombardier.

Capt. Ingram, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Ingram, Sr., of Arden, received his B.S. degree in forestry from State College in 1940. He was employed by the State Highway and Public Works Commission, Bridge Location Department, from June, 1940, until October, 1940.

While in college, Ingram gained the Southern Conference 150-yard backstroke swimming title, which still stands. He made the fastest pool records in seven colleges and universities—Duke, Carolina, VPI, Washington and Lee, Randolph Macon, and Clemson.

"Undoubtedly, the sports in which I participated at State were responsible for the way I came through the war. Other soldiers without athletic training were at a handicap. I had malaria three times, and the doctors said that my physical condition pulled me through," he declared.

With The Greeks

Before all the members of this little "bull-session" arrive, we may put in a word of congratulations to the fraternities here on the campus. Out of the 15 fraternities that were in operation in normal times, 10 are still in full swing in spite of the decrease in enrollment of the college. We are proud of this good record because it shows the substantialness of fraternity life here on the campus.

In addition to the 63 who pledged in September, the following is a list of the latest pledges:

Alpha Lambda Tau—F. L. Barnes, Henderson; Tommy S. Bigham, Charlotte; Harold A. Gibbs, Asheville.

Delta Sigma Phi—Dick B. Gant, Burlington; S. A. Wooten, Princeton.

Lambda Chi Alpha—John H. Hammond, Asheboro; Morton H. Carter, Jr., Charlotte; Zeb Little, Lexington; Hugh O. Jones, Portsmouth, Va.; Tom C. Millsaps, Asheboro.

Pi Kappa Alpha—Grady T. Tharrington, Sid E. Jennette, Jr., W. S. Corbitt, Jr., Henderson; W. R. Duncan, Dunn; Merlin Meares, Chadbourn; William W. Lee, Jr., Greenville; Joe J. Barrow, Louisville.

Pi Kappa Phi—Charles T. Alley, Asheville.

Sigma Pi—Hugh A. Williams, Jr., Spencer; J. Hal Kinlaw, St. Pauls; Fred C. Snyder, Winston-Salem; Walton L. Ecton, Charleston, S. C.

Sigma Nu—H. S. Glenn, Jr., Charlotte.

Sigma Phi Epsilon—M. Vance Lassiter, Jr., Richmond, Va.

Sigma Alpha Mu—H. A. Kaden, I. P. Antin, Bronx, N. Y.; M. T. Ball, Rockville Center, N. Y.; H. S. Goldman, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Marvin Swartz, Winston-Salem; Daniel Wallace, Charlotte.

Though it be late, it is hard to resist mentioning the great success of the pledge dances. While dancing, it was difficult to even see the bandstand because of the tremendous amount of "stags" hanging around Ada and her alluring females. We understand one Dade struck up quite an acquaintance (or tried, anyway) with the cute little base-fiddler. Really, the THREE dances were a big success, and we are looking forward to about February when the Midwinters will be the highlight of the Winter Term.

It seems that with such a demand for field glasses, the ALT's would sacrifice some of their stock—but then we hear that the five pairs that they have on hand now are not really enough to go around.

This column was originally intended for a little gossip—on this thing—but since the space has run out for this issue, we're just going to let your ears burn until next time. Do you have a "choice bit of gossip" that will sink a ship or break up some congenial home? If so, let us know of this at your earliest convenience.

From many reports, some high and big "blow-outs" will be had by all fraternities come New Year's Eve since it has been requested of us to return on the 29th. We hope to know more of these doings. We wish you a Merry Christmas and a Successful Winter Term.

GLEANINGS

Well, this is the last time this term we shall bring you these choice bits of news. The ole demon, exams, has taken over.

WEDDING BELLS: Last year's editor of THE TECHNICIAN and Miss Lurline "Scoop" Parker, formerly of THE TECHNICIAN and now of the Raleigh Times, are about to take the fateful (or fatal—suit yourself) step; the place is Rockingham, and the date is sometime the latter part of this month.

INSTIGATOR: It seems that our worthy circulation manager has succeeded in bringing about some action to help remedy the cafeteria situation. At the same time he has caused ill will between the staffs of Ptomaine Hall and The Technician. Perhaps they won't let us eat there any more—which would just break our hearts.

FORGETFUL: We have it on good authority that a certain Delta Sig pledge can't keep up with his dates. It seems that he forgot all about an engagement that he had with a local lovely the other night. Since she didn't see the humor in the situation, she promptly branded this fellow as an obnoxious character.

NEW LOVE: One R. Oatman certainly is enjoying his meals these days, but who wouldn't if they could eat with that cute little dark-haired girl? We must compliment Mr. Oatman on his choice.

'Our pretty little circulation assistant, "Bunk," has not been seen around the office lately. What's wrong, doesn't she like the environment? Don't answer that!—SEASON'S GREETINGS!

STAFF.

On Exams

Little though you need to be reminded of the unpleasant fact, the dreaded, unnecessary ordeal of examinations is upon us. It's hard to realize that in one week this term of school will be over, and many of us will be ready to begin our last term of school. For others the new term may well be the last one they are sure of attending before they are called to the armed forces. Sure, exams are tough, but so are we; and every term of school we successfully complete adds just that much more to our worth as a fighting man for Uncle Sam.

We fully realize that this has been the busiest, toughest, and fastest-moving term at State since the last war. Everybody has war nerves—we eat war, we study war, and we think war. We want to get in the scrap . . . but our first job is to finish the one we started here.

It's not too late to start burning a little midnight oil and trying to store a little more knowledge into the old bean before the zero hour arrives. So let's get into the swing of things this week and make this school work both our work and our hobby. Show these professors that you do know something after all.

Red Terrors Start Season Dec. 18

Fowler's Fancies

Here we are, with that big beast exams blowing its hot breath down our necks again. It has been hard to find time to eat during the last week, much less sleep. So we walk around with a dazed look and drop off to sleep at every available opportunity.

But to get down to the primary purpose of this column—after watching the Red Terrors in a practice session last night I feel that we're going to have a better cage squad this season than many people thought. Although the boys looked a little green and young, they displayed some good shooting ability. Turner and Almond both looked good at the forward slots.

It is too early to tell just who will be the starters, but there are capable men out for every position.

The tank squad is still practicing in view of the meets which are not so far away. I haven't had a chance to watch them yet, but, as most of the other State squads, the water boys will be mostly freshmen with little experience.

We wish at this time to bid farewell to our roommate, editor and boss. Mr. West will be leaving soon to take a position with a leading aircraft plant up north. Best of luck to you!

Now I extend welcome to the new editor and boss, Bevo Rose. I feel sure that Mr. Rose will do a good job in the handling of The Technician for the next term.

While we're wishing people farewell, let us bid goodbye to Walter Elder, the capable editor of The Dodo for the past few months. Although Mr. Elder probably won't believe this, I really hate to see him go after having become accustomed to seeing his smiling face each time I walked into The Technician office.

That's all for now—and MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Junior Varsity Wins Every Game For Perfect Season

Kennison and Hartsell Star In Both Games; 40 Boys Out Most All Season

The State College Junior varsity has completed its most successful season in many a year, winning two games out of two games played. Coach Ferguson informed us that the Jayvees didn't play any more than two games because of the lack of funds and many colleges have cut out freshman ball for the duration.

The Jayvees beat the Wake Forest Army School to the tune of 14-12 and then trounced Presbyterian Junior College 38-0.

Dick Kennison and Bill Hartsell were the backfield stars for both the games, while Mims, Clark, Scott and Kennedy carried the weight in the forward wall.

Terrors Drill Hard For Opening Game

Six Home Games Scheduled; Many Opponents Are Tough

The 1944 version of the State College basketball squad has begun to settle down to hard practice sessions in preparation for the opening game on December 18, with the Seymour Johnson Field cage team.

Sutton, Turner, Sakas and Andrews, who were members of the State football team during the past season, are now out to get a berth for themselves on the 1944 Red Terror squad.

Keith Almond, the only experienced man on the squad, is slated to hold down one of the forward spots while Turner is looking good at the other forward spot. It's hard to tell now just who will be the starters, and from all indications the competition for the starting berths will be keen.

Coach LeRoy Jay is faced with the same situation that Newton was faced with at the beginning of the football season—that of having to build a team out of young and inexperienced boys with whom he has never worked before. He has to teach the boys the systems that he uses, then he must drill them until they learn to operate smoothly together, and this is not an easy thing to do. Coach Jay will have his hands full working out a combination which will be able to give the star-studded quintettes like Duke and Carolina some real competition.

Coach Jay will undoubtedly miss those flashy sophomore stars who were the mainstay of last season's squad, who are now in service, but he has some pretty good material with which to work.

The men out for the various positions are: center, Sutton, Jackson, Allen, Gooch; forward, Almond, Turner, Johnson, Swartzburg; guards, Jaworski, Sakas, Carpenter, Edwards, Kohler.

There are 13 games on the schedule for this season with six of the games being played here.
